MOTORISTS ARE FINED IN COURT

Three Offenders Did Not Carry Driver's Licenses While Driving

Three motorists appeared in court here this morning before Magistrate W. A. F. Campbell on charges of operating motor vehicles without the necessary driver's license. The three informations were laid by Traffic Officer Gordon Hallick.

Edward A. Adams of Toronto, stated to the traffic officer that he had one, but it was not in his possession in Clarke Township on the 17th of March. A fine of $1.00 and costs was imposed.

D. A. Moffatt of Toronto, was fined a similar amount for a similar offense and donated $1.00 and costs.

Spencer Burley of Clarke Township also drove a car. He did not carry a license when approached by H.T.O. Hallick and hence, he donated $1.00 and costs.

The Busy Painter

"Just the very man I wanted to see," remarked the vicar affably, as he laid a hand on the shoulder of the local painter and decorator.

"Morning sir!" returned the other. "And what can I do for you, sir?"

"Well, said the vicar, "my study wants repapering. When could you come and see to it?"
The painter scratched his head. "I'm terribly busy just now," he ventured. "Let me see, I 'ung Mrs. Stiggins on Saturday, and I'm 'anging your churchwarden today, but I think p'raps I could pop round and 'ang your reverence one day towards the end o' the week."

SPRING RAMPAGE OF GANERASKA

Flood Was At Its Peak at 1.30 Sunday Morning—Considerable Damage Done

The peaceful Ganeraska went on its spring rampage over the week end and considerable damage was done. Many cellars in the downtown district were flooded and had there been a heavy rain on Saturday heavy damage would have resulted.

Early Saturday evening the river gradually began to rise owing to the early Saturday morning rain and the heavy melting of snow in the country north of Port Hope. At one thirty Sunday morning the flood was at its peak, and water flowed down Ontario street and several inches ran down the gutter on Walton street.

Cellars of the stores on Ontario street were flooded to the extent of several feet and the muddy waters surged round the brick cottage occupied by T. Roberts, north west of the bridge. The residence was surrounded by four or five feet of water and Mr. Roberts was forced to flee.

Fifteen hundred dollars damage was sustained at the Ontario Hotel where the hotel building and yards were swamped. The livery yard was inundated with several feet of water and the cellar of the hotel was filled with water, while three inches of water poured from the main floor.

L. K. Bosheff, proprietor of the hotel, estimated his total damage at fifteen hundred dollars and a large quantity of tobaccos and cigars were destroyed.

At Canton, eight miles north of here, it was necessary to raise the stop logs lest the dam give way under the heavy pressure of ice. Heavy cakes of ice reached this centre early Sunday morning and a blockade was formed at the Nicholson File Factory dam. Blasting operations were necessary to relieve the situation. Numerous stop logs were washed away and some were found distributed along the banks of the creek. Employees of the grinding and forging rooms were laid off this morning owing to lack of power.

Cavan and Barrett streets were blocked by the huge cakes of ice and the lane way at the rear of the Ontario Hotel was rendered impassable. However, the roads were soon clear and open for traffic.

Civic employees under the direction of Town Engineer M. U. Ferguson and members of the fire brigade strove desperately to relieve the situation.

The entrance to the catch basin on Ontario street, kept rapidly filling up with refuse, but these were kept open and considerable water was carried away by these outlets.

The waters overflowed the cement wall at the mill, owned and operated by John Marshall and a stream flowed through the mill yard. Heavy loss was occasioned in this section where the rear part of the saw mill, together with some equipment was washed away.

It is also stated that some light damage was sustained at the end of Beamish's pond. Eight cords of wood, owned by G. N. Paterson and piled east of Cavan street, near Scuthorpe's garage, was washed away.

Early Sunday morning the water subsided and all danger was considered passed. Today, the water is practically back to normal.

At first it was thought that the flood would assume the proportions of the disastrous rise of the Ganeraska in 1921 when thousands of dollars' damage were done. The flood in that year occurred a week later than this year. The written testimony of the height of the flood is still registered on the brick residence of T. Roberts, near the tracks, and the height of the water on Sunday came within a foot and a half of that measurement.

On February 24th, 1909, a disastrous flood occurred while a rise in the waters of alarming proportions, which is still remembered by many of the older residents, occurred fifty-one years ago, when a building, situated just west of the present Jordan block was washed away.

