KILLED BY LIGHTNING

Julian Fife, an Otonabee Farm er, Was Struck and Killed at Jackson Park, Peterboro, on Saturday. Was Standing Under a Tree.

Peterbowie xaminer

A sad accident occurred Saturday about 1.30 in the afternoon, when Mr Julian H. Fife, a farmer of Otonabee, residing with his widowed mother on lot 24, concession 4, was struck by lightning and instantly killed at the Jackson Park.

Mr. Fife came into the city on Saturday morning and had gone out to the park after dinner on pri-vate business. He was standing talking to some friends under a tree about half way between the south entrance of the park and the pathway, when the storm came up. He suggested that it was a bad place to be-under a tree in an electric storm. Just when he made the remark it started to rain, and he made a dash for the building at the end of the street car line. He had only gone a short distance when his friends were blinded by the fiery lightning bolt, and when they re-covered from the shock, they saw the prostrate form of their companion lying on the grass near the fence. They did not move him, but phoned at once for a doctor, afterwards for the Coroner, Dr. Greer, who viewed the remains and decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

The remains were then removed to Comstock's undertaking rooms, where it was prepared for burial.

A TROUBLESOME MISGIVING

'No. Have you?

'Nothing at all. I have seen Earwaker. Malkin had told him about what had happened here the other day.

'Of course.' 'But he had no news .- Of Peak, I mean.'

Marcella smiled as if the situation amused her; but she would not discuss it. Christian began to hope that she was training herself to a wholesome indifference.

A month of the new year went by and l'eak seemed to be forgotten. Marcella had returned to her town are by the government, more studious habits, was fenced around with books, seldom left the house. Another month and the brother and sister were living very much in the old way, seeing few people conversing only of intellectual things. But Christian concealed an expectation which enabled him to pass hours of retirement in the completest idleness. Since the death of her hushand, Mrs. Palmer had been living abroad. Before the end of March, as he had been to discover, she would be back in London, at the house in Sussex Square. By that time he might venture without indelicacy, to call upon her. And after the first interview-

The day came, when, ill with agitation, he set forth to pay this call. For two or three nights he had scarcely closed his eyes; he looked ghastly. The weather was Here's an Offer that Should chances are that something will execrable, and on that very account he made choice of this atternoon hoping that he might find his Laura alone. Between ringing the bell and the opening of the door he could hardly support himself. He asked for Mrs. Palmer in a gasping voice which caused the servant to look at him with sur-

Mrs. Palmer met him with the friendliest welcome. A stranger would have thought her pretty, but by no means impressive. She was short, anything but meagre, fair-haired, brisk of movement, idly vivacious in look and tone. The mourning she wore imposed no restraint upon her humour, which at present was not far from gay.

'Is it really Mr. Moxey?' she exclaimed. Why, I had all but forgotten you, and positively it is your own fault! It must be a year or more since you came to see me. No? 'Eight months?-But I have been through so much trouble, you know. She sighed mechanically.

'I thought of you one day at Bordighera, when we were looking at some funny little sea-creatures - the kind of thing you used to all about. How is your sister?'

An Ode to the Hen Thief.

I'm going to ask a question, I'd like it answered right; Will any man that is a man Go stealing hens at night? It's the meanest thing on earth to do Deserves the worst abuse, He ceases to be a man But just a poor excuse.

If I could only have my way With such a human wreck That when he's eating hens should have

A bone stick in his neck. I'd like that he should lose his voice Be shut up in a pen And every time he tried to talk

Would cackle like a hen. The hair should fall from off his head His memory should fail And on the top of his bald pate Should grow a rooster's tail.

A little more such punishment Wouldn't do him any harm, And I'd like to see pin feathers Grow out upon each arm; His eyes should turn toward his nose

His tongue to have the pip And both his hands be paralyzed So he would lose his grip; His feet to swell to such a size He'd have to wear shoe packs And webs should grow between his toes That all could tell his tracks.

His conscience should so trouble

bim His heart should beat so quick That every time he saw a hen The sight would turn him sick,

A hump should grow upon his back And wear the brand of Cain The breath should leave his useless shell

Our Port hope friends if meeting difficulty in getting coal to that harbor at present ought therefore to bear the difficulty patiently until the water rises in the lake, which as it is now several feet lower than usual is largely the cause of their complaint. If that doesn't do, ask the government to raise the lake. -Oshawa Reformer.

SOME ADVERTISING TALK

Just about this time of year says William C. Freeman a goodly number of merchants decide that they will save momey until the middle of September by not advertising.

