William Douglas Refused to Cut the Wood and Was Arrested.

HE WAS ALLOWED TO GO.

William Douglas was in the Police Court this morning charged with causing a disturbance at the Town Hall. He pleaded guilty.

Douglas went to the Town Hall last night for lodgings and was placed in the cell by Constable Chesher. He was told to clean out the stove and empty the ashes and bring up some more coal. He did this, and then Mr. Chesher told him he wanted some wood cut in the morning. Douglas objected to this and became abusive. He started out of the cell and Constable Chesher told him to go elsewhere for his lodgings. On the steps leading from the hall be attempted to strike the officer and was placed

Douglas told the court this morning that he thought he had done sufficient work for a night's lodging without cutting wood. He was on his way to Millbrook, where he was to work on a farm for John Leith. The prisoner was an old gray haired man about 75 years of age, and when asked by the Magistrate how he intended to reach Millbrook he be the same as played in Galt. replied that he would walk it. H. H. Burnham, chairman; D. I. McLennan, Mayor Mulholiand, Dr. Powers, H. T. Bush, J. H. Rosevear and Reeve Long.

The Secretary, Mr. James Evans, had returned from his extended holiday and occupied his place at the table.

A communication was received from Mr. Chapman, secretary of the Internation Tool Steel Co., Ltd., , advising the Board that the contract for the erection of the building at Port Hope had been awarded to the MacGregor McIntrye Co. of Toronto, and expected that it would be completed by April 15th, and by that time they expect to have the turnaces, etc., ready for immediate nstallation. Just as soon as navigation opened they intended bringing up a boat load of ore and they wished to impress upon the Board that they would require to be assured a minimum of 14 teet at the dock. They also wished to point out that the boat would require to unload inside the harbour. They asked the Board to take the necessary steps to insure this depth of water.

Moved by Dr. Powers, seconded by Mayor Mulholland, that the Secretary be instructed to inform the International Tool Steel Co. that the Harbour Commissioners fully appreciate the importance of the communication and will do all possible with the Government to have the deepening they suggest attended to at the earliest possible date. Moved by Mayor Mulholland, seconded by Mr. D.J. McLennan, that Dr. Powers and Reeve Long be a committee to go to Ottawa to wait upon the Minister of Public Works with a view of receiving a grant to improve the harbour, by dredging, excavating rock and renewing the piers with cement blocks where necessary. Carried.

At the last meeting of the Board the Executive Committee was requested to take into consideration the best means of increasing the efficiency of the management of the Harbor with a view of increasing the receipts therefrom and also to consider the advisability of asking for applications for the position of Harbour Master, said committee to report at the March meeting. Monday this committee brought in a report recommending the following action.

That owing to the greatly reduced revenue of our harbour during the past few years, we would recommend a reduction of the Harbour Master's salary, and that the Board appoint a Secretary-Treasurer independently of the Harbor Railways, Rochester lines, has es-Master, whose duty it would be to attend all meetings, record all minutes, collect all rents and obtain a weekly statement of all harbour tolls and monies from all sources collected by the Harbour Master and account the same monthly to

Street Car Company Adds Complaint Department

Public Is Invited to Register All Manner of Complaints With Mr. F. F. James

With the maturing of plans which have been under consideration for some time, the New York State tablished an entirely new department to be known as the complaint department. As the name indicates the new division in the general organization of the company is to have charge of complaints of patrons which may arise from an almost endless number of causes, some trivial some serious.

A TROUBLESOME MISGIVING

'She evidently thinks of me too much as a schoolboy.'

And he began to pace the room. Mrs. Peak sat still, with an air of anxious brooding.

'You don't think she will refuse Godwin?' fell from her presently.

His hand closed on the letter. 'Why? Well, in that case I should go to London and find some occupation as soon as possible. You could still let me have the same money as before?'