DEPARTING LADY IS REMEMBERED

Both Choir and Sunday School Of United Church Give Token of Appreciation

Miss Mary P. Pomfret, a valued member of the United Church choir and also of the Sunday School staff, was the recipient of two tokens of appreciation on the eve of her departure to Toronto, where she will reside.

Friday evening after choir practice, the members presented Miss Pomfret with a colored parasol, chosen to match her apparel and to be a reminder of her associations here. Mr. A. E. Fulford addressed the young lady on behalf of the choir in very complimentary terms and Mrs. Chas. Massio made the presentation.

Sunday afternoon, in her usual obliging manner, Miss Pomfret sang a solo, after which the superintendent, Mr. W. A. Meadows, told her on behalf of the Sunday School, how much her departure was regretted in that Miss Pomfret had been filling an important place on the teaching staff and has been faithful to her work in the Primary Department since she assumed a responsibility there about a year and a half ago. He also said it was a regrettable fact that we should train young people up to a place where they become useful and then have them go elsewhere, but our loss will be others' gain. He asked Miss Pomfret to accept a fountain pen as an expression of the school's respect and appreciation for her work and a reminder of associations in the Port Hope United Church. Miss Pomfret replied that she was sorry to be parting from old friends in the church and Sunday school but in her new environment she would remember the good times and good friends here. She also thanked the school for the kind sentiments expressed and the gift that will always be treasured by her.

Miss Pomfret has ever been ready to help by using her musical talent, which has been much appreciated and this active worker will be greatly missed by the United church congregation and her wide circle of friends.

We join in wishing her happiness and success in her new field of endeavor and know that with her attainments, she will soon have a large circle of friends in her new home.

end, staging its biggest washout since Easter Sunday, 1912, when Water Street, from Simcoe to Birch st., was converted into a river. With the break up of ice at Kitchener Friday resulting in a jam above Blair, that village was completely isolated when the river overflowed its banks, making the various roadways impassable. With summer-like weather Saturday, the ice on the dam at Galt passed away peacefully, doing little damage. However, it started to rain late Saturday afternoon, continuing until late Sunday morning with the result that the river rose steadily and overflowed its bank, causing thousands of dollars' damage and marooning at least a dozen families living on the river side of South Water St.

Water Street Submerged

On North Water Street mill-race that supplies water power overflowed on to the street a full block being under water. On South Water Street from the Galt Knitting Mill to Concession Street, the pavement was under a couple of feet of water. The river became so high that the water backed up in storm drains and flowed over retaining walls. The water was up to the floors in a number of houses and, while the police and firemen were on the job early and offered assistance to the marooned, none left their homes, believing that the high water would not last long, but they guessed wrong. Never has the river been known to sustain its flood height so long as it did yesterday, fully 9 hours. It was not until 3 o'clock that the stream showed any signs of abating and the decline was gradual.

Family Is Marooned

One family, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller of Preston, now under quarantine for smallpox, is surrounded with both raging waters and piling blocks of ice. At the cottage all is serene. James and Lorne Johannes of Blair and Preston citizens brought provisions to the family.

James Akey, Peterboro, Was Given Suspended Sentence

Adjourned Case of Peterboro Man Heard in Local Police Court—Was Found Guilty of Driving a Car While Intoxicated; Given Suspended Sentence.

James Akey of Peterboro, was found guilty of driving a car while intoxicated, before Magistrate W. A. F. Campbell in court here Monday morning but was allowed off on suspended sentence. Accused, however, paid the costs of the court. He was represented by J. A. O'Brien of the firm of Gordon, O'Brien and Gordon of Peterboro, while Crown Attorney W. F. Kerr, K.C. of Cobourg, represented the Crown.

On March 12th Akey faced three charges viz. intoxicated while in a public place, reckless driving and that he did drive a motor vehicle while intoxicated. On the first charge he was fined $50 and judgment was reserved in the other two matters.

As Akey was not present at the former hearing owing to illness, evidence for the defence was given today.

Mr. O'Brien—Were you driving the car on that afternoon?
Witness—No sir.

Were you in a car on that afternoon?
Yes, sir.

