POLICE COURT

Quite A Busy Session; Two Brunks And A Horse Stealing Case.

Man Charged With Exposing Immoral Pictures.

The police court business this morning was brisk which is becoming quite common now on Mondays. One of the C. N. R. bridge workers pleaded guilty to being drunk on Walton street on Sunday afternoon. He told of buying a bottle of whiskey on Saturday night and Sunday being damp he indulged too freely. It was his first offence and while the magistrate expressed his willingness to deal leniently with first offenders, he would not tolerate Sunday drunkenness. If possible he was going to put a stop to it in Port Hope. He imposed a fine of $2.00 and $3.00 costs or 30 days in gaol. at hard labor. The money was paid.

Harold Angove of Cobourg was arrested on Saturday evening for being drunk. He was found by Chief Bond sleeping near the steps at the east of Dorset street. Angove gave his age as eighteen and told that he secured some of his liquor in Port Hope. He pleaded guilty but this being his first offence, he was allowed to go. His Honor informed him that should he be convicted before him again, he would be severely dealt with.

A local merchant was charged with exposing for sale pictures with printed matter thereon tending to corrupt morals.

Mr. Ward appeared for the defendant and admitted the exposure of the pictures. It was thoughtlessness on the part of his client and he asked the magistrate to deal as leniently as possible.

His Honor remarked that the defendant's common sense should have told him not to have such pictures in stock aside from putting them on exhibition in the window. They were exposed to every passer-by and no good could be accomplished by such work. A fine of $10 and $3 costs was imposed.

On Saturday morning the Chief received a phone message from Melvin Bowins of Pontypool, that some person had stolen his horse. The chief got busy at once and found a man at one of the hotel stables endeavoring to dispose of a horse which answered to the description given by Bowins. The man was arrested and appeared in court and pleaded guilty to the charge. He gave his name as William Neil and his home was in Rockwood Valley, Quebec. He had been working in the woods at Haliburton and was desirous of visiting Rockwood Valley. He stopped off at Peterboro, had a few drinks and soon found himself strapped. He reached Pontypool and stole the horse and rode it to Port Hope. It was his intention to sell it in order to raise sufficient money to reach Rockwood Valley. He had never been in Court before.

Crown Attorney Kerr was favorably impressed with the young man's appearance and thought it would be well to make some enquiries about his past record. The stealing of a horse was a very serious offence but if the prisoners record was favorable he was not desirous of having him sent to prison.

The magistrate remanded the prisoner a week for sentence.

VINDICATED

Young Lady Wins a Novel Hobbie Skirt Wager.

The hobbie skirt was vindicated the other day by a Peterboro young lady, as the result of a novel wager. She happened to be walking in company with a young man, when the subject of conversation drifted to fashion's freakish dictates, more particularly hobbie skirts, a typical specimen of which was being worn by the lady in question.

Finally the masculine end of the argument offered to wager that his companion could not walk up the Post Office steps three at a time. The lady was not to be bluffed, the wager was made and the feat accomplished successfully albeit with some difficulty.

DIDN'T TAKE THE MONEY

Northern Ontario Man Has New Stunt to Hide Whisky.

The very latest method of fooling the officials who are on the lookout for whisky in Northern Ontario, was brought to light by the Provincial Police a few days ago, the report having been received at headquarters recently.

In a place visited by the officers a crack was noticed in the floor. Provincial police in Northern Ontario are naturally curious.

Investigation proved that a neat contrivance had been placed in the floor. Bottles of whisky, when left on the boards, would disappear like magic as soon as a constable hove in sight. By merely touching the contrivance with the foot it was made to swing on a pivot, deposit the bottles in a space beneath the floor, and gently swing back into place again.

The keeper of the place was so indignant, not to say surprised, that his invention had been discovered that he offered to patent it on the spot by giving the constables $20 to say nothing of their discovery. They didn't take the money.

I. O. O. F. Attend Church

Rev. J. S. LaFlair Delivered a Splendid Sermon

Durham Lodge No. 78, I. O. O. F., attended service in the Baptist Church in a body last evening to commemorate the 92nd anniversary of the Institution of the order in America and as a public Thanksgiving to Almighty God for His manifold Mercies to the members as individuals and as an order. There were a number of visitors from Cobourg and the turnout was unusually large, there being over one hundred and twenty-five in parade.

The pastor, Rev. J. S. LaFlair, occupied the pulpit and delivered one of the best sermons ever given to the brethren of the Three Links. The discourse was helpful and interesting and so clearly did the Rev. gentleman define the principles of the order that one would almost conclude that he was a brother Oddfellow.