'Yes.' It was said absently, and did not satisfy Godwin. In the course of the conversation it appeared that Mrs. Peak had that morning been to see the legal friend who looked after her small concerns, and though she would not admit that she had any special cause for uneasiness, her son recalled similar occasions when an interview with Mr. Dutch had been followed by several days' gloom. The truth was that Mrs. Peak could not live strictly with the income at her disposal, and on being from time to time reminded of this, she was oppressed by passing worry. If Godwin and Oliver 'got on well,' things would come all right in the end, but in the meantime she could not face additional expenditure. Godwin did not like to be reminded of the razor's edge And if the usher at the back on which the affairs of the house-

Godwin's letter posted. Was he at liberty to indulge the self-respect which urged him to write? In a moment of heated confidence it was all very well to talk of 'getting some occupation' in London, but he knew that this might prove no easy matter. A year's work at the School of Mines would decidedly facilitate his endeavour; and, seeing that his mother's peace depended upon his being speedily self supporting, was it not a form of selfishness to reject help from one who could well afford it? From a distance, he regarded Lady Whitelaw with more charity; a longer talk with her might have led to better mutual apprehension. And after all, it was not she, but her husband to whom he would stand indebted. Sir Job was a very kind hearted old fellow; he had meant thoroughly well. Why, clearly, the bestower of this third year's allowance would not be Lady Whitelaw at all.

one of the acquainted that it was impossible to seek his advice with regard to Lodgings; the lodgings must be of a character far too modest to come within Mr. Moxey's sphere of observation. Other acquaintance he had none in the capital, so it was clear that he must enter boldly upon the unknown world, and find a home for himself as best he might. Mrs. Peak could offer suggestions as to likely localities, and this was of course useful help. In the meantime (for it would be waste of money to go up till near the end of the holiday season) he made schemes of study and completed his information concerning the School of Mines. So far from lamenting the interruption of his promising career at Whitelaw, he persuaded himself that Uncle Andrew had in truth done him a very good turn : now at length he was fixed in the right course. The only thing he regretted was losing sight of his two or three student-friends, especially Earwaker and Buckland Warricombe.

LINER SHENANDOAH'S TRIP

She Reports a Perilous Journey Through Jam Off Newfoundland-Gulf of St. Lawrence Blocked With ice That Will Hold the Schooner Until the Middle of April-Lots of Fish to Eat

Curling, Nfld., March 7 .- A fishing schooner, now thought to have been the missing Gloucester schooner Ella M. Goodwin, was sighted in the ice off Bay of Islands several days ago, after the Gloucester fishing fleet sailed for home on Jan. 21 last. At that time the icebound craft was believed to be either the Aloha or the Bohemia, but as both of these vessels have reached port and the Goodwin is the only missing craft, the vessel is now believed by Newfoundland fishermen to have been the Goodwin. The ice in which the vessel was imprisoned was taken off shore on the night of Feb. 6, before a strong southeast breeze.

The Gulf of St. Lawrence is blocked with the heaviest kind of ice, and if the Goodwin is in its grip, she will probably not be free before the middle of April. There are plenty of provisions on board and the cargo of fresh herring will afford the crew a constant -if somewhat tedious-food supply.

The schooner is commanded by Capt. James D. Goodwin, a native of Pubnico, and the first mate is Capt. Louis Devine, a native of Barrington, N.S. The others on board when she left Gloucester, Nov. 16, were: John L. Nicholson, cook, a native of Pubnico; Thomas Prior of Bremen, Me.; Albert Blair, Lunenburg, N.S.; Oscar Larkin, Pubnico; Nat Quinlan, Cape Island, N.S.; Alexander Tarr, Liverpool, N.S.; Joseph Brer and Jos.  Steamer's Hard Voyage. Halifax, March 7 .- The steamship Shenandoah arrived Sunday from London via St. John's, Nfld., after encountering one of the greatest fields of ice that ever floated on the Atlantic. The Shenandoah left London on Thursday. Feb. 16. Heavy northwest and westerly gales prevailed until she arrived at 'St. John's. On Monday, Feb. 27, when 260 miles east of Newfoundland, the ship plowed into a tremendous field of ice, in which were eight huge bergs, so perilous was her position that it was necessary to lay o all night.

Proceeding on her journey next morning, little progress was made, as she was compelled to completely alter Ler course to avoid the ice. It was impossible, however, to escape it all and she plowed through many miles of it. So far as the eye could reach nothing but ice could be seen. Anchors were lowered and she remained outside St. John's all night. The Shenandoah sailed from St. John's on Sunday morning and encountered ice most of the way to

Prices for veal calves were unchanged, at $2.50 to $8.50 per cwt. Slieep and Lambs. Wesley Dunn, who handled the bulk, as Thick, fat hogs, over 230 lbs., 50c per cwt. ess than the above quotations. Montreal Live Stock.

MONTRFAL, March 6.-At the Mont-real Stock Yards, West End Market, the ruceipts of live stock for the week ending March 4 were 1500 cattle, 200 sheep and fambs, 1300 hogs and 900 calves. The offerings on the market this morning amounted to % cattle. 100 sheep and lambs. 75 hogs and E0 calves.

