

NEW USE FOR POLES

Although the main use of Hydro poles is to carry wires to convey electricity, one enterprising Hope Township farmer devised another use for them here this morning.

The farmer drove into town on a large load of hay and, on stopping at Ontario Street, was unable to descend from his seat. However, as necessity is the mother of invention, the driver calmly made "light" of the situation and drove over near a Hydro pole and there descended safely to terra firma.

WALK AT WHITBY

Over 15 lodges from all parts of the county will celebrate the Twelfth of July in Whitby, and will stage a mammoth walk. A strong committee has the program for the day in hand, and preparations are being made for over 3,000 people. This is the first time for many years that the Orangemen have celebrated in the county town.

HAD EIGHT SONS KILLED IN WAR

James Lindsay, Famous Veteran Appointed at Hamilton

James Lindsay, veteran of many campaigns and a former member of His Majesty's Imperial Forces, appeared on the bathing beach at Hamilton Bay Tuesday in full police uniform. The board of control approved his appointment as special constable in recognition of his services during the war.

His history is as remarkable as it is varied. He is the father of twenty four children, fifteen sons and nine daughters. Most of his sons served in the great war, eight of them paying the supreme sacrifice. Five were killed in the first battle of Mons. Although Mr. Lindsay did not go overseas he acted as special recruiting officer in Hamilton, throughout the war, enlisting four thousand recruits.

During last four days seven drownings in waters of Philadelphia district have been recorded.

REPORT GIVEN BY SECRETARY

Canadian Club Hears Excellent Report from Mrs. W. F. McMahon

Owing to lack of space, we were unable to publish on Tuesday, the secretary's report, which was given at the home of Miss A. Mulligan, Dorset St., Monday afternoon where the annual meeting of the Port Hope Branch of the Women's Canadian Club was conducted.

The report is as follows: Madame President, members of the Port Hope Women's Canadian Club and guests.—

Our meeting today brings us to the end of our seventh year as a club, and I think you will agree with me, that in regard to the high standard and variety of the addresses we have heard, and in attendance and interest on the part of our members, the Port Hope Women's Canadian Club has continued to play a constructive and vital part in the life of our town.

The year 1927-28 marked the second year of the national organization of Canadian Clubs under a central office at Ottawa directed by an energetic and able national secretary, Mr. Graham Spry. It marked too, a new policy of co-operation between the national office and the local clubs by means of which prominent speakers were sent from club to club on a carefully planned itinerary, all arrangements being made and all expenses being met by the national association. This wonderful aid to the smaller clubs was made possible by the decision made at the 15th Annual Conference of Canadian Clubs held at Ottawa last September to raise the affiliation fee from 10c per member to 50c per member. This increased allotment our club at our opening meeting on October 3rd, cheerfully agreed to assume and in spite of keeping our fee at the same low amount, we have been able to send half of it to the central office and still carry on successfully, because of the three splendid speakers who have been sent to us free of charge throughout the year by the central office. Each member also received as part payment of the affiliation fee, the first copy of the "Canadian Nation" a quarterly publication which does great credit to its editor, Mr. Spry. Today's mail brought the second number of this magazine. Our club at least then may safely go on record as being highly satisfied with the new policy of closer co-operation between the local clubs and the central office.

At the Ottawa conference last fall the objects and aims of the Association of Canadian Clubs were amplified and restated in a form unfortunately too long to include in this report. These high ideals of service in the Canadian Commonwealth we have sought to maintain in planning the ten meetings of the year. Seven executive meetings were also held with an average attendance of ten members and I can assure you your committee have tried conscientiously to show themselves worthy stewards of the honor you conferred upon them a year ago by electing them to office.

With the echoes of the celebration of Canada's Diamond Jubilee last July still fresh in our ears and hearts we have continued to emphasize the Canadian side of our programs. Our opening meeting held in the Town Hall on the afternoon of October 3rd, struck a note of enthusiasm for Canadian Club work in a splendid address by the president and a glowing report of the Ottawa Convention by the secretary whose privilege it had been to be present at this meeting. Miss Kitty Rigby gave two groups of short readings in charming style. The November 11th meeting when Capt. State of the C.N.R. showed us his beautiful pictures of British Columbia and the west, brought us of the east more closely in touch with scenic splendors of another less-known section of our great country.

On November 23rd Mr. K. E. Spencer's address, "A Western Point of View," gave his audience a clearer appreciation of the problems in Western Canada and aroused a spirit of admiration for the splendid men like Mr. Spencer who are seeking to solve them.

In January we left Canada and went with Miss A. L. Laird of Toronto University, on a 4,000 mile trip through another part of our

NAPANEE MAN SERIOUSLY HURT

Stone from Crusher is Believed Cause of Fractured Skull

Wilfred Calver of Napanee was critically injured late Tuesday afternoon while at work on the Provincial highway when a stone hit him on the head. He is at present at the Hotel Dieu Hospital and small hopes for his recovery is held out.

