From the Board of Cottage Hospital, stating that the legacy made by Miss Isabella Mitchell was one twenty-fifth of her estate, supposed to be over $1,000, and had been made to the Old Peoples' Home at Cobourg. The Home had been merged into the House of Refuge, and the Board wished the Council to agree that the amount be paid to the Hospital. Mr. J. D. Hayden said the Old Folks' Home was got up some years ago by some ladies, and they did their work well; they inaugurated a small kospital in connection with the Home. When the House of Refuge was established they gave all their effects to the Cottage Hospital. Miss Mitchell made her will six years ago and she made a grant to the Home. The Executive said if the Hospital authorities gave a bond and the Counties Council endorsed it, they would pay over the amount ($1.000.) TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

3rd. of June, the birthday of King that $1,000 be spent, Durham to pay

On motion of Couns. Maher and Cann the Council went into committee of the whole, the Warden in the chair.

Coun. James wanted to know where the hill was, and if part of it was not in Cartwright.

The Chairman (Coun. Lowry) said the road was on Scugog Island, and was in Ontario County which County gave $500 toward the bridge. It was ten or fifteen rods from the old road. Coun. Cann said the Township should keep up their own roads. Hope kept up her roads.

Coun. Byers said ths road was a marsh road and the Counties of Ontario and Durham built it. The hill was wholly in Ontario and in Scugog. The Road and Bridge Committee met the Ontario Comand Albert E. Chapman to the mittee and they offered to pay one-Childrens' Aid Society, were read, half the cost. Our committee could not agree to enter into such an Reuben C. Grant, Born October An application from Judges Ben- arrangement. Ontario County will pay half the expense. He thought to be heated. > Coun. James said it seemed unreasonable that we should have to build reads for their benefit, and it was not fair to build roads to take trade away from Cartwright and Bowmanville. The road seemed good when he passed over it, and he thought that we should vote it down at once. It is not fair for Ontario County to ask us to improve this road to assist Port Perry. Coun. Powers said when this > Marsh Road was built it was to benefit the Township of Cartwright and they wished it at the time it was built, and it is now used solely for their benefit. It is not fair for them to have to go a long way over a bad road to go to a town in Durham.

The Warden said why should the Counties pay for this at all. The Tp. of Cartwright should build their own road.

Coun. Powers objected to the Warden offering his opinion as presiding officer.

Coun. Maher said he thought Coun. Powers should not criticize the Warden for giving his opinion. He was in favor of letting Scugog pay for its own roads. We should not go into Ontario and build their roads.

Coun Byers said he thought that we should give a grant, as Ontario had spent a large amount to build this Marsh Road. If the road was diverted it would make a good road for years. Scugog was a small municipality and had an Indian Reserve which paid nothing.

Coun. James said there was a hill hopes of giving the money to the Hospital. Mr. Hayden said that he hoped that by the time the Council and it was a benefit to North Darlington to get to Burkton. This was where the Counties was expected to expend money to assist getting over this sand hill. Who asked to have this money expended? Who asked to have this road built? Was it not the people of Ontario? It was a very one-sided action and we should not entertain it.

Couns. Maher and Cann moved, that this report be referred back to the Committee.

Coun. Powers said the people of Cartwright paid half to keep up this road and it was not a onesided proposition. It would displease the County of Ontario to throw down this proposition.

The motion was carried to refer the report back.

Coun. Rosevear said the Committee on heating the Counties offices were ready to report. The report was taken up clause

They reported in favor of a joint system of heating. Cobourg to pay half and the Counties half for installing the plant; the cost to be about $4,500. The system to be steam heating ; the town and counties to each pay one-half of expense of heating. Six tenders altogether were presented, varying from $4,145 to $5,315. Coun. Colwell wished to know who owns the building. Coun. Maher said the Counties rent from the town; they have the Council Chamber, Clerk and Treasurer's offices, Sheriff's, Clerk of the Peace, Court Clerk's offices, Court Room. The town has ninety square feet more than the countiesthe limit of its borrowing powers, and if they 'paid for it out of the year's assessment, the taxes would be so large as to be impossible. Coun. Crews said the circumstances were peculiar. He wanted

As for the harem, it is of the type advertised and caricatured, it is without question an impossibility. But there are skirts of the harem or divided sort which, if one may judge from illustration and description, are far from being objectionable. In fact they approach more closely the ideally rational attire for women than anything produced from the fashion factories of the world. A TROUBLESOME MISGIVING

'Have you heard from some friends of yours, called Ward? Some time ago a lady called here to ask for your address. She said her name was Mrs. Ward, and that her husband, who had been abroad tor a long time, very much wished to find you again. Of course I told her where you were to be found. It was just after I had written, or I should have let you know about it before.