In his opening remarks the pastor welcomed the visiting brethren in the name of the officers and members of the church. He welcomed them because of the principles for which they stood and the practices they were constantly carrying out. The text was taken from the familiar parable of the Good Samaritan, Luke 10: 37—"Go thou and do likewise." He said in part: The familiar emblem of your organization is the three links, and the meaningful motto you associate with your emblem, and undertake to exemplify in your relations to one another and the world, consists of three great words, "Friendship, Love and Truth." Of these I would speak to you tonight.

Friendship—not a mere casual, congenial companionship, easily made, easily marred, soon forgotten, but a bond that is unbroken in life or death. The classic illustration of friendship is that of the Jewish youths, Jonathan, the King's son, and David, the humble peasant Jonathan was true to the vows of friendship and faithfulness though it meant disagreement with his jealous, unreasonable father—though it nearly cost him his life at his father's hand, and though it cost him the throne and crown of Israel. David so true that long after Jonathan's death he sought out the lame son of his friend and provided bountifully for his every need. Friendship is to be measured not alone by what we get out of it, but as well, what we give because of it. True friendship is bound to cost us something.

Earthly friendships fail. The time came when David and Jonathan were separated by death, but David knew another Friend that failed not, so that he could say: "Thou I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for Thou art with me. Every man who becomes an Oddfellow expresses his belief in a Supreme Being, but what is your relation to Him? It is your privilege to know His unfailing friendship and blessing.

Love—a more intense link of life than friendship—does not involve reciprocal sentiment as does friendship. The good Samaritan, a striking illustration of love for fellowman; he did for the unfortunate traveller what the priest of his own religion declined to do, what the man of his own nationality refused to undertake. He asked not, Who are you—What are you? but seeing the need, he sacrificed time, convenience, substance, to alleviate the suffering of a fellow creature. Love means to you as an Oddfellow that you will not ask of the afflicted: "Do you know the password—the grip—are your dues paid up to date?" but wherever a helping hand will make the path of life smoother, brighter, for another that hand will be promptly extended.

Truth—not some metaphysical abstruse, nebulous theory, not some impractical philosophy unrelated to our daily life—but that which is a vital part of our existence and our relations to God and man. Shakespeare said: "To thine own self be true, and it must follow as the night the day, thou canst not then be false to any man." But tell us, thou great philosopher, how are we to know when we are true to self? How is the mariner far out on the ocean to know when he is true to the course he would follow? chart and compass may fail, storm and treacherous current may carry him far from the right pathway; how shall he be sure of the way? Not by anything in his own surroundings, but by the stars or sun in the heavens above. So the man who is true to self must first get his bearings of truth from God above. Be not alarmed if views of truth are changing. God made flowers, man made botany—flowers remain, botany changes. God made stars, man made astronomy—stars remain, astronomy changes. God made truth—man made theology, which is man's effort to classify truth—the theology may change but the truth remains unchanging, unchangeable.

Let these three life links bind you to God and your fellowman, and when at last we all stand before the Sovereign Grandmaster of the universe we shall be accepted by Him and dwell together in the full enjoyment of the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of His redeemed creatures, throughout eternity.

The whole service was bright and inspiring and the members thoroughly enjoyed it. The work of the male choir and the musical number by the Thomas brothers was splendid.

On returning to the lodge room votes of thanks were passed to Rev. Mr. La Flair for his able and helpful discourse; to the Board of Managers for placing the church at the disposal of the Order; to the organist and male choir for the inspiring service of song; and to all the visiting brethren from Cobourg and other places for helping to make the annual church parade such a magnificent one. Rev. Mr. La Flair replied for himself, the church officials and the choir, and the Noble Grand of Cobourg Lodge replied on behalf of the visitors. Appropriate remarks were also made by District Deputy Grand Master, D. Denton of Cobourg; Past Grand Master White of Durham Lodge, and Past Grand Wm. Russell of Cobourg.

The visitors were afterwards entertained at lunch.

Money Changing Trick

Affable Stranger Is Getting Rich On a $10 Bank Note

In the following the New York Herald describes a trick which has often been played:

"If the customer gives me a $10 bill and I take out for a 20 cent package of cigarettes, and the customer then asks me for five ones for the $5 bill I have handed out, and he then pushes back the $5 and the five ones and gets back his $10 bill, how much am I out and why?"

This is the question 37 different employees of the United Cigar Stores Company were asking themselves, for a most affable stranger had been active with a new trick of the film flam order that had caught every man it was tried on.

"Here, I've been behind a counter for twenty years, and was certain I knew every trick that any man could spring, and it got me," said the only one of the victims who would talk. "As I figure it out, I am due to pay the company $4.80 out of my salary next week in order to make the cash register figures right. It was worked on me like this: While I was about as busy as I usually am at 10 o'clock in the morning, a tall, thin, amiable looking young man makes a quick dash into the store and gives the loud yell for a package of cigarettes which sets him back 20 cents. He shoots an old and crumpled $10 bill across the counter and then busies himself lighting a cigarette. Of course, I've got so I make change automatically, and I dropped on the counter a $5 bill, four ones, and some small change.

