MATTHEWS ON TRIAL

Crown Witnesses Tell of Noises Heard Upstairs.

NOT LIKE GIRL'S VOICE

Hostler Says He Heard Sounds, But Did Not Connect Them With "Joey"
 —Another Witness Saw Matthews Coming Downstairs Looking Dishevelled and With His Watch Hanging Out.

Cobourg, April 13.—Lorenz Macdonald, hostler at the Hotel Bristol, was an important witness for the crown at yesterday's sessions of the Matthews' murder trial. An effort was made to get him to imitate the sounds which he alleged he heard after retiring to his room on the evening of Dec. 17. His answer was that it was a sound of some one in distress, a whining or choking sound. He had known Johanna Brimacombe ever since she was born. "He did not think it was Joey," when he heard the cries. It was a woman's voice. Macdonald said he saw Matthews in the kitchen with Miss Brimacombe that night. Matthews was standing by the stairs and the girl was about two feet from him. Witness came from the bar into the kitchen. Soon afterwards he went to his room on the third floor, shut the door and bolted it. After he was in bed he heard whining or groaning. He got up, opened the door and stuck his head out to listen. Cross-examined by the crown he fixed the time as twelve minutes after eight when he went to his room. The sounds were heard a very few minutes after. Joey and Matthews were both in the hall when he passed upstairs to bed. He saw nothing between Matthews and the girl. The latter had his overcoat on. He did not know whether the prisoner had his hat on or not. The next morning he (the witness) was in the kitchen, waiting for Joey to come in. Teasdale told him she was dead. He went up with Teasdale to the room. No one else was there. No one had been in the room that morning before he and Teasdale were up. Witness said he thought the noise he heard was Teasdale and his wife. "I did not think it possible that Joey was making the noise," said Macdonald. In answer to a question witness said that Joey was in the kitchen when he came in from the barn. Mrs. Teasdale had said there was vomit on the floor. Questioned as to the girl's general health, the witness said he never knew her to be sick.

Joseph McMurray of Haldimand said he was at the Bristol Hotel on Saturday, Dec. 17. Between 7 and 8 o'clock he went into a strange room and from there into the hallway. Archer Brown was there and Wilson Murphy came in. Witness went down to the back of the hall and got two drinks. He stood in the hallway at the foot of the stairs. Edward Ley was also in the hall. Witness heard a noise upstairs that attracted attention. It was a peculiar noise, he would call it a scream, said witness.

Witness first saw Matthews when he was halfway down stairs. His vest was unbuttoned, his coat unbuttoned and his watch hanging out. There was a spot on the left lapel of the prisoner's coat. Witness thought he had had too much.

Robert Rogers, who was employed at the hotel, said he saw Miss Brimacombe and Matthews in the dining-room after one o'clock on the day of the murder. He saw Matthews make some sort of sign. The last he saw of Matthews was after 8 p.m. Witness heard no disturbance during the night.

John Calnan, farmer, deposed that he was at the Bristol Hotel on Dec. 17. He saw Edward Lee in the hall. He saw McMurray in the hall, and also saw Smith and Murphy. The latter drew his attention to a noise. Haynes had gone into his tea before this. Witness thought the noise was like a parrot. It kept up for five minutes or more and sounded as if something was wrong, as if some person was in trouble.

Dwight MacDonald, when summoned, came in drunk and was committed to a cell until 9 o'clock this morning.

POLICE COURT

Two Drunks Found Sleeping In Fire Hall.

John Jarvis, and William Rennie, of Peterboro, were found slumbering in the Fire Hall about two o'clock this morning by Constable Garbutt. They were arrested and in the Police Court this morning pleaded guilty to being drunk. They were allowed to go on suspended sentence.

The schools closed this evening, and will not re-open until Monday morning, April 24th.

THE EXPLOSION.—Some weeks ago the Dupond Powder Company, whose plant is at Pleasant Prairie, Wis., suffered an explosion. The effect upon the immediate vicinity was disastrous. Window glass was broken and buildings were shattered within a radius of many miles. Nov., a poultry farm just south of Kenosha had an incubator containing 188 eggs. Two weeks after the explosion they hatched out 184 birds of peculiar appearance. They look like young ducks, but most of them were without combs or bills. Most of these chickens died and when examined it was found that their stomachs were so abnormal that they were unable to assimilate food. This is the most remarkable result of concussion that has yet been brought to our notice.

A FEW DAYS LONGER

It has been decided to keep the list open for a few days longer and any of our citizens desiring to participate in the benefits of the Horticultural Society must call and pay the fee of $1.00 at once. TWO HOLIDAYS

DECLARED IN JUNE.

Ottawa, April 11—June 3rd, the birthday of the His Majesty King George, and June 22, Coronation Day, will be proclaimed as statutory holidays in Canada.

