Several Port Hope Business Places Will Be Closed on Both Days.

Friday being a public holiday, there will be no issue of The Evening Guide and Saturday's issue will be published at noon on Saturday as usual.

The stores and banks will remain closed on Good Friday and banks will be closed on Easter Monday also. The Government Liquor Store and the Brewers' Warehouse will be closed both Friday and Monday. The Post Office will also observe both days, the general delivery being open for an hour on Good Friday morning and Easter Monday morning. There will be no delivery of rural mail on Friday.

Gray squirrels caused short circuit in power company's conduit boxes which plunged Stockbridge, Mass. in darkness.

MAPLE SYRUP CANS SEIZED BY POLICE

Men Peddling It in Oshawa Are Held in Custody

It may have been "Pure Maple Syrup," as the label read, but Chief of Police Friend of Oshawa is skeptical. Consequently he seized 21 one gallon cans at noon Tuesday, and the two men peddling it are being held on the nominal charge of peddling without a license. About two weeks ago the Police Department was instructed by the Pure Food Inspector for this district to be on the watch for peddlers handling a liquid labelled "Pure Maple Syrup," and which is not this food product, according to the Inspector.

Several alleged irregularities were found on the cans. Some of the cans did not carry the name of a manufacturer, and none of them carried the weight of the contents as required by a recent law. According to the peddlers themselves, the contents were manufactured in a factory in Toronto, the name of the manufacturer not being on the cans, only the name of the seller in some cases.

SAYS HUSBAND SLASHED WRIST

Wife in Bobcaygeon Hospital and Husband is in Jail

Mrs. Beatrice Raynaud, aged 21, is in Bobcaygeon hospital with a deep slash on her right wrist, inflicted with a razor, and her husband is in jail, similarly wounded, charged with vagrancy.

Mrs. Raynaud alleged that her husband had feared losing her, for she says, she does not love him. On Monday morning, she says, he told her of a number of debts owed by the family. She became excited at the news and ran out into the street carrying a razor. She says her husband took her home, in a fit of rage forced her on to the bed, and, kneeling on her chest, slashed her wrist. Then she says, he decided they would die together, and forthwith slashed his own wrist with the razor.

Raynaud's story is somewhat different. He says that his wife's injury was self-inflicted, and that he cut himself in a moment of excitement, fearing she would die, and not wanting her to do so alone.

As the affair took place in Peterboro County, close to Bobcaygeon, Peterboro officers will take charge of the case, arriving Thursday.

PASSOVER FEAST STARTS SUNDOWN

Jewish Passover Lasts Eight Days—Bread From Palestine

Today at sundown the Jewish people celebrate Passover. This festival, always observed at the same time as Easter, dates back over 3000 years of time of Moses. The members of different congregations assemble at their synagogues for prayers in commemoration of their independence from the Egyptians and the advent of the spring season.

The festival continues for eight days, in which the first and last two are "the holy" days. Self-denial is one feature. The custom is to eat unleavened bread.

In former years Jews bought their unleavened bread from American manufacturers. Today they get it direct from Palestine, which now is exporting it throughout the world.

ORATORICAL CONTEST, MAY 2nd

In Massey Hall—Winner Will Represent Ontario in Canadian Finals

Wednesday evening, May 2, has been chosen as the date for the Ontario championship in the Canadian and International Oratorical Contests 1928, and Massey Hall will be the place.

Last year Frederick Hotson of Tavistock Continuation School won the Ontario and Canadian championship, getting a free trip to Europe in the summer and representing Canada in the international championship at Washington, coming third, with a Mexican first and a boy from France second.

The Canadian winner this year will also be given a free European trip and the privilege of representing Canada at the international finals.

In Ontario the contests are sponsored by The Star and conducted by it with the co-operation of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation whose officials arranged the district contests which resulted in the following winners who will be the competitors at the provincial championship on May 2, and who will come to Toronto as The Star's guests:

Barrie district—Victor Rivard of Barrie Collegiate.
Hamilton district—Jessie Baker of St. Catharines Collegiate.
Harriston district—Harold Siegal of Listowel High.
Kingston district—A. Munroe Beattie of Napanea Collegiate.
London district—Herman S. Gower of Exeter High.