The man was working on the highway, and it is thought that a stone from the carrier of the crusher hit him on the head. He was rushed to the hospital where it was found he was suffering from a depressed fracture of the skull.

great Empire; India. Miss Laird's interesting address, illustrated with its beautiful slides, made one of our most successful meetings.

On Monday, February 6th, we came back to Canada, and to Ontario, when Dr. Routley of Toronto, gave a most inspiring address on the work the Red Cross is doing in this province. The result of his visit to Port Hope is to be seen in the work of the local chapter of the I.O.D.E. are now undertaking to help the Red Cross Frontier Hospitals.

On Thursday, February 23rd, came the most successful meeting of the year, the illustrated address on "Old London," by Miss Emily Warren. Miss Warren's wonderful pictures and delightful talk brought very close to all of us the capital of our Empire.

A splendid note of idealism and lofty patriotism was struck for us by the celebrated author of "A Search for America," Mr. Frederick Philip Grove, when he spoke to our club on March 14th on the subject, "Is There a Canadian National Literature," giving us as well an account of his own most romantic life story. This speaker, like Mr. Spencer and the one who followed, Dr. Pratt, were sent to us by the central office and we are deeply grateful for the privilege of meeting and hearing so fine and famous a Canadian.

Our April meeting brought us a distinguished Canadian poet, Dr. Pratt of Victoria University, Toronto, who charmed his audience with his readings from his own poetry depicting the life of the fishermen of Newfoundland, and the wonderful beauties of our eastern sea.

On Friday, May 18th, our executive, inspired by our president, Mrs. Ryan, introduced a new type of program, the reading in character of two very clever Canadian plays, "Low Life," by Mazo de la Roche, and "Brothers-in-Arms," by Merrill Denison. So successful was this experiment that it is to be hoped that it will be continued another year. At the same meeting another widely known Canadian poet and a member of our own club, Mrs. H. W. Benson, in readings from her own poetry, brought before us the natural beauties of our own country and even of our own town.

At this, our final meeting, lest we become too insular, we leave our Canadian and Imperial subjects and go with Mrs. C. B. Kelly to West China to learn more of the life of the women there.

Although we have kept so closely to Canadian topics for our meetings throughout the year, we feel that they have varied widely enough in subject matter to avoid any chance of a charge of monotony. They have varied widely in character too. Two have been afternoon meetings, accompanied by a musical program, and afternoon tea served by the executive. The May meeting was an evening drawing room one with two plays and a group of readings substituted for an address, and splendid musical numbers as well. Three of the addresses were embellished with beautiful lantern slides.

We wish to express our thanks to the two local papers for the important place they have always given the accounts of our meetings, to the Library Board for the use at a nominal rental of the Lecture Hall, to Mr. Chesher for preparing the Town Hall for the meetings held there, to St. John's Sunday School, Mr. Williamson and the Department of Agriculture for lantern, screen, etc., to the hostesses, Mrs. Thurber and Miss Mulligan, who have given their homes, and to the musicians who have been so generous in contributing to our programs.

SEVEN COUNTIES HOLD FIELD DAY

Durham Farmers Will Attend Picnic At Presqu'ile Point

Durham County, along with seven others in the district, will participate in a monster picnic sponsored by the Ontario Department of Agriculture which will be held on Friday, July 6th, at Presqu'ile Point. This is the second annual picnic of the Central Ontario district and it is expected that at least 1,000 people will attend.

Counties taking part in the picnic are Peterboro, Durham, Northumberland, Ontario, Victoria, Hastings, Prince Edward and Lennox and Addington. The program will consist of softball games both for boys and girls and many standard events. A silver cup donated by the Farm and Dairy, Peterboro, will be awarded to the county winning the highest number of points in the standard events. This cup will become the property of the county that wins it twice, not necessarily in succession.

All events are open to boys and girls resident of the farms located in the counties taking part. Peterboro county girls' softball team is matched against Northumberland in the first round of the tournament. The boys have not as yet entered a team in the events. The softball games commence at 10 a.m., with the finals at 4 p.m. During the afternoon, field events will take place, such as jumping, running and weight throwing. A horse shoe contest will be held at 11 a.m. There will be dancing in the evening at the pavilion.

J. Y. Kellough, district representative for Port Hope, is confident that a large number of the farmers and their families in this county will attend.

Sanitary Defeat Bankers in Thrilling 10 Inning Game

"Bill" Phillips Stars When Sanitary Win From Bankers 7-6 Tuesday Evening.

Entering the last half of the seventh innings of the scheduled tilt between the Bankers and Sanitary, at Viaduct Park Tuesday night, the Tubmen were two runs down on their old time rivals, but after two men had been retired, they came back strong to tie the count at six all, and then batted out the winning run in the tenth session. The fans were kept in a high state of excitement and it is doubtful if such a thriller has been witnessed at the local softball park before.

