HONORABLY ACQUITTED

Perjury Charge Against Chief
Bennett of Havelock Not Sustained.

The adjourned hearing of the charge of perjury against Chief Bennett of Havelock, was held on Wednesday at Havelock, and after the evidence of the Crown had been submitted, Magistrate Dumble, who presided, ruled that there was no evidence to sustain the charge and the defendant was honorably acquitted. L. M. Hayes, K.C., acted for Chief Bennett, and County Crown Attorney Wood prosecuted.

This charge was brought forward
by Mrs. Maud Innis, of Havelock, and it was alleged that Bennett made false statements in his evidence of the defendants in the Innis-Havelock action, heard at the Fall Assizes last year.

appears at the Opera House, next Monday night.

Billions of Swallow Germs are Afloat

Goats Inoculated with Contagious Diseases Get Away
From a New York
Hospital and Epidemic Feared.

New York, April 6.—A score of police and health inspectors are on the hunt this morning for billions of smallpox and other contagious disease germs, which were inoculated into four goats at a local hospital last night. Somehow the goats got out and the authorities are fearful that their milk or their flesh is being eaten by poor east side families.
This would surely mean a serious epidemic.

C. N. R. NEWS

Girders for New Viaduct Could Not Pass Under Overhead Bridge.

The steel girders for the C.N.R. viaduct have arrived and being too high to pass under the overhead bridge on Ontario street, the track at this point had to be deepened.
This was at the same place where an engine the other day while passing under the bridge almost lost its whistle.

The steam shovel work is progressing rapidly, and the fill-in at the east end of the viaduct is almost completed.

ANNUAL MEETING

Of Bowling Club—Large attendance And Much Interest Displayed.

A large crowd was in attendance at the meeting of the Bowling Club last evening and from the interest displayed, the season promises to be very successful.

The Secretary Treasurer presented his report showing a balance on hand, and the past season to be the most successful in the history of the club.

The officers elected were as follows:

Hon. Pres.—Dr. L. B. Powers.
President—Henry Reynolds.
Vice President—Dr. A. G. Aldrich.

Sec. Treas.—R. Hayden.
Ex Com.—F. L. Curtis, R. G.
Russell, and the officers of the club.

The membership fee was fixed at 5.00, and Messrs. H. B. Rosevear, and E. E. Snider were appointed delegates to the annual meeting of the Lawn Bowling League, to be held in Oshawa on April 14th.

HOAGLAND AND DINEEN IN LEAD

Indianapolis, Ind., April 5.—The Hoagland and Dineen team in the national six-day walking and running match held their lead at the close of the second day.

Dineen, of Boston, had run 46 miles, fifteen laps, at the end of last night's two and a half hour period, and his mate, Hoagland, of Auburn N. Y., had walked 31 miles and 18 laps, making their score 78 miles, 11 laps.

WITH THROAT CUT WALKED TO CITY.

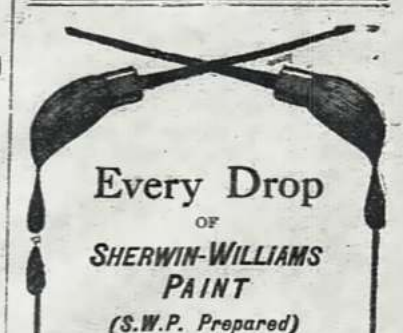

Winnipeg, Man., April 5.—Joseph
Robertson, a former of Transcona, Man., was found walking into the city this evening with his throat cut, and the constable who met him took him to the General Hospital, where he may recover.

Robertson told a rambling story of having lost his place at Trans-cona by fire, the damage being $2,000. He says he started to walk to the city at 11 o'clock this morning, and on the way went into an empty house and tried to cut his throat with a pocket knife. He lay down for a couple of hours, expecting to die, but got tired of waiting and set out again for the city. He has a brother at 24 Gordon street, Manchester, England. He is forty years of age and unmarried.

George Ladd, twenty-eight, killed himself by cutting his throat with a razor this afternoon at his temporary residence at Ferry Lane, St. James, the western suburb of Winnipeg. He was a lumberjack in the employ of the Pat Portage Lumber Company. His parents reside at Holtville, Ont.

CONSUMPTION COMMON BUT CUR-ABLE.—Consumption is so common and curable that about half of all the people one meets on the street have had it and have recovered, often without knowing they have had it. For instance, in the Vienna hospital, the largest general hospital in the world, in fully eighty-five per cent. of the dead bodies some tubercular changes are found and all autopsies prove that at least half of all adults living do at some time contract tuberculosis. This is a most encouraging fact, proving not only the commonness of the disease but the frequency of recoveries from it in the incipient stage. Furthermore the actual death rate from tuberculosis is rapidly diminishing, as statistics collected both in America and Europe show. Nevertheless tuberculosis will not die out of itself, and if ever it is to become extinct it will not be by curative agents, but by prevention. This would have been impossible before 1882, when the parasitic nature of the disease was not known, nor how it was communicated. The idea then was that consumption was inherited, and insurance companies would not insure a perfectly healthy individual if there had been several deaths from tuberculosis in his family.

A TROUBLESOME MISGIVING

'Do you think,' he asked presently, 'that I should disturb your father if I went to him?'

'Oh, not at all! I often go and sit in the study at this time.'

'Will you show me the way?'

Fanny at once rose, and together they crossed the hall, passed through a sort of anteroom connecting with a fernery, and came to the study door. A tap was answered by cheerful summons, and Fanny looked in.

'Well, my ladybird? Ah, you are bringing Mr. Peak; come in, come in!'