Year after year for nearly twenty six years one of the hardest parts of my work as an advertising man has been to convince the merchant who wants to stop advertising during the summer months that he

My average of success for each here some 25c a ton, over and year has not been more than 40 per above the figure asked for it in cent and that is really failure-but Port Hope and Bowmanville, by the 40 per cent of the doubting reason of the difference in freight merchants who were persuaded to rates charged them. This leads have faith in value of advertising months have been very successful,

I am glad to say. A man came into my office the other day to talk with me about advertising furs during this summer.

He wanted me to conduct a campaign for him-said he was convinced that it would pay-that he believed a campaign advertising furs all the year around would enable a retailer to sell fur garments at an average lower price, because he would do more business-that the retailer would not be compelled to sell at an enormous profit for a winter season thereby minimizing the number of people that by fursthat he believed a big fur business was possible if furs should be sold at a reasonable profit-not on a profit of from $150 to $500 on each garment that cost the retailer from $100 up.

What he wants to do can be done successfully, I think.

No average retail business can afford to ever be out of the newspapers, In this busy world we are so easily forgotten. We must keep ourserves before the public all the time. We cannot afford to be over looked. If we do not advertise all of the time we surely will be overlooked.

Don't stop Mr. Merchant.

The mark Cross Company a specialty business-one year discontinued advertising during the summer month and Patrick Francis Murphy the president, said;

Never again! When we resumed our advertising in the fall it took with the readers of the newspaper. Now we advertise in the summer as much as in any other season of the year and are successful.

ABOUT CLEAN SWEEPS

Mr. McBride announces that he is going to arrange for a Conservahappen but rarely in our political contests. In 1887 the Liberals carried all the seats in Prince Ed- SALVIA conttinuously. ward Island, but the phenomenon did not recur again until 1904, when the Liberals swept both Nova Scotia and British Columbia, not a Conservative being elected in either Province. It was the Grand Trunk Pacific issue which proved irresistable in British Columbia upon that occasion. The justifications for Mr. McBride's confidence, if it is real and not assumed is not apparent. Reciprocity, it will be found, has considerable pulling power along the Pacific coast, and in the matter of Asiatic immigration, which was the issue upon which the Liberals were shipwrecked in 1908, time has gone far towards justification of the policy of the Dominion government. The Liberals should do better in British Columbia on this occasion.

The nearest approach to a clean sweep last time was in Saskatchewan where the Liberals carried nine out of the ten seats. Predictions are treely made that on the recipro-You Needn't Despair city issue all ten seats will go Liberal this time. Nevertheless the arise to keep the representation by partizan, although there is no ques of the overwhelming strength of the Liberals in the Province. Clean sweeps are not desirable. The minerity in each province should have facilities for making its views known upon the floor of Parliament.

Trouble For G.T.R.

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—The machinists in the employ of the Grand Trunk have demanded a new agreement with the road, the old one having expired some time ago. Failing to get a new agree-ment voluntarily, the men will adopt means to compel the company to grant them one.

They opened negotiations with the road some time ago, but at first got little satisfaction. They then went to the department of labor and made ap-plication for a board of arbitration. Later, however, negotiations with the road were renewed, and are now in progress, with fair prospects of terminating successfully. Meanwhile the matter of appointing a board of arbitration will be held in abeyance.

POISONS THEIR HOBBY.

Curious Race I., the Malay Forests le Expert In Death.

Away among the deep forests in the heart of the Malay Peninsula there dwells a singular people, whose curious habits are only partially understood. An Italian explorer found them so interesting that he spent fifteen years in studying their habits and customs, and has some wonderful stories to relate about the Sacai.

They live in a barbarous state, spending most of their time in gathering poisons from plants, which they prepare according to secrets known only to themselves, for protection against their enemies and for bringing down their quarry in the chase.

But what proves most attractive to the natives is the great variety of poisonous plants. They speak about the different poisons as familiarly and as often as we speak about the weather, and the discovery of a new kind or combination is hailed as an event of the greatest importance.

The reason for this is because the poison is used in killing game and catching fish, and for the preservation of their independence, the various concections being mixed according to the resisting power of the object for which they are intended.

Thus, for instance, the hunter would never think of wasting a strong poison on a small animal he considered unworthy of such an honorable distinction. Besides, he must study to bring down such game as he afterward uses for food with poisons which will in no way affect him. Growing among the rank grasses and on the trunks of the trees, and mingling with creeping flowers, are so many posionous plants that the traveler must be constantly on the look-out to avoid them. Some are so dead-ly that even the odor arising from ly that even the odor arising from them is overpowering, causing serious illness; others cause skin diseases and painful swellings of the body if their leaves chance to touch ever so lightly the hands or other exposed parts.

