BABY IS BORN ON TRAIN TUESDAY

Boy is Born to Woman on Train Going to Ottawa

Canadian Pacific Passenger Train No. 34, Toronto to Ottawa, was chosen early Tuesday morning by the stork as the birthplace of a fine baby boy. The birth occurred while the train was stopped at Havelock Station, but mother and child continued their journey to Ottawa without delay.

The mother is Mrs. Nora Demieist of Detroit. When the train reached the station a call was sent to Dr. A. S. Thompson, but before he arrived at the station the baby was born. Dr. Thompson continued to Ottawa to care for mother and child on the train.

Clifford McWilliams and wife found dead in apartment at Omaha, Neb., believed to be murder and suicide.

Complicated diet of gunpowder pistol caps and green grapes killed four year old August Hagen, St. Louis, Mo.

TRAFFIC CENSUS IS COMPLETED

1549 Cars Passed Dale Corners During Week of July 11-17

During the week of July 11-17th traffic census has been taken of all vehicles which passed the intersection at Dale on the Peterboro Highway and also at the Welcome crossroads on the Provincial Highway. Fred Ough and Albert Mann were in charge at Dale while M. O'Neill and W. Bryan chalked down the cars at Welcome. The hours were from 6 a.m. to 2 p.m. and from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m.

In the first column is given the number of Ontario cars passing at Dale and in the second the number of foreign cars. The last column includes buggies, waggon, etc. Gravel trucks which made numerous trips in this vicinity were also counted in the last column.

HELD GRIP ON BIG RATTLER

Unconscious Mt. Pleasant, Pa., Youth Clutched Snake Until Chloroformed

A Mt. Pleasant youth was found unconscious on the road between Mt. Pleasant, Pa. and Minersville Monday night. In his hands, gripped tightly, was a three foot rattlesnake wrapped about his neck.

Two men who came upon Louis Karbosky, 23, in the road tried to free the reptile and give succor. Karbosky, however, regained partial consciousness and twisted and groveled to defeat their purpose.

Then the men, Peter Mowery and John Hoptel, appealed to passing motorists, and the young man was taken to a Minersville doctor. But even the combined efforts of the doctor and the two men were futile.

Dr. Leroy Purcell, finally chloroformed Karbosky, as his muscles relaxed the men stood by ready to capture, if possible, the rattlesnake. The snake, however, was dead. Karbosky was removed to a Pottsville hospital where an examination disclosed he had not been bitten. He is being held for observation.

From the youth's incoherent muttering, the story was gathered that he had been walking through some bushes by the roadside when he felt something against his neck. Reaching his hands back he found the snake, and, the doctor says, fell to the road, unconscious from fright.

FALLS 50 FEET, NO ONE KILLED

Two Montreal Women Are Badly Injured at Brighton

Plunging through the stout railing which encircles the dangerous curve on the overhead bridge at Brighton, a Quebec sedan went through the fence, rolled down a 50-foot embankment and landed squarely on its four wheels on the C.N.R. tracks Tuesday. The car was a complete wreck and all the occupants more or less seriously injured.

The car was proceeding eastward on the Provincial highway driven by Chauffeur Leo Poulin and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Lazar Paperman of 481 Irvine Street, Montreal; Mrs. Rebecca Kupusta, mother of Mrs. Paperman and two children.

Chief Bain of Trenton, Highway Officer Ivan Spencer and Drs. Farncombe and John Farley Jr., with the ambulance, were early on the scene and first aid was rendered to the injured people and they were rushed to Belleville hospital. Many trains are passing to and fro over the Canadian National at this point and Chief Bain got in touch with the railway authorities, halting all movement of trains until the track could be cleared.

Willing hands in the immediate vicinity of the wreck brought the car up the embankment where it was towed to a garage in Trenton for repairs.

