SUSTAINS SERIOUS INJURY

Dr. W. E. Tilley Fell Down Stairs And Suffers From Concussion of The Brain.

Dr. W. E. Tilley fell down stairs at his home on Beech Ave., Bowmanville, Saturday night about 11 o'clock.

The cellar door and the one leading upstairs are side by side and in attempting to go upstairs, he entered the cellar door by mistake, and fell to the concrete flooring, cutting his head so badly as to necessitate six stitches, and suffering concussion of the brain as a result.

He was unable to take nourishment until Tuesday, and his condi-tion caused much anxiety for a while.

Restaurants Want to Keep Open on Sundays

Councillor Ambrose Will Amend Bylaw to Give Restaurant Keepers Same Hours on Sunday as Week Days

At the last meeting of the Council Mr. Ambrose gave notice of a by-law to amend the restaurant bylaw. According to the present bythe restaurants must keep closed on Sundays from 2 p. m. until 8 p. m. and must close again at 10 p. m. Mr. Ambrose considers that these restaurants are a great convenience to the public and leges. If his amendment to the bylaw carries the restaurants will be given the same hours on Sundays as other days.

Several of the Councillors were interviewed by the GUIDE and expressed themselves in favor of the amendment. On the other hand there is a strong feeling against allowing the restaurants to do business and sell goods during the whole of Sunday any more than legalizing any merchant to keep open all the time, Sunday included.

PLANS SUBMITTED.

Cobourg Post.

The plans for the proposed new Grand Trunk Railway station and improved yards at Cobourg were submitted to the Town Council for inspection. The blue print shows a vast improvement over the present station and yards, with abundance of tracks for storing and making up trains. The tracks will be raised considerably to relieve the heavy grade. The new station will be erected between Division and George streets., will be constructed of cut stone up to the window sills, and finished off with brick. The baggage room is to be connected with the main building by a platform similar to the Canadian ern Railway, with an umbrella topto protect passengers from the sun's rays and the rain.

The blue print of the Division St. subway was also laid before the Council, and also the plan for the grade of the track from the ferry dock, from University Avenue to the main line. If the contemplated: work is carried out there will be: busy times around the Grand Trunk station this summer.

A TROUBLESOME MISGIVING

'What proportion are convenced that it is untenable?' returned Peak. Many wilfully shut their eyes to the truth.'

'No, they don't shut their eyes!' cried Godwin. 'They merely lower a nictitating membrane which permits them to gaze at light without teeling its full impact.'

'I recommend you to bring that into your paper,' said the journalist, with his deep chuckle.

An hour later they were conversing with no less animation, but the talk was not so critical. Christian Moxey had come up as a topic, and Earwaker was saying that he found it difficult to divine the man's per-

'You won't easily do that,' replied Peak, 'until you know more of his story. I can't say that I am bound to secrecy-at all events with you. Poor Moxey imagines that he is in love, and the fancy has lasted about ten years.'

'Ten years?'

When I first knew him he was paying attention to rather a plain cousin down at Twybridge. Why, I don't know, for he certainly was devoted to a girl here in London. All he has confessed to me is that he had given up hopes of her, but that a letter of some sort or other revived them, and he hastened back to town. He might as well have stayed away; the girl very soon married another man. Less than a year later she had bitterly repented this, and in some way or other she allowed Moxey to know it. Since then they have been Platonic lovers -nothing more, I am convinced. They see each other about once in six months, and presumably live on a hope that the obnoxious husband may decease. I only know the woman as "Constance"; never saw

'So that's Moxey? I begin to understand better.' 'Admirable tellow, but deplorably weak. I have an affection for him, and have had from our first meeting.' 'Women !' mused Earwaker, and shook his head. 'You despise them?'

'On the whole, I'm afraid so.' 'Yes, but what women?' cried the other with impatience. 'It would be just as reasonable to say that you despise men. Can't you say that?'

'I doubt it.'

'Now look here; the stock objections to women are traditional. They take no account of the vast change that is coming about. Because women were once empty-headed, it is assumed they are all still en masse. The defect of the female mind? It is my belief that this is reaved husband and daughter. nothing more nor less than the defect of the uneducated human mind. residence, Okotoks, on Monday

I believe most men among the brutally ignorant exhibit the very faults which are cried out upon as exclusively feminine. A woman has hitherto been an ignorant human being; that explains everything.'

