Dr. Powers received a message from the specialist this morning that the sight of the eye was lost and it would be forty-eight hours before he could tell if he could save the ball.

"MONTANA" PLEASD AMBITIOUS CITY

"Montana," the attraction which will appear at the Grand on Monday evening, played in Hamilton on Tuesday, and the Spectator prints the following comment on the same.

"Montana," a romance of the western plains in four acts, was presented at the Grand last night before an appreciative audience. Those who enjoy a "thriller" saw the real thing. Harry D. Carey, the author and leading man, has built his story in such a way that the interest of all is maintained from first to last. Startling climaxes and thrilling situations are a feature of the play. There is also a vein of comedy running through the piece that is attractive. Miss Fern Foster, as Flo Harper, the niece of Abner King, owner of the Buckhorn ranch, has the leading female role and it could not have been in more capable hands. Special scenery gave the play the required western atmosphere. The supporting members of the company were all good and received a good share of applause.

SMALLPOX FOR LUMBER WOODS.

Ottawa, April 5.—Dr. Bell, of the provincial board of health, arrived this morning. He is not alarmed at the presence of twenty-eight mild smallpox cases here.

Owing to the great prevalence of the disease in the backwoods shanties, he says it is only to be expected that a city in the centre of a lumbering district should be afflicted.

PORT HOPE, APRIL 8, 1911

A TROUBLESOME MISGIVING

They moved to the shelves where Greek and Latin books stood in serried order, and only the warning dinner-bell put an end to their sympathetic discussion of the place such authors should hold in modern educational systems.

'Have they shown you your room?' Mr. Warricombe asked.

But, as he spoke, the face of his eldest son appeared at the door.

'Your traps have safely arrived, Peak.'

The bedroom to which Godwin was conducted had a delicious fragrance, of source indeterminate. When he had closed the door, he stood for a few moments looking about him; it was his first experience of the upper chambers of houses such as this. Merely to step upon the carpet fluttered his senses; merely to breathe the air was a purification. Luxury of the rational kind, dictated by regard for health of body and soul, appeared in every detail. On the walls were water-colours, scenery of Devon and Cornwall; a hanging book-case held about a score of volumes—poets, essayists, novelists. Elsewhere, not too prominent, lay a Bible and a Prayer-book.

He dressed, as never before, with leisurely enjoyment of the process. When the mirror declared him ready his eyes returned frequently to an inspection of the figure he presented, and it seemed to him that he was not unworthy to take his place at the dinner-table. As for his visage, might he not console himself with the assurance that it was of no common stamp? 'If I met that man in a room, I should be curious about him; I should see at once that he didn't belong to the vulgar; I should desire to hear him speak.' And the Warricombes were not lacking in discernment. He would compare more than favourably with Mr. Moorhouse, whose aspect, bright and agreeable enough, made no promise of originality.—It must be time to go down. He left the room with an air of grave self-confidence.

At dinner he was careful to attempt no repetition of the display which had done very well at luncheon; it must not be thought that he had the habit of talking for effect. Mrs. Warricombe, unless he mistook, had begun to view him more favourably; her remarks made less distinction between him and the other guests. But he could not like his hostess; he thought her unworthy to be the mother of Sidwell and Fanny, of Buckland and Louis; There was a marked strain of the commonplace in her. The girls, costumed for the evening, affected him with a return of the awe he had all but overcome. Sidwell was exquisite in dark colours, her sister in white. Miss Moorhouse (addressed by her friends as 'Sylvia') looked older than in the day-time, and had lost something of her animation; possibly the country routine had begun to weary her a little.