"Was that a $10 bill I gave you?" was the film flam expert's expression, and when I told him it was he looked puzzled and slipped the four $1 bills and small change into his pocket, and shoved the $5 bill back at me.

"Give me five ones for that," he said.

"I placed five ones on the counter and he shoved the five ones and the $5 bill back at me and said: 'I guess after all I'd rather have the $10 bill; let me have it back, will you?'"

"And I let him have it back, just tossed it on the glass top of the counter and threw the five ones and $5 bill back into the drawer of the cash register, and he was a block away before I realized it, and then it hit me like a case of jumping tooth-ache. I saw it in a minute, but it was a minute too late. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon one of the chaps in the headquarters telephoned me and started to tell me that there was a film flammer working our stores, and that he was sending an expert out to explain the thing to all of us so that we shouldn't be caught, but I cut him off. I learned later that he caught 37 of our clerks and many bar-keepers on the upper West Side."

conflagration gets its start in a hay shed and sweeps across the city despite the struggles of the firemen—hundreds are homeless and one man at least known to have lost his life.

Bangor, Me., May 1.—Property valued at upwards of $6,000,000 was destroyed, hundreds of people made homeless and almost the entire business section of the city devastated during the first six hours of a conflagration which at midnight was still raging, although the firemen seemed to be making some headway. One life is known to have been lost, an unknown man being killed by a falling wall after his clothing had taken fire. Mayor Mullen placed the city under martial law. Portland, Lewiston, Augusta, Old Town, Brewer and every other city and town within reach were asked for help and sent it.

The fire started in the hay shed of J. Frank Green on Broad street and in a short time was sweeping through the city in a northwesterly direction, a tornado of flame beyond the power of the firemen to stay.

Before midnight both sides of Exchange street from York to State, both sides of State street, from Kenduskeag Stream to Broadway, a considerable part of Central and Franklin streets, nearly all of Park street and Marlow street were in ruins, and the flames had made inroads of nearly a mile into the best residential section in Broadway, Centre and French streets.

"One of the few buildings to escape destruction was the City Hall. This was in the direct path of the fire, but in some way the flames leaped over it and it was hardly scorched.

An ineffectual attempt was made to stay the progress of the flames by dynamiting several blocks located in a triangle formed by Hammond and Central streets and Kenduskeag Stream but the fire bridged the chasm and continued with unabated fury.

Help from outside cities began to arrive soon after nine o'clock, the Augusta department being the first to arrive.

A TROUBLESOME MISGIVING

What he proposed to himself was a life of deliberate baseness. Godwin Peak never tried to play the sophist with this fact. But he succeeded in justifying himself by a consideration of the circumstances which had compelled him to a vile expedient. Had his project involved conscious wrong to other persons, he would scarcely even have speculated on its possibilities. He was convinced that no mortal could suffer harm, even if he accomplished the uttermost of his desires. Whom was he in danger of wronging? The conventional moralist would cry: Everyone with whom he came in slightest contact! But a mind such as Peak's has very little to do with conventional morality. Injury to himself he foresaw and accepted; he could never be the man nature designed in him; and he must frequently submit to a self-contempt which would be very hard to bear. Those whom he consistently deceived, how would they suffer? Martin Warricombe to begin with. Martin was a man who had lived his life, and whose chief care would now be to keep his mind at rest in the faiths which had served him from youth onwards. In that very purpose, Godwin believed he could assist him. To see a young man, of strong and trained intellect, championing the old beliefs, must doubtless be a source of reassurance to one in Martin's position. Reassurance derived from a lie?—And what matter, if the outcome were genuine, if it lasted until the man himself was no more? Did not every form of content result from illusion? What was truth without the mind of the believer?

Society, then—at all events that part of it likely to be affected by his activity? Suppose him an ordained priest, performing all the functions implied in that office. Why, to think only of examples recognized by the public at large, how would he differ for the worse from this, that, and the other clergyman who taught Christianity all but with blunt avowal, as a scheme of human ethics? No wolf in sheep's clothing he! He plotted against no man's pocket, no woman's honour; he had no sinister design of sapping the faith of congregations—a scheme, by-the-by, which fanatic liberators might undertake with vast self-approval. If by a word he could have banished religious dogma from the minds of the multitude, he would not have cared to utter it. Wherein lay, indeed a scruple to be surmounted. The Christian priest must be man of humble temper; he must be willing, even eager, to sit down among the poor in spirit as well as in estate, and impart to them his unworldly solaces. Yes, but it had always been recognised that some men who could do the church good service were personally unfitted for those meek ministrations. His place was in the hierarchy of intellect; if he were to be active at all, it must be with the brain. In his conversation with Buckland Warricombe, last October, he had spoken not altogether insincerely. Let him once be a member of the church militant and his heart would go with many a stroke against that democratic movement which desired, among other things, the church abolition. He had power of utterance. Roused to combat by the proletarian challenge, he could make his voice ring in the ears of men, even though he used a symbolism which he would not by choice have adopted.

