MAN CONFESSES TO EIGHT DEATHS

Czecho-Slovakia Has Counterpart of German Super-Slayer

Czecho-Slovakia has found a counterpart of Fritz Haarmann, the German super-slayer, in the person of a cobbler named Dworaczek, who, when revived from a prolonged spell of drunkenness in the hospital at Trebitz, told his fellow-patients he had murdered two brothers named Policky in 1919.

The skeletons of these brothers, who were supposed to have emigrated to the United States, were found under the floor of Dworaczek's house, as the slayer said.

Subjected to severe police grilling, the cobbler then confessed having killed six Jews, five of them men, one a woman, within a short period prior to the murder of the Polickys. Some of the bodies were buried, he said, and others dissected and hidden in the woods.

The list of Dworaczek's victims is still believed to be incomplete.

DOUBLE STRENGTH BEER MENTIONED

Speech From Throne at Legislature Opening, Deals With Temperance Issue

Factors mentioned in the speech from the throne, as read at yesterday's opening of the Legislature, are:—

Amendments to O.T.A. providing for 5 per cent. beer.

Application to Railway Board at Ottawa for cheaper fuel rate for Canadian coal to Ontario.

Material reduction in provincial expenditures, and a more nearly balanced budget.

Necessity for proceeding with St. Lawrence power project.

Improved feeling between Ontario and Quebec as a result of the exchange of visits.

Extension of agricultural markets by studies of situation at home and abroad.

Improvement in educational laws.

Influx of British capital to develop natural resources noted.

Financial autonomy of T. and N. O. Ry. forecast, along with extension of road-building in rural Ontario.

The speech generally reveals an improved condition in the province during the year.

Liquor Amendment

"Legislation will be introduced to amend the Ontario Temperance Act by enacting that liquor with an absolute alcoholic content by volume of more than two and a half per cent. shall be conclusively deemed to be intoxicating, and to further amend the Act to facilitate enforcement."

Redistribution

"A measure will be introduced respecting the representation of the people in the Legislative Assembly.

After all, there were surprises at the opening ceremony of the second session of the sixteenth Parliament of Ontario yesterday. The Government decided to take the O.T.A. bill by the horns, and include in the speech from the Throne a small, and almost obscure paragraph, promising legislation to increase the strength of beer to five per cent.; that is, it will amend the O.T.A. by declaring that only beer over two and a half per cent. alcohol by volume is intoxicating.

Thus the O.T.A. and all attendant issues are in the ring from the first and those who want the issue discussed will have no chance to cavil at the Government's attitude.

To Reduce Expenditure

Other major announcements in the speech from the Throne include an announcement of material reductions in the expenditures of the province whereby the treasurer has more than realized his hopes of approaching a balanced budget; the decision of the Government to provide cheaper money for farm loans following the reduction of interest on deposits in the Government Savings Office; decision to amend the Legislative Assembly Act to increase members' and Ministers' indemnities and salaries; the legislation which will give the T. and N. O. Commission financial autonomy; and a considerable portion of the speech is devoted to the work of the Hydro-Electric Commission and the general conservation of our water power resources. In this connection the hope is expressed that inasmuch as Chippawa's resources are now approaching the limit of production, there should be no further delay in proceeding with the St. Lawrence development.

Redistribution Coming

Also promised in the speech is a measure of redistribution which, according to forecasts yesterday morning, will be drastic, inasmuch as some of the long-known and historic ridings of the province are to be considerably carved up in the rearrangement of seats. If the gasoline tax is to become a fact this session, it receives no special attention, but is probably included in the announced amendments to the Highways and Motor Vehicles Act.

A further important announcement is made in the speech that since last session the Government has caused to be made a survey of fuel transportation costs, and that the report of this survey will be made the basis of an application to Ottawa authorities for a cheaper rate on Canadian coal for Ontario. The inquiry has been conducted by experts. Further increases in the mileage

TWENTY-FOUR CASES REPORTED

Communicable Diseases Are Prevalent in Port Hope

Chief Murphy as Health Inspector has been very busy the last few days tacking up placards for quarantine of communicable diseases.

Up to date twenty-four cases have been reported from all sections of the town, and it is estimated that actual cases (including those not yet reported) would total in the neighborhood of forty. Two new cases were reported to-day.

Summary of Cases

Scarlet Fever .....	14
Mumps .....	9
Chicken pox .....	1

We understand that teachers in the High School found it necessary to order two pupils suspected of having mumps, to undergo medical examination.

of country roads to be built and improved is also forecast, and commendation is expressed for the mission of Hon. Chas. McCrea to London, as a result of which British capital is coming to the province to assist in the development of our natural resources. Progress in education and the establishment of the boys' school at Bowmanville are also noted, along with some other legislation it is intended to bring in.