North Bay district—John D. Buchanan of North Bay Collegiate.
Ottawa district—Helen Raffle of Ottawa Technical.
Owen Sound district—Alex. Sinclair of Owen Sound Collegiate.

Port Arthur district—Mary McIvor of Fort Frances High.
Port Hope district—Beatrice Purdy of Colborne High.

Stratford district—Margaret McLaren of Hensall Continuation.
Toronto City district—Maurice Levine of Harbord Collegiate.

Toronto Suburban district—Jean McLachlan of Port Credit High.
Windsor district—Robert Young of Windsor Collegiate.

These are the fourteen federation districts. In addition The Star and the federation have accepted as additional district winners the two oratory champions of "Woss," the Western Secondary Schools Association, as follows:

Dorothy Farquharson of Stratford Collegiate.
William Fox of De La Salle, London.

No young man can succeed if he is afraid to do a little more than he is paid for.

Forty plumbers walked out in Kingston, and although no action was taken during the day, in an endeavour to bring about a settlement, it was stated that an endeavour was being made to have a committee of the strikers meet the master plumbers. The strike of the plumbers is over the action of the masters in failing to meet a request for an advance of ten cents an hour in the scale of wages for journeymen.

Noted Singers Gave Concert

Westminster Glee Singers Gave Fine Program in Port Hope

Last evening a delightful program was given in the Royal Theatre by the Westminster Glee Singers. This choir consisted of six little boys and eight men who came from some of England's most celebrated Cathedral Choirs.

They sang with perfect precision and with a diction that is a model for all who hear it. The quality of their concerted tone is influenced very largely by the flutey male altos, developed so largely in England, though they are quite a novelty in this country. The boy sopranos sang very sweetly and there was none of that treble shrillness which is heard so often among our female sopranos. Their soft reedy trebles were heard to excellent advantage in Dr. Arne's "Where the Bee Sucks," sung in unison and also the solo, "Cherry Ripe," which was sung so nicely by Master Edwin Brazier.

One of the most interesting features of the program was the group of sailor shanties sung by Mr. Albert Greene with a male chorus. The director, Mr. Branscombe, explained to the audience that the shanties are not play songs, but solos sung at work on ship and joined in by the chorus.

The male alto, Mr. Donald Reid, gained popularity with the audience in his rendering of "Passing By," by Purcell and "The Rosebud," by Frederick Drummond. Seldom do women altos sing with as beautiful a texture on tone.

One of the smallest songs, Master Lawrence Baldwin, was heard with great advantage in a quartette with three men. He has a lovely, clear soprano voice, and it was remarkable the way in which he sang his part.

The sacred number, Mendelssohn's "The Wings of a Dove," from "Hear My Prayer," which was given by request, was sung by Master Edwin Brazier. A second number was the old favorite Christmas carol, "Good King Wenceslas." These were not as popular with the audience as the lighter numbers.

Sanderson's "Harlequin," sung by Charles Draper was all that could be desired in tone and enunciation.

"My Dreams," by Tosti, was sung by James Davis, who put such feeling in his singing the audience seemed to live with him in his song.

James Barber did splendid work in "Arisie Ye Subterranean Winds," by the eminent English composer, Purcell, and sang for a second number, "The Volga Boat Song."

The last number was "The Bells of St. Michael's Tower," arranged by Sir Robert Stewart, which was a striking tonal effect. The peculiar resonance of a big bell striking the hour was perfectly produced.

THE FIRST HOLIDAY OF THE YEAR—EASTER

Spend It Out of Town

The first holiday of spring. It's a real chance to get away from the office—to break the long winter grind.

Easter is a splendid time to visit the fashion centres of the continent—Atlantic City, with its parade of fashions along the board walk; New York, with all its spring gaiety and Washington, made glorious with the fragrant blossoms of the Japanese cherry trees. Just "having a change" will bring you back to your work with new vim and ambition after the holiday.

Plan your Easter Trip now. Any Canadian National Railways Agent will be pleased to give you worthwhile suggestions and information.

Attendance Report

Principal D. L. Somerville submitted the attendance report for the month of March and it showed a total of 691 pupils on the register, with the following numbers in each department: fourth book 157; third book 196; second book 114; first book 98 and primary 126. There are eleven non-residents.