Some time ago His Majesty instructed through the Colonial office that he would prefer to have his birthday celebrated on the actual anniversary of his birth, instead of adhering to the precedent of the late Sovereign, King Edward, whose birthday was officially celebrated on Victoria Day, instead of on November 9th.

Good Friday, Easter Monday, Victoria Day, Dominion Day, are now statutory holidays, and with June 3rd added as a fixed holiday, from now on, and Coronation Day made an extra holiday, this year, the Dominion will be well served with public holidays during the coming eleven weeks.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY BUILDING

At Festival of Empire, Crystal Palace, London, England

The progressiveness of the Grand Trunk in connection with their publicity propaganda is again demonstrated in the erection of a magnificent structure to house their exhibit at the Festival of Empire, which is to be held at the Crystal Palace grounds, London, England, this year.

The several tourist and fishing and hunting districts in Eastern Canada will be represented through large photographs and a valuable collection of mounted fish and game. Western Canada will be put before visitors in an interesting and instructive way by large pictures, showing the agricultural possibilities and developments, as well as by the exhibit of grains in the straw, grasses and the products of the land from Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

After a sickness extending over two years, Mervin Horatio Cochrane passed away at his home on Church street at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. Since January last he had been seriously ill. The deceased was born sixty-nine years ago in Whitby. He was a traveler for Kilgour Bros. of Toronto for the last twenty years.

JEWISH PASSOVER SEASON STARTED YESTERDAY

"Unleavened bread shall be eaten seven days; and there shall no unleavened bread be seen with thee; neither shall there be leaven seen with thee in all thy quarters."—Exodus, Chapter xiii, verse 7.

Following out this command Jews throughout the world commenced with sundown last (Wednesday) evening, April 12th, to serve the annual Passover festival, the most outstanding probably of all Jewish customs.

This command is in commemoration of the hasty departure from Egypt of the children of Israel, when no time was allowed for the natural "rising" of the bread. This unleavened bread is very plain for the most part, and varies in quality considerably to suit the means of purchasers.

Nor is the keeping of the passover, apart from its religious side altogether confined to doing away with ordinary bread. No dish that has been used before can be used during this seven day period. Many people keep the same dishes from one passover to another, though once used between times spoils them for the purpose.

FOR SKIN DISEASES

A Treatment That Costs Nothing Unless It Provides Satisfactory Relief.

I have a grayish-white ointment with a pleasant odor that is clean to use, which I believe is the best known remedy for the relief of skin diseases. It is especially efficacious for overcoming eczema in all its various forms, ringworm, acne, pimples, blotches, insect bites, tetter, certain forms of ulcers, sores and wounds.

I am so positive this ointment is unequalled that I offer it with the distinct understanding that if after having given it a reasonable trial, you are not satisfied with the results, you have only got to tell me and I will, without quibbling, return every cent you paid me for it.

I want you to try Rexall Eczema Ointment. The first application gives a refreshing sense of relief, and because of its germ destroying power, it eradicates the germ or parasite which causes eczema and many other eruptions. It quickly allays the inflammation, gives protection to the inflamed surfaces, and helps restore healthy tissue.

RESPECTED RESIDENT DEAD

After a sickness extending over two years, Mervin Horatio Cochrane passed away at his home on Church street at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. Since January last he had been seriously ill. The deceased was born sixty-nine years ago in Whitby. He was a traveler for Kilgour Bros. of Toronto for the last twenty years.

Besides the widow he leaves one daughter and two sons—Mrs. T. C. Elliott, Peterboro; F. S. Cochrane, Toronto, and Joseph Cochrane, of British Columbia.—Belleville Ontario.

[Deceased gentleman was well known here, and his many friends will be sorry to learn of his death.]

PERSONALLY CONDUCTED TOURS to Cuba, Europe, Mediterranean, Panama, Orient, South and Central America, Mexico, Alaska and around the world. Particular attention is called to the coronation tour to England, also the National Education Association tour to San Francisco.

A TROUBLESOME MISGIVING

The adroitness of this last remark, which directed itself, with such show of candour, against a suspicion precisely the opposite of that likely to be entertained by the listener, succeeding in disarming Warricombe; he looked up with a smile of reassurance, and spoke encouragingly.

'About the practical details I don't think you need have any anxiety. It isn't every day that the Church of England gets such a recruit. Let me suggest that you have a talk with my father.'

Peak reflected on the proposal, and replied to it with grave thoughtfulness:

'That's very kind of you, but I should have a difficulty in asking Mr. Warricombe's advice. I'm afraid I must go on in my own way for a time. It will be a few months I daresay, before I can release myself from my engagements in London.'

'But I am to understand that your mind is really made up?'

