C. N. R. LINE

Between Ottawa and Port Arthur Will Open Up Important Territory

Toronto World

A survey of the main line of the Canadian Northern Ontario Railway extending from Ottawa to Port Arthur has been completed, and the exact location of the road, as decided upon by the company was given to the World Saturday night. It is believed that the work of construction will be commenced this year, and that the road will be open for traffic at the end of three years.

The Canadian Northern Ontario Railway, which name is given to that portion of the C. N. R. transcontinental line running through the Province of Ontario, commences at Rideau Junction on the Toronto-Ottawa branch, now under construction, and crossing the Ottawa River at Fitzroy Harbor, will continue along the Ottawa Valley on the Quebec side to Portage du Fort, where it returns to the Ontario side and runs through Pembroke and Petawawa to North Bay. Continuing, it will pass up the Vermillion Valley and great clay belt of the Algoma District to Lake Nipigon, and thence to Port Arthur, where it connects with the C. N. R. proper.

Runs near proposed canal. Taking the Ottawa Valley as its route, it will run to close proximity to the proposed Georgian Bay Canal at many points. At first it was believed these two highways would work in opposition to each other but upon further consideration of the industries and utilities served by each, the C. N. R. decided that far from interfering with one another, they will be complementary, and both necessary to the full development of the district through which they pass.

The great basin drained by the Ottawa River possesses unlimited resources, which bid fair to make the Ottawa Valley one of the greatest fields of industrial activity on the continent. Two things are necessary for its development, cheap coal and cheap and rapid transit facilities. The canal will supply the one, and the railway the other. The Canadian Northern Ontario Railway, although exploiting a new country, will make five crossings of other roads, and in every case overhead. It will pass through regions rich in iron and marble, besides the coarser minerals, phosphate of lime, feldspar, mica and graphite, which all lie dormant for want of cheap transportation. Rich agricultural districts and large areas of timber, including first quality pine, the timber and that required for pulp development will be opened up. The country is unsurpassed for its aesthetic value, possessing innumerable streams and small lakes, which afford the sportsman another "hunters paradise."

Will develop water powers. The new line will leave Rideau Junction some six miles southwest from the point of entry into Ottawa, and will run directly west through the Village of Bell's Corners, through the rich and comparatively undeveloped country in March and Torbolton Townships, unreserved by any existing road, and cross the Ottawa at Fitzroy Harbor to the Quebec side of the river. By taking this route the company hope to encourage manufacturing establishments at the magnificent water power at Chats Falls, such as have been promoted by inferior powers on the Mississippi at Carleton Place, Almonte and Gallella, and on the Bonaventure at Ranfrew.

Fitzroy Harbor, altho rather difficult to reach at present, is already quite a resort for Ottawa people, and a more than commonly beautiful spot.

The Quebec side is quite as valuable as the Ontario from the agricultural point of view, and it is well settled. Some iron deposits were worked for a time at Bristol, close to the line, but were too remote from coal supply to be successful. It seems more than likely that the Georgian Bay Canal, making it possible to bring Nova Scotia coal to the spot at a very low rate, together with the cheap power and railway, encouraging manufacturers using pig iron, will have the effect of reviving the industry, and making even very low grade and impure ores of value.

AID TO GOVERNMENT WORKS

The railway will give indispensable aid to the government as well as themselves in the building of the navigation and controlling works, and give access to it at three points not touched by other railways, and these three are points where works of great magnitude will be necessary, Hawkesbury, Fitzroy Harbor and Portage du Fort. At the latter point the railway will again cross the Ottawa at the foot of its greatest individual drop of one hundred feet, which means not less than 150,000 horse-power.

It then enters on the Ontario side the township of Ross and a little further on, Westmeath. The latter

CHARLECOTE.

From Our Own Correspondent. The Charlecote Branch of the Woman's Institute, together with their husbands, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grant on Thursday, February 9th, and presented Mrs. Grant with the following address and token of esteem:

To Mr. and Mrs. Grant:

We, the members of the Charlecote Woman's Institute, desiring to show our appreciation of your kindness in opening your spacious home and entertaining us so cheerfully and pleasantly at our annual meetings, ask your acceptance of this chair for Mrs. Grant, as a slight token of our regard for her and her efforts in assisting us in our Woman's Institute. We also wish to extend our hearty thanks to Mr. Grant for his valuable assistance. We trust that when Mrs. Grant is resting in her chair from her labors of the day, she will recall to mind these many friends who have assembled to pass a sociable evening with her. We have always found you a good neighbor and ready ready to lend the helping hand to those in need.

Trusting that our Heavenly Father will long spare you to each other, and that the future may contain much happiness and many bright days for you both, is the wish of all your friends.

Signed on behalf of the Charlecote Woman's Institute:

Mr. Darke, Mrs. Cockburn, Mrs. Uglow, Mrs. Symons, Miss Raby, Mrs. Sexsmith.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant, although taken by surprise, made suitable reply.

The remainder of the evening was spent in games and a short program was rendered, after which lunch was served provided by the ladies.

The Charlecote Branch of the Woman's Institute met at the home of Mrs. George Russalls on Wednesday, February 8th, and was well attended, there being fifteen members present as well as a number of visitors.

POLICE COURT

Barney Kenealey Arrested On a Charge of Stealing Suit Case

A. Kenealey, of Cobourg, was arrested here yesterday charged with stealing a suit case from the Queen's Hotel, the property of Mr. Cheeseworth, a commercial traveller of Toronto. Kenealey denies the theft but a pair of socks bearing the laundry mark of Mr. Cheeseworth was found in Kenealey's pocket after the arrest. He was remanded until two o'clock this afternoon and at the time of going to press the trial is in progress.

especially has a reputation as one of the best grain producers in Ontario, and its emporium, Beachburg, is prosperous in spite of its nine-mile haul to the C.P.R. at Bobden.