It was a large and beautiful room with wide windows, in a cushioned recess, looking upon the lawn where the yew tree cast solemn shade. One wall presented an unbroken array of volumes, their lively sober but handsome; detached bookcases occupied other portions of the irregular perimeter. Cabinets, closed and open, were arranged with due regard to convenience. Above the mantelpiece hung a few small photographs, but the wall-space at disposal was chiefly occupied with objects which illustrated Mr. Warricombe's scientific tastes. On a stand in the light of the window gleamed two elaborate microscopes, provocative of enthusiasm in a mind such as Godwin's.

In a few minutes, Fanny silently retired. Her father, by no means forward to speak of himself and his pursuits, was led in that direction by Peak's expressions of interest, and the two were soon busied with matters which had a charm for both. A collection of elvans formed the starting-point, and when they had entered upon the wide field of paleontology it was natural for Mr. Warricombe to invite his guest's attention to the species of hamalonus which he had had the happiness of identifying some ten years ago—a discovery now recognized and chronicled. Though his sympathy was genuine enough, Godwin struggled against an uneasy sense of manifesting excessive appreciation. Never oblivious of himself, he could not utter the simplest phrase of admiration without criticizing its justice, its tone. And at present it behooved him to bear in mind that he was conversing with no half-bred sciolist. Mr. Warricombe obviously had his share of human weakness, but he was at once a gentleman and a student of well-stored mind; insincerity must be very careful if it would not jar upon his refined ear. So Godwin often checked himself in the utterance of what might sound too much like flattery. A young man talking with one much older, a poor man in dialogue with a wealthy, must under any circumstances guard his speech; for one of Godwin's aggressive idiosyncrasy the task of discretion had peculiar difficulties, and the attitude he had assumed at luncheon still further complicated the operations of his mind. Only at moments could he speak in his true voice, and silence meant for the most part a studious repression of much he would naturally have uttered.

Resurgent envy gave him no little trouble. On entering the room, he could not but exclaim to himself, 'How easy for a man to do notable work amid such surroundings! If I were but thus equipped for investigation! And as often as his eyes left a particular object to make a general survey, the same thought burned in him. He feared lest it should be legible on his countenance.

Taking a pamphlet from the table Mr. Warricombe, with a humorous twinkle in his eyes, inquired whether Peak read German; the answer being affirmative:

'Naturally,' he rejoined, 'you could hardly have neglected so important a language. I, unfortunately, didn't learn it in my youth, and I have never had perseverance enough to struggle with it since. Something led me to take down this brochure the other day—an old attempt of mine to write about the weathering of rocks. It was printed in '76, and no sooner had I seen the light than friends of mine wanted to know what I meant by appropriating, without acknowledgment, certain facts quite recently pointed out by Professor Pfaff of Erlangen! Unhappily, Professor Pfaff's results were quite unknown to me, and I had to get them translated. The coincidences, sure enough, were very noticeable. Just before you came in, I was reviving that old discomfiture.'

Peak, in glancing over the pages, murmured with a smile:

'Pereant qui ante nos nostra dixerunt!'

'Even so!' exclaimed Mr. Warricombe, laughing with a subdued heartiness which was one of his pleasant characteristics. And, after a pause, he inquired, 'Do you find any time to keep up your classics?'

'By fits and starts. Sometimes I return to them for a month or two.'

'Why, it's pretty much the same with me. Here on my table, for instance, lies Tacitus. I found it mentioned not long ago that the first sentence of the Annals is a hexameter—did you know it?—and when I had once got hold of the book I thought it a shabby thing to return it to the dust of its shelf without reading at least a few pages. So I have gone on from day to day, with no little enjoyment. Buckland as you probably know, regards these old fellows with scorn.'

'We always differed about that.'

'I can't quite decide whether he is still sincere in all he says about them. Time, I suspect, is mellowing his judgment.'

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

DON'T GET IN THE SOUP OR IN THE ROASTING PAN

To the Editor of the Guide.

DEAR SIR:—Please find enclosed a year's subscription for your interesting and ably conducted journal.

I enclose some lines which I wrote for my two little granddaughters, children of Dr. Stevenson, who in their letters have been telling me many things about their 44 hens and what they like about them.

As the lines entitled "What we like" is a phase of rural and suburban life it occurred to me that your young readers and some older ones might be interested in them.

I read in last Saturday's Globe a sketch of Judge Barron's distinguished career. His success is largely attributed to the fact that his father, who was a teacher, early put him to write compositions on various subjects. I have long thought that if our instructors, including parents, and teachers (day and Sabbath School) were to make education more practical by a wise and regulated system of correspondence and essay writing, so that many branches of study could be applied in the real life way, much good would result. This would be Prof. John Dewey's ideal of true education, as put by him into this diamond sentence, "Education is not knowledge acquired for purposes of after life, but education is life, character."

Train, not cram is the ideal. Train by wisely directing and a practical application as the child goes along, in useful knowledge and Christian ethics denominated by the Professor, "life, character."

I received a letter lately from one of my grandchildren, an under graduate. She said, "Grandpa, I have always told you about my studies. You will be pleased to know that at my last exam. I stood fourth in a class of sixty, took 90 to 95 per cent in all the subjects, and honors in all but one." That girl, beginning at seven, has written me a weekly letter, in all about 400 letters, equal to an 8-vol. of 800 pages at least, on many subjects. I sent about 70 letters to her in the nine years or more.