Not everything ; something, perhaps. Remember your evolutionism. The preservation of the race demands in women many kinds of irrationality, of obstinate instinct, which enrage a reasoning man. Don't suppose I speak theoretically. Four or five years ago I had really made up my mind to marry; I wasted much valuable time among women and girls, of anything but low social standing. But my passions were choked by my logical faculty. I foresaw a terrible possibility-that I might beat my wife. One thing I learned with certainty was that the woman, qua woman, hates abstract thought-hates it. Moreover (and of consequence) she despises every ambition that has not a material end.'

He enlarged upon the subject, followed it into all its ramifications, elaborated the inconsistencies with which it is rife. Peak's reply was deliberate.

'Admitting that some of these faults are rooted in sex, I should only find them intolerable when their expression took a vulgar form. Between irrationality and coarseness of mind there is an enormous distinction.'

'With coarse minds I have nothing to do' 'Forgive me if I ask you a blunt question, said Peak, after hesitat ng. 'Have you ever associated with women of the highest refine-Earwaker laughed.

'I don't know what that phrase means. It sounds rather odd on class of commoners. With peeresses we needn't concern ourselves." 'You imagine that social precedence makes all that difference in women?' 'Yes, I do. The daughter of a county family is a finer being than any girl who can spring from the nomad orders.' 'Even supposing your nomads produce a Rachel or a Charlotte Bronte?

'We are not talking of genius,' Peak replied.

'It was irrelevant, I know .-Well, yes, I have conversed now and then with what you would call well-born women. They are delightful creatures, some of them, in given circumstances. But do you think I ever dreamt of taking a wife drenched with social prejudices?'

Peak's face expressed annoyance, and he said nothing.

Okotoks Exchange

The death occurred on last Friday afternoon of Mrs. Mary A. Bryce, wife of Mr. Henry Bryce, of Okotoks, in her 67th year. The deceased lady had only been ill a few days and was thought to be getting on the road to recovery on Friday morning. Friday after-noon, however, she failed rapidly and passed away quite peacefully at 6.30. A doctor and nurse were both in attendance. The cause of death was double pneumonia.

The deceased lady was well known in this district, having lived with her husband on their ranche in the Davisburg district for nineteen years, and had the respect and esteem of all who knew her. About a year ago they came into town to reside.

The deceased lady was born in the County of Durham, Ont., on February '7th, 1844, and had been married for thirty-eight years. Besides her nusband she leaves a daughter, Mrs. Harold Banister, to mourn her loss, and a niece, Mrs. Walter Curtis, of Port Hope, Ont. She was the last survivor of a family of ten brothers and sisters. Great sympathy is felt for her be-

Got Father Morriscy's "No. 10" Just In Time To Save His Life,

Mr. Aylward's letter tells the story : Campbellton, N.B., Feb. 5, 1909. Father Morriscy Med. Co.,

During the winter of 1907, while travelling on the Gaspé Coast, I contracted a severe Cold which settled upon my lungs.

After I returned home I wrote to Father Morriscy explaining my case. I received a letter from him with a prescription for his medicine, which bould not be filled at the time here. After one week's delay I received it, just in the nick of time to save my life. After one month's use I felt like a new man.

Yours truly, Jno. Aylward.

There is not much time to lose when a cold settles on the lungs. Pneumonia kills within a week. With Father kills within a week. With Father blorrisey's "No. 10" at hand, you don't even have to wait for a doctor. "No. 10" cures all throat and lung troubles. It is a reals Lung Touic, and fortifies against future attacks. #### LOCAL CHINESE ARE INTERESTED

Some of the local chinamen are 'tickled to death" as the saying goes because the fact that an effort is being made to have the $500 head tax on all Chinese women coming into this country removed. The Canadian Senate defeated a bill to abolish the head tax, but the question is not dead yet.

"Vely good thing," said a local Celestial to-day at noon when the Post Reporter showed him a clipping dealing with the matter. When asked if he would get married and bring his wife out to Canada, if the nd he said nothing. | tax was removed, the Chinaman 'A man's wife, pursued Earwaker smiled and said, 'Can't tell-may-you like, except social position. With the tax of $500, a great. That is precisely the distinction many chinamen have found it impossible to bring out their wives. They have had to content themselves with the saving up of all tory. If I loved a woman of rank money they can, then returning to China to live the rest of their days in leisure, for it is a well-known fact that a Chinaman can live the the St. James's Gazette, and at last life of a gentleman in his own country, on what would be termed a very small sum in this country.

