No tea is fit to drink after it is two years old. That is the age limit of tea quality and benefit. The best tea is the freshest.

"Salada" Tea owes much of its world-wide reputation to its sale fresh from the plantation. The leaves are fresh picked every week the year round; then dried, sorted and packed in airtight lead packages. Every five weeks a new picking of "Salada" comes fresh from plantation to purchaser.

Bulk teas, carried year after year, lose their freshness.

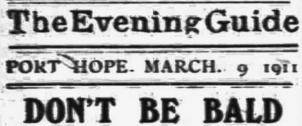

Ask your grocer for "Salada" Tea or send for a free trial package which makes 25 cups of deficious nes. We will mail it to you without charge. Suy whether you use Black, Mixed or Green Tea and the price you pay per pound. The "Salada" Tea Co. Toronto 32 Yonge Street

Broke Through Ice.

Tobermoray, Ont., March 9 .- Geo. Young, a popular young man of this place, was drowned on Tuesday while crossing from Cove Island to Tobermoray with a companion, with whom he had been working on the island. The ice on which the men wete traveling was broken up a few days ago by heavy winds and had drifted in. Young, who was leading, struck thin ice and broke through. Instead of trying to return to his companion he attempted to break his way through ther on. He had almost succeeded, when he called to his friend, saying

One can scarcely realize the irritation that such explanations naturalty cause rural school trustees, who are working overtime endeavoring to get qualified teachers. I faney I see honorable member for West particularly to the trustees of a section where the assessment is over $40,000, and where though they advertise once and have no applications from any qualified teacher they must still spend money in advertising a second time before the inspector is allowed, by a superlatively foolish regulation of the Department, to grant a permit to any person to teach tion class, the state never loses sight in that school.

First then, there is a scarcity of labor of all kinds, next, we are a nomadic race, and then the honorable member for West Hastings, not seeming to have satisfied himself that he has given any same explanation of the difficulty, consoles the trustees in the rural section with the information that there is a great surplus of teachers over in England, and that we may import them. This, Sir, is comforting advice to parents, especially of the poorer class, whose sons and daughters are practically debarred from taking up the teaching profession owing to the centralization policy of the Government and the wiping out of our model schools. I say, Sir, to debar our own young men to heavier ice, about forty yards fur- and women from entering the teaching profession, and then to suggest trustees that they teachers from England, is adding insult to injury; and I repeat were it not for the serious condition of at- forced to leave our public and separ-fairs such explanations would be a size schools at an early age, and havvery interesting burlesque. Then, Sir, there is that guileless youth, that extremely innocent young man, the honorable member for South Renfrew, who comes forward with an explanation. How extremely guileless he is! "I will show the Honorable Leader of the Opposition." says he, "what is the cause of the scarcity of teachers in the rural districts. and holding up in his hand a report of a speech by the President of Toronto University, which apparently says that 25 per cent. of the university graduates go west, he gives this as a complete explanation for the scarcity of teachers in the townships. How innocent, how extremely innocent the honorable member is! He is under the impression that young men and women immediately upon being graduated from Toronto University go forth into the townships to teach in our rural schools. He is evidently trying to get in line with the Premier's explanation, that he has turned things upside down, and he will have university graduates go out to the townships to teach public schools, and doubtless he will have cur model and normal trained teachers go and lecture in the university. On second thought, however; I am inclined to think the honorable gentleman is trying to qualify for a position in the Education Department, and is endeavoring to display his fitness for such a place by seeking to show that he knows absolutely nothing about educational affairs. He is shrewd enough, Sir, to know that if he is to be in line, an absolute condition precedent to his receiving an appointment is, that he should show utter ignorance of educational affairs generally, and particularly of any question bearing upon the welfare of our rural schools.

the line substantial aid is given to the high school student and university student, and none to the lad whose parents possibly cannot afford to send him to school-even to the high school stage. In other words we help the sons of the wealthier and decline to give any assistance whatever to the poorer lad.

Germany perhaps, furnishes an illustration of the splendid results arising from a well considered and fully developed technical and industrial system of education. Here, our continuation classes are conducted purely along the old scholastic lines; there, the continuation class is practically an industrial continuation class. Beginning with the continuaof the practical side of life. The question of technical and industrial education is so closely allied with that of trade and commerce that one can readily understand why the empire as a whole pays so much attention to this matter.