Want Increase

The following communication was received:

We, the undersigned teachers of fourth book classes in the public school beg to ask for an increase of salary for the following reasons, namely, that the revised curriculum which has reduced the limit in the junior classes, has increased the work in the fourth book classes, for instance, formal grammar is not now taught until pupils reach the fourth book and still the same work has to be covered as formerly when the study in that subject began in junior third classes. Another factor to be considered in this connection is that owing to the better salaries being paid in outside schools, teachers who have gained their experience here are leaving, and with but a few years experience, are receiving almost as much salary as we are, and teachers who are teaching fourth book classes in other towns are receiving more than we.

These changes necessarily impose more work on the fourth book classes, hence we feel that we are justified in our request for an advance of at least $100 in salary.

Yours Respectfully
Phyllis M. Smith
Elsie Thompson
Mary Strickland

Moved by W. A. Meadows, seconded by W. Rowland that the request of fourth book teachers be tabled for the present and be dealt with at our next regular meeting.

CANADIAN GOODS ARE IN DEMAND

Report on Trade Conditions in China

"I am satisfied with the progress of Canadian products in the Chinese trade field and prospects for the increase of trade are extremely good," Colonel Moore Cosgrave, Canadian government trade commissioner to China said on his arrival from the orient.

"Canadian products of all kinds and particularly those from British Columbia, are being very well received in China now," he said. "There is no real boycott against Canadian goods in China as a result of the disturbance there. The real Chinese business man knows his goods, his prices and realising he is relatively close to this province, places his orders where he is sure of guaranteed products."

During the last six months there had been a steady and noticeable improvement in conditions generally in China, Mr. Cosgrave explained, especially from the commercial and financial standpoint.

THE GUIDE STORY

By this time Firefly was firmly installed in Miss Charity's good graces. She knew all the ins and outs of the great orphanage project. She knew all about the mysterious visitor from the "other world" that visited Miss Charity every night before she went to sleep, and the memory of Miss Charity's gentle voice as she wistfully recounted her own and only love story still brought an uncomfortable suspicion of tears to even Firefly's eyes. By now, even Olwen would have missed the merry little creature, although at times she still felt a strange dislike which, with her customary honesty, she laid to the charge of envy, malice and all uncharitableness.

Whatever Firefly undertook—whether it was talking, playing, working or sympathizing—she did well. She might be, in fact, she was, impudent, irritating, perplexing, yet she possessed the charm of success. Beside her aunt's companion Olwen felt awkward, stupid, uninteresting and, as was natural, she grew more discontented with herself. She had not the sense to realize that one half of Firefly's success lay in the simple fact of her being an egotistical little creature, who believed so firmly in herself that she impressed the same belief on all with whom she came in contact. She merely felt that Firefly was poor, yet attractive and fascinating, while she who was blessed with an abundance of this world's goods, was unattractive unpoplar and thoroughly discontented.

In reality, the girl was suffering from reaction. It had been very delightful at first being not only rich but the owner of a stately residence. It had been very exciting to spend money lavishly on others as well as on herself. It had been very engaging to spend long hours in building air castles that were to be realized in the future. Yet some of the castles were already falling in ruins.

To begin with, Miss Granby seemed to like living in the country so well that she had no inclination what ever to accompany her niece to London, either occasionally or for the season that was already looming in prospect. Olwen knew that Mrs. Grundy required she should have some sort of chaperon at the Manor but she did wish, half impatiently, yet with self reproach at the very thought, that she had known a little more about Miss Granby's heart disease before asking her to be that chaperon.

How could she stand the racket of London, she who so loved the country that even now, frail as she was, she sat by the open window day after day, smothered in wraps and furs, to get, as she said, a whiff of the country fragrance. Even if she did consent to go to London, as she most certainly would if her niece wished it, what use would she be in society? Yet Olwen knew of no other woman who would undertake the charge of introducing a plain, awkward girl, however much of an heiress the latter might be. She was too energetic not to like the future to be clearly planned for her. She wanted to enjoy London, at any rate for one season. That there seemed no possibility of it at present was but one of the many causes of her discontent.

Another cause was the strong dissatisfaction with the internal economy of the Manor. Olwen had taken possession of her new home with a strong determination to be a model mistress, though at the same time, a friend to her servants. Yet, on the very night of her arrival she was met on the threshold by two despots, who, ever since, thwarted all her plans.

