

WOMAN TAKEN TO HOSPITAL AFTER UNSUCCESSFUL SUICIDE ATTEMPT

Mrs. J. Piencikowski, Harris Street, Alleged To Have Attempted to Commit Suicide at Her Residence—Was Removed to Hospital in a Bad Nervous State.

Mrs. J. Piencikowski, Harris St., is lying in the Port Hope Hospital as a result of an unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide at her residence about ten o'clock this morning.

It is stated that Mrs. Piencikowski, who has been ailing for some time, was in an upstairs room and attempted to use a .32 calibre revolver to take her life. One shot is alleged to have been fired and the woman fell to the floor in a bad nervous state.

Dr. W. F. Beamish was summoned and the woman was removed to the hospital in Messrs Jex and Smith's ambulance. After an examination no trace of any bullet marks could be found although Mrs. Piencikowski was suffering from abrasions in the head, no doubt caused by striking her head on the floor when she fell.

TRUCK UPSET

The Dominion Brewery truck proceeding west with a load of empties from the Cobourg warehouse when it ran off the road seventy-five yards west of Harness' Blacksmith shop at one o'clock this afternoon. The truck upset and was damaged, but we understand no one was severely hurt.

ABOUT DOUGLAS FIR

The timber of the Douglas fir is sold under various names—Douglas fir, Columbian pine and Oregon pine. The tree grows throughout the southern part of British Columbia and the sawn lumber is shipped from Pacific coast ports.

SAYS EMIGRATION PROSPECTS GOOD

C.P.R. Commissioner Returns After Tour of European Countries

Expressing the opinion that the emigration movement this year would be fairly satisfactory, and that the same number would be reached as in 1927, Col. J. S. Dennis, Chief Commissioner of the Colonization and Development Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway, returned to Canada Monday aboard the S.S. Montclair, after a four months' trip to Europe, during which time he visited the Company's offices in Great Britain, France, Italy, Jugo-Slavia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Austria, Hungary, Holland, Belgium, Sweden, Germany, Norway and Denmark.

Col. Dennis expressed himself as being particularly pleased with the prospects for the movement of a larger number of people from Holland and Denmark, Sweden and Norway, and expressed the opinion that the careful selection which was being made in the Central European countries would ensure the movement of a satisfactory class of agriculturists from those countries.

Col. Dennis, who was accompanied by his wife and daughter, left for Montreal on the special boat train a short time after the steamer was docked.

SANITARY WIN OPENING GAME

1927 Champions Defeat Mathews 4-2 Before Record Crowd Monday

The Port Hope Softball loop got away to a fine start at Viaduct Park Monday night when the Port Hope Sanitary, 1927 champions and holders of the McMahon Shield, handed the short end of a 4 to 2 score to the Mathews Conveyer. Little was known of the Mathews team but a snappy aggregation was presented and the opening game was one of the best played on the softball diamond here. A record crowd witnessed the contest and despite the chilliness of the atmosphere, remained until the last batter was retired.

The opening ceremonies were short, but added a certain amount of color to the game. J. B. Holland of the Port Hope Sanitary, pitched the first ball, while L. T. Sylvester of Mathews Conveyer Ltd., was stationed behind the plate. Frank Flood, a member of the executive, wielded the bat in Babe Ruth, but bemoaned the fact that he did not have an opportunity to knock a homer at least. The pitcher took a neat windup, but the batter could not dodge it and was struck by the ball. The erstwhile pitcher vacated the mound and the game was on.

The Sanitary team presented practically the same line up as last year, but trotted out two new faces. Hagerman held down first base, while Phillips patrolled the left garden. Williams was on the mound and pitched steady ball throughout. The Mathews coralled seven hits off his delivery and he whiffed five batsmen. Four bases on balls were issued, with Kennedy drawing three.

The winners amassed a total of twelve hits with four safeties coming in one inning. McCullough twirled a lever ball for the opening game and registered one strike out, Ham being the victim on his first trip to the plate. Three free tickets were issued.

When the Sanitary went to bat in the first innings, only three men faced McCullough. Ham fanned Rowden popped to second and Munro rolled to third.

The Carrier men, threatened in their half of the inning, but a double play spoiled their scoring chances. R. Laurie made a hit on his appearance to bat and Kennedy drew a free ticket after Sibley had whiffed. Trew popped to Williams and Laurie was doubled off second. The losers also worked a snappy double play in their half of the second.

In the first half of the third stanza, McCullough was supported by air tight fielding and the opposition was retired on three pitched balls. Peacock rolled to third and Clarke fouled out to the catcher, while Ham grounded to short. The Mathews got men on second and third with two out in the third, but Trew bounced to second.

