

FRIDAY AND MONDAY ARE LEGAL HOLIDAYS

Several Port Hope Business Places Will Be Closed on Both Days.

Friday being a public holiday, there will be no issue of The Evening Guide and Saturday's issue will be published at noon on Saturday as usual.

The stores and banks will remain closed on Good Friday and banks will be closed on Easter Monday also. The Government Liquor Store and the Brewers' Warehouse will be closed both Friday and Monday. The Post Office will also observe both days, the general delivery being open for an hour on Good Friday morning and Easter Monday morning. There will be no delivery of rural mail on Friday.

Helen Buschmann, 19, of Gainesville, Ohio, injured in motor accident, has been unconscious for seventy-four days.

AFTERNOON TEA BY LADIES' AID

Successful Event Was Conducted by St. Paul's Society on Wednesday

The afternoon tea and sale of home made baking conducted by the Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in the Primary Class room on Wednesday afternoon proved a decided success and the organization is indeed pleased with the monetary returns.

The tea tables were prettily decorated with daffodils, etc., and the convener of the tea room was Mrs. S. Smith. She was assisted by Mrs. W. Sculthorpe, Mrs. S. C. Gillespie, Mrs. Geo. Bennett, Mrs. P. L. Brown, Mrs. E. Freeman and Miss Phyllis Harrison. The tea room received exceptionally large patronage. The talent table was in charge of Mrs. John Wells and Miss B. Caldwell and did considerable business.

VETERAN KILLS ARMED BANDIT

Geo. R. Fisher, a Canadian, Captured Three Bank Bandits in California

Coolness and bravery on the part of a Canadian war veteran, George R. Fisher, frustrated a big bank robbery at Los Angeles, California, and resulted in the death of one bandit and the apprehension of his two accomplices.

George Fisher, the hero of the affair, is a guard at the Merchants National Trust and Savings Bank. He is a veteran of the Great War, having served with the 7th Battalion of the Canadian Expeditionary Force in a western unit. He wears the Mons Star.

The bandits drove up in a rented car shortly before closing time and dashed into the building, shouting commands and displaying pistols. Frank Ratledge, who was killed by the Canadian guard, is an ex-convict and former Los Angeles policeman. He advanced on one of the tellers and shouted "Back away." The other two men acted in a similar manner at strategic positions in the bank. Girls as well as men were threatened by the gunmen.

George Fisher quietly sat in his seat in the balcony above until the bandits were not observing him, when he sprang up with his shotgun and shouted: "Stick 'em up, brothers."

Ratledge's face showed amazement. He quickly turned and looked at Fisher, at the same time lifting his pistol and firing. The bullet clipped the casing and a piece of wood lodged in Fisher's hair. He fired, and Ratledge sprawled on his back; the slugs from the shotgun concentrated in a six inch circle in his head and throat.

The other bandits shouted, "We'll kill every one of you, if he doesn't put up that gun."

"You won't get out of here alive if you don't drop your own," was the veteran's cool warning.

The bandits crouched behind a railing and had a hurried, whispered conversation, all the time covered by Fisher's shotgun. Soon their courage gave out. The manager of bank replaced Fisher at the window, and the latter advanced on the pair and disarmed them.

In a few moments officers arrived and hustled the pair to headquarters where they made statements and were lodged in the county jail, awaiting the filing of armed robbery complaints.

George Fisher was badly injured at the battle of Ypres. He was formerly a deputy inspector in the Dominion police. He holds a license as a Canadian guide and hunter. He was planning to lead an expedition into the northern parts of Canada in search of specimens for the University of California, recently, but this has since failed to materialize.

HEARD ON THE STREET

The choir is putting on a cantata tonight. I'm going. Are you?

"We shall have showers of blessing." It is getting wetter and wetter every day in every way, but we must be thankful the sun shines a little to dry the pavements and there isn't half the mud there used to be, before we went to the trouble and expense of paving. Our corner friend says there are many who at first didn't like the idea who would hate to go back to the good old days when you had to wade through the mud to get across the main street.

