LOCAL BRANCH MET WEDNESDAY

Port Hope Branch of Fruit and Vegetable Growers Addressed by Geo. Rush

George Rush of the Department of Agriculture, Toronto, was the special speaker at the monthly meeting of the Port Hope Branch of the Ontario Fruit and Vegetable Growers' held in the Department of Agriculture, Wednesday night. Mr. Rush delivered a very instructive address and the members of the association derived much benefit therefrom.

The speaker took as his Subject, "Organization, Tariff and Canning Factory Contracts," and outlined the work of the organization. During the past few weeks he had organized four branches and last evening marked his official visit to the local organization.

In discussing the tariff, Mr. Rush mentioned the fact that the central organization was disappointed that the budget had not given them a reasonable tariff on vegetables and fruit being imported from the United States and hoped that when the budget reached the committee stage that changes would be made.

The speaker outlined the changes of the contract form with the Canadian Cannery for 1929, regarding time payment and the payment of crops as advanced from 1st Sept. to 15th Sept. for peas and Nov. 15 for tomatoes. He stated that delivery of seventy five bushels a week could be made instead of fifty bushels to the acre.

WIRELESS CHIEF DIES AT PORT

Wm. G. Earl Was Born in Darlington Township Near Bowmanville

A pathetic story of death in the outposts of civilization overtaking one of Ontario's younger generation is revealed in the announcement of the death of Belle Isle, Labrador, on Monday, Feb. 27, of William George Earl.

Earl was the officer in charge of the government wireless station at that point and while returning to the station from the northwest lighthouse on Monday last week in company with the assistant lighthouse keeper, was stricken with heart failure and passed away in a very short time.

The late William George Earl was in his 28th year and was born in Darlington county, near Bowmanville.

When only two years of age his parents moved to Toronto and the boy had practically made his home in Toronto until his work with the dominion government took him to distant points on the earth. For the past seven years he has been employed by the dominion government in wireless work, partly as wireless operator on government vessels on the ocean, with a trip to the Arctic circle on the 1923 polar expedition of "The Arctic," under the leadership of Capt. Bernier. He was sent to Belle Isle, Labrador, last July.

Earl was a single man and is survived by his father and three sisters, Mr. William J. Earl, retired, of Unionville; Mrs. H. Earl of Detroit, Mrs. J. W. Perkin, Unionville, and Mrs. Beacock of Unionville.

A PORT HOPE LESSON

There is a lesson to be learned from the fire which destroyed the greater part of Trinity College School at Port Hope on Saturday.

The fact that the water pressure failed was responsible for the greater part of the loss, for there does not seem to be any doubt that the fire could have been kept out of the main school had not the fire fighters been rendered helpless by reason of not having sufficient pressure available.

Thus a blaze that might have been confined to the loss of the building in which it started grew into major proportions because an essential part of the defense crumbled in the emergency.

It does not pay to take chances in this matter of fire protection.

A fire department is only as strong as its weakest link, and there is a deficiency anywhere in the water supply or in equipment or in numerical strength, there may come a day when all the money that has been saved in supposedly economizing in these respects will seem small in comparison with the loss entailed by a fire that became a big one simply because there is a weak spot in the protective system somewhere.

Inadequate water pressure cost Port Hope one of the country's finest schools; other municipalities should check over their defense against fire and make sure that there is not a deficiency somewhere that may spell disaster.—Peterboro Examiner.

BUSINESS MEN APPRECIATE "THE NATIONAL" SERVICE TO THE WEST

A quick trip to Winnipeg, combined with every comfort and convenience that modern railroading provides, makes the "National" a popular train for business men.

SPECIAL MEETING OF TOWN COUNCIL

C. N. Railway Officials Confer With Council Regarding Paving Near Station

Representatives of the Canadian National Railways conferred with the members of the Municipal Council of Port Hope in the Clerk's office Wednesday evening to discuss the paving situation near the Canadian National Depot. Those present from the Council included Mayor R. J. Edmunds, Reeve L. H. Giddy, Deputy Reeve Fred Rosevear and Councillors Jas. Sinnott, H. Merrifield, H. W. Mitchell, J. A. R. Elliott, and S. Brickell. Those representing the Canadian National Railways were D. McMillan, Superintendent of Belleville, Engineer Logie and others.

The purpose of the meeting Wednesday night was to make arrangements between the Canadian National authorities and the town regarding the proposed paving from John st. to the station.

The officials expressed their desire to work in conjunction with the town and have matters arranged satisfactorily. They agreed to continue from the point where the town leaves off and to pave their property surrounding the station.