We love to see the development

HELPS THE SICK TO GET WELL

A GOOD FRIEND TO GIN PILLS

If you want to know what GIN PILLS will do, ask anyone who has ever used them. Then you will learn the plain, unvarnished truth about the greatest Kidney Remedy known to modern science.

It is the enthusiastic praise of thousands who have been cured, which has done so much to make GIN PILLS known in every section of Canada.

The letter below is only one of many that show how GIN PILLS are regarded by those who have used them.

VANCOUVER, B.C.

"I think it my duty to tell you that GIN PILLS are a sure cure for Kidney Trouble and La Grippe. I suffered so much with my kidneys and La Grippe until I used GIN PILLS, and now would not be without them in the house. I shall always recommend GIN PILLS to anyone I know is suffering with their kidneys."

MRS. M. BUTLER.

GIN PILLS are sold on a positive guarantee of money refunded if they fail to give relief. 50c. a box—6 for $2.50. Sample free if you write. National Drug and Chemical Co. Dept. B., Toronto.

of a rose bud. How much more interesting is mind growth! That writing which meant much original thinking has had to do with her college success and will all through life. I have got two more in tow now.

"WHAT WE LIKE."

We like "new laids," fit for a king,
We like to hear the young hen's sing,
We like them at the dawn of day,
We like them when we're out to play,

We like to see them in to lay,
We like to see them grub and dig,
We like to see them fat and big,
We like to meet them when we roam
We like to see them coming home,
We like to see them guard their chicks

And shield them all from every fix,
We like to see them with their brood,
And all because they are so good,
We like to see them in the coop,

We even like them in our soup,
We like to have, when she is dead,
Her feathers in our well kept bed,
We like to see the chickens grow,
We like to hear the roosters crow,
We like them when they try to cackle,

We like to hear their big wings rattle,
We like to see them plume for battle,
But never "like dumb driven cattle."

We like to watch a Thomas cat,
And Cockadoodle make her scat,
He scares away the chicken's foes,
For here she was, but "there she goes,"

Ha Thomas, you shall surely rue!
For chickens were not made for you.
Away, and catch the rats and mice!
Or, lose your head gear in a thrice,
Done by the doodle-doodle-doo,
No matter where you may skidoo.

We like to see him spy a hawk,
We like to hear how he can talk,
We like him when he gives command,

We like him in the roasting pan,
We don't like when he steals our bread,

If he for once should not be fed,
It looks too much like selfish greed
To gobble up the children's feed.

S. S. CANN.

215 Palmerston Ave., Toronto.

P. S.—It may seem cruel to like them in the soup and roasting pan, but many other bipeds, or two footed animals get in the soup and roasting pans, often foolishly, and must suffer the consequence though yet alive.—S. S. C.

KING GEORGE CORONATION FUND

A committee has been formed in England to receive subscriptions from all the "Georges" of the Empire for the purpose of giving a Coronation gift to His Majesty King George. It has been suggested by His Excellency the Governor General, who has been in communication with the Committee in England, that steps be taken in the Province of Ontario to receive subscriptions to this fund ranging from five cents to five dollars. The names of the subscribers will be published and a list sent to the King, but the amounts of the donations will not be found on the list.

The City Treasurer of Toronto has been appointed Treasurer for Ontario of the fund, and all subscriptions will, ultimately be forwarded by him to the Bank of Montreal, at Ottawa, to be in turn transmitted to the proper authorities in England. It has also been arranged that all branches of the Chartered Banks will receive subscriptions and forward same to City Treasurer not later than April 30th, 1911, after which no subscriptions will be received.

The Committee trust that the matter may be taken up enthusiastically.

It is quite important that in making this circular public, special care should be drawn to the fact that subscriptions should only be payable to the Banks or different local treasurers wherever duly appointed, or to the City Treasurer of Toronto, the object being to warn intending subscribers against persons who may assume to have authority to collect with a view to diverting collections to their own use.

Subscriptions for this fund and the Queen Mary fund may be left at the Bank of Montreal.

THE SONG OF THE CAMP.

"Gives us a song," the soldier cried,
The outer trenches guarding,
When the heated guns of the camps allied Grew weary of bombarding.

The dark Redan, in silent scoff,
Lay grim and threatening, under,
And the tawny mound of the Malakoff
No longer belched its thunder.

There was a pause. A guardsman said:

"We storm the forts to-morrow;
Sing while we may, another day
Will bring enough of sorrow."

They lay along the battery's side,
Below the smoking cannon;
Brave hearts, from Severn and from Clyde,
And from the banks of Shannon.

They sang of love, and not of fame;
Forgot was Britain's glory,
Each heart recalled a different name,
But all sang "Annie Laurie."

Voice after voice caught up the song,
Until its tender passion
Rose like an anthem, rich and strong,
Their battle-eve confession.

Dear girl, her name he dared not speak,
But as the song grew louder,
Something upon the soldier's cheek
Washed off the stains of powder.

Beyond the darkening ocean burned
The bloody sunset's embers,
While the Crimean valley learned How English love remembers.

And once again a fire of hell
Rained on the Russian quarters,
With scream of shot, and burst of shell,
And bellowing of the mortars.

And Irish Nora's eyes are dim,
For a singer, dumb and gory;
And English Mary mourns for him
Who sang of "Annie Laurie."

Sleep, soldiers! still in honored rest
Your truth and valor wearing;
The bravest are the tenderest—
The loving are the daring.

The Rosary

By Edward E. Rose. A play of Human Interest, founded upon an Emblem of Parity.

Played one week in Toronto; also two weeks in Montreal, to crowded houses in both cities.

SYNOPSIS OF PLAY.

