EXPECT ACTION ON COAL RATES

Alberta Fuel Question May Be Settled—Decision Said To Favor the Producers

Developments favorable to the movement of Alberta coal to the central markets are expected in the very near future.

The question has been engaging the attention of Hon. Charles Stewart for the past month, and there have been negotiations with the rail ways looking to the establishment of a rate which would facilitate the entry of Alberta coal to the eastern market, especially Ontario.

While the arrangement and rate are not yet disclosed, it is intimated that they are practically settled and moreover, of a character to suit the Alberta members who come from the coal producing districts.

LOCALS PLAY IN TIE GAME

Pick Teams From Port Hope And Cobourg Played Here Friday

In an interesting game at the local rink Friday night, a picked team from Cobourg played the All Stars of Port Hope and after three periods of fast hockey, the game was set down as a tie, 5-5. Cobourg led the locals in the first period when they ran in two goals, but Port Hope came to life in the middle frame and made it 3-2 in their favor. In the last session the visitors ran in three tallies to Port Hope's two.

Cobourg—Goal, Lucas; defence, Mitchell and Shortreed; centre, Lane, Wings, Sowden and Burnett; subs, Hircock and Newton.

Port Hope—Goal, Wade; defence, Stephens and Foote; centre, Hancock; wings, Rowden and Highfield; subs, Greenaway.

Ald. P. H. Wahl of Stratford, spent Friday in town the guest of his daughter, Mrs. C. W. Connop, King St.

OSHAWA AND QUEENS TIE 3-3

Students Hold Intermediate Baby City Six 3-3 On Slushy Ice

Oshawa and Queen's University tied 3-3 at Oshawa last night on slushy ice in the first of a two-game series in the first round of the O.H.A. play-offs. Kingston had the advantage in weight, but otherwise the teams were evenly matched. The ice was in good condition at the outset but as the game progressed, became heavy, preventing systematic teamwork and halted the dangerous rushes which marked the opening of the encounter.

The Kingston students opened the scoring, but at the end of the first period Oshawa were leading 2 to 1. The collegians were leading at the end of the second period with the count 3 to 2. In the third session, play became strenuous and penalties were frequent with both teams drawing their share. It was not until about two minutes before the final bell that Rowden was able to equalize the score when he received a pass from behind the net. The disc never left the ice, but nevertheless found its way into the net. Referee Stan Burgoine handled the game well. The return game will be played in Kingston Monday night.

Queen's—Goal, Quinn; defence, Britton and Boland; centre, Lindsay; wings, Reist and Reid; subs, McPherson and Grimes.

Oshawa—Goal, Smith; defence, Chartrand and Johnson; centre, Avery; wings, Rowden and Houck; subs, Stephens and Joyce.

Referee—Burgoine.

SPORTING SKITS

BOCCY

Foreseeing the influence on the gate receipts of the reputation of the Varsity Grads, Canada's Olympic hockey team, the authorities looking after Olympic winter sports Friday started to build two new grandstands around the rink where the Olympic championships will be decided next week. The seats in the old grandstand are all sold.

The Grads slept in Friday morning but in the afternoon as usual they held practice on the Grand Hotel rink, the usual large crowd turning out to watch them.

Among the few speed skaters who braved the elements were Charley Gorman of Saint John and Ross Robinson of Toronto, besides the United States and Finnish entrants. They indulged in half an hour's practice. Three of the Canadian figure skaters—the Misses Maud and Cecil Smith and J. Eastwood of Toronto—stuck it out for an hour.

Stan Burgoine of Toronto, replaces Bob Armstrong as referee of tonight's Oshawa at Bowmanville replay of a tie game.

POLICE PROBING TOTTENHAM FIRE

Five Minutes Elapsed Before Tottenham Farmer Could Reach Barn Fire

Provincial police officers at Tottenham Friday are believed to be making a careful check-up of the time element in connection with the death of Asa Robertson and his daughter, Mrs. Martin, in the fire which last Saturday morning destroyed the Robertson barn.

When asked what time her husband went to the barn, Mrs. Robertson said that he had arisen that morning at 6:30 o'clock and had started to put on the fire. While Mr. Robertson was so engaged, Geo. O'Neill, the hired man, who had arisen at the same time, had gone to the barn to attend to the cattle.

