POLICE COURT

Whisky Selling Proved Expensive to W. J. Coulter

The case of W. J. Coulter, of Pontypool, charged with selling liquor without a license, which was adjourned for a week, came up this (Wednesday) morning. Mr. Harry Solomon, one of the whisky detectives, was recalled but before any examination was conducted, Mr. Haverson, K. C., asked for an adjournment of fifteen minutes. This was granted and upon returning to the court room Mr. Haverson stated that Mr. Coulter wished to withdraw his plea of not guilty and plead guilty. No previous offence was admitted and Crown Attorney Kerr asked that the maximum fine be imposed.

Kerr asked that the maximum nue be imposed.

Magistrate White ordered that the defendant pay a fine of $175.00 with costs of $205.00, a total of $195.50 or be imprisoned in the Counties' jail for three months at hard labor. The money was paid.

The case against Robert Hutchinson of Cavanville was in progress at the time of going to press.

CORONATION SERVICE

In St. Mark's Church on Thurs day-Council Will Attend in a Body

Address By Rev. Canon Mont-gomery and Special Music by the Choir

Bishop's Room, Toronto May 26.

REV. AND DEAR BROTHER, -- In REV. AND DEAR BROTHER, — In accordance with a resolution adopted by the House of Bishops at their recent session in Montreal, I have to request you to hold a service on Coronation Day, June 22nd, in the morning if possible, using the Form of Service published by the S.P.C.K. and authorized by the Archbishops of Canterbury and York.

Faithfully yours,
JAMES, TORONTO.
In accordance with the pastoral.

JAMES, TORONTO.

In accordance with the pastoral request issued by the Lord Bishop of the Church of England in this Diocese, a Coronation service will be held in St. Mark's Church on Thursday next (Coronation Day) at 11 a m. The service as far as possible will be similar to that held at the actual Coronation of our beloved Sovereign and his Queen Consort on that day.

The special service to be used has been commended by the Archas archas archas archaeological actions to the Archas archaeological actions to the Archaeological

The special service to be used has been commended by the Archishops of Canterbury and York. Appropriate music for the occasion will be rendered by the choir. Kipling's Recessional hymn will be sung as a solo by Miss Hazel Burnham. A short address on "What mean ye by this service," will be given by the Rector. At the conclusion of the service the Te Deum will be sung as an act of praise and thanksgiving for God's mercies to our Sovereign and his subjects throughout the British Empire.

subjects throughout the British Empire.

The Mayor and Town Council have kindly accepted an invitation to attend this service. A cordial invitation is extended to His Majesty's loyal subjects in Port Hope to attend this service out of respect and esteem for our beloved Sovereign King George V and his equally beloved Consort Queen Mary. They have both expressed their wish and desire for the public and congregational prayers of their loyal subjects on the day of their coronation.

ROMANCE IN REAL LIFE: CAN EAT MEAT ON FRIDAY

ivorced Couple Reunited-Happy Ending of a Rom-ance of Two Lives. Divorced

Belleville Intelligencer
A romance which had its commencement on the other side of the Atlantic many years since had a happy culmination in Belleville on Saturday last.
It developed in the most un-

It developed in the most unexpected manner, so far, at least, as the story is concerned, namely from the application by a man of mature years to a local issuer of marriage licenses for one of those documents which are an indispensable preliminary to the celebration of the matrimonial ceremony.

The man, accompanied by a woman gave his name as Rice and that of the woman as the same. He was questioned by the issuer as to whether there was any relationship between the pair, and the woman intervened and told the story which follows, in substance:

ship between the pair, and the woman intervened and told the story which follows, in substance:
Some thirty-five years ago the couple were married in Scotland
and the woman, after several years of wedded unhappiness, secured a divorce and the custody of her two sons, one of whom is captain of an Atlantic steamer and other mate on a liner. The woman remained at home and the man went to the west ern States. A few-months ago
the woman came over to Yarmouth Nova Scotia, to visit relatives, and there was given information as to her former husband. The result was that they entered into correspondence, the old-time love was revived, and they decided to meet in Belleville, about midway between their respective homes, and renew the troth which was plighted
in their youthful days.

The license was thereupon issued
the-facts were 'phoned to Rev. Dr.
Bishop, and the couple were duly reunited in the boly bonds of matri mony.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Peter-boro Association of the Baptist Wo-men's Home and Foreign Mission Circles and Bands, was held at the Gilmour Memorial Hall last week. Fifteen Circles reported as follows: $322 & for Home Missions, $437.33 for Foreign Missions. The twelve Bands reported $502.43. Total amount raised by Circles and Bands $1,023.63; increase over last year $40.55.

Vice President-Mrs. R. Weston, Campbellford.
Director-Miss M. A. Nicholls,

Assistant Director-Mrs. J. Jack son, Port Hope.

—Peterboro Examiner.

The male choir of the Baptist church will practice to-morrow (Thursday) evening in the School Reom at 8 o'clock, preparatory to the service next Sunday evening.

It is not generally known that his Holiness Pope Pius has granted to Roman Catholics throughout the whole British Empire the privilege of eating meat on Friday next.

The special dispensation is made on account of the Coronation of King George, which takes place on Thursday. Following it there will be banquets in all parts of the British Empire, and in order to allow Catholics to participate in them the eating of meat is allowed. To show no favors, the whole people were also included in the dispensation.