Peak was at a vast distance from the hour which saw him alight at Exeter and begin his ramble about the city. He no longer felt himself alone in the world; it was impossible to revive the mood in which he deliberately planned to consume his economies in a year, or two of desert wandering; far other were the anticipations which warmed his mind when the after-dinner repose attuned him to unwonted hopefulness. This family were henceforth his friends, and it depended only upon himself to make the connection, lasting, with all manner of benefits easily imagined. Established in the country, the Warricombes stood to him in quite a different relation from any that could have arisen had he met with them in London. There he would have been nothing more than a casual dinner-guest, welcomed for the hour and all but forgotten when he had said good-night. For years he had understood that London offered him no prospect of social advancement. But a night passed under this roof practically raised him to a level whence he surveyed a rich field of possible conquest. With the genial geologist he felt himself on excellent terms, and much of this was ascribable to a singular chance which had masked his real being, and represented him, with scarce an effort of his own, in a light peculiarly attractive to Mr. Warricombe. He was now playing the conscious hypocrite; not a pleasant thing to face and accept, but the fault was not his—fate had brought it about. At all events, he aimed at no vulgar profit; his one desire was for human fellowship; he sought nothing but that solace which every code of morals has deemed legitimate. Let the society which compelled to such an expedient bear the burden of its shame.

That must indeed have been a circle of great intellects amid which Godwin Peak felt himself subordinate. He had never known that impression, and in the Warricombe family was no one whom he could regard even as his equal. Buckland doubtless, had some knowledge of the world, and could boast a free mind; but he lacked subtlety: a psychological problem would easily puzzle him. Mr. Warricombe's attainments were respectable, but what could be said of a man who had devoted his life to geology and still (in the year 1884) remained an orthodox member of the Church of England? Godwin, as he sat in the drawing-room and enjoyed its atmosphere of refinement, sincerely held himself of far more account as an intellectual being than all the persons about him.

COMMITTED SUICIDE

Hunter and Trapper, Known as "Rattlesnake Jack," Shot Himself.

S. A. McIntyre, hunter and trapper, and better known throughout the mountainous district of Wyoming and Colorado as "Rattlesnake Jack," ended his life February 28th by shooting, at Walden, Colo.

With "Rattlesnake Jack" perished a secret formula for the concoction of a wolf bait which it is claimed never failed to lure the animals into the trap and which the forest service ascribes McIntyre's ability almost to rid the North Park country of wolves and coyotes.

McIntyre for two years had been employed by the forest service as a professional trapper, and has spent his time in ridding certain portions of the forest of predatory animals.

Although of unkempt appearance, "Rattlesnake Jack" was well educated and scholarly. For twenty-five years he lived in the mountains of Wyoming and Colorado, and while on the Pisdale ranch in Wyoming earned the reputation of being the best trapper in the Rockies by capturing ninety-eight wolves and over five hundred coyotes in one winter.

Grand Trunk Pacific to Spend Seventeen Million Dollars This Spring

Seventeen million dollars will be spent by the Grand Trunk Pacific during 1911 in constructing new lines and erecting station buildings throughout the West. There will be 619 miles of work undertaken on the branch lines and completed during the present season. This will include the Calgary branch, Battleford branch, Melville-Regina branch, Albert Coal branch, Regina-Boundary branch, Moose Jaw branch, Prince Albert branch and Biggar to Calgary. There will also be 265 miles of main line track laid, as well as 200 miles further grading on the branch lines.

Arrangements are also being made for the erection of 140 station buildings. This is the largest and most expensive year's work that the Grand Trunk Pacific has undertaken. The majority of new branch lines to be constructed will be laid in districts hitherto totally untouched by railroad development. Rapid strides have already been made towards completing the main line between Edmonton and the Coast, and up to the present 365 miles of steel has been laid. From Edmonton, going west, the line is completed as far as Prairie Creek, which is the entrance to the foot-hills of the Rockies, and from the Coast working towards the Rockies 165 miles of track has already been laid.

This year the work will be pushed ahead as rapidly as possible, and from Prairie Creek tully another 165 miles will be completed, while from the west end 100 miles are to be constructed.

The Alberta Coal branch will tap an entirely new country by running a line from Bickerdike on the main line through the Pacific Pass Coal fields, as well as those of the Yellowhead, and provision has been made for 69 miles of it to be constructed this year.

Another entirely new branch will be constructed between Regina and Moose Jaw, a distance of 40 miles.

Besides all this construction work a vast mileage of grading is to be accounted for, and this will be carried on to the extent of 200 miles on the Regina boundary branch and those others which will not be completed.