For it was natural that he should anticipate distinction. Whatever his lot in life, he would not be able to rest among an inglorious brotherhood. If he allied himself with the Church, the Church must assign him leadership whether titular or not was of small moment. In days to come, let people if they would, debate his history, canvass his convictions. His scornful pride invited any degree of publicity, when once his position was secure.

But in the meantime he was leaving aside the most powerful of all his motives, and one which demanded closest scrutiny. Not ambition, in any ordinary sense; not desire of material luxury; no incentive recognised by unprincipled schemers first suggested his dishonour. This edifice of subtle untruth had for its foundation a mere ideal of sexual love. For the winning of some chosen woman, men have wrought vehemently, have ruined themselves and others, have achieved triumphs noble or degrading. But Godwin Peak had for years contemplated the possibility of baseness at the impulse of a craving for love capable only of a social (one might say, of a political) definition. The woman throned in his imagination was no individual, but the type of an order.

MilKons In Rebate.

Washington, May 1.—Preliminary figures have been compiled by the Interstate Commerce Commission investigators—showing the amounts which the Government will allow have been illegally rebated in the recent cases at Cleveland.

Between April 1, 1908, and July 31, 1909, it is alleged $482,000 was rebated by the Pennsylvania Railroad to various shippers, of which $133,000 is said to have been paid to subsidiary companies of the United States Steel Corporation.

Between Jan. 1, 1908, and June 30, 1909, it is alleged more than $798,000 was rebated to the Carnegie Steel Co. by the Bessemer and Lake Erie Railroad. That amount was rebated, it is said, through dock charges, by which a charge of 25 cents a ton was made for handling ore, and 17 cents was rebated.

To Attend Coronation.

Ottawa, May 1.—To consider a proposal to send 200 representative Canadian boy scouts over to England in time for the coronation is the object of a meeting of the Dominion Council of the movement, which met at Government House on Saturday afternoon.

The original plan and that proposed by the British organization, was that the colonial boys should arrive just in time for a monster scout rally to take place in London on July 4. The Dominion authorities, however, are of the opinion that Canadians will give more support if the boys are going to be present at the coronation ceremony.

H. R. Hammond, provincial secretary of the movement, is here.

Hanna Vetoes License.

Woodstock, May 1.—A letter was received by License Inspector Shave Saturday morning from Provincial Secretary Hanna vetoing the license granted to the hotel at the Grand Trunk Railway station.

The commissioner granted the license last week, and the temperance people sent their protests to the Provincial Secretary. Mr. Hanna states that he cancels the license owing to public sentiment being against it.

PELLETIER IS DEAD.

Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec Dies Aged 74 Years.

Quebec, May 1.—Flags are flying at half-mast all over the city in memory of Lieutenant-Governor Sir C. A. Pelletier, who passed away at Spencerwood at three o'clock on Saturday afternoon. His honor, who had had several bad turns since his return from Atlantic City, had rallied somewhat on Friday and was able to sign some state papers. During Friday night, however, he again began to sink, and it was realized that the end was near. His honor died surrounded by the members of his family to whom he gave his blessing prior to his passing away.

Arrangements for the funeral have been completed. The body will be transferred from Spencerwood late today to the Parliament Buildings, where it lies in state in the Legislative Assembly chamber from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Tuesday. The funeral service will take place at the Basilica at 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning, after which the body will be taken by special train over the Intercolonial Railway to Riviere Quille, his native parish, where another service will be held and the interment take place. The funeral will likely be military in its character and will be a most imposing one. Telegrams of condolence have been received from Earl Grey, Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier, Mgr. Sagni, Hon. R. Lemieux, Mayor Guerin of Montreal, and a cablegram from Sir Lomer Gouin, who is in Paris. Numerous floral tributes are also arriving.

STARTS FOR HOME.

Earl Grey and Party Leave Winnipeg Suddenly.

Winnipeg, May 1.—Contrary to the hopes of Winnipeg people, who had anticipated that the Earl and Countess Grey would spend a large part of next week in this city, the viceregal party left for the east Saturday night. The Earl was present at the play at the theatre at night, and at the close of the usual performance the members of the party bid farewell to friends in Winnipeg. It is understood that the political situation at Ottawa had had some effect on his sudden departure.

Very great regret is expressed that it has been found necessary that the Governor-General and Countess Grey should leave for Ottawa so soon. Arrangements had been made for a number of events next week, at which it was hoped that the viceregal party might be present. One of the chief of these was the military concert, to be given by the Sheffield Choir, on Wednesday night. At this function it was hoped that there would be a very large representation of the military of the city, and it was intended that it should be made one of the greatest gatherings in the musical history of the city. Lord Lascelles had indicated his belief that the earl and countess would be present, but the plans have had to be changed, and on Wednesday night the party will be again at Rideau Hall.