Who all were in the car?
Milton Barnard, his lady friend and myself.

How were you seated?
Barnard was driving, the lady was on the right hand side and I was in the centre.

Anything happen?
The car stopped.

Why?
I could not say.

What, if anything, did Barnard do?
He crawled over the front seat to the rear to get a wrench.

Was he out of the car?
No, he was not out.

Who had control of the car?
Milton Barnard.

The following cross examination was conducted by Crown Attorney Kerr.

Were you at the wheel when the Chief approached?
I might have been shoved over after Barnard had crawled over to the back.

Were you at Lowe's garage?
Yes.

Did you reflect on the workmanship of Mr. Lowe?
Yes.

Who owned the car originally?
I used to own it. It was sold to Barnard on Feb. 15th.

Car Sold

Witness told that Barnard, who is employed by him, had purchased the car for $700, paying $300 in cash and the remainder in monthly installments. No papers were issued in the transaction and it was later brought out by Mr. Kerr that Barnard did not possess a driver's permit.

Akey further stated that Barnard had driven the car to Lowe's garage from Hiawatha, on Rice Lake, where an Indian woman was picked up and then back to Dale.

Barnard testified that he had driven last fall and this spring.

Mr. O'Brien—Who was driving that afternoon?
Witness—I was.

When the car stopped how were you seated?
I was driving, Mr. Akey was in the centre and my lady friend on his right.

What did Akey have to do?
Nothing, when I moved to the back seat he moved over.

In the cross examination by Mr. Kerr, Barnard said that he was twenty-four years of age and that his lady friend was an Indian widow, about thirty-five years old.

Mr. Kerr—Was the lady asleep when you came out?
Witness—Probably her head was down.

By any chance, was she under the influence? cautiously inquired the astute Crown Attorney.
No.

How long have you known the lady?
Oh, about seven years.

Certainly.
Did you say to the Chief that you couldn't drive?

"I did not tell the Chief I could not drive the car. The Chief asked me who was driving and I told him I was driving but Jimmy (meaning Akey) was sitting behind the wheel.

Fred Lingard, local taxi driver, swore that he saw the Chrysler car driving northerly on Ontario Street on March 2nd with Barnard at the wheel and two other occupants in the front seat.

Chief Murphy was recalled and told that he had ordered Akey out of the car and then asked Barnard if he could drive and Barnard said "No."

No Work Done

John C. Lowe, local garage proprietor, said that the car had been driven to his garage but owing to some remarks made by Akey, no work was done.

After the evidence for the defence was shown that Barnard was supposedly at the wheel during the journey, Sherman Gifford threw a monkey wrench into the works in his testimony.

Mr. Kerr—Who was driving when the car left the garage?
Akey, and the car went north on Ontario St.

Do you remember where Akey was sitting?
In the front seat on the left hand side.

Where was Barnard?
In the back seat.

Was there anyone in the front seat with Akey?
Yes, the lady.

Cross examined by Mr. O'Brien, Mr. Gifford told that he had taken particular notice of the car because he did not think Akey in a fit condition to drive it.

This concluded the evidence and in summing up the Magistrate viewed the matter as most contradictory.

At the trial two weeks ago, the evidence of the Chief and three witnesses seemed to show that Akey had been in charge but after the evidence this morning a new aspect was thrown on the situation. The Magistrate concluded that there was sufficient evidence on which to find the accused guilty but in view of the former stiff fine was content to find him guilty of this charge but to allow suspended sentence upon the payment of the costs of the court.

WARNED ACCUSED OF CARELESSNESS

Local Youth Paid Costs of Court On Theft Charge Of T. C.S. Rifle

Magistrate Campbell delivered judgment in Police Court this morning in the case of the local young man who was arraigned in Police Court here last Monday on a charge of stealing a .22 calibre rifle, belonging to Trinity College School. Accused was represented by W. F. McMahon.

The evidence in the case showed that the accused was engaged in transporting goods from the scene of the T.C.S. fire to the drill shed and on the Monday, following the conflagration discovered the rifle under the tarpaulin of his truck. Chief of Police Thomas Murphy took possession of the rifle on the following Thursday.

