Much Profanity Among Young Boys in Port Hope.

Two lads, members of respectable London, Ont., families, and both workers in the east end Sunday School, appeared in the Police Court recently, charged with using profane language. Both pleaded guilty to the charge.

"There is too much of this going on altogether," said the Magistrate, "and I intend to make an example of you. I have often heard swearing on the streets and thought that the Police were not strict enough in enforcing the law. It is not nice to have women forced to hear such language. Young men of your age ought to know better than to set a bad example to smaller lads. I will fine you $5 or fifteen days in

We are sorry to say that this sad state of affairs prevails in Port Hope also. Swearing has become an epidemic among young boys, and we have heard of young girls using blasphemous language. Once upon a time, there lived in Tuscarawas County, Ohio, a farmer's boy who had a dream that was with him sleeping and waking - a dream of greatness.

When he went for the cows, with the frost-diamonds glistening on the little cobwebs in the grass, with the crows cawing on the old stump in the back lot and the rising sum pointing long lines of gold or blackness through the woods, he would often rout a cow up from a fence corner, sit down, put his bare feet

Almost always at night, when the rain pattered on the shingles and the mice rattled in the seed corn hanging from the rafters he'd compose himself on his husk matras, and dream that dream of greatness.

He was a big, strong boy and, some said, pretty thick headed, but inside of him he had a mighty purpose and a mulish obstinacy that means much sometimes for good, sometimes for evil.

Well, this farmer's boy had found that he could throw a ball with great speed and curve it around the other boy's neck after a fashion that made them blink, and his dream was that he would become a great pitcher; that he would become a great premier in a great sport, at great salary; that he would hear the applause of great crowds - all this, if he stuck at what he went at, and took good care of himself.

When Denton T. (Cy) Young entered the big baseball league at Cleveland 21 years ago he was raw material sure enough. You could almost hear the clover in his hair grow, and he come near tainting over his first pay envelope. But he had unswerving determination to stick to it. He has incorruptible resolution to live right.

He learned all he could about what he was at.

He turned aside from brothel and bar, and spent his spare days down with the woods, the grass, the brooks, the chickens, the woodpile, the farm doings in old Tuscarawas, while the others wintered and succumbed to the temptations of the

it surely will the youngest of us, and he will go back to the farm with "Success,' written opposite his name on the great ledger. And blind is he to us, young or old, who cannot read the lesson given in the life-story of a humble farmer's boy.

A TROUBLESOME MISGIVING

(Continued from yesterday.) Charlotte was just twenty-two, and it seemed probable that she knew her own mind; in any case, she was of a character which would only be driven to obstinacy by adverse criticism, Godwin learnt that his aunt Emily (Miss Cadman) regarded this connection with serious disapproval. Herself a shopkeeper she might have been expected to show indulgence to a draper's assistant, but so far from this, her view of Mr. Cusse was severely scornful. She had nourished far other hopes for Charlotte, who surely at her age (Miss Cadman looked from the eminence of five-and-forty) s hould have been less precipitate.

brain. 50c. a box at your druggist's or from

No undue harshness had been exhibited by her relatives, but Charlotte took a stand which sufficiently declared her kindred with Godwin. She held her head higher than formerly, spoke with habitual decision which bordered on snappishness, and at times displayed the absentmindedness of one who in silence suffers wrong.

There passed but a day or two before Godwin was brought face to face with Mr. Cusse, who answered too well to the idea Charlotte's brother had formed of him. He had a very smooth and shiny forehead, crowned by sleek chestnut hair; his chin was deferential; the bend of his body signified a modest hope that he did his duty in the station to which Providence had summoned him. Godwin he sought to flatter with looks of admiring interest; also, by entering upon a conversation which was meant to prove that he did not altogether lack wordly knowledge, of however little moment that might be in com parison with spiritual concerns. Examining, volume by volume and with painful minuteness, the prizes Godwin had carried off, he remarked fervently, in each instance, 'I can see how very interesting that is! So thorough, so thorough!' Even Charlotte was at length annoyed, when Mr. Cusse had exclaimed upon the 'thoroughness' of Ben 'Jonson's works; she asked an abrupt question about some town affair, and so gave her brother an opportunity of taking the books away. There was no flagrant offence in the man. He spoke with passable accent, and manifested a high degree of amiability; but one could not dissociate him from the counter. At the thought that his sister might become Mrs. Cusse, Godwin ground his teeth. Now that he came to reflect on the subject, he found in himself a sort of unreasoned supposition that Charlotte would always remain single; it seemed so unlikely that she would be sought by a man of liberal standing, and at the same time so impossible for her to accept anyone less than a gentleman. Yet he remembered that to outsiders such fastidiousness must show in a ridiculous light. What claim to gentility had they, the Peaks? Was it not all a figment of his own selfconceit? Even in education Charlotte could barely assert a superiority to Mr. Cusse, for her formal schooling had ended when she was twelve, and she had never cared to read beyond the strait track of clerical inspiration.