The Tubmen opened the scoring in their half of the fourth and one run was manufactured on four hits and a base on balls. Rowden started the fireworks by a safety to right and Munro uncorked a single to left, Hagerman hoisted a double to centre and Rowden crossed the plate, but Munro was out trying to score. Williams advanced the runners with a hit, and after Wade skied to K. McMahon, Phillips drew a pass, clogging the sacks. Manager Jex deemed this an opportune time to substitute a pinch hitter for Peacock and went to bat himself. He corked a hefty blow to right field but G. McMahon made a fine catch, retiring the side.

The winners added three more in the fifth innings on three hits, two bases on balls and a sacrifice hit. The Mathews decided that it was time to break into the scoring column, and urged on by their supporters, shoved across two counters. J. Laurie secured a single to left and Sibley drew a pass. Kennedy drove one at Williams and all hands were safe. Trew came through with the necessary hit and two runners crossed the plate.

This completed the scoring for the game, but in the second half of the seventh, the Mathews got men around to second and third with only one out. Williams tightened up and the threatened rally was nipped in the bud. Trew looped to left and K. McMahon fouled

RENFREW MAN PREACHED HERE

Rev. G. A. Sisco Delivered Two Sermons In United Church Sunday

Sunday Rev. G. A. Sisco of Renfrew, occupied the pulpit of the United Church at both services and preached two sermons which showed deep thought and careful preparation.

In the morning his subject was taken from Colossians 1:16 and 17. "For by him were all things created, that are in the heaven and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones or dominions, or principalities or powers; all things were created by him and for him; and he is before all things and by him all things consist." In summing up his sermon he left this impression: that creeds and dogmas are evolved from man's conception or understanding of the infinite and frequently are set forth as the foundation for human faith.

St. Paul in this epistle proclaims that the only abiding and changeless basis for man's faith is the immaculate man Christ Jesus the Creator of all things and by whom all things consist.

In the evening the text of his sermon was taken from the twenty-fourth chapter of Luke, the story of Christ's walk to Emmaus which he read for the lesson. His text was found in the 28th and 29th verses particularly emphasizing "He (Christ) would have gone further."

Mr. Sisco outlined the circumstances surrounding the text and stressed the above phrase showing how Christ would have gone further in various activities which the church has taken part in from that time until the present. In speaking of the meeting of Protestants at Lousan recently he pointed out that they had gone a great distance but the fact that the representatives from the various denominations could not take communion together, that they could not all sit at the Lord's Table together, clearly indicated that the Christian church had not gone far enough.

In conclusion he urged the members not to be half way Christians and be miserable but to go all the way.

The choir had two excellent anthems which added much to the service.

Mrs. C. W. Evans sang very sweetly at the morning service "The City Foursquare."

NO OTHER PAPER WAS SUGGESTED

Anything Stated At Cobourg Based On Statement Of Claim

Frank Regan, counsel for F. W. Wilson in the Currie libel case, has stated that at no time during the Cobourg trial did his client suggest that any other newspaper had libelled the Canadian Corps Commander. Any statement that he (Mr. Regan) may have made during the trial regarding the reprinting of the Port Hope Guide's article on "Mons," by other papers, was, he declared, based on one paragraph in General Currie's statement of claim, and on his assumption that the particular paragraph was correct.

The paragraph reads as follows: "The said newspaper, The Port Hope Guide, has had at the time of the said publication, a wide circulation and the said article was copied by other newspapers, particularly The Ottawa Citizen and The St. Catharines Herald."

COUNCIL APPOINT DR. W. F. BEAMISH AS MEDICAL OFFICER OF HEALTH

Local Physician Receives M.O.H. Appointment at Salary of $400 Per Annum and the Necessary By-Law Passed—Considerable Discussion re Traffic Problem.

Dr. W. F. Beamish, John Street, local physician and surgeon, was appointed Medical Officer of Health for the Town of Port Hope, at the regular session of the Town Council held in the Council Chamber on Monday evening. The necessary by-law appointing the M.O.H. was read a third time and passed. Dr. Beamish will receive a salary of $400 per annum. The vacancy was caused by the death of Dr. Geo. A. Dickinson and since that time Dr. Beamish has been doing the routine work connected with that position. Dr. Beamish made application at the meeting of the City Fathers two weeks ago, while Monday evening, Dr. C. B. Kelly made application for the position.

Two Absentees

Reeve L. H. Giddy and Councillor Moss-Hewson were absentees at Monday night's session of the Council and those present included Mayor R. J. Edmunds, Deputy Reeve Rosevear and Councillors Jas. Sinnott, J. A. R. Elliott, H. Merrifield, H. W. Mitchell and S. Brickell.

Hayward Street Paving

The following communication was received from E. J. Wormington, local agent for the Canadian National Railways. It reads as follows: "So far as I am aware nothing has been done by the Town Council in regard to the paving of Hayward Street. It was understood the matter would be discussed before this and some action taken."