In addition to the above, the Company is erecting some of the largest bridges in the West. Over the Red Deer River on the Tofield Calgary branch, an enormous bridge 200 feet high, is now under construction. Another huge bridge has just been completed at Prairie Creek on the main line. A third is to be constructed further west over the Athabaska River. Another over the Skeena river, which is to be the largest on the transcontinental.

WILL QUARREL NO MORE.—New Orleans has two papers, the Bee and the Wasp, the editors of which have been sparring away at each other after the old-time fashion calling each other villains, rascals and all manner of other names. Finally concluded to fight a duel. At this juncture, the district attorney interfered and warned them that if they carried out their threat, he would have them both indicted under the law and sent to jail. As may well be imagined, under this threat, the two belligerents pulled in their horns and resolved to quarrel no more.

JUDGE'S COURT.—The County Judges Non-Jury Court was held on Wednesday before Judge Benson (without a jury). There was one case from the Township of Seymour—Howe vs. Clough. The plaintiff is a farm laborer and hired with the defendant for a year, but was discharged before the time was up. He sued for wages. The case lasted all day and the Judge reserved his decision. Messrs F. M. Field, K. C., and Geo A. Payne for plaintiff, and Mr. W. F. Kerr for defendant.—Cobourg Star.

TRYING TO EXPLAIN

Western Conservatives Having a Hard Time of It.

GLEN CAMPBELL AT BAT

Dauphin Man Makes a Statement in the House on Eve of His Departure For the West - Hon. Mackenzie King Says Interpretation of Industrial Disputes Act Will Have to Go Before Courts.

Ottawa, April 8.—The reciprocity debate was continued in the House of Commons yesterday. Glen Campbell (Dauphin) the pioneer from Manitoba, spoke against the agreement from the western farmers' standpoint. In the last analysis, he said, the Government had turned down practically every request preferred by the farmers, including their demand for free agricultural implements. The agreement would affect material injury to Manitoba, as well as prove a menace from a national standpoint.

Dr. Cash (Mackenzie) defended the agreement from the point of view of his own constituents.

Clarence Jamieson (Digby) forced an admission from Mr. Fielding that United States fishermen could catch lobsters in the Bay of Fundy outside the three mile limit during the close season and sell them in the United States, but Canadian fishermen could not catch them for our own trade.

On the motion to go into ways and means, A. L. Fraser (Prince Edward Island) referred to the delay in filling the vacancy on the Supreme Court Bench of that province, which was created last October. He also brought up the Senate vacancy created by the death of Senator Ferguson two years ago.

The Premier said there had been difficulties, but he hoped to be able to make a statement after the Easter recess.

R. L. Borden declared that the only reason for the delay was political expediency.

Edgar N. Rhodes (Cumberland) initiated a debate on the application of the Industrial Disputes Act with regard to the situation amongst the miners of Nova Scotia, British Columbia and Alberta. He said these were the only men to whom the act had ever applied. He declared that a request had been received by the Government from all the lodges of the United Mine Workers in Nova Scotia to have the act repealed, and the miners of British Columbia and Alberta were of the same opinion.

The act constituted an oppression of the working classes. There was no compensation to them for the loss they suffered during the thirty days in which they were not allowed to strike. He urged the Minister to make the provisions of the act clear beyond precedent.

Hon. Mr. King said the interpretation of the act was likely to be taken before the courts.

Glen Campbell (Dauphin) who left for the west last night, took advantage of some remarks made by Hon. Sydney Fisher in the House Thursday. He quoted from the Minister of Agriculture's speech to show that he had said that certain opposition members were afraid to vote on the main issue of the reciprocity agreement, but were anxious to vote on side issues. The Minister had added that they would have to vote on the main issue before the end of the session. Speaking for himself he would inform the Minister that there was no hesitation on his part about voting against reciprocity.

Proceeding, Mr. Campbell said it was not true that the farmers were getting what they asked for. What they were getting was quite a secondary thing. By some it was being made the first thing. "I refer," he said, "to this man called R. Mackenzie, and to a man called Henders. They are bringing it forward. They are farmers of a kind. They are agents, paid or otherwise of the Grit party of Canada. I don't believe that either ever gave a Tory vote."