In Germany the schools are, roughly speaking, supported as follows: 23 per cent; of the cost is paid by tuition fees; 49 per cent. by grants and donations by municipalities, employers of labor, and from other philanthropic sources; while the empire as a whole contributes about 28 per cent.. It is a matter of common knowledge that in every village, every town and city, in this province a larger number of the more ambitious of our young men and women have for years been endeavoring to get some general knowledge of the scientific principles that underive their life vocations through schools of correspondence. These young men and women have been ate schools at an early age, and having commenced life's battle, realize the necessity for a better equipment, and the result is that they sign con-tracts with these outside schools, and in nine cases out of ten they find it practically impossible by means of such correspondence schools to get any great benefit, and tuey drop the course and pay their large fees with very unsubstantial returns. It has been stated that from the Province of Ontario in this way there is sent out every year approximately $1,000,000 to these correspondence schools, situated south of the line. If this estimate is at all approximately true, and I think it is, and it is supported by teachers interested in industrial training, it shows an absolute demand on the part of these young men and women for technical industrial training. Assuming, Sir, for the sake of argument, that the amount of money thus sent out annually is even only $500,000, and placing the support of the industrial schools upon the same basis as now exists in Germany, namely, that the students should pay 23 per cent. it will be readily seen that there is now going forth from the provinces an amount of money that will justify the annual expenditure in all of $2,000,000. The tremendous amount of money practically wasted by these ambitious young men and women all over the province is another strong argument in favor of immediate action on the part of this Government. There should have been no delay. We, on this side of the House contended last year that this Government should have appointed a commission composed of competent educationists, to not only ascertain the facts within the province, but also to by way of interviewing boards of education, boards of trade, municipal councils, and such like bodies, to have conducted a regular educational propaganda in favor of a general system of industrial education.

vertisement of, say, millinery, ready- abrogation sold for 40c. a pound made clothing, or whatever the line may be, with the result that the orders pour in through the mail order department for purchases along these lines, and thus the whole retail trade of the province is hit by this cun-ningly devised agreement. The agree-ment places every hearthstone in the whole province directly tributary to the Eaton departmental store, and invites everybody in the province to send in orders by mail for all classes of goods.

Then, Sir, as to the cost of the Read. ers: the publisher is furnished with the copyright; the province pays a committee to prepare the manuscript and make the selections for the Readers; all plates and electros are paid for by the province; the type is actually set up, and then all this is handed over to the Eaton Company, and they are asked to run the Readers off. And the people are deceived and humburged with the statement that 49c. is the whole cost of the Readers.

Reciprocity.

Now, Sir, I take up the question, which the Honorable the Provincial Treasurer introduced very naively into this debate, technically justifying its introduction on account of its alleged effect on the Temiscaming and Northern Ontario Railway: Without discussing the correctness or incorrectness of the principal reason given, let me say at the outset that I do not propose to give a silent vote on this question. The honorable member for West Toronto justifies the discussion of reciprocity by this House on the ground that it affects the people of Ontario, and therefore we have a right to discuss it. By parity of reasoning, and because education, and all the laws and regulations in connection with it in this province, affect all members at Oftawa who come from this province, they then will be justified in placing on the order paper at Ottawa a resolution with reference to out model schools or our normal schools, or some other such question. I fancy, Sir, if some Liberal member at Ottawa, from Ontario, were to attempt to do this, not only would the occupants of the treasury benches here, but the member for West Toronto would join them in a pretty violent denunciation of any such Ottawa politician, and would raise a fremend cry about the fact that the provincial field was being invaded. I regret, Sir, the growing tendency in this House among Conservatives in their desire to have a fling at the Government at Ottawa. What must the necessary result of such a prac-tice be, if Conservatives of this House unnecessarily go out of their way to find fault with the Liberals at Ottawa, and similarly the Laberals here were to do the same with reference to Conservative members at Ottawa? The necessary result will be to lower the tone of debate in this House, and to lower the dignity and standing of this Legislature. Anyone can readily see that the public under such circumstances would be justified in concluding, and could come to no other; onclusion, than that the members of this Legislature were mere henchmen or shouters for the politicians at Ottaws, and thus this Legislature would hold, in public opinion, a decidedly inferior position. I have no such views, Sir, of the rights and duties of Provincial Legislature. We act, Sir, by the same sovereign right that politicians at Ottawa do; we derive our powers and responsibilities from the same source, and we ought not in any way to lower or degrade our position. My position is this, Sir, that while every member of this House as a citizen of this Dominion has an absolute right to discuss any question that affects the Dominion, it is doubtful procedure for us, I care not what the procedent may be, as a Legislature to deal with the question of Trade and Commerce, which by the British North America Act is assigned to the Dominion Parliament. However, Sir, leaving this aspect of the question aside; as a matter of pure party politics, I welcome the discussion of this subject upon the floor of this House, though I doubt the wisciola of it. I am bound to admit, Sir, that the Honorable the Provincial Treasurer realized that he was treading upon doubtful groand, and he took great pains to explain that he only referred to the question because of his fear that if the recirocity agreement is consummated the result will be injurious to the Temiscaming and Northern Ontario Pailway, which is owned and operated by this province, and therefore upon that ground, and that ground alone, tiid he seem to justify the introduction of the discussion. In thus nartowing the reason for introducing this subject, the Honorable the Provincial Treasurer was more careful and judicious than certain other honorable gentlemen who have spoken.