O'Neill is now in hospital at Barrie recovering from an attempt to commit suicide by cutting his throat in a cell where he had been lodged for intelligent, experienced publishers are becoming awake to a condition that generally prevails in Canada and the United States. Can business stand this waste in national publicity? Business used to be conducted differently a few years ago.

The baker used to use a baker's dozen. The grocer would often throw in something as a little extra on a large order and the printer would give advertising on a promise of more to follow. These characteristics are all gone now. The baker and grocer had to discontinue their generosity to meet the cash and carry store competition. The point can't exist on promises any more. Our local advertising patrons never ask for these concessions. They always expect to and do pay their way for their advertising, the same as we buy their goods. They realize that we have only publicity to sell and they willingly pay for it at reasonable rates. But each mail brings articles for "immediate release" and release on certain dates and telegraphic items by mail that would fill dozens of pages of The Guide. As was laid before, our waste paper basket bulges. Paper, stamps and the writers' work are consigned to its care. We fail to find any news interest to our readers in the bulk of it and we refuse to insult their intelligence by trying to play it up to them for news. It is an awful waste and if the money devoted to preparing this stuff were devoted to pay for legitimate advertising, the advertiser would be money in pocket.

In the meantime, Mrs. Robertson telephoned to Walter Botham, a neighbor, to come and help Mr. Robertson into the house. Mr. Botham was in his home at the time and started at once for the scene. He did not know at the time that there was any fire in the barn.

The distance between the two farms is about 500 yards, and it is estimated it took Botham between four and five minutes from the time he received the telephone call until he reached the scene of the tragedy. Mr. Botham, when asked concerning the affair, refused to discuss any part of it. He could not say how long it took him to reach Mr. Robertson's farm, and added that he was not at liberty to say anything about the matter.

DELUGED WITH FREE PUBLICITY

Waste Paper Baskets Are Over Taxed.—Useless Advertising

Every day in the week every newspaper in the country is besieged with free publicity seeker. And it would seem that the bigger the concern the more insistent and larger the demands. Our waste paper basket is bulged out at the sides caring for these carefully written articles and proof sheets. Recently 67 members of a press association mailed to their secretary the free publicity matter that would have gone into their waste paper baskets for one week. It totalled 3,140 envelopes containing 7,014 sheets of copy that came from 346 seekers of free space, whom it must cost an immense sum for writing, reproduction and mailing what in 90 per cent of the cases is utterly wasted.

At about 7 o'clock Mr. Robertson went to the barn to join O'Neill and it was about half an hour later, which would make it 7:30 o'clock, that O'Neill came to the house and shouted for Mrs. Martin, the daughter, saying that Mr. Robertson had been badly hurt.

O'Neill then returned to the barn and was followed immediately by Mrs. Martin.

In the meantime, Mrs. Robertson telephoned to Walter Botham, a neighbor, to come and help Mr. Robertson into the house. Mr. Botham was in his home at the time and started at once for the scene.

He did not know at the time that there was any fire in the barn. The distance between the two farms is about 500 yards, and it is estimated it took Botham between four and five minutes from the time he received the telephone call until he reached the scene of the tragedy.

Mr. Botham, when asked concerning the affair, refused to discuss any part of it. He could not say how long it took him to reach Mr. Robertson's farm, and added that he was not at liberty to say anything about the matter.

The Shams and Victorias will be out in full force Tuesday night at the Young street rink when a very important scheduled fixture between the two teams will be played. The Shamrocks are in second place with five points and the Victorias are two behind. The games in the town league are enlivening up considerably and the boys serve a good brand of hockey, having in mind that the winners will be the recipients of valuable hockey boots and skates.

FUTURE OF BOOK MUCH IN DOUBT

Clergy and Laity Busily Engaged Debating on Communion Service For the Sick

With the House of Clergy and the House of Laity of the Anglican Church Assembly sitting separately discussing amendments to the revised prayer book under complicated procedure it is impossible to gather from day to day what is likely to be the result eventually.

Both houses on the new alternative order for the communion of the sick have now rejected proposals for the deletion of this service. In effect this means that the perpetual or continuous reservation of the sacrament is approved in principle by both houses, which, of course, is a reaffirmation of one proposal which the House of Commons rejected in its adverse vote in December after the new prayer book had been adopted by the House of Lords.