Crossing over to the Valley of Muskat River it enters Pembroke from the rear, the C.P.R. having taken up the whole waterfront. Twelve miles further it will pass Petawawa, and skirting the south edge of the military reserve plunges into the wilderness by the valley of the Petawawa. This is a singular depression lying almost parallel to the Ottawa for many miles.

PASSES THROUGH ALGONQUIN PARK

On the river are several very fine water powers, infinitely larger than those that have built up the thriving towns of Bracebridge and Burk's Falls on the Grand Trunk. To the south and west lies practically all that is left of the pine of older Ontario, and there is still a great deal within a short distance of the line at Cedar Lake, and this will probably be seen at this point, instead of taking two years to float to the mills at Hawkesbury, Arnprior and Ottawa.

At Cedar Lake it leaves the main river and ascends a branch which drains Lake Cauchon, thence over a low divide to the collecting basin of the Amable du Fond, another river with a tremendous fall and great opportunities for power development. The railroad does not follow the river, but cuts across to the Wistwasung, where it again emerges from the wilderness to settled country, settlement which has pushed its way from Powassan to be successfully cultivated. The settler can make a living, but it is hard for him to make any money.

WILL ASCEND THE STURGEON

It here diverges from the line located to Key Inlet and passing Callendar on Lake Nipissing, runs through Nipissing Junction and into North Bay. The C.N.O. propose to pass in the rear of North Bay, and leaving the C.P.R. as soon as the topography will allow, ascend the Sturgeon and its tributary, the Kapikotwia, and crossing the Wahnapiatae River, skirt the south side of the lake and join their own constructed line at Capreol. Nearly the whole of the country traversed is fit for settlement, and similar to that around Sturgeon Falls, Berner, Markstay and Warren on the C.P.R. On the southwest side of Wahnapiatae Lake are a great number of promising mining locations.

From this point up the Vermillion Valley it is already producing iron ore and pine timber and the lumbermen are still in advance of the road and looking forward eagerly for further extension. Immediately over the height of land for some forty miles is some of the best timber country, timber that cannot be marketed except by railway, because the streams run the wrong way. Beyond this again the pine occurs at intervals for another hundred miles to the edge of, and into the clay belt, and there are numerous areas of good land, as at the Flying Post. Iron ore is being exploited at Mattagami Lake, about eight miles from the line, and exists at numerous other points.

PULP POSSIBILITIES.

This last hundred miles is a country of comparatively small streams, with numerous lakes and ponds, but at the Groundhog the C.N.O. will cross the first of the large rivers. Having crossed the great central plateau the road is well over the Hudson Bay slope, and the rivers are strong, swift and numerous. The next is the Apshikano-gama, and the next Kapuskasing, having fine water-powers and a good growth of timber along its banks, with possibilities for pulp development.

The railway also enters the clay belt at this point, and nearly all the country is fit for settlement, although there are some islands and ridges of rock. This kind of country extends for some two hundred miles, in which distance the C.N.O. will cross the Missinable, the Kabikakami, the Morrison, the Nagagami, the Pugatchewan and the Kenogami, all strong and rapid rivers.

It will also pass within thirty or forty miles of the great fall of the Pic, one of the finest water powers in the country and quite comparable with the Kakabeka.

Rounding the north end of Long Lake it heads southwest for Lake Nepigon, and for thirty miles or more the country is most attractive clear lakes and sandy beaches, wide valleys, wooded with spruce and low rolling hills with poplar and birch.

Entering the country of the Blackwater the land gets gradually rougher and the road descends, but still with much soil until it merges on the shore of Lake Nepigon.

On the Little Long Lake and near the mouth of the Blackwater are large iron deposits and in the Sturgeon Valley much spruce, all tributary to the line.

DIFFICULT CONSTRUCTION.

The road along Orient Bay will be the most difficult for construction, and will necessitate the excavating of a tunnel 1200 feet in length. The scenery for the next twenty miles is very fine, and the fishing probably the finest in the world on fresh water. The railway will follow a curious gorge extending from the end of Orient Bay, an ancient glacier bed filled with gravel and drift, past a number of small lakes and surmounting a low divide, come out in the Township of Ledger, sloping toward Nepigon Bay.

This Township has much good land and a heavy growth of timber. Ten miles of this and it comes to the Nepigon itself at Cameron's Falls, the finest water-power in Algoma district, and thence some fourteen miles along the alluvial flats of the river brings it to Nepigon station. From Nepigon to Port Arthur it passes through Nepigon and Lyon Townships, where little settlement has been effected. Oumet and Dorion show some fine farms and thrifty farmers all clamorous for a means of getting their crops to market.

The Black Sturgeon, which it crosses in the Township of Lyon, is one of the most promising pulp rivers on the north shore. MacGregor Township is rougher, but offers chances of development in the line of suburban settlement from Port Arthur along the very beautiful shore of Thunder Bay, and in the east end is a large blanket of iron ore now being worked at a profit.

BELIEVES IN G. B. CANAL.

In an interview with the World on Saturday night, shortly after the above plans had been handed out, H. K. Wickstead, chief engineer of surveys for the Canadian Northern, gave several reasons why the C. N. R. deem the construction of the Georgian Bay Canal a benefit to the Canadian Northern railway. It will be remembered that Mr. Wickstead was the first man to advocate the construction of the canal for the navigation of large steamers. This was in 1890. Reefer and Clark, engineers of New York City, started an agitation in 1859 for the digging of the canal for small barges to pass through, but the idea of ocean steamers reaching Georgian Bay was considered an impossibility by them.

