OSHAWA PLAYS SATURDAY NIGHT

Motor City All Worked Up Over Play-Off With Kitchener

Between 300 and 400 tickets are being sent to Oshawa by Kitchener-Waterloo for the intermediate game which is to be played at Kitchener Saturday night. The Oshawa club has asked for a block of reserved seats. Inquiries from the surrounding district points to the season's largest hockey crowd for the game Saturday night. An automobile dealer who was in Oshawa Wednesday is authority for the statement that virtually every available bus in the Oshawa district has been chartered to bring fans to Kitchener on Saturday night and that a score of private autos will also make the trip.

RETAIL MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION DECIDE TO CLOSE FOR FOUR MONTHS

Resolution Passed by Meeting Wednesday Night Favors Half Holiday Closing for June, July, August and September—Grocers, Barbers and Butchers Will Remain Closed Every Month Except December

At a meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association of Port Hope held at the town hall on Wednesday evening, a resolution was passed whereby a half holiday will be held every week in June, July, August and September and the afternoon, probably Wednesday or Thursday, is to be decided later. The subject of the half holiday closing was thoroughly threshed out and considerable discussion was held.

There was an exceptionally large attendance at the meeting and those present included President H. Fulford, Secretary E. Brown, Treasurer George Gould, Miss Hamy, Mrs. Harcourt, A. Fulford Sr., George Hancock, H. W. Mitchell, H. Giddy, L. B. Randall, Ben Olver, E. Broadbent, W. Milnes, H. Hutchings, C. V. Brown, Carl Rowson, I. Margles, Geo. Garbutt, F. Solmes, W. Hudson, Paul Haggis, P. Benbow, S. Johnston, W. A. Russell, Wm. Southgate, C. Wickett, Frank Flood, Wm. Yeomans, R C Mann, Wm. Harris, Chas. Young, John Chesterton, H. E. Martin, Harry Merrifield, W. Williamson, W. A. By, W. J. B. Davison, Walter Roberts, W. P. Tickell, S. Brickell, G. V. Strong, W. J. Moore, J. R. Giffen, C. M. Thompson, D. A. Shay and A. Jordan.

After the reading of the minutes by the secretary, president H. Fulford addressed the meeting and asked for the loyalty and co-operation of every member and have the business transacted with righteousness and fair dealing. All difficulties should be brought to the association and settled amicably. The speaker implored the members to have faith in the executive and trust in them to do the work and also to work harmoniously and on a sound basis.

Committees Appointed

A nominating committee was appointed and the following committees were selected:

Finance committee—H. Hutchings (convenor), Ben Olver, J. R. Giffen, George Gould, W. Williamson and W. P. Tickell.

By-laws—H. Fulford (convenor), W. J. B. Davison, Geo. Hancock, H. W. Mitchell.

Publicity—G. V. Strong (convenor), H. Giddy, H. E. Martin, W. A. Southgate, F. Solmes, S. Brickell and H. B. Rosevear.

H. W. Mitchell suggested that it would be advisable to hold a meeting of the merchants at Port Hope and invite delegates from Peterboro and Cobourg to attend and try and establish a uniform day for the half holiday. By bringing the delegates to Port Hope, the matter could be arranged a good deal more satisfactorily than by going and seeing them.

What's The Idea

W. A. Bye asked the meeting what was the idea of the grocers, butchers and barbers' closing winter time on Wednesday afternoon. He stated he was willing to accept the proposition of closing in summer time but could see no sense to it in winter time.

E. Brown on behalf of the butchers, grocers and barbers, explained the situation. He stated that there is a feeling amongst their number which entitled them to a weekly half holiday. The business men of the three classes were interviewed and over eighty per cent. were in favor of closing. He explained that Oshawa, Bowmanville and Whitby are falling in line with the Wednesday half day throughout the year.

To Meet Every Month

Upon resolution it was decided that the meetings of the association will be held the second Tuesday of each month at 8 p.m. in the Council Chamber.

The Treasurer announced at the meeting that there were thirty seven bona fide members of the association and while the nominating committee was selecting the committees, several other merchants signed up and paid their initiation fee of $1.00.

At this stage of the meeting, things began to warm up considerably and much spirited discussion ensued. W. A. Southgate asked, "Can we afford a half holiday?" and G. V. Strong stated that the half holiday closing of the grocers affected the other businesses. C. V. Brown told that three years ago a petition was circulated and only the merchants of the three classes would agree to it.