'Oh, quite!' 'Well no doubt we shall have opportunities of talking. We must meet in town, if possible. You have excited my curiosity, and I can't help hoping you'll let me see a little further into your mind some day. When I first got hold of Newman's Apologia, I began to read it with the utmost eagerness, flattering myself that now at length I should understand how a man of brains could travel such a road. I was horribly disappointed, and not a little enraged, when I found that he began by assuming the very beliefs I thought he was going to justify. In you I shall hope for more logic.'

Newman is incapable of understanding such an objection,' said Peak, with a look of amusement.

'But you are not.'

The dialogue grew chatty. When they exchanged good-night, Peak fancied that the pressure of Buckland's hand was less fervent than at their meeting, but his manner no longer seemed to indicate distrust. Probably the agnostic's mood was one of half-tormented disdain.

Godwin turned the key in his bedroom door, and strayed aimlessly about. He was fatigued, but the white, fragrant bed did not yet invite him; a turbulence in his brain gave warning that it would be long before he slept. He wound up his watch; the hands pointed to twelve. Chancing to come before the mirror he saw that he was unusually pale, and that his eyes had a swollen look.

The profound stillness was oppressive to him; he started nervously at an undefined object in a dim corner, and went nearer to examine it; he was irritable, vaguely discontented, and had even a moment of nausea, perhaps the result of tobacco stronger than he was accustomed to smoke. After leaning for five minutes at the open window he felt a soothing effect from the air, and could think consecutively of the day's events.

Had he been told this morning that—Why, what monstrous folly was all this? Into what unspeakable baseness had he fallen? Happily, he had but to take leave of the Warricombe household, and rush into some region where he was unknown. Years hence, he would relate the story to Earwaker.

For a long time he suffered the torments of this awakening. Shame buffeted him on the right cheek and the left; he looked about like one who slinks from merited chastisement. Oh, thrice ignoble varlet! To pose with unctuous hypocrisy before people who had welcomed him under their roof, unquestioned, with all the grace and kindness of English hospitality! To lie shamelessly in the face of his old fellow-student, who had been so genuinely glad to meet him again!

hungry natures, keen-sighted, unscrupulous. And they were at no loss to defend themselves against the attack of conscience. Life is a terrific struggle for all who begin it with no endowments save their brains. A hypocrite was not necessarily a harm-doer; easy to picture the unbelieving priest whose influence was vastly for good, in word and deed.

But he, he who had ever prided himself on his truth-fronting intellect, and had freely uttered his scorn of the credulous mob! He who was his own criterion of moral right and wrong! No wonder he felt like a whipped cur. It was the ancestral vice in his blood, brought out by overtempting circumstance. The long line of base born predecessors, the grovelling hinds and mechanics of his genealogy, were responsible for this. Oh for a name wherewith honour was hereditary.

DENMAN THOMPSON IS DYING.—Denman Thompson, the aged actor, now in his 78th year, is dying at his home in West Swansea, New Hampshire, says the Belleville Ontario. He began years ago on the variety stage, when he put on a sketch of country life. First it was rough and somewhat coarse, but he finally softened it, rewrote it, and in his first play, "Josh Whitcomb," he constructed a genuine New England idyll, a picture of the old farmer of fifty years ago. It appealed to everyone. After an unprecedented run, he rewrote it in "The Old Homestead," and it was so true to life that it made a fortune for the successful actor. Increasing years drove him from the stage and he has lived in retirement in his New Hampshire home which has been a sort of Mecca for the profession. And now the old man is passing away. He has arrived at that period when the grasshopper is a burden, when the windows are darkened and the grinders are few. But in his later years he has left a picture of the old days that has delighted thousands and in its clean and vivid portraiture there has been startling contrast to the imported filth dumped from the Paris sewers upon the stage of the new world.

SAY, fellers, now hear me, I say, an' jest fer cooze keep still—I went ter meetin' yesterday, de church up on de hill. I'd sold me Sunday papes all right, an' I had got me mon; I didn't know jest what ter do, 'cause all me work was done.

"I'D LIKE TER HAVE TER COME" "An' ask yer modder right off now if ye can't go wid me. Me jolly got me in a fix—me modder's dead, ye know. I couldn't say anoder word—dat's how I cum ter go. An' so I chased meself inside an' sat erdown wid her. I never thought I'd do such things; I wouldn't but fer her. Dat church it was a dandy place, de like I'd never seen.