However, there is no doubt but that if the tax is removed there will be many Chinamen who will "hike" off to Pekin, Canton, Hong-Kong and many other parts of their country to greet the girl he left behind and bring her back to the great country-Canada. Chinamen who are in this country, and who are engaged in a profitable business are likely to want to remain here.

She Died "Quick."

When Miss Jennie Lee was on tour with the dramatized version of "Bleak House" she met with an amusing experience.

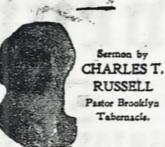

One night she was in the midst of the long and harrowing death scene of poor Jo. The stage was darkened and the limelight illuminated the pale features of the deathstricken boy. People were sobbing all over the house. Suddenly to her consternation Miss Lee heard the limelight man addressing her in a brawny Scotch whisper, audible to half the house.

"Dee quick, Miss Lee-dee quick," he roared softly. "The limelight gaen out.'

She did die "quick," but it was for the purpose of making a speech to the limelight man which he said he would never forget .- Detroit Free Press.

CANADA IS GROWING .- Have you stopped to think of it lately? At the last census taken in 1901 we didn't have quite six millions within our borders. Another census will be taken next year and conservative prophets state that the total will be from eight to eight and a half millions. During 1910 we gained nearly one thousand every day by immigration alone. The total for the year was 350,000. Next year the immigration department is looking for a gain of 500,000. Of these about 350,000 are expected from the British Isles. The bulk of the remainder will come from the United States.

PEOPLE'S

Berlin, Germany, March 26.-Pastor Russell delivered three addresses here o-day-one of them to the Jews on 'Zionism in Prophecy," another on 'Hereafter" and the third, which we report, from the text, "Of those born of women there is not a greater Prophet than John the Baptist, but the least in the Kingdom of Heaven is greater than he" (Luke vii, 28). Large and interested audiences attended. He leaves to-night for Copenhagen and Stockholm. Crowds of Jews are reported to have heard him during the last three days in Vienna, Budapest, Lemberg and Krakow. There can be no better illustration of the sharp line of distinction be-tween the earthly and the heavenly classes and their calling than is shown by our text, said Pastor Rus-sell. The great Teacher freely attested to the loyalty and courage and saintliness of His cousin John, as evidenced by the words of our text. But if so great and honorable a Prophet, why could not John be a mem-ber of the Bride class? Why could he not be numbered with the disciheavenly plane, but to the earthly. He was honored of God, in being made one of the Prophets of the Jewish Age—the last of them. Although a different honor from that conferred upon the Apostles, John's was a great honor and we have rea-son to believe that, under Divine providence when perfected in the resurrection, he will appreciate the earthly blessings and privileges which will be his more than the spiritual and heavenly privileges bestowed upon the Apostles and the less prominent members of the Church.

The Lord "will choose our inheritance for us," we read (Psalm xivil, 4). Happy are those who repose implicit confidence in Divine goodness and who seek to obtain whatever may be God's choice for them. If we have been called with the heavenly calling, let us not shrink back and de-clare ourselves unworthy and decline to accept the favors of God and to choose an inferior position. Let us, rather, be glad to say, Thy will be done in my heart, in my life, in all my future. "Order Thou my steps in Thy Word."

Jesus had a two-fold mission: (1) He came "that the world through Him might be saved"—that He might give Himself "a ransom for all, to be testified in due time" (I. Timothy ii, 6).

(2) Incidentally His mission was to proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord—the time in which God is willng to accept the sacrifices of such as desire to walk in the Redeemer's footsteps, and to constitute these the Bride and Joint-heir of Messiah.

John the Baptist referred to the lat-ter feature of our Lord's work, saying. He that hath the Bride is the Bridegroom, but the friend of the Bridegroom heareth His voice and rejoiceth greatly. This, my joy, therefore, is fulfilled (John iii, 29). It was not for him to be a member of the Bride, but he rejoiced to be a friend of the Bridegroom. As our Lord's forerunner he announced he had bridegroom; he called upon the nation of Israel to turn from sin. to harmony with God and thus to be prepared to receive the Bridegroom and to become the Bride. So far as the nation was concerned John's mission was a failure, as God had foreknown and foretold. But so far as the Bride class was concerned John's mission was a success, for, as the Scriptures intimate, those who believed John's testimony accepted Jesus and He accepted them.