His Worship said that there was nothing in the evidence to show how the rifle came into his possession and the defendant gave a fairly good account of his whereabouts and activities for the three days. The accused was told that he should have made all possible haste in informing the school authorities or the police that the rifle was found in his truck. This would have been an easy matter, but as he had no previous conviction, he was entitled to the benefit of the doubt. Owing to amount of trouble that the court was put to owing to the accused's gross negligence, the young man was assessed the costs of the court, amounting to twelve dollars.

THE GUIDE STORY

A body cleaned, badly trimmed lamp hung over the one door that served alike for ingress and egress, and more than once the doctor paused in the feeble light to look at his watch.

It was hardly a moment to judge of the doctor's looks, yet the rough cap, worn for convenience, allowed the broad, well developed forehead to be seen, also the steady straight-forward grey eyes, and the chin that was perhaps too massive for recognized standards of beauty, yet indicative of moral strength and tenacity of purpose. In height and breadth, John Forrester was massive. His height became all the more noticeable when Charles Wood, the station master, came up to him.

"A rough night, doctor. Have you seen my boy this evening? I've not been home since two-thirty."

"Yes, I was at your place not ten minutes ago, Wood. With care the boy will do now, but I advise you to ship him off to sea or one of these days he'll break his neck. He is a plucky rascal—don't ride him with too heavy a curb, Wood, my friend."

John spoke half banteringly, yet the eyes that fixed themselves on the station master's weather-beaten determined face did not smile.

The doctor had an almost abnormal sympathy for his fellow men. He realized, perhaps none better than himself knew how keenly, the cruelty, the wastefulness, of what he termed—"trying to drive square pegs into round holes." To force a man, woman, or child out of a natural bent was, to his way of thinking, a refinement of stupidity as well as a refinement of cruelty. According to his theory, every man, woman, and child had a place in life a niche to fill in the world's economy, the one vocation that was calculated to bring out the best working powers, mental and physical. Forced or trained away from that vocation, they would be imperfectly developed, out of tune with themselves and with life. Allowed to carry out their vocation, they would grow onward toward perfection and be content.

Holding these views, backed up as they were by his own peculiarly enthusiastic temperament, it was not to be wondered at that John Forrester was continuously championing forlorn causes, and trying to persuade failures in life to find out the work for which they were best suited and then to start the battle afresh.

Like most men, and women, too, for that matter John Forrester rode his hobby hard, rode it sometimes injudiciously, rode it sometimes with so much prejudice in its favor that he forgot there might be another side of the question, and that certain strong characters, despite their own proper niche in life being unfilled, might yet occupy their "round hole" with honor to themselves and incalculable profit to the world at large.

In the case of Jack Wood, the station master's eldest son, the theory was clearly in the doctor's favor. Jack was a clever lad of fifteen, whose great physical strength and energy would clearly be wasted, if his father were to persist in the scheme of placing him in his uncle's business; the only drapery establishment that Woodlands possessed. The boy loathed the shop and all the business connected with it. His heart was set on a seafaring career and there was no doubt that a life of hardship and adventure was the one for him. It was wonderful, the amount of mischief he managed to indulge in, even in that quiet village, and yet live to repeat the tale. This time he was laid up with sundry sprains and bruises.

When John Forrester touched on the subject of Jack's future it was but resuming a discussion held earlier in the day.

Charles Wood was an obstinate man. He had always intended the draper brother to become interested in Jack and Jack's future, the draper being one of the richest tradesmen in Woodlands; yet he had begun to waver in his own mind as to whether it would not be cheaper in the long run to let Jack have his way and go to sea.

Therefore, as the doctor waited for a reply, the other spoke slowly, as though the words were being drawn from him one by one.

"Well, sir, I don't know but I'll let the lad go. I'm about tired of his tricks, same as you must be of patching him up."

"Shake on it, Wood!" John's face broke into a glow of delight. "We'll thrash out the question tomorrow, eh? There's nothing like hitting the nail on the head when you have a chance, and we'll soon have your son on his feet again. He must have a good start. Good beginnings make good endings, as you know. Isn't the train late, by the bye?" he added turning to peer into the blackness of the night. "I have been here a good quarter of an hour, and it's a bad night for Miss Ransome's horses, to say nothing of poor old Giles' rheumatism."

