ACCIDENT STOPS START OF FLIGHT

Levine Had Planned To Start Attempt For Endurance Record.

A minor accident to the monoplane Columbia as it was taking off Saturday with Wilmer Stultz as pilot and Charles Levine as a passenger caused the postponement of the latest attempt to bring back the endurance flight record to the United States. As the plane roared down the runway, an automobilist drove directly into its path. Stultz had to veer the plane sharply to avert a collision and as a result the tail skid was dislodged and the rudder post broken.

Charles A. Levine had announced that he would take off in the transatlantic monoplane Columbia some time Saturday with Wilmer Stultz as pilot in an attempt to break the world's endurance flight record.

Barlow Brothers' laundry in St. Joseph, Mich., was burned with loss of $70,000.

DEATH DUTIES ON ESTATE OF HAIG

Unusual Situation As Money And Property Were Gifts

The death duties on the estate of the late Earl Haig have produced an unusual situation which is causing comment in England. After the war the House of Commons voted Earl Haig a gift of $500,000 as a mark of the nation's gratitude, while a fund of $1,400,000 also was raised by public subscription for the purchase of the Bemersyde home in Scotland.

Unless Parliament takes some action, the Exchequer will take back something like a quarter of the country's gift under the present death duty rates.

Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, told the Commons on Thursday that the law gave him no power to make an exception.

Crushed by a truck which jumped the curb Chicago man was awarded $30,000 for injuries received.

VALUE OF OUR DEVELOPED POWER

The profound importance of the asset represented by the abundance of hydro-electric energy in Canada is particularly in evidence in the coal-less provinces of Ontario and Quebec which contains the principal centres of population and manufacturing in the Dominion. Here water-power has not only enabled successful competition with the mass production of other countries but has rendered Canada's industrial structure largely independent of foreign fuel. The rivers of the Dominion which are already harnessed, running inexhaustibly from year to year, are capable of producing power equivalent to that of 27,000,000 tons of coal burned annually in steam plants of average modern efficiency.

PLACES ARE TRANSMITTED

Two Are Viewed by Television in New York From Across Atlantic

John L. Baird of London, inventor of the apparatus which transmitted pictures of moving persons by radio across the Atlantic, is only a lone static in the "eyes" of his own invention. It successfully sent through the images of other persons but it balked at transmitting the familiar features of Mr. Baird. In the experiments conducted at this end and in the home of R. M. Hart, of Hartsdale, N.Y., a reporter and the wife of another newspaper man who stood before the transmitting device in London, were seen clearly if somewhat imperfectly. When Baird himself stepped before the electric eye of the device, the transatlantic spectators in the darkened cellar 3,000 miles away were treated to a blinding display of dots. Whatever the lay observers may have thought this was due, according to Benjamin Clapp, an engineer of the Baird Television Development Company sent to New York to conduct the tests on this side of the ocean, to interference by the sudden activity of a short wave radio station in Mexico City. The television operates on a short wave and so was sensitive to this far-away interference, he said.

Another feature of the experiments is that Mr. Hart, who operates the short wave station, 2CVJ, and has been working for three months on tests of the television, has had but one fleeting glimpse of the figures posing before the machine in London. His job has been to listen to the humbling drone of the "vision sound" tuning the delicate receiving apparatus to chest static and other interference.

Once, however, when reception seemed steady and permanent he left his post upstairs and dashed down to the cellar just in time to see a woman's face flicker and fade out on the screen as the untended reception device began to "go sour." Mrs. Clapp, too, who assisted her husband in the long series of tests which preceded the first successful demonstration, was unable to be present on the day of the demonstration and see the faces of the man and woman in the London laboratory. The two were W. C. Fox of the London Press Association and Mrs. James How, wife of a member of the London bureau of the Associated Press.

RECEIVES BAD FOOT ACCIDENT

Alfred Stagg Meets With Accident While Working Friday Night

Alfred Stagg met with a painful accident to his foot while in the institution on John street which is alleged to be conducted by Toronto interests as a purely "commercial enterprise" the paper for which was at one time stored in the Liquor Control premises and about which Lt.-Col. W. H. Price denied all connections.

Stagg was in the mechanical department and in some manner a heavy weight fell on his foot and injured it severely. However, he is able to be about today.

Owing to the accident, the Capitollian act at the Royal Theatre has been postponed for a few days, and the revue will be presented at an early date.