Ward? He knew no one of that name. Could it be Marcella who had done this? It looked more than likely; he believed her capable of strange proceedings.

In the morning he returned to the seaside. Prospect of pleasure there was none, but by moving about he made the time pass more quickly. Wandering in the lanes (which would have delighted him with their autumnal beauties had his mind been at rest), he came upon Miss Walworth, busy with a water-colour sketch. Though their acquaintance was so slight, PORT HOPE, JUNE 16, 1911 he stopped for conversation, and the artist's manner appeared to testify that Marcella had as yet made no unfavourable report of him. By mentioning that he would return home on the morrow, he made sure that Marcella would be apprised of this. Perhaps she might shorten her stay, and his suspense.

Back in Longbrook Street once more, he found another letter. It was from Mrs. Warricombe, who wrote to tell him of their coming Then at all events he would speak again with Sidwell- But to what purpose? Marcella seated herself. 'I had reasons,' he went on, 'for going away from my old acquaintances for a time. Why not if I chose? You have found me out. Very well; let us talk it over as we have discussed many another moral or psychological question.'

He did not meditate these sentences. Something must of necessity be said, and words shaped themselves for him. His impulse was to avoid the emotional, to talk with this problematic woman as with an intellectual friend of his

FIERY DRAGONS.

They Spat Out Fury From Tongues Barbed With Flame.

Dragons were important animals in ancient and medieval patural history. Until comparatively recent time no scientist ever thought of questioning the existence of this most formidable of beasts. The annals of Winchester for 1177 gravely state that "in this year dragons were seen of many in England." Gesner, professor of natural history at Zurich, gave a detailed description of the dragon, while Aldrovandus in his "History of Serpents and Dragons," published in 1640, devoted fifty pages to the monster.

A good specimen of a dragon would seem to have been a beast about the size of a sheep, incased in a coat of scales which shone like silver. Its back was serrated like a saw. It possessed a long tail, a pair of batlike wings, four heavily clawed feet and a wolvine head, the jaws of which were armed with very formidable teeth. The tongue was barbed with fire, and fury issued from the monster's mouth, and the head bore a crest. Dragons were the most wicked and vindicative of creatures. They seem always to have been in a towering rage and spent the greater portion of their time in rushing up and down the earth destroying everything that came in their path.

The origin of dragons was a disputed point among medieval naturalists. Some maintained that these animals were generated by the heat of India. Others were of opinion that the voicanoes of Ethiopia used to belch forth the monsters. One scientist, John Leo by name, declared the dragon to be a hybrid, a cross between an eagle and

The Worth While Person.

Certain qualities go to the making of any human being whom other huents are as necessary to a man as flour and yeast to bread or iron and carbon to steel. You cannot make them any other way. There is a combination of steadiness of purpose, breadth of mind, kindliness, wholesome common sense, justice, perhaps a flash of humor, certainly a capacity for the task in hand that produces a worth while person. The combination occurs in every rank in life. You find it as often in the kitchen as in the parlor; oftener, perhaps, in the field than in the office. The people who are so composed have spiritual length, breadth, thickness; they are people of three dimensions. Everybody feels alike about them .- Atlantic.

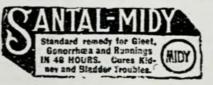

Held by Etiquette.

When Dom Pedro, then Emperor of Brazil, was entertained at the White House, he had been told by a confused Senator that it would be expected that he, the Emperor, should be the last of the guests to depart.

The President's wife, however, informed her other guests that they would be expected to follow, not preede, the royal party in leaving the house.

The result was that no one dared to go for fear of a breach of etiquette, but at 3 o'clock in the morning a tired woman pretended illness, and the deadlock was broken.

Great is etiquette, but commonsense is sometimes allowable.

> He Is a "Dour" Type of Mortal and Thinks He Must Interfere to Save the World-Labor Member Criticizes the Method of the Punjab Government In Handling Question of Sedition Among the Hindus.

> Bengal gives life to Indian nationalism, but the Punjab supplies it with its problems, writes J. Ramsay Macdonald, the British Labor member, in a recent article. To begin with, the Punjab is "dour," and the Punjabee has been described as the Scotsman of India. A revival in Hindu religion there means an uprising of Puritanism, whilst in Bengal it produces somewhat akin to a Catholic movement. It was because Swami Sayanand, the founder of the Arya Somaj, was a rough Philistine like Luther that his society has flour> tshed in the Indus valley.