Act 1—Lawn in front of Bruce Wilton's country home, West Chester, N. Y.

"The hours I spent with thee, dear heart,
Are as a string of pearls to me."

Act 2—One hour later. Bruce Wilton's study.

"I count them over, ev'ry one a part,
My ro-sa-ry! My ro-sa-ry!"

Act 3—Bruce Wilton's study the next morning.

"I tell each bead unto the end, and there a cross is hung."

Act 4—Outside the chapel one year later.

We will be glad to send you complete list of reliable premiums. We honor both "Sunkist" and "Red Ball" wrappers for premiums.

The orange is the most luscious and healthful fruit. California excels in quality of oranges. The best of the California oranges are now packed in individual wrappers labeled "Sunkist."

Five thousand orange farmers in California do their own packing, shipping and selling. They grade and select their crop into "firsts," "seconds," etc. The firsts are fancy, tree-ripened, hand-picked, seedless, fibreless, thin-skinned oranges—every individual orange a perfect specimen of the finest variety of oranges. They are not only more healthful and more palatable than other oranges, but they are actually cheaper, for they are nearly all meat and nourishment.

Your dealer sells "Sunkist" Oranges. Ask for them. You will know them by the tissue paper wrapper in which each "Sunkist" Orange is packed. You can buy them by the box or half box. On the wrapper note the label, "Sunkist." Keep all the wrappers. They are worth money to you.

KNOX COLLEGE CONVENTION

Sir Mortimer Clark at Annual Gathering Warns His Hearers That New Recruits From the Old Land Are Not Up to the Standard and That Church Will Be Weakened—Reports For Year.

Toronto, April 7.—Sir William Mortimer Clark started the faculty, students and friends of Knox College at St. James' square Presbyterian Church last night by an arraignment of their Canadian northwest home mission policy. The address was a feature of the annual convention of the sixty-seventh session of Knox College.

Sir William said that unless the Presbyterian Church in Canada maintains a thoroughly educated ministry, the church must necessarily decline. The churches everywhere were forced by a lack of students for the ministry. He believed that the Presbyterian Church in Canada had adopted a retrograde policy by importing a number of uneducated men from Britain for the northwest. The effect would be to lessen the influence of the ministers there because the imported men were not qualified by education to maintain the present standing of the ministry in the northwest. They are of an entirely lower type, and he feared that after being there for a time they would get into the regular ministry by "some side door method." It was the aim of Knox to send out a thoroughly educated body of men who would be a tower of strength to the church.

Principal Gandier said the year's work had been hampered by the inadequacy of the old college buildings. They were sadly out of repair and as little as possible was spent on them in view of the steps being taken to secure a new college edifice. He congratulated the church upon the excellent calibre of the graduating class of 17 men, all of whom had either the M.A. or B.A. degree.

J. K. Macdonald, reporting for the building committee, said the delay in preparation of the plans had been to their advantage as they had secured an additional frontage of 160 feet, made up of the Biggs, MacLaren and Browne properties, and a university property.

Sixty Crown Witnesses.

Goderich, April 7.—Crown Attorney Seager has announced that there will be sixty crown witnesses called to testify against Edward Jardine, when, on Tuesday next, he comes up for trial, charged with the murder of Lizzie Anderson. Only about 35 witnesses gave evidence at the various sessions of the inquest, and the increased number shows that the crown has not been idle in the interval.

A recent report stated that Jardine was in failing health, since his alleged confession a few weeks ago, and that he was losing flesh. On the contrary, he is gaining steadily in health, and the jail officials state that they see no change in his conduct. Neither his reported confession, nor the approaching trial seem to effect him in any way.

Sir Henry Buys Winnipeg Range.

Winnipeg, April 7.—It has been stated here that Sir Henry Pellatt has bought the old rifle range at St. Charles, near Winnipeg, paying the Militia Department $600 per acre. It is certain that this is a private investment, but local opinion is that something is behind the deal. It is also stated that the Militia Department is in treaty for the purchase of the old Happyland property on Portage avenue for a new drill hall and barracks site, on the assumption that negotiations between representatives of the Manitoba Legislature and the Department will lead to the transfer of the present barracks' grounds to the Provincial Government as a site for the new Parliament buildings.

Not Fit to Eat?

Montreal, April 7.—Two or three tons of fish in a city cold storage warehouse are being withheld from sale until the bacteriologist and chemist of the medical health department have made a report.

"People have an idea that because fish is kept in cold storage it cannot deteriorate," said Dr. Louis Laberge yesterday morning. "That is an error. There is a certain amount of deterioration which makes it necessary for us to inspect cold storage fish at times. Our inspector says this fish is not fit for food, and the merchant says it is. If it is not dangerous we will let it go."

Explosion Shakes Nanaimo.

Victoria, April 7.—The powder magazine on Protection Island, Nanaimo, exploded at midnight Wednesday.

Two distinct shocks shook Nanaimo, shattering plateglass windows. The flames lit up the harbor and the city. The first explosion was of dynamite, and the second of a store of gasoline.

John Jones, night engineer, discovered the fire, notified the engineer, and was returning when the explosion occurred. He was thrown 40 feet, sustaining probably fatal injuries.

Killed Four and Himself.

Billings, Mont., April 7.—Cliff Root, an old-time stockman, yesterday murdered his father-in-law, F. A. Rheber, his stepson, James Bridges, a Mrs. Thompson and his own wife, and then killed himself.

The tragedy occurred at the Root home on Halfbreed Creek, about fifty miles from here.

All the victims were shot, except Mrs. Root, whose head was crushed with an axe.