Brilliant Opening

The announcement concerning stronger beer, however, overshadows for the moment the other important issues raised, and indeed detracted somewhat from the customary interest in the formal ceremonies attending the opening. Owing to the elaborate arrangements which this year have been made for the accommodation of guests, and the greater interest manifested by the public in this session of the House, the crowds seeking admission were beyond all previous records. In the Chamber they presented a gala scene. Society and officialdom occupied the floor of the House and the Speaker's Gallery, while the side galleries and even the press gallery were packed to capacity by local and out of town visitors to the House.

Formalities

Promptly at 3 o'clock the Lieutenant-Governor arrived at the rear of the Parliament Buildings from Government House with a travelling escort from the R.C.D., under the command of Lieut. Chadwick. Under Major G. H. Van Den Berg, D.S.O., a Guard of Honor from the P.P.C. L.I. and R.C.F. attended the entrance of the gubernatorial party, the salute being fired by gun crews from the 15th Battery and the R.C.F.A., commanded by Major M. Waters, M.C. Received by the House standing, his Honor took the Speaker's Throne and presently received the text of the Speech from the Throne from the Provincial Secretary, the Hon. Lincoln Goldie. Having read that and the traditional bill introduced, typifying the independence of Parliament from Royal control, the 1925 session was under weigh.

DISTRICT Y. P. L. DEBATE RESULTS

Series of Inter-League Debates Come to an End

Some little time ago a series of debates on the subject, "Resolved that the drift of population from rural to urban centres is due more to social than economic reasons," were arranged between Young People's Leagues in this district.

Two sections were taken, the western half to include Welcome, Canton, Port Hope and Elizabethville, the eastern taking in Plainville, Gore's Landing, Bethesda, Bethel Grove, Cobourg and Wicklow. The debates took place in the different places during the past month, and final results are as follows:—

Western District

Welcome defeated Port Hope. Canton defeated Elizabethville.

Eastern District

Plainville defeated Gore's Landing. Bethesda defeated Bethel Grove. Cobourg defeated Wicklow.

A second series is being arranged to begin immediately on the subject, "Resolved that the influence of Knox in Scotland was and is as great as that of Wesley in England." These debates have created wide interest in the district, and keen competition has resulted between the Leagues.

NEW SCHOOL NEARS COMPLETION

Many Townspeople Have Visited Big New Building

The new East Ward school is being rushed right along.

For the past few weeks plasterers have been busy on the classroom walls, which are finished with a hard, white surface. Decorators are at work staining the woodwork, while a large number of carpenters are laying the main flat floors, the upstairs having been finished about a week ago.

The heating plant is a huge success, the building being kept at a very comfortable heat with a small fuel consumption.

Many townspeople have already taken the opportunity of visiting the school, and we are sure the contractors, Thos. Garnett & Sons, would be only too glad to show anyone who is interested through the building.

CUSTOMS POSITION TO BE LEFT OPEN

Authoritative Information That No New Appointment is to be Made

Upon the death of the late Robert Grandy, last January, a position was left vacant in the Customs' department here. Information received from a dependable source this week states however that no new appointment will be made to the office.

Mr. Grandy was a servant of the department for many years, and his services are sadly missed. Yet, with the new government systems for economy in the Civil Service department, it is felt, that with the co-operation of the present officials, the work may be done without a new officer being employed.

CUTTING ICE 24 INCHES THICK

Corbett's Pond Scene of Great Activity at This Season

Sherry Brothers, who have been busy cutting ice at Corbett's pond during the past two months, report this year's harvest the largest yet. The ice is twenty-four to thirty inches thick, and the huge cakes are very unwieldy to handle. Quite a large staff of men are engaged in getting out the immense amount required to fill local ice-houses. Dozens of sleighs have been employed in drawing away the five hundred loads already taken out.

NEWSY ITEMS FROM WELCOME

Young Peoples' League Notes Special to The Guide by the Scribe

Last Thursday evening, Feb. 5th., Mrs. Gordon Kellogg took the Christian Fellowship topic at the Y. P. L. meeting. During the devotional period Clark White gave a short report of some of the Winter School sessions. He stressed Rev. Frank Langford's address on "War" and Rev. E. R. Young's on "How to Live the Christian Life." Mrs. Kellogg's topic was the chapter of the new study book and was on Christ's life and character. She was assisted by Gertrude Lewis and Mary White. During the recreational period we had new games and community singing.

ARNOLD COUGHLIN APPREHENDED

Fifth Member of Bluestone Burglary Gang Arrested Here To-day

Arnold Coughlin, the fifth member of the party of young men who were charged recently with having entered the "Bluestone" residence of Creighton Withers on Dorset street east, was placed under arrest by Chief Murphy this morning.

Coughlin left town just previous to the arrest of his confederates, and has since been beyond the reach of the police. The other four boys were dealt with in court here some time ago, three being dismissed and the fourth allowed off on suspended sentence.

Information as to whether or not proceedings will be conducted against Coughlin, or how he will be dealt with, was unavailable at the time of going to press.

FORD PAYS $5 DAY TO HIS DECK HANDS

Shipping Industry is Fordized—High Efficiency Realized

Henry Ford has made good again. He has Fordized the shipping industry.

