CHRISTMAS DAY.

What's this hurry, what's this flurry, All throughout the house to-day? Everywhere a mere scurry,
Everywhere a sound of play.
Something, too, 's the matter, matter,
Out-of-doors as well as in,
For the bell goes clatter, clatter,

Every minute-such a din ! Everybody winking, blinking, In a queer, mysterious way What on earth can they be thinking, What on earth can be to pay? Bobby peeping o'er the stair-way, Bursts into a little shout;

Kitty, too, is in a fair way, Where she hides, to giggle out. As the bell goes cling-a-ling-ing

Every minute more and more, And swift feet go springing, springing, Through the hall-way to the door, Where a glimpse of box and packet, And a little rustle, rustle,
Makes such sight and sound and racket,
Such a jolly bustle, bustle,— That the youngsters in their places,
Hiding slyly out of sight,
All at once show shining faces.

All at once scream with delight. Go and ask them what 's the matter, What the fun outside and in-What the meaning of the clatter, What the bustle and the din.

Hear them, hear them laugh and shout then,
All together hear them say,
"Why, what have you been about, then, Not to know it 's Christmas day ?" -Nora Perry in the Christmas St. Nicholas.

Total$417 70 The above, on motion, was adopted. Coun. Stevenson reported that the amount received by the Collector, so far, was $22,400, or about 2,000 in excess of taxes collected at the same time in previous years.

Rev. Mr. Baker's request in regard to the Town Hall, was cheerfully granted. Coun. Burnham wanted to know what action had been taken by the Committee ap-pointed to confer with the Counties' Council, in reference to the arbitration.

Coun. Stevenson said that the matter had been pending the result of a suit between the town of St. Catharines and the County of Lincoln, similar in all respects to the case in question. The case had been settled by a compromise. That Committee had attended the County Council, but could get no satisfaction.

Ccuns. Burnham, Budge, King, Beamish, the Mayor, and Mr. Marshall, spoke briefly on the question, expressing various opinions. A motion to authorize the Committee to go on with the suit with the Counties, was lost, and an amendment, requesting them to take proper legal advice, and report, was carried. The case of Mrs. Marshall, referred to in a former report, was taken up and discussed at quite a length. No action was taken in the matter. Council adjourned.

NEWCASTLE.

NEWCASTLE, Dec. 19, 1882. LITERARY ENTERTAINMENT .- The Newcastle Literary and Musical Society, a society formed by several of our young people in the village for mutual benefit and pleasure, gave one of their pleasant entertainments on Thursday evening, 14th inst. The fore part of the programme consisted of songs, readings, instrumental music and tableaux, concluding with the sparkling little comedy, entitled "War to the Knife." Everything passed off in a most satisfactory manner. The members of the association must feel pleased that their efforts to afford an evening's amusement to the public of our little village, is meeting with such success, the hall being filled, and all being high in their praise of the entertain-We understand a portion of the proment. ceeds was expended in the necessaries of life, which yesterday was distributed among the deserving poor of the place. This should popularize their efforts, and we bespeak for them at their next entertainment an overflowing house.

MUNICIPAL MATTERS.

Corporation news is about as stagnant and stale as the frozen fish exhibited on our market, which, thanks to our worthy Reeve and council, is open to all comers. If the buildings are not of the class to compete with larger towns, they are nevertheless on various grounds satisfactory. By the way, you will ask what about election matters? Well, to tell you the truth, I cannot glean any tidings. Coming events cast their shadows before, and if I judge from the amount of hand shaking, and that with the great unwashed, times here will be lively. Some of our enterprising men are bound that the Reeveship will not go by default.

Our market is now being well supplied by all that the heart of man can desire. The Christmas show of beef on display by our friend, Mr. Munson, would compare favor-

SPANISH STUDENTS.

Mr. Singleton has secured the above celebrated musicians for two performances on Saturday-a matinee in the afternoon, and a concert at night in the Music Hall. For the afternoon 15 cents will be charged for children, and 25 cents for adults. Admission to evening performance, 25 cents; reserved seats, 50 cents. Speaking of a performance by the Spanish Students in Brooklyn, N. Y., the Eagle says :-

The instruments are mandolins and guitars. The combinations of sound produced by these instruments could not be imagined until they were heard. The movement of the Spanish airs is most infectious; the music is weird and strange in its general character, and, at times, irresistibly recalls "Carmen." But what is more astonishing than anything, is the perfect promptitude and precision with which these instruments are struck. Thomas' orchestra, at its best, cannot excel the Spanish Students in accuracy of tempo, and the effect of the strings, as handled by them, is something indescribable. The first selection brought down the house, and it seems as though the audience would not consent to let them go.

CURLING.

The Port Hope Club met for business in their Club Room at the Rink last evening, and the general business transacted for the season the following skips were appointed :-John Gamble, Edwin Philp, E. J. W. Burton, G. F. Hall, G. Roddick, and W. W. Renwick. Also the first draw for the 13-shot

COUNTY COURT.

Judge Benson acting in the capacity of Ladge for the first time-Complimented by the Bar-His Charge to the Jury. etc.

The County Court and General Sessions of the Peace for these United Counties opened on Tuesday, 12th inst., before His Honor. T. M. Benson, Esq., Q, C., the newly appointed Junior County Judge. On taking his seat, Judge Benson called upon the Clerk of the Court to read the Commissions appointing him Junior Judge of the County Court, and a Local Judge of the High Court of Justice for Ontario. During the reading of the Commissions the Judge and all present remained standi g.

Hon. Sidney Smith, Q. C., the oldest member of the Bar present, addressed the newly appointed Judge, in a very neat and complimentary speech. He said: MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOR, -On behalf of the members of the Profession of these Counties, speaking for those present, as well as it any who are absent, I have great pleasure in congratu, ting you on your appointment. From a lon" experience at the Courts here I can safely so that no appoint Mapleson, of Majesty's Opera Company, ment of any prior occupant ment of any prior occupation of the Bench has given more general satisfaction than has yours. As a private citizen you have endeared yourself to all who congregation present appropriate. A few have met you, while, by your course as a professional more of these sermons during the year, would man you have won the respect and esteem of all your that filled it from parquet to dome. It was a appointment as not only complimentary to yourself, but one that will do credit to the government which conferred the honor upon you. I have no doubt your course in the future will be, as it has been in the past, satisfactory to your friends, yourself, and the public, and it is my sincere hope, and that of all present, I have no doubt, that you will still attain to higher honors.

To these remarks Judge Benson replied:-MR. SHITH AND GENTLEMEN, -I thank you sincerely for the kind words you have spoken, and the generous esteem you have expressed of my conduct in the ous esteem you have expressed of my conduct in the past. It is extremely gratifying to me to occupy my present position, although not an exalted one, yet the respons bilities of which are very great,—and to know that I have the good will of the members of the Bar with whom I have mingled, on my assuming these responsibilities. I feel I tread in the stops of those who have discharged the duties with ability. My predecessor in the Junior Judgeship is one who merits, and who has won the highest respect, not only of the profession of these Counties, but of Ontario as well. He is a gentleman of marked ability, and one who has a sisharged his duties with satisfaction to every one, and credit to himself. I feel, following in his steps, and taking him as a standard, that I will fall far short of the degree of excellence I desire to attain. The other, a gentleman of long experience,—I believe years—and whose retirement gave rise to my appointment, is a gentleman who brought to his position a highly cultured intellect, and who also discharged his duties with great credit to himself, and satisfaction to those with whom these duties brought him in contact. I feel then, taking office under these circumstances, I must ask the indugence of the members of the Bar, and the kind consideration of a generous public. And in the discharge of my duties, I show the Administration of Justice can only be successfully performed in this way. It is essential that a Judge in the discharge of his duties, should be seconded by the active cooperation of the members of the Bar. I feel from the kind remarks just made I will not want in this respect. When I fail in the discharge of my duties, I can assure you it will not be from want of desire on my part; and where i fail from lack of ability, I ask your kind cons deration. past. It is extremely gratifying to me to occupy my

I can assure you it will not be from want of desire on my part; and where I fail from lack of ability, I ask your kind cons deration.

The following members of the Grand Jury were then swora in:—Thos. H. Clarke, Hastings, foreman; W. Slammon, W. Burnett, Thos. Stanton, Wm. Belamy, Wm. Broomfield, Geo. Arnott, Thos. Chaplan, J. T. Allan, John T. Hawkins, W. Black, W. Robbins, Jr.. John W. Bickle, J. A. Brown, John Jeffrey, John Donglass, Hiram Brisbain, Richard Swain.

The Judge delivered his charge, He said that in presenting his charge for the first time to the Grand Jury he was glad to say that in all probability thuir presenting his charge for the first time to the Grand Jury he was glad to say that in all probability their time would not be much occupied with the trial of cases of a criminal character. The calender shows but one, who is in custody for the effence of larceny. It was not necessary to detain them with any statement of what, in law, constituted the offence of larceny, for they were no doubt, all familiar with it. It was, unfortunately, one of these crimes with which Courts of Justice had more to deal than any other. As Grand Ju ors they were to decide from which Courts of Justice had more to deal than any other. As Grand Ju ors they were to decide from the evidence placed before them, if the case they were inquiring into was one that ought to be brought to trial. In the discharge of their duties they would have the assista ce and advice of the learned gentleman who represents the Crown, the County Attorney, and any information they desired from him (the Judge) he would be most happy to give. In the discharge of their duty, they were also to make an examination of the Jail, and report thereon. He was informed that the work of the Grand Jury was often impeded through the non-attendance, at the often impeded through the non-attendance, at the proper time, of Crown witnesses interested in the various cases. This was much to be regretted. There was one class of Crown witnesses who were paid, for their time and attendance, and who should be promp; and the other class were interested, and it would be to their advantage to attend in order that the Grand Jury might proceed, and their business be closed as soon as possible. There was another matter he wished to refer to, which was, the retirement of the learned Judge, who had for so long a time presided over this Court. As they had no doubt, heard his remarks of a few minutes previous, it would not be necessary to repeat them. It was the carnest wish of all, he was sure, that he would be spared many years to enjoy his well-deserved rest. paid, for their time and attendance, and who should

PRESENTMENT OF THE GRAND JURY.

PRESENTMENT OF THE ORAND JURY.

The following is the presentment made by the Grand Jury at the Sessions of the Peace held 1.st week at Cobourg:—

We, the Grand Jurors, at this meeting of the General Sessions of the Peace in and for the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham, respectfully make the following presentm nt.

Referring to Your Honor's remarks at the opening of the Court, we beg respectfully to add cur hamble testimony to the efficiency of the services for so many years rendered by His Honor, Judge Boswell. We hope he will long be spared to enjoy his well-carned retirement.

We congratulate His Honor, Judge Clark, on his promotion to the Senior Judgeship, feeling a sured he will adorn that position by displaying the same marked ability as has characterized his administration of justice while serving in the justice position.

We feel the same confidence and pleasured in effering you our most hearty congratulations at this first Session since your appointment. We join with the gentlemen of the Bar in expressing our conviction that your long and honored legal circle has been but justly recognized by your appointment to the Junior Julges' ip of these United Counties. We hope you may long be permitted to enjoy the honor now conferred.

We regret that the expectation express d by your ferred.

