Violent Wind Storm

Did Much Damage

Trees and Fences Suffer Severely and One House Was Struck by Lightning

Peterboro, July 11th.—A violent electrical rain and wind storm swept over Peterboro and district shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon and must have wrought considerable havoc through this section, although the fact that the telephone wires are down everywhere makes it impossible to get any details for this issue. The wind, which assumed almost cyclonic proportions blew trees and wires down everywhere throughout the city, and in the country the conditions must have been a great deal worse. During the storm lightning struck the house occupied by Mr. W. S. Laing, Mark street, and knocked some bricks out of the chimney. No other damage was done to the building.

A large limb of a tree in Sheridan street was struck off by the lightning, while two other trees in the grounds of St. John's church suffered similar injuries in consequence of the wind.

The awnings of the stores of Mr. Evans and Mr. Micks of Hunter street were shredded by the wind, while a tree adjoining to the W. C. A. rooms were torn up by the winds.

A power wire broke and fell across a small barn at the corner of Sherbrook and Reid streets, setting fire to it. The Fire Department were notified and on arriving, they cut the power wire and no further damage resulted.

A chimney was knocked off a house at 460 Sherbrooke street, by lightning.

A number of trees were blown down throughout the city. On Stewart street a large electric light pole, carrying a number of wires was thrown across the street, forming an arch over the roadway.

Awnings also suffered considerably, a large number of them being wrenched from their positions.

The fire alarm telegraph system was badly injured by lightning. The east and south circuits were put out of commission, and at the time of going to press Chief Howard could not estimate the damage.

Money Coming to Port Hope People

The report issued by the Government giving the dividends remaining unpaid, unclaimed balances and unpaid drafts and bills of exchange in the chartered banks of the Dominion of Canada for five years and upwards prior to December 31, 1910, is to hand, and the following Port Hope names have been noticed in the report:

- Sarah Jane Dermith $121.27;
- Eliza A Gist (guardian) $16.55; Mrs A M Keeley $13.83; Anna S Lancaster $17.75; Miss Ada Johnston $6.75; G R Race $47.04; Ellen J Tamblay $1.16; Carruth Thompson $2.37; Clara Emelia Turner $43.76; Sarah M Wade $70.77; Robert Wallace $295.06.

The last known address of Ann S Lancaster, Sarah M Wade and Robert Wallace was Port Granby.

FARMERS.

A laughable touch was put upon the "farmer's campaign" against Canadian-reciprocity by the facts brought out that the money necessary to pay the members of the "publicity promoting" firm engaged in the conduct of that campaign at Washington.

From this it appears that among the farmers who have shown a patriotic readiness to go down into their jeans and pull out the money necessary to pay the costs of the campaign are the such horny-handed tillers of the soil as Leonard Bronson, general manager of the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association; A. C. Hastings, president of the American Paper and Pulp Association; C. W. Lyman, secretary to the president of the International Paper Company, and William W. Wood, president of the American Woolen Company.

Wolves in sheep's clothing, "pulling the wool over the people's eyes" must suggest themselves to cartoonists as legends for pictures dealing with this bit of news, especially in view of the prominence of the wool tariff in the situation. A good deal of strategic art, by the way, appears to have been displayed by Senator Stone in bringing out this information.

Before the publicity agent was called, he had sent a harassing fire into the anti-reciprocity ranks in the shape of questions put to ex-Gov. Bachelor, president of the National Grange, which were calculated to place that body in a position somewhat suggestive of Fabulist men in buckram.

To begin with cutting down the numbers of the real farmers in the anti-reciprocity movement and then to make those that are left carry

RICE LAKE INDIAN

LOOKING FOR WIFE.

An Indian from Rice Lake named James Trebilcock, was in Peterboro this morning and complained to the chief of police and also to County Magistrate Edmison, about a man of his own color whom he believed eloped yesterday with his wife. It is rumored that the elopers have taken themselves in the direction of Lake Simcoe, where they will be among relatives. The deserted husband was in a very much excited state this morning. In the latter end of May he appeared in the local police court on a charge of drunkenness, after having spent the winter at North Bay. He was discharged at the time, and left for Rosemeath, Ont.—Peterboro Review.

CANTON.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott and two daughters, Claresholm, Alberta, are visiting friends in our neighborhood.

We were very sorry to lose Mrs. W. Kinsman, Misses Beata and Nettie from our midst. They have the best wishes of their many friends here.