dropped immediately to 15c.; lambs that sold for $4.50 dropped immedistely to $2.50; the prices of horses, cattle and hogs were cut in halves as soon as the treaty was abrogated; barley, which sold for $1.20 to $1.25 per bushel dropped immediately to 40 or 50 cents, and so on, for practically everything the farmer had to sell. When, therefore, the Honorable the Provincial Treasurer essays the Hurculean task of proving that these results of the abrogation of the treaty were beneficial, at all events to the farming community, they, to put it mildly, will indeed be amazed.

Both Sides Desired Reciprocity.

If the Honorable the Provincial Treasurer is right and the results of the treaty of 1854-1866 were injurious to the Old Provinces of Canada, how under the sun does he explain the over-occurring and persistently recurring attempts of his Dominion leaders to secure a renewal of the treaty? What has become of his loyalty to the principles advocated by Sir John A. Maedonald, Sir Leonard Tilley, Sir John Thompson, Sir Charles Tupper and others? Shades of the great departed, how your influence has waned with our Provincial Treasurer! The honorable gentleman, in the extreme position he has taken, turns down the whole record of the Conservative party on the question of trade relations. Let me, Sir, briefly summarize the attempts made to secure fairer trade relations with the Union to the South of us. The treaty was abrogated in 1868. Confederation was consummated in 1867. In 1869 Sir John Rose, who was then Finance Minister, was sent to Washington by the Conservative Government, and with Sir E. Thornton, the British Ambassador, made an ineffectual attempt to obtain a renewal of the Reciprocity Treaty. In 1871, the late Sir John A. Macdonald and his British colleagues who negotiated the Washington treaty, endeavored to secure a renewal of the Reciprocity Treaty, but ineffectually. In 1872, the United States National Board of Trade petitioned Congress for renewal of reciprocity, and the then Conservative Government at Ottawa declared its readiness to accept the same. In 1874, the Hon. George Brown was sent by the then Liberal Government to Washington, and in company with Sir E. Thornton, British Ambassador, actually secured an agreement to a treaty, which was not, however, subsequently ratified by the United States Senate. In 1879, the Customs Tariff prepared by the then Conservative Government at Ottawa inaugurating the National Policy made a standing offer for Free Trade or reduced rates on a long list of United States products if the Unit-States would act similarly with ed reference to Canadian products. The Hon, Mr. Tilley, Minister of Finance, on March 14th, 1879 (see Hansard 1879, vol. 1, p. 415) refers to "a resolution that will be laid on the table containing a proposition to this effect that as to articles named which are the natural products of the country, including lumber, if the United States take off the duty in part or in whole we are prepared to meet them with equal concessions. The Government believe in a Reciprocity Tariff." Sir Charles Tupper in the same year as reported on page 464, vol. 1, Hansard, said: "My honorable friend, the Finance Minister, also proposes to insert in the bill the statement that, when the Americans shall reduce their tariff on these natural products we will reduce ours to the same extent, and that if they wipe out the duties altogether, we will admit their products free. At no distant date we shall enjoy all the advantages which we possessed under the Reciprocity Treaty." "All the advantages," note the words, and yet the Honorable Provincial Treasurer would now have us believe that there were no advantages such as Sir Charles Tupper speaks of! In 1887, Sir Charles Tupper, acting in concert with Sir L. Sackville West and Joseph Chamberinin, British plenipotentiaries, went to Washington to negotiate a treaty as to fisheries, etc., and proposed to discuss tariff arrangements looking towords the old arrangement, with no practical results. Later, Sir, such a treaty was actually arranged by the aforesaid commissioners, and was actually signed, but the United States did not ratify the agreement. If the Honorable Provincial Treasurer will look at the Canadian Statutes of 1879 and 1888 he will find that they contain standing offers for reciprocal trade in a long list of articles. In 1892 the Canadian Ministers were sent to act with the British Ambassador in a consultation with the United States Ministers with a view to obtaining better reciprocal trade relations, and, Sir, so important did the late Sir John A. Macdonald consider the subject that he made it a pretext for an appeal to the country in order that he might have a mandate from the people, which he received, and upon which he acted in an attempt to secure freer trade relations. In 1892 the then Conservative Government continued their negotiations. The Canadian Customs Tariff Act of 1894 contains a standing proposal, in several of its clauses, to entirely remit or to reduce duties on a long list of articles produced by the United States, provided similar concessions are made with reference to Canadian products; so that, Sir, you will observe that as late as 1894, that is two years before the Conservative Government went out of power, they placed this standing offer upon the Canadian Starutes. Their course throughout was persistently consistent, and consistently persistent in an attempt to get freer trade relations, and yet the Honor-able Provincial Treasurer takes the position that even the old Reciprocity.