FIELDING IS ROUSED

The Minister of Finance Answers His Critics.

AMENDMENT IS DEFEATED

George H. Perley Introduces Motion to Have Full Statistics Published and Proceeds to Heckle Mr. Fielding, But Catches a Tartar—Repartee Flies Fast and Furious in Debate Yesterday.

Ottawa, April 7.—It was one of the finest exhibitions of argumentative mastery that Parliament has heard this session—clear-cut, logical, inspiring and unanswerable—the Minister of Finance at his best. Hon. Mr. Fielding was drawn into the firing line unexpectedly yesterday afternoon, when the Opposition precipitated the result of their caucus earlier in the day in the shape of an amendment calling for detailed comparative statistics in prices and cost of production in Canada, the United States and the twelve countries affected by the favored-nations treaty.

The motion was lost by a vote of 98 to 64. Clifford Sifton voted with the Opposition, as also did Arthur Gilbert and the remainder of the Nationalists. W. B. Northrup, who was conspicuous in the recent agitation against Mr. Borden, did not appear, and W. M. Gorman and Lloyd Harris were both out of the House.

It was a breezy day in the House. The Opposition members were persistent in interrupting speakers, and the repartee at times was brilliant. Mr. Fielding made his best effort this session.

After the amendment had been lost, Dr. Reid (Grenville) read a number of statistics which had been furnished by different departments bearing on the trade pact, which had not been printed. It was the only way, he said, that this information could be brought before the country, and for nearly two hours the doctor read masses of figures.

The debate on the main motion continued until the early hours of the morning. Mr. Patterson favoring the members with a homily on courtesy.

He objected to the jokes which had been made at the expense of his "biscuit" business. When he went into the Ministry he had sufficient means to make him independent of his investment in Brantford, and he thought any person who made reference to the matter again was no gentleman.

Mr. Perley said every day people were becoming more opposed to the reciprocity agreement. As to the effect of it he believed that the Opposition had more information than the Government, but what they wanted was some official figures. The Government had stated that the farmers would get better prices. It was known that this would not be the case. With official information before them the Liberal speakers would not be able to go to the farmers and bunce them.

The Minister of Customs had admitted that all the statistics they had at Washington were those the United States had given them. They had no information of their own regarding the comparative prices of farm products. The excuse offered was that this country was so poor that they could not afford to have these statistics prepared.

Mr. Perley declared that there was only one reason why the Government refused the information—because they wanted to deceive the farmers. The farmers had been told that they would get higher prices, and the Government did not want to let the facts out.

The Government should cause to be forthwith laid on the table of the House in respect to the products and commodities included in the proposed reciprocity agreement with the United States full and reliable information respecting prices and cost of production: (A) in Canada, (B) in the United States, and (C) in the twelve other countries to which Canadian markets will be open under the said proposal.

"And that the Government has been hitherto failing to prepare such information and to submit the same to Parliament."

Mr. Fielding's reply was spirited. His speech was interrupted frequently, and there was continued cross-firing between the Minister and members of the Opposition.

"Has reciprocity always been the policy of the Prime Minister," asked Mr. Boyce.

"Yes," countered Mr. Fielding. "There never was a time when reciprocity ceased to be desirable in this country until this agreement came about. There was a time when it did not seem to be desirable when there was no prospect whatever of obtaining it."

Mr. Fielding then went on to say that there was no information on file beyond what he had given. If there was any, he would like to see it.

Mr. Fielding then read resolutions from the National Grange of the United States, which protested against reciprocity on the ground that the Canadian farmer, by reason of the lower general tariff, preferential trade arrangements and by purchasing manufactured goods at a lower price than in the United States, enjoyed an advantage over the United States farmer, who would be exposed to "unfair competition."

He denied that when in Washington he and Mr. Patterson did not possess all the information that was necessary. As for the United States commissioners it was to be remembered that the American Government had decided on an important change in its fiscal policy involving a reduction in duties all along the line. A tariff commission had been at work reviewing the situation, and of necessity had compiled a large mass of figures.

That Canada sought was a free interchange of natural products, and it was not essential to have corresponding statistics. The Government believed that if the American market for natural products could be opened up it would be good for the people of the Dominion, and there was no need of more statistics to demonstrate the truth of this.

No doubt, he said there were farmers and others on both sides of the line who were afraid of the changes which were proposed. Protection, like conscience, made cowards of us all, and the higher the tariff wall the worse the effect.

He believed that there would be a great breaking away from party lines on this question. The Government was staking its existence on the issue, and if, in the course of a few months, when the elections were held, the people decided that the Government was wrong, the new Government would be free to cancel the arrangement. He doubted, however, if they would ever repeat it if once it came into effect.

Mr. Borden said that when the Finance Minister stated there was no need for further information as to the statistics demanded, he spoke with either utter recklessness or deplorable ignorance of conditions. Why should he single out the Canadian manufacturer and say he should be protected from United States competition and not the Canadian farmer also?

Mr. Borden said the United States were given the knowledge that Canada now asked before the agreement was discussed, through the United States ways and means committee, through tariff exports reports, through the Presidential message. American statesmen were enabled to discuss the question intelligently with knowledge of the basic facts, while Canadians had, as it were, "beat the air."

Hon. Sydney Fisher recalled that in his speech on the reciprocity agreement he had offered to give a number of the statistics that were now asked for. But the member for Lambton refused the courtesy of allowing these figures to be placed on the Hansard without reading. Yet a certain honorable gentleman opposite had brought in another set of statistics which he had read to the House and had claimed they were the only reliable ones. What was the use of giving statistics if they would not be accepted?