We must remember that the Church is the Kingdom of God—now in a formative or embryotic state, but in the end, by "the resurrection," to be apirit beings and partakers with Jesus, their Bridegroom, in His wonderful glory, honor, immortality and Kingdom work. This Kingdom class is not reigning now, but merely forming. It is joined "on probation," after the Methodist style. If the probationary period of the present life be faithfully used, the full induction into the Kingdom, its glories, honors and immortality, will surely followby participation in the First Resur-

Amongst the faithful followers of the Master there will be differences, as St. Paul explains. "as one star differeth from another star in glory" (I. Corinthians xv, 41). We cannot know, and it is not necessary for us to guess, who shall occupy the chief places in the Kingdom. These shall be given to those whom the Father prefers, as the Redeemer explained to the woman who asked that her two sons might sit, one on His right hand and the other on His left hand in the Kingdom (Matthew xx, 21).

If we were to guess who shall be closest in position to the Master we would suppose that St. Paul would be first, with St. John, St. Peter and St. James near by in glorious excel-And yet we know not how nearly up to the Apostolic standard some may be who have lived very humble and obscure lives, have fought a good fight and finished their course with joy. Indeed, the twelve Apostles seem to occupy, by Divine decision in advance, the very highest stations in the Kingdom, next to that of the Redeemer. Who said of them, "Ye who have followed Me, in the regeneration " " shall sit upon twelve thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel" (Matthew xix, 28). Again, they are pictured to us as the "arown of twelve stars" to the Church

(Revelation xii, 1). and yet again they are pictured to us as the twelve precious foundation stones of precious foundation stones of the Church in her future glory, as the New Jerusalem (Revelation xxi, 14).

Those called of God to this high salvation, as members of the spiritual Kingdom which shall bless natural Israel and through her all the nations, are required to demonstrate their loyalty to God by faithfulness even unto death—in the narrow way of self-sacrifice. As there is no other of self-sacrifice. As there is no other Name than that of Jesus whereby Name than that of Jesus whereby any may be saved to eternal life, so, likewise, there is no other path whereby any may reach the Kingdom except the narrow way, "and few there be that find it." All who attain to the Kingdom must be overcomers of the world to the extent of self-acrifice. The gradations of glery will be because of special mani-festations of zeal for the Lord and His cause of righteousness and Truth

The Scriptures clearly show anin precess of salvation other class during this Gospel Age, quite separate and distinct from the Bride class. These are referred to in various parts of the Scriptures. They will all be level, to the extent that they would not deny the Lord nor wilfully pracstice sin. Their failure to reach the status of the Bride is indicated in an insufficiency of zeal in connection with their loyalty. This class is described in Revelation vii, 14. They ere represented as having failed to keep their garments unspotted from the world-failed to live circumspectly, carefully enough.

Hence in a great time of trouble in the end of this Age these are represented as washing their robes and making them white in the blood of he Lamb and then coming up brough that tribulation to glory and the same degree of glory and honor as the Church, the Bride. The distinction in their glory is indicated in that instead of being in the Throne they are before it; instead of being the Bride, they will serve; instead of vearing the crown, they will bear clam branches; instead of being the Temple, they will be servants in the Temple.

This same class is referred to by the Apostle in his declaration respect-ing the end of this Age. He intimates that some will have an abun-dant entrance (II. Peter i, 11) into the Kingdom, while others will be "saved so as by fire" (I. Cerinthians iii, 15). The fire of this Day will test every man's work of what sort it is. Some will be proved to be gold, silver. precious stones. These the "fire" will not consume. Others will be proved to be an admixture of hay and stubble, which will be consumed, though themselves will be saved from the fire (I. Corinthians iii, 12, 13). The tribe of Levi pictured the entire "Church of the First-born," but it contained two classes—the "little it contained two classes—the "little flock" of priests and the "great com-pany" of Levites—the Bride class and the servant class, none of whom have any inheritance in the earth, all of whom have the heavenly in-