Into it he has injected the Ford ideas of high efficiency, good wages and absolute cleanliness, all of which have combined to make his other ventures so successful.

And he has found it pays. New Orleans has just been given her first glimpse of his latest project—his ship-operating idea—in the docking here of the freighter Oneida one of the first two vessels in the Ford fleet.

Astounds All Seamen From Detroit, she had come by way of Montreal, Norfolk, Va., and Jacksonville, Fla. At New Orleans she unloaded parts of 1640 automobiles. From New Orleans she was going to Houston, Tex., to take aboard a cargo of sugar, sulphur and scrap iron.

The Oneida was a sight to gladden the eyes of the housewife and the efficiency expert; a sight to stun and astound old-time salt-water sailors.

Old seamen just stood on the levee, looked and gaped, then returned to Seamen's Bethel with a tale that sounded like the fantasies of a seasoned yarn-spinner letting himself out beneath the flare of the forecastle lantern.

A 4668-ton gross weight steel freighter, 61 feet long over all, with 43 foot beam, she lay there glistening in a shiny coat of automobile enamel. Her decks were clean enough to eat from.

Though she is an oil burner, not a speck of grease showed anywhere. Down in her engine room brass and nickel-plated trimmings shimmered in the light.

Neither Captain A. N. Leland, her skipper, nor any of his officers will tolerate a speck of dirt. And it's the same with the crew.

$5 For Deck Hands

Those Ford sailor-men? What a collection they were!

Clean-shaven, with fresh haircuts and shoes shined, they were dressed in 1924 model clothes. They went up town in taxicabs and came back the same way—and sober, too.

"Wonder if they get manicured before they come ashore?" asked one old-timer.

The men are a happy contented lot. All are well paid. Five dollars a day is the lowest pay even the newest deck hand draws. And the pay goes up according to the ratings.

Not One Has Quit

And grub is thrown in, too. That makes the pay all clear profit. The United States Shipping Board pay-roll provides $47.50 a month for ordinary seamen. That, until Henry Ford entered the shipping business was thought ruinously high.

Not a man has left ship since the Oneida and her sister ship, Onondaga, first shoved off.

The flivver may be a popular joke. But the flivver fleet isn't.

At least not to seafaring men.

Drinker of Canned Heat Vague in His Replies

Drinking canned heat was the cause of the intoxication which brought a man into Belleville police court Monday. He had been arrested on Saturday evening after the purchase of a couple of tins of the product and even Monday morning answered so strangely to some of the questions that he was remanded. He had however admitted the charge.

Asked where he lived, he replied "at the station," and when the question was repeated he came back with "In Belleville." His vagueness sent him back to the cell until he could appear in better condition.

It is hard to personate and act a part long, for where truth is not at the bottom, nature will always be endeavoring to return, and will pass out and betray herself one time or other.

PAYING FOR A PAPER

Newspapers have continually to notify subscribers that their subscription is due. Weekly papers have the same problem as their brothers in the daily field.

Daily papers today are under a system of inspection through an independent audit of their circulation that makes it compulsory to have their subscription lists clean. A newspaper's power to secure revenue is based on its circulation. If it has a good circulation in its field it can secure business that makes the necessary revenue. The system under which nearly every paper in Canada now operates gives the office no credit for circulation that is not paid in advance. If a paper is carrying a thousand subscribers in arrears, it does so at a direct loss.

Every paper has the unpleasant experience of having subscribers stop their subscription because a warning is sent out that the paper must be paid for or discontinued. There is not a paper in existence that does not regret the departure of an old subscriber, not so much for what the connection means to the paper in the way of one subscription, but it breaks a long-standing friendship between paper and reader, and the paper is practically powerless to pursue any other course when it insists on payment of the subscription.

There is hardly another business in the country that deals with so many individuals as a newspaper, and for that reason it becomes all the more difficult to depart from the strict and fair practice of prompt collection of subscription rates. The reader who pays promptly is helping make his paper a better paper; he is giving encouragement to the whole organization to go and do better work, to provide more complete news service, to discuss with greater point the issues of the day.

The reading public, if they could get the side of the question that the office of publication has to face, would be quick to realize how necessary the paid-up subscription is to the success of the newspaper business.—Sault Ste. Marie Star.

"THE SPORTING EARL"—BIG ENGLISH PRODUCTION

The Royal Theatre tomorrow will hold the local premier showing of the big English Drury Lane melodrama, "The Sporting Earl." "The Sporting Earl" is one of the most popular English pictures that ever came over to Canada. It is somewhat on the style of the former big American successes, "Mickey" and "The Whip," having all the delightful comedy of the one and the hurricane action of the other.

The story of "The Sporting Earl" concerns Sir Horace Pilkington, Baronet, who leaves an eccentric will by virtue of which one of his nephews inherits his entire fortune and the other nephew, afterwards known as "The Sporting Earl," is left the baronet's racing stable. "The Sporting Earl," without a single ha'penny to his name, is the possessor of a stable of horses which includes Cheero-Ard-Mo, known throughout English sporting circles as the fastest and gamest horse that ever went over the Ascot water jump. The picture is full of laughs, thrills, fights, steeplechases, includes a big fire, and centres around the story of the baronet's will, which is nothing short of whizz-bang.

