TOLL OF FOURTH THROUGH STATES

Day of Celebration Claimed 205 Lives All Over the Country

The lives of 205 men, women and children were a nation's sacrifice to the celebration of its 152nd birthday anniversary Wednesday.

Fireworks claimed their share of victims, as they always have since the United States first began observing Independence Day with sky-rockets, pinwheel and cannon crack. There were 11 such deaths to the entire country, according to the Associated Press tabulation.

Lakes and rivers, however, exacted the heaviest tribute of human life during the holiday, 106 drownings being reported. Motor car accidents ranked next in number with 54. Heat claimed 12 lives and lightning three, while four were killed in plane crashes. In addition, there were 15 deaths attributed to other causes directly connected with America's observance of the fourth.

Johnston Family of Century Ago Hold Reunion at Orono

Johnston Families, Descendants of Scottish Immigration to North of Ireland in 1640, Settled in Cavan, Hope and Belmont Townships—400 Attend Reunion at Orono.

About 1821 six brothers and one sister (Johnstons), from the north of Ireland, settled in the Township of Cavan and Hope. About 1830 a father with seven sons and two daughters (Johnstons), settled in the Township of Belmont. The two families have a common history, being descended from the Scottish immigration to the north of Ireland about 1640. The families have become connected through intermarriage. A re-union was held of both families at Orono on July 2nd, 1923, there being nearly 400 present, coming from all parts of Ontario and a number from the United States. A very pleasant time was spent. Dinner and tea was served, a fine program of games for the young and old, speeches, and generally a very pleasant time, old acquaintances being renewed and new acquaintances being made. The total membership of these families today probably would run into the thousands.

WRIGHT WINS BY 1-2 LENGTH OVER J. GUEST

Joe Wright and Lee Will Meet in Diamond Sculls Final

It is Joe Wright and Lee, the gipsy carman and present holder of the Diamond Sculls for the final heat tomorrow. Young Joe earned the right to enter the final this afternoon when his long, sweeping stroke carried him to victory over Jack Guest, his Toronto, Argonaut clubmate. As a result Joe will have a chance to wipe out his last year's defeat by Lee.

Wright finished only half a length in front of Guest and was forced to the limit from the start to finish. His time was nine minutes and five seconds.

Dean O'Sullivan Recipient Of a Large Purse of Gold

Congregation of St. Mary's Church Show Very Rev. Dean O'Sullivan Appreciation in a Very Commendable Manner.

A social evening very fittingly marking the close of Very Rev. Dean O'Sullivan's faithful ministry in this parish was held in St. Mary's Parish Hall Thursday evening. Besides a good representation of the congregation there were others present from out-of-town among them being Monseigneur Kelly and Rev. Father Butler of Cobourg.

Mr. E. P. Gallagher occupied the chair and in a few fitting words explained the reason of the gathering after which he called upon Miss Marie Cancelli, who sang "Rosebuds" sweetly.

Miss Adeline Armstrong delighted everyone with her song "Ramona."

The following address which ably gives the congregation's message to the departing pastor was read by Mr. T. J. O'Neill, while Mr. Alex Gordon presented the purse of gold ($500) showing in a tangible way the best wishes of Dean O'Sullivan's friends in the church here:

The Address

Very Reverend Dean O'Sullivan:

"To say that it was with heartfelt regret that we learned we were to lose you does not begin to express adequately the feeling of dismay that the tidings of your removal from our parish raised in the hearts of your people of Port Hope. Twenty-one years you have labored faithfully among us, and though we could not but know always how sincere and kind a friend we have in you, it took the news of your departure to make us realize fully that no one else can be just the same kind and good pastor that you have been.

"Twenty-one years you have conscientiously worked to keep our little flock together, to do for all that a faithful priest can do, by the influence of teaching and example. Most readily you have hastened to the call of the aged or ill, bringing comfort to all. The church societies that you have inaugurated and directed, have thrived under your careful guidance, the clubs have flourished and the literary and dramatic efforts which they have made are testimony of the inspiration and encouragement which they have received from you. The improvement of the church and convent grounds, the acquisition of the beautiful statue, which graces the church front, the magnificent windows of stained glass, and particularly completed interior decorations, will always be to us a reminder of your artistic taste.