Technical Education.

Many a time and oft have I discussed this question on the floor of this House and elsewhere. For reasons already stated I do not purpose to occupy the attention of the House but for a moment on this question. On the main merits of the case there can be no justification whatever for this Government's delay in adopting a full and sweeping system of technical and industrial education, that will cover at least all manufacturing centres in this province. Nothing, Sir, would add more to the success of this province as a manufacturing centre than to have well trained, skilled mechanics in all our workshops. Any educational system that tends to lead or drive young men or young women to the professions, and to take them away from either the farm or the workshop is ill-balanced. and should at once be adjusted. The Treaty of 1854-66.

I am airaid. Sir, that the Honorable the Provincial Treasurer has given his party a load that they will never attempt to lift when he says, that not only would reciprocity, if adopted, not be a good thing, but when he goes out of his way at great length to quote figures and argue that the Reciprocity Treaty of 1854 to 1866 was very injurious to the old provinces of Canada. One can understand any honorable gentleman taking the posttion that circumstances and conditions have changed, owing to policies adopted since 1866, that it does not now follow that even if the old treaty was beneficial to Canada that the adoption of a similar one would now be so; but, as I have said, the Honorable the Provincial Treasurer asks Liberal Member Says He Is Unable to Support the Agreement-Mr. Borden Moves That Action Be Deferred and Criticizes the Premier -A Matter of Honor to Act Now, Says Mr. Fielding.

Ottawa, March 9 .- By a vote of 112 to 70, proclaimed amid prolonged Liberal cheering. the House of Commons decided last night that there should be no waiting on Washington. By a majority of 42 the proposal of the Conservative leader to postpone further consideration of the reciprocal trade agreement was negatived. The vote came at the close of a sharp, tense debate, in which the Minister of Finance declared that prompt and businesslike consideration of the arrangement was "an obligation of national honor on the part of Canada with the Government of the United States.'

Mr. Borden's amendment was as follows:

"That all the words after the word 'that,' in the proposed motion, be omitted, and the following substituted therefor, 'that the reciprocity agreement embodied in the resolutions submitted to this House by the Minister of Finance on the 26th day of January last was also submitted on the same day by special message of the President of the Congress of the United States of America, which was then in session.

General Opinion In Washington Is That Affair Has Been Talked Over With Mexican President or Presence of So Large a Body of U.S. Troops on the Frontier Would Lead to Complications,

Washington, March 9 .- The officers who set the machinery going for the great gathering of United States troops and warships from end to end of the Mexican frontier yesterday drew their first long breath in 36 hours and sat back to "watch the thing work." From all directions trains are carrying soldiers, horses, field guns and ammunition toward the places of rendervous.