The backbone of the Sanitary, offensively and defensively, was the stellar performance by Bill Phillips, in centre field. Not only did he bag three hits in five attempts but he connected for one hit in the seventh which sent in two runs and then in the tenth started with a hit and eventually scored the winning marker with no one out. He cavorted around centre field in fine style and made seven putouts, with several being difficult chances.

As a result of the Sanitary's win, the Bankers are hauled down to second position with the Sanitary trailing but half a game in the rear.

Williams hurled the entire game for the winners and was touched up for sixteen hits with the Bankers bunting five safeties in the fifth stanza to score three runs. He issued two walks and registered one strikeout. Wade did the twirling for the Bankers and eleven clouts were made off his slants. He gave two walks. The Bankers had five mistakes chalked up against them, Smith having three errors and Winfield the other two. The winners also were credited with five errors.

With the count reading 6 to 4 for the Bankers, Snell and Hagerman were retired in order from the Sanitary line up. Munro scratched a safety through third and Peacock beat out a hit to second. Phillips took a hefty clout at the ball and slashed a hit to right field, Munro scored and Peacock went to third. Phillips made a dash for second and when Brockenshire threw the ball to Smith, Peacock scampered home. If the ball had not been thrown to second it is doubtful if the Sanitary would have won as McElroy proved an easy infield out, to retire the side.

In the eighth Wade hit through short, but was forced at second by Smith. Brockenshire fouled out to third and Fitzsimmons popped to Peacock. Williams, Ham and Jex were retired in order by the aerial route. In the ninth the losers got a man as far as second after two batsmen had been retired. Melville hit to centre but was stranded as Palmer, batting for Martin, skied to centre field. In their half, the Wharfmen were retired in order after Snell had reached first on an error.

Spicer started the tenth off with a hit, but was stranded at second, as Wade, Smith and Brockenshire failed to come through. Now for the eventual tenth. With scores of the fans on their feet, the Sanitary staged as thrilling a rally as any ball fan would want to witness.

Darkness was rapidly following, and at the end of the ninth, the umpires held a consultation and it was decided there was sufficient light to play one more innings. The burning question—could they come through. And the spectacular finish will be handed down through toothless gums to the players' grand children when they are aged and in form of how they defeated the Bankers in the memorable struggle.

Phillips, after crashing out two ringing hits, completely fooled the Banker infield with a neat bunt. McElroy popped out to Wade and Phillips was safe on Williams' fielder's choice. Both runners advanced on a passed ball and Ham, who had gone hitless throughout the game, dropped a Texas Leaguer back of second. Sainsbury, who took Fitzsimmons' place in centre field when the latter went to first when a pinch hitter batted for Martin, played the ball slowly and when standing with the ball in his hand, Phillips crossed the plate with the winning marker.

The executive is very grateful to Mrs. Ryan for her untiring leadership and for opening her home for executive meetings from time to time.

In conclusion let me appeal to each and every member to give the Canadian Club such support next year that we may boast a much increased membership and exert an ever wider sphere of influence in our community, our country and the Empire at large.

Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Aldrich, Blooms Grove Ave., have gone to their summer home, "Oak Haven Cottage" Tower Farm, Rice Lake, for the vacation season.

Mrs. F. Hopkins Jr. and two children, left for Montreal this morning, where they will embark on the steamship Magantic for England to be the guest of her father, Mr. A. E. Elms, London, England.

HEAVIER APPLE CROP EXPECTED

All Parts of Dominion Anticipate Increased Yield—Peach Outlook Is Good

British Columbia apple growers estimate an apple crop in excess of last year. In spite of adverse weather conditions, Ontario is also expecting a heavier crop. A 50 per cent increase is anticipated in Quebec; New Brunswick expects a heavier crop, while with favorable conditions, Nova Scotia looks forward to a 10 per cent increase. Last year the apple crop amounted to 2,810,600 barrels, valued at $10,411,035.

There has been an excellent showing of peach blossoms in British Columbia and Ontario, and prospects are good for a heavier crop than was marketed last year, which amounted to 347,580 bushels, valued at $1,051,765.

Present indications point to an increase in the cherry, plum, prune and apricot crops. The production and value of these crops last year was: Cherries, 216,800 bushels, valued at $784,470; plums and prunes, 263,200 bushels, $473,780; and apricots, 18,000 bushels, $67,250.

Raspberries in British Columbia will about equal the crop of 1927, while winter killing in Ontario will reduce the crop by 30 to 50 per cent. Last year's figures for the whole country were 10,946,200 qts., valued at $1,516,145.

These estimates are based on reports received by the Dominion Fruit Commissioner.

THE GUIDE STORY

"That is an evasion, not an answer. Does the maiden of your dreams cast shy glances at you in return? Does her white hand shake at the sight of you? In short, have you dared to hope that you may win her love in return?"

"If I had not had some wild hope, I must have drowned myself in the Seine," said the impassioned young man, vehemently.