On the present occasion the House of Clergy has approved the principle by a majority of 64, and the House of Laity by a majority of 54, but a considerable proportion of both houses abstained from voting.

Both Houses today are considering the rubrics of this communion service of the sick, line by line, in committee. If this is not completed tonight the House of Laity will adjourn until February 27th.

J. G. Carson Passed Away at Cypress—Brother in Port Hope

A former resident of Port Hope, in the person of James G. Carson, passed away on Friday, January 13th at his home in Cypress, Man., after a lengthy illness. The deceased was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Carson, of Clarke township and a cousin of Sir Edward Carson, the Irish statesman, and is well known in Grey County, where he took a leading part in the affairs of the Orange Order as well as politics. He was within four days of being eighty years of age, having been born near Port Hope on January 17, 1848. In his younger days the late Mr. Carson was a campaign speaker and election colleague of Senator Dr. Sproule who for many years was dominion member for South Grey. Mr. Carson was a staunch Orangeman, having joined that Order when a lad of 18 years and was also a member of the Black Preceptory with a high standing for the past forty years.

The late Mr. Carson was married in Markdale at the age of twenty-six to Miss Ellen Richardson, who died a year later, leaving one daughter, Nellie. A few years ago he married Miss Mary Kennedy, of Flesherton, and they made their home at Eugenia Falls where Mr. Carson has an implement business, and where the second Mrs. Carson died many years ago. In April, 1915, Mr. Carson moved to Cypress River, Man., and has since lived there with the members of his family.

The deceased is survived by one sister, Mrs. Margaret Hanley, of Eugenia, and one brother, Charles of Port Hope, besides a family of seven.

The funeral was held under the auspices of the Cypress River Orange Lodge and was largely attended.

CHURCHES MADE ADVANCE IN 1297

Peak of Spiritual Feeling During Celebration—Religiousness Not Waning

In reviewing Canadian Christianity during 1927 it may be fairly conjectured that the peak of spiritual feeling, speaking in the broadest sense, was reached on Confederation Sunday when open air services radiating from the magnificent convocation before the parliament buildings at Ottawa were held across the Dominion from Sydney to Victoria. In eastern maple groves, among prairie wheat fields, and in fir-colonnaded aisles where hymns blended with the murmur of the trees and in the wash of the descendants of our French and British pioneers met for thanksgiving and dedication, following the example of their forefathers who consecrated this new land upon their knees.

United Church

The intenser nationalistic spirit of Confederation year is reflected in the freshened purpose among all the churches to meet the religious needs of a country whose destiny stretches to such alluring horizons. The United Church of Canada reports that within a single year it has given service to almost 600 new communities hitherto neglected by all the churches. By amalgamation and re-arrangement 278 home missionary congregations reached self-support in the last 12 months. A membership of 600,000 is responsible for a budget of $3,400,000 yearly for the national and overseas missions and educational interests of this church.

Presbyterian Growth

At their general assembly last June in Stratford the Presbyterians reviewed two years of great activity. Many new congregations had been formed and new churches built while a constantly growing membership, which stood at that date at 165,000, is raising this year $650,000 for missions and education. Adjudication by provincial and federal commissions (though the former is not completed) allocated the Presbyterians about 30 per cent. of the national properties of the former Presbyterian church. They control Knox college, Toronto; the Presbyterian college, Montreal; and the Presbyterian foreign missions in Formosa, British Guiana, and Bihl and Gwailor districts in India.

Anglicans On the Prairies

Grave and unmet needs of Anglicans in the prairie provinces were vehemently pressed by the western bishops upon the general Anglican synod at its triennial meeting in Kingston, Dr. Lloyd, bishop of Saskatchewan, insisting that the church should halt expansion in Japan until her own British communicants were cared for. A response such as the church in England has given to the "world call" to missionary advances was urged by several speakers as long overdue in Canada. Meantime, the church in Canada is co-operating with the church in England in placing in parish groups under the government settlement scheme. British Columbia Anglicans opened in November a fine theological college on the grounds of the University of British Columbia alongside the new United Church college, and are raising a magnificent cathedral in Victoria, which will cost three-quarters of a million dollars to complete.

The Baptists

When the Baptist alliance, representing over 10,000,000 Baptists, assemble next June in Toronto, they will find their Canadian brethren busy raising an endowment of $1,500,000 for McMaster university, and planning its removal to Hamilton, whose citizens promise land and a science building.