We regret that the expectation express d by your honor as to the few cases likely to engage an attention has not been realized. It is, however, somewhat sailsfactory that the cases are not of a more serious We have had but little difficulty in eliciting such testimony from the Crown with asses as coadled us to arrive at such conclusions is we have riported. We have visited the jail, and found a scrupulously clean and very comfortable. The prisoners express themselves satisfied with their food, bads and treatthemselves satisfied with their food, beds and tratmeat. We are of opinion that many of the priseners find the fail a most desirable place of residence, and cannot regard it as a punishment to be kept there.

It is to be regretted that some employment cannot be funished for these who are able to work.

We were informed by the turnkey that the more insceent among the prisoners, including principally the boys, are confined in the cells up states, so as to be separated from the more hardened criminals. We are pleased that the frequent recommendators of Grat d Juries in this regard have, in this case, not been made in vain; and we submit that the jail been made in vain; and we submit that the jail authorities should be very careful in this matter. The prompt and gratifying attention of the County officials, in furnishing everything necessary to render our jail a safe and satisfactory place of confinement, makes it quite unnecessary for us to make any furliber recommendations.

Respectfully submitted.

Respectfully submitted. THOS. H. CLARK

An interesting discovery of manuscripts has just been made at the Vatican. The boxes containing them were sent to Rome by the Apostolic Vicar of Mesopotamia during the pontificate of Gregory XVI. From that time to this day they have remained unexamined. Besides manuscripts, the boxes contain Assyrian and Babylonian antiquities coeval with the ancient Assyrian and Babylonian monarchies,

FROM NEW YORK.

A Letter from our Corre-pondent There-Of Interest to Music-Loving Readers of "The Times"-Unfavorable Opinion of Mrs. Langtry - In Eestacles over Adelina Patti.

It would be more pardonable in your correspondent to rhapsodize upon the subject of

Mde. Adelina Patti's singing last evening,

than it was for Oscar Wilde to write his panegyric, in the New York World, on Mrs. Langtry's beauty and acting on the occasion of her first appearance in this city as an actress. In the former subject one discovers beauty, dramatic power and marvellous vocal qualities. In the latter, peither classic beauty nor real art, or at hest more than ordinary talent as an actress. "Il Trovatore" was the opera. The announcement by Col. that Adelina Patti would en personation of Leonora for the last time, associates. I say with all truth that I regard this | brilliant and fashionable assemblage, and one unlikely to bestow applause injudiciously. The time arrives when "Leonora" should enter the gardens of the palace of Aliafenia. The sound of a drum is heard and the men at arms recede and disappear. Everywhere there is silence; even the great audience, as if realizing that the beautiful scene before them is of the midnight hour, do not disturb the spell. The scene represents the silvery moon-beams struggling to penetrate the dark clouds, which furtively cover them. In a moment Leonora comes upon the scene, accompanied by Inez. She is received with appreciative applause, even before a note has been sung. Soon her first solo is heard, describing the emotions upon being roused from sleep by the sighing noise of Il Trovatore. No sooner had the first Italian words, "Tacea la notte," been uttered than the audience seemed transfixed. It would be vain and too great a tax upon the valuable space of THE TIMES to follow this phenomenal operatic singer through her unique and marvellous vocalization of the opera. Madame Patti is justly considered the greatest singer in the world. With this is coupled the rare accomplishment in a singer of consummate dramatic power. Her figure is petite, and her face is of the Grecian type of beauty. Over forty years have not dimmed the lustre of her large dark eyes, nor diminished her sprightliness. Her singing is unlike any which it has been your correspondent's pleasure to hear. Perhaps, if comparison were possible, it might be said that Clara Louisa Kellogg's more than any he listens, of the warbling dulcet tones of a bird in the mountain air. When Madame "Materna" was the subject of a letter to THE TIMES, her power of voice and dramatic strength was enthusiastically dwelt upon. In Patti it is neither of these, but sweetness, and everything else that the mind yearns for in vocal music. The effect upon the assem> so much as to cause it to forget the means of applauding. In the fourth act the "Miserere d'un alma gia" was splendidly rendered, and the acme of Patti's efforts was reached in Leonora's solos of this act-"Damor sul ali rosee" (on pure and rosy wings of love.) Of course this had to be repeated, and though Patti strived by graceful courtesy and almost piteous exblage was not, perhaps, to elicit loud applause, pression to decline, it was no avail. In concluding this brief attempt to present to the music-loving readers of THE TIMES, who have not heard Patti abroad, or here during this engagement, some idea of her musical genius, I discover how utterly futile such must be. As well attempt to paint the splendor of the sun, or reproduce on canvass the delicate tints of the rainbow. Christine Nilsson is with us now, but singing in concert only. Her voice is said to be less flexible than of old when her hearers were charmed by what they termed the "warbling of the Swedish Nightingale."

And now, as the snow-flakes gently fall and the electric light dips its beams to illumine the snow-decked pavement, your correspondent, in faucy, hears, amid the low murmur of the wind, the sweet voice of "Damor sul ali rosce."

THOMAS H. ALLEN.

Revs. R. J. Beattie, of the First Presby-terian courch, and G. H. Copeland, of the Bible Christian, both preached temperance sermons on Sunday, in compliance with the request of the Dominion Alliance. Both gentlemen made special preparations, and their addresses gave evidence of it.

Rev. P. McLeod McFarlane, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, Toronto, preached in the First Presbyterian church on Sunday evening. He is a large, impressive looking gentleman, and his sermons are of a character corresponding to his stature. He is really eloquent, and his fine sentences roll out in a manner which magnetize an audience. On the occasion referred to his discourse dealt with the power of the pulpit, which he amply illustrated in his own style. The pulpit undoubtedly would have a very great influence were all preachers like him.

Rev. Mr. Jeffrey was absent from his church on Sunday. His place was filled by a Victoria College student, Rev. D. W. Snider, whose sermons morning and evening were quite acceptable.

In another column will be found an account of His Lordship, Bishop Jamot's visit to St. Mary's church, Port Hope. The services were of a specially interesting character. Mrs. Petley, of Toronto, the leading Alto in the Philharmonic society, assisted in the singing. She favored the audience with the new sacred song, by Prof. Torrington, "Abide with Me," her rendition of it highly pleasing those present. Mrs. Petley is a splendidly trained vocalist, in high favor in Toronto, possessing a beautifully modulated and pleasing voice,

Who Kissed Away the Tear?

Is anything stranger than the human heart? Nature sends a frail, green vine creeping across the earth to reach a grim wall and cover its ugliness—to reach a dead branch and cover it with life. We bless nature as we see these things, and yet we do not realize that human hearts are ever doing the same. One day, months ago, a rosy-faced child looking from a window saw a queer old man go limping past. It tapped on the pane and the old man looked up. The sight of that sweet face opened his old heart, and he went on his way feeling richer than for many a month past. He was the grim wall-the child was the green vine. He passed again, and again the child was at the window, and for days and weeks they never missed seeing each other. At each meeting the vine crept nearer to the wall-the wall appeared less grim and forbidding. One day the "wall" laid aside his old hat for a better one. Another day he had a new coat. Again he was clean shaved, and the "vine" scarcely recognized him. No one knew the old man, but all knew that he was feeling the influence of the

A week ago as the old man passed he missed the face at the window. Was he too early or too late? He lingered and looked and seemed lost. It was the same next day, but a kind heart pitied him and sent out word that the child was sick. The green vine had reached the wall only to be blighted. Two days more and there was crape on the door. The child was dead. It had fallen asleep in death without a struggle, knowing nothing of the grand hamselen. knowing nothing of the grand hereafter, but having no fear. On its pale cheek was a tear—a single tear which glisten-ed like a diamond. No hand dared wipe that tear away. It seemed a tie between the present and the past—the living and the dead.

"Please can I see the-the child!" It was the old man—the grim wall—who knocked timidly at the door and spoke thus. They knew him by sight, and they led him into the room where the vine lay dead. He stood over the coffin for a moment, lips quivering and eyes full of tears, and then he bent over and kissed the face which would watch for him no more. When he had gone they looked for the tear. He had kissed it away! Old and poor and unknown, he had reaped a treasure such as all the lions of the world could not buy.

Marriage Laws. The necessity of making marriage laws brief, simple and comprehensive is illustrated by a breeze that has been recently raised in Wisconsin, and which has set hundreds of heads of families to inquiring concerning the legality of their marriage. A certain clergyman by the name of Irish has recently asserted that more than two-thirds of the married people in the State are not, strictly speaking, married at all, and he proceeds to substantiate his assertion by quoting from the Revised Statutes of the State, which explicitly declare that ministers or priests, before they legally perform the marriage ceremony, must file a copy of their credentials of ordination with the Clerk of the Circuit Court in one of the counties of the State. Examination reveals that not one clergyman in ten has ever done this, or that either in ignorance or defiance of the law they have gone on for years performing mar-riage ceremonies, and pocketing fees. Legal gentlemen are of the opinion that the result will in many cases be serious. involving many disputes in the matter of inheritance, and that the ownership of considerable property will become involved in doubt. There is an amus-ing as well as a serious side to this ocial perplexity, but from the standpoint of public morals such ignorance of so important a law as the marriage law falls but little short of criminal. It is a little difficult to determine just how the good people of Wisconsin should regard Rev. Mr. Irish, whether as a public benefactor or a meddlesome busybody.—Boston Traveler.

Lieut. Chipp.

Among the personal characteristics of Lieut. Charles W. Chipp, the officer in charge of the missing cutter which was separated from the other two boats of the Jeannette in the gale of Sept. 13, was his close attention to books of science. He was a great reader, and when one of the watch officers on the United States sloop-of-war Juniata, on the Polaris search expedition in the Arctic regions in 1873, he spent most of his time in his room poring over his books. He borrowed the books of other officers and applied himself constantly to the perusal of them. He was also a great reader of the Bible, and so retentive was his memory that he could repeat chapter after chapter in almost any book. He was also ready to join any of the numerous expeditions which daily left the Juniata hunting for eider ducks, seals, bear, and deer, or to gather species of the flora, minerals, etc., on the coast of Greenland. He as readily engaged in any of the social entertain-ments on board the vessel, or to the terpsichorean entertainments on shore with the Esquimau women. Lieut. Chipp was a single man, of fine physique, of about medium height, was of light complexion and wore a full brown beard. His disposition, his superior official qualifications and other excellent traits, made him a great favorite among his companions in the navy.

A Massachusetts hod carrier, when he worked a whole day dropped a potato in a nail keg; when he worked half a day, he dropped in half a potato. Unfortunately, some pigs got to the keg and ate up his entire account, and his employers brought him out a dollar in debt.

Young man, if you had one and twothirds tons of gold coin, you would be worth a million dollars. Every little piece of gold you get hold of throw into the junk pile until you accumulate that weight. You can then sell it and become a rich man.

The sea serpent has made a quick swim from the vicinity of Long Branch to Pacific waters. Two gentlemen of San Diego, Cal., saw it a few days ago; they were sober; a length of twenty feet of the serpent was seen above water-and there is no mistake about it.

A Philadelphia surgeon has succeeded in supplying upper and lower eyelids to a miner whose face was horribly burned by an explosion. The upper lids were supplied by skin from the man's forefinger, and the lower lids by a piece cut from his arm.

Springfield, O., contains 500 more women than men, and when a man who can't see after 4 p. m. accidentally disappears through a coal-hole the women call an indignation meeting on the sidewalk and demand that society shall return to the good old days of andirons and wood fuel.