"Monsieur Brutone, known as Remus to us of the Lost Road, you are ridiculous."

"I may be," said the young man; "but I am determined to sacrifice my life if I can not save these school girls from being murdered."

"Remember your oath of obedience."

"I freely offer up my life, my time, my talents to the sacred cause of freedom; but I will do no murder."

"Listen: You are pledged to seek out the man whose mask fell off, and whose face you saw."

"I know that."

"You will kill that man obediently if I spare these wretched girls? On your oath, mind, that they are not police spies."

"Yes."

"It is a faint-hearted sounding 'Yes.' Listen, young man of the orchestra and the footlights and the pensic rolled into one. These girls say they came out to seek that fortune teller Flamette, and lost their way. Is it likely those well-dressed demoiselles would have come on foot? They would have hired a carriage."

"That French girl would have rejoiced in the fun of wandering on foot through the streets at night. She must have led them into the mischief."

"If they return to the pension alive and well, what account will they give of this adventure?"

"None. It is to their interest to creep in and maintain silence. They would draw punishment, even disgrace, on themselves if they told a word of their escapade."

her kiss sweeter than honey on my lips. I was an officer in a regiment of the czar. I was brave. Women called me handsome. I had a fortune. Ah! those days were heaven on earth. Then came the change. Injustice had to come very close to me, and to scowl at me with her squinting eyes, before I saw her at all; but when I did see her, you perceive, I—well, I saw her plainly. "There were plots afoot to catch the nihilists. There were salons for gaming, for music, for acting, where police spies prowled in disguise, listening for unguarded expressions; and often, for a mere light word against existing tyrannies, a man was seized, torn away from home and friends, and marched off in chains to Siberia.

"At one gaming house there was the fair daughter of the proprietor always to be seen. My twin brother, Manfred, fell madly in love with that siren, and offered her marriage. She loved him in some shallow way; and then there came a prince high in command of a regiment—a prince with wealth enough to buy two English counties—a haughty autocrat who trampled on the people and licked the feet of the czar. This man, ten years older than my brother, won away the siren's love from him, divorced his own wife, and married her. My brother struck him in the face. For that he was sent to Siberia. He died on the road of cold and hunger. Then I joined the party of the oppressed against the oppressors; but my heart was still human until the wretches in power had murdered my wife, whom I had only made my wife three days, and also my mother.

"I saw them kill my mother before my eyes; for my bride they had prepared a fate worse than any death, and she took poison. All that I had they seized, and I was sent to Siberia. I worked in that infernal region for two years, then I escaped, no matter how. The tale would make you sicken if I told it to you. But I came to France, and I met those who had known me five years since. Nobody recognized me. My soul had changed. I have no human instincts, save those for the redressing of the wrongs of humanity at large. For individuals I have no pity. I dare not hint at what I have seen men and women suffer. It would put madness into a brain that was not nerved to steel. Now, don't appeal again, as long as I live, to my compassion. I tell you I have none."

DO ANYTHING BUT TALKING

Is In Possession of Miss Amelia Young of Bowmanville

And yet another crow comes to light. A short time ago a pet crow in St. Thomas sprang into the limelight by its alleged cruelty to children. It was condemned and executed. Miss Amelia Young of King street, Bowmanville, possesses a similar bird, of course not a captive, which is really quite a pet. It has stayed at her home since childhood, if you may say a bird was a child, and has grown to full size in the vicinity of this residence. The bird itself is sleek-looking, with its glossy black feathers well sheened. It apparently has a considerable education and is supposed to do practically everything but talk.

It is called Jim and answers readily to its name. Like all other modern crows, it eats corn, and anything else, this being the reason that Jack Miner, bird lover, is so death against him. It roosts in an apple tree beside the house where it retires at an uncommonly early hour to sleep. It is awake before anyone else and proceeds to gather its breakfast, which is placed ready for it the evening before.

The bird is more than a year and a half old, and already has become attached to its neighborhood, going away very seldom from the vicinity. It winters in Mrs. Young's home and summers outside.

Everything will be perfectly all right with Jim if he lets children alone; if he does not, experience is a good teacher.

BEN HUR IS A MIGHTY PICTURE

Production Makes Return Engagement to Royal Theatre Here

Testifying the popularity of "Ben Hur," the mighty masterpiece of the screen, is the good houses which have witnessed the production on its return engagement to the Royal Theatre here. The picture was shown on Monday and Tuesday evenings and will be repeated for the last time tonight.

Although the picture, recognized in the movie world as an epic of the screen, was on the Royal Theatre program last January. Many patrons have seen the picture for the second time and we advise those who have not attended to see the picture tonight at greatly reduced prices. There is one show only, commencing at eight o'clock, and includes news, topics and fable.

Love, hate, revenge, forgiveness, brutality, saintliness, religion and paganism are all depicted in their glory and shame, and the thrilling chariot race in which Ben Hur finally succeeds in revenging himself upon Messala, the Roman centurion, is the climax of the picture. Another feature of the production is the sea fight between the northern pirates and the slave-propelled boats of Rome.