Mr. Wickstead said: this is not mere surmise and speculation; it is history and experience. The Mississippi, built up towns and cities along its banks, still carries an enormous volume of coal to New Orleans but the full and final development of the country along its bank is due to the Illinois Central, which, so far from being injured from the competition, is probably the most prosperous north and south road on the continent.

AMERICAN ANALOGIES.

"Previous to the opening of the St. Lawrence east of Prescott, one of the most remarkable waterways in the world, was the Hudson River and its extension the Erie Canal. It built up the cities of Albany, Utica, Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo, but the New York Central railway completed the work. The Lake Shore line skirts the shore of Lake Erie, in sight of the big freighters plying in and out of Buffalo.

"There are a dozen lines which run along Lake Michigan between Chicago and Milwaukee, not competing with, but supplementing the lake traffic. The best paying section of the Grand Trunk is between Toronto and Montreal, and one of the best of the Canadian Pacific that between Ottawa and Quebec both paralleling waterways. The explanation is, I think, simple. We railroad men are prone to believe that with grades flat enough, and with roadbed good enough, we can solve all transportation problems. But we cannot carry Lake Superior iron ore to Lake Erie ports in the quantities and at the rates demanded by the greatest iron industry that the world has ever seen or dreamed of. We cannot carry Cape Breton coal to Winnipeg or Port Arthur, for one hundred industrial uses, nor rags for paper making from London, Liverpool, Antwerp or Frankfurt. There are certain classes of cheap and heavy commodities which will not bear the cost of railway transport, and if not provided with something cheaper, will not move at all, and not only does the railway not lose this traffic but it actually gains and gains prodigiously by the distribution of the manufactured product through the country, and the passenger and express service demanded by the manufacturing population. That the canal and railway must go hand in hand in this work is my fixed idea.

A TROUBLESOME MISGIVING

At Dent station, ashamed to ask (like a tramp) the way to so remote a place as Twybridge, he jotted down a list of intervening railway stoppages, and thus was enabled to support the semblance of one who strolls on for his pleasure. A small handbag he was obliged to carry, and the clouded sky made his umbrella a requisite. On he trudged steadily, for the most part by muddy ways, now through a pleasant village, now in rural solitude. He had had the precaution, at breakfast time, to store some pieces of bread in his pocket, and after two or three hours this resource was welcome. Happily the air and exercise helped him to get rid of his headache. A burst of sunshine in the afternoon would have made him reasonably cheerful, but for the wretched meditations surviving from yesterday.

He pondered frequently on his spasmodic debauch, repeating, as well as memory permitted, all his absurdities of speech and action. Defiant self-justification was now far to seek. On the other hand, he perceived very clearly how easy it would be for him to lapse by degrees of weakened will into a ruinous dissoluteness. Anything of that kind would mean, of course, the abandonment of his ambitions. All he had to fight the world with was his brain; and only by incessant strenuousness in its exercise had he achieved the moderate prominence declared in yesterday's ceremony. By birth, by station, he was of no account; if he chose to sink, no influential voice would deplore his falling off to remind him of what he owed to himself. Chilvers, now—a what a wide-spreading outcry, what calling upon gods and men, would be excited by any detection of that brilliant youth! Godwin Peak must make his own career, and that he would hardly do, save by efforts greater than the ordinary man can put forth. The ordinary man?—Was he in any respect extraordinary? Were his powers noteworthy? It was the first time that he had deliberately posed this question to himself, and for answer came a rush of confident blood, pulsing through all the mechanism of his being.

The train of thought which occupied him during this long trudge was to remain fixed in his memory; in any survey of the years of pupilage this recollection would stand prominently forth, associated, moreover, with one slight incident, which at the time seemed a mere interruption of his musing. From a point on the high road he observed a small quarry, so excavated as to present an interesting section; though weary, he could not but turn aside to examine these strata. He knew enough of the geology of the country to recognize the rocks and reflect with understanding upon their position; a fragment in his hand, he sat down to rest for a moment. Then a strange fit of brooding came over him. Escaping from the influences of personality, his imagination wrought back through eras of geologic time, held him in a vision of the infinitely remote, shrivelled into insignificance all but the one fact of inconceivable duration. Often as he had lost himself in such reveries, never yet had he passed so wholly under the dominion of that awe which attends a sudden triumph of the pure intellect. When at length he rose, it was with wide, blank eyes, and limbs partly numb. These needed half an hour's walking before he could recover his mood of practical self-search.

Until the last moment he could not decide whether to let his mother know how he had reached Twybridge. His arrival corresponded pretty well with that of a train by which he might have come. But when the door opened to him, and the familiar faces smiled their welcome, he felt that he must have nothing to do with paltry deceit; he told of his walk, explaining it by the simple fact that this morning he had found himself short of money. How that came to pass, no one inquired. Mrs. Peak, shocked at such martyrdom, tended him with all motherly care; for once, Godwin felt that it was good to have a home however simple.

This amiable frame of mind was not likely to last beyond the first day. Matter of irritation soon enough offered himself, as was invariably the case at Twybridge.

It was pleasant enough to be feted as the hero of the family, to pull out a Kingsmill newspaper and exhibit the full report of prize-day at Whitejaw, with his own name, in very small type, demanding the world's attention, and finally to exhibit the volumes in tree-calt which his friend the librarian had forwarded to him. But domestic circumstances soon made assault upon his nerves, and trial of his brief patience.