PROFESSORS ARE "DONE" AT 68

Teachers of Science Appear To Retire Younger Than Others

University professors wear out at the average age of 68.28 years, according to the report of Carnegie Foundation for the year ending June 30, 1927.

This retiring age was about sixteen months more than the average for the preceding five years.

Teachers of science appear to retire younger than the average by about nineteen months.

During the 22 years of its activity the foundation has paid out in retiring allowances to professors and pensions to their widows over $15,985,000.

The total cost of retiring allowances and pensions to the University of Toronto to the foundation since 1912-13 is given as $303,357. In 1912-13 the sum was $1,862.50, increasing yearly until 1926-27 it was $41,045.

As a preliminary step in developing a method for determining the relation between college athletics and scholarship the result of studies is presented of two institutions reporting on the standing of football players, one stated that only 25 per cent. of players averaged up to the average of their groups. In the other it was stated that the men in the junior and senior classes who did not play football ranked only slightly higher than those who played.

Thirteen institutions compared the standing of athletes with that of all men students. In eight athletes averaged higher than men students in general, while in five the reverse was found.

Nineteen institutions compared the standing of athletes with that of the whole student body, men and women. In five it was found that athletes averaged higher than the whole student body, in three the average was the same and in 11 the average of athletes was lower.

Twenty institutions used percentages in reporting average grades for athletes. The percentage indicating average grades on a basis of 100 are as follows:

Participants in no athletic activities	80.8
All students	79.4
Students participating in neither athletics nor non-athletic activities	78.2
All men	77.4
Athletes	77.3
Fraternity members	76.6

Mr. Leith said that the merchant tailor today lacked prestige. He needed just a little higher standing in the community.

"There are people today who declare that the merchant tailor is some relation to Jesse James. Although he has not got the horse, they think he is out to rob," said Mr. Leith, who thought the general public lacked a proper conception of the high value of the product of the merchant tailor.

Only 25 per cent of potential market was being served by the merchant tailors who, instead of developing new business were just "swiping" customers.

Mr. Leith told how it was proposed to raise by voluntary subscription in the U.S. and Canada a fund of $1,000,000 to be spent in advertising merchant tailoring. The speaker said that an effort would be made to impress upon the public that tailor-made clothes were the only correct clothes to wear. The public ought to be made to feel ashamed to wear any other clothes.

NATIONAL PARK ROYAL HIGHWAY

War Halted Development of Mount Revelstoke Park, High Table-Land

A national park, as yet little known, but of which more will soon be heard, as the result of the completion of the Mount Revelstoke highway, is the beautiful mountain top reserve, known as Mount Revelstoke park.

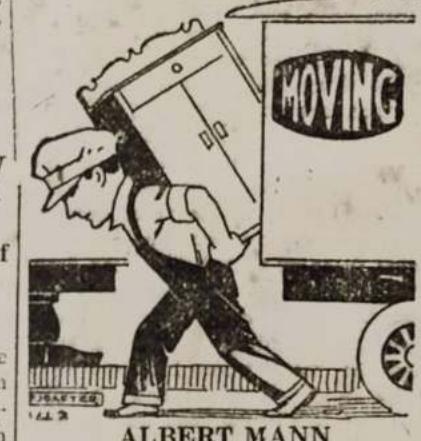

As long ago as 1912 the government set aside a reserve of about 100 square miles comprising the park like tableland on the summit of the peak and a part of the wild glacier-hung Clachnacudainn range. Surveys for a motor highway began and work was commenced the next year on the building of the road. The outbreak of the war, however, delayed operations and it was only with the present season that national park engineers were able to complete the undertaking.

While the new road will be officially named the Mount Revelstoke highway, locally the road is known as the Royal highway, because it bears so many mementoes of royal visits. In 1915 Prince Arthur of Connaught went over the portion then completed and planted a tree to mark what was then the end of construction. In 1916 his father, the Duke of Connaught, then governor-general, with Princess Patricia also inspected the highway and marked their visit and the progress of the work in a similar way.

In the year 1921 his royal highness the Prince of Wales motored up about sixteen miles and at what was then the end of construction unveiled a tablet dedicating the national park to public use. When the prince last year again visited Revelstoke the road was practically complete and it was felt that this return visit should be made the occasion for the public opening of the road. A small amount of surfacing however, still remaining to be done. This is now practically completed and it is expected that next season will see hundreds of motor visitors from the Pacific coast at this charming reserve in the clouds.