"We appreciate having had as our father and guide, one so highly respected by Catholics and Non-Catholics alike, one whose literary attainments are known and valued the length and breadth of Canada, and whose recent presidency of the Catholic Truth Society, has had such splendid results; in fine—a dignified priest, a fine scholar and an honourable gentleman. If we have been as you say, a generous and loyal people, our generosity and loyalty are due to the example that you have set us, to the influence you have had upon us and the inspiration you have been to us. We could not ask more than to be permitted to have you always with us, but since that cannot be we ask God's blessing upon your work in your new parish and it is our earnest prayer that you may enjoy there the best of health and happiness."

Following this, wee Margaret Sheehan came daintily forward and presented Dean O'Sullivan with a lovely bouquet of flowers.

Dean O'Sullivan, in reply, thanked the congregation for their most generous gift and evidence of their loyalty and affection which he appreciated. He also explained that by this transfer it opened up a greater field for service for him and the charge will possibly help the work of the church in this parish.

Monseigneur Kelly rose and outlined the Very Rev. Dean O'Sullivan's illustrious career and assured those present that he was admirably suited for this new position. He felt sure that Dean O'Sullivan would get the same splendid support in the new parish as has been his pleasure here and wished him every success.

Father Butler also added his few words of tribute.

The ladies then put on the really social part of the evening by bringing out the refreshments.

The Parish Hall was beautifully decorated with orange blossoms and peonies for this auspicious occasion.

Sunday, the members of the church presented the Very Rev. Dean O'Sullivan with a Spiritual Bouquet, and have indeed, shown their true devotion to him and regret that he will so soon leave our midst after a faithful service here of twenty-one years.

PROGRESSIVE SPIRIT SHOWN

W. P. Tickell Makes Up-to-Date Change in Confectionery Store

The spirit of progress is in the great majority of us, but in some it is more strongly emphasized. We notice Mr. Wm. P. Tickell is keeping up with the onward march of the times by having everything up-to-date for handling his confectionery business.

Last year he added a truck to his equipment while now he has installed a soda water fountain of the newest design. It is a beautiful fixture, finished in marble with nickel trimmings. The fountain has an automatic iceless refrigeration, known as a Kelvinator. The left section is operated by 1-3 horsepower motor running the Kelvinator which cools twenty gallons of ice cream. The right section contains another twenty-gallons of ice cream as well as the upper compartments on either side with the fruits and flavoring, which is cooled by another similar unit.

The soda water and water taps are conveniently located in the centre and the whole is a neat, clean and rapid equipment for handling the ice cream and sodas.

Mr. Tickell is to be congratulated upon his progressive spirit and upon the fine improvements he has made to his shop.

BANKERS TIED FOR 2ND PLACE

Mathews Defeated 5 to 2 in a Hard Fought Struggle on Thursday

The Bankers jumped into a tie for second place in the Port Hope softball league with the Port Hope Sanitary when they defeated the Mathews 5 to 2 in a nice argument at Viaduct Park Thursday evening. Air tight fielding featured the contest and both teams coralled but six hits.

No hits were registered by either team until the fourth frame, but the Bankers went into the lead by scoring one run in the first innings. Wade drew a pass and scored on two errors. In the second the Carrier Boys evened the count. Trew walked, went to second on a passed ball, and scored on two infield outs.

The Patent Leather Hair Boys' big innings came in the fourth when they pushed around a trio of markers. McMahon dropped Brockenshire's fly and Fitzsimmons clouted a two bagger to right field. Brock enshire scored on McCannell's hit and Fitzsimmons counted on a passed ball. The Mathews presented the Bankers with a benevolent society ticket by making them a gift of one run. Palmer registered a walk with McCannell on third. Trew made a belated throw to second to catch Palmer and McCannell crossed the plate.