Seek Pointers on Taxes.

London, Ont., May 1.—Assessment Commissioner Grant has been written to and asked to explain the system of the "business" tax in London by the City of New York. The New Yorkers have been making enquiries about a business tax, as it is the intention of the bureau of finance of that city to take the matter up and see how the system could be applied to the merchants and business men of New York.

W. A. Pendergast, comptroller of the bureau of municipal investigation of statistics, has been referred by the Provincial Secretary to Commissioner Grant for advice on the subject.

License Transferred.

Berlin, May 1.—The Kaiserhof Hotel Co. still claims the ownership of the Walper House, and as no license has been asked for, it is believed that the company's intention was to run it as a temperance house. It is understood, however, that Wm. Roos, wholesale grocer and liquor dealer, is the real proprietor, and as the present leases, that of Ed. Hollinger, expires on May 3, the license was transferred on Saturday to Joseph Zuber of the Grand Central Hotel, he being given thirty days in which to dispose of his interests in that hotel.

Another British Bulwark.

Barrow-in-Furness, England, May 1.—The Princess Royal, the largest cruiser-battleship ever built for the British navy, was launched yesterday and christened by Princess Royal Louise, after whom the vessel was named.

The cruiser has a displacement of 25,260 tons and turbine engines affording 70,000 horse-power. Her contract calls for a speed of 28 knots an hour. She will carry eight 13.5 inch guns, besides smaller weapons.

PEOPLE'S PULPIT.

Sermon by CHARLES T. RUSSELL Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle.

KEYS OF DEATH AND HADES

Sheol to Be Destroyed, Then Will Come the Shout: "O, Hades, Where Is Thy Victory?"

Sunday, April 30.—Pastor Russell of Brooklyn Tabernacle preached today on the Resurrection, approaching the subject from another standpoint—the destruction of sheol, hades, the grave, the state of death. He considered a number of texts voicing his theme. He said:—

Death is spoken of throughout the Bible as an enemy. Merely hymn-book theology presents it as a friend, an angel sent of God. Death is introduced to our attention in the Bible as the penalty for sin, with the distinct understanding that had Adam not transgressed the Divine commands he need not have died, nor ever have been cast out of his Eden home. St. Paul emphasizes the fact that death is the penalty of sin and that the resurrection of the dead will come to mankind as the result of the redemptive work of Christ. He says, "Since by man comes death, by man also comes the resurrection of the dead. For as all in Adam die, even so all in Christ shall be made alive; but every man in his own order; head or cohort (I. Corinthians xv, 21-22).

As Genesis introduces death as a penalty for sin, Revelation concludes the great drama by pointing out Christ's victory and the destruction of sin and death. The release of all the members of Adam's family from his sentence and eventually the bringing of all the willing back to fellowship with God and to eternal life. Between these two extremes of Divine Revelation are the assurances of the Prophets and the words of Jesus and His Apostles explaining the processes of redemption and reconciliation. St. Paul summarizes these with the statement, "By one man's [disobedience] sin entered into the world, and death as the result of sin, and thus death passed upon all men, because all are sinners. . . . As by one man's disobedience [the] many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall [the] many be made righteous" (Romans v, 12-19).

In the poetic language of Scripture death is symbolically represented as a great monster which has been swallowing up the human family, never satisfied. Millions on millions have already been devoured. Mankind in vain has looked for a Deliverer—for one able to vanquish death and to deliver the prisoners from the great prison-house of sheol, hades, the grave. This monster was granted permission to devour the race by Him Who created us, because we were unworthy of eternal life. Death, therefore, is backed by the mandate of the Almighty, and He cannot overthrow His own decision.

The Divine proposition is that whoever would meet the requirements of Justice against Adam and his race might purchase or ransom them, and have full right to deliver them from the prison-house, the tomb. For four thousand years there were promises looking forward to this great Messianic Deliverer, but only promises—nothing was accomplished. Finally, in due time, God sent forth His Son.

He says that "He came not to condemn the world (not to add to its condemnation, not to add to its sorrow or pain or trouble or hopelessness), but that the world through Him might be saved" from death—have life, perfect and everlasting, deliverance from the jaws of the monster and from his prison-house. But although more than eighteen centuries have since elapsed, the race is being swallowed up of this great monster, death, more voraciously than ever—nearly a thousand every day. His prison-house, sheol, hades, the tomb, is supposed now to contain twenty thousand millions of Adam's children. Why the delay? Did God's plans go awry? Was the Saviour insufficient for His work? Was His sacrifice imperfect and unsatisfactory?