The cast includes Victor Herbert as "The Sporting Earl," and Lillian Hall-Davis as the girl in the case. Lillian Hall-Davis is a noted English actress and will be remembered for the remarkable success she scored in the big English pictures "The Game of Life" and "A Royal Divorce." She is rated in England as one of the most promising stars of the film world over there.

True politeness is perfect ease and freedom. It simply consists in treating others just as you love to be treated yourself.

WHO HAS ONCE BEEN POOR

By Edgar A. Guest
To riches he was born, and so,
There's much of life he doesn't know,
The pinch of poverty and pain,
The struggle, oftentimes in vain,
A little higher up to get,
Beyond the wolves of want and debt;
The thousand cares from day to day
Which poor men meet along the way;
The makeshift of the slender purse
The countless woes I could rehearse,
All these make up the cruel list
Of tragedies which he has missed.

Not him I blame for failing quite
To understand the poor man's plight.
To riches he was born, and so
The pinch of want he doesn't know
But him I blame who once was poor
And gaining wealth becomes a boor;
Who, freed from misery, want and pain,
Ne'er feels the hurt of them again,
And dares to treat with cruel scorn
The misery he himself has borne,
Or never gives a helping hand
To cares which he must understand.

He who has never been in debt
May fancy life serene, and yet
About him there are care and woe
Which he may pass and seldom know,
But he who has been poor, and grown
To comfort every hurt has known,
And having suffered, he should be
Aglow with warmth and sympathy.
Nor should he, blinded by his pride
From all who struggle, turn aside,
For he has lived those trying scenes,
And knows just what life's battle means.

Local Girl on Winning Team

The hockey match at Bishop Bethune College, Oshawa, between the College team and Old Girls' Association team resulted in a score of 7-2 in favor of the College team.

Miss M. Davis (late of St. Hilda's hockey team) played an excellent game, scoring both goals for the Old Girls. Misses M. Bunting and Isobel Irwin, as forwards of College team, scored several goals, and played a fast game. Miss D. Langley played a strong defense for the College, and made many brilliant dashes up the ice.

Old Girls—Goal, E. Smithette; defense, H. McCaul, Toronto; forwards, M. Davis, Toronto, S. Davis, Toronto and M. Linnell, Toronto.

College Team—Goal, M. Bidwell, Kingston; defense, B. Langley, Lakefield; forwards, L. Irwin, Toronto; B. Bunting, Port Hope; and A. Douglas, Toronto; sub., M. Oliver, Carleton Place.

DENIES POINTING REVOLVER AT WIFE; CHARGE DROPPED

Wife Tells Court of Complaints That Meal Was Not Ready and Threats

In Belleville police court Monday a young married man whose occupation calls upon him to carry a revolver about the premises where he is employed was charged by his wife with having pointed the firearm at her on Sunday, February 1st, in their room. The accused denied it.

The wife on the stand told of his complaining that the evening meal was not ready and of this leading to further complaints winding up, she said, with pointing a revolver at her, with threats.

The accused husband said he had complained about the meal but had not pointed the revolver at her. His duty called for him to carry a revolver, upstairs, and he had previously taken it out of the chamber and placed it in his pocket on account of fear that their son might get hold of the weapon. As for pointing the weapon at the wife the husband unqualifiedly denied the statement.

Magistrate Mason dismissed the charge.

WOULD STOP CRUELITIES TO ANIMALS IN TRANSPORT

Lady Byng of Vimy, patroness of the Ottawa Humane Society, in speaking at the annual meeting of the society at the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa, yesterday afternoon, urged that a campaign be carried on against the cruelties inflicted on animals in transport. Her Excellency said that the sufferings of animals which are shipped long distances in the openwork cattle cars used in Canada are intense. A campaign against the use of the check rein was also urged by Her Excellency.

"Home Manager--- Purchasing Agent--- Art Director---Wife"

Just a slim girl, maybe, or a motherly woman with sweet eyes and white hair—but what a responsibility is hers!

She is the active partner in the business of running a home. She buys most of the things which go to make home life happy, healthful and beautiful. Through her slim, safe fingers goes most of the family money.

And wisely and well it is usually spent too—far better than the average man could spend it himself. For women are better purchasing agents than men. They compare prices, weigh values and shop carefully.

They read advertisements regularly. Every day you'll find the wise little home manager searching the advertising columns for news that will add to the comfort, convenience and improvement of her home. You will find the same clever purchasing agent studying the advertisements to find where and when to buy, and what and how to buy most economically. The advertisements, too, tell this responsive art director how she can make her home more beautiful, more individual—the kind of home that a man appreciates but never knows how it is done!

Advertisements are the wise counsellors in the spending of money that the clever housewife needs daily.

The business of running a home is made easier by reading the advertisements in the Guide.