He would be glad to have the Minister of Agriculture come up and run against him in Dauphin. In conclusion he said that in the end he believed the farmers would realize that the reciprocity agreement was not in their interests. As for himself he would not do anything which would place another star and stripes on the flag which waves across the border.

Hon. L. P. Broderick asked the House to adopt a motion authorizing the committee on marine and fisheries to hear representations in regard to the operation of the clause of the water carriage of goods act passed last session, which provides that shipowners shall not be responsible for wood goods by measurement.

R. L. Borden welcomed the motion. He said representations had also been made to him, and that it was desirable that the matter should be given consideration.

Seceders Form New Church.

Ottawa, April 8.—There has long been a considerable lack of harmony among the congregation of Erskine Presbyterian Church over Rev. C. W. Nicol, who came here from Sherbrooke, Que. So many wanted him to return to the pastorate and an equal number opposed it. The matter was referred to the Ottawa presbytery, and they will advise against Mr. Nicol. Last night his supporters held a meeting and decided to withdraw from the congregation and to form a church of their own.

SENATOR FORGET DIES.

Was One of Montreal's Biggest Financiers.

Montreal, April 8.—A cablegram received in Montreal yesterday morning announces the death at Nice, France, of Senator L. J. Forget. The late Senator had been in feeble health for a number of years. Some four or five years ago he was prostrated by what was feared was a slight hemorrhage of the brain. Last Dominion Day, while fishing in the Bonaventure River, he was taken ill, and was not again able to take up office work until September. He left in November for France, where he had since remained.

Born at Terrebonne on March 11, fifty-eight years ago, and the scion of an old family which came from Normandy, France, in the seventeenth century, Hon. Louis Joseph Forget was educated at Masson College, and, coming to Montreal when still in his teens, became engaged on La Minerve, the senior French paper of Montreal.

In the business world he was connected with many enterprises and big corporations. One in a position to know states that the benefactions made which became known represented but a very small part of what Senator Forget was constantly doing for other people. He was the President of the Board of Governors of Laval University, a life governor of Notre-Dame Hospital and the General and Western Hospitals. A Past president of the Montreal Street Railway, vice-president of the Royal Victoria Life Insurance Co., a director of the Montreal Light, Heat & Power Co., and a director of the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Co.

Chicago After Black Hand.

Chicago, April 8.—The U. S. Government yesterday won its first case in the fight it has begun to drive out the Chicago members of the Black Hand, who are said by the police to be responsible for nearly fifty dynamite explosions, and a score of murders. Gianni Alongi was found guilty of using the mails in sending threatening letters to the jury in the United States District Court, bringing in the verdict, after Judge K. M. Landis and Postoffice Inspector Jas. E. Stuart both had received threats of death should Alongi be convicted.

Alongi was accused of having written threatening letters to Garmilo Marsala, a meat dealer on the north-west side of Italian section, near "Death Point," where many explosions and murders have occurred. Marsala refused to pay the tribute demanded in the letters, and five bombs were exploded near his shop before Alongi was arrested. Extraordinary efforts were made to prevent the conviction of Alongi. Immediately after his trial began Judge Landis received a letter signed "Black Hand" and threatening death if the Italian should be found guilty. Secret service men placed a strong guard about the judge, and his office was watched constantly by detectives. In spite of this the guards discovered the next day that a bomb had been placed under his desk. The bomb was harmless, but officers stated it probably was placed there to show the ability of the writer of the letter to overcome the precautions of the Government.

Murdock Arrested.

Cincinnati, April 8.—Following instructions from the police department of Toronto, John Y. Murdock, formerly an attorney of Port Jarvis, Ont., was arrested here yesterday here yesterday charged with "forgery and defacing of public documents." According to the police Murdock is alleged to have forged notes amounting to $20,000, but according to the man himself the amount involved is only $1,500.

Murdock says that he will waive extradition. Word was received from the Toronto authorities that an officer would reach here to-night to take him back to Canada.

Husband Shadowed Robber.