"Our management is anxious to get our property paved as early as possible, but which depends in the first place on action by the town, as was fully brought out at a joint meeting some weeks ago."

"May I ask that the matter be brought up for action?"

Resolutions

Mitchell-Rosevear—That the Mayor be instructed to issue a warrant to hold a tax sale for unpaid taxes of three years or over.

Sinnott-Brickell—That the street and bridge committee be authorized to purchase a car load of 6", 8", 10" and 12" tile.

Claims of Flood Sufferers

Mayor Edmunds read out the following claims from taxpayers who suffered losses as a result of the floods in Port Hope during the first part of April. The list included:

J. N. Johnston	$ 850.00
Ontario Hotel	2468.00
Thos. Roberts	241.25
Geo. T. Hancock	343.14
Thos. Hayden	450.00
R. S. Brown Est.	449.00
H. W. Mitchell	512.00

Mayor Edmunds—Something has to be done in some shape or other. Councillor Sinnott—I think a committee should go into it and get advice and report at the next meeting.

Councillor Elliott—I agree with Councillor Sinnott, to report at the next meeting.

Councillor Sinnott—It's a big question to handle. We should get legal advice and see if we are liable.

Councillor Merrifield thought it would be advisable to appoint a committee and then bring in a report.

Councillor Mitchell—I think if the entire council met and had a round table talk we would be farther ahead.

Councillor Sinnott—I don't see any right to settle if we don't know if we are liable. It is a serious thing and may crop up again next year. The creek is not town property and can we go on and interfere? We may possibly have some rights as a town but there are many points to be brought up.

Deputy Reeve Rosevear—The council has feeling for those who suffered loss. Their feeling seems to be that they can collect the accounts and the only thing to do is to get advice.

Mayor Edmunds to Town Clerk Sanders—Do you recall any previous accounts of flood sufferers?

Mr. Sanders—This is the first time.

Flower Bed Destroyed

Councillor Sinnott remarked that the flower bed at the corner of King and Ward streets was being destroyed by cars crossing over it and it seemed a shame that a beauty spot should be ruined.

Councillor Sinnott remarked that several signs in town, including the stop street signs had been partly destroyed and the speaker did not see what delight people took in destroying them. He thought that people should take an interest in the town and if the signs were destroyed in the future, that the police should be more severe.

Councillor Elliott—I agree with Councillor Sinnott. If a little attention was devoted to the street signs than the odd light that was out, it would be better for the police. The Mill street sign is down—

"Torn to pieces," interjected Mr. Sinnott.

"And it is a dangerous corner," said Mr. Elliott, continuing, "and the attention of the police should be drawn to it."

Mayor Edmunds remarked of the dense parking of cars on John St. on Saturday night.

Councillor Elliott—It seems queer that we have a police officer with experience and I can't understand why the Chairman of the Police Committee has to dictate to him. The by-laws are here to read and I don't see why I have to take the responsibility on my shoulders.

"If any citizen is approached fairly and asked to move his car, I know he will do it. I have confidence in the people of Port Hope and am willing to do anything the Council wants me to do."

"I'll enforce the by-law if you want me to," declared Councillor Elliott.

Councillor Sinnott—The question arose last year and where is a man to put his car unless a parking space is provided?

Councillor Mitchell stated that the same question was brought up three years ago and no one seemed able to offer a suggestion to relieve the situation.

Mayor Edmunds—It's a case of the autos ruling the streets and not the town of Port Hope.

Deputy Reeve Rosevear—It seems hard for the merchants to have their places of business blocked and if we get too strict they will drive away.

Councillor Elliott—I agree with Mr. Rosevear, but if the motorists were approached in a fair way, I think they would be fair minded enough to make other arrangements for parking.

course coming down Bruton street, across Seymour and Brown streets, and into the creek. A number of years ago part of it was tilted, and sewers from houses in that locality entered it. The course is now blocked and is causing considerable annoyance to residents on Cavan Street.

Town Solicitor D. H. Chisholm was present and explained the situation. He explained that he thought it was a water course turned into a sewer. There was never anything legal about it and might have been stopped by the town any time. The matter to decide is how to settle the matter in an expedient way.

WHALE HARVEST GROWS LARGER

Centre of Operations Changed From the North To the Antarctic

The whaling days of romance and history, when New Bedford was the centre of this industry, are long past but more whales are being killed now than ever before.

The centre of operations has changed from New England and the North Atlantic to the Falkland Islands and the Antarctic and the oil, while no longer needed for illumination, is in growing demand, chiefly for the manufacture of soap and also for use in cosmetics, lard substitutes, and candles, and for the making of glycerine.

The whalers, now Norwegians instead of weather bitten Yankees, are pursuing the mighty creatures in all the seas of the earth with such intensity that Lewis Radcliffe, deputy commissioner of the Bureau of Fisheries, expressed concern before the American Society of Mammalogists that some species were threatened with extermination.