CANADA'S LEAD PRODUCTION

The world's production of both lead and zinc in 1926 surpassed all previous records, to which the Canadian output, also the highest yet recorded, made a not inappreciable contribution. Canada is credited in 1926 with a production of 141,900 tons of lead and 74,969 tons of zinc, constituting respectively about 9 per cent and somewhat less than 6 per cent of the world's total estimated production of these metals.

Modern style of women's dress has helped cut down accidents in Philadelphia, claims F. Johnson of Chamber of Commerce.

KEATING GHOST CAUSED BY GAS

Professor McKenna And Two Oil and Gas Men Express Belief

Professor P. C. McKenna, the phrenologist and palmist, who is at present staying in Peterboro, and who made an attempt to get to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Keating at Campbellford, last Sunday, tried a second time and succeeded.

About a week ago, Mr. and Mrs. Keating, who have achieved a good deal of prominence through the much talked of ghost which was supposed to be haunting their place of abode, wrote to Professor McKenna and asked him a number of questions, among them being an enquiry relative to the authenticity of the phantom which had been troubling them and also several questions as to the likelihood of oil or gas being present under their farm. The professor tried to reach their home last Sunday by motor and came within about seven miles of it, being forced to abandon the attempt owing to the bad condition of the roads. Yesterday afternoon, in company with two gentlemen from Toronto who are interested in oil and gas propositions, he succeeded in getting there, the motor car making the trip all the way.

The visit resulted in an apparently successful attempt by the professor to banish forever the thought of a ghost from the minds of Mr. and Mrs. Keating. According to his opinion after investigation, the occurrence was due to natural causes and was the result of chemical reactions from gases formed while the cellar was in a semi-flooded condition.

LOCAL BOYS ATTEND COURSE

Two Members of J. Y. Kellough's Party Capture Awards at Toronto

Two members of the party of six junior farmers of Durham County captured awards at special education course in swine conducted under the auspices of the Canadian Swine Breeders' Association, The Industrial and Development Council of Canadian Meat Packers, The Live Stock branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, and the Ontario Department of Agriculture, which was held at the packing plants in Toronto on February 9th, 10th, and 11th.

The course was opened to groups from neighboring counties and those attending from Durham included Agricultural Representative J. Y. Kellough, John Moon and Harvey Boughen of Port Hope; Victor Wilson of Campbellcroft, Harold Nesbitt and Ray Edward, Nestleton, and Earl Kellough, Hampton. Harold Nesbitt ranked 3rd in the grading competition and Earl Kellough came fifth. The latter also came 8th in the judging of live hogs and as no competitor may receive more than one prize, he will take the prize in the grading section.

JASPER NATIONAL PARK

Wild life within the confines of Jasper National Park is increasing with great rapidity, and the Athabaska Valley, which gives excellent winter range for them, is simply teeming with deer, elk and rocky mountain sheep and goats, according to R. H. Knight, superintendent of the park, who passed through Winnipeg recently on his way east to attend the conference of superintendents of National Parks and Game Convention.

"Despite the unusually cold weather of November and December, the animals are in excellent condition and are wintering well," he said. "The growth in numbers is remarkable and the park is becoming one of the best on the continent from this standpoint."

Plans for an extensive trail building campaign are now being drawn up and much work will be done in Jasper in the next few years, said the official, whose reports show that the playground is rapidly forging to the front as one of the most popular national parks in the Dominion.

Electric burns were fatal to James Callahan, of Akron, Ohio, who touched a live wire.

BLASPHEMOUS LIBEL LEGISLATION

It will be remembered that a person named Sterry was convicted in Toronto a year or so ago of blasphemous libel and sentenced to jail. The extracts from the libel that were made public shocked the entire community, even those whose professions of sympathy with religion were far from evident. Sympathizers with Sterry, and there were a few, characterized his conviction as an attack upon so-called "liberty of speech," and shortly afterwards demanded that the law under which Sterry was convicted should be repealed.

A Bill was introduced as soon as the House of Commons convened the other day, by Mr. Woodsworth, M.P., of Winnipeg, to repeal the Criminal Code dealing with this question. When the Bill came up for a second reading on Friday, the House made short work of it. Rarely has such indignation been shown towards any legislative measure. Legislation which may be objectionable to the great majority of members is usually treated, at least, courteously. This Bill was literally kicked out of the House. Had it been possible it is more than likely that its sponsors would have been treated likewise.