As Isaac typified our Lord, the Re-deemer, and as Rebecca typified the Bride class, so Rebecca's maidens typified this "great company" class. This same thought is brought to our attention in Psalm xlv, where the Bride class is pictured as being presented to Jehovah in the end of this Age in glory, honor and immortality, Age in glory, honor and immortality, illustrated by raiment of fine needle-work and gold. Following the Brids come "the virgins, her companions, who follow her." These also will be greatly honored, greatly blessed, though theirs will be a less honor. This "great company" will not constitute the Kingdom, although they will be identified with it and its wonsalvation and blessing for mankind. The Great Teacher's declaration that they who break God's commandments and teach others so to do shall be called "least in the Kingdom" has caused considerable perplexity in the past. The question has been, How could anyone be fit at all for the Kingdom who breaks God's commandments and teaches others so to io? The answer is that many of God's people have labored under more of less of blindness and have done things which they ought not to have done and left undone the things which they ought to have done. As an illustration, John Calvin, noble man as he was, burned his Christian brother, Servetus. Such violation of the Divine commands and such wrong teaching must, according to our hu-man judgment, assign Brother Calvin to a lesser place in the Kingdom than if he had more carefully, more earnestly sought the will and Spirit of God. However, it is not for us to judge. We are merely seeking to ascertain the spirit of our Lord's words.

Begotten of the Holy Spirit and privileged of the Lord to be disciples and to be guided of the Holy Spirit, we should be so faithful in the study of the Scriptures as not to be mis-taken in respect to the general ap-plication of their meaning. Wrong practice and false teachings do not always represent disloyalty to God. but they surely do always represent slackness or inattention to the Divine message; though we may be sure of the Lord's faithfulness in enlightening all who are of the proper, teachable spirit.

To what class does John the Baptist belong, and what will be his share in the Kingdom, according to our text?

the call of the Church, and since the Church began at the First Advent of Jesus, it follows that no one was called of God to salvation prior to Jesus' time-none for forty-one hun-dred and fifty years after sin entered the world.

God did, however, recognize the loyalty of heart of His Prophet Enoch and communed with him and blessed him, etc. God also recognized Abreham's faith and spirit of obedi-ence, and Isaac's and Jacob's, and that of Moses and Aaron and numer-ous prophets and other faithful ones less notable.

Did he not call these? We answer that he did not call them to salva-tion, for no salvation could be positively offered until the Redeemer sacrificed; nor were they called to the Kingdom, for the same reason. God did tell them that in due time He would bless all the world. He did tell them that in due time the great Ruler of the world would come forth from Abraham's posterity in the line of Isaac and Jacob and the nation of Israel. But telling them of a coming blessing and giving them ternal life are different matters. St. Paul declares that none of them got everlasting life, and that "by the deeds of the Law no flesh can be justified before God."

Israel's Law Covenant served to instruct the Chosen People. It was a call to do right, and a promise of eternal life if they would keep the Law. "He that doeth these things shall live." Israel learned the lesson that a perfect Law could not be kept by imperfect beings. Some of them and some of the Genilles in due time heard of Jesus and how God has provided justification through His sacrideath.

St. Paul tells us the status of those noble characters, of whom John the Daptist was the last. They were colunteer servants of God, so to speak. Those of them who were born under the Law Covenant, by their faith lived above it and will be fully faith lived above it and will rewarded, although they lived before any specific call or offer of eternal life was made. Their faith and obsdience was pleasing to God; as onedience was pleasing to God; as St. Paul relates, "All these died in faith not having received the things promised (them), God having provided some better thing for us (the Gospel Church), that they without us should not be made perfect" (Hebrews xi, 13, 40).

"The Church of the First born" is to be perfected first, and on the spirit plane, "partakers of the divine nature" (II. Peter i, 4). In due time those Ancient Worthies will come forth from the tomb to receive the blessing which God declares shall be the reward of their loyalty. As the Church will have the "better resur-rection" on the spirit plane, so those Ancient Worthies will have the "better resurrection" on the earthly plane. They will come forth from the tomb actually perfect, while the remainder of mankind will be obligated in the steep of the ste ed to attain perfection by the slow process of faith, works, obedience, during the thousand years of the Kingdom.

Moreover, those Ancient Worthies, while not members of the Kingdom, per se, which will be spiritual, will be members of that Kingdom in its earthly phase. They will be the Kingdom's earthly representatives, princes or rulers, in all the earth, as the Scriptures declare (Psalm xlv, 16). We remember the words of Jesus to this remember the words of Jesus to this effect: "Ye shall see Abraham, Isaac and Jacob and all the Prophets in the Kingdom," but He said not a word about Himselfer His disciples being seen; properly so, because they, as spirit beings, will be invisible to men.