A unique ceremony will take place at a blacksmith shop at 18 Mary st., Oshawa, on April 9, when S. F. Hooper, 58 Charles St. west, Toronto, will shoe a horse in the same shop where he worked as a blacksmith more than 60 years ago. On this occasion, Mr. Hooper says he will be celebrating his golden anniversary as a blacksmith. The building is still being used as a blacksmith shop, but will shortly be moved around the corner to make room for a large building to be erected on the site on which the blacksmith shop stands. A number of friends have been invited to the ceremony.

The eighteenth Holstein Breeders' Club sale was held Wednesday in Belleville, and was the best sale that has been held since the reconstruction period after the war. Buyers present represented the whole section of Eastern Ontario and the upper part of New York State. There were 33 head of matured and young cows with five males and four calves. The total of the sale was $6,230 and the average price of the matured cows was $195. The top price of the sale was paid by John Harby, Freleighsburg, N.Y. He paid $350 for Cherry Croft Butter Baroness.

Thomas Cooper of Seymour Township has probably established a record that few can beat. He is the owner of a Yorkshire sow that is mothering a litter of 21 pigs, all of which are reported to be getting on well.

The appearance of wolves in Northumberland county is something that has been unheard of for years. A few days ago, however, a large wolf was summarily shot by men from Castleton in Cramhe Township, who instituted a hunt, as three wolves had been seen in the locality. The other two animals were not found, but the search will be continued. It is now thought that some of the sheep killing in the district that was attributed to dogs was the work of wolves. Cramhe Township Council not long ago offered a reward for wolves killed in that township.

There is no change in the plumbers' strike situation in Kingston, as the master plumbers refuse to accede to requests of journeymen for an increase from 90 cents an hour to $1. The journeymen electricians have notified their bosses that on May 1 they will demand 90 cents an hour, an increase of 10 cents. It is thought that an agreement will be reached.

Sixty years in business in the same rural community will be completed on Saturday by John R. Dargrave of Elgin, a former member of the legislature for Leeds. He also has been clerk of the township of South Crosby 51 years, having succeeded his father.

Summonses have been issued by Magistrate J. W. Bradshaw of Kingston, for three boys to appear before him at Titchborne on April 18 to answer a charge of assault upon Lloyd McEwen, a lad whom they seized and whose fingernails they tried to manure. In the paring operation the knife used is alleged to have severely lacerated his fingers. Cecil Goodfellow and Lunn and Smith with holding the complainant.

Wifey wrote Hubby, on a business trip, thusly:
Dear Jim—Please forward me some money.

He answered—Short of money. Enclosed find check for 5000 kisses. May it tide you over until I arrive. A few days later he received the following reply:

Dear Jim—Check for 5000 kisses arrived. Many thanks, dear. The milkman cashed it. Your faithful wife.

RABIES OUTBREAK AT KINGSTON

Twenty-Six Persons Take Pasteur Treatment, Fearing Infection

Dr. William Nichols, Dominion Veterinary Inspector for the Kingston district, states that the rabies situation in the district has not improved during the past week. Instead there are more cases of infected animals, and the Township of Pittsburg is now affected, its council having passed a quarantine by law. Twenty six persons in Kingston and immediate district who have had contact with dogs that were infected with rabies are taking the Pasteur treatment at the general hospital.

DIVISION COURT

At a special sitting of the Division Court held at the Town Hall this morning, F. B. Robinson, local plumber, entered an action against W. A. Russell of Port Hope, before County Judge L. V. O'Connor of Cobourg. The amount of the action was $291.

Frank M. Field, K.C. of Cobourg, represented the defendant, while W. F. Kerr, K.C., also of Cobourg, appeared for the plaintiff.

Mr. Robinson was on the stand for the greater part of the morning and told of arrangements made for the installation of a furnace at the residence owned by Mrs. W. A. Russell on Ellen street.

In the course of his lengthy evidence, the plaintiff pointed out that he had made a contract for the removal of an old furnace and the installation of a new warm air furnace. The contract price was $316, while $25 was allowed on the old furnace. The work was duly completed some time ago and an account rendered.