A motion was moved by W. J. Moore, seconded by Howard Hutchings whether or not a half holiday would be held with the date to be determined later. Following this, Geo. Hancock seconded by G. V. Strong, proposed an amendment that the decision be deferred until next meeting. The amendment was lost and the motion was carried.

And then more discussion ensued. D. A. Shay related that the matter should not be considered by those present as merchants but rather, was it in the interests of our town. Ben Olver stated that he was not in favor of the early closing of the grocers, etc., as it was a detriment to the other classes of trade. "Is it necessary for a holiday for merchants," said he, "if so, is it necessary for it all the year round?" "There is something else in life besides the almighty dollar," proclaimed Howard Hutchings, "and we should try and educate the people to our hours."

The much talked of question of buying out of town was mentioned in the remarks of H. E. Martin. He said that he had been looking over the minutes of an association similar to the Retail Merchants in 1903-04, regarding the closing of stores at night. He stated that then the other merchants wouldn't co-operate with the grocers and," said Mr. Martin, "if people are going to buy out of town, they will do it if you stay open for twenty four hours a day."

"Some here tonight talk like the school children," declared G. V. Strong, "and like a lot of crazy people. What we need is co-operation. In a few years the mail order houses will be doing all the business in Port Hope."

Finally, at 10.30, Frank Flood moved that the stores close during the months of June, July, August and September, with the exact date to be set later. This was seconded by Ben Olver. The vote was taken and the motion carried 19-6.

Near the conclusion of the session H. W. Mitchell told of the plan that the druggists have worked out. In his remarks he stated that the town was not large enough to warrant the three drug stores staying open every evening and on Sundays, and through co-operation, an effective plan was arranged. "There has been wrangling and jangling here tonight," proclaimed Mr. Mitchell, "and some are too small for co-operation, and let each classification get together and set their own date."

Following the meeting a number of the grocers were interviewed by the Guide, and they intimated that in conjunction with the barbers and butchers they would close every Wednesday in the year except the month of December as they commenced to do this month.

SUPPLIES OF LODGEPOLE PINE

Although exact figures are not available it has been estimated that the total stand of lodgepole pine in Canada at present comprises 13,050,000,000 feet board measure of saw timber and some 50,000,000 cords of smaller material.

FINAL GAME IN TOWN LEAGUE

Much Depends On Junior Fixture at Rink Tonight from 7 to 8

The final scheduled game before the play offs in the Port Hope Junior Town League will be played at the Young Street rink tonight from 7 to 8 o'clock. The attendance at these fixtures has been increasing every game and as a fast game is listed for this evening, it is expected by the management that a record crowd will be out.

The Maple Leafs and Shamrocks are out to do battle. If the Leafs triumph then it will be the Leafs and Victoria's for the three game playoff series but if the Shamrocks win a three cornered tie will be created. The teams will battle hard for the game and good fast hockey will result.

The standing of the league is as follows:—

	W	L	D	Pts
Maple Leafs .....	2	0	3	7
Victorias .....	2	1	3	7
Shamrocks .....	2	2	1	5
Maroons .....	0	3	3	3

Alerts 3—Midgets 1

In a scheduled juvenile game last night the Alerts clinched the championship of the league when they trimmed the Midgets 3 to 1.

The standing of the Juvenile League is as follows:

	Won	Lost
Alerts .....	3	0
Rangers .....	2	1
Falcons .....	1	2
Midgets .....	0	3

FISH FOR SPORT AND FOOD

That the Indian guides at Rice Lake are under a delusion if they think that they and others can continue to slaughter fish through the ice in the winter time and still be in a position to get big money guiding tourists in the summer, is the opinion of officers of the Peterboro Fish and Game Protective Association, as expressed in commenting on Madden Howard's reference to fishing thru the ice.

Fred L. Roy, president of the Association, and C. G. Graham, the secretary, maintain that the stories of the extent to which this slaughter has been carried on, have been conservative. They state that there

In a recent article in The Examiner, Madden Howard of the Indian reservation at Hiawatha, is quoted as strongly in favor of the ice hole fishing, holding that pickerel is not a game fish. Howard is quoted as stating that he had found "small bass and 'lunge in a pickerel's stomach." That may be absolutely true and it may be just as true that pickerel would be found in the stomachs of lunge and small pickerel, no doubt, makes many a good meal for bass. This is a courtesy extended by every fish to others.