Manitoba has a real, live peripatetic town. It is called Boomtown, and moves as the Pacific railroad advances. A camp is made at the end of the line, and building lots bring fancy prices, and with another advance the place is deserted and another locality is called Boomtown.

An exchange says that, by way of obtaining light on the question of morning prayers at Harvard, President Eliot mailed a circular to the parents and guardians of all the under-graduates, inquiring whether they had daily morning prayers in their own households. He received seven hundred and forty-one replies, and five men out of every seven said they did not.

Rev. Dr. Washington Gladden, of Springfield, makes this interesting statement: "I wish to record my own conviction, drawn from a pretty extensive knowledge of journalists and of clergy-men, that the average editor is a little more fair and Christian in his dealings with truth, and in his treatment of those who differ from him, than the average parish minister."

Prof. Packard, of Bowdoin College. vouches for the story that Talleyrand detested Aaron Burr, and that when the latter sent his card, requesting an interview, the French diplomat said: "The minister of foreign affairs will see Col. Burr at such an hour, but a miniature of Gen. Hamilton always hangs over his mantel." Col. Burr did not call.

If the tunnel which it is proposed to build across the English channel should cost $50,000,000, which was one of the estimates, it would take 1,000,000 pass engers at $2.50 to pay 5 per cent. on the investment. Of course, there must be an allowance for freight, but no estimate has been made of the possible business of this nature.

Majolica.

Italian Majolica is earthenware which, after firing, has been covered with a thin coating of white earth, and then enameled with a composition of the oxides of tin and lead. The whiteness and hardness of the surface are proportionate to the increased quantity of the former ingredient, and the inferior description of ware, or mezza majolica, is glazed with lead oxide alone. This opaque metallic varnish imparts to the ware that pearly luster, whose secret, believed to have been learned by the Italian potters from the Moors of Spain, Bernard Palissy spent life and fortune in trying to discover. Porcelain, on the other hand, originally composed of finer clay, owes its texture to a thin coating of true glass, evenly formed over its surface under exposure to a very high temperature, by which its substance is partially vitrified throughout. But porcelain and earthenware, while differing in the composition of their surface enamel, resemble each other in that they receive it in the stage technically known as "biscuit," after they have undergone the first firing. Plunged then into a solution of the glaze constituents, these substances form a white efflorescence over the porous clay, after it has absorbed the fluid in which they were dissolved. The process is finally completed by the second baking of the ware in the glazing kilns, and the fushion into a thin crust of enamel, of the elements deposited on its surface .-

The knowing Clara Belle gives in the Cincinnati Enquirer the following receipt for making one's hands soft and white in spite of March winds. "Mix one ounce of myrrh, four of honey, two of yellow wax, and six of rose-water. Mix the whole in a mass, melting the wax in the rose-water and honey over steaming water, and then adding the myrrh: Rub thickly over the hands before retiring, and then wear a pair of loose white gloves."

Mr. Johnson firmly believes that he had a supernatural impression. He had a contract for building a church at Northampton, Mass., and the work was nearly finished. One evening as he was about to go to bed he suddenly felt that something was wrong in the new edifice. Unable to rid himself of the idea, he dressed himself, went to the building, unlocked it, and saw that a flame was just rising from a pile of oily cotton-

JAY GOULD.

In the judgment of those competent to give an opinion, Jay Gould occupies the same position in the world of finance that Bismarck holds in the field of diplomacy. He stands solitary and alone as monarch of the financial arena, towering above all rivals and distancing all competitors by the tremendous reach of his business conceptions and the magnificent genius with which he suggests their successful conclusion. Without an immense inheritance, as in the case of Vanderbilt, to launch him into the full tide of success, he has by the force of his own genius succeeded in attaining wealth estimated to be over $100,000,000.

In his personal appearance Gould is the most inferior of all the leading rail-way magnates. He has the nervous, rapid motion of a counter-jumper rather than a railway king. Both front and side face are inferior, but the lower part of the latter is concealed in a heavy beard, so intensely black that it suggests artificial means. He leads a hard life, labors with intense application and is driven by the pressure of his engagements until he may be considered a mere bondman. He has no leisure, no society, no reading, no recreation, but is contin-ually under the whip and spur of neces-

Gould's wealth has been amassed by his extraordinary tact in keeping his own counsel. His brokers acting directly under his orders are by no means in his secrets, and while one set may be bulling stock, the other may be unloading. His plan for years has been to watch for weak stocks and when he has made a selection he forces it down by a series of well concerted attacks and then makes heavy purchases, forcing the market up as easily as he forced it down. Only a man of the highest order of genius can carry on such a system and the fact that Gould succeeds is the greatest proof of his vast natural powers.

Biography of Garfield. The Cleveland correspondent of the New York Tribune in a recent letter

Mrs. Garfield is taking an active part in the preparation of a work containing a selection from the speeches, lectures and other public addresses of the late President. The plan is to print in one or two columns such of his oratorical ef-forts as have a permanent interest and show best his power and range as a statesman and scholar. The labor of compilation is being performed by President Hinsdale, of Hiram College, with Mrs. Garfield's counsel and assistance. A good deal of original matter will go into the book in the form of notes and of introductory articles explaining the circumstances under which the speeches were delivered, and the history and attitude of the public questions to which they relate. Nothing has yet been decided about the authorized biography. Mrs. Garfield wisely thinks there should that it can well wait until the hurriedlywritten lives manufactured for campaign purposes and republished after his death, have had their run and the public is ready to view his career in a true historical light. No selection of a biographer has been made. No doubt the task will be confided to some one whose place in literature is already won, and who will not seek the work for the reputation it will bring.

After the biography appears, but perhaps not until many years elapse, there will probably be published under Mrs. Garfield's supervision one or two vol-umes made up of selections from the Martyr-President's correspondence. In the letters which friends can furnish and in the press copies which he preserved of much of his correspondence with public men, exists a mine of valuable material. These letters cover the entire period of the war, the reconstruction epoch, the contest over the national finances, and the more recent events in politics and legislation, and abound in frank, manly, vigorous opinions and criticisms. Well digested, they would form a conscientous record of General Garfield's life and thought from 1860 to 1880, written by his own hand. So constant was his habit of writing to a few intimate friends with freedom and fullness of his experiences, his reading, literature, science and political economy, his work in legislation and in the field of national polities, and his views of public men and measures, that an autobiography could almost be made up from his letters. In justice to himself and others, his correspondence, if published, will be edited with great care. It may not be printed until most of the men who played prominent parts with him in public life have passed off the Southern Authors. It is a noticeable fact that not one of our cockneyized American literary detractors of America is from the South. It is vastly to the credit of that section that it never raises snobs. Whatever ways an American-even if always distinctively Southern—and he never seeks to be anything else. He is at least selfrespecting in this regard. He is as proud of his nativity as a Scotchman. It may mean poverty and crudity, but it is his. He spreads himself out over its worst as well as its best elements and resents with intense dudgeon any imputation upon either. He may repudiate public obli-gations and renounce the "Yankee" end of the body politic, but whether he be in London or Paris he is always a Southerner and ready to do battle for the excellence and pre-eminence of the South. This spirit has prevented dis-tinctively Southern writers from joining in this anti-American crusade. - Our

A Much Mystified Young Man.

A mystified youth writes to ask us to unravel and generally decipher a remark made to him the other night by a young lady, with whom he had repaired to a restaurant for supper, after visiting Wallack's theatre. It seems they were demolishing some broiled frogs, and the conversation being on the subject of flirting, the young lady expressed herself as follows: "I think the way you men 'do go on' is perfectly outrageous. You flirt with every girl you see, and when you have broken their hearts what do you care for them?-why nothing. You act exactly as the men do who catch these poor little frogs, the hind legs is all they care for." Now, what in heaven's name, says the young man, did she mean by that? How on earth should we know?

Did it over occur to you that a swan's upper side is never down?

The difference between a hungry man and a glutton is: "One longs to eat and the other eats too long."

While stingy husbands are not popular, every maiden likes to have her beau very close. The eigarette-consuming young man is a bore, and the world is tired of seeing him around.—Philadelphia Times.

Seven doctors charged Colonel Betts, of Washington, $30 each to tell him he couldn't live a week. In four weeks he was able to go back to business.

A man in Lincoln county, Ky., has just been fined $46 for beating his wife, and I cent for driving his mother-in-law out of his house "by force of guns."

A venetian gondolier makes on an average 4 francs (about 80 cents) a day the year round. On this he will marry, rear a family, and put some money by. At the annual meeting of Mr. Spurgeon's church it was reported that 70 members died during the year and 67 were received. The whole number is now 5,810.

A colored boy of Tallahassee cut off the fingers of a playfellow. When he was asked about it, he said he could not tell a lie, and that he did it with his little hatchet.

The Congregationalists have in Iowa 238 churches and 140 ministers. The largest church is at Grinnell, with 580 members, and the next at Des Moines, with 318. The Young Men's Lyceum of Daniels-ville, Windham County, Conn., has decided, after a thorough discussion. that men are not stronger, mentally, than Charles A. Reed, of Newton, Mass., devised $40.000 each to his own town and Salem, to be used in picnics to children, scientific lectures and relief to poor widows. While the entire rental of the city of Philadelphia last year amounted to $23,-000,000 it was surpassed by the expend-

A Californian gave a poor family $300 worth of provisions and fuel and then, dressing up as a beggar, he went around to the house and asked for a bite to eat. He was promptly kicked off the steps.

"Were you hurt near any one of the vertebra? asked a lawyer of a witness who wanted damages. "No," was the answer: "I was hurt right on the racecourse, close to the judges' stand."

A Chinaman would rather fly a kite than go on a drunk, tear down doors, and thump a bar-tender. And yet some eople regard the Chinese as the intellectual equal of the white man. A young man had no more than slip-

Trotting about on the floor, the children spied him, and a buzz of whispers, called the teacher's attention. "Now, children," said she, in a kind and motherly, way, "keep very quiet, every one of you. Don't move nor say a word if the mouse comes toward you. He is perfectly harmless."

The scholars were very quiet, and watched the capers of the mouse breathlessly. The teacher had scarcely finishlessly. The teacher had scarcely finishlessly and have address, when mousey range. ed her brave address, when mousey ran directly for her, and began to walk over her feet. This was too much, and the preaching was turned into practice which refused to dove-tail, as it were.

In short, the teacher screamed with frig.t, and ran as if a pack of wolves we in mad pursuit. The whole school became uproarious, and the mouse was master of the situation.

The little fellow was so delighted that he stood up on his hind legs and danced a hornpipe, and then ran through the doorway, leaving the teacher and her tickled pupils in a peculiar state of mind.—Waterburg Paper.

Different Kinds of Mining

"No; no hoisting works—not if I know.
You can fool away a good deal of good, hard coin on hoisting works."
"How in thunder do you run your mine?" "On the assessment plan, sir. That's the latest and most approved method. When we have a good map of the lower workings we don't need any works to speak of. I keep a man in Virginia at $60 a month to superintend the location and write weekly my letters, and I stay in San Francisco, in my office on Pine street, and levy the assessments every sixty days; that's as often as the law allows. I am the President, Board of Trustees, Secretary, Treasurer, and everything-more especially the Treas-Of course I draw salary for all the offices, and when I get through drawing salaries I turn the rest over to the agent in Virginia to pay off the hands; he saves enough to pay himself. This is what I call scientific mining, sir. You get the silver out of the pockets of the stockholders and leave the vast argentiferous and auriferous deposits in your claim for your children, who can go right ahead and develop the mine just as soon as the public quit putting up, which isn't at all likely to happen. As long as people are born in Nevada and California my mine will run on like a chronometer clock." "But," said the Utah man, "my style of mining keeps lots of men at work." "So does mine," quoth the Golden Gate chap. "Thousands of men are working night and day to pay the assessments. It keeps the country as busy as a beehive," and the speaker sauntered to the telegraph office to order assessment No. 36.