Cobourg, April 8.—A man, who gave his name as Thomas Douglas, and later when placed under arrest, as John Davidson, entered the residence of Wm. P. Hoskin, on one of the main streets of the town, in broad daylight. He was discovered by Mr. Hoskin and ordered out. He went, and Mrs. Hoskin found that a quantity of jewelry was missing. Mr. Hoskin shadowed the man until he was placed under arrest by Chief of Police Rose. He was brought before Police Magistrate Boggs and remanded until next Wednesday.

Steamer Turned Turtle.

Monongahela, Pa., April 8.—The big river steamer Henry A. Laughlin, belonging to the Vesta Coal Co., was wrecked by a high wind early yesterday morning, turned turtle, and went to the bottom of the Monongahela River, keel uppermost. Effie Hughes, cook, and Jane Lawrence, with the fireman, name unknown, were drowned. Eleven others of the crew swam ashore.

EAST GETS HYDRO

Towns From Napanee to Morrisburg Will Be Served.

MR. BECK AT BROCKVILLE

Power Minister Says Municipalities in the Eastern End of the Province Will Be Given a Rate the Same as That Given the Towns Served by the Niagara Falls Power Plant - Two Feeders.

Brockville, April 8.—Eastern Ontario is about to come into its rights in the matter of cheap hydro-electric power, and as a result of a meeting held here yesterday afternoon of representatives of various municipalities, at which Hon. Adam Beck was the central figure, a new era of industrial development faces this portion of the province, which has long since felt that it had been neglected by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission. The municipalities along the border between Napanee and Morrisburg have been prodding the Government on the power question for a considerable time.

The supposed inactivity of Mr. Beck, chairman of the commission, has proved to be only of the surface variety, for yesterday he enunciated a policy in black and white which came in the way of a most pleasant surprise, and was received with the greatest enthusiasm. It was a veritable knockout blow to the pessimists who had not dreamed of the Government being able to present such a favorable proposition. The Minister announced the fact of the commission having signed a contract with the New York and Ontario Power Co. of Waddington for the delivery of 15,000 horse-power within eighteen months, the terms being identical with the terms made by the Government with the Ontario Power Co. at Niagara Falls for the delivery of 100,000 horse-power. And what was exceedingly gratifying to the civic delegates was the further quotations of cost. The rates are as low as those prevailing in the Niagara district, and some cases even lower, which was not considered possible. He also stated that the commission could close with an offer from High Falls on the Madawaska for the development of 20,000 horse-power, which would serve a district between High Falls and Kingston, including a large portion of the Ottawa Valley.

These two sources of supply, he pointed out, would ensure a continuous service in case of a breakdown to either one of the plants, as connection could be made at the joint distributing station at Kingston, though the cost of the High Falls energy would be slightly higher than the others. The total expense necessary to deliver the power from Waddington to municipalities between Napanee and Morrisburg forming the union upon which the commission based its figures would entail a capital investment of $652,000. The company agrees to deliver 5,000 horse-power in ten months, and after that in blocks of 100 until the contract limit is reached in eighteen months. The price per horse-power delivered at the sub-station of the commission in the Province of Ontario are $13 for 2,000; $12.50 for 4,000; $12 for 6,000 and over; $11.50 for 8,000 and over; $11 for 10,000; and $10.50 for over 10,000. This contract must be given within 18 months from the date of signature, March 28, or the obligation of the city to deliver power ceases. There will be three distributing stations, one at Brockville, another at Morrisburg and a third at Kingston.

Napanee, the westerly limit, will be supplied from Kingston, and Lansdowne, Lynn and Athens from Brockville. Should Gananogue join, a fourth station will be erected there. Rural districts can be served in any direction within a radius of between 15 and 20 miles from the distributing points by low tension wires. This practically means that all the territory immediately interested in Eastern Ontario from Napanee to Morrisburg can get hydro-electric power at a nominal cost.

In passing, Mr. Beck conveyed to the meeting an idea of the original plan of the Government to cover the province from Windsor to Morrisburg. Their efforts in Western Ontario had been crowned with success. Prospects looked bright for the stretch from Toronto to Morrisburg until the Electric Power Co., Ltd., with headquarters in Toronto, appeared in the Trent district from Toronto to Belleville, and the corporations had practically thwarted the Hydro-Electric Commission.