"Aye, sh's late, doctor," the man remarked. Then a signal rang out shrilly above the sound of the wind and rain and the little station awoke to life, as a porter, the ticket collector, and a nondescript boy who wore an official cap, came onto the platform to receive the train.

VICTORIAS WIN

Montreal Victorias carried the Allan Cup challenge of the East for supremacy in hockey into a one-game lead over the Western aspirants for the title by defeating the University of Manitoba sextet 2-0 at Ottawa on Saturday night. Coming as they did on long shots from far outside the U. of M. defense, both of the goals could be classed as nothing other than the "soft" variety. They were tallied, however, at a time in the final period when the Victorias were tossing every ounce of their strength against the bulwarks of a defensive wall that had beat them back unmercifully through out the two opening periods and for that reason alone it cannot be said the goals were unearned.

The second game of the series, victory in which decides possession of the coveted Allan Cup will be fought out Monday night. One more win by the Montrealers will send the trophy back to the Victoria Club which held it the first year it was introduced by Sir Montagu Allan for competition. The Westerners must defeat their Eastern opponents two straight games to capture the ancient silverware and the national title which goes with it.

The Manitoba representatives will not go into the second game of the series with a lessened prestige because of their defeat Saturday. They shrewd themselves to be a team with defensive strength galore and an abundance of fighting ability on the attack. But the close back checking of the Victoria team was too much for them, and only a few of their offensive thrusts could pierce in close enough to really threaten Eastern goal citadel.

On the offensive the Vics appeared to have had a shade of the best of the play, but the students bulky rear-guards, McVev and Williamson, were easily the stronger of the two defenses. Throughout the tussle charging Victorias were carried out of the danger zone by the heavy Manitoba backs and to pierce through them for a close in shot on the Western net bordered on the impossible. The U. of M. team also had a way of packing its defense that made it approximately as difficult to crack as a stone wall. The Manitoba goal zone was being thus protected when the Easterners registered their two goals.

Junior Final

Tonight Ottawa Gunners and Regina Monarchs meet at the Arena Gardens for the third and final game of the Memorial Cup series to decide whether the coveted silverware travels East or West. Toronto people who at first feared that Gunners were not worthy rivals for the great team from out of the West have now realized that the youngsters from Ottawa are worthy upholders of the great traditions of junior hockey finals in days gone by, and that the 1928 series is quite on a par with anything any club has produced in the last few years.

KIDD-BYRNE IS

Claims To Have Sold Interest in Estate for $60,000,000

County Judge B. E. Johnson of Jasper, Florida, recently received a visit from David Kidd-Byrne, the Toronto evangelist and native of Bewdley, near Port Hope. Although the visitor came from afar, he is no stranger to those parts, since for years past he has been periodically breaking into the news with stories about his claim to the estate of the late W. B. Byrne, the bulk of which was supposed to fall under the jurisdiction of the Florida courts.

Those who give credence to the Torontonians' assertions estimate the present value of this bequest at anything from $5,000,000 to $100,000,000. Some more sceptical folk, however, are as yet unconvinced that it possesses any cash value at all.

These scoffers the evangelist is now seeking to convert and confound, according to Judge Johnson, with the statement that he has just sold his interest in the Byrne estate to parties in Australia for $60,000,000.

Despite that declaration, Judge Johnson has drifted from the ranks of those who had some faith in the pastor's pretensions to the camp of those who openly doubt. For years he has been hopefully interested in attempts to trace the Byrne estate but when the other day he declared that there had been no report go through his office of the sale of any such estate.

"There is no property of any description belonging to the estate within my jurisdiction," he said, and I have been unable to learn of any existing elsewhere.

"The Rev. Dr. D. C. Kidd-Byrne is at present in Jacksonville after a visit of some weeks in Jasper. He claimed that there was $1,000,000 on deposit in the Barnett National Bank of Jacksonville, Florida.

"Two Toronto brothers, Daniel Mooney and J. W. Mooney, met Kidd-Byrne at Jasper. The Mooneys claimed that Kidd-Byrne had borrowed money from Daniel Mooney on account of this estate. They left much chagrined and disappointed. I have learned of other parties, in addition to the Mooneys, who have advanced Byrne quite an amount on this estate. I was informed by the cashier of a bank in Jasper that on one of his trips to Florida, Kidd-Byrne had deposited in this bank about $7,000 that had been sent to him.