The personality of those who supported the Bill is worth a passing notice. It was introduced by Mr. Woodsworth and supported by Mr. Bird. Remarkable to relate, both these members of the House are ex-clergymen. The former was a teacher or professor in the Winnipeg Methodist Theological College a few years ago. The latter was a prominent preacher of the gospel in one of the western Provinces.

The question might very well be left just here, without note or comment. All that might be said of this extraordinary exhibition will readily occur to every right thinking person. One cannot but hope that in the inner consciousness of each of these gentlemen some ray of light may pierce through the outward darkness that enshrouds what was once their better selves. Milton depicts Lucifer's fall as immeasurably tragic, because he had held an honoured place with the Most High. One wonders at the strange perversion of an erstwhile religious mind contemplating the advisability of removing all restrictions to the flood-gates of heart breaking, vile, shocking and contemptuous blasphemy, under the childish plea that liberty of speech is being fettered.

It is a sad commentary, however, that the withdrawal of clergymen from their calling, and their entry into public life in this country, has been disappointing and in many cases truly tragic. In no single case has any one of these clergymen been anything but a disappointment. Not a few but have gone wrong morally. Not one has left a record of any value to the public or their constituents. They have been largely idealists or cranks, giving no evidence of a constructive character, such as might be expected from those who, presumably, mingled and should have had sympathy with the toiling masses. It would be a mistake to advise these people to get back to their pulpits again. Better to get back to private life, where physical, not mental, moral or religious effort is necessary.

39 Dead, 12 Rescued in Hollinger Mine Disaster

Twelve Who Escaped Are Recovering From Effects of Harrowing Experience in Northern Ontario Gold Mine. All Bodies Are Located After 48 Hour Search.

The bodies of the 31 men who were still entombed in the Hollinger Mine Sunday have all been located, but have not been brought to the surface.

No official statement of this has been issued to the press as yet, but this is undoubtedly correct. This brings the total of dead to thirty-nine out of the fifty-one who were entrapped.

The rescue parties have worked hard and fast to recover these bodies, and it was some considerable time before the fire could be overcome. Two hoses are still playing on this—one from each end—and the smoke is being cleared away.

The recovery of the bodies and the control of the fire is largely due to the efforts of the United States Bureau of Mines Department crew and their up-to-date apparatus. Some of these men, and the Hollinger men who have been working with them, along with the two volunteers, Black and Stevenson, took entirely worn out, but still they are down in the shaft at the present late hour to gain complete control of the fire.

Early in the evening the powder magazine was reached and there were found S. Dunlop and O. Chenier. Near the magazine another man also was found, O. Ahvenkoski by name. In order to prevent any possibility of danger of the fire reaching the powder magazine, the enclosure was cleared of all explosives, fuses, etc.

When asked as to the inquest into the disaster, H. Montgomery, Town Clerk of Timmins, stated that this would not be fixed until all the bodies were recovered.

The funeral of one of the first victims, Ira P. Graham, took place on Sunday afternoon, under the auspices of the Masonic Order. The body has been shipped to Londonderry, Colchester county, Nova Scotia, for interment.

The second victim, W. Martin Stevens, was interred this morning.

A determined effort was made during the evening to learn the fate of the miners still imprisoned. Seven bodies had been recovered and 31 men were still unaccounted for at 8 o'clock last night. Twelve men had been rescued. Mr. Brigham, general manager, spent most of the day underground and again went down shortly after dinner. As he was leaving for the shaft he told that he expected to be down till about 1 o'clock.

Hope dies hard and Hollinger officials were still hoping that some of those still in the mine workings would be rescued. It was made clear that if the trapped miners stayed close to the air lines and did not wander about, they had a chance to come out alive. If they did not stay close to where the compressed air would help them, their chance was recognizedly slim.

Searchers Organized

Numerous rescue parties were organized Sunday afternoon to go into the mine, Mr. Timmins stated. It was proposed to have as many of these parties as could be arranged, search the mine for the missing, and they were to start at 7:30 o'clock. The work was largely in charge of the experts from the United States Bureau of Mines, headed by Samuel Harrington. Some of the Hollinger men also headed parties. Mr. Timmins told of the efforts that had been made during the day so that the work of the rescue parties could be expedited.

The fire, he stated, was in the 550 stope, east of the No. 11 crosscut and in a raise from the 85 vein.