W. S. Middlebro (North Grey), in a brief speech, said that the United States were not concerned with the tariff concessions granted at Albany a year ago. The effect of those concessions was never observed. The threat to impose the maximum tariff was a club used by President Taft "for the purpose of extracting from the Minister of Finance a promise that he would come back a year later and negotiate a reciprocity treaty."

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

During the voyage of the steamer George Washington, an American, who were suffering from the delusion that members of the Black Hand were seeking to murder him, stabbed Dr. Vogher, the ship's physician.

Obed A. Langville, assistant postmaster of Mahone Bay, N.S., died last night after a few days' illness, in his 42nd year. Within two years the postmaster at Mahone Bay, and two successive assistant postmasters have died.

The recommendation of the Railway Commission that the C.N.R. be prosecuted to the full for operating an unauthorized line in Manitoba, has gone to the Justice Department. The amount of this fine, if imposed, will be about $90,000.

Lady Amy Galt, widow of Sir Alexander Tillich Galt, C.M.G., died yesterday at her Montreal home. Lady Galt, who had reached her 75th year, was the daughter of the late John Torrance. Her husband was a member of the Macdonald Cabinet.

Big Fire at Goderich.
Goderich, April 7.—Fire, which broke out at 10.15 o'clock last night, caused $50,000 loss to the plant of the Kensington Furniture Co. The loss is covered by insurance. The plant consisted of three buildings, two wooden and one brick. The two former were wiped out and the latter was badly damaged. The fire started in the top floor of one of the wooden buildings, used as a packing room, and spread rapidly to the second wooden building, where varnishes were stored. The firemen had a bad breeze to work against, and were thus handicapped, but succeeded in saving the machine shop.

The plants of the Goderich Wheel Rig Co., the Doty Engine Works, and the North American Chemical Co. were at times in danger.

The burned plant was owned by F. G. Rumball of London, Ont., and his son, John Rumball, was the manager.

Italy's Electoral Reforms.
Rome, April 7.—Premier Giovanni Giolitti presented his associates in the new Cabinet to Parliament yesterday and outlined the policy to be pursued.

Of prime importance was the matter of electoral reforms, he said, and the Government would advocate the granting of the franchise to all who had seen military service, or males who had reached the age of thirty years. Compulsory pension for working men would be introduced.

The financial situation of the nation was good, but a stop must be put to the growth of expenses.

Concerning foreign relations: the Premier said that these were excellent with Italy's allies, and good with her friends.

Regarding the church, the policy of complete independence would be continued.

Sunday Opening.

Chatham, April 7.—The Chatham Free Library board last night discussed the advisability of keeping the library open longer during the day, and also of having it opened several hours on Sundays. Action was deferred.

Kingston, April 7.—Chalmers' Presbyterian Church interior is to be redecorated and refurnished this spring, at a cost of $1,500. The contract has been given to the Thornton Smith Co. of Toronto.

WILL GET SUPPORT

International Union Endorses Western Strike.

MINERS ARE GOING AWAY

Lethbridge Is the Scene of a General Exodus of Coal Miners Who Say Strike Is Going to Be a Long One—U. M. W. Officials Promise the Local Men That They Will Have the Support of Union.

Fernie, B.C., April 7.—Secretary Carter of the district local received the following telegram from Vice-President Stubbs and C. Garner, chairman:

"International executive board fully endorse the position taken by the district. Representatives will be sent at once to co-operate with district officers in carrying out the work in connection with the suspension. Deny absolutely rumors regarding non-support. International will support to the full extent."

This message signifies that a long struggle may be looked for. All movements on the part of the miners indicate preparations for fighting at every point. President Powell returned during the evening to nearly 20 miles an hour, and the vessel visibly, as seen from the shore and every other swell rolled up her black sides and spat about her white superstructure. The fog of the morning had been blown away and a wisp of moon lighted the scene.

As the night wore on, lifeguards patrolled the beach with surf boats and buoys, in readiness for any emergencies and pinned little faith in the sturdy efforts of the tugs to pull the liner off. They recalled the grounding of the St. Paul some years ago, and how she was stuck fast for ten days in just such a sandy bed. Two big wrecking tugs, however, kept their lines to the stern of the ship and reinforced by the derelict destroyer Seneca, waited for the further aid of the tide after midnight. The scene of the grounding is about ten miles east of Fire Island, approximately 45 miles from the battery and 1,000 feet from the beach of treacherous sand pit, which skirts the outer edge of Long Island. Creeping carefully in the murky weather, the Princess Irene did not strike hard.

Problem of Separation.
Kingston, April 7.—Queen's University trustees will take up the question of separation from the Presbyterian Church. At the last meeting of the general assembly the trustees were requested to try and come to a unanimous agreement, as there was strong opposition to the recommendation regarding constitutional changes. So far there has been no attempt made to secure the voice of the graduates upon the matter, and the graduates' vote is very strongly in favor of separation.

Anti-separation trustees are dissatisfied that no attempt has been made to come to an agreement, as the general assembly requested. They asked for a conference, but none was forthcoming. They still ask where will Queen's get its endowment if it yields up its Presbyterian connection. It is said that a big effort is being made to bring the leading anti-separatists in the general assembly into line, and have a final decision made in June.

Jury to Try Him.
Toronto, April 7.—Gordon Russell, lawyer, yesterday elected to be tried by a jury on a charge of forging a document purporting to be a lien on a property of W. H. Reid to secure payment of $400. He will be tried in next sessions.