THE GUIDE STORY

The landlord bowed, retired, and soon returned with the little girl, and, placing her at her father's side, left the room again. Guillaume La Chappelle stroked the little one's bright black ringlets, and, stooping, whispered low:

"Myrrha, go and kneel and kiss yonder gentleman's hand. He saved your mother."

The little one obeyed, timidly. General Dent now arose, saying:

"Monsieur La Chappelle, you feel impatient, doubtless, to meet your wife, after so long an absence. I regret sincerely that domestic circumstances of a most painful nature prevent the pleasure I should feel in tendering and pressing upon your acceptance the hospitality of the Vale. I have, however, dispatched a note to our housekeeper, apprising her gently to break the matter to Erminie, and then to bring her hither to meet you; and now, if I am not greatly deceived, yonder comes my old family carriage, and your wife is in it. Good-day, for the present, sir."

And not wishing to remain to embarrass the meeting of the long severed pair, General Dent withdrew.

He met Minny in the passageway, leaning for support upon the arm of Mrs. Wimsat. She trembled violently when she saw him, and gasped out:

"Oh! is this true, General Dent?" "It is true, my child; compose yourself; you are fainting. Water, landlord!"

The water was brought. He made Minny drink some, and then she passed slowly up the stairs, trembling at every step, and holding for support by the balustrades. General Dent had called Mrs. Wimsat back, when she would have followed her. As Minny at length reached the landing, she caught sight of her husband, who sprang and caught her, as she sank into his arms, exclaiming:

"So many long years, Guillaume! So many long, long, long —" and fainted.

He bore her into the room, and, setting her down, kissed her back to life. She opened her eyes, as she murmured, with a sigh:

"One could bear trouble, could bear the loss of dear ones, if only dreams would not come and cheat them."

"You are not dreaming, fairest, fondest Minny! My nightingale, you are not dreaming!" and he stooped to kiss her again.

She put up her hand deprecatingly. "Oh, no; don't kiss me! It was always your kiss that waked me up to misery, when I dreamed of you before; keep still, oh!" she whispered, very low; "keep still, don't move, don't move—not yet. Oh! not yet; and, hush! that is my little child—steal her close to me—take care—please, take care—don't wake me. I would not wake for the world now—she has your sweet eyes, Guillaume! but I am afraid to talk to her! Oh! Father, in heaven, please let me die in this sleep, in this blessed, blessed dream!" and she burst into a passion of tears.

He let her sob on, thinking that the best and quickest relief. She wept herself quiet, and then, looking up at him, with sudden familiarity, she said:

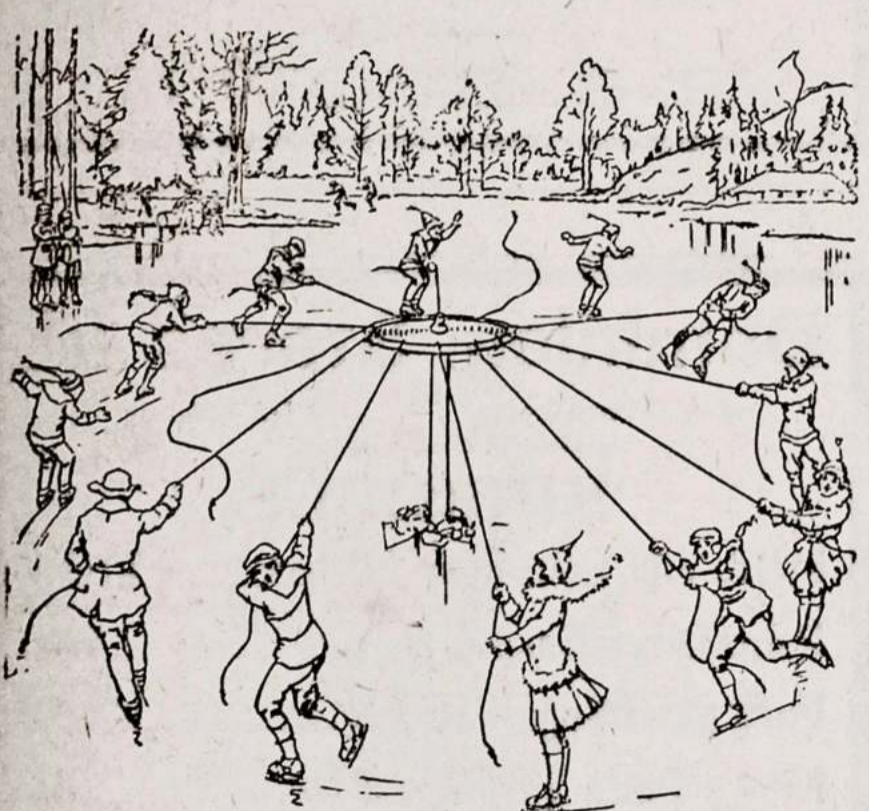

"Why, Guillaume? this is you—ain't it?" And, throwing her arms around his neck, dropped her head upon his shoulder, and broke into a fit of hysterical laughter. He stroked and smoothed her hair tenderly.