THE GUIDE STORY

"Aye," said Leigh, solemnly. "There, do run off. Remember, you are to take the note without any one seeing you, and you are to run back to me and tell me if Miss Muriel says anything to you—word for word, Jaffer—and then there will be another shilling for you."

Jaffer laughed more heartily than before, seized the note, secured it in some complicated corner of his fustian coat, and, looking shyly up the lane to see if the coast was all clear, darted off.

Leigh looked after him with a fast-beating heart.

It's the money you spend wisely that counts.

Someone has said that a rich man has more fun keeping a budget than a man of modern means. Because the money he saves is tangible, he can see it and invest it and put it to work. Be that as it may, a budget is an invaluable help to anyone.

A budget helps you keep the right proportions between expenses, prevents you from spending more than is best for food and rent, or crimping more than you should on entertainment and luxury. But a budget is not a reason for getting cheap things, things in which you forfeit quality by attempting to save on price. A budget says to you: "Here is the amount of money you should spend for this. Spend all of it but don't spend more." And it is up to you to get the best that can be got for that amount.

The person who spends his money wisely, who likes to get the utmost for it, always finds out from advertisements how he can spend it to the best advantage.

It is surprising how much more wisely you can buy if you make it a habit to read advertising. A little more value here . . . a little more value there . . . in this thing slightly more durability . . . that product perhaps a bit finer. And every cent of money you spend for advertised merchandise will bring you greater comfort, a higher quality of goods and a standard of excellence that is nationally recognized.

IT CERTAINLY PAYS

world holds dear to me? If so, I have said farewell to hope. I love her with all my heart—all my life—and if I have lost her, life is over for me. What will she say? Will she send the answer? Was I craven enough to ask for? Oh, shame on me! I ought to have crept out of the world rather than ask her for her love—a penniless adventurer—homeless, friendless! Ah but I love her so—I love her so! And that is where love makes me weak! Will she send word? Will she send me a note?"

Next day at noon Mr. Heatherbridge knocked at the door of Farmer Holt's small office, and, without waiting for permission to enter, burst in.

"Alfred," exclaimed Farmer Holt, "what's happened?"

"Haven't you heard?" said Mr. Heatherbridge, eagerly.

"What should I know, then?" asked the farmer, who detested suspense of any kind.

"Indeed, no," assented the young man, with a little less exultation. "Wynter Leigh has disappeared. Left the place like a—a thief. And they say that the cattle are down with the new disease, and that the bailiffs are in at the Holme!"

CHAPTER XI

Having solemnly pronounced his opinion that Mr. Wynter Leigh's troubles had been vouchsafed him in the shape of a special judgment, Farmer Holt asked himself the question whether it would be better to impinge the news of the young man's disappearance to obstinate Muriel or keep her in ignorance of it until Mr. Leigh had time to get quite out of the country.

Alfred Heatherbridge thought for a moment—he was very anxious and embarrassed, and could not look the farmer in the face—then said:

"Tell her at once, sir. Muriel's too sensible a girl to give another thought to a worthless vagabond like that especially when she knows that he has fled the place without giving her a word."

"And," said Leigh painfully, "what did she say, Jaffer?"

"Nothing," replied the boy, opening his eyes.

Leigh grasped his stick as if his hands had changed from flesh to iron, his teeth closed on his under lip and pierced it till the blood ran down.

"Nothing?" he said, hoarsely. "Think, Jaffer! Not a word?"

"Not a word," said Jaffer, laughing, but rather dismally. "I asked if so be as there wasn't any message, and she shook her head like this and never said a word."

Wynter Leigh turned his face up to the sky and stood in the blaz-

"True," said the farmer, rising with a sigh. "Ah! if I'd a thought my lass would have given me all this ado, I think I should a-wished her a boy."

Mr. Heatherbridge muttered a thanksgiving that she was not, and in an awkward, embarrassed sort of way took his leave.