Following the preliminary work of obtaining an understanding between the town and the railway, other details will be worked out later. The town will pave from John Street to the intersection at Smith Street and the Railway will be required to pay their frontage tax on this section as they own property on each side of the track. The roadway from Smith st. to the station belongs to the company and they will assume the entire cost for this section.

The railway officials will voice their satisfaction to any work done by the town and will work harmoniously and in conjunction with them. The town will lay their section of the pavement and the railway will then follow with the same kind, be it hot top mixture, amiesite or any other type.

The section from John Street to the station has been in bad shape for years and the announcement of the proposed paving will be a relief to motorists and those who use this district. It is expected the work will be done this summer.

ASSOCIATION MAKES MERRY

Port Hope Old Boys and Girls Plan Reunion For April 12th

A most enjoyable evening was spent by the Port Hope Old Boys and Girls' Association in the Royal Templar's Hall (corner of Queen and Dovercourt Road), at Toronto recently. Preceding the social time, a short business meeting was held with the President, Mr. F. Moore, in the chair.

Letters of thanks which had been received from the sick members, were read by the secretary. The Association had also received letters of gratitude for flowers which had been sent to deceased members. Arrangements were made to hold a Reunion for the Port Hope Old Boys and Girls at the Prince George Hotel, at which bridge and euchre will be in play and dancing will be enjoyed. The subscription fee will be $2.50 per couple. Lunch will be served.

After the meeting twenty tables of euchre were played. Mrs. Doyle captured the first prize and the second, third, and fourth prizes went to Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. Slater, and Mrs. J. Myers respectively. Mrs. Dingle and Mr. Hamm received the consolation prizes.

RAILWAY EARNINGS

The gross earnings of the Canadian National Railways for the period 909,152 compared with $4,367,581, ended February 29, 1928 were $5- for the same period of 1927, an increase of $1,541,634 or thirty-five per cent.

GREAT CLIMBING FIELD

HEARD ON THE STREET

Better and better every day.

The bright sunshine and the running water from the melting snow gives promise of nicer weather in store for us just around the corner. April showers, which bring forth May flowers, are only about twenty days off.

Today the Weekly Guide was published with twelve pages containing a complete story and pictures of the T.C.S. fire. We have a limited number. Get some now to send to friends. Don't wait until they are all gone.

Miss Veneta Hales, pupil of Mr. G. D. Atkinson, Toronto, was successful in the Viva Voce examinations which were held in Peterboro recently in the Conservatory of Music. We are sure Miss Hales' wide circle of friends will be delighted to know of her success and the Guide extends congratulations.

Spring cannot be very far away when crows make their appearance. A number of the feathered tribe were sighted on the outskirts of the town today and their lusty cawing could be heard for quite a distance.

Members of the Port Hope Fire Brigade gathered at the Fire Hall Wednesday evening and a very enjoyable social time was spent. Three tables of progressive euchre were played and refreshments were served at the close.

Driving an automobile on the Kingston Road, which crashed into a bus, injuring Joseph Winnicott and Francis Thompson, resulted in Frank Howley, Oshawa, appearing in Toronto Court, charged with criminal negligence. Paul Hinds, on behalf of the accused, entered a plea of not guilty. Howley being remanded until March 27 on bail of $1500.

Tomorrow night the choir concert at the United church will be the big thing of the evening.

The Rebecas entertained a number of friends at a euchre in the I.O.O.F. Hall last night. An excellent evening was enjoyed by all.

Good cows are selling in this district from $75 to $100, two year olds bringing from $50 to $65. Horses sell from $125 to $200 each. All stock prices are comparatively high.

One of the season's biggest and jolliest crowds enjoyed the Band Skating Party last night at the covered rink. The ice was good considering outside atmospheric conditions. The party was a big success but the extent of the financial remuneration will not be known until Saturday. The rink management kindly contributed the rink to the Band to use. The public encouragement will do much to make a bigger and better band.

Beginning Tuesday a series of meetings are being held this week in Durham County, in the interests of the better seed campaign, and are conducted under the auspices of the Department of Agriculture. On Tuesday a meeting was held in the Millbrook Council Chamber. Wednesday the Town Hall at Orono was the centre. On Thursday and Friday meetings will be held at Port Hope and Bowmanville. J. Y. Kellogg, Agricultural Representative for Durham County, is in charge.

The Iroquois Club are having a "hard time" party tonight. With a program of novelty dances and so forth, the members won't find it too hard to have a good time.