A Distinguished Pickpocket.

Under the heading of "A Distinguished Pickpocket," the French journals publish the following story: "At the Chateauroux races a skilful pickpocket with an open countenance whipped from the hand of a lady a richly-embroidered handkerchief which she was carrying. The victim was unconscious of the rob bery, but some persons who were standing close to her saw the deed committed, and raised the usual cry of "Au volcur!" which is equivalent to our "Stop thief!" Our hero, instead of lev-anting like a vulgar rascal, remained upon the spot calm and immovable .-After easting a glance of superb disdain upon his would-be pursuers, he used the dainty handkerchief several times with as much vigor as dignity. Then, with a jaunty air, tendered the lady her handkerchief, saying, "Madam, a thousand pardons: I came out without a pocket-handkerchief, and nothing is more inconvenient. I thank you." The astonishment this act created was so overwhelming that no one thought of arresting the impudent thief, who was soon lost in the crowd.

Sanitary Cats.

A health officer of Hoboken reports the fact that a lady of that city complained to her landlord that her parlor was ed to her landlord that her parlor was tainted by gases from the sewer, and that some of the pipes in the wall must be leaky. She could not convince him of it, however, until one day when he called in she went to the upper story, and pouring a quantity of valerian into a set wash-bowl, let it trickle down. Soon there was a smell of valerian in the parlor, upon which she brought in her two cats. The felines sniffed the vale-rian with evident delight, and quickly found their way to an adjoining closet, and then to a shelf, where they seemed to find the smell to be the strongest .-The landlord sent for one of the maligned race of plumbers, and opening through the plastering at that point, found a leak in the pipe which connected the washbowl with the sewer. Worse than a Bulldog's Grip. A barn in this city is infested with rats. A day or two since a large steel-jaw trap was set for the pests, and neatly concealed on top of a chopping-block. The same day a man was hired to "clean up things" in the barn. He did his work faithfully, and after a while, becoming weary, concluded to take a rest. Looking round, he espied the chopping-block, an inviting seat, and leisurely planted himself on it, when—snap went the trap, and the cries and yells of the innocent victim of the surprise party could be heard the length of the street. "Murder! murder! Take him off!" These and other fragmentary sentences brought the house servant to the scene but she was powerless, and further help had to be obtained to release the poor fellow from the jaws of the imaginary animal which had him. He was half frighten-ed to death, and the services of a physician were needed to dress the painful wound.—Newburyport Herald.

Romance of Arithmetic.

The following story about Mohammed Ali and the camels is not new, but it is interesting:

A Persian died, leaving seventeen camels to be divided among his three sons in the following proportions: the eldest to have half, the second a third, and the youngest a ninth. Of course camels can't be divided into fractions, so, in despair, the brothers submitted their difficulty to Mohammed Ali.

"I'll lend you another camel to make eighteen, and now divide them your-selves." The consequence was, each brother got from one-eighth to one-half of a camel more than he was entitled to, and Ali received his camel back again; the eldest brother getting nine camels, the second six, and the third two.

MRS. WILLIAMS' ILLNESS:

We regret exceedingly to hear, as we go to press, that Mrs. Williams, the esteemed wife of our much respected Member for the Commons, is very low, and that the hopes which a few days ago were entertained of a recovery have been much lessened by the present state of the patient.

We hope still that a valuable life may be spared to a devoted husband and family. In the sore trial through which he is now passing, Colonel Williams has the-heartfelt sympathy of every member of the community, and the expressed wish of every one is that he may be kept from sadder affliction. If the fondest hopes of many friends can avail to cheer him, he has that solace to the full.

ANOTHER XMAS GREETING.

EDITORS, like preachers, are supposed at the annual return of such interesting periods as Christmas, to say something suitable to the occasion. Christmas festivities have been enjoyed to a greater or less degree, we have no doubt, for over 1800 years, and yet the world seems as eager as ever to embrace the opportunity of being joyful at each subsequent return of the happiest day in the list of Christian holy days. It is strange that the Christian nations never become tired of celebrating it. With what delight does the sound of "My Xmas box on you," spoken at early peep of Xmas morn, thrill the heart of old and young in every part of the globe where Christianity has travelled. Perhaps in this one fact, like the perpetually living spring of Gospel truth, is there to be found the greatest attest to the divine nature of our religion. Why does the world never tire of it? Why is it that the Christmas season has a peculiarity in itself?—we insensibly feel its approach, and experience an influence which stamps the period as Christmas, bringing joys tional days inaugurated subsequent to it above were made. have long since died out, and are known only in history. Why has the observance of Christmas Day survived almost 2,000 years, and why does it to-day bring more joy to the greatest number than any other event in the category of great events? It cannot be explained except upon the assumption that as it celebrates the anniversary of the greatest episode in human history-a day upon which angels heralded the advent of our Savior in this world by the beautiful song of praise-"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good-will toward men,"-it must continue a time of felicity as long as the work of redemption then begun continues.

We are now in that season of holiday festivities, when the air is full of Christmas. On Monday it will arrive. We have had occasion to wish our readers "A Merry Christmas" very many times, but never have we felt a stronger desire to make the salutation a cordial one than at the present. Canada, on a whole, was never in a better position to enjoy itself. every hand.! We have no financial depress'on,—the days of gloom are over and we feel happier on that account; there are no foul epidemics mowing down its victims right and left; no domestic or political difficulties mar the national peace; no foreign danger to distract. As a people, we have health, wealth and happinessthree earthly things most to be desired; we are enjoying a good Canadian winter -not too cold, just cold enough to invigorate and raise the spirits. Everything is lovely and the Christmas goose hangs high. More favorable circumstances for the ushering in of that happy day, on the first of which cherubims and seraphims exultingly shouted gloria in excelsis, could not be imagined. They can once more take up that refrain, and shout it louder than ever, and the praises of men mingling with the Te Daums of angels in their ascent, will once more cause the Divine response to be echoed back, "It

The picture is one, however, which has its dark side as well as its bright one. There are many, on the whole-not comparatively considered-to whom Christmas Day brings sad recollections. They think of the days when its coming brought beautiful hopes of a future which have never been realized. There are others again, on whom poverty has laid a heavy hand. To these the little luxuries of life which help to make living pleasant, are not known. In Canada, although this class of people are not is the License Law. With unparalleled not a few to whom Christmas and New Years are all the sadder days on account of the plenty which surrounds them, but in which they are not allowed to participate. It should be the endeavor of cur townspeople to see that a little ray of sunshine is brought to these homes. Let the offering for the poor be a bountiful one, and to the givers the delights of the season will be greatly intensified.

If we were asked for the best wish for our readers, which we would desire to see realized, we could express no better one than that they might never see a less happy Xmas than that which next the participation may not be less than the expectations is our most sincere wish, and we now bow ourselves out with the season's salutations of "A Merry Xmas and a Happy New Year."

ENGLAND AND THE NORTH-WEST.

Several years ago Hon. J. H. Pope, Minister of Agriculture, conceived, as the Winnepeg Sun puts it, a happy idea. He invited tenant farmers in England to make a visit to the North-west, the Government paying their expenses. Many of these have taken advantage of the offer. One, a Mr. Kendrick, a Staffordshire farmer, has been out all summer in the vicinity of Moose Jaw, and personally examined every part of many thousands of acres. On his return to Winnipeg he was interviewed by a Sun reporter, and gave an interesting comparison between the possibilities of a farmer there and in England. We can afford no space for even a condensation of his remarks which are well worth reading, but may notice a few scatements

In England he said the average rental was $7 to $10 per acre. The rent for a farm of 160 acres would be at least $1,000 more than you can get an equal amount of property of as good, and in many instances far superior property, to buy in the North-west. The yield of grain in Staffordshire is from 15 to 25 bushels per acre, and the keen competition of Canadian and American agriculturists altogether makes tenant-farming very unprofitable. Soil and yield in the N. W. T., is A 1, he said, and the great beauty of working there was that you could own the land. At the end of five years a man can own his farm and be worth $10,000, while in England, at the end of the same time, he would be no better off, and most likely two or three thousand poorer. Compared with the old country, it adds ten years to a man's life. In England you can only own the stock, and it often has to go to pay the rent. Then as to the condition of agricultural laborers, he said there was no comparison between the two places. At home laborers get $175 a year, out of which they had to keep themselves and families; in the North-west they get $360 a year and board, i. e., $180 a year more, besides and happy moods peculiar to no other | board, than can be obtained in England. season. Why? Other religious and na- Many other statements similar to the

Such a method, of advertising the new coun'ry opened out under a wise policy, is ten times more advantageous than all the emigration agencies established, or emigration circulars that could be issued. Imagine the effect of such statements by Mr. Kendrick when he returns home upon the minds of English tenant farmers and laborers.

THE LOCAL LEGISLATURE.

On Wednesday of last weck the local egislature was opened with the usual ceremony. The speech from the throne was regarded as a very tame affair, foreshadowing a very tame session. The country was congratulated upon the prosperity existing, for which, we might add, no thanks are due to Mr. Mowat. The progress of agriculture, a staple boast of the Ontario Government, was of course touched upon. In a province like Ontario, having a beneficial National Policy for its furtherance, we see no reason why Mr. Mowat should claim credit Contentment and prosperity reigns on for what he is not in the least responsible. Gratification was expressed over the lumber trade. This is rather a dangerous spot to be touched. Over a million dollars of revenue from the sale of crown lands and timber has been brought into the Provincial treasury. This is where the boasted surplus comes from. Is there any thanks due a Government for having a large surplus, when it is bequeathed it by nature. When the crown lands and timber list is exhausted, from what source is the Government to look for its revenue? Of course, regret was expressed because the Dominion Government had not ratified a one-sided Boundary Award. But judging from the mild and ambiguous way in which the Lieu. Governor is made to treat this matter, it is quite evident that Mr. Mowat has cooled down since last session, and has given up his belligerent ideas. The Globe's argument in reference to the Rivers' and Streams' Bill is reiterated. It is said that the decision of the Supreme Court renders some legislation necessary. More tinkering is promised the Municipal and School Acts. In this connection, Mr. Mowat congratulates himself that the efficiency of the educational institutions continues. He certainly has much to be thankful to his stars for this. The school system which can survive the incubus of a dead weight like Mr. Crooks, and still be useful, is am glad to observe a determination on the part of our people to resist all attempts to relax the laws restricting the traffic in intoxicating liquors." That sentence, with several others we noticed, proves that there is a very intimate connection existing between the governmental departments and the Globe sanctum. So much so does this appear, that it would not be injuring the innecent, if the lies circulated by the Globe concerning the Licensed Victuallers to make political capital against Sir John Macdonald were shouldered upon Mr. Mowat. Altogether the Speech from the Throne fell with the Monday promises to be. That flatulency of a dish rag upon Parliament assembled, and not calculated to arouse enthusiasm throughout the Province in favor of Mr. Mowat.

Very little interest so far, has been aroused throughout the country by the proceedings of the Local Legislature. From all appearances the sessi n will be a short and unusually uninteresting and unprofitable one. The Government will push business, get through as quickly as possible, and bring on the elections before the Dominion Legislature will have dissolved.