> There is a good deal of the West about the Punjabee. But he is an Indian. He will have no importa-tions either of politics or of faith. If he throws the priesthood of the Brahmins to the four winds, he will not create as his justification a new eclectic faith like that of the Brahmo Sonaj; he goes back to his own scrip-tures with the same fidelity as the scientific Christian goes back to his creeds. When he found his faith anew, moreover, the Punjabee has not been content to say, "This is for the salvation of India," but "This also be for the salvation of the world." being for the salvation of India must

> Now, if the political stage of the Punjab were occupied by this "dour" man and the British official alone things would be lively. But the sit-uation is not so simple as that. The Punjab is the Ulster of India, for in it there is a Mohammedan community somewhat greater in numbers than the Hindu community, and the Mo-hammedans have pitched a political camp of their own where their own flags fly and their own drums beat. The difference between the two is soon discovered; but if you try find it in a program you will be baffled, for the Mohammedan as a representative on a Council will back practically everything which his Hindu colleague will propose.

But the Indian Mohammedan is not a Nationalist—at present. He speaks of "my community," not of "India." He thinks of religious asnot of sociations, not of political ones. Above all, he distrusts the Hindu. He knows that he has neglected opportunities of education which the Hindu has embraced, that he has been careless of his well being when the Hindu has been nurturing his own. To the Punjab Mohammedan Hinduism in public life is a Free-masonry. Wherever a Hindu goes he leaves the breach open for a stream of Hinduism to follow. The Mohammedan regards the Hindu as the suffragette regards man.

This is the present frame of mind of the Mohammedan. He feels he must have a camp of his own, a party to look after him, and, above all, that his community must be regarded in touch with the people, would never have proposed its Colonization Bill in the form it was drafted, and would have seen that the increased assessments required delicate and not autocratic handling.

When the storm burst upon it, it shricked "sedition." There was a There was a man of the name of Lajpat Rar active in politics at the time. He was a member of the Aryra Somaj, he was a good speaker, he was a "Congress wallah." He was marked for deportation, and at no time had the Government a scrap of evidence against him, except that he was opposing its Colonization Bill and holding politi-cal meetings. The result was that Lajpat Rai had to be liberated, and from being a propagandist he found he had become a leader. He was soured, quite naturally, and even today he cannot take a ticket from Lahore without some detective finding out where he is going and without someone molesting him on the way to show his ticket-a thing which never happens to the ordinary passenger on Indian railways.

In the frankest possible manner the Punjab Government announces from the housetops that every Arya is an anarchist and every critic a seditious person. It has no notion of statesmanlike handling, no idea of political methods. The man in power simply uses his power, whether it is in the form of a not too honest de-

Republican Senators War Over Root Amendment on Paper and Wood Pulp-Senator Nelson Leads the the Anti's and Penrose Thinks That They Have Said All They Have to Say on the Subject.

Washington, June 16 .- The second day of debate on the Canadian reciprocity bill proved a field day those opposed to the measure. Led by Senator Nelson, in a prepared and exhaustive speech, a number of Senators took part in a running debate, that marked the closing period of the address. At adjournment Senator Penrose, in charge of the bill, felt that this had cleared the atmosphere considerably, and he expressed the opin-ion that the general debate would not be of such great duration as had been predicted

A spirited debate among Republican Senators was precipitated over the effect of the Root amendment dealing with paper and wood pulp. Senators Lodge, Clark of Wyoming, and Smoot were all on the floor and talking simultaneously. They agreed that that provision only restored the terms of the treaty as submitted to Congress. "How, then, did that feature of the agreement disappear?" asked William A. Smith of Michigan.

"Ask the whispering winds," responded Mr. Clark. Apparently pleased with the poetic character of his response, the Wyo-ming Senator at first seemed disposed to leave it there, but later added that the amendment was not only in harmony with the original compact between the two countries, but in consonance with the Canadian bill carrying the agreement into effect.

Mr. Smith was not satisfied and demanded from Chairman Penrose an explanation of the disappearance of that feature from the bill. Mr. Penrose had adopted the policy of allow-ing the opponents of the measure to do the talking and, reluctantly, he arose to reply.

"The change," he said, "occurred in the ways and means committee of the House, and the Senator from Michigan knows as much about it as I do.

"The effect, then, is to give the Canadians free trade in paper and pulp and not give it to us," commented Mr. Smith.

"And yet," he continued, "we are told by the House that we must not change a word in the bill as it was passed there, for fear of impairing it."
The debate will be resumed at noon to-day, if any Senator is ready to speak. This appeared doubtful last

SCHEME HELD OVER

Conference Shelves Cable Proleot For the Present

TOO EXPENSIVE JUST NOW

Postmaster-General Samuel Explains the Steps That Have Been Taken to Secure Reductions In Rates and Moves That Plan Be Postponed Until It Is Seen Whether the Tolls Will Be Cut Down.