From every source of information comes corroboration of The Guide's contention. We claimed that fish were taken through the ice by the ton. We never claimed that that amount of fish was lifted from one hole in a few minutes, a day, or a week. The aggregate of fish, including pickerel, bass and maskinonge, will total many tons in this winter from Rice Lake alone and it is absolute nonsense to contend that this depletion will not injure the rod and line fishing for next season, and for years to come. The Ontario Game and Fish laws state that no one shall catch more than twelve pickerel in one day. The regulations stress, too, that certain fish may not be taken "otherwise than by angling." How many of the tons of pickerel are taken by angling? how many by snare? spear? or other means? The answer would surprise the authorities, but it would be a physical impossibility to watch every hole in the ice.

By many the pickerel is esteemed as highly as the bass or maskinonge as food and catching them by rod and line is also good sport. Ice hole fishing is not sport, it is a paying business, no capital required, all pure gain to the fishermen, but also destruction of spawn filled fish with loss of angling to legitimate sportsmen and tourists.

In the counties of Durham, Northumberland, Peterboro and Victoria, ice hole fishing, whether by hook and line, snare, spear, trap or other device should be absolutely prohibited and the prohibition strictly enforced otherwise the fishing in Rice Lake and other waters of the counties mentioned will be absolutely ruined. The close season for all taking of fish in these waters should be closed tight for all fishing in November and open again the following June 1.

LIBERAL MEMBER FOR DURHAM INQUIRES ABOUT TORY PLUMS

W. J. Bragg, M.P.P. for Durham, Enquires Number of 1926 Candidates Who Were Defeated Are Now in Positions Under Liquor Control Board

Data as to the number of Conservative candidates defeated in the 1926 Ontario election who have since been compensated for their party services by "plums" in the form of positions under the liquor control board is sought in the legislature by W. J. Bragg, Liberal M.P.P. for Durham.

He also asks how many such candidates were "solicited" by Premier Ferguson or other members of the cabinet to accept such posts and how many, if any, declined such solicitations. In the House last week Mr. Ferguson admitted that he had urged some former Conservative candidates to take liquor vendors' positions, on the ground that men of integrity and character were required for such posts.

In Port Hope, for instance, T. B. Chalk, Conservative candidate in the last elections, is in charge of the liquor store; W. H. Chambers, former M.P.P. for South Oxford, is the government vendor in Woodstock, another former Conservative candidate is said to have been appointed as his assistant. A son of Henry Morel, Conservative, Nipissing, has also been appointed a vendor and opposition members are curious as to how many more party stalwarts have succeeded in getting in under the liquor control umbrella.

The liquor issue, which dominated the addresses of most of the opposition members in the debate on the speech from the throne in the legislature Tuesday, is likely to be precipitated into further prominence tomorrow with Hon. W. H. Price, attorney-general, scheduled to speak in the House, in defense of the measure.

Premier Ferguson dealt briefly with liquor control in his address a week ago, but to the attorney-general has been left the task of defending the government's policy in fuller detail.

JUDGE HUYCKE'S WIFE PASSES

Was Daughter of J. C. Field, Former M.P. for Northumberland

Mrs. Rose Meredith Field Huycke, wife of His Honor Judge E. C. S. Huycke of Peterboro, died late on Tuesday night, after a lengthy illness. Mrs. Huycke was the daughter of John Collard Field, for a number of years member of Parliament for Northumberland.

She was prominent in community service work and was particularly well known as the founder and first regent of Ottonabee Chapter I.O.D. E. Mrs. Huycke was a member of Trinity church.

Surviving are His Honor Judge Huycke, two daughters, Rosamond (Mrs. James Blacklock) of Montreal; and Audrey (Mrs. William Duffield) of London, Ont. Also three sons, Wilfred of Peterboro, and Douglas and Meredith of Toronto. Her youngest son, Arthur, lost his life in the war.

T.C.S. FIRSTS WIN FROM HIGH SCHOOL

Blue and White Lose 3 to 1 in Hard Fought Battle Wednesday

In an exhibition game Wednesday afternoon at the Trinity College School rink, the T.C.S. First Team defeated the High School sextet 3 to 1. The Blue and White lost many chances to score and their efforts should have been rewarded with a few more goals. Haskill in goal for the losers, played a steady game.

London Kindergarten classes dropped 28 enrolment during January.

MORTALITY RATE RANKED SECOND

Report Shows 5.9 Per 1,000 of Living Births In Canada

Special inquiry into maternal mortality in Canada, an inquiry which was asked for by the medical profession and which took three years to complete, has just been brought to a close. The investigation was conducted by the Federal Department of Health, with the co-operation of the medical profession.