He bore her into the room, and, setting her down, kissed her back to life. She opened her eyes, as she murmured, with a sigh:

"One could bear trouble, could bear the loss of dear ones, if only dreams would not come and cheat them."

A Skating Whirligig

THE skating whirligig can be used in a number of different ways, and once it is set up in one corner of the lake or river, it will give sport to skaters throughout the season. It can be made from an old hayrack wheel, an iron rod about twice the length of the wheel hub, a long post and a length of rope, and with the help of three or four industrious friends, any boy can construct it in an hour. The spot chosen for the device should be quite a distance from the bank, to permit skaters to whirl in a 40 or 50-ft. circle if they desire. Chop a hole in the ice slightly larger than the butt of the post and set the post in the mud on the bottom so that about 6 ft. of it remains above the ice. Throw the chunks of ice

Raising her head, she said: "Let me look into your face! your dear, old face—oh, yes! isn't it you? Lift my baby up here—my baby! Oh! hasn't she grown? She is a little girl now. Little girl, do you know me?" She paused and looked intently at the child, who was gazing in surprise at her agitated face. "Little girl, do you know me? Oh! Guillaume, she does not know me! She does not know me! think of that! she does not know her own mother! I am a stranger to her!" And again she burst into tears. "Kiss and hug her, my Minny, and she will know you in an hour. Sleep with her in your arms to-night, my love! and to-morrow she will scarcely know that she has ever been without you."

But Minny was already devouring her child with passionate kisses. "You have not inquired her name yet, my Minny." "No," said Minny, taking breath from her occupation. "What is her name?" "She has never been christened. I called her Myrrha, for the sake of calling her something, until we should meet, and you should name her." "Myrrha; is that a fancy name?" "Yes, my Minny." "Not the name of any you loved?" "No, dearest." "And you are not particularly attached to that name?" "No, love, no." "Well, then, call her Hester! do call her Hester!" "Certainly, my Minny, if you wish it; who is Hester?" "My guardian angel! my guardian angel, whose intercession in heaven has brought about this meeting! She was General Dent's first wife. All his large property came through her. She died two years ago, at twenty-one years old. She left her baby in my care, and promised, if permitted, to watch over us both; and that, if her spirit might crave a boon from the court of Heaven, that boon should be this meeting." (To be continued)

DAVID MEETS A QUEER LITTLE FELLOW IN THE ZOO

"I CAN'T see for the life of me why they'd want such a big runaway for a rabbit," David mused as he stepped up to the wire fence in the Zoo. "For a Rabbit," laughed a merry voice as Happy Giggles, the wee elfin from Make-Believe Land hopped up beside David. "What ever in the world made you think Rabbits lived in here?" "Well, look at that pair of ears over behind that old stump," David whispered. "Don't they belong to a rabbit?" Just then something disturbed the creature in question, and he turned in such a way that a great long, thick tail extended from the end of the log. David and Happy Giggles looked at each other and both laughed. "Gracious me! Some tail for a Rabbit!" said David as he tried to get a better view of the owner. "Now we've seen your tail and ears, come on out," Happy Giggles called. Then out rambled one of the queerest-looking creatures David had ever seen. His long, comical head and small eyes reminded David of a pig's head. The ears were like those of a rabbit and he proudly carried a broad, thick tail just like the one Billy Kangaroo had. "Well, of all queer things," David whispered in Happy Giggles' ear. "He's like a dish of hash—you don't know what to —" sticking up from behind that log and he thought you were a rabbit." "I heard him say that," chuckled Mr. Ground Hog. "That's why I turned my tail around. I knew he'd see in a second that I was not a rabbit. Folks like me don't run wild in America, do we?" "I don't believe so," replied David. "At least, I've never seen one like you. We do have Ground Hogs, but they don't look like you." "I dare say not," laughed Mr. Ground Hog. "I came from the southern part of Africa myself. There we fellows run wild. We build burrows down deep in the ground. That's why my skin is sort of pinkish, not covered with fur. Fur is so hard to keep clean, living down in the ground, you know. But I don't mind, for we sleep in the daytime and only come out at night." "I suppose you hunt your food then?" suggested David. "What do you eat, anyway? You have such a queer-shaped nose and mouth." "Who, me? Why, I live almost entirely on ants," and Mr. Ground Hog laughed in a whizzy, squeaky voice. You might not think such a bulky looking creature would care for an ant diet. But we do. See that tongue?" and he stuck out a long, slimy tongue. "Once I thrust that down into an ant hill, good-by ants!" Then Mr. Ground Hog added, "I'm glad you called, but you'll excuse me now and I'll finish my nap." Away he ambled for his burrow behind the stump and David and Happy Giggles walked on down the Zoo.

"I've Never Seen One Like You."