With the score 5 to 1 in the seventh, the Mathews gamely tried to come back. Trew hit safely to left and went around on Winfield's error and scored on Laurie's infield out. McMahon whiffed and Sibley popped to third to end the struggle.

The Mathews collected but two hits with R. Laurie and Trew being the clouters. The winners coralled 4 safeties with Spicer, Smith, Brockenshire and Fitzsimmons being the successful ones.

But twenty-five batsmen faced McCannell and he issued two free tickets. Four batsmen proved to be the knockout victims. On the other hand McCullough had two strikeouts and gave three walks.

10 & 15 MILES IS SWIM DISTANCE

Distances Were Cut in order To Make Better Races At C.N.E.

The distances for the two events in the Third Wrigley Marathon were announced as 10 miles and 15 miles, and that is exactly what they will be. There is no possibility of the distances being increased, it is announced, as requested in a petition just received by the Exhibition authorities from a quartet of long-distance stars.

"The distances were cut in order to make better races," it was said by the promoters, "and we have yet to find a good reason for believing that this change will not improve the marathons. It gives both spectators and entrants a much better chance, and, as far as the Exhibition is concerned, the interests of the onlookers must be considered just as the interests of the participants."

Last year 99 per cent of those who entered were unable to finish, despite the fact that the contestants included scores of internationally famous athletes from all over the world. Only one entrant from the American Continent managed to complete the 21 miles and he was hours behind the two ahead of him.

"As far as the spectators are concerned, it adds no interest to the proceedings to have the race drag on till the early hours of the morning."

Overturning of rafts resulted in death of two boys at Cincinnati, Ohio.

Attempting to save small boy from drowning, Walter Johnson, 40, falls; both drown.

HOW'S THIS FOR RICE LAKE

While duck hunting last year a story is told of a couple of local sports who lost three decoys and though they scoured the lake for hours they were unable to locate them. This year with the opening of the fishing yesterday they again took up the hunt and after spending the day fishing, catching several nice pickerel they finally landed a lunge which was immediately prepared for the evening meal. Imagine the surprise of the fellow who prepared it when on opening the fish not only did he find the three missing decoys but six others. Quite an ordinary sized fish, too, for these waters.—Peterboro Examiner.

ESCAPES BY A SMALL MARGIN

Rubber Ball Springs A Leak in Plunge Over Falls

Laussier, latest conqueror of the Horseshoe Falls, was busily engaged Thursday in salvaging the remains of his big rubber ball with its steel framework.

Red Hill stated, and Laussier agreed, that the peculiar upside-down angle at which the barrel came over probably saved the life of the adventurer. The cover had been pried partly open by the rocks, and water was trickling in and slowly filling the compartment in which Laussier was sitting. A few minutes longer and he would have been drowned like a rat in a water trap.

Coming down the upper rapids, the barrel struck a wrecked scow and part of the outer casing was torn away, together with ballast, so that the top end became the heavier and the occupant was floating upside down.

SIR DAVID YULE DIES IN ENGLAND

Reputed to be Britain's Wealthiest Man—Worth 50 Millions

Sir David Yule, reputed to be the wealthiest Briton and credited with being worth $50,000,000, died Tuesday night.

Although he was the head of a great mercantile firm, and the director of several banks, he was scarcely known to the public. He lived a simple life in comparative obscurity, spending most of his time in India, where he dwelt in rooms above his offices in Calcutta. His name first came prominently to public notice in 1926, when he formed one of the group that bought Lloyd George's interest in the Daily Chronicle of London.

Sir David's heiress is his only child, Gladys.

Use of skunks and snakes for elimination of field mice near Bloomsburg, Pa., by farmers is now announced.

IRRIGATION HAS DEVELOPED WEST

New Areas for Mixed Farming Established—Provincial Government Assisted the Owners

Western farming has experienced a wonderful recovery in the past five or six years, and in no part has it been more noticeable than in Southern Alberta. This portion of the west passed through a period of dry seasons and short crops that left the grain growers in debt and actually forced many of them from the land. The turn of the tide came with greater rainfall and with the completion of irrigation projects. The provincial government decided that certain areas should be given up for grain farming and has assisted in moving families to the north or to the irrigated blocks. Ranching will continue to be the main industry over the short grass country.