Mrs. Kupusta is suffering from internal injuries and severe cuts from flying glass. Mrs. Paperman is also internally injured and in a critical condition. The other occupants were also cut and bruised but were able to leave the hospital shortly after admission.

JASPER PARK LODGE IN THE HEART OF THE ROCKIES

It's not very often that you find the gay whirl of society life pictured in a setting of rugged forest-covered, snow-capped mountains far away from city streets. Jasper National Park, however, proves the exception. Here in the midst of towering Rocky Mountains, society sports itself from the ultra-modern Jasper Park Lodge, while the guests enjoy all the luxury and comfort of a great city hotel.

Golf, swimming, motor trips, trail riding and mountain hiking are a few of the enjoyable events with which to round out each day's pleasure. Music and dancing lend a fascination to the night that exceeds the imagination.

For an enjoyable holiday take the fast through "Confederation" for Jasper National Park.

Any Canadian National Railway's Agent will gladly give you full information and literature on Jasper National Park and Jasper Park Lodge.

GARDEN PARTY WAS A SUCCESS

Large Crowd Enjoyed Afternoon on Mrs. McMillan's Lovely Lawns

The annual garden party under the auspices of the Ladies Aid of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, had an ideal setting on the lawns of Mrs. Donald McMillan, Bedford Street, with the blue sky overhead and the golden sunlight streaming down thru the beautiful shade trees, swayed gently by a light breeze, casting flickering, dancing shadows on the velvet lawns. With the place so lovely, the day so bright and such charming hostesses, is it any wonder that a large crowd attended this delightful social affair yesterday afternoon?

With Mrs. McMillan, Mrs. W. G. Gibson, president of the Ladies Aid, and Mrs. J. Goforth Hornsby, the minister's wife, acted as the Society's hostesses and received the guests.

Mrs. P. L. Brown was the convener of the tea committee, which served the most toothsome dainties at the supper table. The tea committee was composed of Mesdames J. Wells, J. Tozer, Geo. Bennett, Sid Smith, W. P. Carruthers, L. Wilson, S. C. Gillespie, Albert Hugh, E. B. Freeman and Miss Jessie Johnston, who were assisted in serving the guests by Mesdames Jack Martin, J. M. Rosevear, W. McTaggart, W. Johnston, Harry Eakins, W. Nesbitt, Walter Roberts, K. McClelland, M. McElroy and Dorothy Roberts.

The fish pond was a delightful rendezvous for the children and Misses Sybil Hogg, Audrey Box, Roberta Lowe and Aileen Gifford certainly made the children happy.

The white elephant table seemed to be very popular having a line of useful birthday gifts. Here Misses Grace Davison, Annie Brown and F. Johnson served the public and drew in considerable cash for the good of the cause.

Miss A. Wilson at the ice cream booth was favored by the kindly sun which kindled such a craving for this confection that her whole stock was disposed of long before the shadows of evening stole across the sky.

Misses I. Caldwell and A. S. Forbes at the talent table and Mrs. J. Rowden and Mrs. E. K. Taylor at the candy table did a flourishing business.

The ladies were pleased with the exceptional success of the affair and their guests were delighted with this social event placed in such delightful surroundings of green lawns, well kept flower beds overhung with the gracefully swaying stately trees.

HAIL RAVAGED SASKATCHEWAN

Some Districts Suffered Severely in Loss of Buildings and Crops

Electrical and hail storms which struck some sections of southern Saskatchewan Friday night caused considerable damage to crops and farm buildings. One person was killed and several injured.

Beginning twelve miles south of Weyburn and extending east and west over a five mile strip, the crop is reported to be a total loss. For miles there is not a telephone pole left standing and broken poles and wires lie across the roads, barns, machine sheds, implements and some homes have been completely wrecked.

South of Limerick a flock of 300 sheep owned by Louis Chartrand were killed.

Meat reports from Willows, Khe and Paugman also tell of the fury of the storm, which destroyed buildings and crops in those areas.