The death occurred Wednesday morning in Toronto of Lieut.-Col. Thomas H. Plummer, eldest son of J. H. Plummer, at the home of his father. Lt. Col. Plummer has been ill for the past year. Lieut.-Col. Thomas H. Plummer, D.S.O., late Royal Garrison Artillery, was the eldest son of J. H. Plummer, Sylvan Tower, Rosedale. He was born in Brantford Ontario, 1873. SANITARY WIN HOCKEY GAME

Defeat Nicholson File 8 to 5 in a Hard Fought Game on Wednesday

In what was considered one of the most interesting games of the season the Port Hope Sanitary defeated the Nicholson File by a score of 8 to 5.

Many old timers took part and the game, although keenly contested, was remarkably clean throughout.

For the Sanitary Jex, Harwood, Highfield and Boyd played good hockey while Tweed, Wakely and Wallace played equally as well for the losers.

The teams lined up as follows: Port Hope Sanitary—Goal Phillip; defence Jex and Thompson; centre Highfield; wings Boyd and Harwood; subs Brown and Welsh.

Nicholson File—Goal Brockenhsire; defence Wakeley and Devine; centre Tweed; wings Wallace and Cancilla; sub Trawin.

BEAN SUPPER FOR JUNIOR CHOIR

Mr. W. T. Stanley Presented With Umbrella As A Mark Of Appreciation

Last evening there was a bean supper in the United church for the junior choir, who so ably put on the Japanese Operetta, "Princess Chrysanthemum," last week under Mr. T. W. Stanley's direction.

After the young ladies and gentlemen had partaken of an excellent repast, Mr. Stanley was presented with an umbrella, with a silver mounted handle, upon which his name was beautifully engraved. Mr. Gordon Garnett and Miss Dorothy Yelland told him how the young people appreciated Mr. Stanley's guidance and help in musical affairs and Miss Lynda Warren, who played the "Princess" made the presentation.

Mr. Stanley thanked the junior choir in suitable words for their kind words of appreciation.

RADIO OUT OF BUSINESS

The public is pretty well aware that Gooderham and Worts Distilleries, Toronto, while debarred under the Ontario Government regulations from advertising, have erected a high class broadcasting station at Bowmanville. It was formally opened a few days ago with a great fanfare from the Toronto press. That the station is the best that money can buy, there is no doubt.

But if it is allowed to continue operating in the manner so far exemplified, then all radio connection with any other broadcasting station is out of the question whenever Gooderham and Worts "is on the air." Local fans declare that this station over shadows all other broadcasting stations on their receivers. No more Buffalo, Chicago, New York, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, or Philadelphia.

Of course the authorities must take this matter in hand at once. No company can be tolerated as exercising a monopoly of the air in this manner.

Gooderham and Worts whisky may be good or otherwise, but some people don't want it at any price—Gooderham and Worts broadcasting apparatus may be very good but even radio fans soon get overfed with one station, when they have been accustomed to hook-up with the leading cities in Canada and the United States.

The radio citizens of this town have reported to the Guide that Gooderham and Worts practically take up nearly their entire tuning-in dial, to the exclusion of all the great broadcasting stations on the continent. This is a station that demands an immediate remedy. The Government should lose no time in a thorough investigation. Too much Gooderham and Worts whisky is not good for the general community. We do not know positively, but are inclined to the view that too much Gooderham and Worts radio is equally objectionable.

Miss W. Pomfret has a home on Baldwin street to Greave.

THE GUIDE STORY

He had his hat on. His long hair flowed down under it over the collar of his coat; his bright black eyes, after resting on my mistress turned to Mr. Meeke. His heavy eyebrows met together, and one of his hands went up to one of his bushy whiskers, and pulled at it angrily.

"You here again!" he said, advancing a few steps towards the little parson, who sat trembling all over, with his fiddle hugged up in his arms as if it had been a child.

Seeing her villainous husband approaching, my mistress moved too, so as to face him. He turned round on her at the first step she took, as quick as lightning.

"You shameless woman!" he said, "Can you look me in the face in the presence of that man?" He pointed, as he spoke, to Mr. Meeke.

My mistress never shrank when he turned upon her. Not a sign of fear was in her face when they confronted each other. Not the faintest flush of anger came into her cheeks when he spoke.

The sense of the insult and injury that he had inflicted on her, and the consciousness of knowing his guilty secret, gave her all her self-possession at that trying moment. The high spirit that despised him spoke its contempt in every feature of her calm, haughty, unchanging face.

"I say to you again," he repeated, finding that she did not answer him. "How dare you look me in the face in the presence of that man?"

She raised her steady eyes to his hat which he still kept on his head. "Who has taught you to come into a room and speak to a lady with your hat on?" she asked, in quietly contemptuous tones. "Is that a habit which is sanctioned by your new wife?"

My eyes were on him as she said these last words. His complexion, naturally dark and swarthy, changed instantly to a livid yellow white; his hand caught at the chair nearest to him; and he dropped into it heavily.