In spite of his extraordinary passion for concocting poisons, the Sacai is a thorough gentleman in the chase and a worthy foeman to meet. He is a big-hearted fellow, having none of the barbarous methods of other inhabitants of the Malay Peninsula, whose greatest pleasure is to torture a fallen foe. When he poisons an arrow object is to cause death as quickly and as painlessly as possible.

He seems to be particularly happy in his domestic affairs. Husband and wife live happily together, and quarreling or ill-treatment is practically unknown among them. In the event of a mother-in-law upsetting the peace of the home by interfering with its arrangements, the young couple adopt the wise plan of pulling down their hut and building a new one at a respectable distance from the cause of disturbance.—Chambers' Journal.

Primrose Day.

Primrose Day, the anniversary of the death of Lord Beaconsfield, was recently celebrated in England. statue of the statesmen was well-nigh buried in primroses, and large numbers of people carried them through-out the day. Probably Lord Beacons-field would be much surprised if he knew that his memory was associated with the primrose, or indeed with any particular flower. The cult arose in a rather cufious way. Queen toria sent a wreath of primroses to the funeral. On the accompanying card and in her own handwriting were the words "His favorite flower." Queen Victoria was sufficiently Vic-torian to use italics with great liberality, as of course the accented pronoum referred to the Prince Consort and not at all to Lord Beaconsfield. but the public jumped to the conclusion that the Queen had special knowledge of the dead statesman's floral preferences, and so the primcitizens are taking pains to use the rose became the symbol of the Beaconsfield cult. And, after all, does it matter?

A Famous Artist Who Fasts.

Perhaps the most remarkable fact concerning Mr. John H. F. Bacon, A.B.A., who is to paint the Westminster Abbey coronation picture, is that when working he practically starves himself. Like the poet Shelley, Mr. Bacon can live on a very spare diet. When he was painting his famous picture, "Forgiven"-which depicts an old man ill in bed speaking words of forgiveness to an erring daughter, who, in the agony of her confession, has fallen on her knees on the floor before him-he used to take so little breakfast before starting that, to quote his own words, "I always suffered acutely from hunger, which acted on the brain and so made the work a great strain." Another of Mr. Bacon's successful pictures, "The Young Widow," was practically painted on nothing more substantial than bread and butter and tea and an apple for lunch.

Threatening a Prince.

Like many other people, Prince Arthur of Connaught is of opinion that sport is becoming too spectacular, and that it would be of great benefit to the country if some of the thousands who watch others play would take a part in the games themselves. "It is only," he said recently, "by follow-ing them as a recreation that we can hope to maintain the fine physique of the British race. Unforunately it is the tendency of the age for men and boys to watch other people play instead of playing themselves. was at Eton I was told that unless I played football five times a week I should probably find standing easier than sitting."

A Miners' Church.

One of the most remarkable places of worship in the world is the miners' chapel in Myndd Menigdd Colliery, Swansea, where for more than fifty years the workers have each morning assembled for worship. This sanctu-ary is situated close to the bottom of the shaft. The only light is that obtained from a solitary Davy safety lamp hung over the pulpit from the ceiling, and the cldest miner in the colliery is generally chosen to offici-

Montreal, Aug. 7.—At the Montreal Stock Yards, West End Market, the receipts of live stock for the week ending Aug. 5 were $55 cattle, 2400 sheep and lambs, 1500 hogs and 715 calves. The supply on the market this morning for sale consisted of 1300 cattle, 1500 sheep and lambs, 750 hogs and 275 calves.

A feature of the trade was the continued weakness in the market for cattle and prices since this day week show a decline of $4c to $5c per pound, on account of the increased supplies coming forward and the very warm weather prevailing.

The gathering of buyers was fairly large, but the demand was somewhat limited, as even at the above reduction in values noted, butchers were not dis-

VOTE OF CENSURE

Unionists Make Last Assault on the Veto Bill.

DISTURBERS UNSUCCESSFUL

Their Charge Against the Asquith Government Is That the Latter Took Advantage of the New King's Inexperience to Exact Guarantees From Him That He Would Create a Number of Peers.

London, Aug. 8 .- The last phase of the fight over the veto bill designed to restrict the powers of the House of Lords over legislation originating in the lower chamber, was entered upon in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, when A. J. Balfour, leader of the Opposition, moved a vote of censure on the Government.

The bill was rejected by the House of Commons last night by a majority of 119. The motion was introduced by Arthur J. Balfour, leader of the Opposition, and its defeat is consider-ed to have failed to improve the Unionist cause.