The irrigated lands will provide the very best conditions for mixed farming, with a tendency to specialize in live stock. Sugar beet production is proving a very profitable enterprise, and it is likely that this crop will attain greater proportions. Between Lethbridge and Calgary wheat growing has, with the exception of a few years, proved to be profitable. Within the past few years a new lease of life has been given to this phase of farming by the introduction of the combine for harvesting and by the adoption of new methods of cultivation to check soil drifting.

Choked for Air.—Some little irritant becomes lodged in the bronchial tubes, others gather and the awful choking of asthma results. Nothing offers quite such quick and positive relief as Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. The healing, soothing smoke of vapor penetrates, clears the passages, and gives untold relief. It has behind it years of success. It is the sure remedy of every sufferer.

WHAT I LIVE FOR

Dear little people I love so well,
Whatever your piece may be,
There's a beautiful secret I long to tell,
So come and listen to me.

When I was a child in a little town—
Oh ever so far away—
A beautiful spirit came floating down
And whispered to me one day.

"There's a secret," the beautiful spirit said,
"That even a child may know,
And they who know it are gladly led
Wherever their feet may go.

"So sweet and simple the secret is—
Yet people are slow to learn,
And away from the pathway that leads to bliss
Their lingering faces turn.

"So the little children must show them how
The happier way to choose,
For the hearts that are tender and loving now
Will never the lesson lose.

"And this is the wonderful secret :
Live
For nothing but love each day—
Not for love to keep, but for love to give,
Forever to give away.

"There is no life upon earth so poor
But love it may give full well,
And the joy of giving is deep and sure
And richer than tongue can tell.

"To sweeten life as we meet and part
We need but remember this:
To carry always a tender heart
For the tiniest thing that is.

"The wider the circle of love we make
The happier life we live,
And the more we give for another's sake
The more we shall have to give.

"So let us widen it day by day
By loving a little more
Till nothing living be shut away
From a share in the Heavenly store.

"Tis love and kindness alone can fill
Our hearts with the joy of living
And ages wait but to do the will
Of the loving and the giving."

"HOLE-IN-ONE AT JASPER PARK

"This is a little one but can give trouble," relates the historical in describing the 15th hole at Jasper Park Golf Course, which R. Bell Irving, of Powell River, B.C., recently negotiated in one and promptly entered the gallery of fame in Canadian golf. The green is small and narrow with run-off and bunkers on all sides, and it has been fittingly named "The Bad Baby."

In a course which offers large grass tees, wide fairways, daring hazards and magnanimous velvet greens, the 15th brings a particular zest to the keen golfer. Jasper Park Golf Course is situated in Canada's greatest National Park and is maintained in connection with Jasper Park Lodge, a most delightful resort in the Rocky Mountains operated by the Canadian National Railways.

Great rolling stretches of beauty, with the magnificent background of snow-capped peaks combine to make Jasper the incomparable golf course. Bracing mountain air puts a vim in the game that comes from the sheer joy of living.

Canada's most delightful golf tournament will be staged at this beautiful spot during the week of September 8th to 15th next, and the principal prize in the amateur championship fight is the Jasper Park Lodge Silver Totem Pole Trophy, the most characteristic golf prize offered for competition in the Dominion.

THE GUIDE STORY

By that instinct which never errs of detecting the presence of the beloved one before actually beholding it (for Vesta loved Brutone, though she would not have acknowledged it to her own heart), Miss Llewellyn was aware that the fiery dark eyes of the young violinist were fixed upon her before she saw his face. More than this, he understood English, and he had heard her scornful mention of him as the music-master.

Miss Jane Somers was a bustling energetic, and waspish lady of a certain or uncertain age, who wore spectacles and judged humanity very harshly. What brought her into the classroom before the breakfast hour—and wonder of wonders, how was it that she was accompanied by the violinist?