There were other circumstances which helped to depress his estimate of the family dignity. His brother Oliver, now seventeen, was developing into a type of young man as objectionable as it is easily recognized. The slow, compliant boy had grown more flesh and muscle than once seemed likely, and his wits had begun to display that kind of vivaciousness which is only compatible with a nature moulded in common clay. He saw much company, and all of low intellectual order; he had purchased a bicycie, and regarded it as a source of distinction, a means of displaying himself before shopkeeper's daughters; he believed himself a modest tenor, and sang verses of sentimental imbecility; he took in several weekly papers of unpromising title, for the chief purpose of deciphering cryptograms, in which pursuit he had singular success. Add to these characteristics a penchant for cheap jewellery, and Oliver Peak stands

It appeared to Godwin that his brother had leapt in a few months to these heights of vulgar accomplishment; each separate revelation struck unexpectedly upon his nerves and tried his temper. When at length Oliver, waiting for supper, began to dance grotesquely to an air which local talent had somehow caught from the London music-halls

Godwin's self-control gave way. 'Is it your ambition,' he asked,

Oliver was startled into the military posture of attention. He answered, with some embarrassment: 'I can't say it is.'

'Yet anyone would suppose so,' went on Godwin, hotly. 'Though have thought you might still aim at behaving like a gentleman.

Indisposed to quarrel, and possessed of small skill in verbal fence, Oliver drew aside with shadowed brow. As the brothers still had to share one bedroom, they were presently alone together, and their muteness, as they lay down to sleep showed the enstrangment that had at length come between them. When all had been dark and still for half-an-hour, Godwin spoke.

C. P. R. WON BY A

Had a Close Call In Getting New Route for Campbellford Line

Terento Star.

Ottawa, Feb. 14.-The fight by county of Northumberland against the change of route of the Campbellford, Lake Ontario and Western Railroad Company was renewed in the Commons Railway Committee this morning. When Col. A. T. Thompson, the solicitor of the C. P. R. said that the company absoone" along the new route, it was full of rocks and dead ones.

Col. Thompson-"If you don't ' give us this bill there will be no new railway from Cobourg to Toronto."

W. M. German, M. P. for Welland, characterized this statement as "a mighty good bluff."

Hon. G. P. Graham declared that not legal. unless the bill was amended in such a way as to leave the old charter alive, he would vote against it, yet he did not want to oppose the construction of the new line, because he wanted as many new railways as possible and as low rates as possible. "I have no fear, incidentlosing any of the east and west faith. traffic, and I do not think the C. P. R. is either, or it would not be asking for this charter."

Col. Thompson expressed a willingness to accept the suggestion to strike out the clause repeating the old charter, but when he refused a suggestion that the company should hand over the old charter to the local men who secured it, there was a strong chorus of protest, led by Sam Clark, M. P. P., who described the C. P. R. as "a dog in the manger." Major Currie suggested that the people of the county should go to the Legislature for a Provincial

Mr. McColl of West Northumberand-"A local charter is not worth cent. It can't be financed."

The preamble was carried by 23 to 21, and the bill was passed after the clause repeating the older charter had been eliminated.

RIGHT TO VOTE IF NOT ON LIST

A bill that will give to the freeholder or leaseholder whose name has been omitted inadvertantly from the voters' list the right to vote at municipal, Provincial or Dominion election will be introduced in the Legislature this week, by the member for West Toronto, Mr. W. D. McPherson. Under the present law, no one whose name is not on the list is entitled to vote in a Provincial or Dominion electionnot in the municipal—a ballot may be rendered by such a person, but it is not counted except in the event of a scrutiny.

The amendment to the Municipal Act which Mr. McPherson will ask the House to make provides that if it appears to the Clerk of the municipality that the name of any freeholder who is rated on the last revised assessment roll for sufficient real property to entitle him to vote, you are employed in a shop, I should or any leaseholder who is so rated and who has filed a certificate as provided. . . has teen inadvertently omitted from such last revised voters' list, the Clerk, at the request of such freeholder or leaseholder, shall give him a certificate setting forth that fact and the real property in respect of which he is rater, and such freeholder or leaseholder, upon delivering such certificate to and leaving the same with Deputy Returning Officer shall be entitled to vote."