The Scriptures still further intimate that during the thousand years of Messiah's reign, all the faithful of mankind, all the obedient, will be privileged to come into relationship with the King. This is figuratively repre-sented in the statement that the great ones of earth "will bring their glory and honor into the New Jerusalem.

With such glorious hopes before us, with such appreciation of our Heav-enly Father's glorious character and wenderful Plan, with such a grand view of our Saviour's work, with such hope of a share with Him in His Kingdom, what manner of persons ought we to be in holy living and godliness! Nor should it be thought strange that any of the spirit-begotten now, or the restored of the future, who would turn their backs upon the gracious provisions made for their salvation, would be considered un-worthy of further favor or blessing at the hands of God and would die the Second Death—annihilation. As Paul says "they shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the pres-ence of the Lord and the glory of his power" (II. Thessalonians i, 9).
Soon the disciples of the Master will sharers of His glory and Kingdom.

Then will come the time when the world will believe. The knowledege of the Lord will fill the earth and all he brinding and stumbling influences of the present will be at an end. The Saviour will then exercise His power on behalf of the world, overthrowing il and uplifting every good principle and all who love righteousness, and destroying those who would corrupt

DEATH LIST IS 150

Terrible Loss of Life Ocours in New York Fire,

MAJORITY ARE GIRLS

Factory Workers on Eighth, Ninth and Tenth Floors Hurl Themselves From the Windows to Escape the Flames and Are Dashed to Death en the Pavement Below-A Rain of Bodies on Street.

New York, March 27 .- One hundred and fifty persons-nine-tenths of them Jewish and Italian girls from the east side—were crushed to death on the pavements or smothered in smoke shrivelled crisp in a factory fire on Saturday afternoon in the worst disaster New York has known since the steamship General Slocum was burned to the water's edge off North Brother Island in 1904.

One hundred and forty-one bodies had been recovered from the ruins at midnight Saturday, and seven of the fatally injured had died in hospitals. Two more were found yester-

Mothers, fathers and other relatives, Iterally mad with grief, stormed the police lines at the morgue all Saturday night and yesterday shricking, sobbing and in some cases fighting with the officers in their frenzy. Hysterical women fall writhing in the terical women fell writhing in the streets and had to be carried away in the already over-burdened ambu-lances. Among the bodies are more than 50 burned beyond all semblance of human form, and they will perhaps have to share a common grave as unknown dead.

The regular morgue was far too small to accommodate the dead, and the so-called Charities Pier bore the bulk of the charred burden. The bod-ies were ranged in long lines down both sides of the pier, each in a brown stained wooden coffin, such as the city provides for its pauper dead. Nearly all, if not all, the victims were employed by the Triangle Waist Co. on the eighth, ninth and tenth floors of a ten-storey loft building at 23 Washington place, on the western fringe of the downtown wholesale clothing, fur and millinery district. The partners of the firm, Isaac Harris and Max Blanck, escaped unscathed from the office on the tenth floor, carrying with them over an adjoining roof Blanck's two young daughters and a governess. There was only one light outside fire escape on the building. How the fire started will perhaps never be known. A corner on the eighth floor was its point of origin, and the three upper floors only were swept. On the ninth floor 50 bodies were found; 63 or more were crushed to death by jumping, and more than 30 clogged the elevator shafts. loss to property will not exceed Pedestrians going home through Washington place to Washington square at 4.50 were startled by the whiz of something rushing through the air before them; there was a horrible thud on the pavement and a body flattened on the flags. Wayfarers on flattened on the flags. Wayfarers on the opposite side of the street shaded their eyes against the setting sun and sawthe windows of the three upper floors of the building black with girls crowding to the sills. The only fire escape was in a small courtyard of the building.

"Don't jump, don't jump," yelled the crowd. But the girls had no choice. The pressure of the maddened hundreds behind them and the urging of their own fears were too strong.

ing of their own fears were too strong They began to rain on the sidewalk like peas from a hot skillet.

ur alarms were rung in within 15 minutes before the engines could respond, before the nets could be stretched or the ladders raised, five girls had fallen from the eighth and nineth floors so heavily that they broke through the glass and iron roofs of the sub-cellars, and crashed through the very streets into the vaults be-low. In an hour the fire was out; in half an hour it had done its worst;

probably the death list was full in twenty minutes.