"I don't understand you," he said after a moment of silence, looking about the room unsteadily while he spoke.

"You do," said my mistress. "Your tongue lies, but your face speaks the truth."

He called back his courage and audacity by a desperate effort, and started up from the chair again with an oath. The instant before this happened I thought I heard the sound of a rustling dress in the passage outside, as if one of the women servants was stealing up to listen outside the door. I should have gone at once to see whether this was the case or not, but my master stopped me just after he had risen from the chair.

"Order the bad to be made in the Red Room and light a fire there directly," he said, with his fiercest look and in his roughest tones. "When I ring the bell, bring me a kettle of boiling water and a bottle of brandy. As for you," he continued, turning toward Mr. Meeke, who still sat pale and speechless, with his fiddle hugged up in his arms, "leave the house, or you will not find your cloth any protection to you."

At this insult the blood flew into my mistress's face. Before she could say anything Mr. James Smith raised his voice loud enough to drown hers.

"I won't hear another word from you," he cried out, brutally. "You have been talking like a mad woman—you look like a mad woman—you are out of your senses. As sure as you live, I'll have you examined by the doctors tomorrow. Why the devil do you stand there, you scoundrel?" he roared, wheeling round on his heel to me. "Why don't you obey my orders?"

I looked at my mistress. If she had directed me to knock Mr. James Smith down, big as he was, I think at that moment I could have done it.

"Do as he tells you, William," she said, squeezing one of her hands to her bosom, as if she was trying to keep down the rising indignation in that way. "This is the last order of his giving that I shall ask you to obey."

"Do you threaten me, you mad —?" He finished the question by a word that I shall not repeat.

"I tell you," she answered, in a clear, ringing, resolute tone, "that you have outraged me past all forgiveness and all endurance and that you shall never insult me again as you have insulted me tonight."

After saying these words, she fixed one steady look on him, then turned away and walked slowly to the door.

A minute previously, Mr. Meeke had summoned courage enough to get up and leave the room quietly. I noticed him walking demurely away close to the wall, with his fiddle held under one tail of his long frock coat, as if he was afraid that the savage passions of Mr. James Smith might be wreaked on that unoffending instrument. He got to the door before my mistress. As he softly pulled it open, I saw him start, and I heard the rustling of a gown again in the passage outside.

My mistress followed him into the passage, turning however, in the opposite direction to that taken by the little parson, in order to reach the staircase that led to her own room. I went out next, leaving Mr. James Smith alone.

LIFE'S LESSONS

I learn as the years roll onward And I leave the past behind, That much I had counted sorrow But proves that God is kind; That many a flower I'd longed for Had hidden a thorn of pain, And many a rugged by-path Led to fields of ripened grain.

The clouds that cover the sunshine They cannot banish the sun, And the earth shines out the brighter When the weary rain is done. We must stand in the deepest shadow To see the clearest light; And often through wrong's own darkness Comes the living strength of light.

The sweetest rest is at even, After a wearisome day, When the heavy burden of labor Has been borne from our hearts away; And those who have never known sorrow Cannot know the infinite peace That falls on the troubled spirit When it sees at last release.

We must live through the dreary winter If we would value the Spring; And the woods must be cold and silent Before the robins sing. The flowers must be buried in darkness Before they can bud and bloom, And the sweetest, warmest sunshine Comes after the storm and the gloom.

ALL TIPS ARE SHUNNED

Bulgarians Shun All Tips Despite the Lack of Finances

Bulgaria is one of the poorest countries in Europe, but just the same the people retain the staunch independence for which they are famous.

At Routhouk, frontier town on the Danube, a visitor just arrived from Rumania (where the real king is not Carol nor Michael but the well known figure, King Tip, asked where a book shop was and a boy took him for a long walk through the cold, snow-laid streets. He gave the boy a tip. The boy turned it down with scorn.

At the passport and customs examination a Bulgarian official had been put to great trouble over an irregularity in the visitor's luggage. Tip? "Sir, you are not in Rumania now!"—with a gesture of refusal worthy of a king.

Later in Sofia the visitor sent a long press telegram. It came to 4350 leva (about $35) the telegraph manager said wistfully, mournfully, "Why, that is the largest sum I ever have seen sent for a telegram. Why 4000 leva is a man's capital and birthright—in this country!" But he returned all the change.

PRINCE EXPERT IN LANGUAGES

The Prince of Wales need not have apologized for his pronunciation of Spanish in a speech which he made Wednesday night at a dinner in honor of the Argentine Ambassador. They do of the Argentine Ambassador, said scribed his pronunciation as very good, and considered his use of the language a delicate compliment.