The report clearly shows that the heavy toll of maternal mortality in the past was largely unnecessary, that the fatal sacrifice could in most cases have been prevented. A lesson on the report is that the cause of high maternal mortality lies not in biological unfitness alone but in preventable ignorance.

In the report are incorporated the views of a number of authorities.

"In short," says an old, experienced country doctor from the province of Quebec, "maternal life is held in too light an esteem. This I believe to be a very common cause of maternal deaths."

Repeatedly, these words are to be found in letters received by the Department from doctors. "Doctors do not take these cases seriously enough at times."

The report shows that during one year covered by the inquiry, 1,532 Canadian mothers added their names to the roll of maternal mortality. This works out at a death rate of four women a day from this cause alone. The 1,532 mothers left behind them 5,073 motherless children.

Of the children born in that year as the mother died, almost one half succumbed within the first month for the report shows that infant and maternal mortality bear a very close relationship.

And while there is a tendency towards the gradual lengthening of human life, the rate of maternal mortality in Canada, according to the report, remains virtually the same. The rate is considerably higher than that of Great Britain, where the strain of industrial competition is greater than it is in Canada.

In Canada, the maternal mortality rate as shown by the dominion bureau of statistics, was for the year 1926, 5.9 per 1,000 living births; for England and Wales, 4.1; for Denmark, 2.4; for France, 2.4; for Germany, 5.3; for Italy 2.7; Japan, 3; Norway, 2. United States returns show a maternal mortality rate of 6.6 for every 1,000 living births.

The report, however, shows a rate for Canada still higher than that given by the bureau. The material revealed by the report for the period July, 1925 to July, 1926, is 6.4 per thousand living births.

"There is no reason to believe," says the report, "that the figures for 1928 will be any more encouraging. These mothers died young. The youngest was fifteen years old. The average age was 31. Their loss was the greatest bereavement that their home and country suffered that year. If these homes had been in Denmark instead of Canada, a thousand of the mothers would not have died."

Of Canadian provinces, Manitoba is shown to have the highest maternal mortality rate. For Manitoba the rate is given in the report as 7.7 per thousand living births. The rate for the other provinces is: British Columbia, 7.5; Ontario, 7.2; New Brunswick, 7; Alberta, 6.2; Saskatchewan, 6.1; Nova Scotia 6; Quebec 5.7; Prince Edward Island 4.7.

The report indicates what has been done in other countries to reduce the rate of maternal mortality. In Denmark, the rate has been reduced by the employment of a well trained corps of nurses and the provision of first class public health facilities. In Huddersfield, Yorkshire, an active public health campaign brought the rate down from 5.6 to 1.8.

Means suggested in the report for improving present conditions in Canada are: Better education on the subject; more specialized training for doctors; better medical facilities for pioneer posts; establishment of more hospitals.

BEAUTIFYING HOME GROUNDS

More attention than ever before is now being given to making the appearance of dwellings more attractive now that spring is but a few months away. The difficulty is to know just what to do at the last expense. Shrubbery with a few flowers usually is all that is necessary to take away the bare look and make the home much more inviting.

In some cases it may be necessary to grade the lawn to make a more even surface, or an extension of the lawn surface may be desirable to give a better setting to the buildings. An application of one to two pounds of limestone, and one quarter to one half pound of basic slag, per square yard will supply the elements usually lacking and help secure a good stand of Kentucky blue grass, which is the best lawn grass. One-quarter ounce of this grass seed to a square yard, scattered evenly, is thick enough, and good lawns are possible by using half this amount.

It is wise to use some shrubbery toward the corner of the house and at each side of the entrance to the house. The heavier and deeper plants should be at the corners with lighter plantings at the entrance. Shrubbery useful for planting is not very expensive if small plants about 18 inches tall are used. The small plants transplant more easily and they will soon grow to give the desired effect. The Bush Honeysuckle (Lonicera tatarica rosea); Japanese Bush Honeysuckle (Lonicera Morrowi) more dwarf and spreading than the other; Waxberry (Symphoricarpos racemosus); and Mock Orange (Philadelphus coronarius or P. grandiflorus) are excellent for corner plants. The Bridal Wreath Spiraea (Spiraea Van Houttei); Spiraea Thunbergii, a lower growing spiraea similar to the above; and Japanese Barberry (Berberis Thunbergii) are suitable for planting towards the entrance.