We noticed several visitors over the holiday, among others were: Mrs. Edwards, of Warsaw, Mrs. Watson, of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. (Dr.) C. Hawkins and son, Paul, of Toronto, Mrs. H. Bean, of Butler, Indiana, Mrs. Maye and two daughters, of Oshawa, and Mrs. Scaman and Mrs. Reantree, who were called here to attend the funeral of their sister, the late Mrs. J. Hawkins.

The Canton Epworth League will hold a splendid supper on the church lawn Wednesday evening, July 19th, beginning at 6 p. m.

An excellent open air concert will be held consisting of Canon Brass Band, Orchestra and Quartette. The Thomas Quartette and Miss Lockhart from Port Hope will be present, besides choice solos, readings and speeches. Keep the date clear. Come and enjoy a rare treat. Admission 25c and 15c.

DEMAND FOR TEACHERS.

It takes almost a page of a Toronto daily paper to hold the advertisements for school teachers by boards in various parts of the province. The vacant places range from masterships in collegiate institutes and high schools to mistresseships in rural sections. No doubt many of the vacancies will be filled by changes from one constituency to another.

Doubtless King George and Queen Mary are glad it's over. To be the central figures in one of the greatest ceremonies and the most stately pageant of the world's history is no small task. And the universal verdict seems to be that the Royal couple met all expectations.

SPORTING SKITS

BASEBALL

Saturday's Midland League game at Bowmanville between the Good year team of that town and the Peterboro team will go down in history as a 7 to 5 defeat for the Petes. Technically and correctly speaking, however, the score should read Bowmanville 7, Peterborough 6, with the game unfinished. Scrapy and full on wrangling all through the contest had an unsatisfactory termination. It happened this way. With two out in Peterboro's half of the ninth and Murphy at the bat, Rahmel, who had stole second and third cleanly, got a long lead off the bag and tore for home, as Beith, Bowmanville's pitcher, shot the ball to the plate. Jones, the Bowmanville catcher, jumped across the plate and in front of Murphy, grabbed the ball without giving the batter a chance to swing and tagged Rahmel as he came in. The Bowmanville team rushed off the field, and although the Petes protested vigorously there was nothing doing. It was a clear case of interference on the part of the catcher, and Rahmel should have been declared safe and Murphy sent to first. After the game, Weeks of Bowmanville, who umpired on account of the non-appearance of Jack Rosevear, told the Petes that he had made no decision on the play, but that the Bowmanville team had left the field without waiting for the verdict. He agreed that Rahmel was safe at the plate, was very sorry it happened, etc., but there was little satisfaction in that for the Petes.—Peterboro Examiner.

WATER!

The Board of Water Works Commissioners are compelled, unwillingly, to notify all consumers of town water that so long as this hot weather lasts—and no rain—watering streets and lawns are to be stopped and the greatest of care exercised in what is used for domestic purposes. There must be an ample supply of water kept in reserve in case of fire, and the Board feel sure that every citizen will aid them in their efforts to tide over the present difficulty.

Nothing is being left undone to get water, but the supply is not equal to the drain made upon it from day to day.

By order of the Board. B. GRAY, Supd't.

PORT HOPE, JULY 12, 1911

A TROUBLESOME MISGIVING

He pronounced his Latin in the new-old way, with Continental vowels. The effect of this on an Englishman's lips is always more or less peculiar...

'And when,' he exclaimed, dismissing the melancholy thought, 'do you present yourself for ordination?'

It was his habit to pay slight attention to the words of anyone but himself, and Peak's careless answer merely led him to talk on wide subjects with remark of an energy...

REAL JUSTICE IN CANADA

The New York Journal, which is sensational if anything, prints a shocking article with regard to Mrs. Angelina Napolitano, the murderess who is under sentence of death at Sault Ste Marie.

'I know only the Vicar of St. Etheldreda's, Mr. Lijivich.' 'Ha! Admirable fellow! Large minded, broad of sympathies. Has distinctly the scientific turn of thought.'

'And I believe you know the Warricombes very well?' pursued Chivers. 'Yes.'

'Mr. Warricombe is a great geologist, I think?—Probably he frequents public worship as a mere tribute to social opinion.'

'That by no means necessitates church-going, my dear Peak, rejoined the other, with his hand on his forehead. 'You think not? I am still only a student, you must remember. My mind is in suspense on not a few points.'