"The Old Homestead,"

Denman Thompson's "The Old

Homestead" is rapidly hastening on to its silver jubilee. This celebrated drama of New England rural life is now in its twenty-fifth year, and has only two more years to run when it will have completed a quarter of a century of uninterrupted success. When we look back upon the years that have intervened since "The Old Homestead" was first produced at the Boston Theater in April, 1886, it seems incredible that this same, simple, domestic drama, dealing, as it does, with scenes and incidents which are in no way remarkable in themselves, should in this theatrical season of 1910-'11 be still the best drawing cards in the theatrical world. Millions of people have witnessed it during the past twenty-two years, and yet the theater-going public has not yet tired of dear old Uncle Josh, of Cy Prime and Seth Perkins, Aunt Matilda, Eb Canzy, Happy Jack, Rickety Ann and the other. The singing of the quartette of farm hands is looked forward to with as much interest as of yore and the scenic equipment this season is as beautiful and effective as ever. This play will appear at the Grand on Monday, Feb. 20th. Plan open at G. V. Strong's on Thursday

THEIR PICNICS WERE ORGIES

Low Standard Prevailed In Personnel of the Boards of Education and the Price For Votes Ranges From $25 to $1,000-A Third of a Tender Was Designed to Be Spent on Getting Contract Passed. Pittsburg, Feb. 17 .- Graft in the Pittsburg school boards, as exposed in a bulletin issued to the public by the Voters' Civic League yesterday, has not yet received official notice from the district attorney, who, after reading the builetin, said he would wait to ascertain if the league would make informations, and take up the prosecution of the alleged offenders as it did in the councilmanic graft cases last spring. The personnel of the school boards of the individual wards is attacked. the charge being made "that the majority are gamblers, bartenders, saloonkeepers, political employers, placed on the boards to control votes, mill workers and laborers, with inadequate education to govern the instruction of children," and a score of more characters of men, equally objectionable in the judgment of the voters' league. A few cases cite that as low as $25 was paid beard members and as high as $1,000 for votes to place contracts. On one contract of $200,000, it is as-

"Teachers have been forced to pay for their appointments, janitors and truant officers held up, and when everything failed the grafting directors can always borrow money from agents of the contractors who do business with the schools. The money is never returned," says the report.
"Some of the school picnics have been nothing more than drunken orgies for the directors and their dissolute and disreputable friends. Children have been taken to picnics with men and women of the underworld. They have seen drunken women from the tenderloin on the dancing platform, and gamblers playing their vocation on the grounds.

Washington, Feb. 17.-Representative Bennett of New York vesterday introduced a resolution in the mouse of Representatives calling upon President Taft to open negotiations with the British Government, through Ambassador Bryce, for a treaty providing for the annexation of Canada by the United States. Representative Bennett, with Representative Gardner of Massachusetts, and one or two others, opposed the proposed pact, obtained an oppor-tunity to fill the air with smoke yesterday, and it is now believed that unless President Taft can find some way of halting the annexation talk, the opponents of reciprocity in the Senate will make use of their opportunity to kill the pact in the Senate finance committee, where the bill now awaits action. In speaking of his resolution in the House yesterday, Representative Bennett insisted that he was both serious and sincere. He declard that, to his mind, annexation was the logical result to be looked forward to following reciprocity.

London, Feb. 17.-In the House of Commons yesterday, after a nine hours' debate. Premier Asquith's motion appropriating the whole time of the House until Easter to the veto bill, in order to get through before the coronation, was carried under closure,

During the course of the debate the Prime Minister said he expected that the veto bill would be sent to the House of Lords early in May, and that the Lords would give their decision thereon before the coronation. This optimism on the part of Mr. Asquith is interpreted in some quarters as indicating the possibility of a compromise being arrived at, as it is contended that otherwise it would be vain to hope that the bill could be disposed of so quickly. Thus far, however, the Unionists give no sign of relenting.

Toronto, Feb. 17.-Church exemptions, increased indemnities, and holidays afforded members of the Ontario Legislature material yesterday afternoon upon which to dilate, while considerable progress was made with a number of consolidation measures. The latter included the second reading of Hon. W. J. Hanna's bill to place the control of costly local improvements under the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, which is strongly opposed by the Toronto city law department. Hon. Mr. Hanna's announcement in regard to the bread bill was another feature of a laborious and progressive afternoon. The Provincial Secretary said that there would be no need of bread legislation this year, because the Court of Appeal had upheld the Government's measure of last year.