DE PARSON GENT HE TALKED. I can't remember all he said: 'twas something, though, like dis— But I can't say it in his words, an' some, o' course, I'll mis— "Ye let dem kids come under Me" (I s'pect like me an' you). "An' don't ye push dem back, 'cause, why, dat hain't right ter do. Fer such a place is heaven, see?" Dem words I know he said. You'd like ter go? I rather guess ye can't unless yer dead. An', whatcher 'ink, dat preacher gent—he talked as if he knew— He said dat dere was room enough fer kids like me an' you. He said dey wanted all us kids—yes, wanted us—ter go. I don't exactly undentan' why dey wanted us so, 'cause how de chik dey don't get dere. Hain't dat a funny go? 'I'll punch de kid dat says 'tain't true, 'cause she said 'twas so. An' dat wa'n't all he said; but, den, I never heard no more. I 'ink I must er fall asleep (I hopes I didn't snore). I'm goin' ter church nex' Sunday, too; she saked me fer ter go. An' if he tells where heaven is o' course I'll let ye know. F. W. Weeks in Boston Globe.

What Became of the Chicks?

ON a certain day in the year there were a funny lot of little chickens out in the yard. "Where did they come from?" asked Marjory.

The man who was digging in the tulip beds said he thought they must have come out of the daffodils.

Then Marjory went into the kitchen to ask Mary Ann. "Oh, sure, the moon sent them down on a little trip, they were so tired of chaze, even if it was grane."

Marjory had always trusted her before, but somehow she was not quite satisfied, so she mounted the stairs slowly to the study. "Where did they come from, papa?" she asked, pausing at the study door. "Out of the everywhere into the here," quoted her papa dreamily. Marjory turned away disappointed. Papa, she knew, was in one of his dreams. Sometimes she liked it very much, but today she wanted real things. She trudged up another flight of stairs to where her mamma was dressing the new baby. Her mamma put her finger on her lips. "Hush, Marjory," said she. "Come and tell mother quietly what it is." Marjory approached gently. "The chickens, mamma," she whispered—"where did they come from?" Her mamma smiled tenderly. "Why," she said, "you seem to be very much disturbed about it. I think they must have come out of little shell houses. When they get tired of being penned up, along about springtime, they want to break out of their little shell houses and into the outdoors. You know that's what you wanted to do all of the time as soon as it got over being winter. And so they try to get out into the garden day after day, just as you did when Mary Ann and I weren't looking."

"And where do you suppose they are going to, now that they are in the world, mamma?" said Marjory.

"Ah, Marjory, that is a very hard question," said her mamma. "Who knows, indeed?"

"Perhaps they will stay in the garden," suggested Marjory.

"Perhaps," said her mamma.

And if you want to find out what was really the final destiny of Marjory's chickens and what they at last became you can discover it by looking closely at the chickens' shell houses.

For the chickens believed in predestination, and their fate was written on their shells.

When you have found out the letters in which their fate was written put them together carefully, and you will discover the chickens' destiny.—Alice Lattimer.

FEW MORE CHANGES

Mr. Fielding Replies to Question From Mr. Borden.

NO FURTHER PREFERENCE

Minister of Finance Says the Tariff Will Not Be Changed at Present to Give Great Britain Fifty Per Cent. Off — Agricultural Implements Will Not Be Admitted Free of Duty, He Says.

Ottawa, April 13.—The feature of the sitting of the Commons yesterday was the announcement by Mr. Fielding, in reply to R. L. Borden, that if there are any changes in the customs tariff, they will be small, and that the changes will not include an increase in the British preference up to 50 per cent.

This statement regarding the preference is regarded as qualified, but the general opinion is that there will be no change in the preference this session at least. He also said that the Government could not admit agricultural implements free.

The reciprocity debate was continued by J. A. Sexsmith, Conservative, of East Peterboro, who opposed the agreement as a farmer. He said it would be inimical to the interests of the farmers of Canada. The House adjourned until next Wednesday.

On the House being moved into committee of ways and means, R. L. Borden asked for a definite statement from the Government regarding the British fiscal preference.

Mr. Borden quoted Mr. Fielding's statement in the House to the effect that if the reciprocity agreement was confirmed "it would probably necessitate some readjustment of the rates in our tariff laws generally, with a view to the maintenance of the preference at whatever rate we may see fit to make." He also referred to the telegram sent by Mr. Fielding to Lord Strathcona, in which he had said that "in every case Great Britain will still have the same rate or a lower one."

He asked, therefore, for a definite pronouncement as to whether it was the intention to increase the British preference and to what extent. Also, whether, in view of the reciprocity agreement, it was the intention of the Government to introduce any tariff changes this session, and especially any tariff changes affecting the preference.

Mr. Fielding said the intimation of Mr. Borden that he was not obliged to make any statement of policy would be interesting to those who believed that those who criticized should have an alternative policy.

"It has been intimated by many opponents of this agreement," said the Minister of Finance, "that on making it the Government had taken a step which would prevent them from increasing the British preference. It was indicated, especially perhaps in England, that an offer of imperial preference was likely to be made to us and that this agreement would prevent us from accepting it. Consequently I have from time to time denied that there is anything in this agreement to prevent us from increasing the preference if we desire to do it. It was in that sense that I sent the telegram to Lord Strathcona."