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

Norman Farthing, a twelve-year-old boy, residing with his parents on a farm east of Omeme, received a flesh wound in his arm on Saturday evening. The youth was climbing up to a beam in the barn with a 22 rifle, when the trigger caught and the bullet exploded, thus shattering his arm. He was rushed to Omeme, where medical aid was rendered, and while the wound inflicted did not do much bodily harm, yet it goes to show the result of such small boys not perceiving the danger of carrying such weapons which might have caused a tragedy.

Trusted Friend of Grim Reaper

Most to be feared of winter's diseases is pneumonia. It is especially prevalent in February, with its sudden changes in temperature. Chief danger of this disease lies in our ineffective means of combating it. As in the case of cancer, it presents a baffling problem to the medical profession; there is no sure cure. We have oxygen tanks, drugs and other means of assisting the patient and making him comfortable that were unknown in past centuries; but as far as an effective cure is concerned, medicine knows little more about pneumonia today than did Hippocrates, "Father of Medicine," who practiced 400 years before Christ. However, we can discourage it by keeping out of drafts and dampness and taking care of "slight" colds.—Kitchener Recorder.

Climate and Civilization

Virtually all of the best of the civilizations of the Northern Hemisphere, together with the rapidly developing cultures of the Southern Hemisphere, are confined in a belt whose temperature lies between 40 and 70 degrees Fahrenheit. This zone embraces the major portion of the United States and virtually all of Europe. The Southern Hemisphere zone of civilization is largely a zone of secondary cultural development or transplanted culture. In the northern zone are included not only our modern areas of highest development but also those regions wherein the great cultures of the past arose and flourished: the cultures of Mycenae, Phoenicia, Baby-

"I HEAR IT SAID"

Last night my friend—he says he is my friend—came in and questioned me. "I hear it said You have done this and that. I come to ask Are these things true?" A glint was in his eye Of small distrust. His words were crisp and hot, He measured me with anger, and flung down A little heap of facts had come to him. "I hear it said you have done this and that."

Suppose I have? And are you not my friend? And are you not my friend enough to say, "If it were true, there would be reason in it. And if I cannot know the how and why, Still I can trust you, waiting for a word, Or for no word, if no word ever come!" Is friendship just a thing of afternoons, Of pleasuring one's friend and one's dear self?" No. Friendship is not so. I am my own. And howsoever near my friend may draw Unto my soul, there is a legend hung Above a certain strait and narrow way Says, "Dear my friend, ye may not enter here!" I would the time had come—as it has not— When men shall rise and say, "He is my friend. He has done this? And what is that to me? Think you I have a check upon his head. Or cast a guiding rein across his neck? I am his friend. And for that cause I walk Not unclosed beside him, leaving still Space for his silences, and space for mine." Barbara Young, in the New York Times.

SOME INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT LATIN AMERICA

Central America lies quite outside the radius of popular knowledge, and yet it is a most important slice of the continent. It is close to the United States geographically, but, in so far as a general knowledge of its people and their countries is concerned, it is quite as remote as Thibet, writes Mr. Thomas F. Lee in The Mentor Magazine. Here are some simple facts concerning Latin America unknown to most people: Puerto Barrios, Guatemala, the principal port of Central America, is much closer to New York by water than is Galveston. The sun rises on the Pacific end of the Panama Canal and sets on its Atlantic entrance. Most people think that Rio Janeiro, on the east coast of South America, lies directly south of New York, whereas a line drawn south from the Statue of Liberty would run down through the Pacific Ocean, a little west of Valparaiso, Chile. Valparaiso, Chile, several hundred miles farther south than Rio, is closer to New York than Rio. Brazil is considerably larger than the United States. Chile's Pacific coast line is as long as that of the United States and Mexico combined. The Pacific Ocean is south of Central America, not west. The combined areas of the Central American countries is equal to those of New York, Ohio, Alabama, West Virginia, and New Jersey. The undeveloped area of Central America is shown by the fact that it only has about 1,000 miles of railway, while the five States with an equal area have more than 35,000 miles of railway. Moreover, Central America cannot show 1,000 miles of good roads, whereas New York State alone has more than 80,000 miles.

NEW INDUSTRY IN OSHAWA

Representative of Imperial Biscuit Company Visits Oshawa—Inspects Old Plant of Oshawa Canning Co.

Prince Edward Island is the home of fox farming and associated industries. It is just possible that one of the industries connected with fox farming will shortly be established in Oshawa.

Mr. E. L. Petley was recently in touch with Mr. W. L. Burnie, C.P.R. Industrial Commissioner who brought Mr. T. Miller, head of the Imperial Biscuit Company of Charlottetown, P.E.I., to Oshawa a few days ago. They inspected the old Oshawa Canning Company's site, and to speed up matters had Mr. S. Nesbitt, Dominion Cannery's supervisor from Brighton there. It is understood that a very attractive offer was made the Dominion Cannery by the Imperial Biscuit Co., for the use of the building, and that Mr. Miller expressed himself as being entirely satisfied with the proposed site, and with the advantages of Oshawa as a place for location. His Company manufacture biscuits and other food for foxes, and as they get their raw material in Ontario they have come to the conclusion that it would be more profitable to locate their factory near the source of their raw material than to maintain it away down in Charlottetown, as it is cheaper to ship away the finished product than the more bulky raw material.