Announcement of a Sunday swimming exhibition at Puslinch Lake on July 1 by George Young and other natators who are being trained for the C.N.E. marathon has brought a strong protest from the Guelph Ministerial Association.

Meeting in special session Monday members of the association passed a unanimous resolution denouncing the entertainment as a desecration of the Sabbath, and calling on the City Council to take action to prevent the carrying out of the program. The ministers also raised objection to the holding of a post-midnight dance at the lake which is advertised to commence at 12.15 a.m., Monday, July 2nd.

Again Tied

The Leafs of Toronto returned to a tie for first place with the Rochester Red Wings Tuesday by defeating Billy Southworth's athletes in the second game of their series before a fairly large sized week day crowd by 3 to 0. The round of gooseberries hung on the noble necks of the Reds was the result of some sparkling pitching by Johnny Prudhomme, who was complete master of the situation and never once was in danger.

Herman Bell, Rochester's best pitcher, also hurled a good game but was up against a better brand by his rival. He was nipped for ten blows by the Leafs and three times the visitors bunched enough to score the runs that gave them their victory. Leslie Burke led the Leafs with three safe hits.

C.O.B.L. Schedule Revised Due To Postponed Games

Rain has considerably warped the C.O.B.L. schedule but a revisionment of the schedule will straighten the teams out. Belleville and Peterboro were prevented from playing on Saturday by rain, as were Oshawa and Deloro. The Nationals are scheduled to play in Oshawa on Wednesday but the game has been moved up to Tuesday. Belleville and Peterboro will be a postponed game from June 6 at Belleville. St. George's team of Toronto will be visitor's in Belleville on the holiday next Monday, when they hook up with Walter Gerow's league leaders.

LITTLE FOOLS AND GREAT ONES
By Charles McKay

Your rule be still the same.
Your work not toil, your pleasure pure,
Your love a steady flame,
Your drink not maddening but to cheer;
So shall your bliss not pall—
For little fools enjoy too much,
But great ones none at all.

PURPOSE OF NATIONAL FORESTS

Although wide publicity has been given to the policy which the Department of Interior, Canada, has formulated with regard to the reserving of forest areas on Dominion lands for permanent timber production, a misconception still prevails in some quarters that the timber within a national forest is preserved against use. Nothing could be more removed from the actual facts; all timber within these areas is available for disposal but its sale, whether for commercial purposes or for settlers' use, is necessary subject to cutting restrictions and requirements designed to ensure the production of the more valuable species, to improve growing conditions for the young timber left uncut and to reduce waste and fire hazard to a minimum.

United States has only six per cent of world's population, but has more than one third of its railway mileage.

STOCKING INLAND FISHERIES

The total distribution in 1926 of fish and fish eggs from hatcheries operated by the Fisheries Branch of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, Canada, was nearly 722,000,000. In addition to the distributions that were made from the hatcheries, twenty five lakes received allotments of fry or older fish from other bodies of water. With one exception this work was confined to the western provinces where there are many districts that are not readily accessible to existing hatcheries. It involved the capture and transfer, in many instances for a considerable distance, of 88,362 fish, comprising nine different species. Sixty black bass, for instance, some weighing as much as four lbs., were caught in Dog Lake, in the Kenos district and transferred to Fox Lake, near McDougall's Mills Station, northwestern Ontario.

WOMEN BUILDING BIG CLUB

The Women's Building Association has erected nearly 1,000 flats in England. The United Women's Homes Association, which has already provided residential blocks for single women in Brighton, Hammersmith, Leigh-on-Sea, Healdon, Acton, and other centres has now started building in Westminster, near Buckingham Gate. What claims to be London's largest club for this hitherto inadequately housed class.

Alban G. Gordon, president of the foundation laying by the Mayor of Westminster, gave an account of the association, which he described as "neither a commercial concern nor a charitable body." It started, he said, without a penny and there was no public appeal. Now it had 4,000 women members who have subscribed £220,000, the assets being over £200,000.

The scheme began by each member taking up a £25 share, which she paid, often in instalments, spread over two years. With this capital augmented by loan stock issued by the association has built nearly 1,000 flats, besides some hundreds not completed. The Westminster undertaking, which is to be known as Murray House, after Sir George Murray, one of the promoters, includes an assembly hall, recreation rooms, roof garden, restaurant, 24 two-room flats and 72 single rooms.

Cat-and-Mouse Act.
A cat patient at the Salford, England, branch of the Peoples' Dispensary for Sick Animals has formed a friendship with a mouse which she caught a year ago. Whenever the cat is at home, the mouse plays with her, running over her back and showing not the least fear.

More Men Than Women.
Australia has 141,000 surplus men, and it has domestic work for thousands of women, says an announcement by loan stock issued by the association designed to promote emigration from Great Britain.