VALENTINE ACT

Attractive Setting, Dressy Costumes and Strong Program Featured

If anyone was a little disappointed with the last Capitolians' revue, he must have seen it the first night, when a change of date hurt the attendance and a small crowd took the heart out of the performers whereas on the Tuesday with a large crowd, the act went over with a bang, several numbers stopping the show. Nevertheless, the Capitolians are always trying to improve their entertainment, and for next Monday and Tuesday they have arranged an entirely new type of presentation which is expected to prove an acceptable change and a real hit.

Instead of first deciding on a "theme," then selecting numbers to fit, the policy this time has been to obtain the most suitable material for each of the Capitolians, who will include several new faces, and the whole program will be crowded into a minimum of time, with dialogue practically eliminated. This is the first time that an act has been run with a view to speed as well as quality, and the strength of the program—plus the appearance of the settings and costumes—is sure to make the Capitolians' Valentine Revue one of their best.

MINE TRAGEDY
AT TIMMINSFive Dead, 44 Trapped in the Hollinger Mine Disaster
Friday

Five men are dead and more than two score are trapped in the Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines, Limited, mine as a result of a fire which broke out just before 10 o'clock Friday morning at the 550-foot level.

Late in the morning, latest authentic reports placed the number of the dead in the disaster at the Hollinger Mine at five men, three of them unidentified, and the rescue parties have been unable to get near them on account of the smoke.

The number of missing is now placed at 44.

Active rescue work has been abandoned pending the arrival of the special trains from Toronto and Pittsburgh with smoke fighters and their equipment.

Walter Martin Stevens, 23 James Avenue, 72 years of age, and Ira P. Graham, 52 Balsam Street South, 60 years of age, are both dead.

Rescue work was abandoned at 9 o'clock Friday night on account of the gas becoming worse. The only chance the men have of being still alive was to cut the air-line pump, which would supply them with fresh air. Compressors were kept working pumping air into the pipe, but it is only a chance whether any good was being derived by the men entombed in the mine by this action.

A pall hangs over Timmins. Beneath the surface of the town and its vicinity there are 44 men reported to be trapped. Two more men are now awaiting the last respects to the dead at local funeral parlors.

Immediately after the outbreak was discovered orders were given for the whole of the underground force of workers, numbering close upon one thousand men, to return to the surface. The cages of all four shafts were at once put to work at top speed to meet the occasion.

The fire broke out in an abandoned stop between the numbers five, eleven and twelve cross-cuts. This stop was filled with the accumulations of a number of years' rubbish, including powder boxes, fuse ends and explosive wrapping paper which was well coated with glycerine. The cause of the outbreak is not as yet definitely known, but it is considered that it is due to spontaneous combustion.

READER WRITES
OF EXPERIENCERobt. F. S. Holdaway, Near Port Hope, Served Under
Lt.-Col. W. A. Moore

In a recent issue of the Guide, a short sketch of the life of Lt.-Col. W. A. Moore, who was born in Port Hope, was given and it stated in part that in 1908, upon the recognition of the Mississauga Horse, he was given a commission and is now officer commanding.

Robert F. S. Holdaway, R.R. No. 4, Port Hope, wrote the Guide in part regarding his connection with the Mississauga Horse. It reads:

"It was very interesting to read your article, having had the pleasure of serving under this gentleman in 1908-10 as trooper leader. He was then captain. Our Lieut. Kloty was killed at the 2nd battle of Ypres in 1915, also Lieut. Gordon at the same time, in fact nearly every officer and man of the first company that the regiment sent away was killed or wounded at the same time. Major Beckitt, later colonel in command of the 75th battalion, was killed in 1917.

The Mississauga Horse had a wonderful record, sending over 5000 officers and men and it is one we are naturally very proud of; in fact, they are awarded all the battle honors that any Canadian regiment were awarded, in other words, about 25, of which we may select ten. The regiment celebrates its 25th anniversary this year, probably Saturday, March 31, consequently are anxious to get as many of the old boys as it can at the dinner."

Damage of $50,000 was caused by fire to Immaculate Conception Catholic Church at Jenkintown, Pa.

Here and There

Winnipeg.—The British boy immigration scheme has been adopted by the Manitoba Provincial Government, and about fifty lads will be brought here this year for placement on farms in the province, Hon. A. Prefontaine, Minister of Immigration, announced. First, the boys will be placed at the Manitoba Agriculture College for preliminary training in farm work.