The lower growing plants are set in front or at the side of the taller ones. They are spaced about three to four feet apart, and arranged to give a rounding base line at the corners and from house wall to walk. It is wise to plant two or three plants of one variety together to give a group effect when they grow, and it is wise to have one group predominate. That is, there may be three plants of one kind, two of another and one of another together. Or the plantings may have more plants according to the size of the dwelling. It is wise to leave one-third of the base line of the dwelling without planting. Along the edges of this planting flowers in groups of perennials or annuals may be set. If the border of the lawn is to be planted, an irregular planting may be made up of Lilacs, Japanese Hydrangea, Hydrangea Arboreoscens, Golden Bell, Siberian Pea Tree, Golden Elder, Red-branched Dogwood, Weigela rosea and W. Eva Rathke, which are some of the best deciduous shrubs.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silver
DORIS MEETS A LITTLE SAND-PIPER FAMILY

WHEN Doris spied the dear little olive ashen gray-looking bird running up and down the shore after each tiny wave that swept over the sands she sat down upon a stone to watch him.

He was just a wee bit larger than Mr. Sparrow. The upper part of his feathered suit was an olive gray, spotted and streaked with black. Over his eyes and under his throat and breast was white spotted with round black dots, some large and some small. The inner tail feathers were the shade of his back while the outer ones were marked with black bars. The wings were white and black.

As the waves came in, he would dash after them to gobble up the wee bits of shell fish. He was having such a lovely time he didn't see Doris for quite some time. When he did at last spy her he started to fly away but Doris called to him softly.

"Don't fly away little fellow. I wouldn't harm you for the world. May I ask what you find to eat among the sands?"

"Certainly," piped the little bird. "Everything to make a meal complete. Have you been hunting something to eat too?"

"Goodness no," laughed Doris. "I was just gathering shells when I happened to see you. What kind of a Sandpiper are you?"

"Well some folks call me Spotted Sandpiper, others style me as Teeter, Tilt-up, Teeter-tail and Teeter-snipe, so you can draw your own conclusions," the little bird replied. "I like the name of Spotted Sandpiper the best and so the wife and I have clung to that name."

"How interesting!" Doris exclaimed. "You have a wife too. Maybe I can meet her? I'd just love to. Do you live here on the bank somewhere?"

"Not right here," replied Mr. Spotted Sandpiper, "but not so very far away. If you'd care to go over I'll introduce you to the Happy Family," and he ran down the beach calling to Doris to follow him.

Soon they turned off from the shore and there on the ground under a clump of bushes in the meadows they found Mrs. Spotted Sandpiper with her fluffy little chicks. Some of the eggs hadn't hatched yet and Mrs. Spotted Sandpiper let Doris peek in at them under the warm feathers. They were creamy buff thickly spotted and speckled with brown.

The nest itself was nothing but a deep hollow in the ground, lined with dry grass, but it made a lovely bed for the happy family.

"No wonder you folks all wear spotted dresses," Doris laughed, "hatching from those speckled eggs."

Just then the rest of Mrs. Spotted Sandpiper's eggs were hatched out and as soon as the babies were dry enough she tumbled them out of the nest on the warm ground.

"Not a bad looking family is it, Doris?" she laughed proudly stroking them each in turn with her beak.

"Daddy did you bring us plenty of food?" "Goodness, I was so excited at meeting Doris. I forgot all about meal time," Sandpiper laughed. "We'll go right now and get something for you," and away he and Doris ran.

LIGHTS FOR HENS NOT NEW IDEA

Spanish Peasants a Hundred Years Ago Used This Winter Stimulant

In a book published in Spanish just 125 years ago, the author, Francisco Diezty Bull, states that it was the custom of the peasants in part of that country at that time to feed their fowls at night by artificial light.

"It is very useful to give the fowls their third meal at 10 to 11 o'clock in the night during the winter time, as the 24 hours should, as far as possible be divided into three equal parts," says Senor Bull. "One of the principal reasons why the hens do not lay eggs with such vigor in winter is the lack of food, the rule being to feed them during this season about 7 o'clock in the morning at the earliest and next at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Driven by the cold, the fowls then retire to their houses, and thus the result is that out of the 24 hours of the day they remain 17 without eating and as their digestion is so rapid, it being completed in three to four hours, the stomach remains empty and they employ their natural heat, consuming, among other things the material ready for the fermentation of the ovary."

YUKON'S HEALTHFUL CLIMATE

The climate of the Yukon Territory, Canada, is characterized by extremes in temperature and a very moderate precipitation. There is no more delightful climate than that which prevails from May 1 to October 1. The continuous light for the whole twenty four hours, during the period from the middle of May to the first week in August, although anticipated, is a source of delight and wonder to the visitor. While the winters are long and cold, on account of the absence of high winds and the dryness of the atmosphere, the low temperatures are borne with less discomfort than in other parts not so favored.