"I do not agree," continued Mr. Fielding, "that changes were foreshadowed in that telegram. At the time I introduced the agreement I said that it might be necessary to make some changes. I repeat that statement to-day. But let me say at once that, if such changes are made, they will be in small matters, and they will not include an increase in the preference to 50 per cent. The farmers have asked for an increase in the preference and we are going to tell them frankly that we cannot make that change, that the manufacturers of Canada cannot be carried on if that change is made. We are going to say to them that by bringing in this agreement we are meeting their demands to a large extent, and we are going to ask them not to press that matter, because it would be a disturbing influence, while reciprocity will have no disturbing influence, but will work for the general advantage of Canada."

Provincial Appointments.
Toronto, April 13.—Sir James Whitney yesterday afternoon announced that the following appointments had been made by the Ontario Government:

James H. Metcalfe, Kingston, formerly a member of the Ontario Legislature, to be fish and game warden.

Lt.-Col. Belcher, Southampton, to a position in the office of the Registrar-General.

The Government has also decided to locate the additional agricultural department representatives at Newmarket for the County of York; Orangeville, for the County of Dufferin; Dutton, for the County of Elgin, and one in the County of Grey.

Caught the Burglars.
Hamilton, April 13.—Joseph Kibble and William Hurd, who were captured by the police early yesterday after an exciting chase, were committed for trial on a charge of burglarizing the residence of Dr. Wm. Bell.

The doctor heard a noise in his kitchen and telephone for the police, who caught Hurd and Kibble in the vicinity. Kibble is out on parole from Kingston.

C.P.R. Blamed for Employee's Death.
Woodstock, April 13.—Information has been laid by the crown against the C.P.R. for neglecting to protect their yards at Thamesford, thereby causing the death of brakeman E. A. Lane in an accident on Jan. 30. One freight ran into another stationary freight and set it on fire.

New York Stock Exchange to Close.
New York, April 13.—The Stock Exchange decided yesterday to close on Friday and Saturday, thus giving a holiday from Thursday to Monday.

BURGLAR IN HOTEL
Daring Thug Makes a Hasty Exit in Montreal.

Montreal, April 13.—A burglar gained entrance to a room of the Windsor Hotel early yesterday. The window was partly open, and it is presumed the burglar got in from the fire escape. When the occupant of the room, a Toronto man, was awakened by noise made by the intruder, he silently crawled out of bed and cautiously made his way to the electric switch. When the room was flooded with light he spied a young man, about 25 years of age, holding a revolver in his hand. The guest made as if to throw up his hands, but succeeded in coming closer to the burglar, without the latter's suspicions being aroused. He then made a dive for him and succeeded in bringing him to the floor.

In the wrestling and scuffling that ensued the revolver was discharged, but without any effect. The occupant of the room succeeded in getting hold of the gun, and took it away from the burglar. When the man realized that his weapon had been taken away from him, he made a supreme effort and managed to break away from the embrace of his intended victim.

He made a rush for the window, but just as he was halfway through the guest fired at him and must have succeeded in hitting him, as the man let out a yelp and slid down the fire escape. In his hurried exit he left his cap behind him as well as his revolver.

Three detectives are now working on the case. They succeeded in tracing the man as far west as Mountain street by the trail of blood.

Major-Gen. Fred. Wilson Dead.

Montreal, April 13.—The death occurred yesterday of one of Canada's most distinguished and experienced soldiers, in the person of Major-Gen. Frederick Wilson. Although Gen. Wilson had been in feeble health for a very long time it was only during the previous few weeks that he was confined to his house.

The deceased had practically devoted his life to military affairs, and had fought for the Empire in two campaigns, the Gordon relief expedition to the Sudan and the Northwest rebellion in 1885-86. He was born in Kingston in 1852. After education at Trinity College School and Trinity College, Toronto, when 19 years of age he joined the 47th battalion as an ensign. The following year, 1872, he was appointed second lieutenant in the Kingston Field Battery and in 1874 was promoted lieutenant in "A" Battery. In 1877 he was promoted to captain and won his majority in 1883. In 1884 he was transferred to the imperial army and was sent to Egypt, where he served under Viscount Wolsley in the expedition sent out for the relief of Gen. Gordon in Khartoum. He was then recalled to Canada on the outbreak of the Northwest rebellion, and while in England on his return was presented to Queen Victoria, and presented with the Egyptian war medal and clasps, and also with the khedive's star.

Officers Are Chosen.

