Three Little Kittens.

Three little kittens, so downy and soft,

Were cuddled up by the fire, And two little children were sleeping aloft,

As cozy as heart could desire; Dreaming of something ever so nice, Dolls and sugar plums, rats and

The night were on, and the mistress said:

"I'm sleepy I must confess, And as kittens and babies are sate in bed, I'll go to bed, too, I guess." She went upstairs, just a story higher, While the kittens slept by the kitchen fire.

What noise can that be? the mistress said,

"Meouw! meouw!" I'm afraid A poor kitty-cat's fallen out of bed ! The nice little nest I made ! "Maouw! meouw! Dear me, dear me ! I wonder what can the matter be."

The mistress paused on an upper stair.

For what did she see below? ened air,

Standing up in a row! With six little paws on the step above, And no mother cat to caress or love. Through the kitchen door came a cloud of smoke! The mistress in great alarm, To a sense of danger straight awoke;

Her babies might come to harm, On the kitchen hearth to her great amaze,

Was a basket of shavings beginning to blaze.

Three little kittens were hugged and kissed,

And promised many a mouse; Their names were put upon honors list,

For hadn't they saved a house? Two little children were gathered tight.

To a mother's heart ere she slept that night.

One for Mr. Borden.

Couldn't Mr. Borden devise some means of whipping Mr. Bourassa into line on this reciprocity question? His anti-imperialism and racial sentiments could all be smoothed away somehow, but on reciprocity his attitude is uncompromising. Here are his words at the great meeting at St. Hyacinthe recently as reported in the Montreal Star:

"I expressed myself in favor of reciprocity in 1904. Allow me to say that I am in favor of reciprocity in 1911, and that I refused to accept in my newspaper the manifesto of the anti-reciprocity league for which we should have been paid as for an advertisement. There are two sides to this as to all questions. I am not opposed to reciprocity between the United States having dishonoured myself, I shall and Canada. I am in favor of in-

'Humbug! Would it weigh upon you less to marry the mother, and all the time be in- love with the daughter? To my mind there's something peculiarly loathsome in the suggestion.'

'But, look here; Bella is very young, really very young indeed. It's possible that I have deluded myself. Perhaps I don't really care for her in the way I imagined. It's more than likely that I might be content to regardher with fatherly affection.'

'Even supposing that, with what sort of affection do you regard Mrs.

Malkin writhed on his chair before replying.

'You mustn't misjudge her!' he exclaimed. 'She is no heartless schemer. The poor thing almost cried her eyes out. It was a frightful scene. She repreached herself bitterly. What could I do? I have a tenderness for her there's no denying that.

She has been so vilely used, and has borne it all so patiently. How abominable it would be if I dealt her another blow!'

The journalist raised his eye able effect or inconvenience. brows and uttered inarticulate, sounds.

'Was anything said about Bella?' he asked abruptly. 'Not a word, I'm convinced she doesn't suspect that I thought of Bella like that. The fact is, I have misled her. She thought all along that my chief interest was in her.'

'Indeed? Then what was the ground of her self-reproach that you speak ot?'

'How defective you are in the appreciation of delicate feeling!' cried Malkin frantically, starting up and rushing about the room. She reproached herself for having permitted me to get entangled with a widow older than myself and the mother of two children, What could be simpler?

Earwaker began to appreciate dangers of the situation. If he insisted upon his views of Mrs. Jacox's behaviour (thought it was not the harshest that the circumstances suggested for he was disposed to believe that the widow had really lost her heart to her kind eccentric champion) the result would probably be to confirm Malkin in his resolution of selfsacrifice. The man must be saved if possible from such calamity, and this would not be effected by merely demonstrating that he was on the highroad to ruin. It was necessary to try another tack.

'It seems to me, Malkin,' he resumed gravely, 'that it is you who are deficient in right feeling. In offering to marry this poor woman, you did her the gravest wrong.'

'What? How?' 'You know that it is impossible for you to love her. You know that you will repent and that she will be aware of it. You are not the kind of man to conceal your emotions. Bella will grow up, and -well the state of things won't tend to domestic felicity. For Mrs Jacox's own sake it is your duty to put an end to this folly before it has gone too far.'

The other gave earnest ear, but with no sign of shaken convictions. 'Yes, he said. 'I know this is one way of looking at it. But it assumes that a man can't control himself that his sense of honour isn't strong enough to keep him in the right way. I don't think you quite understand me. I am not a passionate man; the proof is that I have never fallen in love since I was sixteen. I think a great deal of domestic peace a good deal more than of romantic enthusiasm. If I marry Mrs. Jacox I shall make her a good and faithful husband,so much I can safely say of myself. He waited but Earwaker was not ready with a rejoinder.