Jacob Smiles, the butler, and Mrs. Symonds, the housekeeper, had lived at the Manor House since the day that Jacob entered it as underfootman and Mrs. Symonds as nurse. They had both been married in old Squire Ransome's day, Jane to the butler, Jacob to the cook. They had both lost their better halves, they had both seen Black Bob grow from irresponsible boyhood to reckless manhood; since the squire's death they had, in the interests of the absent heir, both kept watch and ward over the property; they were both ready to welcome the girl descendant of the old family as mistress, but they were both also ready to guide, control and harass her every movement.

Olwen soon made up her mind that faithful family servants were an unmitigated trial. For rebuffs they cared nothing; for openly expressed displeasure they reckoned not one jot; and Olwen, though obstinate, soon found that she was no match for the old folks. Out of sheer irritation, she grew proportionately stiff, and what the servants termed "haughty."

Firefly was very different. She plagued old Jacob, who was the most correct of butlers, till one evening at the dinner table he collapsed into unseemly mirth, to his own discomfort and his tormentor's triumph. She even beguiled Mrs. Symonds into a slow smile by accusing her of setting her cap at sedate Coachman Giles; and by the end of the week the servants, the gardeners and the stable boys, were admirers of the companion, much to Olwen's surprise and to the companion's satisfaction.

LEAFS GOOD PRACTICE

Amid old and familiar surroundings and on a diamond where he first gained fame as a baseball athlete, Claude Satterfield, erstwhile University of Georgia star and hero of many engagements in Albany as a semi pro, dished some of his youthful stunts in yesterday's Leafs Albany exhibition game, the second of the series between the International and Southern leaguers. With the score tied at nine all "Satty" stepped on the slab with a man on second and stopped the ambitious Albany team dead in their tracks with his great assortment of wrinkles and saved the situation, which, until this advent, was somewhat serious. Toronto eventually won 13 to 9, slapping the southpaw offerings of Pitcher Lane, late of Washington all over, and out of the bloom ing lot.

In the eleventh inning, with one out in that session, Lane handed Alexander a slow hook, and the last thing seen of the spherer was when it dropped out of sight over the left field barrier. This crash for the circuit was enough to win, as it developed, but to make things safe, the Leafs added three more counters to their total on a walk to Burke and hits by Cote, Rensa and Rab-bit, the latter's line smash over first being accountable for a pair of tallies.

RUTH IS ON HIS WAY

Babe Ruth hit his first home run of the spring training season to give New York a 2 to 1 lead over Chattanooga of the Southern Association in the eleventh inning of a pitchers' battle at Chattanooga, Tenn., yesterday.

HOCKEY

Russell Oatman, substitute left-winger of the Montreal Maroons, emerged from last night's hockey battle as a hero. Oatman's goal, after eight minutes and twenty seconds of overtime, gave the Maroons a 1 to 0 victory over the Flying Frenchmen, besides winning for them the championship of the Canadian section of the National League, and the right to meet the New York Rangers, winners of the United States division, in the Stanley Cup finals.

It was an evenly fought tussle throughout, and was won by the closest of margins, but Oatman's scoring effort was no fluke. The chunky sub left-winger was making just another rush toward the Canuck citadel. He shot as he reached the defense. Hainsworth blocked the drive, but the puck rebounded straight out again. Oatman kept on coming, banged through the Canadian defense men, picked up the loose disc, and slammed it into the twine before Hainsworth could make a move. Just as Oatman's stick met the puck, the two Canadian defense men closed in. Oatman's stick was broken in two by the impact, but it was broken too late.

Among the heroes of the battle, were the two netminders, Benedict and Hainsworth. The latter was fairly beaten on the lone counter that got past him, but previous to the goal he was perfect, and saved his team on many occasions. Benedict also rose to the heights, and he played a major part in the Maroon victory. Many times, when the Maroons were short handed, "Ben" alone turned back the vicious Canuck thrusts.

RANGERS IN FINALS

The New York Rangers qualified for the Stanley Cup championships at Boston last night by defeating Boston, leaders in the United States division of the National Hockey League by four to one, thus making the total goals count Rangers 5, Bruins 2, as the two teams played a 1 to 1 tie in New York on Sunday night.