Big loaves would prevail.

W. K. McNaught, North Toronto, made a spirited protest against the requirement of two years' residence in Canada of aliens, before being entitled to qualify as stationary engineers. He considered six months ample, but was willing to compromise at one year.

The suggestion of the member for North Toronto was accepted.

A. Studholme argued for a requirement in the bill that two certificated engineers should be required in case of mills and factories which worked day and night.

Sir James Whitney took the view that the statute, if enforced, would suffice, as the employment of a fireman who acted as engineer even in the latter's temporary absence, was prohibited under a penalty.

C. R. McKeown, Dufferin, moved the second reading of his bill to abolish exemptions on church lands, and the sites of religious and philanthropic schools. It was unjust that Havergal Hall, the Loretto Abbey and Bishop Strachan School should be free from taxation while the home of the poer wicked was taxed out of oportion in consequence.

Hon. Mr. Hanna said that in view of the fact that the bill would be overwhelmingly defeated both in the com-mittee and the House, it should bewithdrawn, as it was a few years ago thoroughly discussed in committee. Mr. McKeown said as a loyal Conservative he would withdraw his bill. Mr. Bowyer's bill to amend the Public School Act, so that the summer vacation in rural districts would be extended to two months, as maintains in urban localities, was given its second reading and was referred to the committee on education.

Hon. A. G. MacKay was opposed to it and would advise hesitation until the returns for August were shown, to see if the attendance was short. Hon. Dr. Pyne, in closing the debate, stated that in August the schools were poorly attended, and he advised that the motion go to committee. Sir James Whitney's bill to have laundries, Chinese et al., put under factory inspector regulation, received its second reading. A. Studholme said the principle was

Hon. Mr. Hanna opposed it, saying there had been no demand made, and while it might be necessary in a few isolated instances, it would hardly do to tie up the whole pravince.

Mr. Eilber's bill to do away with arbitration troubles and expense in respect to snow fences, by recognizing a simple agreement between the person owning the property affected and the local council, was given its second reading.

The House went into supply on the supplementary estimates, and passed a number of items.

The vote for the statute revision commission, $9,545.50, was challenged, and was allowed to stand for further information.

W. F. Nickle, Kingston, moved that the item of $42,400 to increase the appropriation to $1,400 per member, be struck out.

Mr. Studholme agreed with Mr. Sir James Whitney said that the item would not be withdrawn. In introducing the proposal he had assumed the usual responsibility of a Government. He did not desire to shift his responsibilities to anyone else's

J. E. Armstrong Pessimistic on Tariff Proposal.

DEBATE STILL GOES ON

Conservative Orators Occupy Floor of Commons Most of the Day Prophesying Disaster to Canada and the British Empire - Haughton Lennox Says Sacrifices Are Too Great - Fielding Explains.

Ottawa, Feb. 17 .- The orators to the left of the Speaker took up most of the time yesterday picking holes in the tariff argument. H. Lennox declared that the whole thing was a conspiracy on the part of Asquith, Laurier and Taft, to destroy Imperialism.

Continuing the debate on the reciprocity agreement, Haughton Lennox (South Simcoe), said that it could not be stated with truth that no interests had been sacrificed, in view of the representations made to the Government by the fruit growers. He criticized the Government for having made the agreement without consulting Parliament and without having a mandate from the people, and said that Canada now has an order-incouncil Government.

Referring to the argument advanced by Hugh Guthrie on Wednesday, that it was not wise to ignore geographical conditions, he would remind Mr. Guthrie and the Government that the United States had insisted for forty years on ignoring geographical

Mr. Lennox did not believe that there was any reason to believe in view of the fact that the price of wheat was fixed in Liverpool, that there would be any substantial 'increase for the Canadian farmers. The wheat would, however, find it way to the market via American routes. Mr. Guthrie had dilated on the immense benefits which would result to Eastern Canada should one million more farmers settle in the west. It would not do Canada much good if their products were shipped to and through the United States. A considerable list of articles which Britain could supply had been placed on the free list, and, owing to the longer haul from the Mother Country, the U.S. would have a distinct advantage. This was discrimination against Great Britain.