The Scriptures assure us that the sacrifice that Jesus offered (Himself) was a satisfaction, "ransom-price," for the sins of the whole world. They tell us that the Heavenly Father manifested His approval of the sacrifice when He granted the Pentecostal blessing, and that Jesus is even now at the Father's right hand waiting (Hebrews x, 12-13) until the time shall come when the nation and the uttermost parts of the earth shall be given to Him, that He may establish His reign of righteousness, blessing the world and releasing all the prisoners of Sin and Death.

The delay is not in any sense an indication of weakness, nor of any change in the Divine program. It merely indicates that there is another feature of the Almighty's purpose which we did not for a time discern. The work is to be a great one. Twenty thousand millions are to be delivered from death's prison-house. And all of them will need instruction, uplifting, chastening, schooling, to prepare them for the Divine blessing of life everlasting. The time for instruction and uplifting is declared to be a thousand years. The power for the instruction is the Messianic Kingdom, the Rulers of which will be Messiah and His Bride—joint-heir with Him in His Kingdom. During the past nineteen centuries God, by His Word and providences, has been calling and drawing a "little flock" to Christ to be His Bride.

And not until all of these shall be called, drawn, tested, proven faithful unto death as followers in the Master's footsteps, will the elect Body be complete and the slaying of the great monster, Sin and Death, be begun and accomplished. For that day the saints are waiting and praying, "Come, Lord Jesus, come quickly!" And for that day the whole creation is waiting, although not clearly informed respecting the blessings in store for them (Romans viii, 19, 21).

St. Paul points us to the great Deliverer, the glorified Messiah, at the time when He shall take the Kingdom under the whole heavens and begin the fulfillment of the prayer He taught us, "Thy Kingdom come; Thy will be done on earth as in heaven." He tells us He must reign until He shall have put all enemies under His feet—"The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death" (I. Corinthians xv, 26). The meaning is clear. Messiah's Kingdom will address itself promptly to the rectification of every form of unrighteousness, financial, political, social, religious. He will rule the world with a rod of iron and every nation and every system or element contrary to the Divine standards of righteousness will be broken to shivers with His "iron rod." Thus will righteousness be established in the earth in the midst of "a time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation."

But the putting down of sin will be but the beginning of Messiah's work. Satan being bound, and the reign of sin thus stopped, each transgression will receive a just recompense and each good endeavor a just reward. Gradually mankind will rise out of sin and therefore proportionately come from under the power of death, until all the willing and obedient shall be fully delivered from all danger as respects the monster which has devoured our race for sixty centuries. Not only so, but those twenty thousand millions who have gone into the prison-house of death will be released—not all at once, but gradually, as the Apostle declares, "Every man in his own order," or band.

By the close of the thousand years of Messiah's reign, His victory over Sin and Death will be complete. Every member of Adam's race will have been lifted from the prison-house of death. It will be a prison-house no longer, for there will be no prisoners in it; mankind will have been lifted out of the clutches of Sin and Death, weakness and depravity, by the processes of restitution, resurrection, uplifting (Acts iii, 19-23). The victory over sin will be complete, because all who love sin and are willingly its servants, after being released from the condemnation of the Adamic death, will be destroyed in the Second Death. Thus Adamic Sin and Death will finally be completely routed and the prison-house of death be broken up. And Adam and his family, not willingly sinners, will all be set at liberty—restored to human perfection, as the earth will be brought to Edenic perfection.

Then will be brought to pass the Divine prophecy, "O, death, where is thy sting? O, grave, where is thy victory?" (I. Corinthians xv, 55). We must notice when this is to be brought to pass. It is not now true. The sting of death is in us all, for, as the Apostle explains, Sin is the sting of death. And because all have been stung by sin, all are dying. It will require the entire Messianic Age to fully extract from humanity the virus, the sting, of sin by bringing mankind to perfection. Only as the sting of death is removed will the power of death relax, because it is a part of the Divine Law that "The soul that sinneth, it shall die." Death has its sting. But when that which is perfect shall have come, the sting will be gone, the imperfection and weakness will be gone, the cause for sin will also be gone.

Not now, but then, will be brought to pass the saying, "O, Hades, where is thy victory?" Hades, sheol, the grave, has been having a victory over Adam's race for over sixty centuries. And its victory will not be entirely overturned until the Redeemer shall have delivered from the power of the grave the last member of the human family—for all of whom "He died, the Just for the unjust, to bring us back to God."

Thus, as the Apostle says, with the culmination of Christ's Kingdom, with the deliverance of all mankind from the power of Sin and Death, death will be swallowed up in victory. The Apostle probably quoted from Hosea xiii, 14, where we read, "I will ransom them from the power of the grave (sheol); I will redeem them from death; O death, I will be thy plagues (gradual destruction); O grave (sheol), I will be thy destruction; repentance shall be hid from mine eyes." The Almighty will never change or turn from this decision. Death and the grave, sheol, hades (the Bible hell), are to be destroyed. Every member of Adam's race is to be delivered by Him who redeems all.