'And there's another point. I have always admitted the defect of my character-an inability to settle down. Now if I run away to New Zealand with the sense of be a mere Wandering Jew for the creasing the entry of Canadian rest of my life. All hope of redemp-goods into the American markets.", tion will be over. Of the two courses now open to me, that of marriage with Mrs. Jacox is decided ly the less disadvantageous. Granting that I have made a fool of myself, I must abide by the result and make the best of it. An the plain fact is, I can't treat her so disgracefully; I can't burden my conscience in this way. I believe it would end in suicide; I do indeed.'

'This sounds all very well, but it is weakness and selfishness.' 'How can you say so?'

'There's no proving to so shortsighted a man the result ot his mistaken course. I've a good mind to let you have your way just for satisfaction of saying afterwards "Didn't I tell you so?" You propose to behave with abominable injustice to two people, putting yourself aside. Doesn't it occur to you that Bella may already look upon you as her future nusband? Have not you done your best to plant that idea in her mind?'

Malkin started but quickly recovered himself.

'No, I haven't! I have behaved with the upmost discretion. Bella thinks of me only as of a friend much older that herself.'

'I don't believe it!' 'Nonsense, Earwaker! A child of fifteen!" 'The other day you had quite a different view and atter seeing her again I agreed with you. She is a young girl, and if not already in love with you, is on the way to be

English Labor Man Says There Will Be No Truce.

LLOYD-GEORGE AT WORK

Chancellor of the Exchequer Is Making Every Effort to Ward Off Hostilities - In Meantime Military Officers Are Rejoining Their Regiments and London Is Preparing for Serious Trouble.

London, Aug. 18 .- James Henry Thomas, secretary of the western dis-trict of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, stated last night that there would be no truce between the unions and the railway managers. despite the efforts of Chancellor Lloyd-George, and that the strike would go on. The society sent out 1,500 telegrams yesterday afternoon to various railway centres, ordering an immediate strike Officers and men who were on furlough have been recalled to their regi-ments by telegraph. The artillerymen have been taken from their gun drill, and are devoting their attention to their rifles, with a view of strike pos-sibilities. The parks of London are being made ready for encampments. It is probable that bluejackets will be draited to equip the electric power atations at Liverpool, and they will also be required to protect the ships in the harbors, upon which there have been many small fires, supposed to have been of incendiary origin.

The authorities regarded the action of the strikers in calling out the men from the power houses at Liverpool as one of the gravest features of the day. All the horses of the army have had their shoes sharpened in preparation for service in the streets.

How tenaciously the Government is clinging to hopes for a settlement of the dispute and is working to arrange one was displayed by David Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a speech in the House of Commons last night which quickly sent abroad the impression that the situation had taken a strong turn for the better and that fears of an immediate strike might vanish.

Ramsay Macdonald, the Labor lead-er in the Lower House, was prepared to move a vote of censure against the Government for its use of the military in strikes and because of its general attitude in the present situation. Feeling in the House ran high.

Mr. Lloyd-George, however, arose and, addressing the members, intimated that the representatives of the un-ions had failed to understand the Government's offer to form a royal com-mission which should report what amendments were necessary to the agreement of 1907 between the railway managers and the men. He said it was not purposed to form an ordinary commission, but one composed of three members, one representing the rail-ways and one the men, with the chairman a man well known for his impartiality and enjoying the general confidence of the community. The Government, he added, realized the importance of acting promptly lest the men should think it was trying to put off the whole question. He proposed that the commission get to work imthat the commission get to work immediately and report without relay.

"I have not given up hope of arriving at some solution of the difficulty satisfactory to all parties," Mr. Lloyd-George said, "and I appeal to the press as well as to the House of Commons to support us. I hope the men will realize that it is intended to give them fair play and not to lure out of their hands the great weapon of striking. If the royal commission were accepted, the Chancellor said, its members would be appointed Saturday and and its sitting would begin Monday. He emphasized the importance of exercising great patience and restraint critical moment and hoped it would be possible to conduct the negotiations without any exasperating intervention from any quarter.

Ramsay Macdonald, replying to the Chancellor, said there evidently had been a misunderstanding of the Government's proposal, and that he would not press his motion of censure. He appealed to the members of the House having influence with the railway directors, to persuade them to make it easier for the men to accept a truce.