In the cross examination conducted by Mr. Field, plaintiff told that he had been in business in Port Hope for six years and his first dealings with Mr. Russell occurred when a gramophone was purchased. The payments on the machine ceased however, when the furnace contract was made in August.

Mr. Field—At the time of the furnace deal, the amount owing on the gramophone was $150?

Plaintiff—I am not quite sure, but it was around that amount.

"When did you go to Mrs. Russell's house about the furnace deal?"
"I had some repair work and Mr. Russell said to see about the furnace in 1925. In conversation with Mr. and Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Russell suggested that the old furnace was not satisfactory and if the gramophone was bought, I could count on a new furnace deal."

Mr. Robinson related that Lewis Foote was helping him with the repair work and was present when the bargain was made. It was brought out that Mr. Russell said there was no bargain with him but his share of the cost would come out of the gramophone deal.

Mr. Robinson, on the stand, told that the contract price for the new heating apparatus was $316 and it had a capacity of 25,000 cubic feet. He said there was nothing said of the coal consumption and challenged the statement that the new furnace would use two tons less coal. The furnace was set up on the site of the old plant and would give a heat temperature of 69-70 degrees.

In the latter part of 1925, plaintiff remarked that a complaint was made and after he went up, Mr. Russell appeared to be quite annoyed.

"Did you prevail upon them to leave it in?"

"I suggested the lack of sufficient cold air pipes and chimney pipes."

"They were adverse to any further overhauling of the house?"

"They were."
Representatives of the head office of the furnace manufacturing concern had been in town and plaintiff told Mrs. Russell that he was willing to remove the furnace after the proposed alterations of cutting certain parts of the floor to which Mrs. Russell had objected, were made.

Afternoon Evidence

At the resumed sittings of the Division Court this afternoon, N. R. Turner, representative of the McClary Manufacturing Co., was on the stand and was subjected to cross examination by Frank M. Field, counsel for the defendant. F. B. Robinson was the agent rep

ADVANCE MADE IN ROAD BUILDING

Construction and Improvement of Highways Progressed Under Canada Highways Act

As an aid to the construction of good roads throughout the Dominion and more particularly toward the building of trunk highways connecting the various provinces, the Canada Highways Act was passed in 1919 by the Dominion Parliament. By that Act the Government appropriated $20,000,000 as subsidy to assist the various provinces in the building and improvement of highways "during the five years succeeding the passage of the Act," the purpose being to form a correlated system of highways embracing all the provinces, and connecting with the important arteries at international points. The Dominion subsidy was to constitute 40 per cent of the reasonable and necessary cost of construction of the highways placed under agreement as provided by the Act and Regulations. Work, however, did not progress as rapidly as was anticipated, and at the end of the five years an appreciable amount of money provided remained to be expended. Operations under the statute were accordingly extended until March 31, 1928, by which date the application of this Dominion subsidy will have been completed.

During the nine years that the Act has functioned great strides have been made throughout Canada in the construction and improvement of highways from coast to coast. Every province of the Dominion has benefited from the operations of the Canada Highways Act. Of the total of 8,415 miles of highway for the construction of which the dominion government agreed to provide 40 per cent of the cost, 7,436 miles were completed by the end of the fiscal year, on March 31, 1927. Improvement was being carried out on 872 miles and 106 miles still remained untouched. The estimated subsidizable cost of the work to that date was placed at $48,990,092 and the Dominion Government's contribution is estimated at $19,596,388.

Plant and animal evolution can be effected by X-ray to encompass in a comparatively brief period the development of new varieties that formerly required several generations, it was announced at the experiment station of the Missouri college of agriculture.

The discovery, following three years' work by Dr. L. J. Stadler of the field crops department of the University of Missouri, speeds up many hundreds of times the rate at which improved varieties of grain, vegetables and fruit can be developed, the announcement said.

representing the line of furnaces in Port Hope and came down on the request of the local agent. The first complaint was made in December, 1925, and the first visit was made in the following January. He called on Mr. Russell and accompanied by Mr. Robinson went to his residence to inspect the furnace.