A key is a symbol of authority and symbolizes a legal power to open the prison-house and to release the prisoners. Adamic death has been a legal penalty upon our race—a just penalty. But although all shared the condemnation and weakness, God foresaw that some of the race, if granted the opportunity, would gladly return to loyalty to His laws. He has, therefore, made provision through Jesus for every member of the race, great and small, rich and poor. World-wide redemption will be provided and world-wide opportunity for the coming to a knowledge of the Truth and for being uplifted or resurrected to life shall be afforded. The right or power to release mankind from the power of death and from the prison-house of the tomb, sheol, hades, the grave, is represented by the key in the hands of Messiah. He gained that key, that rightful authority to set us free from the grave, by the redemption which He accomplished for us at Calvary.

This figure of the prison-house was used also by the Lord through Isaiah the Prophet. Is it not written that the Lord was anointed to preach a message of good tidings to the meek, to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives of Sin and Death and the opening of the prison-house of death to those that are bound? And did not Jesus apply this very prophecy to Himself? (Isaiah lxi, 1; Luke iv, 18). Surely our Lord opened no earthly prison-doors at His first advent. But just as surely He foretold that He would open the prison-doors and set all the captives free. His death, "the Just for the unjust," was in order that He might have the rightful authority to release the prisoners—by His death He secured the key.

Eventually this glorious work will be consummated, and in the consummation of it the elect Church of this Gospel Age is invited to have a share. Hence the Church is called out from the world first under a special Covenant of sacrifice that she may with her Lord, the Redeemer, become part of the Seed of Abraham on the spirit plane (Galatians iii, 29).

"And death and hell (hades) were cast into the lake of fire. This is the Second Death" (Revelation xx, 14). In the symbolic language of Revelation, Messiah's reign is described as a glorious opportunity for all mankind to come back into harmony with the Almighty and to attain everlasting life through the great Mediatorial Kingdom. The symbolic picture of which this text is a part, describes the establishment of Messiah's Kingdom, the saints of this Gospel Age being with Him in His throne, in His Kingdom, reigning with Him—a Royal Priesthood (Revelation xiv, 4-6).

The context further describes that period, in which all mankind shall be brought to a knowledge of the Truth, when all will "stand before the great White Throne." Messiah's Judgment Throne, to be tried, to be tested, to be proven whether they will accept or refuse the perfection and eternal life which Divine mercy will then make possible for them. During that thousand years of Messiah's reign, as we have seen, death will be gradually swallowed up in victory. And as the prisoners of the tomb are gradually released, the grave will be destroyed, will be no more.

The statement, death and hades were cast into the lake of fire, which is the Second Death, is merely another way of explaining to us that Adamic death, and the grave covenant of the Second Death, will be superseded by the close of the Mediatorial reign, will not have come up to perfection and will not have gotten entirely free from the power of sin and the tomb, will themselves be responsible for their wrong condition, their imperfection. The great Mediator will have done everything right, proper and necessary for all. Whoever then will come short of eternal life will himself only be to blame. And the trial time over, any not fully delivered, any still held by sin and death, will be willingly held, and all such will be turned over to the Second Death, destruction, symbolized by fire, from which there will be no recovery.

Let it be remembered that the Valley of Hinnom, outside of Jerusalem the earthly, where only the vile refuse was destroyed, will find its antitype in the Second Death, symbolically represented as a lake of fire outside the New Jerusalem. In it will be consumed utterly, completely, everything out of harmony with the Divine will.

In the New Testament, as we have seen, hades stands for the grave or state of death, which results from Adam's transgression; while Gehenna represent the Second Death, which will come only upon those who shall first have been delivered from the Adamic sentence, or shall have had at least a full opportunity for deliverance and who will manifest their love for sin more than for righteousness and who, therefore, will be sentenced to the Second Death.

But in the Old Testament there is no distinctive word used to represent the Second Death—the extinction which will be the penalty of personal, willful transgression. To meet the difficulty the word sheol is used a second time. For instance, we read of some who will be willfully wicked after enjoying a knowledge of the Truth—not merely inheritors of imperfection and weakness which they have not overcome, but intelligently willful sinners—"The wicked shall be returned to sheol together with all people who forget God" (Psalm ix, 17). In our Common Version the prefix re is improperly omitted. The "wicked" are only those who sin against light, knowledge and opportunity, and only those can be said to forget God who have once known Him—who have been brought to a knowledge of the Truth and turned from it. Truly, my hearers, the resurrection hope is the great theme of the Bible.

A Much-Licked Son. It may or may not be true, but the story is told of the late Bishop DuMoulin. His son, living in Chicago, wrote on the fourth of July, and the letter started out this way: "Dear Father: I am celebrating the day we licked you."