Early Tuesday and Monday a tornado which struck the Grassdale district, which is east of Weyburn, lifted four freight cars from the track into a nearby ditch.

NEW DISCOVERY ELIMINATES DUST MENACE ON BEWDLEY-BAILIEBORO RD.

Stretch of Highway, North of Port Hope Was Chemically Treated Today With Chloride Dust Destroyer—Elimination of Dust Welcomed by Motorists

By applying chloride dust remover the most recent important discovery in the annals of highway spraying, the dust menace on unpaved roads is eliminated and was aptly demonstrated on the Peterboro Highway between Bewdley and Bailieboro today. The stretch of highway in this section is freshly gravelled and is one of the most dusty pieces of road in this district. The experiment was conducted by the Ontario Government by the Ontario Salts and Chemical Co., 1407 Northern Ontario building, Toronto.

The shrubs and trees, bordering on the four and a half mile stretch are shrouded with dust and greatly impede the growth of crops and play havoc with berries, apples and crops etc. This morning, through the courtesy of R. I. Henderson and E. Henderson of the Toronto Company, the Guide was privileged in witnessing the spraying operations.

The liquid is brought from Campbellcroft Station where it is shipped by large railway tanks. A truck with a capacity of 600 gallons, in charge of T. Jones J.P., of the Municipal Spraying Company, W. Ellis, driver, and Lewis Ross, rear end man, applies the spray. One load of liquid will spray half of a twenty foot road for a distance of approximately seven hundred yards and two thousand gallons of the dust destroyer is used on a mile of highway.

Improved Application

In many quarters, calcium flakes are placed on the road but through the action on the gravel, the material is worn off. By the latest improved method, the spray is forced into the roadway and a thorough permeation of the dust is thus affected. One day of sunshine will take the moisture out and in so doing, the gravel is bonded together, thus leaving a hard level surface, minus dust. The roadway, sprayed with this new scientific discovery absorbs moisture during the night and in the morning is as damp as before.

Eight weeks ago the Ontario Salts and Chemical Company conducted an experiment on Wilson avenue, Toronto, and a considerable improvement was made on this thoroughfare. Following the spraying of the Bewdley-Bailieboro portion the company plan a further campaign throughout the province. It is expected that Hon. Geo. S. Martin, Minister of Highways, will visit the section near Bewdley on Friday and see the result of this scientific discovery. Practically the entire portion was sprayed today but with a full staff on the Company can handle ten miles of roadway per day.

Non-Poisonous

Following the death of twenty-two head of cattle on the right of way of the Lake Simcoe Radial Division T.T.C. near Sutton, which was sprayed with a poisonous liquid to exterminate weeds and undergrowth along the tracks, consternation has developed regarding the effects of the chloride dust remover.

"The spray is positively non-poisonous" declared Mr. Henderson, of the Guide, and to prove his statement the official took a sample of the liquid and placed it in his mouth and did not suffer any undue consequences.

"But" added Mr. Henderson, "the spray is sure death to weeds and grass which wither up twenty-four hours after application."

The water before chemically treated is obtained from a well in Cork County on the Maple Road, fourteen miles north of Toronto. The constituents of the chloride dust destroyer are as follows:

18 percent calcium, 9 1-2 percent sodium, 5 percent magnesium, 3 percent mineral oil and the balance water.

The solution is of no avail on clay roads as the roadway is kept wet and the moisture will not evaporate. Rain has no effects on roads treated with this product. After the moisture has evaporated, a hard surface remains and consequently the rain will be carried away and no penetration is allowed.

Reduced Cost

It is stated that the cost of supplying the new product is considerably less than the other sprays. In the latter kind, twelve tons of calcium is used to a mile at a cost of $27.00 per ton plus other expenses, but the Ontario Salts and Chemical Co.'s new product costs but $210 per mile.