Mr. Beck announced on the authority of the Government the adoption of a plan to supply both eastern and western Ontario whereby municipalities will be relieved of making the first payment on the bonded indebtedness incurred by the installation of electric power until five years have elapsed. This will give the municipalities an opportunity of getting on their feet financially. It has also been provided that those who join after the system has been installed in their districts will enter on equal terms with competitors.

OUTLOOK IS ROSY.

New French Foreign Minister Has Aggressive Program.

Paris, April 8.—M. Cruppi, in his maiden speech as Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Senate yesterday, made cogent declarations in refutation of the pessimistic criticisms of Senator Adrien Gaudin de Villaine, who asserted that France's foreign policy was decadent.

"When I came to the Foreign Office," said the Minister, "the situation of France from the point of view of foreign politics was not without difficulty, but it would be an exaggeration to speak of anxiety and disquietude. I propose to practice a positive policy of foresight and precision, inspired by the ideal of making France a force in the world."

France's alliance with Russia and her entente with England, continued M. Cruppi, far from being decadent, were daily in most active operation, and formed the basis of the foreign policy of the country. With Germany, he said, France would practice a policy of co-operation, wherever the interests were in common.

"When we have to defend our special interests," declared the Minister, "we will do it with moderation and firmness."

He pointed out that the relations with Italy and Spain were most cordial, and that the coming visit of President Fallieres to Tunis, where he would be greeted by British and Italian fleets, would contribute greatly to the enhancement of France's prestige abroad.

The situation in Morocco, where the Sultan's throne was again endangered by rebellious tribes, he admitted, was calculated to cause some uneasiness, but he added that in the event of the situation at Fez becoming threatening, all measures within the limits of the prescribed act of Algeiras would be taken to ensure the safety of Europeans.

EVERY LIFE SAVED.

After Hard Struggle Big Liner's Passengers Are Rescued.

Lone Hill, Long Island, Life Saving Station, April 8.—In just five hours and ten minutes the 1,720 cabin and steerage passengers on the stranded North German Lloyd liner Prinzess Irene were transferred yesterday afternoon to the deck of her sister ship The Prinz Friedrich Wilhelm, and one hour after nightfall they were safely on their way to New York.

Not a life was lost, not a case of panic was reported. The first passenger off was a woman, and the second a baby. The cabin passengers, masters of the situation, and the language, generously gave precedence to the more timorous ones in the steerage.

As for the liner on the bar, night-fall showed her hard and fast in the grip of the sands, and Capt. Goddard, of the Lone Hill Life Saving Station, estimates that she will be a prisoner for at least a week, perhaps two. In the 36 hours since she struck she has been favored with comparatively light weather, but a stiff blow from the southwest might open her plates, crush in her bulkheads, and wrench apart her stout steel frame.

Ten small boats, two tugs and the relief ship took part in the rescue yesterday, while a revenue cutter and a derelict destroyer stood by. All the 1,455 steerage passengers were let down by the forward companionway, thence clambered down a rope ladder into small boats. From these they were transferred to the tugs John J. Timmins and John Nichols, which lay safe in the lee of the big liner.

With the steerage eliminated, and as the wind and sea went down, the tugs made fast alongside and took the cabin passengers directly aboard from a rear companionway. The first tug left at 12:45 p.m., and the last at 5:55 p.m., five hours and ten minutes.

Proprietor Exonerated.

Guelph, April 8.—The coroner's jury, which has been enquiring into the fire in the store here in the Bowles Syndicate, at one o'clock yesterday morning, brought in a verdict in which they stated that no evidence had been submitted which would tend to incriminate either the proprietor or any of the employees of the store. They were unable to determine the cause of the fire.

Bringing Sheldon Back.

Pittsburg, April 8.—Charles B. Sheldon, wanted in Montreal for financial operations covering a large sum, was yesterday released from custody and turned over to Chief McCaskill, of the provincial police, Montreal.

McCaskill and his prisoner left the court house immediately for the railway station.

Back to Old Schedule.

St. Thomas, April 8.—The time of the Michigan Central Railway shop employes has been extended to the old schedule of nine hours a day. The men have been on short time—eight hours—since last December. All the departments are busy and it looks like a rush for the balance of the year.