Mr. Field—Are dealers not very particular about the fuel to insure results?
Witness—The dealer does not make a practice of it.
Mr. Field—You don't expect the purchaser to offer suggestions on that score?
Witness—The dealer does not as a rule, investigate the chimney.
Mr. Turner told that five sizes of furnaces were sold and that one installed at the Russell residence was the middle size. During a test on an average winter day, a temperature of 60 to 70 degrees was reached.

From the general trend of Mr. and Mrs. Russell's remarks, they complained of unsatisfactory results and that too much coal was being burned.

The case was adjourned until May 9th.

WEALTH INCREASE IN A 4 YEAR PERIOD

Ontario Possesses 35 Per Cent. of Canada's $26,000,000,000—Quebec Ranks Second

The tangible wealth of Canada, exclusive of undeveloped natural resources, is nearly $26,000,000,000 according to an estimate of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The survey covers the year 1925 and shows an increase of nearly $3,000,000,000 in four years.

As regards the Provincial distribution of wealth, Ontario ranked 1st, with estimated aggregate wealth of $9,000,727,000, or 25.1 per cent of the total; and Quebec second, with estimated wealth of $6,288,284,000, or 24.6 per cent of the whole. Saskatchewan was third, with estimated wealth of $2,870,314,000, or 11.2 per cent of the total for the Dominion.

While Ontario led in absolute wealth, the Western Provinces came first in per capita wealth. Saskatchewan had first rank with a per capita wealth of $354; British Columbia second with $353; Alberta third with $345; and Manitoba fourth with $299.

The Provincial distribution of the national wealth is estimated as follows:

Prince Edward Island	$ 138,916,000
Nova Scotia	789,651,000
New Brunswick	643,528,000
Quebec	6,288,284,000
Ontario	9,000,727,000
Manitoba	1,839,819,000
Saskatchewan	2,870,314,000
Alberta	2,086,688,000
British Columbia	1,983,420,000
Yukon	31,827,000

Canada$25,673,174,000

THE GUIDE STORY

Firefly knew that the post of companion in most houses is by no means enviable. She knew that it meant more often than not being snubbed by all the household. She had no intention of submitting to any such treatment; therefore, in her opinion the best way was to subjugate the prospective foes and get a hand in the management of affairs before the snubbing had time to begin.

The Manor household was eminently suited for such tactics. Olwen was still unused to the position of mistress of a household and, in fact, was rather prepared to be snubbed. Miss Charity promptly accepted Firefly as she would another niece, and forgot all about her being a companion, as she proved the first night by asking to be called "Aunt Charity."

The servants, however, imitated the demeanor of the housekeeper and the butler and treated the girl like an ordinary visitor, and truth to tell, Firefly quickly forgot that she was anything else, and began to enjoy life immensely.

Even Olwen was not proof against the girl's merry moods and bright ways. So far, the weight of the dead uncle's inheritance had been more felt than had its enjoyments. Moreover Olwen, perhaps from her own fault, had hitherto found the county families woefully dull. She even occasionally sighed after the second rate cheerfulness of her late guardians' home.

The men of Woodlands society seemed to Olwen bores, and the women, wearisome in the extreme. Yet Firefly appeared capable of deriving pleasure from even the two or three dull visits in which she had accompanied Olwen, and the latter, looking at her through Firefly's younger and more easily pleased eyes, gained some knowledge thereby.

Therefore, in spite of receiving the comfortable salary that Gwendal had been promised, Firefly was soon considered by everybody, herself included, as a visitor rather than as Miss Granby's paid companion. Very little was seen of Doctor Forrester that week. Miss Granby had needed only his usual weekly visit, and on that day Olwen had absented herself, the memory of their last discussion still burning within her, while Firefly, after waiting about the hall for what seemed to her an interminable time, was called away.