Ottawa, April 13.—Sir Fred. Borden announced in the House of Commons Tuesday that the names of officers who would proceed with the Canadian military contingent to the coronation would be submitted to the Cabinet-in-council yesterday, and that the announcement of the names would be made thereafter. The Ministers sat in council yesterday as arranged and the list of officers was sent to the Privy Council officers addressed to the Minister of Militia. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and other Ministers sat until they were tired, but the Minister came not. The order, therefore, did not pass, and no announcement could be made. It is said that he had forgotten, and the statement is made at his home last evening that he left yesterday for Canning, N.S. Four hundred and sixty-two officers in various parts of Canada are anxiously waiting to know if they have been selected. There were only 48 officers to go; yet they are to leave on June 9, and have barely time now to get their uniforms. Sir Frederick is expected back next Tuesday.

Captured in Austria.

New York, April 13.—Inspector Russell at police headquarters yesterday made known that he had received word from Detective Lynch of the Boston police department, now in Austria, that he had had under arrest there, in the Province of Galicia, Jacob and Joseph Goldberg, who are wanted by the Boston police for a $15,000 jewelry robbery, and who jumped their cash bail of $5,000 after being captured in this city soon after the Boston robbery.

Previously it was supposed that both had been burned to death in company with Harris Rothstein, alias "Kovak, the Smith," in the destruction by London police and British soldiers of the anarchist den at Houndsditch, London. Rothstein, it is still thought, may be dead.

Woman Lectured Magistrate.

Ottawa, April 13.—Mrs. W. Edgar, a prominent temperance worker, yesterday strongly objected when Magistrate O'Keefe dismissed a case in which an hotel proprietor was charged with selling liquor to a drunken man.

"That is not right," she said to the magistrate. "You should do right because it is right."

The court retorted that she "keep still, as the case was over." Her reply was to the effect that "she would not, and intended to have her say."

Jury Disagreed.

Barrie, April 13.—A disagreement on two of three counts in the indictment charging Edward Chapman of Allandale with indecent assault on a girl under 14 years of age, brought about the dismissal of the jury after nearly five hours' deliberation. All stood for acquittal on the first count, and eight for acquittal and four for conviction on the other two counts. The case will come up again at the fall hearing.

"CONFESSION" HELD

It is Not Presented in Trial of Edward Jardine.

INSANITY IS THE DEFENCE

Counsel For the Prisoner in Anderson Murder Trial Cross-Examined Doctor, Who Made Autopsy to Know If Murder Might Be the Act of an Insane Man—Girl's Mother and Father Testify.

Goderich, April 13.—Edward Jardine is now fighting for his life, accused of the murder of young Lizzie Anderson, whose body, nearly nude, the marks of a blow on the forehead, and with the throat cut, was found in the basement of a vacant house by her father and others four days after she disappeared after having attended the last fall fair.

G. T. Blackstock, K.C., of Toronto, is crown prosecutor, and the prisoner's counsel is L. T. Dancy of Goderich. The prisoner pleaded "not guilty."

Mr. Blackstock dwelt on the alleged expressed determination of the girl to go home from the fair with the prisoner, and told of Jardine's statement to County Crown Attorney Seager that the last time he had seen Lizzie Anderson she was in the company of a stranger.

"The crown will show you," said Mr. Blackstock, "that all efforts to find this stranger have failed, and we will try to prove that the mention of this stranger was a ruse or trick for diverting suspicion from himself."

In reference to Jardine's alleged confession, Mr. Blackstock said he would not refer to the contents of certain statements the prisoner had made because he understood some objections might be made by the prisoner's counsel to his admission.

Mary Anderson, mother of the dead girl, said that her daughter had always borne a good character, and Wesley Anderson, her father, told of going three times to the Jardine home during the night when he was searching for his daughter.

The cross-examination in the afternoon of Dr. Garrow, who made the post mortem, showed the probable line of defence, insanity.

"Would you say these blows were made by a sane or insane man?" "Oh, I couldn't tell, I should suppose any man who would commit such an act would be insane at the time."

"Would you say that a sexual pervert would not know what he was doing in the commission of such a crime?" "Not for a moment, though he might clear up immediately after."

Mr. Blackstock: "This insanity would not be operating while he was deceiving a girl into a lonely place or making the arrangement?" "No."

Mr. Dancy: "At the time he was committing the deed would he understand the quality of his act?" "Witness: 'Not for the moment.'"

Mr. Blackstock: "This frenzy or passion does not differ from any other, except in its cause?" "No."

The succeeding witnesses told of seeing Miss Anderson and Jardine at the fair grounds and described their appearance with a very degree of detail. These were Fred. Glidden of Colborne, Frank Gladzer of Dunlop, Miss Eliza Carrick of Goderich and Beryl Irwin and Bella McLeod, girl companions.

D.C.L. For Authors.