The Prince is rapidly gaining a reputation as a linguist.

Senora Herrera, wife of the head of an Uruguayan delegation which visited England recently, said the Prince spoke pure Castilian Spanish.

He also used French and German fluently and knows considerable Italian. His accomplishments do not stop there for he can use American or Australian slang effectively when the occasion demands.

WEDDING BELLS CAMPBELL—HUMPHREY

A pretty wedding was solemnized on Friday evening last in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church at Cobourg, when Miss Beulah Humphrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Humphrey, St. George, Ont. was married to Mr. Wilfrid Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Campbell, Cobourg; Rev. Frank C. Harper conducted the ceremony.

The bride wore a pretty frock of light blue crepe, with hat to match and was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Helen Campbell, who also wore a costume of blue. Mr. Edgar Campbell was groomsmen for his brother.

DURHAM COUNTY WINS IN DEBATE

Representatives Debate With Team From Ontario County Tuesday

In the first inter-county debating league contest held Tuesday evening, March 6th, at Greenbank, Ontario County, Durham county team won by a very close margin over the representatives of Ontario County.

The subject of the debate was "Resolved that country life affords greater opportunity to build character than does life in the city." The speakers for the affirmative from Ontario county were Noreen Croxall, Greenbank, and John Dryden, Brooklin, while the negative was taken by Lillian Clemence, Newcastle, and Norman Hogg, Orono. Splendid addresses were given by each of the debaters and many interesting features on this topic were touched on.

The Department feels that these debates are of great benefit to those taking part, as they develop self confidence, reliance and self control.

The Agricultural Representatives, W. M. Croxery, Uxbridge; and J. Y. Kellough, Port Hope, expressed themselves as being delighted with their work by the young people and the response given to this feature of hope that public speaking and debating may be expanded in each county.

HEROIC DEATH OF NURSE CAVELL

Eye Witnesses Now Describe Scene When English Nurse Was Executed

The following article contains the first complete eyewitness account of the heroic death before a German firing squad of Nurse Edith Cavell, who gave her life for Britain during the World War.

Dr. Gottfried Benn, German army medical officer detailed to witness the execution describes in detail the manner of her execution, and corrects the many conflicting versions that have gone before.

The death before a German firing squad of Edith Cavell, British World War nurse, was described for the first time in all its dramatic detail Wednesday by the German doctor who witnessed her execution for helping war prisoners to escape.

"A brave daughter of a great nation," the army physician—Dr. Gottfried Benn—called Miss Cavell in telling the story in the newspaper Acht-Uhr-Abendblatt.

He told how she walked unflinchingly to the execution place, said she was glad to die for England and received twelve bullets in her heart and lungs.

Dr. Benn broke a ten year silence to help clear up the controversy that followed the banning, by the British Government, of a motion picture film purporting to describe Miss Cavell's execution. The view was taken that the portrayal would revive bad feeling between Britons and Germans.

Dr. Benn was medical officer at the German headquarters in Brussels during the war. He attended, in an official capacity, both the trial and execution of the British nurse. After she had fallen before the bullets of the firing squad, it was his duty to examine her body and certify her death.

This is his story: "I received orders to go by motor car to an unknown destination which was known only to the chauffeur. At dawn, we arrived at the shooting range at Brussels where a company of infantry lined a path leading to the wall where two platoons of twelve men each—the firing parties—were waiting.

"We waited for some time and then another car arrived in which was a Belgian engineer named Broque who had been sentenced to die for complicity in the Cavell case.

"Broque nonchalantly went to a place indicated to him, and, standing between two white poles, doffed his cap to the firing squad drawn up before. He bade them 'Good-morning' and then said—

"In the face of death, we are comrades."

"The officer in charge of the firing party, fearing that the man was going to make a provocative speech, interrupted. Broque then stood silent and erect.

Glad to Die for England

"Another car arrived in which were Nurse Cavell and a priest. She was dressed in a blue tailor made costume with a small hat. Her face was like a mask. Her gait was staggering owing to physical impediment, but she nevertheless walked without hesitation towards the place between the two poles where the Belgian stood.

"She stopped for a moment to tell the priest—

"I am glad to be dying for England. Other women are sacrificing more—husbands, brothers, sons. I have only my own life to give."

"She asked the priest to send a last message from her to her mother and to her brothers, who were serving with the British Army in France.

"The final scenes were over quickly. The firing squad presented arms and the military judge read the verdict of the court, which had found the accused guilty. Both the Englishwoman and the Belgian were blindfolded and each was tied to a pole.

"At a single word of command, both platoons fired from a distance of a couple of yards. Broque's body sagged, but for a few moments the Englishwoman remained upright. Like the Belgian, however, she had been killed instantly, receiving 12 bullets, which had pierced her heart and lungs.