EVERY EFFECT HAS ITS CAUSE

This is true in matters of health as well as everything else.

The Chiropractor does not treat effects. He removes the cause, the logical and common sense thing to do and this is the reason why Chiropractic is making such good strides ahead as a health science.

If you have an ailment, no matter of what nature, or what part of your body, remember there is a cause for it. Let help you solve that problem.

rock, she included Mr. James Smith in the invitation. We had a fine, gay, noisy time of it at the Hall—the strange gentlemen in particular, making himself as much at home as if the place belonged to him. I was surprised at Mrs. Norcross putting up with him as she did; but I was fairly thunderstruck, some months later when I heard that she and Mr. James Smith were actually going to be married! She had refused offers by dozens ahead, from higher, and richer, and better behaved men. It seemed next to impossible that she could seriously think of throwing herself away upon such a hare-brained, headlong, penniless young gentleman as Mr. James Smith.

Married, nevertheless, they were, in due course of time; and after spending the honeymoon abroad they came back to Darrock Hall. I soon found that my new master had a very variable temper. There were some days when he was as easy and familiar and pleasant with his servants as any gentleman could be. At other times some devil within him seemed to get possession of his whole nature. He flew into violent passions, and took wrong ideas into his head, which no reasoning or remonstrance could remove. It rather amazed me, considering how gay he was in his tastes, and how restless his habits were, that he should content to live at such a quiet, dull place as Darrock. The reason for this, however, soon came out. Mr. James Smith was not much of a sportsman;

Finds Road to Health at Sixty "Fruit-a-lives" corrects Bladder and Kidney Trouble

MR. THOMAS GRAHAM.

"I am sixty years old and tried all kinds of medicines for bladder and kidney trouble, which used to keep me from work a month at a time, until I started taking 'Fruit-a-lives'. Thanks to 'Fruit-a-lives' I have worked steadily for four years without a sick day. I have never felt better than I do now," writes Mr. Thomas Graham of Oshawa, Ont.

Because it is made from the juices of fresh, ripe fruits, intensified and combined with strengthening tonics, "Fruit-a-lives" soon brings radiant health to those who suffer from constipation, bladder and kidney troubles. It works in nature's own way. You will find "Fruit-a-lives" the very thing your system needs. 25c and 50c a box at all druggists. Start right away—to-day.

he cared nothing for indoor amusements, such as reading, music, and so forth; and he had no ambition for representing that county in Parliament. The one pursuit that he was really fond of was—yachting. Darrock was within sixteen miles of a sea port town, with an excellent harbor; and to this accident of position the Hall was entirely indebted for recommending itself as a place of residence to Mr. James Smith.

He had such an untiring enjoyment and delight in cruising about at sea, and all his ideas of pleasure seemed to be so closely connected with his remembrances of the sailing trips he had taken on board different yachts belonging to his various friends, that I verily believe his chief object in marrying my mistress was to get the command of money enough to keep a vessel for himself. Be that as it may, it is certain that he prevailed on her, some time after their marriage, to make him a present of a fine schooner-yacht, which was brought round from Cowes to our coast town here, and kept always waiting ready for him in the harbor. His wife required some little persuasion before she could make her mind up to let him have the vessel. She suffered so much from sea-sickness, that pleasure sailing was out of the question for her; and, being fond of her husband, she was naturally unwilling that he should engage in any amusement which took him away from her. However, Mr. James Smith used his influence over her cleverly, promising that he would never go away without first asking her leave, and engaging that his terms of absence at sea should never last more than a week or ten days at a time. Accordingly, my mistress, who was the kindest woman and the most unselfish in the world, put her own feelings aside, and made her husband happy in the possession of a vessel of his own.