The new product has many features which are indispensable to motorists and which also aid the condition of the roadway. The spray does not stick to automobile tires or is splashed on the vehicles, the dust menace is eliminated by the improved method in which it is applied and a hard road surface is the result.

The chloride dust remover discovery will without a doubt become the leading road spray of modern times.

CAMP BORDEN TO BE ABANDONED

Ottawa Has the Call at Present As the Most Desirable Location

Because it is too far removed from any populous centre and also because the buildings are becoming dilapidated and will cost a lot of money to replace, it was decided long ago to abandon Camp Borden as flying headquarters, but where the new site will be selected is not known, nor will it be for some time. Alluding to the published report that it may be in Montreal, the head of the Air Force yesterday said: "There is no more reason for saying that it will be in Montreal than in Toronto or Windsor or Ottawa or London. The one certain thing, as has long been announced, is the ultimate abandonment of Camp Borden. The new flying ground ground may be almost anywhere in Ontario or Quebec near to a centre of population."

A big aerodrome is being constructed at Rockcliffe Park, in Ottawa, where, with the Ottawa River alongside, there is a base for both hydro planes and aeroplanes. A lot of money is being spent on this by the Government, and while there has been no such decision, the present chances would appear to favor Ottawa as the successor of Camp Borden. The whole force is directed from Ottawa and to have the units themselves adjacent to the city is considered a logical thing.

THE GUIDE STORY

(Continued from yesterday.) He asked the question with a most sardonic smile, curling his lip. "Your conduct would be an insult," returned Louis, "if you had not some good reason for it."

"I have; I wish you well." There was a blank silence then for a space between the middle-aged man and the young man.

At last Brutone spoke: "I don't recognize Lord Daere as a man whom I have met before."

"You mean you won't recognize him."

"Tell me," said Louis, speaking now with a sudden fire and defiance, for he saw the affair all at once, and in a new light; "tell me what you are driving at, what you expect?"

"I expect that you will do your duty."

"And what is that, pray?" The wintry light had not yet faded; through the murky sky shot a shaft of stormy light reflected from the setting sun. The radiance illumined the fine head of Brutone. It looked like some classic cast of a Greek hero in bronze. It was colorless to the lips, yet the eyes flamed.

Mr. Hesperus leaned back in the cab, and laughed.

"I see, Monsieur Brutone, I see. But the game you are playing is a dangerous one. There are many eyes upon you. You know that Argus had a hundred eyes? We have a thousand. You may find your promising career as a musician cut suddenly short one of these days if you are not far more careful than you have been. As for Lord Daere, he belongs to an old family; he is heir to a fine estate; it is a pity he should mix himself up in things in which he has no concern. Now I am going to the Rue Plumes d'Or, to consult this famous Flamette before I undertake a new enterprise."

"Monsieur, I understand," returned Brutone.

"What do you mean?"

"That you go to spy on La Flamette, for she is a delusion and a snare, who worms out secrets from the credulous, and trades in them; but your intellect is of that keen, practical sort which disclaims everything tainted with superstition or romance."

Louis spoke with a wrathful bluntness. This man, if he were the president to whom the young violinist had in an unhappy moment vowed a slavish obedience, could not claim that, or even the respect of Louis, while he masqueraded under another name; neither would Louis pay him either. And as for fulfilling his horrible vow to take the life of Lord Daere, he put the monstrous thought away from him forever. Let the secret knife of some assassin find his heart first. He would sell his life at a high price if he were given time to defend it. If not—well, he could but die once.

"You suspect me, my young friend," said Hesperus; "but I know that you are in danger every hour of the day and of the night; watched, surrounded on all sides, as if you were the czar himself; and then, fortunately for you, you are not protected as is the czar."

Here he called to the driver to stop, for the carriage had entered the narrow, gloomy Rue Plumes d'Or, a street in old Paris.

They were on the other side of the Seine by this time.