"It is untrue that she received the coup de grace (a finishing shot from an officer's pistol fired when there is doubt regarding death).

"I immediately went to the pole to which her body had been tied and felt for her pulse. When I found that she was dead I closed her eyes.

"I assisted in placing her in a small yellow coffin. She was immediately interred at a place which had been kept secret until 1919.

"I am not attempting to correct the legend which has grown up around Nurse Cavell. I want only to tell what I remember, and I remember her as an active woman who paid for her deeds as a brave daughter of a great nation."

Speaking of Miss Cavell's trial, Dr. Benn said that he heard Miss Cavell admit that the organization she had formed to help "the enemy"—the Allies—had smuggled 300 soldiers and Belgian civilians across the Dutch frontier.

Dr. Benn added that, although she was betrayed by various accomplices at the trial, Nurse Cavell remained reserved and calm.

States are great engines moving slowly.

MARLBOROS WIN TITLE

Marlboros won the O.H.A. junior championship at Arena Gardens last night, when Newmarket's plucky band of youngsters could do no better than tie the Dukes on the night's play. The slender one goal advantage that Marlboros obtained by winning the first game of the series Monday night gave them a 4 to 3 count on the round, last night's score being 2 all.

Although Newmarket snapped the slim thread of Marlboros ascendancy early in the second period and made the teams all even on the round, the Dukes were powerful enough to repair the damage shortly after and later strengthen it to endure the strain of Newmarket's desperate and stirring rally in the final period.

The fans who packed the big rink to the doors will long remember the thrill of those final minutes in the third period when four players on the Marlboro team battled against Newmarket's six and miraculously managed to prevent the boys from the end of the trolley line from again knotting the count on the round.

TRENTON WINS 3-2

In a fast game of hockey at Napanee last night in the Bay of Quinte League, Trenton won by a three to two score. The period scores were 1 to 0 in favor of the home team in the second and 3 to 2 in favor of the visitors in the last. Trenton showed a little better condition, but the play was fairly even throughout as the score indicates. Goals count on the round.

OSHAWA AND SAULT TEAMS WITNESS FINAL

Among the spectators at last night's game of the junior finals were the members of the Sault Ste. Marie team, winners of the N.O.H.A. junior championship and the Oshawa junior team. The Oshawa team was eliminated by Newmarket after winning its group in a great struggle with Bowmanville. The Oshawa players were guests of the Oshawa Hockey Club at the game, and later were entertained at a dinner in the old Orchard Inn, on the Kingston Road. They were presented with gold signet rings as a token of appreciation for their fine showing this season.

The Sault team arrived in the city yesterday morning, and lost no time in getting a workout on the Arena ice. The Sault will be Marlboros next opponents in the Memorial Cup series, which begins Friday night.

The Stratford Beacon-Herald publishes the following on its editorial page:

"This is a peace loving paper, it does not like war or hard words. To ward the end of last week one man wrote that he was coming in to lick the editor; his name had appeared in some case and he did not like it. The following letter was drafted to be sent to him:

"Dear Brother: It is not necessary for you to think of using brutal methods to get justice from this great family journal. The editor is an old man badly doubled up with sciatica; his left lung is also not what it should be; so a combat would be very dangerous for him. Just let us know what it is that you object to, and we admit right here that you are right. We will publish your statement in full, and if the court says you were guilty we will gladly point out that it was a grave miscarriage of justice on the part of the Cadi; in fact, we don't think he knows what a perfect gentleman you are, otherwise he would never have allowed the case to proceed against you. You say you are thinking of stopping the paper. Please do not do that, sir. We'd rather send it to you six months for nothing and guarantee that the boy will put it behind the storm door on windy days. You would greatly oblige us by writing your objections in full; it would save you the trouble of making a personal visit.

"Yours without a struggle,
The Editor."

"But on Saturday night one of the young men from this office went over to London to engage in the Ontario boxing championship and there in competition with the best in the province, won the title in the ring. Yes—fighting—putting up the fists talking and returning good healthy blows. His place of daily work is only a few steps from the door of the editorial department.

"That letter above was torn up this morning and the following substituted:

"You big stiff: I see that you object to something that was said about you in this paper. Further note that you say you're coming in to lick the editor. Before you come, tell the family doctor and the folks at home that you won't be back for a while, and make arrangements with the fire hall to have the city ambulance waiting outside the office door. What is more, if you have any regard for your job tell the man who is soft enough to hire you that you won't be in for a few days.