London, June 16.-The Imperial Conference yesterday discussed resolu-tions providing for cheaper cable rates throughout the Empire, and the laying of a state-owned cable between England and Canada, thus securing an "all red" route, linking up all the British dominions.

The Postmaster-General, Rt. Hon. H. J. Samuel, explained the steps that have recently been taken to secure reductions in Atlantic cable rates. He said that in view of this the Government was not justified at the present time in incurring the expense of laying a new cable.

A resolution was adopted that it considerable reductions in transatlantic cable rates were not effected in the near future the project to lay a state-owned cable between England and Canada should be considered at a subsidiary conference.
Mr. Joseph Ward, at the Imperial

Conference, moved a resolution de-claring the urgency of a reduction in cable rates throughout the Empire. He said much had been accomplished, but the cheapening process had not gone nearly f r enough. High cable rates were injurious from a public point of view. There was a restricted use of the cables themselves. There was a feeling in the overseas countries that the present rates were due to a ring or combination in the cable world.

Postmaster-General Samuel said that the Home Government cordially sympathized with and supported the resolution. Since last conference the press rates to Australia had been reduced from a shilling to ninepence, but the progress was quite inadequate. The United Kingdom was taking steps to bring about a cheapening of rates. He instanced the reduction of 50 per cent. in the rates for cablegrams un-coded, but liable to be deferred; secondly, the steps being taken towards a reduction of press rates; thirdly, that the Government intended provid-ing that in all new land-licenses there should be inserted a clause giving effective Government control over rates, with due security to companies against abuse of that power; fourthly, the wireless system must have some effect on the cable rate.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier pointed out that in all the trouble which existed at present in connection with the Atlantic part of the cables, there was an impression almost amounting to conviction in Canada that a combination existed regarding the old cables. It seemed to him that the remedy sug-gested by Mr. Samuel a sound one for dealing with that combination if it had existed. They in Canada were endeavoring to act practically along the same lines.

Mr. Fisher asked whether it would be feasible to grant a low rate so far as the Pacific cable was concerned for Premier Morris agreed that the prepared to support the resolution.

Postmaster-General Samuel promised to represent the strong desire felt by Australia and New Zealand that the Pacific board should be authoriz-ed, so far as the United Kingdom's consent was concerned, to proceed with the work to which Mr. Pearce referred.

Mr. Asquith promised further consideration to the matter and the resolution was agreed to.

Hon. G. S. Pearce of Australia moved that the conference recommend the nationalization of the cable, in order to cheapen and render more effective telegraphic communication between Britain, Canada, Australia, and New Zealand by thus acquiring com-plete control of all telegraphic cable lines along the all-red route.

. Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that after the statement of Mr. Samuel on the previous resolution, he preferred to reserve his judgment on the present proposal.

Mr. Joseph Ward, who had a resolution urging extension by laying a state-owned cable between England and Canada, with powers for the Paci-fic board to be entered into to lay and control such a cable, strongly held that nationalization was the right course to follow.

In view of the probability of reductions in rates, Hon. Mr. Samuel suggested that the Governments would not at the present time be justified in undertaking so large capital expendi-ture at the risk of loss involved. He suggested a resolution as an alternative to those submitted:

. "That in the event of considerable reductions in transatlantic cable rates not being effected in the near future, it is desirable that the laying of a state-owned cable between England and Canada be considered by a subsidiary conference."

The original resolutions being both withdrawn, that suggested by Samuel was unanimously agreed to.

POLICE COURT

Young Man got Drunk and was Thrown from His Rig.

George Laver, of Port Britain, visited town yesterday and partook too freely of John Barleycorn. In the evening he hired a livery rig and when near the G. T. R. Station was travelling at such a rapid pace that he was thrown out. He was placed under arrest and this morning told the court, he was very sorry for his actions. A fine of $2.00 and 2.50 costs or 30 days in jail at hard labor was imposed. The money was paid.

STRUCK SALT .- A company in Lincoln Center, Kansas, tried boring for gas or oil. Instead of that they encountered salt at a depth of 574 feet. They have gone down 700 feet and the drill is still in salt and it is believed that bed is 200 feet thick. The salt deposit in Kansas is 150 miles long and 40 miles wide, covering an area of about 6,000 square miles. A statistician has figured that there are 20,000,000,000,000 barrels of salt 20,000,000,000,000 barrels of salt in Kansas, so that the present generation will not run out of seasoning for their victuals for some or call on S.