The surroundings of Woodlands were very beautiful, even in winter. From the broad terrace on the south side of the house the ground sloped gently downward to the silver stream flowing at the base of the Manor territory. From the terrace, a very favorite haunt of Olwen's, a charming view of the surrounding country could be had. In the distance rose the dim blue outlines of the Sussex Downs. As far as the eye could reach lay woods, coppices, meadows, stretches of common, dark pools, isolated clumps of red stemmed fir trees, little dells—so sheltered from the winds that primroses bloomed freely throughout the winter—hamlets nestling close to the quaint, ivy covered churches, while farther off the smoke of a small manufacturing town hung like a cloud in the clear, frosty air.

Nowhere was there monotony either of landscape or foliage, and Firefly's beauty loving eyes had caught the charm the morning after her arrival, and she took the dull, sleepy little town of Woodlands into her heart, for the sake of its beautiful setting, at once and forever.

When Firefly started for her walk Pennsylvania plans to ship 12,000,000 trees from its nurseries during April.

It was a fine morning. It held the promise of spring, veiled beneath a brisk breeze, with a touch of frost in the air. Under the sun's rays the branches of the maple seemed bursting into bud. Every bramble-bush sparkled with myriad jewels.

Firefly, with her hair curling upward round the brim of the smart little hat with its red feather, and her soft cheeks glowing, raced along the muddy lanes, chasing or being chased, regardless of the mud.

They wandered three miles from Woodlands village, to the borders of a large heather common, over which was the road to the next village.

Opposite to where Firefly paused to regain breath and gaze around was a narrow lane, overhung by trees. Feeling the necessity for a rest before starting homeward, she glanced round her, discovered a convenient milestone, and sat down on it.

CHAPTER VI

An Interesting Meeting

Along the lane rode Hal Pett, so occupied with his thoughts that at first he did not notice Firefly.

He was a strongly built young fellow, with an honest, open face that bore evidence of a kindly disposition. His immediate object was to persuade his horse, a high bred, excitable chestnut, to pass a heap of white flints on the roadside. Suddenly, the animal shied, and, swinging around, galloped down the lane.

Firefly turned pale, for the conflict between the man and the horse had been sharp if short, and none but a good rider could have kept his seat.

AERIAL SERVICE IS NOW PLANNED

Canadian Planes Will Carry Transcontinental Mail in Near Future

The nucleus of a transcontinental aerial mail service is being established by Canada with the awarding of contracts for four important mail services. Eventually letters will cross the country from Halifax to Vancouver in 36 hours by aeroplane, instead of five days by railway as at present.

The contracts now entered into provide for a service between Father Point and Montreal of four trips per week, bi-weekly service between Montreal and Toronto, and all year round service between Montreal and Albany, N.Y., to connect with the United States Transcontinental Air Service. The total cost will be $201,150.

The Father Point to Montreal service and the Montreal to Ottawa service will be provided by the Canadian Transcontinental Airways, Limited of Quebec, the Father Point to Montreal section costing $49,500 or $1.25 per flying mile. The Montreal to Ottawa service is to cost $8,250 for the season. For the Montreal to Toronto service the cost will be the same as from Father Point to Montreal and the Montreal to Albany service will cost $95,900.

According to J. A. Wilson, Director of Civil Aviation in Canada, 60 per cent of the Royal Air Force pilots during the war were Canadians. Since the war Canada has been devoting her activities to such operations as forest protection, surveying, mapping, and the assisting of engineering and geological survey work in the northern region. It would take some time to build up a transcontinental air mail service, owing to the sparse population of the dominion, but eventually the people would demand more rapid service than could be given by the present method.

The Yankee outfield is easily the best when Bob Meusel is at his best...

is not the type of athlete who should barnstorm after a successful season as he did last fall.

The Philadelphia Athletics have power and they will be in the first division if they make the most of it.

Washington has an outfield as fast as that of the Athletics and yet not such a ground covering aggregation as that of New York.

To some extent the strength of the Athletics is in their pile driving power.

Washington is an impish team. It is as sprightly as Puck.

some of them, and so proficient, almost all of them.

A lot of folks think the Senators have weakened their team by playing Sisler at first base rather than Joe Judge.