Judge Denton raised the bail from $2,000 to $4,000 in two sureties of $2,000 each, and refused to accept accused's own bond.

Alfred McCue, the Indian charged with perjury himself in the trial of Ben Asquabe, another Indian, pleaded guilty and will come up for sentence to-day. Counsel Henderson, for defence, had expected the man to plead not guilty, in which case he would be traversed to the next sessions.

There will be 42 sentences for Judge Denton to pass to-day.

Rabbi Tried to Smuggle.

Syracuse, N.Y., April 6.—Samuel Goldstein, a rabbi in a synagogue in Montreal, Que., was indicted here yesterday on a charge of smuggling 101 uncut diamonds into the United States at Rouse's Point on March 14 last. The diamonds were in Goldstein's possession when he was arrested.

The prisoner pleaded guilty, and Judge Ray sentenced him to the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., for one month and fined him $500. If the fine is paid to-day the sentence will be modified.

The rabbi, when arrested in March, claimed that he had been given a package by a friend to deliver in New York, and that he was not aware that it contained diamonds, or that he was attempting to smuggle them.

Girl Whips Would-be Masher.

London, Ont., April 7.—A young woman standing at the corner of Richmond and Dundas streets was approached by a young man Wednesday night, who asked to accompany her home. The girl dropped her purse and went to the man before a crowd of spectators, administering several blows and knocking his hat into the gutter.

"I don't know you; how dare you," she cried. The young man fled before the police arrived.

Harem Skirt Too Feminine?

Kingston, April 7.—In order to carry out the bylaws Chief of Police Baile has refused a Chicago man permission to parade the street in a harem skirt. The man is here as a traveler for a tobacco company. He was notified that if he went on the street in the garb of a woman he would be arrested. He did not venture out.

RUNS ON SANDBANK.

Big Liner Is Ashore With Heavy Sea Running.

New York, April 7.—Seventeen hundred and twenty passengers, with in sight of the first of the big lights which marked the finish of their transatlantic voyage, spent a sleepless night on the great steamship Princess Irene of the North German Lloyd Line, fast in the sands off the seaward coast of Long Island, on the edge of the "Graveyard of the Atlantic," and less than 50 miles from the harbor of New York. As night fell, a high ground swell was battering the full height of the vessels' superstructure.

After running her big nose in the sand during the fog early yesterday morning, the liner lay helpless throughout the day, surrounded by tugs and revenue cutters, efforts to pull her free at afternoon high tide failed and because of a rough sea no transfers of passengers was attempted. The decision was then reached to leave all hands on board pending renewed attempts to drag her clear early to-day. If these fail, transfer will be made to the Prinz Friedrich Wilhelm of the same line, which will be sent to the scene from her dock here to-day.

At low water last evening, the stranded liner lay with her length of 525 feet broadside to the beach on the one hand and the sea and wind on the other. The incoming tide urged on with a wind which increased during the evening to nearly 20 miles an hour, and the vessel visibly, as seen from the shore and every other swell rolled up her black sides and spat about her white superstructure. The fog of the morning had been blown away and a wisp of moon lighted the scene.

As the night wore on, lifeguards patrolled the beach with surf boats and buoys, in readiness for any emergencies and pinned little faith in the sturdy efforts of the tugs to pull the liner off. They recalled the grounding of the St. Paul some years ago, and how she was stuck fast for ten days in just such a sandy bed. Two big wrecking tugs, however, kept their lines to the stern of the ship and reinforced by the derelict destroyer Seneca, waited for the further aid of the tide after midnight. The scene of the grounding is about ten miles east of Fire Island, approximately 45 miles from the battery and 1,000 feet from the beach of treacherous sand pit, which skirts the outer edge of Long Island. Creeping carefully in the murky weather, the Princess Irene did not strike hard.

IRISH TRADE MARK.

Redmond Wants It Protected in the United States.

London, April 7.—John E. Redmond, leader of the Irish Parliamentary party, has given out the correspondence between himself and President Taft concerning a proposition to secure by special legislation protection in the United States of the Irish national trade mark.

In a letter dated March 11, Mr. Redmond calls attention to the increase of exports from Ireland to the United States, and says that an attempt was recently made by an American citizen to procure the registration of a mark identical in design with the Irish mark. In view of the injurious effect such an attempt, if successful, would have on the export of Irish goods, and because the American law has no provision by which the national trade mark of Ireland can be registered, as in the United Kingdom. Mr. Redmond asks the President to use his "powerful influence in securing the passage of a special act recognizing the Irish national trade mark," so that it may obtain registration in the United States.

Replying to this letter on March 20, President Taft writes: "I think such a provision would be a fair and equitable one." The President admits that he is getting opinions on the subject from the Secretary of the Interior and the commissioner of patents.

In a letter dated March 27, the President states that he is forwarding copies of letter from the secretary and the commission which had not been given out, concerning the proposition to amend the law by making provision for national trade marks. The President, in concluding, says: "I am very doubtful whether this is likely to be considered at the extra session, but I shall certainly bring it to the attention of Congress at the regular session in December."

Construction Building Ships.

Melbourne, April 7.—A contract has been signed between the Federal Government and New South Wales for the construction in the latter's dock yard of a protected cruiser and three destroyers. Pearce, Minister of Defence, says Australia is not discouraged at the cost of adopting the endorsed naval scheme, and is fully prepared to find the money.

Archibald Colquhoun, speaking at the United Service Institution on sea power in the Pacific, says Australia's naval policy is capable of expansion. It is not complicated, like Canada, by jarring forces of nationalism and imperialism. Certain political complications made Canada blind to certain obvious dangers. It should be the aim of British policy to encourage mutual intercourse of Canada and Australia.