Twelve men were rescued alive on Saturday. It was due to the work of the men sent up with the special train from Toronto, assisted by the miners themselves, that this dozen were brought out. Prior to that only two bodies, those of Ira Graham and Martin Stevens, both aged natives of Nova Scotia, had been brought to the surface. There was no lack of volunteers for rescue work but the chief handicap was the absence of proper appliances to combat the smoke and carbon monoxide gas. The gas masks furnished by the Toronto Fire Department were of invaluable service, but it was found that the men wearing them

Relief Train Arrives
The relief train from Pittsburgh arrived about 6 o'clock on Sunday morning, and the apparatus was unloaded and strapped to those who were to go down the shaft.

The train is one of eleven which are owned and controlled by the United States Bureau of Mines, and is usually kept on hand at Pittsburgh. Daniel Harrington, who was on this car, is in charge of all the eleven cars, and controls all rescue work of this kind. In addition to Mr. Harrington, there is a rescue crew of four men and the cook. The rescue men are: G. S. McCaa, the inventor of the McCaa gas masks, which are being used at the present time; Russell Thornburg, M.E., in charge of this car; Harold Ferrero and Dr. S. H. Katz, chemist in charge of Gas Mask Laboratory, Bureau of Mines.

Between 700 or 800 men were working underground when the fire was discovered about 10 a.m. on Friday. The alarm was given and by feverish swift operation of the giant hoists, the great majority of men were brought to safety. The remainder, perhaps scouting the fear of fire in a quartz mine, remained below until it was too late for them to escape.

Stories from the rescue men tell of the sudden death which must have overtaken some of the men. The rescuers were warning their way along the crosscut on one of the levels, when they encountered a group of four men apparently partaking of lunch. The attitudes were perfectly normal; in fact, one man was seated with his lunch basket held firmly between his knees, while another was resting his head on his hands as if he were just resting his eyes after finishing his lunch. All were dead.

The fire was still burning Sunday, and the rescue men said it was much worse than Saturday. Efforts to reach the scene of the fire were in vain, but it was expected that those would be sent as near as possible as soon as it was known that this would not endanger the lives of any men who might still be living.

PETERBORO WINS PLAYOFF GAME

Defeat Bowmanville High School At Port Hope Rink Saturday

In an interscholastic playoff game at the Port Hope rink Saturday afternoon, Peterboro Collegiate Institute hockey team defeated Bowmanville High School 3-2 and advanced another rung into the High School finals. The Port Hope High School team was nosed out by P.C.I. in previous home and home games.

Both teams were practically evenly matched in the fixture and at times good spurts of hockey were shown. Throughout the game, both teams checked hard and the deciding goal was not scored until near the end of full time. Dunkerly, on left wing for the Petes, proved to be their best man and scored the team's three goals. The score, by periods is as follows: 1st, Peterboro—2, Bowmanville 1; 2nd, Peterboro 2, Bowmanville 2; and 3rd Peterboro 3, Bowmanville 2.

Peter Open Scoring

The game had progressed but a few minutes when Dunkerly went right in on top of James and slipped in the first goal. James was more or less taken by surprise and both teams set a stiff pace for the rest of the period. James and Merritt, the two goalies turned in good exhibitions and both made numerous saves. Devitt, on the losers' defence, was prominent in rushes, and frequently tested Merritt. At the end of the session Brown had a clear shot on the goal after a nice bit of combination but Merritt saved well. F. Jamieson evened matters up when he scored for Bowmanville but Dunkerly put the Petes in the lead on a pretty play. He grabbed the disc at his own end, swept down the left boards, rounded the defence, and shot to the uppermost corner of the net after drawing James out.

In the second session Bowmanville again knotted the count when F. Jamieson intercepted a pass and scored on a long shot. Both sextets battled hard and three penalties were imposed, with McKee, Brown and Jamieson being the offenders. At the commencement of the last stanza, Peterboro pressed hard and most of the play was around James' goal, who was kept alert but towards the end of the session, Bowmanville had the Petes on the run and swarmed around the net but failed to score. Dooxsee was penalized for carrying his stick high and was no scorer on the ice than he high checked a Bowmanville player and again served time. With three minutes to go, Dunkerly broke away

Creditable Play

In the Oshawa-Bowmanville junior game in the Hosiery Town on Thursday night which ended in a tie, James net guardian for Bowmanville, did about the finest thing heard of in hockey in the overtime. It was a toss-up about five yards in front of Bowmanville's goal and as luck would have it, a well aimed shot sent the rubber straight at the goal an action which was entirely unlooked for. The puck slipped in but was out again before anyone had time to see it. The goal referee ruled there was no score but James admitted that a point had been gained for the opposition. This gave Oshawa her equalizing goal which was made by Arundel.