SWIMMING

OKE MANAGES YOUNG

Arrangements were completed yesterday whereby T. G. (Teddy) Oke of Toronto is to manage George Young of Toronto, winner of the Catalina swim. Johnny Walker, swimming instructor of the Granite Club, who developed Young as a swimmer is again his coach.

Oke, Walker states, was offered a contract which would have extended over a period of eighteen months allowing Oke 25 per cent of Young's earnings. Refusing, however, to accept a contract, Oke consented to act as Young's manager and to advance all expense money necessary to prepare Young for his next engagement. He refused to take any percentage of Young's earnings other than the return of such expenses as he might advance.

Three thousand dollars, Walker stated is the approximate sum required for Young's training for the next Wrigley marathon swim. Walker has informed Young that he does not require a contract as coach.

Young will do his training in and near Toronto. He has already been swimming indoors for some weeks and will later shift his training operations to some section of Lake Ontario. He is showing excellent form and hopes to bring back the world's professional championship to Toronto.

The battle between Young and Ernst Vierkoetter of Germany, who won the swim last year at the Canadian National Exhibition, is expected to feature the next Wrigley swim. Walker coached Vierkoetter for that event and feels that he can make use of the knowledge he gained of Vierkoetter's weaknesses. He plans to keep Young in Toronto until two weeks before the Montreal race if no other engagements materialize in the meantime.

Increase in Bank Deposits

Seventeen Per Cent. of Port Hope Pupils Make Deposits in January and February

The average weekly percentage of the pupils of the Port Hope Public Schools making deposits in the Penny Bank for the months of January and February is seventeen, while the aggregate for the schools in Canada for the same period is 31. The number of schools making deposits totalled 303, while the total amount was $996,333.78 on deposit at the end of February and the comparative figures of a year ago were $857,963.49.

Port Hope Figures

The total amount on deposit for Port Hope pupils at the end of February was $2,749.21, while the comparative figures were $2,687.71.

The percentage of other schools in this vicinity is as follows: Toronto 31; Bowmanville 28; Belleville 25 and Campbellford 11.

"The Minister of Education desires to express his appreciation of the devotion shown by the teachers in those schools where the Penny Bank has been in successful operation. He also wishes to point out that it is not enough merely to establish the system in a school. There must be loyal co-operation and persistent sympathy upon the part of the teachers; otherwise some few may take the opportunity to exercise a natural thriftiness, but the Bank will fall in its effort to encourage thrift among the unthrifty. #### Heenev Ready for Title Bout

Tom Heenev is anxious to win the heavyweight boxing title, wants to fight at least six times a year if he is champion and thinks that if he could get Tunney out of America he could win handily.

"I appreciate that Tunney is a brainy fighter but if I ever could get him out of the country I would stand a good chance," the big New Zealander said.

He said that if he won the fight with Tunney this summer he would be willing to give Padino Uzedun, Johnny Risko, Jack Sharkey or any of the other heavyweights a chance whenever they asked for it.

"Absence from the ring does any champion more harm than overwork" Heenev said.

Bernard Mortimer, Heenev's British manager, will go to London today, after which he will cable Tex Rickard as to the advisability of staging the Tunney-Heenev fight in London.

"THE WIND-SWAYED DAISIES"

The wind-swayed daisies, that on every side

Through the wide fields in whispering companies, Serene and gently smiling like the eyes

Of tender children long beautified, The delicate thought-wrapped butter cups that glide

Like sparks of fire above the waving grass,

And swing and toss with all the airs that pass,

Yet seem so peaceful, so preoccupied; These are the emblems of pure pleasures flown,

I scarce can think of pleasure without these.

Even to dream of them is to disown The cold forlorn midwinter reverses,

Lulled with the perfume of old hopes new-blown,

No longer dreams, but dear realities.

YEARLY TRADE SHOWS DECREASE

Canada's Imports Higher, Exports Down $36,000,000

A decrease of $15,000,000 in Canadian trade with the United Kingdom is revealed in the returns for the 12 months ending with February. Imports for the period mentioned increase from $165,000,000 to $184,000,000, but there was a decline in the exports from $448,000,000 to $412,000,000.