A firm feeling prevailed in the market for cattle on account of the smaller supplies, and prices show no change as compared with that of last Wednesday. There was a fairly good attendance of buyers, including some from Quebec and Ottawa, but the demand was somewhat limited from local butchers, owing to the Lenten season being now on, which to some extent tends to curtail the consumption of beef and in consequence the trade was rather slow. The demand from Quebec buyers was principally for bulls and heavy cows and Ottawa took a couple of car loads of steers. The indications are that, if receipts are larger this day next week, prices will ease off some. Choice steers sold at 64c, good at 64c, fairly good at 54c to 6c, fair at 54c to 54c and the lower grades at 84c to 5c per pourd. Good to choice cows brought from 5c to 54c, and the commoner ones from that down to 14c, while bulls sold at from 4c to 51/2c per lb.

Altho the supply of hogs was much smaller than it has been of late, a weaker feeling developed in the market and prices declined 16c per cwt. At this reduction the demand was good from packers and a fairly active trade was done with sales of selected lots at $7.40 to $7.50 per cwt., weighed off cars. The market for small meats was quiet with no change in prices to note. Owing to the continued cold weather the re-ceipts of calves continue light and in consequence prices rule high with sales of good to choice stock at $12 to $15 each and the lower grades at from 34 to $10 each. A few spring lambs are coming forward, which are selling at from $9 to 312 each, as to size. Yearling lambs rule steady, at 64c to 64c and old sheep, at the to se per Ib.

P. E. Blondin Makes Serious Allegations in Commons.

LANCTOT SAYS HE PAID

In Remarkable Scene In Commons Member for Champlain Makes Statements That May Cost Him His Seat-Mr. Borden Will Move Six Months Hoist For Reciprocity Measure on Wednesday Next.

Ottawa, March 7 .- P. E. Blondin (Conservative, Champlain), upon his responsibility as a member of Parliament, made a direct charge in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon upon Adelard Lanctot (Liberal, Richelieu). Mr. Lanctot was building a house in Sorel last year. He was called out of town before the decorations were completed; he had painters from the Government shipyard at Sorel finish the work with material supplied by the Marine Department. In the formal charge which he read Mr. Blondin alleges "irregularities. abuses, frauds, malversations and robberies" had been committed. He said that goods had been "illegally and fraudulently" taken and conveyed to Mr. Lanctot's house; that workmen employed at the shipyard had, at the Government's expense, and during Government time, worked on the house of Mr. Lanctot; that the value of the material and time so taken would amount to $1,000 or $1,200.

The House was still, scarcely half the members were in their places when Mr. Blondin arose on a question of privilege to make his charge. There were a half dozen spectators in the gallery, and the attention paid to Blondin was apparently so indifferent that one would hardly have thought that he was making a serious accusation against a fellow member, which, if not substantiated would cost him

M: Blondin read his charge in English. He supported it by a number of affidavits by workmen, including the foreman, in French, and ended by asking that the matter be referred to the committees on privileges and elections. He made no comment

Mr. Blondin also read affidavits alleging widespread demoralization at the Sorel shipyard. These affidavits charge that work was done at Government expense on the house of a man named Lavelee, that a man named Masse sold cement from the Government stores to several persons, that two carloads of timber were sent from the shipyard to the house of a foreman named Lindsay, that during the last two years about $50,000 loss to the Government has been sustained at the shipyard. There are a great many charges of general corruption, and it is stated that there are some the charges made by Mr. Blondin.

Mr. Lanctot listened attentively. His examination of the circumstances was equally brief as was that of his accuser. It was received with the same measure of silence that was tendered to Mr. Blondin. He had no objection to the charges going before the committee on privileges and elections. He courted a full investigation. He admitted building a house in Sore! in June last. Before it was completed he had been called away to attend his wife, who was lying ill at Saranac Lake. He did not have time to bring painters from any outside place to Sorel, and none could be had in the town except at the Marine Department shops, and the shops of the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Co. He went to an official of the Marine Department shops and asked him to send a few painters to finish the work when he could spare them, the men went up at various times between July and November. He also asked that an accurate account be kept of the time of the men. The paint, varnish and other materials used were replaced in both quantity and quality.