"The trouble is that the paper didn't say half enough about you. You're a bum and a disgrace to this fair city. This place might grow more if the likes of you would get out of it in a hurry and all together. You haven't got any brains in your head, in fact, your head is just stuck on your shoulders to keep your ears apart. Come along any time you want, never mind sending any more word.

"Yours for a free press and free speech,
The Editor."

O.H.A. BULLETIN

The first game of the O.H.A. intermediate finals will be played between Port Colborne and Kitchener at Port Colborne tomorrow night, with the return game at Kitchener, Thursday, March 8. The winners in this series will play South Porcupine N.O.H.A. senior champions, at the Arena Gardens, Saturday, March 10, and Monday, March 12.

O.H.A. Allan Cup and Memorial Cup games at Arena Gardens this week are as follows.

Tonight—Newmarket v. Marlboros in O.H.A. junior final.

Tuesday—Kitchener v. U. of T. in O.H.A. senior final.

Wednesday—Marlboros v. Newmarket in O.H.A. junior final.

Thursday—Pro. game.

Friday—Soo v. Marlboros or Newmarket in O.H.A. Memorial Cup.

Saturday—South Porcupine v. Port Colborne or Kitchener in Allan Cup eliminations.

KITCHENER IN FINALS

Kitchener has the unique distinction of having two teams in the finals for Ontario hockey this winter. Irvin Erbin's sextet having earned the right to meet Port Colborne for the intermediate honors in Galt on Saturday night when they nosed out Newmarket 2 to 1 in a sudden death game to break a tie on the round. It was the second game in as many days for the two teams and their fourth in a week, and both entered leg weary. It was anybody's game, with Newmarket in the lead in the first two periods, by 1 to 0 going into the final period, but Kitchener had the necessary punch to win.

Allen Shirk was again the hero of the winners, getting the goal that tied the score after 16 minutes of play in the final period. The winning counter went to Berlet, the husky defenseman, with only 45 seconds to go.

PLAY-OFF ORDERED

At a heated meeting of the Inter-scholastic Hockey League, held in Cobourg Saturday, to hear the protest of Madoc High School against Belleville Collegiate team regarding the eligibility of players on the Belleville High School team, the protest was thrown out and arrangements were made to play the sudden death game to decide which team shall go into the finals. The game will be played in Stirling on Monday night with an O.H.A. referee in charge.

275 STARTERS

Out of the West Sunday started a band of athletes numbering approximately 275 on the first stretch of the longest foot race in modern history—a transcontinental race from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

In mid afternoon the starter's gun started the legion of runners and walkers away on the 3,400 mile grind to New York City for $48,500 to be divided among the first ten athletes to reach the finish.

The contestants were sent away in groups of 25 and less. There was no nervous pawing of the track, no false starts. Every entrant knew he had plenty of time to run during the next two months or more.

Thousands of spectators milled around Ascot Park, Los Angeles, as the runners circled the track and turned their faces from Los Angeles The route leading out of the city was choked with cheering crowds.

A huge motor van of curious form in the wake of the runners as they set out for Puente, 16 miles distant, the first listed overnight stop.

No sporting event ever drew a stranger entry list. Old men jogged alongside youngsters. A 16 year old boy matched steps with a grey haired man of 63. Nearly every race and color was represented.

HEAVIES ARE POOR

Putting a new twist to the French slogan, Tex Rickard set out Friday to "cherchez l'homme" in his discouraging quest for a challenger to face Gene Tunney in heavyweight title combat in New York next June. "I'm still looking for the man to box the champion," he said. "The elimination tournaments merely get more complicated as they go along. Tom Heeey certainly won't do on the showing he made in beating Jack Delaney. Perhaps there will be a spectacular winner to the Sharkey-Risko match March 12. Right now, you know as much about who'll box Tunney in June as I do. I think all the contenders are terrible."

Along with this frank admission came Rickard's open avowal that he wants Dempsey back in the boxing picture again. And despite the former champion's denial that he will start light training soon at Gus Wilson's camp in Orangeburg, N.Y., the promoter admitted he was bringing strong pressure to bear on the Manassa Mauler, in the hope of another comeback champion.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silver

HOW MRS. WOOD DUCK CAME TO HAVE RED EYES

ONCE upon a time when the world was quite young there lived along the edge of the lake a family of Wood Ducks, Mama Wood Duck, Daddy Wood Duck and ten little wood ducks.

Like most wood ducks they were a very conceited family and filled with curiosity.

One day Mama Wood Duck had sneaked out around the other side of the lake to investigate and she ran into old Sly Fox.

Now Sly Fox knew if he frightened Mama Wood Duck she would run away and warn all the other ducks in the woods against him, so he sat down on a log and crossed his knees and waited for Mrs. Wood Duck to catch up with him.