While my master was away cruising, my mistress had a dull time of it at the Hall. The few gentlemen there were in our part of the county lived at a distance, and could only come to Darrock when they were asked to stay there for some days together. As for the village near us, there was but one person living in it whom my mistress could think of asking to the Hall, and this person was the clergyman who did duty at the church, one Mr. Meeke. He was a single man, very young, and very lonely in his position. He had a mild, melancholy, pasty-looking face, and was as shy and soft spoken as a little girl—altogether, what one may call, without being unjust or severe, a poor, weak creature, and out of all sight, the very worst preacher I ever sat under in my life. The one thing he did which, as I heard, he could really do well, was playing on the fiddle. He was uncommonly fond of music—so much so that he often took his instrument out with him when he went for a walk. This taste of his was his great recommendation to my mistress, who was a wonderfully fine player on the piano, and who was delighted to get such a performer as Mr. Meeke to play duets with her. Besides liking his society for this reason, she felt for him in his lonely position, naturally enough, I think, considering how often she was left in solitude herself. Mr. Meeke, on his side, when he got over his first shyness, was only too glad to leave his lonesome little parsonage for the fine music-room at the Hall, and for the company of a handsome, kind-hearted lady, who made much of him and admired his fiddle-playing with all her heart. Thus it happened, that, whenever my master was away at sea, my mistress and Mr. Meeke were always together, playing duets as if they had their living to get by it. A more harmless connection than the connection between those two never existed in this world; and yet, innocent as it was, it turned out to be the first cause of all the misfortune that afterward happened.

A Frock That Baffles This Tricky Spring Weather

SPRING is coming and there are days when a coat is uncomfortably warm even over a silk dress. Yet it is too cool when an attempt is made to go without one. This dress made in a plain or novelty tweed or light weight wool solves our problem. A delightful tailored effect is achieved in the extension of the notched collar from the right lapel diagonally across the front to meet the buckle which fastens the narrow belt at the side. The skirt is made interesting and a little different by the narrow stitched pleats topped by the circular binding of the dress material or of harmonizing or contrasting color which forms a point at the top of the box pleat in the center of the skirt. This style is also very smart for an afternoon dress of silk crepe or satin. (Copyright, 1928, by Butterick.)

Sweet and palatable, Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is acceptable to children, and it does its work surely and promptly.

DRIVER MEETS WITH ACCIDENT

Lockhart Pinned Beneath Seat When Racer Plunges Into Ocean

Frank Lockhart, internationally known race driver of Indianapolis, narrowly escaped instant death late Wednesday when he lost control of his powerful Stutz Black Hawk Special during an attempt to set a new world's automobile speed record and hurtled with it into the surf at Daytona Beach, Fla., while travelling at 225 miles an hour.

He was pinned in the driver's seat of the machine by the steel frame of the side, which was stove in by the violent impact of the waves, but a fortunate circumstance landed the car right side up after it had turned a complete somersault from the beach speedway, and also kept the machine from going beyond his depth.

His face and hands were lacerated and he was thought to have suffered a broken arm and possible internal injuries, but a superficial examination revealed no serious hurts.

The driver was pulled from the sea by rescuers and rushed to the hospital.

Making a run north, with the visibility extremely poor, Lockhart's car was seen to swerve toward the sand dunes several hundred yards before entering the mile stretch.

His car left the ground twice, and then swerved into the ocean, hitting the waves. The car bounced entirely off the water, and landed upright. Scores of spectators waded out into the ocean up to their necks and successfully brought out the car. They found Lockhart helpless, but conscious, with water up to his neck.

"I'm all right," was his only expression after he had been dragged from the water.

The racer's wife was among the crowd of several thousand persons who witnessed the accident, and was one of the first to reach the water's edge. She fainted when she saw that he had been hurt, and did not see him lapse into semi-consciousness as he was rushed away in an ambulance.

The visibility was extremely poor, because of low hanging clouds, but Lockhart had decided late in the day to essay the race against time, because of the short length of time remaining for the trials, which, to receive American Automobile Association sanction, must be made before the present speed carnival ends this afternoon.

After two trips over the measured mile, up and down the beach, Lockhart was making the first run, north. He had a start of several miles before entering the official stretch, and was believed to have had his racer virtually wide open. Timers clocked him at the moment of the spill at 225 miles per hour.

12th Battery Eliminated

Port Colborne eliminated the London 12th Battery last year's champions, from the O.H.A. intermediate race by defeating the Londoners 4 to 1 in the second game of the series at London Arena last night to take the third round honors by the count of 10 to 2.

Port Colborne completely outclassed London and are worthy representatives to enter the semi-finals of the Provincial amateur series. The visitors are the smartest intermediate club which the Battery has opposed in two seasons. Instead of playing defensive hockey to protect the five goal lead secured in the first game of the series, the Ports stepped out and played real offensive hockey. They displayed superiority in every department and were equally as effective on the large ice surface as they were on their own small rink.

$650,000,000 OF U.S. ICE CREAM

Business Now Represents One of the Big Industries of That Country

Three-quarters of a century ago, Jacob Fussell, a Baltimore milk dealer, started in fun an industry which has become a giant of American commerce—the present $650,000,000 wholesale ice cream business. Fussell's milk enterprise suffered reverses in the form of limited outlet in 1851, and to solve the problem of surplus storage, he hit upon the idea of freezing it. Immediately a multitude of possibilities arose, including the development of a popular delicacy when sugar and flavoring were added to the milk.