The gravamen of the Opposition's charges against the Government was that Premier Asquith had taken ad-vantage of the King's inexperience to bring about an abuse of the royal prerogative by securing the guarantees be-fore the last general election. Mr. Asquith easily disposed of this charge by showing that the Ministers had pursued an entirely proper consti-tutional course. The result was that after the Premier's speech the debate on the Unionist side virtually collapsed.

Frederick E. Smith and others of the "diehards" made brave attempts to fan the flames against the Government, but were compelled to fall back on the well-worn argument that the members of the Government were being driven by their taskmaster, John Redmond, and that their whole object was to secure the easy passage of Irish home rule.

Walter Hume Long, ex-chief Secretary for Ireland, challenged Mr. Asquith to reveal his conversations with King George, but Winston Spencer Churchill, the Home Secretary, who wound up the debate, declined to consider for a moment such an unusual request.

The chamber was filled to its capacity. Peers and distinguished strangers were present in large numbers.

The diplomatic and ladies' galleries were filled, the occupants showing by their presence a continued interest in the proceedings which promise to be Mr. Balfour's motion, of which he gave notice on Aug. 2, was as follows: "That the advice given His Majesty by His Majesty's Ministers, whereby they obtained from His Majesty a pledge that a sufficient number of peers would be created to pass the Parliament bill in the shape in which it left this House, is a gross violation of constitutional liberty by which among other ill consequences the people will be precluded from again pronouncing upon the policy of home

The rival leaders were loudly cheered as they entered the room and Mr. Balfour received an ovation as he rose to present his motion rebuking the Government. The former Unionist Premier emphasized that he was conscious of the gravity of the situation and the seriousness of the step which he asked the House to take. thought that it would be admitted that never in all its history had there been a more serious case or one which more urgently deserved or indeed required the consideration of Parliament and the emphatic condemnation of the Ministers.

"The Ministers," said Mr. Balfour, "have grossly abused their rights of advising the crown, and by abusing those rights put themselves above the constitution. They have acted wholly without precedent."

Not as Mr. Balfour conceived, in order to meet any great question of state, but "in order to further a party arrangement between different tions who support them, and in order to prevent the people of the country from pronouncing their opinion on home rule.

The Unionist leader asserted that the Ministry had placed the sovereign, who had just come to the throne, in a cruel position. The King was a fount of honor, but the Government, by their advice, had poisoned and corrupted the stream at its source. He dubbed the proposed new peers, "su-pers in this sordid drama."

Justifiable Homicide.

Montreal, Aug. 8.—A verdict of "ex-cusable homicide" was returned yes-terday morning by the coroner's jury in the case of Mrs. Freda Adelman, the wife of a second-hand dealer of 141 West Craig street, who met death Saturday afternoon by a bullet from a revolver in the hands of her husband. The revolver was the property of Jos. Charles, a customer. Both Charles and Joseph Adelman, the dead woman's husband, were placed under arrest immediately after the shooting, but were released yesterday as the jury's verdict freed them from

Boston, Aug. 8.—About 3,000 men, women and children were landed from fog-bound crafts yesterday, and anxious friends and relatives, who throng

STRIKE IS SERIOUS.

London's Whole Transport Trade Threatened.

London, Aug. 8.—The arbitrator chosen last week to effect a settlement between the employers and the striking dock laborers has given an award in favor of the men, but the dockers have decided not to resume work until the grievances of the coal porters and lightermen are satisfied. These differences are expected to be compromised within a few days. Unless a settlement of the strike is speedily effected a serior; situation will result. A strike was called Saturday of 30,000 carmen, coal porters and others, and thus the entire stoppage of London's transport trade is threatened. This would indirectly af-fect thousands of other workers and lead to a general cutting off of food supplies. Big Tit-Up. New York, Aug. 8.-Fifty British tramp steamers which are now in port here may be tied up indefinitely reason of a strike ordered by the Sailors' and Firemen's Union of Great Britain. While the sailors on the ves-sels of the transatlantic companies sign for the round trip, the sailors on most of the tramp vessels sign separately for the journey each way. The union has issued a new wage scale embodying an advance all around and the seamen are instructed to refuse to sign except under the new scale. Members of the American union are not allowed by their officials to take the places of the strikers.

Five Thousand Paraded.