Imports from Britain to Canada for the 12 months ending February, included the following:

Alcoholic	1927	1928
Beverages	$24,866,785	$37,322,444
Coal (anthra-)

increase. There was a decrease of $10,000,000 in meats, mostly bacon and hams, from $22,000,000 to $12,000,000. Rubber exports increased (cite) 2,047,879 6,221,011
Cottons 15,314,624 13,903,686
Metals 21,039,329 23,494,607
Tea 16,018,780 14,961,867
Wool 39,116,101 33,646,345

Canadian exports to Britain show a heavy decrease in live animals, the number of cattle exported being only 4765 head during the 12 months ending February, as compared with 69,806 during the preceding year. There was also a drop of $4,000,000 in cheese exports from $21,000,000 to $17,000,000 and a decrease of $13,000,000 in grain and products from $304,000,000 to 291,000,000. This is due largely to a decline in prices, as the number of bushels shows a slightly.

There's a way of insuring your buying against wasted money and unsatisfactory merchandise. And that insurance costs you not a penny. It is always paid up to date and in full force.

That insurance is the advertising here in your newspaper. Advertised products are standardized, perfected and carefully priced before they are ever advertised.

Whether you are buying soap, clothing, shoes, tooth paste, food or electrical household appliances, the result is the same. You get reliable, economical merchandise whenever you buy by the advertisements.

Make up your insured shopping list in the comfort and quiet of your own home. Compare the merits of the products advertised. Study the way in which each is adapted to your needs.

You'll find advertising truthful, informing and interesting. That's the only sort that pays, you know.

Every dollar you spend on advertised merchandise is insured against waste.

More Than Fish Seen in Rice Lake

Much has been written during the past couple of months relative to winter fishing in Rice Lake but of all the stories in connection with that body of water, perhaps the following is most interesting. It is a clipping from the Cobourg Sentinel of over half a century ago and boasted the heading "Another Sea Serpent Story." It reads:—

(Correspondence of the Cobourg Sentinel)

HARWOOD, Aug. 10, 1877.—The most intense excitement has been created here by the appearance of a monster in the waters of our lake which, according to the description given of it by those who have seen it, rivals any of the specimens of the great sea serpent. Two American gentlemen who are enjoying the lovely scenery of our lake, and the good sport which it affords, and when off White's island they noticed an unusual commotion in the water, looking towards the north shore. Their surmises and doubts were soon set at rest on discovering the undulating portions of the body of a monster which was making its way up the lake towards Harwood. They at once gave chase, and were rapidly gaining on the creature, when their courage was tested by the monster turning around and making directly for them. The view they had of it at this juncture was the best they obtained of it, and it is described by them as having a head almost like that of a horse, but twice as long, eyes fierce and glaring, the color of the skin dark grey, the gullet pink and having large, but apparently soft fins or long hair along its back, as far as seen. They could not see more than about twelve feet of the animal's body, but think it must be over sixty feet long. They succeeded in reaching Idyl Wild, the monster having disappeared before they got to the shore. This was about eleven o'clock in the morning. At one o'clock two ladies and two gentlemen standing on the piazza of the "Lakeview House" saw the monster pass the north side of Tick Island. With a good opera glass they were enabled to notice more accurately the movements of the monster seen, for such now it appeared to be and in a short time it had passed behind Spokee Island and made directly for the mouth of the Otonabee but disappeared suddenly when in that part of the lake which is considered the river channel, and has not since been seen from here. Captain Brady got his yacht the Stug, under weigh at once, and cruised around the islands for some time, but could discover nothing of the alarming visitor. I will let you hear if anything further is seen or heard of his snakeship.

Later—A gentleman just arrived from Gore's Landing, says the monster was seen disporting himself between Sheep Island and the shore. A party is being organized to attempt its capture. Two sportsmen fired at it, when it at once disappeared.

I am told that the ladies and gentlemen who saw the monster are about making an affidavit of the fact before a magistrate. In the meantime every effort is to be put forward to effect its capture. I will not fail to let you know any further particulars that I may learn about this wonderful visitant of our lake. I understand the Indians are so alarmed that some of them intend removing from the borders of the lake for a short time at least, or until they are better satisfied of their security from the horrid monster now in their vicinity.