Flying Women.
Britain can claim to be the pioneer nation for women aviators, two of whom hold commercial licenses for flying. France has, however, the first woman engaged in airplane constructional engineering.

A Growing Concern.
The Manitoba Co-operative Poultry Marketing Association has grown from 719 members in 1922 to 9,900 in 1927, making a total of 92 such groups in Manitoba.

First Case Won.
Ireland's only woman solicitor, Miss Early, made her first appearance in Drumcondra, County Dublin, Petty Sessions. She represented a plaintiff who sought possession of a cottage from a laborer who had been in his employment. Miss Early won the case, and was congratulated by the district justice on her ability.

THE FISH ARE BITING

Up Among the Thirty Thousand Islands of Georgian Bay
If you love the out-of-doors—enjoy the thrill of the rod, the rocky pine studded islands of Georgian Bay will fulfil your deepest desires for the perfect holiday. This island dotted summering place is one of the finest fishing grounds in Canada. Here black bass, great fighting maskinonge and lake trout are ready to test the wits and skill of any eager fisherman. The islands and their connecting channels are a veritable paradise to the camper, canoeist and angler. Yet it is only five hours by train from Toronto. Cottages, boarding houses and hotels are open now. Illustrated literature and complete information as to individual resorts including rates, and steamer service will be gladly given to you by any Canadian National Railways Agent.

CANADA'S METAL AGE.

The Canadian Mining World Makes Some Interesting Comments.
Under the caption, "Canada Enters the Metal Age," the Canadian Mining World, published by Stobie, Furlong & Co., editorially makes some interesting comments on the mining industry, and points out that it is entering on the most prosperous era. The editorial follows:

"Canada is just entering her own particular metal age, and developments of the next few years will equal those of any other country of history. From Atlantic to Pacific, Canadian are mine-conscious as never before, and the tremendous activity everywhere must lead to many great and small producing mines in every direction. The new Dominion of Newfoundland, too, has joined the movement, and developments already assure at least one great complex mine, sponsored by the largest mining corporation in the world. That other big ore bodies will be found seems very certain and in that event Newfoundland will occupy a particularly strategic position in relation to the markets of Europe, as her main ports are nearer the other side than New York, for instance, by a quarter of the distance.

"Now and then we hear of so-called leading financiers deprecating the widespread spirit of mine speculation throughout the Dominion, although, we are glad to say, Government officials and many bankers ascribe that spirit to unwarranted consciousness of Canadians in the immense possibilities in the latent metal resources of their country. Naturally some will lose money in unscientific mining efforts; but, nevertheless, the result, figured in a national way, will be of tremendous benefit.

"Mining capital for out-of-the-way districts can never be raised in a wholesale way except in periods of intense speculation, and that is the case in Canada at this time. Loosening the public purse-strings for metal-mining operations in every province of the Dominion means great prosperity for the nation, as here and there great and small mines add their creations of new wealth to the public purse. Discrimination between the bad and the good, and possibly good, is the great need at such times, and it is to be hoped that efforts of Government officials and financiers will be along those lines, and those only. Any effort to quell the speculative spirit that is quickening the bid off the best metal yet on earth will not be to Canada's advantage. She is just entering the metal age—the most prosperous era of her entire history."

A POPULAR MAGISTRATE.

"Judge" Cohen First Saw the Light of Day in Poland.
There is no more familiar figure at the City Hall, Toronto, than Jacob Cohen, and no one man has done more to earn the rewards of the peace-maker. His moderation and his penetration of justice, especially among his own people, have been noteworthy ever since he began to haunt the police court, first as an interpreter then as justice of the peace, finally a full-fledged police magistrate. The name "Judge" Cohen is given to him by his own people, is now given to him by all his friends, who are legion. Recently he told a reporter he was "a ship chandler of justice."
"From needles to anchors. Case so trifling you wonder why they ever get to court, case involving human tragedy of the darkest color"—such was his picturesque summings-up of the daily police court proceedings over which he presides.
His life-story might have been copied from Arabian Nights. Emigrant to Toronto, New York at 14, peddler through the farming districts of New England, on the steamboats of the Mississippi, at the age of 21 coming to Toronto, renting a little store on Queen street, at $4 a month. Successful shoe merchant, Footwear dealer, official in a dozen synagogues and Jewish societies, as left business to assist in straightening out the legal tangles of his fellow Hebrews. As J. P., he began an intensive study of justice under the great master-ship of old Col. Donison, with whom he enjoyed the warmest of friend-ship.
Magistrate Cohen is sixty-eight years of age.

Birds' Atlantic Flight.

A colony of lapwings recently made a wonderful flight across the Atlantic from Britain to Newfoundland in twenty-four hours.
The lapwings find their food in the fields and is not a sea-bird, and there-fore could not possibly have been sustained by food picked up by following steamers.
The birds probably flew at forty miles an hour in their own speed and were helped by a gale, which might bring their mileage up to over seventy. Even then, to fly for twenty-four hours without rest or food shows amazing endurance and tenacity. One of the birds was found to have been ringed in Cumberland in 1926.