The old bishop wrote back and this is a free translation of one sentence in his letter: "I would be celebrating every day in the year if I celebrated every day I licked you."—Weekly Star.

Undoubtedly True. "Anyway," said the man who was getting the worst of the argument, "there's one thing no woman has ever done and probably never will do."

"What is that?" queried the fair suffragette. "Spill anything through silence," answered the mere man as he hurried away.

TEACHERS KILLED

Three Dead and Eight Missing in Pennsylvania Wreck.

OVER FIFTY ARE INJURED

Disaster Occurs to Special Train Carrying Utica and Syracuse Teachers on an Outing to Washington and Overturned Cars Catch Fire—The Missing Are Believed to Have Been Burned to Death.

Easton, Pa., May 1.—Three persons lost their lives, eight are missing and believed to be dead, and half a hundred others were injured on Saturday afternoon at Martin's Creek, N.J., in a wreck of an excursion train, carrying 170 school teachers and friends from Utica and Syracuse, N.Y., and vicinity to Washington, for a week's outing.

The train was one furnished the teachers by the Delaware, Lackawanna Western Railroad, and the accident occurred while it was traveling at a high rate of speed over a stretch of track controlled by the Pennsylvania Railroad. The locomotive jumped the track, the cars toppled over and were set on fire by exploding oil, the wrecked coaches having side-wiped an oil tank along the track when they left the rails.

The entire train was quickly enveloped in flames and completely consumed by the fire. The eight missing persons, seven of whom were women and lived in Utica, are believed to have been burned to death in the wreck. The finding of charred bones led the railroad wrecking crews to the conclusions that they are dead.

The most seriously injured were removed to the Easton hospital, where two of them, Miss Eleanor Rutherford, a Utica teacher, and Charles M. Person of Stroudsburg, Pa., a Pennsylvania Railway conductor, died on Saturday night, while W. M. Vanoy of Trenton, N.J., engineer of the train, succumbed early Sunday morning.

The physicians at the hospital said that most of those in the hospital will get well. Those not injured and who were willing to return at once to their homes, left Martin's Creek late Saturday night.

The cause of the wreck has not yet been ascertained. The place where the accident occurred had been undergoing repairs and unfinished work may have been responsible for the train leaving the track.

Vice-President Sherman was to have given a reception for the teachers in Washington and it was reported he was on the ill-fated train. Later, however, it was learned that he had remained at his home.

Another Fatal Wreck. Tampa, Fla., May 1.—Walter Hagens of Chicago was killed, and T. F. Cook, baggage-master, was fatally injured, when Coast Line train No. 39, from Jacksonville to Tampa, was wrecked near Ocala last night. Twelve passengers were more or less seriously injured.

Hagens, a 12-year-old boy, was in the baggage car feeding a pet dog and it was in trying to save him that the baggage master was injured. Spreading rails caused the wreck.

ARRESTED; KILLS HIMSELF.

Saskatchewan Man Dies Rather Than Face Jail.

Swift Current, Sask., May 1.—C. G. Sadlemeyer, a homesteader at Burdado, a farming district southeast of here, shot himself Saturday when placed under arrest by Corp. Snedden, charged with forgery. He died instantly. Sadlemeyer saw the police bureau, but his wife took it from him and placed it back. When arrested he asked time to change his clothes, and he and his wife went into the room together. His wife went out to tell the corporal that she had a receipt for the money in question. As soon as his wife left him he reached for the gun and shot himself through the breast. He never moved after. His wife is prostrated. She is only 17, and he was 24. They kept a restaurant here last summer and were well-known.

Huron Wants Hydro Power. Goderich, May 1.—The special committee of the Huron County Council named to investigate and deal with the question of the development of power on the Maitland River, will go to Toronto shortly to interview the Hydro-Electric Commission on the subject. Two engineers were in Goderich a few days ago in the interests of the commission, and as a result of the conference the commission will be asked to say whether they will take whatever power may be possible of development, and also to furnish an estimate of the quantity of power available and the cost of development.

Met Swift Death. Quebec, May 1.—A little boy named Gingras met with a swift death while out driving with his parents Saturday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Meaurio Gingras were out enjoying a drive with their two children. The little ones were sitting with their backs to the horses. While on the Little River road, near the Canadian Northern Railway crossing, the father touched up the horse with the whip, when the animal suddenly kicked, striking the boy in the back and killing him instantly. The boy was only eleven years of age.

Abolish-Common Drinking Cup. Berlin, May 1.—The Board of Education has authorized the abolition of the common drinking cup in all of the schools after May 15, and the pupils will be instructed to bring their own cups for drinking purposes. During April there has been larger numbers than usual of contagious diseases here—eleven of scarlet fever and nine of diphtheria. Three of the latter proved fatal. The Board of Health has authorized the immediate erection of an isolation hospital and a smallpox shack.