PLAY PRESENTED AT WESLEYVILLE

Young People Present Good Interesting Play Friday Evening

In spite of the adverse condition of weather and roads, the Wesleyville Church was well filled on Friday evening, March 30th to witness a play entitled, "Go Slow, Mary," presented by the young people of the community. The play represents a near domestic tragedy, happily averted by a better understanding. A discontented wife and her unsympathetic husband, out of work, exchange places, and a short experience, filled with humorous mishaps proves sufficient for each. Racy in action, well spiced with good clean fun, this three act drama affords rich entertainment with a wholesome lesson embodied. The local dramatists presented the play in admirable form and with good effect, the cast of characters being as follows:—

Billy Abbey, a young husband out of a job—Wilfred Bee
Mary Abbey, his discontented wife—Ethel Vanetta
Mrs. Berdon, Mary's mother—Mrs. Edgar Barraclough
Bobby Berdon, Mary's nephew, a holy terror—Sidney Wright
Dolly Berdon, Mary's niece—Lena Henning
Sally Carter, Mary's bosom friend—Olive Brooking
Harry Stevens, Sally's lover—Mr. Lysoft
Bert Childs, Billy's friend—Harold Austin
Katy, a maid—Verna Tufford
Danny Grubb, an ice man, a suitor of Katy—Leonard Outred
Murphy, policeman, rival to Danny—Shirley Vanetta

MOTHER! WATCH THE LITTLE HAND

Mother! watch the little feet. Climbing o'er the garden wall, Bounding through the bushy street, Ranging cellar, shed and hall; Never count the moments lost, Never mind the time it costs, Little feet will go astray, Guide them, mother, while you may.

Mother! watch the little hand Picking the berries by the way, Making houses in the sand, Tossing up the fragrant hay. Never dare the question ask, "Why to me this heavy task?" These same little hands may prove, Messengers of light and love.

Mother! watch the little tongue, Prattling eloquent and wild; What is said and what is sung, By the happy, joyous child; Catch the word while yet unspoken; Stop the vow while yet unbroken; This same tongue may yet proclaim Blessing in the Saviour's name.

Mother! watch the little heart, Beating soft and warm for you; Wholesome lessons now impart; Keep, O keep that young heart true, Extricating every weed, Sowing good and precious seed; Harvest rich you may see, Ripening for eternity.

Let the March Winds Do What They Will!

Spring is near—yes! But winter hasn't gone for good. And because there will still be "spells" of cold weather, you can't lay aside warm clothes altogether for the alluring lighter weight garments. For in-between weeks, the problem has been especially solved by this well-dressed young lady whose coat so smartly combines comfort and charm. Her smartly tailored model shows, as so many of the new furless coats do, applied bands as the only trimming. These are most cleverly placed in deep curves running from the shoulder to the hip and back again. A scarf collar—and scarf collars will be very important this season—can be easily attached and adds a certain publication. Cashmere, suede cloth, tweil or satin, make this design suitable for street, sports or afternoon wear. (Copyright, 1928, by Butterick)

HEARD ON THE STREET

Good morning. Did you hear the Westminster Glee Singers?

The music lovers of Port Hope had a superb treat when they listened to the enchanting singing of our London visitors at the Royal last evening.

"April showers bring forth May flowers." If the amount has anything to do with it we should have lots of flowers next month.

Oshawa is for having a clean city for at the regular meeting of the council they decided to purchase a motor flusher at a cost of $8,185.26. It will have a capacity of 1200 Imperial gallons and be complete with spring and washing nozzles, road oiling equipment and a device for filling the tank through a pump. This addition to the street cleaning equipment should be a valuable asset to the city during the spring, summer and fall months.

The pilot wheels of the engine bringing in the C.N.R. Orono train were derailed in the yard so that the train blocked the freight from Peterboro shortly after six o'clock last night. The derailment was caused by a split rail. Fortunately the locomotive was going slow at the time and the crew were able to get the engine off the track without very much delay.

Motor traffic is noticeable increasing already, motors from the States are passing through. It is predicted more visitors from across the line will tour through here this summer. Is Port Hope preparing to make the best of the opportunity which is ours?

Lindsay is priding itself on getting a big new industry which is putting up a building worth a hundred thousand dollars. It is to be the Lindsay Distilleries Limited, for the purpose of making whiskey out of molasses and the very best brands of liquors out of grain. Is that something to be proud of?

Police shot a dog found on the street in Kingston, which is believed to have been suffering from rabies.