Night was closing in. The carriage stopped before a tall, narrow house, whose half-shuttered windows gave Louis the idea of half-closed, sinister eyes.

"Good-evening, Monsieur Brutone," said Hesperus. "Think over what I have said, and take warning."

Hesperus put some money into the hand of the driver, and disappeared up a gloomy archway leading to the rear of the house where lived that notorious fortune-teller, Madame Flamette.

The intense insolence of that remarkable personage known in Parisian society as Mr. Hesperus, the American, who was so Germanized through long Austrian service that he had lost all resemblance to the men of his own nation—his intense insolence, we repeat, would have enraged Brutone desperately if he could have brought himself to believe that he was not the president.

But then he could not do that. He told the driver to take him to his own modest apartment in the Avenue Victoria, where he occupied two furnished rooms on one of the upper stories of an inexpensive but respectable hotel.

As he went up the general staircase he looked into the corners, for the place was lighted only by an oil lamp, and an assassin might have been lurking unseen on either of the landings.

Louis, however, reached his large, comfortable room in safety, rang, and ordered an impromptu dinner, and lighted the fire.

He was either a very fortunate or a very unfortunate young man; he did not know which. As for his present trouble, he could but confess to his own soul that he had brought it on himself, when, in a moment of wild, generous enthusiasm, he had joined the mysterious society of The Lost Road. Since then he had lost his own liberty in striving to secure the liberty of his fellow-men.

Construction Crew Challenge Bankers to Softball Game

The Bankers softball team is in great demand for exhibition games and it was learned this afternoon through an authoritative source, viz our learned apothecarial friend, who is now cavorting around Port Hope, and while not in town mixes drugs and slings sodas for an existence on this globe, that Garnett's Construction Gang have issued an official challenge to the Bankers.

Although the Bankers and their challengers dislike publicity, the news leaked out. The official challenge was viewed by ye sporting editor and it was signed, sealed and delivered. The game was slated for the Englishtown Commons and the time of the alleged contest read "At Sunrise," but as the patent leather hair lads do not rise from the arms of Father Morpheus and the folds of their virtuous couch, until Old Sol is shedding his benign rays from mid heaven, the time was set for 6.15 p. m. not a m.

The Construction Gang include in their line-up a formidable array of softball talent, talent only, and if they can peg the old apple around the way they heave mortar, the Bankers will be taken into camp quite easily. They boast of such stars as Brockenshire, who is leading the local batters, Fitzsimmons, Bankers centre fielder, Douglas, of the G. N. R.'s, J. Leuty who at present is viewing the landscape from the palatial quarters of Vincent Massey, penitentiary, excuse me, plenipotentiary minister to the U. S., Gordon Garnett, Geo. Garnett, R. Fitzsimmons, and other stars.

Softball fans come one come all, to the mammoth game of the season. Watch these columns for the date. "McGraw" Tozer the master mind of softball, will bring his galaxy of stars to the Commons and will include all his high salaried players. Come and see Melville patrol the left garden as it should be, watch Martin flash around first and Nimble Spicer snare the grounders at third. From present indications, thousands of fans will attend; the construction team is erecting additional "seating capacities and raison seats." Come early and watch these artists perform.

WOMEN ARE MORE FEMININE

Harrison Fisher, Artist, Says Men Must Look to Their Laurels

Women are becoming more feminine! They are turning to the fluffy things that make men look with long ing eye upon them. They are eliminating the pencil stripe eye brows and the hard, stern masculine lines, the square toed shoes and the severe man-like clothes. It has taken many years to bring this about, but it is coming; no less an authority than Harrison Fisher, who has been drawing women's pictures for thirty-one years predicts it. Fisher arrived in Los Angeles for an extended stay during which he intends to do much drawing with the girls of Los Angeles and Hollywood as his models. Fisher takes great pride in fact that he is known as the world's most famous bachelor. He has drawn pictures of approximately 16,000 women in his day, but he has "fallen" for not a single one of them—and is proud of it. "Women and matrimony with me" says Fisher, "are like vaccinations, they do not take. I like to gaze upon pretty women and see them strut like peacocks before me, but as for matrimony—I am still a bachelor, and I believe I always shall be one."