Boy 14, Loses Life Trying to Save Dog.—In endeavoring to rescue a small dog, Cyril, 14 year old son of Mrs. Alice Jones, 174 Ontario street, St. Catharines, broke through thin ice on the old Welland Canal, near the Welland Vale Works, Monday afternoon, and was carried under the ice by the swift current from the Decew Falls power house and drowned.

M. J. O'Leary Held on Charge of Smuggling Aliens.—M. J. O'Leary, of Fort Erie, said he had been mistaken for another man when he was arrested at Detroit Saturday, charged with smuggling aliens across the Canadian border. O'Leary, who won fame and the Victoria Cross in the World War, was allowed out on bail pending the hearing of the case this week.

CANTON

Young People's Doings and Other Notes of Interest by Our Correspondent

Canton League meeting opened by singing the hymn, "Take My Life and Let It Be." Miss Annie Callender presided over the meeting, as the President, Miss Anderson, was late. After the singing of the hymn, all repeated the "Lord's Prayer." The hymn, "How Firm a Foundation," was sung, followed by the business part of the meeting.

Miss Idella Dundas read the minutes of the previous meeting, as the Secretary, George Finnie, was absent. It was agreed to have a contest, consisting of two sides, "Blue" and "Gold." The captains for the "Blues" were appointed, namely: the Misses Dundas and Callender, the leaders of the opposite side being Miss M. Pollard and Mr. W. Bryce. The contest begins on Friday, Feb. 13th. The subject for the next debate in the debating contest was announced. After the business part was over, Hymn 24 was sung, "All People That on Earth Do Dwell." Then the Scripture reading was taken by Miss F. Lightle. Mr. Bunt explained it. Hymn 362 was then sung. The topic, entitled "Immortality," was read by Mr. Bunt. "Rock of Ages" was the closing hymn, and an instructive meeting was brought to a close by brief prayer by the Pastor.

We are all glad to see so many of our Canton people recovered from the mumps.

Professor Strong and Col. Massey spent the week-end in the village.

IDENTIFIES THE MAN POSING AS DOCTOR

Peterboro Physician Says Suspect is Person Who Robbed Him

From photos on a police criminal record card, Dr. D. C. King, Peterboro, says he identifies Robert John McCullough, in custody in Montreal on the charge of stealing valuable jewelry and silverware, as the Dr. R. J. Macdonald who is alleged to have broken into the doctor's premises there and got away with four hundred dollars' worth of surgical instruments.

The burglary of Dr. King's premises, which occurred August 31 last, was the climax to the alleged self-styled Dr. Macdonald's brief sojourn in Peterboro in the interests, as he declared, of establishing a hospital at Millbrook. He entertained doctors at the best hotel, talked to them learnedly of medical matters, and took away with him their money and property.

To Montreal authorities McCullough, believed to be the Macdonald wanted in Peterboro, asserts that he is a returned soldier of Toronto with a western record. It is gathered from what he says that he was formerly a young doctor in the Mayo brothers' hospital at Rochester, who went overseas and got wounded by shrapnel on the Cambrai sector, since which time his mind has been blank.

SITTING BY THE FIRESIDE

Have you ever experienced the charm of sitting by the fireside and looking at the embers, while a great procession of old friends pass along—row upon row—hundreds upon hundreds, thousands upon thousands? Much of the scenic beauty of the past is reflected, old faces, come and pass in review. In your youth you may often have wondered why so many old people lived in the past and had as companions people long departed. Now you begin to realize.

Your children are about you and are very kind, but they are not of your generation. Their thoughts are not along the same lines; their feelings are not like yours. The young are active in making their own way, and creating their own impressions.

In the friends of other days there was a fragrance of the Rock of Ages. They have left this earth and we know we shall soon be with them. Probably that is why we like to live with them, now and then at this season of the year.—Kitchener Record.

PETERBORO VOTED NAY ON UNION QUESTION

From Peterboro word came last night that St. Paul's, the largest in that Presbytery and the last church in that city to vote, had decided not to enter the United Church of Canada. The vote was: For Union, 398; against, 528, or a majority of 130 against. A despatch from Peterboro stated that the minister, Rev. Robt. Pogue, having heard that the anti-Unionists were canvassing votes on the suggestion that their victory would oust him, announced his determination to resign in any event. The other Peterboro Presbyterian churches voted for Union.

DIED IN HAY LOFT

Aged Farmer had Pinned Note to Collar of Faithful Dog

Devotion to his master prompted a dog owned by Patrick Keey, aged 74, a farmer residing near the village of Lowville, not to desert him, although he lay dying in a hay loft in his barn. When found the dog was near his master, whose body was discovered in the hay. Attached to the dog's collar was a note on which was scribbled: "Come to me; I am dying." It is believed that the man was stricken while at work in the barn and had been dead some time, as the stock showed evidence of having been without food and water for many hours.