Gilhooley Has New Lot

Two cities in the International League—Jersey City and Rochester—will have brand new baseball clubs, from bat-boys to managers, this year. And the Jersey City Club in particular has the best prospects it has had in years, Frank Donnelly, its young president believes.

Donnelly has signed Frank (Flash) Gilhooley, to manage the club. "Flash" will take a fine squad of players to Meridian, Mass., March 3, for a month of training and hopes to come back with a team that will figure prominently in the 1928 race.

Gilhooley will have the men who were with him at Rochester last season, as well as some good prospects obtained lately. The outfielders are Jimmy Collins, Otis Lawry, Ed Kunesch, Ed Murphy and Gilhooley himself, all members of the old team; Willard Fleming recalled from Williamsport; Melvin Silva recalled from Waterbury; and George Selkirk, a star of independent ranks.

The infield will be taken care of by Lavern Costello, Joe Manger and George Martin of the old Rochester Club; Dick Ryan, recalled from Manchester; Goldie Rapp, the former big leaguer, from Reading; Bernard McHugh purchased from Nashua and Ray Fitz, an independent.

Lee Head, the veteran catcher, George Starr, recalled from Salem; and Mike Mayholtz, will take care of the receiving department.

GUIDE STORY

The farmer went upstairs and rapped at Muriel's door. Janey opened it a quarter of an inch, glared through space with one eye, and, seeing the farmer's grave face, shut it again with great rapidity.

growled the farmer, and Muriel's soft voice echoing the last three words, Janey, who was fully prepared to defend the door with her foolish young life, opened it and rather reluctantly admitted the farmer. "Well," said he, walking up to Muriel, who rose from her seat by the window and stood pale and tremulous, but inwardly as firm and determined.

of setting your own father—a fond old fool—at defiance. It serves you right, but I don't say that I'm not sorry, my lass, for it stands to reason that girls running shorter of brains than men and being taken with queer fancies, takes it to heart when things run crossways for them. Muriel looked up, paler than ever. "What has happened, father?" she asked, in a low voice. The farmer looked her full in the eyes.

"Young Leigh's gone all wrong and fled the place. Muriel sank into a chair, and for the moment the father, who loved her better than anything else in the world, excepting for hard cash and good land, feared he had given her her death-blow; but ere he could touch her she put up her hand to keep him off and said, firmly: "I don't understand, but I know that he has done nothing wrong."

"Lass, you are a fool!" he said. "Never did I think that a Holt would be such poor blood as to fling stones after such a weak-witted ne'er-do-well as that as has given thee the slip. Done wrong! It's wrong enough, I think, to borrow money ye can't pay back and then cut from the bailiffs."

"Gone!" breathed Muriel. "Gone—aye—and showed a remarkable clean pair of heels, too. He came like a will-o'-the-wisp, and he's vanished like one. Be open with me, lass, for I know thee wast led away to disobey your father by the scamp. Did he leave thee e'er a word now?"

Muriel shook her head. The farmer slapped his leg triumphantly. "By Heaven, I thought not!" he said. "It's sure and certain that he was after thee for my poor bit o' money. A regular speculation, lass, as they call it in Lunnon, depend upon it. But there! don't you fret any more; come downstairs and whistle the bird down the wind. There's as good fish in the sea as ever came out, and, indeed, far better ones than him that's given thee the bo-by, waiting for thy simple 'yes,' Wynter Leigh was a villain as well as a fool!"

With these words he had passed the boundary of her endurance. She rose, beautiful and brave as a leopardess, her usually mild eyes flashing fire on him, and her small hands clenched at her sides.

"Wynter Leigh is an honest man and a true man, if there is one in the world, and until it is proven to me that he is other than that I will never cease to love him!" Then she sank into the chair, and, with a moan, dropped her face into her hands.

The farmer stared grimly at her, then in silence left the room.

Two days later Squire Heatherbridge was filled with concern for poor Jaffer's ignorance, and declared that he would send him to the school.