The building stands on a corner with exposure on two sides, but the only fire escape was interior, opening on a light and air shaft. In all there were seven exits—the single fire escape, two freight elevators in front, and two passenger elevators in front, and two stairways. All of them proved almost useless, and practically all who escaped either climbed to the roof and scrambled thence to the roof of the adjoining building or fled in the first rush for safety before the crush and the smoke got too thick. The building stands to-day with shell intact and barely scarred, rather snell intact and barely scarred, rather only smudged; the partitions of architectural tiling between floor and floor are sound, and it is impossible for one who did not see it to imagine how the flames in so short space could have wrought such havoc. Seven hundred hands, 500 of them women, were employed by the shirt waist company. They sat in rows at their whirring machines, the tables of most piled with flimsy cloth, the floors littered with lint, the air itself full of flying inflammable dust. The first rush of flame was almost an explosion. Operators died in their chairs, their lungs seared by inhaling flame. Others were crowded into the elevator shafts after the cars had made their last trip. Still others were pushed off the inadequate fire escape.

In such a horrible stream did the In such a norrote stream did the bodies overflow from the windows that the fire nets, stretched by the first companies to arrive, were soon forged beyond capacity. Twelve bodies weighted one net to the bursting point, but the bodies kept on raining to the pavement, through meshes that could no longer support them.

no longer support them. When the first breath of flame curled over the edge of a pile of shirting on the eighth floor, five minutes before quitting time, hundreds were in line before the cashier's window. In the office buildings across Washington place scores of men detained beyond office hours, worked at their desks. One of them saw a girl rush to a window and throw up the sash. Behind her danced a seething curtain of yel-low flame. She climbed to the sill, her danced a seething curtain of yellow flame. She climbed to the sill, stood in black outline against the light, hesitating, then, with a last touch of futile thrift, slipped her chatelaine bag over her wrist and jumped. Her body went whirling downward through the oven wire glass of a canopy to the flagging below. Her sisters who followed flamed through the air like dockets. Their path could be followed, but hardly heard. It was so feet from the eighth floor to the 85 feet from the eighth floor to the ground, about 95 feet from the ninth floor, 115 feet from the cornice of the roof and upward rush of heat and the crackle of the flames drowned their

A thirteen-year-old girl hung for three minutes by her finger tips to the sill of a tenth floor window. A tongue of flame licked at her fingers and she dropped into a lifenet. Two women fell into the net at almost the same moment. The strands parted and two were added to the death list. A girl threw her pocketbook, then her hat, then her furs from a tenth floor window. A moment later her body came whirling after them to death. At a nineth floor window a man and a a mineta noor window a man and a women appeared. The man embraced the woman and kissed her. Then he hurled her to the street and jumped. Both were killed. Five girls smashed a pane of glass, dropped in a struggling tangle and were crushed into a shapeless mass.

A girl on the eighth floor leaped for a fireman's ladder, which reached only to the sixth floor. She missed, struck the edge of a lifenet and was picked up with her back broken. From one window a girl of about 13 years, a woman, a man and two women with their arms about one another threw themselves to the ground in rapid succession. The little girl was whirled to the hospital in an automo-bile. She screamed as the driver and a policeman lifted her into the hall-way. A surgean came out, took one look at her face and touched his hand to her wrist. "She is dead," he said.

One girl jumped into a horse blan-ket held by firemen and policemen. The blanket ripped like cheese cloth, and her body was mangled almost beyond recognition. Another dropped beyond recognition. Another dropped into a tarpaulin, held by three men. Her weight tore it from their grasp and she struck the street, breaking almost every bone in her body. Almost at the same moment a man some saulted down upon the shoulder of a policeman holding the tarpaulin. He glanced off, struck the sidewalk and was picked up dead.

URGES RECIPROCITY

Minister of Finance Faces a Divided Audience at Great Mass Meeting, and by Sheer Force of Argument He Converts Them to His Proposals - Many Question Are Propounded and Answered.

Montreal, March 27 .- Not since the present discussion of the tariff agreement commenced has there been such an able presentation of the facts of the case as were given by Hon. Mr. Fielding, Hon. Mr. Fisher and Mr. Ralph Smith, M.P., on Saturday night at Windsor Hall. The place was packed to suffocation, while thousands outside were unable to secure an entrance.