Montreal, April 13.—McGill University will confer the honorary degree of doctor of laws on Dr. S. E. Dawson, C.M.G., on the grounds of his distinction as author in literature and history and his services in an official capacity under the Government of Canada; and on Dr. Jean O. Braze, for distinction in literature, and his valuable contributions toward the settlement of the Newfoundland fishery question. A special convocation will be held to confer the same honorary degree on Premier Gouin.

The principal reported that in connection with the forthcoming congress of universities of the Empire to be held in London in 1912, the suggestion had been made that a preliminary meeting of the heads of Canadian universities should be held to prepare Canadian business for the conference, and acting in consultation with the president of the University of Toronto he had called a meeting of all the presidents of Canadian universities at McGill University on Tuesday, June 6.

Big Copper Vein.

Kenora, April 13.—Dr. Scovill of this city, and J. W. Moore, have discovered a phenomenal copper vein fifteen miles from here. The vein is 155 feet wide, and the ore body assays high in copper. The parties are holding the property at $15,000,000. This seems an extravagant figure, but there are some capitalists from Chicago, who have made an offer in cash to Messrs. Scovill and Moore, but the offer has been turned down.

Declined to Reduce Rates.

Washington, April 13.—In a decision yesterday the Interstate Commerce Commission declined to make any reduction in what are known as ex-lake grain rates from Buffalo, N.Y., to eastern destinations, either on domestic or export traffic. The Chicago Board of Trade maintained the present rates to divert the trade from the water and rail route to the all-rail route, resulting in undue prejudice against Chicago.

Chief Accountant Accused.

Paris, April 13.—Franz Hamon, chief of the accounting department of the Foreign Office, was arrested yesterday, charged with serious irregularities in the accounts of his department and with the embezzlement of funds.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

The reciprocity bill may reach the Senate within a week. A cotton clearing house has been established in New York.

Wm. Wagner, an eight-year-old Preston boy, was killed by a street car.

A jury found the city of Toronto responsible for the death of John Newman.

Eli Hebert, a retired farmer of Tecumseh, has been missing for over two weeks.

The Provincial Government may build a custodial institution for the care of the insane.

Lennox farmers, meeting at Tamworth, passed a unanimous resolution in favor of reciprocity.

Aviator Pierre Prier made the trip from London to France, 290 miles, in a monoplane without a stop.

The Government will not pay for dredging done without authority by the Loggie Co. at Bathurst, N.B.

Ex-Ald. T. A. Lytle of Toronto died suddenly. He was widely known as a manufacturer of vinegar and sauces.

A true bill was brought in at the Goderich assizes against George Vanstone for the murder of his young son.

June 3, the birthday of His Majesty King George, and June 22, Coronation Day, will be proclaimed as statutory legal holidays in Canada.

Sir Alan Aylesworth announced in the Commons that he may reconsider his determination to retire from public life, in view of the battle for reciprocity.

The new gates on the Trent Canal locks at Hastings have been installed, completing another link in the canal. The work on the new dam here is now being commenced.

Sir Joseph Ward, speaking in Ottawa yesterday, made a strong plea for the completion of the all-red cable and uttered a fervent wish for a closer steamship connection between New Zealand and Canada.

Electric Merger in London.
London, April 13.—Malcolm J. Kent, a director of the London Electric Co., yesterday afternoon gave the first definite statement regarding a merger which may mean a change of management for the London Street Railway Co.

Mr. Kent stated that an option has been given on the street railway. This has not been taken up as yet, but the deal, he said, likely will be closed one way or the other within a week.

Mr. Kent did not feel himself in a position to state definitely the purpose of the proposed change. But he gave this general idea.

The movement here is but one movement of many which aim to bring street railways and radials of a number of places under one management.

When this is done the districts between here and Niagara which are not already served by radials will have such lines constructed. These and the street railways brought in will get their power from the main company.

The merger, it is believed, is but the widening of the movement which started in Toronto during the past few days. It will give the power companies, behind which are Mackenzie and Mann, and a number of New York capitalists, a market for their power, and will enable the companies to serve the people along the transmission lines which will be erected.

Sheldon Arraigned.

Montreal, April 13.—C. D. Sheldon appeared before Judge Leet to-day on three charges of embezzlement, aggregating $36,000. Crown Prosecutor Walsh elicited from witnesses Sheldon's acceptance of their money and this was not questioned. Judge Leet announced that the evidence was sufficient to warrant commitment for trial.

Sheldon will appear again Thursday and elect whether he will stand trial before a judge of sessions or go before a jury in the King's Bench.

The principal witness heard was David Burnside, Sheldon's office manager. The damaging side of Burnside's evidence was that Sheldon furnished him with brokers' accounts showing the day's profits, which he had since ascertained were false.