London, Aug. 8.-Under ideal wea-ther conditions, the biggest feature of the great London Old Boys' celebra-tion, the parade, took place yesterday. Toronto, Hamilton, Detroit, Chi-cago, Winnipeg, had banner turnouts. The Toronto men, headed by the Foresters' band, made a fine appearance. Detroit also made an especially good showing, that section being headed by a huge Stars and Stripes and Union Jack carried side by side.

The "flag incident" of a few days ago, due to the removal of the American emblem from the street decora-The Stars and Stripes were in evidence on all sides, and at many points on the parade. British colors came in for the loudest applause, but the American flag was given a hearty reception.

Boy Scouts, Highland pipers and fraternal societies in uniform were some of the features of the parade. It is estimated that there are 15,000 visitors in the city, 5,000 of whom took part in the parade.

Fireman Is Rescued.

Toronto, Aug. 8.—Fire broke out in the factory of the Anchor Bed Co., Wellington and Niagara street, at 12.30 this morning, completely destroyed stock and building, and two firemen were injured in the fight to put out the flames.

Owing to the disorganization by the storm of the fire alarm system, the firemen found the flames far advanced in their destruction of the two-storey frame building. Fireman Agnew Cluff and an-other entered the burning structure from the alley with a line of hose and Agnew, who was in front, had got but 15 feet inside when the roof above collapsed, falling through the floor above and pinning Agnew and Cluff, who was close at his heels, tightly to the ground under the still burning timbers. By heroic efforts he was rescued.

New York, Aug. 8 .- Property in New York to the value of $1,596,208,879 is exempt from taxation and yields no revenue to the city treasury, according to a report made public yesterday. Approximately one-third of the sum is represented, the report states, by the property of religious societies and institutions

The largest single exemption is Central Park, valued at $250,000,000.

Terrible Record of Black Hand.

Chicago, Aug. 8 .- A summary of the crimes committed by members of the so-called "Black Hand" in this city during the year 1911, made public yesterday gives a total of 18 murders, scores of stabbings and more than 100 bomb explosions, $500,000 collected in blackmail and the terrorizing of thou-sands by threats. Ottawa, Aug. 8 .- Whatever other Cabinet changes Sir Wilfrid Laurier may decide upon before the elections addition to the replacing of Hon-L. P. President Skinner of Niagara Falls presented his report for the year 1910
11. The report recommended that an effort should be made by the association to have an act passed at the next session of the Legislature confirming their incorporation as an association. The president made a strong appeal to the association to raise the salaries of the paid officers, if at all possible, showing that the salaries now paid were quite insufficient, and that some officers not now on the pay-roll should be included in the list of those now receiving remuneration for their services. The address also drew attention to the annual fee paid by life members and suggested that the fee should be lessened by one-half.

RESCUED AT SEA

A Thrilling Wreck Occurs in Mid Atlantic,

TRIED TO FIRE VESSEL

Ten Men From French Schooner Charles Henry Are Brought Into New York After Four Days and Nights on Sinking Ship-Francisco Takes Them Off In a Storm-Had Hard Time.

New York, Aug. 8.—Ten men rescu-ed from the mid-ocean shipwreck of the French schooner Charles Henry were brought safely into port yester-day by the Wilson Line steamer Frascisco. They were taken off the schoon-er by the Francisco on July 30 while the steamer was on her way from Hull, England, in latitude 48.10, longitude 24.50.

The Charles Henry, a three-masted topsail schooner, was bound from St. Pierre, Miquelon, for Havre, with a cargo of fish when she ran into a storm on July 26, and sprang a leak. For four days and nights the seven members of the crew and three fisher men aboard as passengers, worked the pumps, but the water gained as their strength lessened, and they were about exhausted when the Francisco sighted them on the evening of the 10th. A heavy northwest gale was blowing, but learning the schooner's plight Captain Clarke lowered the starboard life-boat, in charge of Se cond Officer Law, and after two peril-ous trips all those aboard the waterlogged schooner were transferred.

Before the last man left the Charles Henry attempts were made to set her on fire so that if she floated she might not be a menace to navigation, but owing to the high seas these ef-forts were unsuccessful. Captain Pen and his men saved nothing but their clothing.

The Style Subject

The value of good style in the clothes you select cannot be overestimated. To give clothes that certain touch of correctness which you are desirous of seeing in your garments is distinctly a question of $ ability on the part of the maker of the $ clothes.

We believe you will get what you pay for 3 in the matter of fabrics and Ilnings, if you } buy clothes of a reliable make, but if you } want style, combined with quality, it is a } question of ability. The 20th Century people have the ability, hence the style you always find in their bench-tailored garments.

The New Cloths, Style Chart and Measurement Forms for Fall, 1911, are here now.

Come in and take a look through.