Mr. Meredith, in his opening speech, on Friday last, dealt very severely with the Ontario Government. He referred in the most decided manner to the disgraceful way in which the Reform party had put into mouths of Conservatives, as he expressed it, "words which they have not uttered, and intentions which they do not entertain." As the License question will be a promineut one during the session and in Parliament, Mr. Mere dith did well to lay the issue squarely before the House. Because the Supreme Court did not sustain the ruling of the Court of Appeal, in the case of McLaren vs. Caldwell, Hon. Mr. Frazer assailed the judges. The leader of the Opposition forcibly declared that it was graceful to sneer at the judges in the press; but it was still more reprehensible to attack them on the floor of Parliament, where no reply is possible. If there were charges to formulate, it was only manly to undertake the responsibility of bringing them to the notice of those capable of dealing with the matter. Mr. Meredith's treatment of the Boundary question was effective. He showed that the people went to the polls on that question last summer and gave Mr. Mowat his quietus. He challenged Mr. Mowat to say, as a lawyer, that the Award was a legal one. All through, his speech was an admirable one, and is so dmitted even by the Globe. Mr. Mowat, in reply, was evasive all the way through, rather than combative. On the questions of the Boundary Award, National Policy, Dissllowance, and others, he did not make one positive statement. Those who may think this a partizan assertion, are referred to the speech in question. The whole tenor of it was apologetic, and is the best possible proof that the "Little Premier" feels his position as a light one. In admitting that he wanted the people to vote for the Boundary Award on the 20th June and failed, and that the majority of the people were in favor of the National Policy, he virtually gave his whole position away. In discussing the License Law, he gave the best possible proof of the partizen nature of the Crooks Act, by stating that it was not possible to find Conservatives who would carry out the law. This is on a par with an editorial heading in the Globe of a day or two since: "If your assessors are Conservatives, watch them." When politics come to that extreme of nonsenical twaddle, it might be considered time for a third party to make its appearance.

Mr. Mowat says that if disallowance is exercised, the confederation cannot stand. That is a question in which very many will differ with Mr. Mowat. Mr. Blake in practice differs very materially. It was thought the Queen had the power to disallow, but considered that that right should never be exercised. A few more such absurd theories as that, and Mr. Mowat might well be considered a fit person to succeed Hon. Adam Crooks as Minister of Education.

A speech which is well worth reading, and one which perhaps contains the best resume of the present state of Local politics and their relation to the Dominion, was the one delivered by Mr. Morris. A gentleman of wide experience, broad culture, and deep research, his speech is well calculated to become a good political text-book. We would recommend it for the study of those who wish to obtain an intelligent idea of Provincial affaire.

A notable feature of the proceedings so far is the silence on both sides of the House in regard to the Marmion ques-This shows that there is an evidislike to open up a discussion which is likely to offend any portion of the religious elements of the province. It is perhaps as well, as those whose reading, -and there is a majority of such, -does not extend to even the English classics, cannot be expected to discriminate between an insult to the literary tastes of the educated, and a sectional grievance which is said to justify it. However, Mr. Crooks must come in for an overhauling before the session is through, and without doubt-in fact, there is no help for it-the question will have to be opened up, or the Opposition will be derelict in their duty. The risk of offending a few of a certain creed, should not justify perpetuating the career of such a specimen of monumental stupidity as Hon. Mr. Crooks is.

CURRENT COMMENT.

NO USE DENYING.

There is no use of anybody denying that the political element has entered into the appointment of license commissioners. We believe there is but one exception to the rule that all the licenso commissioners are of the same stripe of politics as the Government which appointed them .- Toronto Telegram.

We noticed, a few weeks ago, a new publication called Notes, Queries and Answers. We have received, through the kindness of the editor, the complete numbers so far of the first volume. It is something of great interest to teachers, practical and professional men, containing as it does queries on all imaginable subjects; notes, valuable in the way without question, a proper subject for of information, and answers to queries, by the editor and others. It is $1 a year, and published by S. C. & L. M. Gould, Manchesgratulation. Among other things noted numerous, yet we have in our own town impudence the speech goes on to say: "I ter, N. H. N. B. He will be missed only on account of his windy promises, and the ever-recurring failure in carrying allything to a successful issue. Port Hope has suffered greatly during the period he has occupied the civic chair, and no greater calamity could have befallen our fair town than his re-election. Though actively canvassing for the last six months, on the mention of Mr. Hugel's name as a candidate against him, he very promptly withdrew. We commend his prudence. This leaves Mr. Hugel the only candidate, so far, in the field, and we heartily trust our citizens will give him a trial, and allow him to be elected by acclamation. Mr. Hugel has always been a strong advocate of the interests of Port Hope. He is a practical, shrewd, thorough-going business man, and we are in hopes his large business connection may result in his being able to induce manufacturers to locate here. The nomination takes place to-morrow, and our people have it in their hands to pay Mr. Hugel the graceful compliment he so well deserves for the great interest he has ever manifested in the advancement of the town, in returning him by acclamation.

THE COUNCIL.

Of the members of the present Council who are in the field for re-election, we may name the following: W. G. Stevenson, H. A. Ward, E. Budge, Wm. McKee, A. Winslow, and F. M. Beamish. Mr. Stevenson, who has an extended knowledge of town affairs, is at the present time the most valuable member, and it would be almost a calamity to the town to have him left out. His indefatigable exertions in regard to all public matters, and his thorough intimacy with our municipal machinery, has made him almost indispensable as a member of the board, while probably no one else in the town has the same knowledge of our financial position. The other gentlemen named above have been faithful, hardworking representatives during the past year, and they are all deserving of reelection. We are desirous, as a rule, of seeing old members of the Council, who have worked honestly for the welfare of the town, re-elected, and none we have had for years past have done better. We regret that Mr. J. G. King will not be a candidate. He has been one of the most useful councillors, and we would have been glad to have seen him in next year's council. We trust his retirement is only temporary. Mr. A. W. Pringle, we also learn, does not desire re-election. Mr. Pringle's calm, cautious dealing with public matters commends him for any public position. Though unable to see Mr. Burnham up to the time of writing, we understand he is again a candidate in Ward 3. His constant attention at the meetings of the Council, and the interest he has displayed during the past year, should secure his re-election.

The names of several other gentlemen in the different Wards are mentioned, but as we have no authority to say they will be candidates, we forbear naming them.

The Council of 1882 will go out with a record greatly in their favor; instead of a deficit, they leave a surplus. There is every promise of a good Council for 1883, and we would urge our cltizens to cast their votes irrespective of personal prejudice, and in all cases for the best men.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Bystander is out once more. The literary contents are characteristically Goldwin Smith's productions, and will be read with interest by very many.

It is a matter of reproach against Protestant consistency, says the Presbyterian, that it has contained in the past an inherent tendency towards disintegration. The Presbyterian is late in discovering a fact which has been patent to impartial thinkers for many a day.

Two years ago the Montreal Witness informs us, there were seven cotton mills in the Dominion. Now there are twenty-one, engaging in the aggregate an approximate capital of $6,600,000. The stock question of "Where are the tall chimneys?' is very definitely answered by such facts as these.

Some time ago we stated that if the Reformers ever wished to put the Globe in a position where its opinions and its statements would be respected, they would have to demand the retirement of Mr. Gordon Brown, the managing director since the death of his brother, Hon. Geo. Brown, and for many years, managing editor. Leading Reformers evidently shared the same opinion with ourselves. His retirement is now announced. This is no doubt the result of political pressure. Gordon Brown is a sharp, shrewd business man, but is a man of narrow opinions, and not in sympathy with the prevailing ideas of the present day. The Browns and the Cartwrights were the best representatives of the fossilized Tory we ever had in this country, and we may now look in hope for a gradual re possession by the Globe of its former prestige. At present, while being in demand as a news paper, it never stood so low in point of influence as a leader of Parnell, in his speech at Cork Monday, suggested that if Government wished to promote Irish emigration to America they should provide them with houses and sustenance for the first year of their residence and not send them out penniless. His own proposal was that the Government should make over to the indigent Irish people some of the vast tracts of grazing land depopulated by previous famines.

Prof. Fenwick, of Kingston Medical College, in whose class the recent troubles between male and female students arose, has made a statement denying that the male students cheered or applauded anything which he said, and asserting that the up-roar was caused by the ladies rising and leaving the class, a proceeding which the students considered as an insult to himself. The lady students, in a letter to the facuity, make statements directly at variance with the professor's.

Evidence of present and approaching destitution is not wanting in many parts of Ireland. At Loughrea the labourers on Monday surrounded the residence of Bishop Dugan, clamoring for relief, and declaring they were destitute. Three newspaper reporters have also been arrested for attending a prohibited League meeting. The Government will, it is reported, deal immediately with Mr. Biggar, M. The Rev. J. Fletcher Wilcox became pastor of the Christian Church in Chicago, with the understanding that, in lieu, of salary, he should be permitted to preach whatever doctrines he pleased. This arrrangement proved a failure on the first trial. In his opening sermon he told the congregation that the righteons would literally inherit the earth for a thousand years, and that the wicked would be utterly destroyed at death. He was informed by a committee on the following day that the church could not listen to such a belief, and that his pastorate was ended.

HOPE ELECTIONS.

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

DEAR SIR,-In my opinion the time has arrived when we ratepayers must decide whether we have men in our midst with sufficient ability to represent us at the Council Board. Until within a couple of years back the electors have been enabled to choose from among themselves, men on whose shoulders they could with safety rest the responsibility of managing our municipal affairs; but these days apparently have gone, and now we are told we have to look to a neighboring municipality for such. An important principle is now at stake, and it rests with us to once for all settle the question as to who our rulers shall be-residents of our township or outsiders. I hope every ratepayer will go to the poll and settle this much-talked of matter for all time to come by pronouncing in an emphatic manner against outside interference.

We think Mr. Walker displays his ability as a financier when he totals up his salary at the end of the year, as he has no mileage to charge when he attends the meetings, and is seldom or ever seen in the rear of the township. It should have see andered some of this fulsome praise on C 1. J. B. White, who needs it as badly as Mr. Walker. He, when first nominated, said that the Councillor's salary should not exceed $20, and that road commissioners should be appointed to look after roads and bridges. Many are just beginning to wonder why the Councillors did not collect their salaries at their last meeting to show how careful they are of the public funds. At the nomination to-morrow, this little transaction will be done at the last meeting, after the nomination, when they will probably jostle with each other regardless of the "order of seniority" for first places when receiving the checks for their salary.

It resulted as follows: Ticket No. 52,116 drew $75,000, the first capital prize—J. M. Dixon, an Insurance Agent of Ennis, Tex., had one-fifth, as did also Mrs. Josephine Miller, No. 319 E. 52d st., New York city. Among others, No. 83,355 drew the second prize, $25,000sold in fifths—two (2) to Charles Mowatt, a sailor on the schooner "Lucy May," of Newburyport, Mass.; and one-fifth to Charles Nee, a journeymen cigar maker, No. 60 New Church st., New York city; one to Hermann Tossberg, also in New York city. Ticket No. 33,719 draw the third prize of $10,000, two fifths of which were held by W. T. Clarke, a real estate agent in S. 9th st., Philadelphia, and one by Emil Weidig, No. 1142 Magazine st., New Orleans. There were many others, but some don't want their names published; but this is enough to encourage others.

SOUTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL.

Council met Dec. 4th. Present-The Reeve, and Couns. Lightfort, Dawson, Riddell and Perrin.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were dispensed with, as the township books and other records, on fyle in the Clerk's office, had been destroyed by fire on the evening of the 18th of November. The Committee appointed to superintend gravelling Cons. 1 and 2, reported that nothing had been done, owing to the fact that no tenders for the work had been received, which report was adopted.

A By-law to provide for polling place, etc., was read three times and passed. A By-law appointing a Clerk and Treasurer, the former one being destroyed by fire, was read and passed. Mr. Wm. Morrison was appointed Col-lector of rates by By-law.

A Committee was appointed to examine Treasurer and Collector's bonds. Orders were drawn on the Treasurer in favor of the following parties: Assessors, salary, $30; do., extra services, $10; Reeve and Councillors, for services, at the rate of $2 per day. Cours. Riddell and Dawson were appoint ed to assist the Clerk in preparing and drafting certain By-laws, which had been destroyed by fire.

The following accounts were passed: 1 75 Joseph Fisher, Joseph Wood,  4 20 James Perrin, 5 00 6 50 Joseph Perrin, N. Macdonald, grav. west boundary .. 1 35 A. Y. Goodfellow, ced. culv. Con. 6.. 4 00 The Reeve and Coup. Perrin were ap-pointed a Committee to wait on Robt. Wad-

- ELOCUTION IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

We cannot but think that the proper teaching of this important art would be a great acquisition to the schools, and especially to the higher classes and to the high schools and collegiate institutes. There should also be a chair of elecution in our universities. This is a matter which has been too long neglected, and accounts for the very few who can speak publicly with ease and elegance.—Brant-ford Expositor.

"SMIFF" ON THE SOCIAL EVIL.

No, it is the old, and the married, and the rich, who are the supporters of this particular vice, and as the old, the married and the rich are also the makers of the laws, it is not surprising that the laws are directed against the women and not against the men. Speaking to you as one of the respectable classes this journal tells you plainly that you are a wicked old hypocrite. These words are addressed not to our subscribers, who are all virtuous, but to those who borrow this journal, and who only read it occasionally and gratuitously. We know you. You can't deceive us. You may go to church as often as you please; you may be church-wardens, or deacons, or presidents of Bible societies; but we know where you go when you visit Toronto, and we know who it is that finds the money to buy the gaudy dresses which are flaunted in the gas lights of our cities. * * * And leave those poor women alone. If no bad men encouraged or maintained them there would be no bad women. - Bobcaygeon Indepen-

TOO TRUE.

How many ladies, clad in rustling silks, with warm homes, and surrounded by loving influences, will take a fallen woman by the hand and restore her to her place in society? It is much easier to say "Latswift retribution follow her," than to save the hungry, sin-buffeted, sorely tempted girl, who, in a rash momert, perilled and lost everything on the faith of a man, who still walks with head erect and takes the right hand of the virtuous mothers and wives, who con-demn the victim, but welcome the tempter. - Trade Review.

THE LANGTRY CRAZE.

It is intimated by the New York press that Mrs. Laugtry's season has been the largest, all things considered, that has ever been played by a theatrical star in America. It can hardly be claimed that this is much of a compliment to the American people. Mrs. Langtry is not a great actress, as was Neilson, or as are Bernhardt, Modjeska and Rhes, but simply a pretty woman who excites in-terest because of the fact that shereigned In London society as a professional beauty. It is not much of an encouragement to genius with a plain face that people show their preference so plain'y for beautiful mediccrity .- Toronto Telegram.

WHY A REFORM CONVENTION ?

· For instance—had a grand representative convention of the liberal party been held previous to the last session of the Mackenzie Administration's power, and the sentiments of the liberal element of the Dominion voiced on the trade policy of the country, the party would never have been committed to the "fly on the wheel" notions of Mr. Cartwright. *

* For a length of time past the liberal press has been somewhat divided—not only in regard to the utterances of the leading organ of the party in reference to certain questions of public policy and reforms, but also in regard to leaders. Some for Blake-others again for Mackenz'e. -Newmarket Era, (Reform.)

DR. WILD'S THEORY.

There are momentous events happening in our own day, in fulfilment of the prophecies, well worthy of the attention and consideration of so gifted a man as Doctor Wild, giving a field for labor and of instruction to all, to rightly read the Scriptures of Truth; and it seems a pity that his great talents were not directed to this profitable field of labor, so convincing of the truth of Holy Writ, instead of conjuring up mythical and unprofitable stories, such as it seems to us the alleged visit of Jeremiah to old Ireland assuredly is.—Bowmanville News.

COUNTRY STOREKEEPERS. The record of recent failures among country storekeepers shows that a large proportion of the unfortunates are young farmeraand others, possessing but a moderate share of business capacity, and generally altegether lacking in any mer-cantile experience whatever. Two men-an Indian and a white man agreed for a day's hunting together and to divide the game at the end of the day. When that time came, there were no difficulty in dividing the smaller birds and animals-one of a kind to each-until they reached the last two, which were a crow and a turkey. "Now," says the white man, with a show of fairness, "you may have the crow and I will take the turkey, or I will take the turkey and you may have the crow. "Umph!" says the Indian, "Why you no talk turkey to me?" This is the origin of the expression "Talk Turkey."

A very curious document has recently been discovered in the State archives of Hesso-Darmstadt. It is the offical tariff of Darmstadi and Bessungen in the latter part of the fourteenth century to the executioners of those towns for the performane of their duties. To boil a criminal in oil brought the executioner 24 florins, while breaking a mans on the wheel gave but 5 florins 30 kreutzers, criminals were hanged at 10 florins per head, and burned alive for 14. To apply the torture of the rack brought but 5 florins, and branding on the back or forehead or cutting off the nose and ears were the same price.

A Pleasant Experiment with Salt. Do you want to grow salt and at the same time have an interesting, handsome ornament? The proceeding is a novel chemical experiment that may be tried by any one, says the Troy Times. Put in a goblet one tablespoonful of salt and one spoonful of bluing; fill the gob-let two-thirds full of water and set it in position where it will have plenty of warmth and sunlight. In a little while sparkling crystals will commence formsparking crystals will commence forming on the outside of the glass, and it is both a novel and interesting sight to watch it gradually growing day by day until the outside of our goblet will be entirely covered over with beautiful white crystals. Another variation of this beautiful experiment would be to take a goblet with the base broken of take a goblet with the base broken off and fasten it in the center of a thin piece of board, which may be round, square or oblong. After the crystals have formed on the glass, set it on a tiny wall-bracket and place a bright holiday or birthday card in front of it; this will hide the base, on which no crystals will form. After this is done fill the goblet with flowers or dried grasses, and you will have a vase which will cost comparatively little and in reallty adds to the bric-a-brac of a room, We wonder how many of the young readers of the Times can tell us how it is the crystals of salt form on the outside of the goblet?

A Uure for Dyspepsia. We have never experienced the miseries of dyspepsia, but those who have "gone through the mill" tell us the different stages of the ailment are far from being enjoyable. Of course, for that, as for every other disease, there are one hundred and one remedies, more or less effective. We copy from an exchange the following cure, which is said to be infallible, and, as it is very simple, those who are afflicted may be glad to try it: On the first day, take from the time of On the first day, take from the time of rising, once an hour, one tablespoonful of skim-milk, omitting it one hour before and one hour after dinner. For dinner, rare roast beef—all the patient desires—and half a cup of clear coffee; nothing else. After dinner resume taking the tablespoonful of milk once every hour for the rest of the day. On the second day let the dose of milk be two teaspoonfuls, the other details remaining the same. On the third day take three teaspoonfuls of milk, and after that a little bread may be crumbled in if desired. This diet should be continued fifteen days, at the end of which time the worst case of dyspensia will be the creen to verwhelming popular verdiet at persons and sfairs the best of the busiest world at present revolving in space.

The Good of Contrasts.

"How beautiful it is this morning, Cicely, my dear," said her intimate as she called for her to take a morning walk. "You'll wear your new spring suit to-day, of course?"
"No, indeed."

"But I've got on mine."
"That's just the reason. Don't you suppose I know the power of contrast. I shall wear my new suit alongside of a rusty winter suit when I do wear it." "Then I shall have the advantage this time," was the reply. Somehow it had never seemed in that light to Cicely, and rather than give her friend such an obnoxious opportunity, she donned the new suit and the two sailed up the street like Greek goddesses modified by modern fashion.—New Haven Register.

The Jay.

The jay is one of the very few birds of beautiful plumage that is native to England; it is also one of the most retiring. Its love-notes are curiously subdued and soft, as if it did not wish to be overheard, when nearly all other birds are absurdly demonstrative in courtship. Montague says that during the nesting season the male bird apparently amuses its mate by introducing into "its tender wooing the bleating of lambs, the mewing of cats, the cries of hawks, the hooting of owls, and even the neighing of horses;" while Yarrell heard one giv ing a poultry-yard entertainment, "imitating the calling of the fowls to feed and all the noises of the fowls themselves, to perfection; while the barking and growling of the house-dog were imitated in a style that could not be distinguished from the original."

The oldest convict in Michigan state prison is John Marsh, who was sent from Detroit Nov. 20, 1848, for life, for murder. He was then 31 years of age. He has become blind, and occupies quarters in the prison asylum. His employment is sawing wood. He has no desire to leave, and calls the prison his home.

"THE SUN."

NEW YORK, 1883.

More people have read The Sun during the year just now passing than ever before since it was first printed. No other newspaper published on this side of the earth has been bought and read in any year by so many men and women.

We are credibly informed that people buy, read, and like The Sun for the following reasons. Among others:

Because its news columns present in attractive form and witherho greatest possible accuracy what-

All this is what we are told almost daily by our friends. One man helds that THE SUN is the best religious newspaper ever published, because its Christianity is undiffered with cant. Another holds that it is the best Republican newspaper p inted, because it has already whipped half of the raceals out of that party, and is proceeding, against the other that party, and is proceeding against the other half with undamini-hed vigor. A third believes it to be the best magazine of general literature in existence, because its readers miss no hing worthy of notice that is current in the world of thought. So every friend of The Sun discovers one of its many sides that appeals with particular force to his incividual liking.

The FIRST ingredient in DR. WILSON'S PULMONARY CHERRY BALSAM is an extract of wild cherry bark, which soothes the irritated surfaces in the lungs and air passages, acts as a tonic to the stomach, giving a healthy appetite, has a soothing, sedative influence on the heart and blood vessels, preventing polyitation. palpitation.

TWO.

The SECOND loosens and displaces the tough, stringy phlegm which causes so much pam and distress, and which is the cause of the convulsive coughing. THREE. The THIRD ingredient heals. It is the vital property of the peculiarly soothing and healing gums of the white pine and fir of southern climes, at the same time grateful and benefi-cial to the stomach.

FOUR. The FOURTH ingredient is a pleasing and soothing lubricant that supplies the place of the mucous secretion which, while the organs are healthy, coats the mucous membrane, keeping it soft and natural. It at first supplies the place of the decreased secretions and assists in restoring them so as to perform their proper and most important duties. All these working together, beneficially, make DR, WILSON'S PULMONARY CHERRY BALSAM the best cure known for throat and lung diseases.