"Kidd-Byrne told me that he had sold his interest to parties in Australia for $60,000,000 and he produced papers which purported to support this statement.

"I also had a letter the other day from Kidd-Byrne in which he said he had found much valuable property in Jacksonville or Duval county and in Brevard county, Fla."

"THE day is not far distant when salesmen will do even more of their selling by Long Distance. Sending salesmen back over a territory frequently to pick up repeat orders will be discarded as unnecessary and economically unsound"—said the President of a large distributing organization to his directors, a few days ago.

Business ethics are now on such a high plane, and Long Distance connections are now made so quickly that in many cases Salesmen find Long Distance quite as satisfactory as a personal call.

If you know the distant number, Long Distance is almost as quick as a local call. In the great majority of cases, while you hold the line the Long Distance operator will make the connection.

To ensure your always having the distant numbers, give us a list of the firms you talk with by Long Distance. We will add the numbers and return the list to you.

Across the Seven Seas

ALONG the trade routes over the Seven Seas, leading to more than 100 different countries, go Canadian products. Other peoples—often peoples of strange languages and different customs—have shown their preference for Canadian commodities. This to the extent of a billion and a quarter dollars a year. They buy from us on the basis of right quality and right price. But greater export trade opportunities await Canada from across the Seven Seas.

Year by year Canada is exporting more manufactured goods. In a quarter of a century our export of manufactured goods has increased seven fold. That part of our export trade now amounts to $700,000,000 annually, or about a quarter of our total factory output.

While Canadian manufactured goods have gained a foothold in some of the world's greatest markets, still the volume we export is small when compared with what these same markets import.

Let us take a number of Canadian manufactured commodities, sold mostly in 23 countries, eight of which are in the Empire. Let us place the Canadian exports of these countries against the imports of these countries, and demonstrate the field for greater Canadian business:

The possibilities for greater Canadian exports

Manufactured Commodity	What 23 countries import	Amount Canada exports to these 23 countries
Rolling Mill Products.....	$378,436,000	$2,143,621
Tubes and Pipe (Iron).....	75,606,000	1,919,014
Machinery (not agricultural)..	435,605,000	4,298,667
Farm Machinery.....	72,314,000	15,430,149
Automobiles.....	259,118,000	26,379,152
Rubber Boots and Shoes.....	9,918,000	5,568,261
Rubber Tires.....	97,900,000	15,291,224
Musical Instruments.....	64,955,000	1,286,000
Printing Paper.....	215,977,000	116,920,699
Lumber and Timber.....	626,375,000	62,065,596
Sugar, Refined.....	167,254,000	11,175,806
Meats, prepared, preserved or canned.....	337,469,000	22,052,290
Milk, Condensed.....	52,968,000	4,286,244
Butter.....	333,304,000	3,083,801
Cheese.....	131,334,000	24,853,503
Fish, dried, smoked, salted or preserved.....	170,228,000	20,937,106
Flour of Wheat.....	173,943,000	51,223,271

These are the latest statistics available. The 23 countries are: United Kingdom, Australia, British India, British South Africa, British Straits Settlements, British West India Colonies, Irish Free State, New Zealand, Argentina, Belgium, Brazil, Chile, China, Cuba, Czecho-Slovakia, Dutch East Indies, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Netherlands, United States.

The accompanying figures tell something of the possibilities for sixteen Canadian manufactured commodities already in the export field. They also show what Canada has accomplished in twenty-three countries—a creditable performance for nine million people scattered over half a continent. But we can accomplish greater things if we go after them in our straight-forward Canadian manner.

Every Canadian manufacturer should keep a map of the world hung up in his office—a silent reminder that Canada cannot live to herself.

In entering foreign trade the Canadian manufacturer must be prepared to: 1. Give a standard of quality. 2. Make the articles required by the importer. 3. Pack in the manner the importer desires. 4. Deliver promptly. 5. Maintain contract dates.

The advantages of export trade to the manufacturer are: 1. Keeps plants in full operation. 2. Brings about a lowering of production costs at home. 3. Lowers prices to home consumer. 4. Stabilizes employment.