Brutone bowed to the girls and certainly he looked, as April said afterward, as savage as a brigand, and Vesta Llewellyn knew the reason why.

Miss Jane Somers, in a brown gown, her black hair smoothly braided, her spectacles fixed on her short determined nose, hastened to explain to the young ladies, in French, that Monsieur Brutone wished her to give a school concert at the end of the term, for which very hard practice would be necessary on the part of the pupils; and as she had so very little time at his disposal wherein to discuss plans of any sort, he had ventured to present himself at the pension two hours before the usual time—eight o'clock, instead of ten—so that he might have an opportunity of laying the plan before the Misses Somers, and as the class room was half as large again as the music room, she had brought him there, at his request, in order that he might judge whether this apartment would be more suitable for the concert than his music room. Vesta knew perfectly why he had schemed to bring this concert about. It was in order that the impassioned young man might have more opportunities for frequenting the pension and giving longer lessons to Vesta herself.

She was fired through now with indignant pride. She fancied that she hated the music master for his presumption.

Meanwhile, how much or how little had Miss Jane Somers understood of the bantering of Augustine and the anger of Vesta? In reality, Miss Jane was so eminently the governess that she only thought of the nouns and tenses and accents of her pupils at the present moment, not of the subject of their discourse. She walked down the length of the extensive salon, with its bare floor and high ceiling, its windows looking out on the gardens of the pension, staring up to the ceiling, discharging the effects of sound and the best places to arrange for the performers, the audience and the pianos.

Louis Brutone walked by her side. There was a mixture of Spanish and Celtic blood in his veins, and if ever there was a fiery souled hero of romance, it was this violinist.

Bustling, punctual, straightforward, Miss Jane had not the remotest idea that she was, as it were, dancing upon a volcano while she led that handsome, gloomy genius up and down the room, like a tame pet lamb or a spaniel with a ribbon rope attached to its collar.

Events were about to "precipitate themselves," as Augustine would have said.

CHAPTER VIII

Robert, Viscount Dacre, the heir to the old earldom of Glendinning, sat at breakfast with his lady-mother, the countess, in their luxurious apartment in the Hotel Louvre—a gay, happy-looking young man, with a clear, fair complexion, the height and splendid proportions of an athlete, and bright, fearless blue eyes. Every limb, every turn, every feature, told of breeding, the real, yet almost indescribable essence which distinguishes many of those who, descending through a long line of ancestors accustomed to command, inherit that "presence," that "air," that je ne sais quoi, which makes us turn round after passing such an individual and inquire: Who is that?

Lord Dacre was a young man of lordly presence, but there was not a trace of hauteur in his face or in his manner; for he had inherited from a gentle mother a most gentle soul, though from a hundred ears on his father's side he had inherited also a distinguished bearing. Lord Dacre was young, only twenty-four, and as yet he had taken no part in the serious business of life. All that was in the future. He meant to contest his native county at the next election, if possible.

These two words often contain a deeper meaning than is at first apprehended.

"Yes, I will do it, if possible," he said, breaking in the top of a game pie with a sharp knife.

"Take care, Bob, you will upset it, darling."

The countess was a small, fragile woman, much stronger than she looked however. She was the mother of two young daughters still in the school room and of this, the athletic heir to her husband's earldom.

"It will cost money, of course," said Lord Dacre, when he had eaten some of the pastry.

CENSORSHIP IS FUTILE

Sensational murder trials and divorce cases, wherever they are fully reported by the newspapers, provoke agitation that is never very widespread for some form of censorship that would prevent publication of the details. The argument usually advanced is that these newspaper stories tend to corrupt morals, undermine society and promote all manner of crime.

A year or more ago the British parliament was prevailed upon, either by the moralists or the scandal fearing nobility, to forbid publication of divorce trial details. The censorship has proved effective in so far as it has impounded the testimony, but there has been no noticeable improvement in English morals and no diminution of divorces.