It was shocking to see the grand son of such a well-conducted old lady as Goody running about as ignorant and silly as a savage. And consequently much to the edification of the villagers, who one and all sang praises to the benevolence and kind heartedness of the young squire, poor, simple-minded Jaffer was conveyed to a school two counties off.

No sooner had Jaffer gone than ugly rumors, at first dim and undefined, but gradually growing into something definite, arose concerning the suddenly vanished Mr. Leigh. Somebody had seen or heard some thing, and at last it was generally believed that the poor, young farmer had really been compelled to fly the Holme, not so much on account of his pecuniary troubles as on that of some lady-love. These rumors, of course, reached Rubywood, and found their way to the little room to which Muriel was still confined; but nothing occurred to confirm or justify them until some months later, when the farmer, who had persuaded Muriel to accompany him to the next market town, saw her comfortably seated in the village phaeton, and for the first time for many months addressed her kindly.

They were talking of the coming season—Muriel listening rather, for she spoke but rarely and always in the low, cheerless voice which seemed habitual to her now—and the farmer said suddenly: "I've bought the Holme, lass."

Muriel started and turned her head aside. The farmer whipped the mare and plunged into the subject. (to be continued)

It's the money you spend wisely that counts.

Someone has said that a rich man has more fun keeping a budget than a man of modern means. Because the money he saves is tangible, he can see it and invest it and put it to work. Be that as it may, a budget is an invaluable help to anyone. A budget helps you keep the right proportions between expenses, prevents you from spending more than is best for food and rent, or crimping more than you should on entertainment and luxury. But a budget is not a reason for getting cheap things, things in which you forfeit quality by attempting to save on price. A budget says to you: "Here is the amount of money you should spend for this. Spend all of it but don't spend more." And it is up to you to get the best that can be got for that amount.

The person who spends his money wisely, who likes to get the utmost for it, always finds out from advertisements how he can spend it to the best advantage.

It is surprising how much more wisely you can buy if you make it a habit to read advertising. A little more value here . . . a little more value there . . . in this thing slightly more durability . . . that product perhaps a bit finer. And every cent of money you spend for advertised merchandise will bring you greater comfort, a higher quality of goods and a standard of excellence that is nationally recognized.

OSHAWA JUNIORS WIN SATURDAY

Home and Home Games To Be Played To Decide Winner

Oshawa juniors defeated Bowmanville 4 to 3 Saturday night in the Hosiery Town in one of the most thrilling games played there this year. The rivalry between the two teams this season has been very keen. A packed rink greeted the teams and the game kept the crowd on edge all the way through.

The victory places Oshawa and Bowmanville in a tie for the group title and home and home games have been arranged. The first to be played in Oshawa tonight with Harold Farlow as referee and the second in Bowmanville Wednesday night. Candler, one of Bowmanville's best players participated in a high school game here Saturday afternoon and illness resulted which prevented him from playing in the crucial game. Oshawa was always in the lead and the score by periods is as follows: 1st, Oshawa 2, Bowmanville 1; 2nd, Oshawa 3, Bowmanville 2; 3rd, Oshawa 4, Bowmanville 3.

Arundel scored the winning goal. Rowden, Little and Harrington were the pick of the winners, while Jackman and Osborne starred for the losers.

Bowmanville—Goal James; defence Hooper and Osborne; centre, Jackman; wings, McMullen and Rundle; subs, Caverley and Piper.

Oshawa—Goal, Leveque; defence, Rowden and Harrington; centre, Arundel; wings, Black and Little; subs Grey, Whitten and Burr, sub-goal.

FIRST HUNDRED YEARS IS THE HARDEST

Harry Bush was haled into court at Calexico, California, on his 104th birthday to explain his carelessness in driving his automobile into an irrigation canal.

None the worse for the accident, Bush admitted he had been "drinking a little." He produced a roll of more than $1000 and paid a small fine.

"You know, judge, the first 100 years are the hardest," he said and was permitted to go on his way.

FOUL PLAY ON SEA HAWK BOAT

Southshore Lakemen Intimate "Hijackers" Killed Crew

Lakemen and members of the rum running fraternity wintering on the south shore of Lake Ontario are convinced that the Sea Hawk, 40-foot cabin cruiser, whose battered hull was found in the ice off Huyck's Point, west of Kingston, last week, did not founder, but was taken in a hijacking raid and her crew of four were probably slain.