First of all, there came an unexpected disclosure. His sister Charlotte had affianced herself to a young man of Twybridge, one Mr. Cusse, whose prospects were as slender as his present means. Mrs. Peak spoke of the affair in hushed privacy with shaking of the head and frequent sighs, for to her mind Mr. Cusse had few even personal recommendations. He was a draper's assistant. Charlotte had made his acquaintance on occasions of church festivity, and urged the fact of his zeal in Sunday-school tuition as sufficient reply to all doubts. As he listened, Godwin bit his lips. "Does he come here, then?" was his inquiry.

"Once or twice a week. I have not felt able to say anything against it Godwin. I suppose it will be a very long engagement."

To Be Continued.

"The Old Homestead."

Denman Thompson's "The Old Homestead" is rapidly hastening on to its silver jubilee. This celebrated drama of New England rural life is now in its twenty-fifth year, and has only two more years to run when it will have completed a quarter of a century of uninterrupted success. When we look back upon the years that have intervened since "The Old Homestead" was first produced at the Boston Theatre in April, 1886, it seems incredible that this same, simple, domestic drama, dealing, as it does, with scenes and incidents which are in no way remarkable in themselves, should in this theatrical season of 1910-11 be still the best drawing cards in the theatrical world. Millions of people have witnessed it during the past twenty-two years, and yet the theater-going public has not yet tired of dear old Uncle Josh, of Cy Prime and Seth Perkins, Aunt Matilda, Eb Canzy, Happy Jack, Ricketty Ann and the other. The singing of the quartette of farm hands is looked forward to with as much interest as of yore and the scenic equipment this season is as beautiful and effective as ever. This play will appear at the Grand on Monday, Feb. 20th. Plan open at G. V. Strong's on Thursday morning.

The C. P. R. Surveyors are at work in the vicinity of Garden Hill, working south to connect with the proposed main line.

VOICED OWN IDEAS

Clark Surprised That Anyone Took Him Seriously.

KNOX SPEAKS AT CHICAGO

Secretary Says Fear of Groundless Annexation Should Not Obscure the Benefits to Be Derived From Interchange of Goods—President Taft Deprecates Democratic Leader's Flag-Waving Sentiments.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The semi-annual remarks of Champ Clark, the Democratic Speaker-to-be, made in the House on Tuesday during the debate on the Canadian reciprocity agreement to the effect that he believed the Stars and Stripes would one day float over the entire western hemisphere, stirred up most unexpected trouble yesterday. President Taft took occasion to write to Representative McCall a letter disclaiming and deprecating the annexation talk, and to follow it up with personal remarks even more emphatic to his visitors. The news that Mr. Clark's allusions had created excitement in Canada and in England occasioned great surprise and considerable amusement at the capital. The man most surprised of all was Mr. Clark himself.

Mr. Clark's entire speech on reciprocity Tuesday was delivered in a half-humorous, half-taunting vein. The House was in a gale of laughter most of the time. In return for the laughs he was creating at their expense, some of the Republicans tried to turn the tables on Mr. Clark by asking him with the fact that he might have President Taft as an opponent for the Democratic nomination. The humorous exchange reflected the spirit of the debate during the entire time Mr. Clark was on his feet, and no one gave serious consideration to his remarks regarding the possible annexation of Canada at some distant time. They regarded his statements in the nature of a compliment to the Canadian people, in that he would be glad to see the friendship that exists at present between the Canadians and the people of the United States so great in the future that all might someday be under one flag.

Knox Sees No Danger.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—Though the people of the United States and Canada are "a substantially homogeneous people," with "deep moral and racial reciprocities," the benefits of the proposed commercial reciprocity with Canada "ought not to be obscured by the fear of relations too cordial and conceivably dangerous to the great Canadian loyalty to England," is the opinion of the Secretary of State, Philander C. Knox, who addressed the Chicago Association of Commerce here last night.

Mr. Knox declared that while migrations proceeded as constantly and as freely between Canada and the United States, as between two states of this country, and while the two peoples have been welding together for two centuries, "there is not the slightest probability that this racial and moral union will involve any political change or annexation or absorption."

"If there should be any great world movement involving this continent, Canada and the United States would be a matter of course, act in the most perfect concert in defence of the common rights of a common blood and civilization." Speaking of the provision for free wheat, Mr. Knox pointed out that the transportation facilities of the United States for handling the surplus Canadian crop must be taken into account, thus preventing "the demoralization of prices which results through the dumping of larger quantities upon the European markets, where the world's supply is fixed." He declared that the free admission of grain from Canada would meet the present situation and place the control in the hands of the American growers.

Greatest Opportunity in Years.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—An urgent plea for the proposed reciprocity agreement between Canadian and the United States was made last night by Jas. J. Hill, at the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Mr. Hill said in part:

"There ought not to be one vote in Congress or one voice in the country against an arrangement worth more than armies and navies, more in dollars and cents than the acquisition of other markets for which we are prepared to spend huge sums. Every man in public life who knows the true value and effect of reciprocity, and yet opposes, is willing to sacrifice the most important interests of his country and to close the greatest opportunity to open it in years. "Any opposition to a project so advantageous to the American people is so extraordinary that the nature and cause of it should be considered first. It comes from three sources; two of which may be summarily disposed of. Such of the monopolistic combinations as find their power to overcharge the people imperilled by reciprocity are naturally against it."

Casgrain, Not Langelier.

Montreal, Feb. 16.—The report sent out from this city Tuesday night that Sir Francis Langelier would succeed Sir Alphonse Pelletier as Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec is without foundation.