The Athletics are stronger behind the bat than either New York or Washington, but in the long run of a championship race...

COLLINS WILL STAR

That Rip Collins should be a stand out in the International League is the opinion of the Toronto players...

The veteran gave the regular squad a sample of his pitching prowess yesterday in batting practice.

It is anticipated that there will be no further trouble with Jacobson. His case is now in the hands of Pres. Sobman and Vice-President Dunn...

HOCKEY

Lou Marsh and Mike Rodden, the National League referees who handled the Maroon-Canadien play-offs...

and Saturday, according to an announcement made by the League President, Frank Calder.

The New York Rangers, the team which surprised the hockey world by beating Boston for the United States section title...

BELLEVILLE RINK ASSURED

The committee in charge of raising funds for the new artificial rink to be erected in Belleville are in receipt of a fine donation of $1,000 from the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company of Corbyville...

The ice surface of the new rink will be 190 feet by 80 feet, which will put the Belleville teams on an even footing with teams who have similar ice surfaces.

A WONDERFUL TRIP ACROSS CANADA.

A HYGIENIC HOME

My wife and I are trying hard to live on healthful diet; We read the food chart by the yard, And run our kitchen by it;

All that such guides condemn; True hygiene is all our care, As planned and taught by them.

For breakfast coffee is tabooed, Hot cakes and eggs forbidden, And milk, since it is oft imbued With germs profuse, though hidden;

For dinner, soup will never do, And oysters typhoid nourish; Salads, entrees, and ices too, Are mere dyspeptic flourish;

'Tis best to go without it, But since discretion's left to each, We take our choice about it; On chicken, waffles, tea and cake We are forbid to feed;

So reckless in their diet; Our wholesome menu we pursue And beg of them to try it; But appetite's ungodly sway Their nature so enthralled, We cannot get a guest to stay Within our healthful walls.

Insured Buying There's a way of insuring your buying against waste money and unsatisfactory merchandise. And that insurance costs you not a penny. It is always paid up to date and in full force. That insurance is the advertising here in your newspaper. Advertised products are standardized, perfected and carefully priced before they are ever advertised. Whether you are buying soap, clothing, shoes, tooth paste, food or electrical household appliances, the result is the same. You get reliable, economical merchandise whenever you buy by the advertisements. Make up your insured shopping list in the comfort and quiet of your own home. Compare the merits of the products advertised. Study the way in which each is adapted to your needs. You'll find advertising truthful, informing and interesting. That's the only sort that pays, you know. Every dollar you spend on advertised merchandise is insured against waste.

RADIO FANS

FOOLED

Radio fans who listened in at WGR (Buffalo) between ten and eleven o'clock Sunday night were fully convinced, for a short time at least, that long distance radio reception perfection had at last been attained.

Announcer during the course of a regular feature, suddenly remarked that the studio was now ready to try out its new 41-tube receiving set. With fourteen dials he would try to tune in on as many foreign stations as time would permit. Starting with Germany, the fans were next taken to Station CORK, in Ireland and the announcer then thought he had his audience in Jerusalem. This was a mistake, however, for when the Hebrew-like programme concluded it was found to be from Station WJYZ, New York.

"Oh well, said the announcer, "it is hard to distinguish between Jerusalem and New York, but we will see what else we can get."

Next came a station that sounded like an African jungle outburst.

"Before returning to our regular feature," then said the announcer. "If you have no calendar in your home, I would call your attention to the fact that today is April 1, and anything you have heard from this station for the last half hour should be taken with several grains of salt." It was WGR's April Fool joke and it went over big.

SWIMS IN LAKE FOR MARATHON

Oshawa Man Prepares for Next Big Swim By Taking A Dip Sunday

Although the waters of Lake Ontario are still icy cold, Thomas Nisby of Oshawa is already in training for the Marathon swim to be held in Montreal on August 27.

Nisby took his first dip of the season at the beach on Sunday, and intends to continue his training until the time of the big race. Last fall Nisby swam from Oshawa to Oswanville and back, a distance of 18 miles.