The men used to go and report at the shop, register their time and go to Mr. Lanctot's house. On several occasions he had asked for his account, but had been told it would be more convenient to send one bill for the whole amount when the work was

When Mr. Lanctot concluded his explanation, he quietly left the chamber, and the motion was adopted without further discussion. Mr. Lanctot stated that he had paid in full the account rendered to him by the Marine Department, although no specific sum was mentioned. Richard Blain of Peel read in the House of Commons yesterday an Ottawa despatch from a paper which alleged that there was an abuse of patronage in the selection of the officers for the Canadian coronation contingers. That the selection of the officers had been placed in the hands of the local patronage committee, and that instead of a fine body of men the friends of the Government would be represented.

Sir Frederick Borden replied that the selection of the men was entirely in the hands of the officers commanding the respective corps from which they were to be taken. The headquarters' staff and the Minister had nothing whatever to do with it. No officers would be allowed to serve in a junior rank unless he was within the age limit of that rank, and no officers would be allowed to go as subalterns or privates. Some regiments had met and passed resolutions. One Ottawa regiment had selected its officers, if an officer was to go from that regiment. Forty-eight officers would be chosen, thirty-six from the militia and the others from the permanent force. He described the despatch as a "tissue of falsehoods." The contingent would be 700

Toronto, March 7 .- That James J. Henderson of 2 Bishop street walked around for a day with a fractured skull, was disclosed in Coroner W. A. Young's inquest in the General Hospital yesterday. On Friday he was up and about and even came down town. Saturday morning he was taken with convulsions and was removed to the hospital. Evidence was taken yesterday from the superintendent, house surgeon, the surgeon who operated upon the man's head and Dr. Mabee, who conducted the post-mortem. Bill in Legislature to Regulate Fire Insurance Documents.

MUST PAY FOR LIGHTNING

Damage Caused Thereby Is to Be Treated as a Fire Loss Whther Conflagration Follows or Not, According to Bill Introduced by Col. Hugh Clark of Centre Bruce-Mr. McEwing Criticizes It.

Toronto, March 7.-The sitting for a Monday afternoon at the Legislature was one of good progress, with a number of measures. The most interesting to the general public was probably the first reading of Col. Hugh Clark's bill to reform the Ontario Fire Insurance Companies' Act.

The member for Centre Bruce showed that while some companies' policies were clear and concise and confined to the conditions specified in the general act, there were others so complicated and varied that a high court might find them difficult to understand. One company put 23 conditions from the Ontario statutes in its policies and 25 variations! The variations were not valid in law unless approved by a judicial tribunal, but they were used to exact unsatisfactory settlements. There had been many victims by such trick policies. They were also used to delay judgments, and payments were held up in some cases until heavy commissions were paid, running up to as high as 20 per

The bill provides that damage by lightning must be treated as a fire loss whether followed by actual fire or not, and that payments must be made within ten days after proof of loss. To protect the companies against fraud the bill limits the extra insurance in another company without the assent of the first company insured to 75 per cent. of the value. The clause prohibits companies is-suing insurance in excess of their asets without the consent of the Lieuenant-Governor-in-council. J. McEwing, Wellington West (Con.), criticized the bill. He declared that the complaints should be directed against the old line stock companies and not against the mutuals. G. Pattinson, South Waterloo (Con.), also put in a plea for the insurance companies. All the parties interested should have a hearing before

Hon. J. J. Foy complimented the member for Centre Bruce on the abilty shown in the preparation of the bill and its presentation. It would he said, be of valuable assistance to the commission of judges who were revising the statutes. The bill was referred to the special committee: Hon. J. J. Foy, Hon, I. B. Lucas, Messrs. Hugh Clark, R. R. Gamey, G. Pattinson, J. H. Fisher, W. H. Hearst, C. M. Bowman, T. R. Mayberry and J. McEwing. R. R. Gamey moved for a return of copies of the correspondence between Ontario and the Dominion Governments respecting fish hatcheries,

Hon. Dr. Resume in complying with the motion, said that the Ontario Government was awaiting the announcement by the Dominion Government of the international regulations. When they were announced, the Ontario Government will be in a position to see what action to take. The efforts so far to stock the northern lakes with ish from Labe Erie hatcheries had raved rather discouraging. If howver, the Dominion Government did not take up the question more generusly than they had done, the Onario Government would have to deal with it. As to brook trout, the Onme Government had aided the efforts i private parties by granting bonuses. The bill respecting the licensing of indertakers and embalmers, introducd by W. H. Hearst, Sault Ste. Marie, vas given its second reading and reerred to committee.