"But women are passing men rapidly. Take it from me, within a few years men will have to take a back seat for the women. They are becoming smarter every day. The men are becoming dumber in comparison."

"Women are thinking faster, doing smarter things. They are making men look like monkeys and in a few years time they will have the men sitting in the corner pleading for mercy."

"And out here in the West I find the women still more refreshing than those back east. They have more breeziness of manner; more self assurance. There is more of a spirit of comradeship about them. They seem to feel that they are not only the equal of men, but far in advance of them. And I believe they are. I like to meet them here. They inspire me to do better work. They shake hands like men, but have all the attractiveness of women."

Fisher plans to take a cabin some where in the mountains and do some real work before he returns to New York.

TRAFFIC COURT

Joseph Lang of Toronto was fined $5 and costs by Magistrate W. A. F. Campbell in local traffic court for speeding over intersections in Port Hope. E. A. Everson of Oshawa paid a similar fine for a similar offence.

Fred Knox of Bowmanville was fined for not stopping before entering the Highway at Newcastle while Mary Campbell was assessed for the same offence.

Break Even

Toronto and Reading figured in another even break yesterday afternoon, and as a result the Rochester Red Wings lengthened the lead over the O'Haremen. With Jess Doyle on the mound, the Leafs defeated the Keystone in the opener by 11 to 5 but the invaders evened the count when they took a 4 to 2 decision at the expense of Don Harkins the man who shut them out last Saturday. Harkins did fine work until the sixth, when the Keys suddenly rallied and shoved across three runs to overcome a one run lead secured by the Leafs in the fourth innings.

DIRTY EGGS ARE CAUSING LOSSES

Proper Marketing Methods are Advised—Washington Practice Condemned by Expert

That one of the most aggravating problems confronting the egg trade at the present time is the far too frequent marketing of dirty eggs, is the opinion of W. A. Brown, chief of the poultry division of the Dominion live stock branch. Farmers should realize, states Mr. Brown, that they can do much toward improving the egg industry by taking steps to prevent the production and marketing of dirty eggs and by discontinuing the very undesirable practice of washing eggs before marketing.

Under any circumstances it is inevitable that a few slightly dirty or stained eggs will appear. But the farmer who consistently produces and markets large numbers of dirty eggs surely does not realize the bad effect of this practice on his market. These eggs are unpopular with consumers, and in many cities it is almost impossible to sell them at any price. Washed eggs are even more dangerous to the poultry industry than dirty ones. Washing destroys the natural protective bloom of the egg shell and, the shell being damp, mold spores often enter, causing the egg to become unfit for food.

At the same time it is not difficult to prevent the production of dirty eggs. What is needed is an abundance of clean, dry litter on the floor, plenty of nests, about one to every six hens, clean straw in the nests and frequent gathering of the eggs.

THE HIGHWAYS OF BUYING . .

"Follow the highway markings and you can't go wrong." . . . That's the advice the Automobile Club gives you before starting on a motor trip. You follow the well-known, well-marked roads. And you reach your destination the safest, most comfortable way.

Why not follow the same rule in your shopping? Why not stick to the "highways of buying?" They have been just as carefully plotted and are just as carefully marked as the great motor roads you've come to depend on. Marked by the trade-marks of reliable, advertised products.

The next time you go shopping follow these "highways." Before you start, look through the advertisements in these columns. Pick out the products you want. Notice the names and trade marks that identify them. And then ask for them by name.

The advertisements are the sign-posts to guide you to the best merchandise.