Sirdar Banadur of the Sixth Bengal Cavalry, who is the patriarch of the Indian officers now visiting London, has his home close to Delhi. He is a fine-looking old soldier. Keen and bright of eye as a youth, he has a grave and venerable aspect, though his beard, that should be gray to accord with his age, is glossy black. During the Indian mutiny he raised and equipped, at his own cost, above 200 sowars. He wears not only the bronze star of Candahar, but its anti-type the Puniar star, which is a rarity. He wears also the medal for the Punjaub campaign, and round his neck the red ribbon of the order of British India, of which he is a member of the first class. This confers on him the title Sirdar Bahadur.

In the debating clubs of German universities there is a rule prohibiting two kinds of argument from being used in discussion. The one consists in saying, "I am very glad not to think as you do," and it is called the spinach argument, in recollection of a famous bit of reasoning once used by a lady—
"I am very glad that I don't like spinach, because if I did I should always be having some for dinner, and I can't bear it." The other forbidden formula is that which reminds a speaker that he has altered his opinions, and it is styled the apple argument because an apple, being twitted with having changed its color, it is said to have answered that "it is only bad fruit that rereains always green,"

48-1 y 164 Washington Street, Brooklyn, N. Y. One day two residents of Deal's Island, Md., were out fishing. They had paddled and rowed in the hot sun all the afternoon without even getting a nibble. They had just anchored to try their luck again, when the Rev. Joshua Thomas, the famous Methodist minister, came paddling along in his caroe. As he came up he sainted them with: "Well, brethern, what luck?" "Bad enough, Parson Thomas, bad enough," replied one of the men. The other called out in a joking way: "Now, look yer, Parson Thomas, you pray an' we'll fish." "Done!" quickly responded the good man. He tied his cance to a post and went down on his kness. Over went their lines. The parson poured forth his prayers in earnest, not forgetting to put in a word for the salvation of the souls of the men. Presently, excited an enthusiastic, one of the men straightened himself up and exclaimed: "Stop right thar, Joshua Thomas; I've got a bite: I'll jine your congregation!" Sure enough, the first fish for that day was a large sun perch, honestly believed to have been caught under the inspiration of that prayer. EMERSON, Man., Jan. 17. 1882.

About a year ago I was taken with a severe cold which settled on my chest and brought on bleeding of the lungs. I bled very freely and was very low. I feared it would ultimately turn into consumption. Consulted a number of physians, and used a number of so-called cough remedies and lung pads but all of no avail until I saw a notice of Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam in a paper. Although a forlorn hope I purchas ed a bottle, and to my surprise found it doing me good. I perserved in its use and am now completely cured. Please publish this that others may be saved. J. E. NEWCOMBE. Yours truly.

In a trial in Germany recently a curious document was produced, which was called forth by the marrige of the Count de Suiz, a Roman Catholic, to Agatha, Countess of Hanau, a Protestant in the year 1605. At the wedding the bridegroom solemnly swore to respect his future wife's religious views, and signed sealed, and delivered a deed to that effect. It was couched in the following terms: "I, Rudulph, Count of Suiz, he eby promise on my honor as a nobleman-or may the devil take me-that I will allow my future wife to remain in her regigion, nor will I offer her any inducement in the slightest to abandon it. I have at home two bibles; if that is not enough for her, I will get her two more. Let her read in them bravely and industriously. Moreover, it is her body, not her soul, I take. I shall remain in my religion, in which I have been brought up from my youth. I know that I am on the right and if she won't go to heaven, let her go to hell. Signed, Radelph, Count of Sulz.

About Crows.

Professor Linden said a good word the other day at Buffalo for that muchpersecuted bird, the common crow. The crow of America belongs to a scattered family of about two hundred species, including among them the buzzard, jay, raven and magpie. Of the genus proper to which the crow belongs, seven examples are found in the United States, the great black raven being at the head. In the wilderness about one hundred miles from Buffalo, on the shores of Lake Ontario, ravens were found. Their nests were so secluded as rarely to be discovered. So wary were the birds that Mr. Linden had found it impossible to obtain a specimen. They were reported more abundant on the Canada shore of Lake Ontario, but it was impossible to procure a specimen even there, though a liberal reward had been offered. The crow was only preserved from annihilation by its great cunning. Even in captivity the bird displays a degree of sagacity which almost resembles human intelligence. Mr. Linden admitted that the crow could hardly be called a sweet singer; still when tamed he made a very interesting pet. On the whole, he might safely be set down as a useful bird and a real friend of the farmer. He eats large quantities of noxious insects, and though he has a bad habit of pulling up young tender shoots of grain, it was a question whether the damage was not more than compensated by the number of larvæ of beetles thus brought to light and devoured.

Goats and Dogs.

In some parts of the West goats are placed in sheep pens to drive away wolves, a service for which their superior butting powers peculiarly fit them. The experiment has been tried in Hunterdon and Somerset Counties, N. J., with complete success, as a protection for sheep against dogs. Two goats, it is said, can drive away a dozen dogs, and two are about all that it is necessary to keep with a moderate-sized flock. soon as a dog enters the field at night the goats go at him, and send him rolling over and over in short order. A few doses of this heroic treatment prove quite enough for his dogship, and he is glad to limp howling away as best he can. Formerly, the farmers say, when a dog entered a sheepfield at night, the timid creatures would run wildly about and cry piteously. Since the goats have been used to guard them, they form in line behind their sturdy defenders, and seem to enjoy the fun.

The Bad and Worthless

are never imutated or counterfeited. This is especially true of a family medicine, and it is positive proof that the remedy imitated is of the highest value. As seen as it has been tested and proved by the whole world that Hop Bitters was the purest, best and most valuable family medicine on earth, many imitations sprung up and began to steal the notices in which the pro-s and people of the country had expressed the merits of H. B., and in every way was trying to induce suffering invalids to use their stuff instead, expecting to make money on the credit and good name of H.B. Many others started nostrums put up in similar style to H. B., with variously devised names in which the word "Hop" or "Hops" were used in a way to induce people to believe they were the same as Hop Bitters. All such pretended remedies or cures, no matter what their style of name is, and especially those with the word "Hop" or "Hops" in their name or in any way connected with them or their name, are imitations or counterfeits. Beware of them. Touch none of them. Use nothing but genuine Hop Bitters, with a bunch or cluster of green Hops on the white label. Trust nothing else. Druggists and dealers are warned against dealing in imitations or counterfeits.

An anecdote of Lord Beaconsfield is related by a London paper. When he returned to office after his first retirement, a question arose as to making Lord Rosslyn master of the buckhounds. His lordship had, it was urged, every qualification for the post. He was a good sportsman, was especially goodlooking, and would like the work. the contrary, it was averred that he swore like nobody since the army in Flanders. "Swears, does he?" quoth Dizzy. "Then we will make him lord high commissioner to the church of Scotland." And it was done.

The new building for the German Parliament is to occupy a site 450 feet long and 300 feet broad. There are to be seats for 400 Deputies arranged like those in the Hall of Representatives at Washington, each with a desk. All around the sides of the hall will be ranged boxes as in a theater, with a separale entrance. The two most important of these are reserved for the Imperial family and the Diplomatic body, and only about 150 seats are set apart for the use of the general public.

A meeting of job printers has been held in Baltimore to take some action for the protection of the trade. A member of the State Legislature was called to the chair, who was authorized to offer a bill in that body imposing a tax of $50 per annum on amateur printers, and also an additional tax of $50 per annum on regular job printers in addition to their other taxes. The bill will also contain a provision imposing an annual tax of $50 per annum on persons from other places who solicit printing in Baltimore.

The representative of an electric light company appeared before the Aldermen of Boston and said that the present cost of lighting the streets of that city by gas being 9 cents per lamp, his company would furnish electric light at a cost of 58 cents a lamp a night, or if the company could secure the use of the lampposts and lamps now owned by the city it would furnish are lights of 24-candle power each, being 50 per cent. more ight than gas, at 13 cents a lamp a night, or light of 40-candle power at 16 sents a lamp a night.

Considerate.

A California bear seems to have been so much of a gentleman as to quietly depart from a house when a lady told company. The Wood River Times tells the story, as follows:

About ten o'clock in the evening a lady living in Wood River, California, was followed home by what she took to be a large Newfoundland dog. Arriving home, she paused at the door to open it, out it was some time before she succeeded. During this delay the animal got quite close to her, and as he seemed narmless, the lady called him in.

Her surprise may be imagined when, on striking a light, she saw a huge baldfaced bear looking at her, showing his eeth as if grinning at her mistake. More dead than alive, the lady opened the door, and gathering her skirts as women sometimes do, began "shooing" the bear. Bruin, as if appreciating the gravity of the situation, hurried out, whereupon the frightened lady fell into a chair, and did not recover her presence of mind for at least fifteen minutes, when she ran to a neighbor's and told of her adventure.

Intensely Dramatic.

A sensational drama has recently been performed in the chief theatre of Moscow, the crowning situation of the piece being a combat in a rocky pass between a lion and an Arab chief. lion scrambles up a steep ascent, and is about to spring from its summit upon his foe, when the man brings him down with a well-aimed shot. The part of the lion had been sustained most successfully by a trained gymnast named Alexeivitch until a short time since, when that artist suddenly fell ill, and the manager was compelled to intrust his role to an active super, who undertook it at a few hours' notice. When the time arrived for his debut, he bounded on the stage with admirable vigor, and scuttled up the cliff in irreproachable style. But when the Arab chief discharged his musket, the lion, utterly thrown off his guard by the report, stood erect on his hinder paws, crossed himself devoutly, and, exclaiming, "Heaven help us!" hurriedly descended the cliff tail foremost, amid the jubilant shouts of the audience.

Happy Thought For Pickpockets.

A singular charge of theft was Deard before the Brighton magistrates on a recent morning. The prisoner, a domestic servant named Rice, went to a shop to try on a bonnet, and having her mistress' child with her, placed it on a settee in the waiting-room. Meanwhile a lady, who was also trying on a bonnet, placed her purse, containing between £6 and £7 on the settee. When the girl Rice left the purse was missed. She was followed home, and the purse was found in the pocket of the child's jacket. Rice was thereupon given into custody. The theory of the prosecution was that she had stolen the purse and hidden it in the child's pocket. The suggestion for the defense was that the child had itself taken the purse. The child being only a few years old-in fact, a mere baby—was too young to give its account of the matter, and in the end the magistrates sent the case for trial. They, however, expressed surprise at the purse being left about in the way it admittedly had been, but this was explained as due to some difficulty with the pockets. - Liverpool Courier.

Many good people find themselves, sometimes, in a condition of mind like the little boy who, on being asked whether he would rather have a Bible or a jewsharp, hesitated a moment and then replied: "Well, if it don't make any great difference with God, I would rather have the jewsharp.' A man has ninety-one sheep, eightyseven calves and thirty-five pigs, and he desires to divide them equally among three sons and a daughter so that the daughter shall have nine more head than the boys. What will be the share of each, providing three sheep are stolen, two calves get lost and five pigs follow a circus away?

He wishes to thank the public for past favors, and asks for a continuance of their patronage.

MAYOR RANDALL has given up the Mayoralty on the promise of getting the nomination at the Reform Convention. If not that His Worship was sure of getting beaten this trip for Mayor, we would say his action illustrates the old fable about the dog dropping the bone to seize the shadow.

Dr. Wild, in his Sunday evening's sermon, as a preliminary to his discourse on the storm predicted to take place in March, made some criticisms on the sermon lately published in THE TIMES, delivered by Rev. Jas. Cleland. We have not seen a verbatim report of his remarks, and cannot say what was the nature of his criticisms.