Setback to Reciprocity.

London, April 7.—The Newcastle Daily Chronicle says the revelation of expanding revenue and increased prosperity of home industries has not done anything to help the Ottawa supporters of the tariff adjustment. The expansion of state railways built from revenue makes it less necessary to worry about special terms with the U. S. A.

Hyman's Tannery Burned.

London, Ont., April 7.—The storage department of the big tannery of Hon. C. S. Hyman was badly gutted by fire early yesterday. The blaze was due to defective electric wiring. The loss is placed in the neighborhood of $12,000.

"THE ROSARY."—When Rowland

& Clifford's new play, "The Rosary" by Edward E. Rose, comes to the Grand on Wednesday, April 12th, the discriminating public will be given an opportunity to see pictured before them the growing unrest and irreligion of our times. It is a faithful picture of the misery and unhappiness that surely comes upon a man who lacks faith in the supreme good and its triumphs in our world. Can one evil mind poison a whole household? Is the human brain capable of producing disastrous effects upon a household by adverse suggestive thoughts? Do we realize adequately how our mental attitudes influence our lives and the lives about us? And the answer? Well, the play is the answer. This play has proven the sensation of the season in Boston and New York; one company has just closed a three month's run in Chicago.

PORT HOPE, APRIL 7, 1911

A big snap in faces and insertion at Cheffin's. Apr. 7 1w

CHANGE OF RESIDENCE.—Mr. Naylor Millson has moved to the residence at the corner of Hope and Ward streets, recently vacated by Dr. Pettie. The Doctor has moved to Mr. T. B. Chalk's new house on Bloomsbury avenue.

34 inch good strong carpet for 17 cents per yard at Cheffin's.

WATCH FOR KERR'S FLAG.—The undersigned has received instructions from Mrs. Richard Greenis, Hagerman street, to sell by public auction on Monday, April 10th, all her valuable household effects. Everything in first class order. No reserve.

JAMES KERR, Auct.

$1.50 linen damask table cloths 95c. $1.25 linen damask table napkins, per doz. 85c. 35c. linen lounge towels per pair 25c. at Cheffin's.

A nicely worded "ad" is all right and you can make it look big—but its results that count, and Byer's Anti-Bald has more to its credit in Port Hope than all other hair vigorators on the market. Your drug-gist will get it for you. d&w 1w FINE PLAY.—The Montana which appears at the Opera House on Monday evening, was billed for Cobourg on that date, but owing to the improvements to that Opera House, the engagement had to be cancelled. It is one of the finest plays on the line, and a large crowd should be in attendance.

Keep April 27th free for the fare well concert to Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Renwick. The choir of the church and the best local talent obtainable will assist. Every body in town should buy a ticket at 25c. Further particulars later.

A GRAND DISPLAY.—Mr. V. G. Carruthers has to-day completed the task he set about to accomplish some months ago. He has the finest display of wall paper seen in Port Hope for many years. The designs are all new and up to date in every respect. A look through this splendid stock is well worth the time spent.

KEEP DATE CLEAR.—On April 11th the Willing Workers of the Baptist church will hold an apron sale, also homemade candies, and fancy work. Afternoon tea will be served and an interesting feature will be a fish pond. td

Auction sale at Trenouth & Jarrell's Livery Stable on Saturday, April 8th, 1911, at one o'clock. A lot of first class furniture; also one bay horse 4 years, sold under warranty; one good general purpose horse; one good buggy and harness; one set of farm trucks; one light wagon. The above furniture belongs to Mrs. VonKleeck and she is moving to Calgary and the same must be sold. Terms cash on furniture. Time will be given on horses.

75c. boy's untearable knickers for 50c. $2.75 boy's 2 piece suits for $1.75. $4.00 men's English worsted trousers $2.00 at Cheffin's.

"Montana" is a drama of to-day, with characters that are truly American, and with incidents and scenes that are taken from life, and has met with success from the day it was first produced. As presented this season, with the author, Harry D. Carey, in the leading role, it is one of the best specimens of dramatic writing that is now being presented. With no problems to solve but with a desire to teach the wisdom of virtue and honesty, it commands attention from all classes. It will be presented here with special scenery and mechanical effects that will make it one of the best offerings that has been announced this season.

ENTIRELY BALD

Her Hair Commenced to Grow After Two Weeks' Use of Salvia Hair Tonic.

"Fever caused me to be entirely bald. I had given up all hope of again having hair when I was advised to use Salvia. After two weeks my hair commenced to grow. I now have the most beautiful head of hair anyone ever saw. Praise to SALVIA."

Thus writes Mrs. Jackson, of New York. We can point to thousands of instances where the proper use of SALVIA has been followed by a remarkable growth of hair.

SALVIA is the original remedy which kills the dandruff germ, and stops falling hair. 50c a large bottle. For sale at Davison's Drug Store.

The Opportunity

Came our way recently of making comparison of our Millinery Values with those found elsewhere. The comparison—styles and quality the same—was considerably in our favor. "There's a reason" for this and it'll pay you to investigate.

Fancy Curtain Scrims

Without a doubt we're showing the best collection of Curtain Materials ever found at this store at any one time. We were fortunate in getting a consignment of Fancy Colored Scrims and Silkolines direct from the makers. This fact of itself is sufficient evidence that values here are the best obtainable. Patterns and styles too, are exclusive and consequently just a little different from the ordinary run.

FLOOR COVERINGS of various kinds are moving out. Best values, good styles and low prices help along the movement.