Since the war, Hungary, like the other European countries, has had a high suicide rate. Recently a further increase caused a frenzied government enact a law banning suicides and forbidding newspapers reporting them. The immediate result was 20 per cent. more suicides, for the sensitive received assurance through the law that their suicides would not be published and the suicide, fearing imprisonment if he failed, made doubly sure of ending it all.

Canadians have displayed much good common sense on this score. While they are not blind to journalistic excesses where they exist, they acknowledge the extent to which liberty and good government depend upon a free press. Experience has taught them that censorship and suppression never cured evil.—The Oshawa Times.

Toronto Won

Toronto took a firmer grip on first place yesterday afternoon when they whipped the crippled Newark Bears by 7 to 1 and there is no real reason why the men led by Bill O'Hara should not make a clean sweep of the series. Crippled is right. The Bears are only a shadow of the team that on pre-season dope were called to win the International League flag. They have fallen on evil days and with Johnny Conlan, Bill Lamar, Jacques Fourier, Hughie McQuillan and Wes Kingdon out of the line up and Walter Lutze playing on his nerve alone, Walter Johnson's team is in a bad plight.

FIRE DISCOVERY IS NOW AN ART

Past Decade Has Seen Revolution in Methods Employed

Methods of detecting forest fires have been revolutionized within the past ten years.

In the earlier years the ranger, on foot or canoe patrol, with only a limited vision, was often unable to locate incipient or early fires before they reached dangerous proportions. Today the 125,000,000 acres of Ontario's forest region are under daily observation, either from aircraft or lookout towers.

The 177 permanent lookout towers, located largely in the eastern portion of the forest region, have at least 25,000,000 acres under daily and hourly observation. The lookout tower, connected up by telephone or radio, can secure very quick action by way of suppression.

With the solution of the problem of quick detection of forest fires, and firefighting, comes the problem of suppression.

The methods of forest fire fighting have been revolutionized along with those of detection, and today instead of the rangers being dependent upon back firing and ordinary equipment, such as axes and shovels, the Department of Lands and Forests has introduced the gasoline portable fire pump, equipped with linen hose, which can reach fires at great distances from water. The mechanical fire fighting units have given the rangers confidence, and have enabled the organization to reach and put out many fires which a few years ago would have been uncontrollable. The department at the present time has more than 270 of these units with more than half a million feet of linen hose connected therewith.

Numerous other minor improvements have been made in mechanical equipment, one of the valuable additions being portable hand pumps with which rangers can transport several gallons of water to incipient or small fires and thoroughly extinguish them.

It is estimated that the department has at the present time upward of three-quarter of a million dollars' worth of major equipment, such as fire pumps, motor boats, auto trucks, railway velocipedes, etc.

Upon the detection of forest fires, one of the first problems is that of transporting equipment and men to the scene of action.

In addition to the use of aircraft in the outlying regions, 85 small motor boats, 35 launches, 53 auto trucks, 34 gasoline power motor cars are in use.

The ability to take advantage of quick detection methods in reaching fires quickly is of vital importance. In the last few years numerous fires have been overtaken and controlled which in the earlier years would have reached disastrous proportions.

Fire records show that, while the total number of fires does, not vary perceptibly, the percentage which do not develop beyond a few acres is greatly increasing. More than 90 per cent. of the fires do not attain beyond 100 acres in extent.

COUNTY CATTLE ATTRACT BUYERS

Six Hundred Head Sold To America From Tubercular Free Area

American cattle buyers have been very active in Prince Edward County since it has been declared to be a T.B.-free area. Since December of last year about 600 head of cattle have been sold to American buyers for export. Among the buyers were prominent breeders of New Jersey and New York States, who have taken this means of replenishing their herds.

Among the cattle sold were a carload of registered Holstein heifers. Some Bay of Quinte breeders are very optimistic over the cattle trade with the United States and are materially augmenting their herds, and are also seeking to improve the type of their cattle. The large sales of cattle to American buyers which has taken place during the past year in the Bay of Quinte District and in Northumberland and Durham Counties has noticeably depleted the stock on farms in this district.