A. B. Warburton (Queen's, P.E.I.) took up cudgels on behalf of the island ing the tariff altogether under the cause it would abrogate the duties of summated. the Ministers of the crown. In all matters of fiscal policy, the Govern-ment should assume full responsibility. He did not agree with the argument of the Opposition that Canada should leave well enough alone. That would eliminate any question of future

In reply to Mr. Lennox's statement that the U. S. would receive an advantage over the Mother Country regarding goods on the free list by reason of discriminatory rates, due to the longer haul, he said it costs us more to bring freight from Halifax to Prince Edward Island, than from Liverpool to Halifax; and so it likewise cost more to bring goods from New York than from both ports.

J. E. Armstrong (E. Lambton), prefaced his remarks by drawing a scheme for imperial trade. The meaning of Confederation was the welding together of the British Empire. Everything a nation needs was grown in the British Empire. Canada had the grain, minerals and lumber. Austrais produced mest and wool. India and Egypt provided the cotton, and Britain herself was the manufacturing clearing house. This was a combination that could not be beaten. Reciprocity with the U.S. was the first step towards empire disintegration. Picturing an era of trade depression and financial ruin in Canada when the railways would be without tonnage and the great lake ports would be without cargoes. Mr. Armstrong charged that the Finance Minister, in his local campaigns in Nova Scotia, had preached secession. He feared tireet taxation would follow. There was no object in offering amendments to the deal; an amendment would void the whole agreement. Additional light was thrown upon the agreement by answers by Mr.

(North Ontario). In the care of a few articles which are not to be found in the French treaty, the favored nation countries will be entitled to receive the concessions on the same terms as the a considerable sum paid to them at | any agreement, in no case has any advantage been granted to any foreign country that did not extend at the same time to all parts of the British Empire. In the few cases to which the rates to be established are lower than those already enjoyed by British countries, the reductions will apply to such countries.

Mr. Sharp asked if, at the recent conferences at Washington, any understanding was reached that the Canadian tariff on articles not specifically mentioned in the treaty would not be included.

Mr. Fielding replied: "There is no understanding of any kind except what is found in the correspondence and schedules already before the House."

Toronto Board of Trade Adopts Resolution by Big Majority.

Toronto, Feb. 17.—At a big meeting of the Board of Trade in this city yesterday prominent men from all over the country an anti-reciprocity resolution moved by Sir Edmund Walker and seconded by J. W. Flavelle was pasted by a vote of 289 to

The speakers were Sir Edmund Walker, J. W. Flavelle, J. D. Allan, W. F. Cockshutt, Brantford, Col. G. T. Denison, Albert J. H. Eckhardt, F. W. Hay, Listow: l, and J. E. Atkinson. The three last named supported the reciprocity agreement.

Sir Edmund Walker, in explaining his motion, said he had always been a Liberal, but this issue was beyond party. The resolution said:

"(1) That the present unexampled prosperity of Canada is the result of the policy which has been pursued in the development of her trade and of her natural resources, and that any policy which would hamper the development of Canada's resources in her own way and by her own people, or which would check the development of trade between the various parts of Canada with each other or between Canada and the various parts of the Empire, would be detrimental to the true interests of Canada and to Canadian nationality.

"(2) That very large expenditures have been made upon railways, canals, steamships and other means of transportation between east and west and west and east to promote such development and trade, and that the proposed reciprocity agreement with the United Stats of America would seriously check the growth of such development and trade and would curtail Canada's freedom of action with respect to her tariff and channels of trade.

"(3) That any present benefit to any section of Canada or to any interest therein which might accrue from said agreement would be more than offset by the loss and injury to other sections and interests.

"(4) That the proposed agreement would weaken the ties which bind

Canada to the Empire. "(5) That to avoid the disruption of trade which after some years under said agreement would result were said agreement terminated and a pro-tective tariff against Canada establish-ed by the United States, Canada would be forced to closer trade rela-tions with them, which would still further weaken those ties and make it more difficult to avert political union with the United States.

B. C. Condemns Reciprocity.

Victoria, B.C., Feb. 17.-The British Columbia Legislature yesterday adopted the resolution introduced two days ago, condemning the proposed reciand the United States. There was only one dissenting vote. Premier McBride spoke at length on the resolution, asserting that he regards reciprocity with the United States as unnecessary and uncalled for. He said that, although he believed freer trade with the United States would not weaken Canadian loyalty to Great Britain, it would not assist in bringing the Dominion and the Mother Country closer together, He interprets the agreement as a departure from the established policy which both parties in Canada have recognized as vital to the welfare of the Dominion.