GREAT complaint is made about the sleigh riding on the front streets, especially on Walton street and Base line. Whole troops of boys and girls assemble every night, and with busses come down the hills at full speed. Several teams of horses have been made to run away, and accidents of a serious nature are expected every day from this cause.

On Sunday morning next, Durham Lodge, No. 15, S. O. E. B. S., will attend Divine service in the Methodist Church. Englishmen and their descendants are cordially invited to join them. The members of the order will meet at their room, Y. M. C. A. building, John street, at 10 o'clock, a. m., and march from thence to the Church. Rev. Mr. Jeffrey will preach.

THE MARKETS .- The markets are unusually lively for this season of the year. Wheat is coming in very well and is 92 cents. Port Hope is paying more than any of the other markets about. In Toronto, carloads are going begging at 90 cents. Arnecta, or Goose wheat is selling at 82 cents. Peas are 80, and Black Eyes 85; Rye is 53 cents; Barley is livelier than it usually is at this season, and is reported at 50 to 65 cents. Flour retails at $2.50 per cwt.

Mr. Pratt, of Cobourg, coming to Port Hope on Friday last, had the misfortune to be upset out of his cutter at the cornor of Mill street and the Cobourg road. The horse ran away, coming up Walton street and turning at Ontario street down the Midland railway. It proceeded as far as the railway bridge, where its legs went through between the timbers, and there it remained fast until lifted bodily out of the dangerous place by about a dozen men. Fortunately, the animal's legs were not broken, although by its kicks and struggles they were badly skinned and bruised. The cutter was smashed to MR DOEBLER has just completed a seal jacket for Mrs. J. N. Kirchhoffer, of Millbrook, which is one of the most handsome garments we have ever seen. The fur is of superior quality; the lining and trimmings of the best, and the workmanship unsurpassed. This is the finest article we have seen in a great many years, and the like of it cannot be found in any establishment in Canada. Mr. Doebler is deserving of the greatest praise for turning out such an article, and it will always be a credit to Port Hope while it last.

WE observe that Mr. Jas. R. Stratton, editor of the Peterboro' Examiner, is an applicant for the position of Registrar of the County of Peterboro', and, to our mind, we know of no one having stronger claims on the Ontario Government. The Examiner has done yeoman service for the Reform party in the Province of Ontario. Mr. Stratjon is a gontleman in every way fitted for the position, and we are sure his appointment would meet with the approbation of a vast majority of both parties in the County. Mr Mowat has not been very held office. This is an occasion in which he has an opportunity of gracefully acknowledging the services of a faithful adherent.

WILFORD HALL, editor of the new magazine, Wilford's Microcosm, is making himself felt in scientific circles in the United States. He is engaged now in demolishing Newton's theory of gravitation, which every one had long ago accepted as beyond a shadow of doubt. To read several articles by Mr. Hall makes one shaky after all. The Microcosm is only $1 per annum, and is one of the most interesting, in a scientific and philosophic point of view, ever yet published. It is brimful of thought, clothed in spicy and readable literature.

BISHOP JAMO THE VISIT,

A Red-Letter Week in the minery of mary's Church,

The fact that St. Mary's Church here has never been honored up to last week by an official visit from the Bishop of the Diocese. made the coming of His Lordship, Mgr. Jamot, an event to be looked forward to with special interest. Not long ago, as most of our readers arready know, the Diocese of Kingston, presided over by Bishop Cleary, was divided, and the western portion was erected into a See, under the charge of Bishop Jarnot. The latter ever since occupying his Present position, has shown the most untiring zeal in looking after the spiritual welfare of the parishes allotted to his care. He has already visited most of those, and on Friday last, as was announced in THE TIMES, he arrived in Port Hope, at noon, accompanied by Revs. Father Larkin of Grafton, and Father Murray, of Cobourg. His 11 a.m., and 7 p.m., you are cordially invited | Lordship was met at the Midland Station by Father Brown and a number of the congregation of St. Mary's, in carriages, and proceeded in procession to the parsonage.

On Friday evening a large congregation assembled, when His Lordship, Bishop Jamot, was presented with an address of welcome, and services held. Mgr. Jamot is a Frenchman, and cannot speak eloquently in English, but what he lacks in the power of elegant and flowing speech, he more than makes up in piety and zeal. He is unassuming in manner, and has an aversion to much display. Distinguished for learning, piety and zeal, he cannot help making himself felt in the diocese, gaining alike the love and esteem of the priests and people. Already his influence is greatly felt, and wherever he has gone on official visits has been received with honors and much reverence. The address presented His Lordship on this occasion was read by Mr. P. McCabe, Sr., and is as

Address of the Catholics of Port Hope to the Rt.
Rev. John Francis Jamot, D.D., Bishop of Peterborough.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR LORDSHIP :-

We beg leave to approach Your Lordship, in the name of this congregation, to offer you the tribute of our deep affection and hemage on this the occasion of your first official visit to us.

The present is indeed a joyous—a happy moment to us. In common with Your Lordship's spiritual children in other parts of the Diocese, we have been most anxious to see our new Bishop in our midst, and row, that this privilege is accorded us, we desire to bid you a most sincere and cordial welcome to Port Hope.

Port Hope.

The reception we are giving Your Lordship is not as grand and imposing as has greeted you elsewhese, but, the lacking somewhat in this respect, owing to the circumstances of our parish, we still venture to say, that none of your children cutrival us in warmth of our sentiments of regard and veneration for your exalted person.

We believe this diocese has been blessed by the selection of so distinguished an ecclesiastic to preside over its destinies. Your Lordship's great learning, mature judgment, gentleness of disposition, and fervent religious zeal, all combine to qualify you, in an eminent degree, for the discharge of the functions of your high office.

It is hardly necessary to state that we expect your wise, firm, and enlightened administration, while reflecting credit upon yourself personally, will, at the same time, be profuctive of immense good to the diocese at large, as well as to each parish in particular. The success that has stamped your past r cord as priest and bishop, is to us an earnest of a bright and prosperous future. That these our fond anticipations may be fully realized, we shall not cease to implore the Giver of all good gifts to pour down upon Your Lordship his choicest graces and blessings.

We wish also on this occasion, to assure Your

We wish also on this occasion, to assure Your We wish also on this occasion, to assure Your Lordship of our unfaltering loyalty to you, the honored head of the diocese, and of our willingness to co operate with you in every undertaking, having in view the interests of religion, the salvation of souls, and the honor and glory of God.

In conclusion, we trust Your Lordship will be spared to govern the diocese for many years to come—hat the days of your episcopate may be happy ones—and that, when the hour of dissolution arrives, you may hear from the lips of Your Divine Master.

you may hear from the lips of Your Divine Master, the consoling words: "Well done, good and faithful servant " " enter into the glory of the Signel on behalf of the congregation,

JOHN HUKER, And others.

The choir had made special preparations, and its rendering of the magnificent music provided for the Catholic service was good. After speaking in reply to the address in appropriate language and sentiment, the beautiful and impressive ceremony of "The Way of the Cross" was performed. The eeremony of blessing the Stations occurs at rare intervals-when a church is dedicated or new Stations obtained. On Sunday morning the Bishop's Mass was celebrated, and at ten the regular Mass. Services in the evening were of a specially interesting character. Mrs. Petley, of Toronto, sang "Abide with Me," by Prof. Torrington, organist of the Metropolitan Church, Toronto. The congregation were delighted with the efforts of this vocalist. The following was the order of the song gie Wilson. Choir—"Laudate Dominum." The Bishop complimented the choir on their singing, remarking that there was nothing like good music to elevate the soul. It makes earth more like heaven. The young men and women were urged to attend more strictly to the requirements of the church, in observing the ordinances and rules. Pleasure was expressed at the healthy state of the Sunday School. The ready answers of the children there had pleased him very much. Fasting and abstinence, as a preparation for the celebration of Christmas, was enjoined, more particularly the latter. Special reference was made to dancing-round dancing. He strictly forbade it. It was not right nor modest; it was sinful. No young lady could dance the round dances and continue to be pure-minded and modest. He would not grant absolution for a violation of this rule. Emphatic mention was directed to the sin of drunkenness. Soberness was a virtue, more especially during the coming weeks, he exhorted all to practice. Under the influence of liquor, man was not himself, and he did many things in this condition, and made use of language which would shock him in his sober senses. In concluding, he expressed himself highly pleased on his first official visit to Port Hope, and announced that it was his intention to come again during the winter, when he would administer the rite of coufirmation. He hoped then to find that his injunctions in regard to attending mass had been fully carried out. He requested their prayers in his behalf. All, even to the Head of the Church, were in need of Divine aid. The Scriptures enjoin on Christians to pray for one another.

His Lordship left on Monday morning. The congregation of St. Mary's are highly pl ased over this visit, and look forward with satisfaction to a continuation of the mutually pleasant relations so happily begun.

In the Bowmanville News we find under the heading of "Port Hope" the following description of the town. Whether it was written by the Editor, or contributed by some resident of Port Hope we cannot say:-

"What is a good deal surprising especially to one who has been accustomed to the quiet ways of Bowmanville, is the large crowds that congregate here on market days. From early morning till nearly noon the farmers and others continue to pour into the town from all sides, with their produce. Such gatherings as are here every Saturdoy for the purpose of buying and selling were never known in Bowmanville. Several attempts have been made to establish a market there, but they all ended in a fizzle. There seems, somehow, to be a lack of confidence in one another. Here, almost everything produced on a farm or garden meets with sale. The town people seem to have all faith in the producer, that whatever article of consumption is required is pretty sure to be obtained on market day. Wet or stormy days make no difference, the market is thronged just the same. About this time of the year, the chief articles for sale are poultry, pork and beef. Of the latter let me say a word in your ear, if you want a first-class piece of beef don't come here for it. Bowmanville is noted for its butcher shops, and perhaps it is just as well for the lovers of good beef steaks, that so many Knights of the knife are there. They pay the farmer good prices for his fattened stock, who is thus induced to take particular pains in producing an article fit for market. Here it is almost an invariable rule for the farmer to kill his own beef, which is not always in first-class condition, and taken to market; so what chance have the butchers

"There are three printing and publishing establishments here, which are a credit to any town, all issuing first-class local papers. perhaps second only to our cotem., if we believe what it says. One paper appears to represent the Conservative interests, the other two claim to be Reform in politics chiefly. What is amusing, almost, is to read the copy messages passed from one to the other every week, compliments, but of a doubtful nature; and what is inexplicable to an onlooker is the fact, that the two representatives of purity in politics, have one another by the hair so often, agreeing only in telling sweet little stories about John A. and the North-West, but "agreeing to disagree" in everything else The other paper, no doubt standing by, quietly looking on, watching for a chance to 'pitch in." In fact it is the one-against-two, and two-against-one principle of warfare all

"Politics is flourishing here; there is more of it in one square mile, than of religion, charity and all the grades combined. If any industry is spoken of, the question does not seem to be whether or not it will benefit the town, but of what shades of politic the promoters are, and if not of their way of thinking they see a political dodge at the bottom, and of course must be cried down. A town that makes less use of its natural facilties and capabilities of being a town is not in Ontario.

"A good harbor with what might be a thriving trade, a railway centre almost, and still the population decreasing; grand positions for industries, and sites for factories, and still the ominus cards containing the words "To Let" or "For Sale" in the window of vacant houses, are increasing every