GREAT BAILWAY MAGNATES

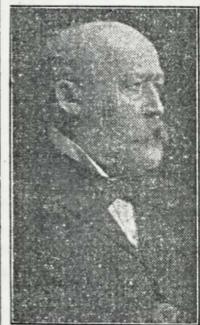

The men who have been instru-mental in building the great railways of Canada which stretch from ocean to ocean across a continent, uniting the people of a large country, have performed a work which cannot be overestimated. First among these is Baron Mount Stephen, G.C.V.O., D.L. He was born in Scotland in 1829, and twenty years later came to settle in Canada. He was for some years connected with the Bank of Montreal, and later became President of the St. Paul, Minn., and Manitoba-Railway. His chief work was in con-nection with the C. P. R., and it was largely through his efforts that this railway was built. It was for his services in this connection that he was created Baronet in 1886, and Baron in 1891. His generous donation towards founding the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, is well known.

Sir William Cornelius Van Horne was given the title of K.C.M.G., in 1894. He was born and educated in the United States. At the age of fourteen he entered the railway office of his native town and steadily worked his way up through the various stages of railway service, until in 1874 he became General Manager of

Then, in 1881, he came to Canada and became General Manager of the C. P. R. Later he was made Vice-President of that Company, and in turn, President and Chairman of the Board of Directors, from which latter position he recently resigned. He has been con-nected with the C. P. R. since 1882. His thorough knowledge of railroad affairs is evidenced by the fact that he occupies positions of trust with several other railways. He is a Knight of the Order of St. John of

SIR ALAN BRISTOL AYLESWORTH

Between Edward Arthur Lancaster and Sir Alan Bristol Aylesworth there is a feud of long standing. Years before the Minister of Justice was tapped on the shoulder and told to "rise Sir Alan," the energetic lawyer from St Catharines was camping on his tra'l, and the mutual dislike sprang from the somewhat contemptuous treatment which the head of the country's legal department meted out to Mr. Lancaster's efforts to bring the railways to time in respect to the level crossing evil. It was under the circumstances a matter of astonishment to the House when Mr. Lancaster for the first time on record, agreed with the views of Sir Alan on the merits of a certain divorce bill discussed recently. The Minister of Justice had delivered a ponderous argument against granting relief to husband and wife on mere heresay evidence, and after he was through, Mr. Lancaster rose and supported the contentions made by his old time enemy. Hon. Charles Murphy, Secretary of State, who acts as reporter for the Minister of Justice when his desk mate. George Graham, is not there, leaned over and in a stage whisper said:

"Lancaster is agreeing with you." Quick as a flash came the return whisper of Sir Aian, loud enough to be heard all over the House, "In that case I must be wrong!"

DEFIES BOURASSA

Sir Wilfrid Challenges His Nationalist Assailants.

HE AROUSES ENTHUSIASM

Premier In a Great Fighting Address Invites His Enemies In Quebec to Come on and Do Their Worst to Overthrow Him-Reciprocity Is the Main Issue For Quebec Farmers, Says Sir Wilfrid.

Three Rivers, Que., Aug. 18.—The statement that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has lost his hold upon the people of Quebec Province was shown up in its true colors yesterday by thousands of electors from Three Rivers and the surrounding country. Despite the threatening weather and the rush of threatening weather and the rush of harvest, thousands of people thronged the old city and cheered the remarks of their beloved leader. Sir Wilfrid was in splendid form, and dealt with the various problems before the electors in masterly style. He-carried the war into Africa at the very outset, and mercilessly attacked Mr. Bourassa and the Nationalists.

In the course of his address he

In the course of his address he touched upon reciprocity, upon the navy and upon the Nationalist move-ment, and in every instance his argu-ments went home with telling effect, and were cheered to the echo by his audience.

"I came here expecting to speak to the people of Three Rivers." said Sir Wilfrid, "and I find that I have to meet a real provincial assembly. I met many people of Ontario Tuesday at Simcoe, but my welcome here is far more important than even that meeting. This appeals to me as the answer to the meeting at St. Hyaointhe the last Sunday, and I am sat-isfied with the reply. I have read with careful attention the speeches re-cently made by Mr. Monk and by my ex-friend, Mr. Bourassa, and I find that they have spoken on every possible subject except the real question. which is before the people to-day, and they have not agreed even as to that when they thought of it. Mr. Monk has said he was against reciprocity. Mr. Bourassa seems neither for nor against, while Mr. Gilbert says he favors it with modifications.

"But, I tell you that the only real question which concerns them to-day is to defeat Laurier, that is all the policy they have." (Applause and cries
"No; they won't do it:")
Proceeding, Sir Wilfrid dealt with the increasing revenue of the country during the past number of years, and declared that it was plain this in-creasing prosperity had had its effect on Quebec Province, since the old exo-dus to the States had stopped, and now the young men of the province were going to Montreal; Quebec was the first when they need work. (Applause.) "But in face of all this," said Sir Wilfrid, "the Opposition says turn Laurier out."