Dr. Kidd, Chancellor of the Archdiocese, authorized the priests to make the announcement in their respective churches Sunday.

CONONATION SERVICE

The Coronation Service of St. John's Church will be held on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

The special form of service will be used and there will be appropriate music for the occasion.

THE KNOCKER-The person THE KNOCKEK—The person who stands on the street corner looking around for something to gossip about or to find fault with, can always find what he is looking. But what a life he lives. His soul shrivels and withers until it is shown in his manners and looks. For such a person life has lost its savor. It becomes sour misanthropic, whining. He passes from bad to worse and sees no good in any body. His taxes are always to high, no matter how low they may be, and he curses how low they may be, and he curses his neighbour because his neighbour is prosperous and enjoys life. In fact, he hates himself, is a menace tact, ne nates nimsell, is a menace to a town's prosperity, a foe to God and no good to the devil. These persons seem to be a necessary evil in every town. They ought to be put out.

Coun Long said the bridge was in one corner of the town of Port Hope and was of no benefit to the town; we are blessed with seven bridges. We had a freshet in 1926 and it cost us $10,000. The Counties gave us a grant of $5,000. The C.N.R. Company had built their values are the opposite side of the and it cost us a grant of $500. The Connies gave us a grant of $500. The C.N. R. Company had built their station on the opposite side of the stream and the bridge will be used for the purpose of carrying freight, etc., and to the bridge will be used for the purpose of carrying freight, etc., and to the bridge is 160 feet, without the approaches.

Coun James sympathized with Port Hope, and he thought that we should help a town in disfress. He was in lavor of the grant.

Coun Powers said the town of Port Hope claimed this as a County bridge. They do not do so now. He did fnot feel like giving opposition to this grant. He would vote in favor of it.

Coun Long said they were building the present bridge in a very substantial way, so that it will not wash away again.

Coun Patterson said they would consider it a great favor. They would thank them for the help.

Comm. Patterson said the Road and Bridge Committee were ready to report. Council went into committee, the chairman in the chair. The Marsh Creek Road was to be gravelled at a cost not to exceed $50: $200 was granted Countlickson for new road in Manvers, provided Ontario County pay a similar amount. The grant of $500 was recommended to Darlington for a road and bridge that they must build. Clause struck out. Bensfort Bridge was to be repaired at an estimated cost of $700, Peterboro to pay one-half the cost. Committee rose and the report was adopted as amended.

Council adjourned to the call of the Warden. Martin Warricombe was reconciled to the prospect of a metropolitan winter by the fact that his old friend Thomas Gale, formerly Geological Professor at Whitelaw College, had of late returned from a three years' sojourn in North America and now dwelt in London. But no occasion offered for a word other than trivial. The dinareparty consisted of about a score of people, and throughout the evening Peak found himself hopelessly severed from the one person whose presence was anything but an importunity to him. He maddened with jealousy, with fear with ceaseless mental manceuvring. More than one young man of agreeable aspect appeared to be on dangerous terms with Sidwell, approaching her with that air of easy, wellbred intimacy which Godwin knew too well he would never be able to assume in perfection. Again he is d ing her with that air of easy, well bred intimacy which Godwin knew too well he would never be able to assume in perfection. Again he was humiliated by self-comparison with social superiors, and again reminded that in this circle he had a place merely on sniferance. Mrs. Warricombe, when he chanced to speak with her, betrayed the slight regard in which she really held him, and Martin devoted himself to more important people. The evening was worse than lost. Yet in two more days Sidwell would be beyond reach. He writhed upon his bed as the image of her loveliness returned again and again, her face as she conversed at table her dignity as she rose with the other ladies, her smile when he said good-night. A smile that meant more than civility; he was convinced of it. But memory would not support him through halt-a-year of solitude and ill-divining passion. He would write to her and risk all. Two clock in the morning saw him sitting half dressed at thable, raging over the difficulties of a composition which should express his highest self. Four o'clock

A day of racking headache: then the long restful sleep which brings good counsel. It was well that he had not sent a letter, nor in any other way committed himself. If bad not sent a letter, nor in any other way committed himself. If Sidwell were evert to be his wife the end would only be won, by heroic caution and patience. Thus far he had achieved notable results; to rush upon his aim would be the most absurd departure from a hopeful scheme gravely devised and pursued. To wait, to establish himself in the confidence of this family, to make sure his progress step by step,— that was the course indicated from the first by his calm reason. Other men might triumph by sudden audacity; for him was no hope saye in slow, persever.

Blacks Oppose Change

Fire From Friction.

The Australian bushman uses a method of his own to procure a light. First he select a two pieces of light wood, each about a foot long, from the cork tree or black fig free. One, a flat piece, he lays on the ground amid a pile of dry leaves. Upon this strip of wood he kneels in order to hold down the ends. Then he rolls the other pointed stick between the as hole into the flat strip of wood. This makes fine wood dust, which catches on fire, sending its sparks among the dry leaves. By blowing upon the tiny light the bashman soon has a fire, which he feeds with mere leaves.

Kind Words For Mr. Clarke.—
In closing his address at the Bellewille Tabernacle on Sunday evening
the Rev. H. B. Kenny said:—Next Sunday evening I will preach my fareweil sermon in this church in our present relation. Then you will have your new pastor—a man honored of his brethren; and a caphable man, able to do much for you in the pulpit and out of it.