The Cost of Soldiers' Uniforms.
It costs more than twice as much to fit out a Life Guards recruit (£26 12s. 10d.) as it does a recruit of any other regiment except the Foot Guards (£16 18s.), the Highland kilts regiments (£14 4s.), and the cavalry of the line (£13 12s. 7d.). The Royal Tank Corps recruit is the cheapest at £12 8s. 7d.

London's Strangest Club.
The strangest club existing in London is run to help those who have been in prison and do not intend to go there again. It is aptly named the "Run Straight Club."

Water Waste.
A defective washer in a tap, causing it to drip constantly, will waste as much as 150 gallons of water a day.

Alaska's mines yield minerals, valued at more than $17,000,000 a year.

GUARDING MILLIONS.

Bank Robbery Very Rarely Attempted In England.
The fact that a bank robbery is so very rarely attempted in England seems to show that there is little wrong with the system of defence built up, says a writer in THE LIFE. Vast sums of money are continually travelling about the country. Every scrap of money in the provinces, whether notes or coin, has to be sent there from London. The amount of new Treasury notes alone put into circulation each week usually varies from five to ten million pounds.

These facts are well known to the criminal classes. The heavy motor-bulldozers are a familiar sight in the City, as are the carts which load on with the glittering ingots of solid silver, wait outside the premises of dealers in precious metals. Loss, however, is practically unknown. The strong-rooms of English banks contain not only the bank's cash reserves, but valuable deposits by their customers—jewels and plate, priceless family heirlooms and works of art, in addition to vast quantities of bonds and securities.

The strong-room of to-day is a marvel of engineering. The walls are built of brick, steel, and concrete. A modern strong-room floor sometimes weighs over twenty tons. In many cases, in the interests of safety, keys and the keyholes are abolished. Combination locks are used instead. Other doors have time-locks in addition. These locks are set by an independent official, and the door, once closed, cannot possibly be opened until the expiration of the set time.

PRISON PETS.

Pigeons Walk Around Exercise Yard With Prisoners.
At a certain prison pigeons walk round the exercise grounds every morning alongside the prisoners. Each pigeon acts out of the hand of its own particular prisoner, and when the man is in his cell the bird is usually found perching on the bars of his window.

Darlington's particular pet is the Jackdaw, and most convicts break the monotony of prison life by forming an affection for one of these inveterate thieves.
Because of the cloth and material made at Wakefield, the mouse is the particular pet of this prison. The fluff from the cloth forms a splendid bed for the mice. Many of these rodents are so well trained that when a prisoner returns to his cell after being at work they will be found up, ready to climb up his clothes and rest on his shoulders.

Many of the rats at Wadsworth Prison will stand on their back legs and beg for food. The prisoners often sleep with them inside their shirts.
At Parkhurst convicts keep butterflies and bees, many a splendid hive having been built in a cell window. The emerald lizard, a pet of remarkable intelligence, is also a favorite at this prison.
Dorchester Prison is a veritable aviary, and many beautiful birds are "adopted" by prisoners. Wormwood Scrubs also favors birds and pets, the particular favorite being the sparrow. An old dog at Portland smuggled and kept a puppy in his cell. He was discovered at last, and the puppy was taken away. It was then eight weeks old, and was taken home by a warden. Every day the little dog wandered back to the prison gate, and when the convict was released he took his pet home with him.

More than one convict has shown great fascination for a blade of grass he has planted in the corner of his cell.
Apples on Trial.
To discover the health value of different varieties of apples, the Lister Institute is experimenting with a number of guinea-pigs.
Dr. S. S. Zilva, the vitamin expert, is directing the experiments as part of the work for which the British Empire Marketing Board has made a grant of £3,000 for two years. It is proposed to make public the same knowledge of the vitamin content of the apple as is known about the orange and various vegetables.

Each guinea-pig will have its application reduced to the minimum necessary to provide a certain amount of vitamins. An important part of the test will be to discover whether there is any vitamin difference between apples that have been in cold storage and those that are fresh.

Blood Coursing Through Veins.
Assuming the heart to beat sixty-nine times a minute at ordinary heart pressure, the blood courses through the veins at the rate of 207 yards in a minute, or seven miles an hour, 168 miles a day, and 61,320 miles a year. If a man eighty-four years of age could have had one single blood corpuscle floating in his blood all his life it would have travelled in that time nearly 5,150,000 miles.

First Military Band.
British military music had its origin in the Grenadier Guards. The first band was raised by them in 1658. The Grenadier's drum-major wears the most costly uniform in the army. It consists of a ruby velvet coat lavishly decorated with gold lace, a velvet cap, and white epaulettes buttoning to the knees.

Size of the Sun.
The sun is a million times as big as our earth and 302,000 times as massive.