Sir Wilfrid declared that nowhere was this reciprocity pact of more im-portance than in the Quebec counties facing the St. Lawrence, and predicted that once it was adopted the whole district would be visited by buyers from the States, anxious to secure the products of the country. The Premier then briefly dealt with the history of the old reciprocity negotiations, until finally the Americans had sent to Canada and succeeded in getting a pact agreed to, "and as soon as this is adopted in Canada," he said, "you will obtain entry for your grain, hay and vegetables into the markets of the United States without parts and the United States, without paying any tax." (Applause.)

INVADES NORFOLK. Mr. Borden Meets With But Little

yesterday to duplicate the Premier's success in Norfolk County, but failed The crowd was much smaller and less enthusiastic.

Mr. Borden devoted himself to an arraignment of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's argument on Tuesday. 'He said that the sudden dissolution of Parliament involved a breach of faith on the part of the Government in connection with the Oliver enquiry. "The action of the Government in this connection," declared Mr. Borden, "is absolutely without precedent in this country, and it ought to invite condemnation of the people of Canada upon a Govern-ment so lost to all sense of public decency as to take the course which I have described to you."

Charging the Prime Minister with misrepresentation in stating that it had always been the intention of the Government to submit reciprocity to the people, Mr. Borden gave the lie to the Premier's assertion, declaring that a motion to that effect, introduced by himself, had been voted down in Parliament at the instance of Sir Parliament at the instance of Sir Wilfrid in March last. Dealing with the result of the favor-ed nation treaties, Mr. Borden scored the Government with the words, "The Prime Minister has promised to give you competition with the whole world in everything that you produce, and yet to maintain the same burden of taxation upon everything that you buy, and he calls that a great relief to the farmers."

Following Mr. Borden's remarks W. F. Maclean continued the assault up-on reciprocity with a speech, in which Sir Wilfrid Laurier was characterized as an Indian doctor, a medicine man peddling a political cure, well known as Taft pills.

S. H. Harding, president of the Nor-folk Conservative Association, was in the chair. Alex. McCall, late member and Conservative candidate, spoke briefly. A. C. Pratt and H. P. Innes were the other speakers.

MAD WOMAN'S DEED.

She Strangles Her Children Then Hangs Herself.

Lion's Head, Ont., Aug. 18.—The body of Mrs. Thomas Pettigrew was found hanging dead in the kitchen of her home here by neighbors yesterday morning, and in a bed unstairs were the bodies of her two children strangled to death.

The children were a boy and a girl, James and Hazel, aged 10 and 12 years. From the condition of the house it is evident that they were able to put up some sort of a struggle for their lives, but the frantic woman finally overcame them, and by tieing pieces of thin rope around their necks they were strangled to death.

After undressing them and placing them side by side in bed, the woman then tied a piece of rope to the bot-tom of the bed in another room. The end of it was put through a stove-pipe hole in the floor. Coming down-stairs the woman then tied the loose end around her throat, mounted a table, and jumped off.

The deed is thought to have been the result of insanity brought on by years of illness. Her husband, a car-penter, was away from home at dis-tant work. Cries were heard from the house about midnight.

Noticing no life about the place, the door was broken down.

Half-Way on His Flight.

Cleveland, Aug. 18.-With another gain to his credit of 123 miles, H. N. Atwood arrived in Cleveland yesterday afternoon on his aeroplane flight from St. Louis to New York. He covered the 123 miles between Toledo and Cleveland in an actual flying time of two hours and twenty minutes.
"Just an easy canter," said Atwood as he stepped from his machine in a park in the Lake Shore City. "I almost went to sleep with the monotony of it. In five days New York will see me hop over its tallest skyscrapers and glide into the sand at Coney Island."

The Bostonian is pleased with his progress. He has now traveled 643 miles from his starting point in St. Louis. He has till 622 miles to fly to reach his destination in New York. He therefore has gone just 10 1-2 miles more than half of the 1,265-mile trip, which he says will show the possibility of a future ocean-to-ocean flight. His total time actually in the air since he left St. Louis last Monday is 13 hours and 15 minutes.

Vetoed Wool Tariff Bill.

Washington, Aug. 18.—President Taft yesterday carried out his threat to veto the wool tariff bill. In a spe-cial message to the House of Representatives he characterized the measnte as a blend of an avowed tariff for revenue and anti-protection measure with a professed protection bill.

In explanation of his course President Taft said the bill was not in har-mony of the platform on which he was elected. Furthermore, he declared that the American people are "deeply impressed with the conviction" that the interest of the consuming public can be properly guarded only by revising the tariff one schedule at a time, and then upon "accurate and scientifically acquired information."