In her lockers, when she set out from the Port of Rochester, N.Y., Jan. 18, was $2,000 in United States currency, it is stated.

William Kerr, lakeman of long standing, who owned the boat before Donald Walker of Scriba bought her a few weeks ago, intimates that the boat and her crew of four are victims of foul play.

It is thought that possibly one of the crew gave the tip that there was a sum worth stealing below decks. A raid probably followed, with a fight and quite likely shooting. The money was found, the boat stripped by the victors and the hull towed out free of the island and set adrift, is the belief.

Donald Walker, Norman Mallette and William McElhone, all from Oswego, N.Y. were on the boat. John Guryaw, a mysterious Canadian, whom no one seems to know anything about, was also aboard. Mallette has relatives in Kingston. He was formerly of Ogdensburg.

McGIMSIE—At Port Hope Hospital on Monday, February 13th, 1928, Mary McGimsie. Notice of funeral later.

HEARD ON THE STREET

Will you be my Valentine?

As this is Leap Year the girls are quite within their rights to ask that delicate question.

Tonight Bev Hancock is in charge of the Young Peoples' Society Valentine Party which will bring in the bunch to the United church Sunday school hall for a good time.

Oh man! In your hours of pain how you would miss our hospital with its patient, painstaking nurses. Ye men of Port Hope, the ladies have gone to a lot of trouble at the Valentine Bazaar to put up a supper which you will enjoy and at the same time you will assist our worthy hospital without going to the trouble of much suffering, mental, physical or financial.

There will be general skating at the rink tonight.

Walter Potts, a farmer living near Trenton, died suddenly Friday afternoon in Dr. Alger's office in Stirling village of acute indigestion. Not feeling well, he went into the doctor's office to consult him, but died in about fifteen minutes.

Mrs. A. Sharp of Bancroft village, was Thursday morning at the Trenton C. N. R. station purchasing a ticket to return home, when a man approached her asking for the price of a feed. As Mrs. Sharp was opening her purse, the man snatched the purse and made good his escape. The purse contained a considerable sum.

George Smith of Sidney township was arrested in connection with the robberies that have been committed during the past week in Trenton. When the man was arrested, he had in his possession, it is alleged, some of the articles missing from the store of Frank McEwan, which was broken into Thursday morning.

Mr. J. L. Westaway's Radio Sale Display was so large that it would not go in the regular space so you will find it on page two. When you call to get your radio mention the Guide, "it identifies you."

Saturday a young lad of an inquisitive turn of mind, enquired of the clerk of Hope township why the freight train had stopped on Ontario street at the Bank of Toronto corner, thinking there might have been an accident. The clerk turned and pointed to the 'stop' sign the young man was leaning against and said: "It's a stop street, can't you see?"

The Hospital Valentine Bazaar in the town hall tomorrow is worthy of your support regardless of creed or wealth and besides, you'll have a real good sociable time at their high tea which is served from 4 to 7 o'clock.

Canton Farmers' Club is to have an especially interesting meeting on Thursday when Mr. W. Reynolds is to have a report of special interest to hog raisers and Mr. J. W. Kellogg, of the department of agriculture will take several reels of motion pictures, "Oshawa, the Capital"; "Top Grafting of Fruit Trees"; "Box Packing"; "Apple Time in Evangeline's Line"; "Nitrate of Soda Industry," and these short but intensely interesting pictures will be topped off with a comic strip. It is a program which will be of much profit and well worth attending.

PROTEST SENT TO EXECUTIVE

Shamrocks and Victorias in Scheduled Game Tuesday Night

Notification of protest has been filed to the executive of the Port Hope Town League by the Maroon management regarding the Shamrock-Maroon game last Thursday night when the Shamrocks won 4-3. The grounds for the protest state that the last goal was not scored according to the rules as the Shamrock player 'charged' the Maroon goalie and shoved puck and goalie into the net. The protest will be dealt with at an early date.

Tomorrow night the Shamrocks and Victorias clash in a scheduled engagement at the local rink and a win for the Shamrocks will put them in first place and should the Victorias win, they will create a tie for second place. The game will be played from 7 to 8 and promises to be a good one.

The standing of the league is as follows:—

	W	L	D	Pts
Maple Leafs	2	0	2	6
Shamrocks	2	1	1	5
Victorias	0	1	3	3
Maroons	0	2	2	2