We help you get the facts about new markets

The Department of Trade and Commerce has a fully organized and experienced Commercial Intelligence Service working solely to help Canadian exporters. Under the direction of this Service are 24 trained Trade Commissioners, strategically located in different parts of the world. Each of these Trade Commissioners is acquainted with the demands and requirements of the people in his territory.

Trade Commissioners are ready to conduct preliminary surveys regarding the marketability of any Canadian product. They will put the Canadian exporter into touch with reliable representatives, or introduce his travellers to trade houses. They constantly aid Canadians in maintaining business contacts. These services cost the Canadian exporter nothing.

Hundreds of Canadian firms have built up substantial export accounts which can be traced directly to the efforts of the Trade Commissioners.

If you are a Canadian manufacturer or producer you cannot afford to overlook export opportunities. The Commercial Intelligence Journal, published weekly, by the Department, will give you ideas on foreign demand. Write us today about your products and your capacity to participate in export trade. The information in possession of the Commercial Intelligence Service is at the disposal of every Canadian exporter.

DARLINGTON TWP. YOUTH IS KILLED

Cave-in At Gravel Pit Results In Death To Gordon Cochrane

Gordon Cochrane, aged 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cochrane, Darlington Township, died on the way to Oshawa General Hospital about 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon an hour and a half after he had received injuries at Brown's Gravel Pit, three miles north of Oshawa. He was working in an excavation alone in one corner of the pit when about a ton of earth caved in, almost completely burying him. He was taken to his home, and when it was found that he was seriously hurt, he was rushed to the hospital, but succumbed before arriving at the institution. Coroner Dr. F. J. Rundle, who investigated the accident, decided that an inquest was unnecessary. The cave-in was caused by the loosening of the earth after the frost came out of the ground, due to the recent mild weather.

HEARD ON THE STREET

Did you get your feet wet, early Sunday morning?

Some of the merchants on Ontario street, not only got wet feet, but a cellar full of dirty flood water.

The night operator of the Bell Telephone Company kindly notified merchants whose property was likely to be damaged by the rising waters, that the water was flowing down Ontario street and on down Walton street. The men thus warned appreciate the thoughtful action of the young lady.

Arthur Smith, Toronto road, is certain spring is well advanced, and to prove his contention, brought in the butterfly, he caught Saturday for us to hang in the window.

The wild geese seem to think that they will find open water in the north. A large flock flew over the park on Saturday afternoon at or about six o'clock.

The Gift Shop Girls of the United Church Gleaners' Society, are having one of their delightful afternoon teas tomorrow afternoon. You will have a delightful time and no doubt see a few things on the talent table which will appeal to you. From 3:30 to 6:30, you can come to the Veterans' Hall and spend a pleasant afternoon.

Classes of Trinity College School commenced at the McMaster Buildings in Woodstock this morning and the entire senior school was in attendance.

An aeroplane passed over town yesterday at noon, headed in a westerly direction.

Rev. Ernest Harston, who has been pastor of the Campbellford United Church for the past year, has accepted a call to the Simcoe Street United Church at Oshawa. He will take charge of the pastorate, commencing July 1. Mr. Harston was the unanimous choice of the Official Board of the Simcoe Street Church. Rev. Dr. H. S. Dougall, who has been pastor of the church for the last four years, is retiring from the ministry.

Rev. H. A. Bunt of Enterprise, Mr. George Smith of Port Hope, Mr. Hector Smith of Bewdley, Mr. Gladwell of Toronto and Mr. Geo. Marshall of Toronto, purchased lots from Mr. John Nurse, con. 8, lot 24, Hamilton Township. Messrs. Smith, Mr. Marshall and Mr. Bunt have also built summer cottages. Dr. Aldrich of Port Hope, purchased from Mr. James Tait of Port Hope, a lot and summer cottage, con. 8, lot 24, Hamilton township.

The Wife—There's a burglar trying to get into the flat.
Her Hero—Eh! Where? I'll get up and give him the fight of his life.

"Aren't you afraid?"
"Not a bit. Any burglar who thinks this flat can hold all three of us must be a little bit of a fellow."

WATER POWER DEVELOPMENT

The growth of the development of Canada's water power is clearly shown, thus:—170,000 horse-power in 1900; 4,778,000 horse power in 1928.