From these statements the statement showing the profits as allowed "to investors" were prepared.

Sheldon told him that he had a million dollars on deposit in New York, and Burnside asked him if this was available. Sheldon replied that it was, and Burnside suggested that he get $300,000 of it with which to meet the demands of clients. Sheldon said that he would, but never again came near the office. Judge Leet then committed Sheldon for trial on all three charges.

Playing a War Game.

Brockville, April 13.—The practical results of a war game which has been carried out on paper among the officers of the Canadian militia throughout eastern Ontario the past winter took place in this vicinity yesterday afternoon. The opposing forces were in charge of Col. Benson of Ottawa, the officer commanding eastern Ontario. The staff of umpires was headed by Gen. Colin McKenzie, inspector-general of the Canadian militia. At a dinner, given here in the evening, the company listened to the criticism of the whole game from Gen. McKenzie.

Rand Gold Output.

London, April 13.—The output of gold at the Rand in March was 676,065 fine ounces, valued at $2,871,740. In February the production amounted to 610,822 fine ounces and in March last year it was 607,119 fine ounces.

Prominent Jesuit Dead.

Washington, D.C., April 13.—Father James A. Doonan, one time president of Georgetown University and one of the best known Jesuit priests in this country, died yesterday, aged 69.

New York, April 13.—A cable from Calcutta says:—

Grave fears are felt for the safety of an expedition under Deputy Commissioner Bentic, of the military police, which set out to punish the Abor tribesmen who murdered Noel Williamson, a British official, and his party on the Assam frontier last week.

No news has been received from the party since it left.

Increased Passenger Rates.

Boston, April 13.—Announcement was made yesterday on an increase—generally of one dollar—in the passenger rates on all transportation lines operating between the Maritime Provinces and New England, to go into effect May 1 next. This will affect three railway companies, and three lines of steamers, including the C.P.R. and the Dominion Atlantic.

The Kingdom of Easterland. Do you know where the kingdom of Easterland lies? Is it north, is it south, little man? Scan the east and the west with your mischievous eyes, Thrust your hands in your pockets and try to look wise, And tell where it is if you can. Do you know is this kingdom far off or quite near? Now, please tell me that, little maid, Can you see it at night when the moon's shining clear? If you were to sail there which way would you steer? Does it lie in the sunshine or shade? But, dear little men, little maids, this you know— 'Tis the loveliest land ever seen. With fields full of rabbits and lilies like snow. And houses of sweetmeats wherever you go. With bridges of eggs in between. There are chimings of bells and music most sweet. And sometimes most beautiful toys, New frocks and new bonnets trimmed so fine and neat. And drums, swords and trumpets, an outfit complete— That is, if you're good girls and boys. And this wonderful land with such joy and such cheer, A land you would love to explore, That sends you remembrances once every year. Let me whisper a secret quite close to your ear— It lies at your very own door. —Edith Sessions Tupper in New York Herald.

Marriage and Colors. Here's the old superstition which the Easter bride, who fortunately is always married in white, may take for what it is worth: Married in gray, you will go far away. Married in black, you will wish yourself back. Married in brown, you will live out of town. Married in red, you will wish your self dead.

WOULD BE CRUEL—Mr. Hugh Guthrie, M.P., states that the next Dominion elections are not likely to take place before the fall of 1912. The only thing to be gained by bringing them on at an earlier date would be to take advantage of the disorganized condition of the Conservative party.

BOY WANTED—We have an opening in the office for a smart intelligent boy to learn the printing, one of the best occupations a young man can engage in. Apply at once.

NOT ALL GOOD—There is a great deal being said nowadays about immorality in the schools. No one need get angry over the accusations being made. It is just as impossible to secure only good children for the schools as it is to have the churches comprised only of good people; vice is unfortunately rampant in every walk of life.

SPECIAL ATTRACTION—The Lorraine Sisters, the dainty dancers and vocalists who made such a hit at Wonderland last season, are billed for the Crystal for 10-night. This is a strong guaranteed vaudeville attraction and these talented young artists should indeed be greeted by a packed house.

THE CRUCIFIXION—Stainer's Oratorio of the "Crucifixion" will be given in St. John's Church on Thursday evening, April 13th 1911, at 8.15 o'clock. 40 voices will take part. Collection of 10c. and upward.

"At Cripple Creek," which will be presented at the Opera House next Wednesday evening, under the direction of E. J. Carpenter, is not only strong in situation and scenic effects, but better than all, it has a well balanced company of clever artists in the cast, so good in fact, that they make the strong scenes stand out in bold relief and compel enthusiasm. It also has a vein of comedy running through it. Undoubtedly, as has been the case this season at other theatres, "At Cripple Creek" will play to a 'standing room only' audience.