He proceeded to do so, at some length. When he had rounded his lips in a period, he unexpectedly started up, swung on his toes, spread his chest, drew a deep breath, and with the sweetest of smiles announced that he must postpone the delight of further conversation.

You must come and dine with me some time at my house in is reasonable order. As yet, everything is sensu desensu desous. Delightful old city, Exeter! Charming! Charming! (To BE CONTINUED.)

A DOUBLE PLAY.

White Mr. German and Mr. Foster, as directors of a great fruit company, appealing to British investors for capital, speak in the most glowing terms of the future of that industry, Mr. Flaville, the head of the Davies Packing Company, represents the prospects of his firm in the same rosy light.

The Davies Company announced a six per cent. bond issue of $1,250,000, which was all taken up in one day. Mr. Flaville, in booming the issue, told the public of the company's large earnings and its successful competition with the American packers in the United Kingdom, and even to some in the United States. He wrote: 'It is reasonable to assume that the experience of the past years will be repeated and that if an occasional year results in no profit in some important branch of the business, compensation will be found in the larger profits of other departments. There is every reason to expect a continued satisfactory margin of profit over and above the interests and sinking requirements of this bond issue.'

Why, then, that Mr. Flaville speaks with two voices? As a businessman he says that his company competes abroad with Americans; as a politician he said that under reciprocity it would not be able to compete with them at home! As a politician he says that the fruit industry is going to prosper, and as a businessman he says that the fruit industry is going to prosper, and as a politician he says that the fruit industry is going to prosper...

REAL JUSTICE IN CANADA

The New York Journal, which is sensational if anything, prints a shocking article with regard to Mrs. Angelina Napolitano, the murderess who is under sentence of death at Sault Ste Marie. The evidence with regard to her crime was direct and convincing. There may have been mitigating circumstances, and circumstances which will be considered by the Minister of Justice in due time. The fact that her husband, whom she killed, was drunk in his treatment of her, that she was goaded to the crime, that the crisis coming when she was forced into an evil life, will be duly considered. On the evidence she was clearly guilty of a great offence and was sentenced accordingly.

The Journal pictures justice in Canada as merciless. 'Justice says that the woman committed the murder, so she must be hanged. But the unborn child did not commit the murder so it must not be killed. The mother is to live until the baby is born, and then she will be hanged—choked to death with a rope around her neck.' And after more to the same effect, there is this finish: You can read much in history before finding any infamy comparable to that of which the Canadian Government is guilty in the case of a woman people will be guilty if they allow this monstrous crime to be committed.

This is the kind of talk that goes on the American side and that helps to make justice there a travesty. Not to judge merely of superficial appearances requires knowledge. True criticism does not necessarily mean a pointing out of weakness. It may be the discovery of virtue. However, most criticism is of the other kind. It is just plain 'knocking.' Criticism of another generally acts as a boomerang upon the unjust critics because the critic is will be perused regardless of the time it may take. Eventually the woman will get the justice that is her due, and she will not be rushed by any excited appeals of the press. There has been too much mawkish sentimentality about this case. The Roman is perhaps of all showing the least concern and solicitude.

THE DANGER OF IDLENESS

Dr. Parkhurst, of New York, wonders whether there is not too many holidays, not too much waste time. Man, he says, should have a definite object before him always. He should not want to divide the twenty-four hours into three unless he has some object in doing so. Eight hours each for labor and sleep are all right, but what about the other eight hours? Indefiniteness of purpose, he says, means mischief.

The man is never so happy as when he is occupied in some way, and the eight hours which one has apart from labor and sleep should be devoted to a service which will be elevating and inspiring. Idleness makes for dissipation and crime. Dr. Parkhurst has been examining the statistics and he finds that Sundays are blighted by the greater number of transgressions, that on the day for rest men give way to their passions, and that the record against them is menacing indeed.

One thing more occurs to the New York divine. Men run life as they do their machinery, at too fast a speed, and they wreck it. There is the necessity for some relief, some cessation from toil and for a prolonged period.

Without the vacation in modern times some men simply draw on themselves, exhaust their capital, and die long before their time.

A holiday is a good thing, but it would be appreciated the more if men spent their time while at work the better, if they ran about less when not at work, if they simply changed their occupations, and used Sundays for legitimate and religious purposes.

Mandays come to many without a sense of the rest they desired, and needed, because they have not sought and taken it when they could. Rest with certain persons is another name for dissipation.—Kingston Whig.