Official Washington still insists, for publication, that the sole purpose of this sudden and unexpected display of the military resources of the nation is to engage in field manceuvres and practice of officers and men in land and naval activities under service conditions; in private they make little attempt to conceal the relations of the "manoeuvres" to conditions actual and potential over the Mexican border line.

It is significant to notice that the troops are equipped with ball cartwidge, although it is invariable practice to supply troops with ammunition | raise the duties against the United for peaceful manuoeuvres.

The conundrum over which all are puzzling is the question of the real Laurer's reiterated wish for imperial attitude of the Mexican Government prefrence. This question is not dead toward this unprecedented display of war resources at its doorstep. It is the general belief that the Diaz Government was not in the least taken by surprise in the matter. It is taken for granted that the unprecedented mobilization of troops within a few steps of the Mexican soil never would have been effected without suitable interchange between the two Governments to preclude the possibility of misunderstanding.

Those who hold this view think it sufficient to ask what would happen if one great power in Europe should suddenly mass a quarter of its entire military force within striking distance of the imaginary line separating it from another, unless a perfect understanding existed in advance as to the purpose of the movement. "There would be war overnight," these people say, and assuming the validity of their argument, they build upon it the belief that the presence of this great naval and military force almost under the shadow of the Mexican flag is not only not distasteful, but is actually welcome to the Diaz Government. In addition to the 2,000 marines which will be quartered at Guanamato, 500 will be drawn from the barracks along the western coast of the United States and placed on board the armored cruisers of the Pacific fleet. These vessels will be assembled at San Pedro and San Diego, Cal. The cruisers California, South Dakota and Pennsylvania already are at San Diago, while the West Virginia and Maryland are at the Puget Sound navy yard, from which point they will sail for southern waters within a few days.

Tilt Over Reciprocity.

London, March 9 .- Every time reciprecity is mentioned in Parliament there is a warm passage-at-arms, Mr. Balfour, leader of the Opposition, and Sir Edward Grey, the Foreign Secretary, had a brush yesterday in the House of Commons over Ambassador Bryce. The tendency would be for the Americans to put pressure on Canada to Eingdom, said Mr. Balfour. The only bright spot, he said, was Premier in Canada and I can assure the Government it is not dead here, he exclaimed warmly.

The Foreign Secretary replied that the Government had not sent any intructions to Ambassador Bryce, and od not propose to, except to endorse entirely all he had done. The manuf cturers, he said, had not been consalted because both parties to the spreement were desirous of secrecy.

proceeded with until the electors shall have had an opportunity of pronouncing upon their merits.'

The vote stood 70 for and 111 against giving a majority of 41. The division came suddenly after eight o'clock and some members were unable to reach the House.

W. M. German was thus prevented from recording his vote with the Opposition. There were eighteen pairs. Mr. Monk and the Nationalists voted with the amendment, also Hon. Clifford Sifton and Lloyd Harris. A. Verville, Liberal Independent, voted with the Government. W. O. Seeley (Wentworth) who had been talking of op-posing the resolution, voted with the Government.

Lloyd Harris (Brantford), on rising to continue the debate in committee on Mr. Fielding's resolution, said he regarded this as the most important question that had come before the country since Confederation. He was not able to support the Government in this, and the circumstances occassioned him considerable regret. He claimed that it was a departure from the policy which he had thought was the policy of the Liberal party.

Dealing with the question as received by the country he said the farmers themselves were by no means a unit in its favor. For instance an agricultural paper had taken a plebiscite of its subscribers, and found one thou? sand ballots in favor of the agreement with six hundred against.

Mr. Borden, rising to move his amendment, immediately took advantage of his possession of the floor to criticize the speech of Sir Wilfrid Laurier Tuesday. The Prime Minister had indulged in epithets, and the protests of the fruit growers, millers and packers he characterized as the howling of wolves. He read portions of Sir William Van Horne's letter, whose opinions, he said, were based on experience and knowledge of facts.

The Prime Minister asks, observed Mr. Borden, that these proposals be passed through Parliament, because there was a condition of non-intercourse with United States existing. If there was a state of non-intercourse with the United States, how did the Government account for the fact that three-fifths of Canada's import trade was with the United States.