Calgary.—Two commercial airplane transport projects are being developed in Calgary. One calls for the use of airplanes carrying twelve persons each, to be used principally for passenger, freight and mail traffic between Calgary and Edmonton; the other calls for lighter machines, two or three passengers, for Calgary-Edmonton and mountain flight purposes.

All the way from Camrose, Alta., to Glasgow, Scotland, unaccompanied, a distance of approximately 5,000 miles is the record of Donald James Campbell, nine years of age. He took the All-Red route of the C.P.R. across the Dominion to Saint John, where he embarked on the liner Montcalre bound for Glasgow. He is visiting his aunt, who lives in Glasgow.

All previous records in connection with the westbound movement of grain to Vancouver over Canadian Pacific Railway lines were broken during the first two weeks in January, according to E. Cotterell, superintendent of transportation, western lines of the company. Deliveries at Vancouver by the Canadian Pacific during the fortnight in question totalled approximately 22,500,000 bushels of grain.

Calgary.—Farm land values in Southern Alberta are tending to become firm as the result of the series of good crops, and more inquiries for farm acreage have been received in the last few months, according to real estate men, than in any similar period in the past five or six years. Farms offered for sale last spring at $15 per acre and bringing no offers are selling now for from $20 to $25 per acre. The demand for farms both for purchase and rental is decidedly strong.

In recognition of the fine work by officers of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian National during the last summer tour of the second triennial Empire Mining and Metallurgical Congress, presentations of gold and enamel cuff links were made recently, to fifteen employees of both companies, at a dinner held in Montreal. E. W. Beatty, president of the C.P.R. and Sir Henry Thornton of the C.N.R., were both present.

Snowshoe week in Quebec got away to a good start when several thousand members of the Raquette Clubs paraded the streets of the old city and later some 1,300 snowshoers in full winter festival costume made an attack on the walls defended by the garrison and illuminated by a brilliant fireworks display. The chief center of interest there is the International Dog Derby, which is to be staged shortly and for this, visitors from the entire Dominion and the United States are flocking to Quebec, taxing the Chateau Frontenac to its full capacity. HEARD ON THE STREET

Band at the rink tonight.

The Port Hope band will be in attendance at the Young street rink this evening and will supply music for skating from 8 to 10 o'clock. Be on hand and have a good time. The ice is great.

The A.O.F. Valentine dance at the Town Hall Friday evening attracted a good sized crowd and excellent music was provided. Mr. and Mrs. Scott of Toronto, won first prizes for best ladies' and gentleman's costumes and Mrs. Brown, Smith street, won second ladies' prize. A very enjoyable evening was had by every one and the officers are very gratified with the success of their Valentine Party.

The Guide received a very nice note from Sidney George, of Glenavon, Sask., which read like this: "Dear Sirs—Enclosed, please find $6 and exchange to pay for Weekly subscription to 10th April, 1930." The Guide is indeed grateful for all the evidences of esteem and confidence from friends near and far away.

The ladies are all busy getting ready for the Hospital Valentine Bazaar and Tea which is going to be the big thing next week. Besides the things you can buy in the bazaar a delicious high tea is promised for the slight charge of 40c. Plan to be there Tuesday between the hours of 4 and 7 o'clock and assist this most worthy institution.

Time was when a merchant could open a store and expect people to follow a beaten path to his door—but those days are gone. Today people shop through the medium of advertising, planning their buying in advance, getting their information from the advertising in the newspapers. Today, advertising is looked upon by the alert man as an investment from which he derives a steady income. Many business firms invest two per cent of their annual turnover in advertising.

The cold and snow of the past few days have been very trying to the birds, game and otherwise, and many little gaunt and frozen bodies can testify to its severity. With the snow the birds are unable to get anything to eat from the ground, and it is impossible to withstand the cold unless their bodies are heated by food. Many persons aware of this have been feeding them.

Ontario is now the only province in Canada in which creameries supply free, the cans for shipping the cream; and if creameries stick together in the matter it seems likely that soon Ontario will follow the others. At the Western Ontario Dairymen's Convention in London the other day the creamerymen who were present held a meeting of their own, and decided to support a move for withdrawal of free cans. There are too many hold-outs, speakers said; cans which should be transporting cream are holding maple sap or syrup, gasoline or home brew; and one said that one of his cans had been employed in delivering swamp whiskey.

Rice Lake is in good shape and safe for travel. The ice is of considerable thickness and has been brushed to guide travellers.