CRIME AND ITS CURE

The prison returns indicate a decrease in the number of prisoners who are committed to the larger prisons in Ontario, says the Kingston Whig. It is not to be inferred from this statement that there is any marked decrease in crime, for unfortunately the world is still wicked and the evil tendencies of some people are as manifest as ever.

But the parole system is in force, and wherever there is any evidence of repentance on the part of the individual, any chance of reform, this system is resorted to, and with good result. Only the vicious, the incorrigible, the really abandoned should be kept in prison. It does not help any one who is not hopelessly given to crime to confine him in a penitentiary—for a lengthened period. The disgrace of imprisonment is very much felt.

Anything which will reprove a man in a way he will remember, or which has been shown to be of use, is to be commended. A week's incarceration will, however, do some men as much good as a year, and he is saved the contamination that follows the compulsory herding with 'the submerged tenth.' The larger number of murder cases, and other crimes which end in commitments to the jails alone, reminds one that the thought which begins the article is true—that lawlessness is not disappearing. The method of treating some offenders is simply different, and it is correct.

STOP KNOCKING

Criticism is fair and legitimate. Most of us need to be hit, and hit hard sometimes, in order to wake up. We often get the notion that we have a monopoly of wisdom. This is particularly true of those who are accustomed to have their own way because for the time being they are placed in a position of authority. But to judge merely of superficial appearances requires knowledge. True criticism does not necessarily mean a pointing out of weakness. It may be the discovery of virtue. However, most criticism is of the other kind. It is just plain 'knocking.'

It is the practice of Sir Alan Aylesworth to read over all the records which are sent to the government, and then to recommend nothing to him what the reply might be. 'Mr. Warricombe is a man of sincere piety,' Godwin answered with grave countenance.

apt to point out in another the failing which is peculiarly his own. As a general proposition it is better to criticize yourself than to wait until another fellow gets a chance to criticize you; and be merciful to yourself in your criticism, if you expect mercy from another.

THE OLD BATES HOUSE.

A Hotel That Once Started Indianapolis With its Innovations. I remember that when Indianapolis became a great railroad center and a city of enormous proportions—population from $1,000,000, according to the creative capacity of the imagination making the estimate—a wonderful hotel was built there and called the Bates House.

The splendors were the subject of wonder throughout the west. It had washstands with decorated pottery on them in all its more expensive rooms so that a guest sojourning there need not go down to the common washroom for his morning ablution and dry his hands and face on a jack towel.

There were combs and brushes in the rooms, too, so that if one wanted to smooth one's hair he was not obliged to resort to the appliances of that sort that were hung by chains to the wash-room walls. Moreover, if a man going to the Bates House for a sojourn chose to pay a tax on him he might have a room all to himself.

But all these subjects of wonderment shrink to nothingness by comparison when the proprietors of the Bates House printed on their breakfast bills for fare an announcement that thereafter each guest's breakfast would be cooked after his order for it was given, together with an appeal for patience on the part of the breakfast-eater until the appointed moment was promised to reward with hot and freshly prepared dishes.

This innovation was so radical that it excited discussion hotter even than the 'hot water' breakfast. Opinions differed as to the right of a hotelkeeper to make his guests wait for the cooking of their breakfasts. To some minds the thing presented itself as an invasion of personal liberty and therefore a violation of the rights of the citizen.—Edward Eggleston's "Relections."

A FRAGRANT TRAIN.

Every night limited express a unique feature in the winter months a special train, popularly called the "Rapid de Fleurs" the so-called lower limited express of ten cars, leaves Toulon for Paris over the line of the Lyons and Mediterranean railway, carrying cut flowers in baskets and cardboard boxes from all stations on the line from Nice to Toulon to the Paris markets. Certain fine flowers in crates, such as Bertha and Munich; others continue to Brussels and others to Calais, where their perishable freight is rushed to the markets of London and Manchester.

Certain shipments reach St. Petersburg and Vienna, and the facilities thus offered the flower growers of southern France are unique in the transportation world. A special train carries the Lyons and Mediterranean parcels en route, the slight or ten sorters handling the baskets as carefully as the mails are handled. The cut flower industry of southern France has been in existence for centuries given by Catherine Kart, the certain jardiner, as he was known when he settled in St. Raphael in the latter part of the last century.

Not the violet of Epernes, the rose and carnations of Antibes and the narcissus and Roman hyacinths of Ollioules, Le Pradet and Carqueiranne, are found in the shops of Paris scarce and expensive. The flowers are growing in the open air on the Mediterranean shores.