How well the theory succeeded is revealed in a tattered government report of that day, which sets forth that "ice cream is eaten in fun and not as a food." The luxury retailed at 99¢ a quart.

By 1856 the demand for ice cream had so increased that a factory was put into operation in Washington. The machinery was simple. A single freezer, attached to a drive wheel which provided power for rotation, was the entire equipment. When a factory was erected in 1862 in Boston, orders for ice cream had come to American manufacturers from England, India and Brazil. Western cities awoke to the possibilities, and a factory was opened in St. Louis after an initial outlay of $500 for rights to the carefully guarded formula.

Artificial refrigeration, discovered by a German in 1867, is credited directly for the first great commercial opportunity in the wholesale manufacture of ice cream, an industry which consumed 4,500,000 pounds of milk in 1926 and poured thousands of dollars in the dairymen's pockets.

Federal figures place the total production of ice cream at 324,665,000 gallons in the same year. Estimates for 1927 have not been compiled, but it is believed that they will show an even higher production. There are approximately 5,000 factories in the United States supplying a vast multitude of retailers, whose sales, added together and divided by the number of dealers from the roadside vendor to the owner of city "fountains," average 8 gallons a day for each merchant.

The rapid rise of the ice cream industry is credited in part to the complete change of attitude toward the "delicacy eaten in fun" seventy-seven years ago. Ice cream by constant study and experiment has become a valuable food, of which total solids, including fats and other nutriment, amount to 36 per cent of any given quantity sold by the average manufacturer.

HYDRO POWER ON NIAGARA RIVER

On the Niagara river, the water-power of which is shared between Canada and the United States, five to six million horse power could be developed, but by international treaty the United States is restricted to a total diversion of the flow of the river to 20,000 cubic feet per second and Canada to 30,000. These diversions are practically all utilized by the developments now in use.

The merchants were well agreed that a half holiday is a necessary evil but could not all agree upon the day or the length of the season of half-holidays.

More dinged fenders resulting from automobile drivers endeavoring to negotiate the slippery streets without chains.

Look over the Guide and see what you can buy locally before patronizing the city stores. A sock marked 65c special, in a big department store sold here for 50c, for the same, identical article. Stop, look and listen.

Tomorrow is the World Day of Prayer for missions and a special meeting for all the churches is being held in the Baptist church on Friday afternoon at three o'clock.

Mrs. A. R. Symons of Belleville, was seriously injured when motoring to Toronto Wednesday. The accident happened one mile west of Trenton and Mrs. Symons received a cracked hip and a fractured collar bone. She was taken to the surgery of Dr. Farley of Trenton, and later removed to the Belleville hospital. It is understood her son, Frank Symons, was driving the car, and that owing to the bad condition of the road the car slewed and went into the ditch. It turned completely over and was badly damaged. Neither Mr. Symons nor Miss Haines, who was also a passenger, was injured.

Mrs. Ed. Thomas received a letter from St. Louis, Mo., dated there on Feb. 20, 3.30 p.m., with a 10c Lindbergh Air Mail stamp on it, which got it to Chicago the following morning and here on the following morning, which is certainly rapid mail service for the distance.

ALL HOPE IS NOT ABANDONED

But Fate of Arctic Fliers Is Admittedly Uncertain

"We have by no means given up hope that they will be found alive" declared Major N. B. McLean of the Department of Marine and Commander of the Hudson Straits expedition, in reference to the fate of the two aviators and the Eskimo who have been lost for nearly a week somewhere in the ice fields of the Arctic wastes 4 hours and 25 minutes of flying from Port Burwell, their base.

"We admit that the situation is very ticklish and uncertain," Major McLean said, "but we feel that we may have hope for a long time yet. Even should the plane have gone off its course out over the North Atlantic, we feel that it may come down on the moving ice and might drift ashore along the Labrador coast where the men would be pretty certain to reach some sort of settlement."

BRIDE-TO-BE IS HONORED

On Wednesday evening a number of the friends of Miss Carrie Bassett gathered at the home of Mrs. Harry Keeler, Sherbourne Street, and presented the bride-to-be with a kitchen shower. She was the recipient of many useful and valuable gifts for a well equipped kitchen and although surprised, thanked her friends in her usual pleasant manner. Dainty refreshments served by the hostess of the evening brought the affair to a successful close.