Senator Casgrain is in line for the appointment, and as he has previously made the offer of this post, it is considered as practically certain that he will succeed Sir Alphonse Pelletier. The latter's resignation, however, has not yet been received by Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

MARKET REPORTS.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Lower—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 15.—The market at opening was influenced by the steadyness in Chicago yesterday, and values were about unchanged to a higher, with the principal strength in May, and shorts covered. Following opening, there was a reaction on a limited scale. The market was extremely full, with liberal Australian and Argentine offers. Spot markets were bid lower, with some pressure, and European crop advices continue generally favorable with good crop accounts from Russia. Lower Buenos Ayres market at the close.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—Wheat to-day made a new low record for the season, anticipation and reciprocity were twin bogaboos. A decidedly nervous tone prevailed at the close, which was due to the under last night. Other grain suffered less severely, corn finishing at a net decline of 1/4c to 1/2c, and oats off 1/4c to 1/2c. Latest sales of spot products ranged from 2 1/2c cheaper to a nickel advance.

Oats were weaker, and prices declined 1/2c per bushel, with sales of round lots of 200 and 300 bushels at 3 1/2c for No. 1 C.W. The trade in flour was quiet. Millfeed is very scarce and firm. CATTLE MARKETS.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Feb. 15.—At the Canadian Pacific live stock market the offerings this morning were 550 cattle, 300 sheep and lambs, 500 hogs and 500 calves. There was no important change in the condition of the market for cattle, prices being well maintained under a good demand and small supplies. The trade was fairly active throughout, and a clearance was made.

A feature of the trade was the sale of one extra choice heifer, weighing 1250 lbs., at 7 1/2c per lb., which is the highest figure which has been paid here since Christmas. Choice steers sold at 6 1/2c; good at 6 1/4c; fairly good at 6 1/8c; fair at 6 1/2c to 6 1/4c, and the lower grades at 6 1/4c to 6 1/2c per lb. A few choice cows and bulls brought 5 1/2c, and the common grades sold at from that down to 5 1/4c per lb.

The market for sheep and lambs was quiet on account of the limited supplies coming forward, and prices ruled steady. Sheep sold at 4 1/2c to 4 3/4c, and lambs at 4c to 4 1/2c per lb. A weaker feeling developed in the market for calves on account of the increased receipts, and prices ruled lower, with sales at from 2 1/2c to 2 1/4c, as to size and quality.

The market for hogs was weaker, and prices declined 5c to 7c per 100 lbs., owing to the supplies being much larger than were generally expected. At the reduction the demand was strong, and the sale of selected lots were made at 17.50 to 17.75 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars.

At the Montreal Stock Yards west end market the receipts were 300 cattle, 100 sheep and lambs, 300 hogs and 400 calves. The feature of the trade was the weaker feeling in the market for hogs, and prices were lower, at 5.00c to 5.75c per 100 lbs. for selected lots, weighed off cars. The demand for cattle, sheep, lambs and calves was good, and the prices realized were about the same as those quoted above.

HUGH GUTHRIE'S SPEECH

Member for South Wellington Replies to Pessimistic Critics of the Tariff Agreement—Canada Is Not Bound and If Colonial Conference Has Better to Offer Reciprocity Negotiations May Cease.

Ottawa, Feb. 16.—"Canada is young, vigorous, progressive. She is strong in the enthusiasm of achievement. She cannot afford to listen to the counsel of the timid, the faint-hearted, the pessimist. She must be up and doing; ever going ahead. She cannot sit down and fold her arms close her eyes and murmur, 'Let well enough alone.' She can retire from business altogether, but she is not doing that. She knows that if she is not moving forward she must be moving backward. There is no standing still. And the policy of the Government, since it took office in 1896, year by year, has been forward, forward, forward."

Such was the keynote of the splendid speech of Mr. Hugh Guthrie in the Commons yesterday, which roused the Liberals to repeated enthusiasm. Mr. Burrell continued his remarks on the reciprocity arrangement. He said there were one million peach trees on ten thousand acres in western Ontario, and there was no doubt that this industry would be injured by the reciprocity agreement. They had five million fruit trees in the orchards of British Columbia, and in no other part of Canada would the industry be hit with equal force. They were still at the beginning of things. Thousands of men had spent their all on the fruit lands, and the proposals of the Government were deplorably cruel.

With regard to the remark of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to the effect that growers' delegation that they were too late, Mr. Burrell pointed out that the Niagara fruit growers at St. Catharines, Ont. on Dec. 15, had sent a resolution to Hon. Wm. Paterson asking that nothing be done until their case had been heard.

Mr. Paterson had acknowledged this before the western farmers were heard. Did the Government think these subterfuges were creditable? Was it ever too late to do justice?

Hugh Guthrie (South Wellington), who followed Mr. Burrell, said it was almost a waste of time to reply to the argument that there had been in Canada no demand for better trade relations with the United States. As a matter of fact there had been no period since the abrogation of the old reciprocity agreement of 1854 when there had not been a positive and active demand for freer trade with our neighbors to the south.

Mr. Guthrie said that the best feature of the agreement was that it was not in the form of a binding treaty. It was simply a bargain based on the good faith of the two nations.

It had been argued that Canada should wait till another Colonial Conference had been held, but the best answer was that we had not bound our hands, and that if anything better developed at the Colonial Conference, Canada was still free to take advantage of it. Proceeding, Mr. Guthrie said that he believed that the agreement contained advantages for both countries. If it was a one-sided bargain it would not last for twelve months, nevertheless he believed that the preponderating advantage was on the side of the Dominion.