ALBERTA SENDS 25,000 TONS COAL

Movement To Ontario Under Fixed Rate Considered Light

The total movement of Alberta coal to Ontario since the fixed rate went into operation a couple of months ago is approximately 25,000 tons.

Although it may be accounted for by the fact that this is not an active season for coal buying the demand is considered rather light.

The quantity coming will, it is expected, establish the utility of the fuel and pave the way for a larger use of it. Under the assisted plan specifications have been made for the movement of 40,000 tons of Nova Scotia coal to the central markets.

NEW MEMBERS ARE INITIATED

Local Order of Moose Held Another Profitable Session on Thursday Night

Five new members were initiated in the local Order of Moose, No. 504 at the Foresters' Hall, Queen St., here on Thursday evening. There was a good turnout of the members and George Elliott, Dictator, presided.

HEARD ON THE STREET

Good morning! Have you got 'em off yet?

We hear some friends of ours just dispensed with the long ones last week. The thin "undies" are certainly appreciated on a day like this.

A citizen crossing Walton Street, was asked today by the driver of a passing Ohio car, "Where's Port Hope?" Now don't you think we should get our markers up so our visitors can recognize the place? Our corner friend says he'd like to see the R.M.A. committee appointed for that purpose show some results.

As the water in the lake is becoming nicer and nicer, every day in every way, the crowds are larger and larger at our Beach Park which, by the way, has produced a fine crop of hay.

Two gentlemen left their homes in the fastness of a great desert, found to the south of us and bounded by the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, while travelling, came to what is reported to be the "Prettiest Town in Canada." Drawing up in front of the Guide, they inquired where they could get some ice. Now why would tourists travelling in a big car want ice—to cool their breaths? It's just a question!

Another good sized crowd turned out for the Thursday evening dance program at the Port Hope Beach Pavilion. Al Stagg's orchestra was in attendance and the music was of an exceptionally high standard. The popularity of the local dancing pavilion is increasing and the next big dance is Saturday evening.

The East Beach at the foot of King Street is one of the best bathing spots along this shore and a little work at tidying up this section and a few signs erected at appropriate spots would lead to an increase in the number of bathers. A number of swimmers visit this section daily and with E. Berber's neat summer hotel nearby, this section will no doubt be an attractive place.

Rev. A. E. Balfour Bruce, who has been in charge of St. George's Parish, Grafton, and St. John's, Centreton, has resigned from these charges and left Thursday to do summer duty near New York before going to British Columbia.

Among our visitors from afar today was a car from Clovis, New Mexico, containing Mr. W. G. Head and family, who in talking to the Guide, said he had at one time or another visited all but four of the United States, and this trip had taken him through Oklahoma City, Washington, New York City, the mountains of Vermont and New Hampshire and from there he had come to Montreal, where he turned west. He is surprised and delighted with the good roads and beauty of the Canadian territory through which he has passed so far.

Another mammoth General Motors picnic is set for August 11, when it is expected that a record attendance will make the picnic this year bigger and better than ever. More than 25,000 employees, their friends and acquaintances, were guests of the management of General Motors of Canada last year.

A reunion of the Johnston family was held at Orono on Monday. Almost 400 were present from all sections of the United States and Ontario.

VERY PITIFUL
A gentleman was walking down the street with a little boy at his side when the little boy cried out: Oh, pa! there goes an editor!
"Pa—Hush, hush, don't make sport of the poor man, goodness only knows what you may come to yourself some day."

OSHAWA CHILD DIES OF HEAT

Year Old Son of Mr. and Mrs. Flintoff Is Victim

The first heat wave to visit Oshawa this season took one young life Wednesday, when Donald Flintoff, year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Flintoff, 347 Arthur St., succumbed after a few hours' illness. Donald had been in good health up until Wednesday afternoon, but became ill as the heat grew in intensity, until that night Mrs. Flintoff became alarmed and summoned a doctor. The little lad passed away before medical aid arrived.

This is the first time for some years that loss of life due to the intense heat has been recorded in that city.

Teased by other inmates Robert Archer, 70, committed suicide in Mon roe Infirmary, Woodside, Ohio.