The meeting was a striking tribute to Mr. Fielding and his associates, as well as to the cause they represent-

He faced an audience largely hos-tile, but by the sheer force of his convincing logic and irrefutable ar-guments he changed them into a cheering, converted crowd. Although questioned by scores of his hearers he was "always ready to give a rea-son for the faith in him" and in the end won out.

Mr. Fielding was given a warm re-ception. He opened by replying to Mr. Thomas C. Casgrain's attack on him at Mr. Sifton's meeting. Mr. Casgrain, he said, made statements which were without a shadow of foundation when he declared that Mr. Fielding, Finance Minister, was an advocate of annexation to the United States.

"If he had known the Province of Nova Scotia better he would have known that no man under the suspi-cion of disloyalty could ever have been permitted to occupy a position of prominence in that province. Nova Scotia is loyal and always was loyal. Even under strong provocation she never forgot that constitutional agitation is the proper course for people who have a complaint. She was loyal when many in Canada were disloyal. (Cries of "No.") She was loyal when young patriots were burning down the Parliamentary buildings - she was loyal when the Tories in Montreal wers signing the only annexation manifesto that was ever signed. Nova cotia was loyal when the Tories of Montreal were pelting the King with rotten eggs.

"I challenge any man to show that I have ever spoken or written any word in favor of the annexation of this country with the United States. It is a pure fabrication, without the host of a shade of foundation." Montreal's interest was to preserve its prosperity as the commercial capital of a prosperous and contented peo-ple, and if the effect of this measure would be to fill the western prairies with a prosperous and contented people, that would be the surest way of supplying customers for the merchants and manufacturers of Montreal. Then there has been some outery amongst the British Columbia fruit growers, but he believed that was passing away. The lumber men were alarmed, but their alarm has passed away. Mr. Fielding declared that Saskatche-wan was almost unanimous for reciprocity, as was shown when Mr. Haultain, the Opposition leader in the Legislature, joined in the resolution of approval. "You have had antireciprocity resolutions from the On-tario Legislature, but that's not sur-prising. They would almost vote there for a resolution to hang Laurier.

"Then in Manitoba, where political feeling ran high he believed that a great mass of the farmers were in fav-

A voice: "Why don't you give them a chance to vote?"
Hon. Mr. Fielding: "Oh, they will get that chance a great deal sooner than they want it." (Loud cheers.) than they want it." (Loud cheers.)
One of the first cries against reciprocity was that the Government had no mandate for doing this thing. Those who had been in politics for long were used to that sort of thing. Mr. Fielding quoted Sir William Van Horne's letter, that for fifty years there had been a mandate from the Canadian people in favor of reciprocity. Sir William said this was true in the sixties and seventies, but it had not been true since.

The statement was greeted with

The statement was greeted with cheers from some of the audience.
"I am glad," cried Mr. Fielding, "that there are some to cheer that statement, because I will hold them responsible for the words."

In face of Sir William's statement that it 1980 are available and residence of the statement of t that in 1880 no one advocated reci-procity, Mr. Fielding read a para-graph from the statutes of Canada with a standing offer of reciprocity in various natural products. This was ten years after Sir William Van Horne said the mandate had ceased. In 1886, the statutes were revised and this standing reciprocity offer wass crystal-lized into pre-eminent law — yet Sir William said no one wanted recipro-

Professor of English literature for years in the University of Ottawa, the founder of a successful rural high school, and an orator of provincial reputa-tion, the Rev. Gentleman can be ject. In addition to the lecture there will be an interesting program in which the clever impersonator, Mr. George Lynch, of Peterboro, will be assisted by local talent. Admission 25 cents. School pupils 15 cents.

DEATH OF MRS. MATTHEWS .- The death of Mrs. Matthews took place at Lakeport after a long illness. Mrs. Matthews had been a sufferer for years from anaemia, which during the past few months assumed a more aggravated form. She was very tenderly waited upon during her last days on earth by anxious relatives and everything possible was done to assuage her trouble. Her great desire, as expressed by her, was to live to see her son, Mr. H. I. Matthews, jr., acquitted of the serious charge which hangs over him, but release from suffering came to her before the trial came off. The prisoner was not taken down for his mother's funeral.