In the Senate yesterday the question of a better distribution of work between the Commons and the Upper House was discussed, and a resolution moved by Senator David adopted inviting the Lower Chamber to join in the formation of a joint committee to report on a plan. The Senate representatives on the committee will be Sir Richard Cartwright, Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Messrs. Loughheed, Beique, Power, Belmont and David.

Senator Macdonald said there should be more young and active men in the Senate, and the membership of both that branch of the Legislature and the Commons itself should be cut in half.

In committee on a bill to prohibit the improper use of opium and other drugs Senator Loughheed expressed the opinion that this measure did not go far enough. Deadly patent medicines were being sold and it was time they should be inspected and approved or forbidden by the Government before being put on sale. Sir Richard Cartwright said he would be glad to consider any amendment which was proposed.

Senator Power thought there was a question of provincial jurisdiction to be considered.

Senator Cloran said the bill was within Federal jurisdiction as it made certain offences a crime.

Senator Kirchoffer, chairman of the divorce committee, reported in favor of granting the application of Dr. L. F. Robertson for divorce from his wife Elizabeth Louise Robertson, now of London, England, and in favor of granting the application of Maggie Florence Sadlier of Toronto, from her husband, W. A. Sadlier, barrister, formerly of Toronto.

Nearly Perished in Fire.

DUFF'S MILK BILL

It Comprises Most of the Previous Legislation.

Toronto, Feb. 16.—Hon. J. S. Duff, Minister of Agriculture, yesterday announced the particulars of his pure milk bill.

The bill follows the recommendations made by the Milk Commission appointed by the Government. It is entitled, "An act respecting the production and sale of milk for human consumption." It seeks to embody all legislation on this subject, hence many of its clauses are not new.

The bill gives municipalities complete control over their milk supply. And sets general standards for the province. The principle followed is that the municipality in which the milk is to be consumed should have complete control in the matter of the production, care and sale. Municipalities are given power to pass bylaws making regulations as to the care of cows, the sanitary condition of the places where cows are kept, the water supplied to cows, the care of utensils used in handling milk, the proper storage and transportation of milk, the making of bacteriological tests as a guide to the wholesomeness of milk, and such other matters as may be considered necessary. These regulations are to be approved by the Minister of Agriculture.

Councils are also authorized to fix standards for butter fat and total solids, but it is provided that "no milk shall be sold for human consumption which contains less than 12 per cent. of solids, of which 3 per cent. shall be butter fat." In addition to this, stringent provisions are made to prevent adulteration.

Councils are empowered to appoint inspectors. As to tuberculosis, it is provided that no milk shall be sold from any cow which, upon physical examination by a certified veterinarian, shall be declared as suffering from tuberculosis. It is provided that no cans or other utensils used in the distribution of milk shall be used for any other purposes, and all must be thoroughly cleansed.

For Irish Parliament.

London, Feb. 16.—The Nationalist members of the House of Commons came across the Irish Channel in force yesterday for the preliminary skirmish on the home rule question, which arose as the result of an amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne, moved in the Lower House by Ian Z. Malcolm, Conservative member for Croydon.

Complaining that the obscurity of the Ministerial remarks on the subject of home rule, "which avowedly was one of the main reasons for altering the existing constitution," hampered an effective deliberation on the proposed changes of relations between the two Houses of Parliament, Mr. Malcolm asked on what terms peace had been patched up between the Liberals and Nationalists.

He claimed that the land purchase act, permitting Irish tenants to acquire property, had knocked the bottom out of the demand for home rule and protested against an attempt to smuggle home rule through by a single chamber government.

Perjury Charges Dismissed.

Chatham, Feb. 16.—Late yesterday the Bothwell perjury trials were finished before Magistrate Houston, who dismissed both Mrs. Duncan and Daniel Matthews on the charges preferred against them by John G. C. Irving, Baptist preacher of Bothwell. Irving charged the parties with falsely swearing to property qualifications. In both cases it was proved that the defendants had voted in good faith, and that their names appeared on the voters' lists at the time of the election. Mrs. Duncan and Matthews were summarily arrested on the charge, along with Robert McNeill, who was dismissed in the morning. The cases arose out of the local option campaign in Bothwell last January, in which local option was defeated by a straight majority.

Freed From Kaiser's Authority.

Berlin, Feb. 16.—The commission of the Reichstag further amended the Government's draft of the constitution proposed for Alsace-Lorraine yesterday, wholly freeing the future state from the influence of the Emperor. The commission struck out the clause giving the Emperor the exercise of executive authority, and substituted a provision for a regent who would hold office for life and be nominated by the Emperor upon the proposal of the Bundestrah. The regent also would be removable only by the Bundestrah.

Senator Wood Stricken.

Ottawa, Feb. 16.—Senator Josiah Wood of Sackville, N.B., was stricken with paralysis while talking breakfast yesterday morning in his down town apartments. Members of his family have been telegraphed for.

Senator Wood, who is a Conservative, was appointed to the Senate in 1895. He was born in 1843.

M. E. Nichols, managing director of The Winnipeg Telegram, and a former member of the Parliamentary press gallery, is a son-in-law of the afflicted Senator.

Bad Fire at Farnham, Que.

Farnham, Que., Feb. 16.—Mid flying bullets, the firemen fought a $35,000 fire here yesterday.

It began at 8 a.m. in the hardware store of L. Ems in the Laurette Block, where there was a store of ammunition, burned the Hochelaga bank, the Dryant building and the Nursery Bureau. The Eastern Townships Bank was threatened.

St. Johns, Que., sent a fire engine and men on a request for help.