DAISY KING SHAW TO ENTER SWIM

Trained at Port Hope Last Year—Made Good Showing in Marathon

Daisy King Shaw, daughter-in-law of Mrs. Shaw, Ward street, who made a creditable showing in last year's C. N. E. marathon, will again enter the C. N. E. swim for women this year. It is stated her entry has been filed with the C. N. E. authorities.

Last year Daisy King Shaw was in training in the waters of Lake Ontario off Port Hope for a number of weeks, and due to the coldness of water was forced to retire in the marathon, in which Vierkotter, strong German swimmer won over several contestants. Last year in the big swim, Mrs. Shaw was hampered by lampry eels which impeded her efforts.

TWO YACHTS VISIT HERE

Toronto and Buffalo Pleasure Boats Stopped in Port Over Night

The Port Hope Harbour was an active port last evening with three boats in, a speed boat loaded for distant points and two lovely pleasure yachts.

The Mercedes of the Buffalo Yacht Club, which last year won the Great Lakes cruiser cup dropped into port on its homeward voyage. Aboard were the owner, Mr. O. W. Guernsey, his mother and friend, Dr. C. E. Taylor, Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Haley, Mr. Arthur White of Buffalo and Mrs. Brown of New York City. The party have enjoyed their visit very much and appreciated the hospitality and courtesy which has been extended to them while guests in this country. Sunday evening they had the honor and pleasure of dining with Mr. Foulds, President of the Trent Valley Canal Association and had a most pleasant time on the Trent. They have had such a good time that they hope to return for a longer visit another season.

Toronto Visitors

The Idler of the Queen City Yacht Club, Toronto, with Vice-Commodore G. C. Cluff and party, seaward bound, was the other yacht which spent the evening here. Some of the party enjoyed a trip uptown and were delighted with the place.

HEARD ON THE STREET

Did you see them off on the excursion?

Lingard Brothers' Bus and Taxi Line conveyed about fifty to Cobourg to go on the United Church Young People's Excursion to Rochester this morning, here they were joined by others who drove down and those who came from other towns, making a big and jolly party for the trip.

For the monster Conservative picnic to be held at Lakeview Park, Oshawa, next Saturday, a new road to take care of the increased traffic is being built behind the buffalo enclosures, and a new baseball diamond is being made for the Oshawa-Peterboro game, which is scheduled for that day. This occasion will be the first time that the Hon. R. B. Bennett has spoken in this section of the country, and he will be accompanied by Hon. John S. Martin.

Thomas J. Bishop, Customs Excise Officer, in the National Revenue Service, passed away in the hospital at Belleville early Tuesday. Deceased was born at Inkerman, Ont., 42 years ago, and a year ago came to this city from Ottawa. He was a member of St. Michael's Roman Catholic church. Surviving are his widow, four brothers, W. J. Bishop, Ottawa; F. L. Bishop, Battleford, Sask.; Rev. Father C. A. Bishop, Cornwall and H. D. Bishop, Calgary.

Town Council Visit Town Park And Look Over College Proposition

The members of the Port Hope Municipal Council visited the Town Park at seven o'clock Tuesday evening and looked over the proposition made by Trinity College School regarding the diversion of the roadway south of the college grounds before the new buildings are erected. Those present included Mayor J. J. Edmunds, Reeve L. H. Giddy, Deputy Reeve Fred Rosevear and Councillors Moss Hewson, J. A. R. Elliott, H. W. Mitchell, H. Merrifield and A. Brickell.

Permission was given the school authorities some time ago to erect a roadway south of the present school hospital but the Building Committee desire to erect the hospital building south of the proposed roadway and in return will allow the town 100 feet of land due east of the park in order to allow an extension to the present race course.

ODDFELLOW'S INSTALLATION

Before a splendid attendance of the members of Durham Lodge, No. 78, I. O. O. F., District Deputy Grand Master Riddle and staff from Orono Lodge installed the officers elect of the local lodge into their respective chairs for the current term last Tuesday night as follows:

J. P. G. W. H. Bruce