"Good morning, Mrs. Wood Duck," said Sly Fox, careful to keep his hand in his pocket. "Fine weather we are having."

"Well," thought Mrs. Wood Duck, "there's no harm in talking to such a nice fellow." So she waddled up and sat down on the other end of the log.

Then she discovered he had his hand in his pocket, and asked him what he was trying to hide.

"Oh, just a little thing I have discovered to make you beautiful," replied Sly Fox. "I don't mind letting you in on the secret if you don't tell anybody else about it. Of course, I don't mean your family. I'd love to have them see it at the same time I tell you. Get your family together and come on over to my house. I'll be waiting for you. Once you have a look at the object I hold you'll be the most beautiful of all the ducks in the world."

Vain Mrs. Wood Duck lost no time in going after her family and when she, Daddy Wood Duck and the children came back to Sly Fox's burrow he

"It's a secret," said Mr. Sly Fox was sitting in his doorway, a great bundle of dry grass piled at his side.

"Now, all go inside my house and close your eyes," he whispered, "and don't any of you open your eyes until I say or else the charm will work just the opposite—instead of beautiful, you'll be ugly."

Mrs. Wood Duck and her family filed into Sly Fox's den and closed their eyes.

But somehow Mrs. Duck became suspicious and when she smelled smoke she opened her eyes just as Sly Fox was making a dive for her oldest duckling. She opened her eyes and began to quack. The smoke from the burning brush made her eyes smart and burn, but she flew at Sly Fox's head and began to peck at his eyes with all her might, while Daddy Wood Duck hurried the children out of Sly Fox's den.

By the time Mrs. Wood Duck had finished with Sly Fox he was pretty well scratched and was willing to acknowledge he was beaten for once.

Nervous and Miserable Through Constipation

"Fruit-a-tives" Restores Vigorous Health

MR. D. DUPERRON.

The drowsy, fatigued condition that usually goes with constipation is a serious handicap. Overcome it. Be healthy by taking "Fruit-a-tives". Read this letter: Maxville, Ont.—"The results are marvelous. That nervous, tired feeling has completely gone. Fruit-a-tives has made a new man of me."

—Mr. Donald Duperron.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the intensified juices of ripe, fresh fruit, blended with stimulating tonics. It is the stoutest natural foe of constipation. Gentle, natural and positive in its action, it builds the system to function properly without the constant use of laxatives. 25c and 50c at all druggists. Try it—to-day.

He crawled off into a corner of his den and Mrs. Wood Duck hurried down to the brook to wash her eyes. My, how they smarted and burned, and when she glanced down at her reflection in the water she gave a cry of distress, for her eyes were just as red as they could be.

She was so happy to think she had saved her family from a terrible fate she didn't mind about her eyes being red, but should you happen to see her some time in your travels through the woods you'll see that her eyes are still red.

BROTHERLY LOVE

Blest be the tie that binds,
Our hearts in Christian love;
The fellowship of kindred minds
Is like to that above.

Before our Father's throne
We pour our ardent prayers;
Our fears, our hopes, our aims are
One,
Our comforts and our cares.

We share our mutual woes,
Our mutual burdens bear;
And often for each other flows
The sympathizing tear.

When we asunder part,
It gives us inward pain;
But we shall still be join'd in heart
And hope to meet again.

This glorious hope revives
Our courage by the way;
While each in expectation lives,
And longs to see the day.

From sorrow, toil and pain
And sin we shall be free;
And perfect love and friendship reign
Through all eternity.

BRITONS OFF ON SHARK HUNT

Start From Sussex Harbor in a Small Yacht for Three Months' Voyage

Enveloped in a heavy sea mist, the schooner rigged 12 ton yacht Red Riding Hood slipped her moorings and unostentatiously began her 4,300 mile voyage from Shoreham harbor, Sussex to Honduras, in Central America. She has an auxiliary motor engine but no wireless.

The crew, all young men who are going to seek their fortunes in shark fishing are: Capt. Frank Milton, of Beach-road, Shoreham (skipper); Mr. J. V. Gray of Gains-road, Southsea (mate); Mr. J. Billaux of Abbey road, St. John's wood, N.W.; Mr. J. Clifford (engineer), and Mr. G. Baxter.

Mr. Baxter, an actor, has appeared in several London productions and is the husband of Miss Viola Lyel, now in "Yellow Sands" at the Haymarket theatre, London.

The party expect to reach their destination in three months' time. The route will be via Vigo, in Spain, the Canary Islands, and Barbadoes, West Indies.

Capt. Milton said a recent discovery had made it possible to use shark skins for making shoes and to utilize almost every part of the carcass.