CHIEFTAINS ENGAGE

Budget Debate Ends With the Leaders on Floor.

HOODWINKING THE PUBLIC

Hon. A. G. MacKay Has Trenchant Criticism For the Ontario Government's Method of Keeping Accounts—Sir James Had Taken the Opposition's Advice In the Matter of Mining Royalties.

Toronto, Feb. 16.—Crowded galleries and members present, all but six, were the tribute paid by public and Legislature alike to the oratorical prowess of the talented leader of the Opposition, and the redoubtable Premier, who were called to bring the budget debate to a stirring conclusion yesterday. The finale included the first division of the session.

Hon. A. G. MacKay said the figures in the annual financial statement should not be juggled with. If the classification advocated by the honorable Provincial Treasurer, in 1906, were adopted instead of that used by him now instead of a bogey surplus of $2,496 there would be shown a deficit of over half a million dollars.

There was a reason for the manner of statements that the Provincial Treasurer had made. The curse of the party system was responsible. It was necessary to cover up the ruthless disposal of natural resources. The curse of the party system had been exemplified in the United States, where the forests had become annihilated.

A board of directors who would attempt to hoodwink its shareholders in the way the Provincial Treasurer had would not be long in being driven off the board. It was not the part of any public man to so arrange his receipts as to make a deficit appear as a surplus.

Members of the Government had contrasted the price the Liberals had received for its land in the mineral areas as compared with what it was now bringing. "The inference is that because we sold land for $3 an acre in the early days of New Ontario, we would still be selling it at the same figure. When we sold it for $3 an acre that was all it was worth. The wealth of the territory was not dreamed of."

The Government had paid the Opposition a compliment in adopting their suggestion of placing the mines on a royalty basis, but they had not gone far enough. He had advised that the rich mines should be taxed a greater percentage than the smaller ones. The heaviest load should be saddled on the strongest horse.

The succession duties act could also be enlarged upon. Large estates of millions should be made to cough up a larger percentage than estates of $50,000, and nobody would be hurt.

The great revenues, of which the present Government boasted, were flowing in as a result of laws made by the old Government. It had been stated that the Government employed too many civil servants. It might be so. He would not argue either way, but if civil servants were to be retained the province should be big enough to pay them fair, living wages.

Mr. MacKay noted that the cost of civil government had increased 63 per cent. under the present Government; the expenditure on crown lands had increased 98 per cent., while the cost for agriculture had only increased 35 per cent. The Government was not doing its duty by agriculture.

In view of the fact that our current expenditure on forests was $500,000 more than the receipts, there should be some systematic mode of conservation.

He then moved an amendment to the adoption of the budget deploring the nature of the financial statement, the condition of the schools, the state of colonization of the northern districts, and the introduction of the reciprocity question into the debates.

Sir James Whitney made a slashing one-hour fighting speech, in which he poked fun at the Opposition leader and hammered back at his arguments to the enthusiastic delight of his followers.

Great applause was evoked by the Premier's significant declaration that members of the Opposition may shortly hear "an announcement respecting the T. & N.O. Railway that will prevent any member making such a statement again as that the railway is little petting line as long as he lives."

Viewing in significance was also the intimation that the Legislature would be likely to consider a resolution of protest with respect to reciprocity, or a memorial against it to the Dominion Government.

Sir James considered it amusing that not one of Col. Matheson's critics agreed with another as to how much of a deficit there was. They varied from a half to three millions. If there was anything wrong with that financial statement he could safely say that none of those men were the proper persons to rectify it. There had never been a clearer or more concise accounting of the Government's affairs given on the floor of the House.

The Premier would have the honorable, the leader of the Opposition remember when he charged the Government with giving away pine lands, that when the Conservatives came in to power, they found all the desks and drawers swept clean, and the papers had been burned so that no trace could be got of what the Liberals had done.

"When a prospective purchaser offered us $72,000 for a piece of it, we found that the Minister of Crown Lands had, with his own hand, marked an extension of the limit in land beyond the map, and we had to forego the sale. The records, being destroyed, we could not get at the actual state of affairs. So that $72,000 represents one instance, at least, where the province was robbed of cold cash by the old Government."

"We are told by a foreigner that we are at the parting of the ways with England. Are we willing to abandon that tie that has for fifty years insured to our peace and prosperity?"

Are we prepared to let the American millionaires swamp us out?

During the preliminary home rule debate in the British House of Commons, Premier Asquith reiterated his declaration that the Government's first task, after the veto bill had been disposed of, would be to carry out a policy of full self-government for Ireland.

Faces Water Famine.

Toronto, Feb. 16.—"We are doing our best to relieve the situation," said Deputy City Engineer Fellows during a brief rest at the shore crib this morning. "We hope to have sufficient pressure to supply all points south of College and Carlton streets by daybreak. Owing to the water being out of the reservoir, it will be difficult to get pressure enough to supply the districts north of that until later in the day with the full capacity of the mains, even if we do succeed in removing all of the obstruction by that time."

This was the official statement given out this morning on the worst water famine with which the city of Toronto has ever been confronted. It is but a repetition in a more aggravated form of the trouble with the choking of the intake pipe which cut off the city's water supply on Dec. 31 last. It was caused by the east wind churning up the ice and creating a current which drove a large quantity of floe ice, sand and brush into the intake, causing a stoppage of the water supply and necessitated the tapping of the old wooden intake unused for the last twenty years, in order to get enough water to keep two 10,000,000 gallon per day pumps running to half capacity in order to prevent the entire water supply being cut off.

Fallen Must Not Attend.