Cuteness of Madman. In Sir William Butler's autobiography there is an amusing story about six insane soldiers who escaped while the corporal who had brought them on board the trooper was leaving at 1,500 paces. The trooper, in a wicked mood, the problem of the voyage was to find who were the six madmen. By the time the boat reached Cape Town twenty-six men were officially under observation, and not one of the six was among them. In the end the crazed half dozen were identified as those who had taken an especially eager part in the lunatic hunt.

Not His Language.

Lord Robt, at the dinner of the Glamorgan society, told the story of a Welsh witness in a Glamorganshire case who had been asked to speak the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, was asked if he could speak English or would like an interpreter. "No," he replied; "I can speak my own language, but I cannot speak the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth."—St. James Gazette.

Good Fellowship.

Eligs—You should join our club, old man. If only for the good fellowship of the thing. Eligs—I intend to. Brown, one of your members, took my name only last week. Eligs—No, we don't speak to each other.—Boston Transcript.

Dangers of Carelessness.

Lion Toss—You're leaving his cage open again. One of these days some one will come along and steal him.—London Opinion.

RAVAGED BY FLAMES

Cochrane Nearly Obliterated by Raging Forest Fires. VILLAGES ARE WIPED OUT

South Porcupine Is Gone, Pottsville Is Wiped Off the Map and Only Five Buildings Remain in Cochrane as a Result of the Relentless March of the Flames—Seven Men Reported Dead.

North Bay, July 12.—A terrible disaster has overtaken Northern Ontario as a result of heat and lack of rain. The whole country is burning up with bush fires everywhere, which are blazing for over a week and reached their climax yesterday, licking up in their way every thing before them. Fanned by a terrible gale of wind, the flames swooped down on villages and mining camps of the north country, and the loss of property will run into immense figures, while the death toll must be great, as the Porcupine district, where the fire is at its worst, contains thousands of prospectors, whose camps are scattered over a wide area of country heavily timbered.

From North Bay northward for three hundred miles and covering a wide section of the north country, the flames are busy in their work of destruction and death, and miners, prospectors and settlers are in desperate plight, if they even escape with their lives, their supplies, buildings and equipment are being wiped out of existence by a roaring wall of fire which illuminates the sky.

The town of Cochrane, at the junction of the T. & N. O. Railway, and transcontinental, which was nearly wiped out the other day by fire, was leveled to the ground yesterday, and the inhabitants are in a bad way for food and shelter, and asking assistance from neighboring towns to the south.

South Porcupine and Pottsville have been wiped off the map, while the latter City was visited by fire, but the best part of the town was saved, thus far only the outskirts being burned.

The south part of the town has been swept clean, and other townships have suffered severely. All the mining camps from Dome to Wilmet have been burned, hundreds of people, men, women and children, were forced to rush into lakes and streams to seek refuge from the inferno, and were met by the conflagration, an inferno of terror with immense clouds of smoke darkening the sky, illuminating the forest with flame, as fire leaped from tree to tree with frightful rapidity and a terrible roar.

A report comes from F. Flynn, A. Yull, and W. J. Fletcher, have been burned to death, while Billy Moore and three foreigners lost their lives in the flames. South Porcupine town, while running from the flames.

The flames swept down on South Porcupine town and Pottsville yesterday and wiped out both towns so quickly that the inhabitants were unable to get away. Nothing was left of either town, the forest and fire, which burned the very ground.

Gasoline boats removed refugees from both towns to Golden City, across the lake, where they were cared for, although the outskirts of that town were also being threatened. A desperate fight was being waged to save the place. The provision supply is only sufficient for several days at Golden City, and relief is being asked for from outside points.

At the town of Cochrane everything is burning, and Pottsville yesterday and wiped out both towns so quickly that the inhabitants were unable to get away. Nothing was left of either town, the forest and fire, which burned the very ground.

Out of the Frying Pan.

St. Catharines, Ont., July 12.—After waiting for a week, Isaac Friedler, millinery planter from Natchez, Mississippi, died on Monday night, as the result of a sunstroke.

He and his wife came to St. Catharines, as they have done ever since they were married thirty-eight years ago, earlier than usual this year in order to avoid the exceptionally hot weather down south.

Wanted Sun Out.

Niagara Falls, Ont., July 12.—When the mercury was nearly at the top of the glass yesterday the firemen were called out by an alarm from the city. When they arrived on the scene, five-year-old Harry Simms explained that he wanted them to put out the sun. When the firemen went away, his baby brother could see the sun.