SHOULDER YOUR KIT AND MARCH ALONG

In life's grim battle we all engage, and struggle from day to day, Then march with a will the war to wage. The call to the fight obey. So shoulder your kit and march along. A cheery spirit makes weak ones strong.

Should worry and care get in your way And hamper you in your stride, The sword of True Grit bring in full play And sweep both your foes aside. So shoulder your kit and march along, A cheery spirit turns aigh to song. Should indolence whisper, "take a rest," For the sun is hot on high, Go tramping along the road with zest. Not deigning the knave reply, So shoulder your kit and march along. A cheery spirit sets right the wrong.

"Tis a long, long line with never a turn," But the turn will come in sight. When the warrior's heart with joy will burn, And victory crown the fight. So shoulder your kit and march along. A cheery spirit makes weak ones strong.

BACHELOR PRINCE AT THIRTY-FOUR

Prince of Wales Great-Great-Grandfather 51 When he Married

The heir to the throne having just celebrated his 34th birthday, people are beginning to talk of the Prince of Wales as a probable old bachelor. Toronto will always think of him as the smiling charming youth of 25 who, looking young for his age, captured the city nine years ago on his first visit to Canada. Time has dealt kindly with the Prince and he still does not look his years, but he is really getting on, and the public who expect a Royal Prince to marry early have almost given up hope of H.R.H.

In this connection it is interesting to note that his paternal great-grandfather who visited Toronto when Toronto was a mere village just emerging from the bush married quite late in life. The Duke of Kent, fourth son of George III, and who spent some years soldiering in Canada, was 51 years of age when he married the lady who was to be the mother of their first and only child, the future Queen Victoria.

The great-grandfather of the present Prince of Wales, the Prince Consort, however, conformed to the royal fashion of marrying early, being only 21 when he led the youthful Queen Victoria to the altar. King Edward also married young, being about 22 when he espoused the beautiful Princess Alexandra. And King George V. was 28 when he wed Princess May, her present gracious majesty. Today the royal couple have three bachelor sons—the Prince of Wales, aged 34; Prince Henry, Duke of Gloucester, 28; and Prince George, now in his 26th year.

DIED

MILLSON—At Bowmanville Hospital, on Sunday, June 24th, 1923, Walker Dickinson Millson, beloved husband of Eva Bebee, aged 71 years.

The funeral will be held from the residence of his son, Lanson E. Millson, Lot 19, Con. 2, Clarke Township, on Thursday afternoon, June 28th, 1923, at 1.30 o'clock.

Interment at Orono Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

NORTHCUTT—In loving memory of our dear Mother, Letitia R. Northcutt, who slept away, June 27th, 1925.

Mother dear, we think of you, And think of how you died; To think you couldn't say good-bye Before you closed your eyes. No one knows a mother's worth, Until she's taken from this earth. The Heavenly gates were opened wide, A loving Voice said “Come.” Sady missed by Ida and Arley.

HEARD ON THE STREET

Just imagine, we're going to have one ‘ear, sunny, Wednesday afternoon! What causes this?

For some unforeseen reason or by a strange mistake, Old Probs is handing out a perfect half holiday.

The Hospital Birthday Party is on Friday and certainly deserves, and needs, your support. It is an institution doing a great good in the community, but it could do a greater good if its capacity were increased.

The Queen's Hotel is brightening the corner where they are, with a fresh coat of green and cream paint giving the building a quite dressy appearance.

Our corner friend is surprised to read in the coming events that “tea will be served on the grounds.” Did they really mean coffee? No, it could not be, for it is afternoon tea, and coffee is not the usual thing.

The fact that Oshawa as an industrial centre is going ahead at an extremely rapid pace is made apparent through figures arrived at by officials of the Government Employment Office. It was stated approximately 1,500 persons have been given placement from the beginning of the fiscal year, Nov. 1, 1927, to June 23, 1928.

Not for several years have the black-flies been so bad in the North country. Reports from all points agree on this. Prospectors coming in from the bush declare the flies are making life miserable for people whose business takes them into the woods; even the towns, where ordinarily they cause little trouble, their presence is being felt this year. Citizens who have tried to camp out have been chased back into their town houses. The wet weather has been favorable to their development.

When J. C. Rosenheim billed Kitchener with circus posters about a week ago, he left a few tacks on the highway. Tuesday he paid $5 for his forgetfulness, being found guilty of breaking a section of the Highway Traffic Act.

“Moral” Persuasion
Little Joan was at the photographer's, but it was very difficult to get her to sit still. Her mother and the photographer tried persuasion of every kind, but the child persisted in her restlessness. At last the photographer said to the mother: “Madam, if you will leave your little girl alone with me for a moment, I feel sure I can photograph her quite easily.”

The lady withdrew. Five minutes later the photographer called her and said everything had gone splendidly.

“What did that kind gentleman say to you when I was gone?” asked the lady on the way home.

“If you don't sit still, you little monkey, I'll shake the life out of you.” So I sat still, Mummy.”