Ottawa, Feb. 16.—The French-Canadians of Ottawa will not present an address of welcome or participate in the ceremonies at the installation of Archbishop Gauthier, if Bishop Fallon of London or Bishop Scollard of North Bay have any part in the proceedings. This stand is taken owing to their position on the bi-lingual question.

Chairman J. U. Vincent, president of the St. Jean Baptiste Society, made the announcement yesterday in strong terms: "We refer particularly to Bishop Fallon. We have written, asking him not to come, but if he persists the French people will not participate. Bishop Fallon has shown himself to be a man who does not respect the truth."

Should Not Fortify.

New York, Feb. 16.—As a manifestation of the desire of this nation to promote peace throughout the world, the United States should refuse to fortify the Panama Canal. This assertion is made by Dr. H. S. Prichard, president of the Carnegie Foundation, in a letter to the New York Peace Society. He says the question is not one of right, but one of large public policy, and that the only danger existing belongs to those "indeterminate causes" against which no country is called upon to arm itself.

Masked Men Rob Prisoner.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Feb. 16.—Two masked burglars broke into the town jail at Warrior Run, Pa., near here, yesterday, and bursting open the door of the cell in which Stanley Jandus, the only prisoner, was confined, robbed him at the point of revolver of $28.

The burglars then escaped, and Jandus, who was being held on a trivial charge, finding himself free, went out and notified the police.

Great bargains at J. L. Thompson & Son's Midwinter Sale. Don't miss this opportunity.

NEW FURNACES.—Two new furnaces have been installed in the Post Offices.

Oshawa High School Board has engaged John H. Dolan of Picton, as principal for their school in succession to Mr. Smith at an initial salary of $1700, his services to begin on April 1st.

WOMAN'S INSTITUTE.—The Port Hope branch of the Woman's Institute will meet Wednesday, Feb. 22nd, in the parlors of the Ontario Agriculture School, Ontario street, at 4 o'clock. An interesting paper on "The Care of House Plants" will be given. Ladies cordially invited.

AT THE GRAND.—The "Final Settlement" at the Opera House last evening did not receive the patronage it deserved. The production was far above the average and was interesting and enjoyable. Next Monday night we will have the treat of the season, "The Old Homestead" and the Opera House should be filled on this occasion.

YOU CAN'T MISS IT.—The event of the season will be on Friday evening, Feb. 24th, when the Social and Dance under the auspices of the Moulders' Union will be held in the Town Hall. This is in aid of the Hospital and an exceptionally large crowd is expected. The committee have spared no pains in arranging this dance and all who attend are assured of a very pleasant time.

J. L. Thompson & Son's Midwinter Sale is on. Big reduction in boots, shoes and felt goods.

KEEP THE 27TH CLEAR.—By special engagement, Frederick H. Wilson, the celebrated tragedian of San Francisco, and one of the foremost impersonators of the day, will for the first time present to a Port Hope audience the beautiful monodrama of "Damon & Pythias" in the Opera House on Monday, February 27th. This will be a rare treat. Tickets at popular prices. Plan open at Strong's next week. Further announcement later. Keep the date clear.

Clearing prices at J. L. Thompson and Son. Big Midwinter sale commenced to-day.

$12.50 contributed in Port Hope in aid of the Evangelical and Colportage Mission of Algoma and the Northwest is gratefully acknowledged by Geo. Buskin, Agent and missionary.

The annual Bazaar under the auspices of the Church of Our Lady of Mercy will be held in the Parish Hall, Ontario street, on Feb. 22nd and 23rd. The ladies have provided the usual large supply of aprons, children's dresses and other useful articles. No admission fee. Concert each evening. Refreshments served.

QUALITY FIRST

Our FLOUR TRADE has GROWN WITH LEAPS AND BOUNDS. The reason is easy—We sell the best brands of Flour milled in the world, at prices that CANNOT BE BEATEN. We also have cheaper brands of flour and can meet any or all competitors, where quality is considered.

CHINESE CAFE.—Charles Hum, a chinaman from Kingston, has leased the store recently vacated by Mr. H. W. Mitchell, and will open a restaurant there shortly.

BIG SUCCESS.—Hospital night at the rink was a huge success, the attendance of skaters being the largest in the history of the rink. The receipts at the gate amounted to $40 and in addition to this about 500 tickets were sold, making a total of $115. Three skating parties from Cobourg were in attendance and the ice was crowded all evening. A full band was in attendance and rendered excellent music.

SHOULD GO TO THE FARM.—Poor old J. Pierpont Morgan's stomach has at last given way. He took passage in the Celtic for Europe last week and he carried with him a crate of live chickens, two crates of fresh food products from his own farm and enough bottled water to last him through the voyage. Especially prepared food products will be ready for him when he arrives in Italy, and he has ordered fresh fruits and eggs from the Azores. What J. Pierpont needs is Christian Science and absent treatment: With a little quinine and whiskey to ward off the grippe he can soon put himself in condition.—Belleville Ontario.

JUDGE BARRON TO HEAR LINDSAY TRAINMEN.—Judge Barron will sit at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto on Thursday at 10 o'clock to open his investigation of the cases of strikers who have not been reinstated in the service of the Grand Trunk Railway. Neither press nor public will be admitted to the sittings, and counsel will not be allowed to speak on either side. In case there are men who have not received a notice to attend it is because such names were not on the list furnished to Judge Barron by the officials at Montreal, and they are advised to immediately apply to the superintendent over them. If they then are not satisfied, they should apply or appeal to the authorities in Montreal, and if, finally, they are not given what they consider their rights, then their names will come before Judge Barron in the regular way.