Cummins in the Way.

Washington, D.C., July 12.—An attempt to bring a bill on the Canadian reciprocity bill on July 19, the free list bill on July 20, and the tariff bill on July 21, was made in the Senate yesterday by Senator Watson, of West Virginia. The motions were lost on objection by Senator Cummins.

out, the train being obliterated and secondary roads destroyed. Supp. Bill as introduced by the Ontario Government Railway will remain at their posts all night, arranging and sending relief trains to the stricken towns.

The North Bay Town Council will send $300 worth of provisions to Cochrane, and the train will be sent to tents and other supplies are required and being collected to go forward on relief trains.

RESISTED ARREST.

And Montreal Recorder Deals Severely With Rowdies. Montreal, July 12.—It will perplex the police when they are assaulted while in the performance of their duty. I shall be very severe with any such trouble that occurs before me in the future," said Mr. Recorder Dupuis in the Police Court yesterday.

The remarks were caused by an epidemic of assaults upon the police Monday night. Adolphe Lesperance was charged with being drunk on St. Lawrence street at 2 p.m. Constable Lavois claimed that Lesperance accused him and asked him to have a drink. When he refused Lesperance began to abuse and fought with great vigor the constable's effort to take him to the station; $10 or one month.

Hermegille Argin, drunk and disorderly on Montcalm street, put up such a beautiful scrap that Constable Berthelette had to secure the help of outsiders to take him along; $30 or two months.

Edmond Pilon was a little tamer and $35 or 15 days was considered enough for his rather poor exhibition. Constable Pilon had no trouble in subduing him.

Out of the Frying Pan.

St. Catharines, Ont., July 12.—After waiting for a week, Isaac Friedler, millinery planter from Natchez, Mississippi, died on Monday night, as the result of a sunstroke.

He and his wife came to St. Catharines, as they have done ever since they were married thirty-eight years ago, earlier than usual this year in order to avoid the exceptionally hot weather down south.

Wanted Sun Out.

Niagara Falls, Ont., July 12.—When the mercury was nearly at the top of the glass yesterday the firemen were called out by an alarm from the city. When they arrived on the scene, five-year-old Harry Simms explained that he wanted them to put out the sun. When the firemen went away, his baby brother could see the sun.

The Evening Guide

PORT HOPE, JULY 12, 1911

NOTICE.—All persons having cream bottles or pails belonging to Mr. Fred Oke will kindly notify him and he will call for the same.

The "oldest inhabitant" can scarcely muster up the hardihood to tell us that this is nothing to the summers they used to have in the good old days.

The Chicago Tribune says there have been 500 murders in that city since the last hanging. Chicago seems to be a tolerably safe town for murderers.

The April net earnings of 777 railroads reporting to the United States Government decreased $2,083,841. In April a year ago they increased $4,316,236.

There were forty-one murders in Canada last year against twenty-one the year before. Which is a progress record not at all flattering to the country.—Hamilton Spectator.

The Camorristi trial at Viterbo, Italy, ought to furnish many good moving pictures. To one accustomed to British legal proceedings it looks like a duel of words in a big comic opera.

The Cuban Congress has cut out of the appropriations the money for the teaching of English in the public schools. And this is but one of the many signs that Cuba is more Spanish than Yankee.

Michigan is an automobile State yet in the last ten years the value of its horses has increased from $35,000,000 to $71,000,000. There appears to be no danger of the horses becoming extinct before the proud and swift automobile.

HOSPITAL TRUST.—A special meeting of the subscribers to the Port Hope Hospital Trust will be held in the Council Chambers, on Thursday night, the 13th inst., at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of approving of By-Laws governing the Hospital Trust and other business. All persons who have subscribed one dollar or upwards are members of the Trust.

SHOULD BE LASHED.—Wife-beating is again becoming rife. A Toronto man, who was accustomed to hammer his better half every day got six months in jail and smiled in court. Six months and thirty lashes would have had a different effect. The lash is Montreal's corrective for the wife beater, and it is supreme.

MEANEST MAN IN THE WORLD.—The meanest man in the world is probably the scoundrel who would reach in a pullman window while the train stands at a station and steal from the berth of a Houston minister all his wearing apparel except a vest and compel him to borrow a pair of pants from the porter in order to leave the train in the morning. We feel confident that no democrat would do such a thing.—Houston Post.