The Premier had affirmed that reciprocity would bring injury to no particular industry, said Mr. Borden. This argument applied with crushing force to the fruit industry. The farmers would not be satisfied to compete with the natural products of twelve or fourteen countries and pay duty, on all manufactured products which come into Canada.

In conclusion, Mr. Borden said, "I realize that Canada has a plain duty and a grave responsibility in one important aspect. She ought to be-I trust she will be-a bond of union and amity between the Empire and the republic. That high mission can best be fulfilled when Canadians are trustees will have the powers which the act confers upon municipal councils, to make contracts with the Hydro-Electric Commission.

W. Proudfoot (Lib., Centre Huron) moved the second reading of his bill to repeal the three-fifths clause in the local option law. A review of the repeal notes, he said, showed that the three-fifths vote was not required to give permanence to the law.

In the recent reply made by the Premier to the temperance deputation, the leader of the Government had spoken of protecting private rights. Was that an intimation that the Government was considering compensa-tion? Mr. Proudfoot admitted that the five per cent. tax did not indicate a leaning towards compensation to license-holders, but the Government, by its three-fifths clause, had kept scores of licenses in existence. The Government should not only repeal the three-fifths clause, but also abolish bar-rooms from the province entirely. Hon. W. J. Hanna said he wondered if Mr. Proudfoot would dare to ask even the Dominion Alliance to ask for the restoration of the local option law of the previous period in place of the law as amended in 1906, even with the three-fifths clause. In the old law the local option bylaws were at the whim of municipal councils. As late as 1903 there were but few local option municipalities, 52 per cent. are without licenses with a popuation of 930,000.

Hon. Mr. Hanna thought Mr. Proudfoot did not represent his party in advocating provincial prohibition, as Hon. A. G. MacKay had declared local option to be the best law for Ontario.

In Ontario same temperance leaders now approved of the provision, including Bishop Williams and E. Fielding, of the Commercial Travelers' Association.

Hon. Mr. Hanna announced that the Government had decided to amend the law this session by reducing the local option vote strictly to resident voters. This would be eminenty fair to both parties.

Hon. A. G. MacKay and Allan Studholme said they were for one man one vote.

Hon. Mr. Hanna moved the six months' hoist, which was carried.

Valentine Stock will ask the Government if any report has been received on the bi-lingual school question; also for certain particulars in regard to Rideau Park.

Mexican Embassy's Denial.

The Mexican embassy has issued a statement branding as preposterous reports current that the Mexican Government was looking to the United States for aid in regulating its internal affairs. The statement follows:-

"The insensate rumor that Mexico had asked, or was going to ask American intervention to settle its own internal affairs is ridiculous. The republic has the means and the power, and is supported by public opinion, to enable it to suppress the insurrection. This embassy affirms categorically that Blatt and Converse were taken prisoners on Mexican territory and not on American soil as falsely has been represented by the press." The two prisoners referred to are both Americans who joined the insurrectos along the Rio Grande. They core captured by Mexican Federal troops and are now in prison. It has been stated that both men were taken after they crossed the boundary into the United States.

About eighty-five friends and neighbors assembled, which was a complete surprise to the couple, who were informed the visitors had come to spend the evening with him, his wife and family. About 9.30 Mr. and Mrs. Hannah were called into the parlor and presented with a beautiful silver tea set and tray. The following address was read :

Mr. and Mrs. Phylander Hannah. DEAR FRIENDS,-A few of the very many who have long since learned to love you and appreciate your sterling worth, have gathered here to-night to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of your marriage. We rejoice with you in the fact that you have been spared to each other during this lengthened period and to see your family grow up around you and become useful and respected members of society. Twenty-five years seems a long time and although your pathway has not always been strewn with roses you have cheerfully shouldered the burdens that have been alloted to you. As the years have flown on winged feet you have ever acted the part of helpful and sympathizing neighbors. Your kindness of heart will remain long in our memories. We wish you many happy returns of this joyous occasion, and ask your acceptance of this set and tray, trusting our loving Heavenly Father will spare you long years to enjoy them. Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbors,

IRWIN WHITEHEAD, FRED MAYBEE, ASA HURL.

Mr. Hannah thanked them for their kind remembrance and told them the house was their's for the night. A sumptuous supper was served which all enjoyed very much and they tripped the light fantastic toe till five o'clock in the morning San Francisco, Cal., Los Angeand all were satisfied with the night's enjoyment.