"At no stage in the history of the whale fisheries," he said, "have the whalers been so harassed in so many parts of the globe. Such improvements as the whale gun, the huge bloating factories with their convoys of whale chasers, now perfected to the point where the whales may be drawn aboard for rendering, have greatly increased the efficiency of operations. That the whale supply will long stand up under the losses in numbers of 18,000 whales or more killed a year, seems extremely doubtful."

He presented figures obtained from Frederick H. Meisner of the Tariff Commission, showing that the kill has risen from 11,500 whales in 1921 to 25,300 in 1927 and the production of the oil had increased to 61,000,000 gallons. At the peak of New Bedford's glory as the principal whaling port in 1855, the American output was only a little more than 12,000,000 gallons, and that represented more than 75 per cent of the world production.

Some idea of the modern phase of the industry was given the mammalogists by Dr. Waldo L. Schmitt of the United States National Museum, in a lecture on a visit to the South Shetland whaling area. One Norwegian company reported a gross income of $2,930,300 in 1926, he related, while the individual whalers, unlike the men who risked their lives to harpoon the monsters by hand from open boats in choppy seas, gained relatively fabulous rewards.

"These men are verily reincarnations of the Vikings of Saga and story," he related. "The high wages attract high grade men. As all share on a percentage basis in the catch or production, in addition to a predetermined base pay, the earnings in successful years sometimes reach very high figures. A mere deck hand in a good season may receive as much as $1,800. The captains of the catchers get an average of $5,000 in the South Shetlands and, I'm told, four or five times as much at South Georgia."

He told of one captain who received $40,000 in one season of nine months and another who received a guarantee of $37,500 a season to leave the service of one company and take charge of a chaser for a rival concern.

In addition to the oil, Mr. Radcliffe observed, the products of the industry include whale meat, a protein food the value of which is just beginning to be recognized, bone meal, blood meal, stearine, whalebone and guano. To save the industry, he recommends the undertaking of biological studies to determine the condition and trend of the fishery, the setting up of a licensing system to eliminate wasteful practices and establishment of an international commission to conserve the industry.

FIRE THREATENS MANY BUILDINGS

Belleville House Is Practically Destroyed By Early Morning Fire

The home, barn and outbuildings owned by William O'Sullivan, residing on the Fifth Concession of Thurlow, near Belleville, were totally destroyed by fire Monday afternoon. The house was of modern construction and had all the fixtures of a house in the city. The barn was one of the best in the neighborhood. The loss is estimated at $12,000, and only partly covered by insurance.

The furniture of the house was saved but many of the implements and last season's grain and fourteen pigs were destroyed in the blaze. The son, Clare O'Sullivan, was putting a team in the barn when he heard a loud crackling over head, and, upon opening the door, he met with a mass of flames. The wind blew the sparks over on the house, which took fire. Many farmhouses in the immediate vicinity took fire, but heroic work on the part of the large number who gathered saved them.

MUSKRATS ON TRIP TO EUROPE

The largest shipment of muskrats from a Canadian farm to European points has just been carried by the Canadian Pacific Express Company on the new C.P.R. fast freight boat Beaverdale, which cleared from Montreal over the week end. The muskrats, which were reared on the farm of Dr. H. A. Nesbitt, north of Lindsay, number 156, and greatest care is being taken that they reach their destinations in Germany, France and Finland in perfect condition. They are stored on the boat in a cool spot free from wind and draught. Their special food while on the journey will consist of hay, oats, corn, oatmeal, carrots and beets, dipped in water.

URGE OBSERVANCE OF EMPIRE DAY

Prelates in England Issue Appeal—Commonwealth Sacred Trust

An appeal has been issued urging a religious observance of Empire Day, May 24. It is signed by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Most Rev. Dr. Randall Thomas Davidson, the Archbishop of York, Most Rev. Dr. Cosmo Gordon Lang, and the principal Free Church ministers of the country. The appeal is as follows: "In many sections of the Christian Church there has been for some considerable time a fear lest the emphasis in the celebration of Empire Day should be on things relatively unimportant, rather than on the need for developing those qualities without which no nation can be truly feeling that Empire Day should be made an occasion when the Church of Christ should consider its spiritual responsibilities for the sons and daughters of the Motherland scattered throughout the world."

"At a time when men's thoughts are centred upon the Empire it ought to be possible for the Church of Christ to bring to our remembrance the fact that the British Commonwealth of Nations is a sacred trust. Millions of Britons overseas are involved in economic, social and political relations with every nation and race. The possibility therefore of their realizing their brotherhood and securing peace on earth depends on whether the Church can succeed in forming the character of the Britons overseas on the teachings of Christ."

MAY: MONTH OF BEAUTY

Now comes May, one of the prettiest and most pleasant months of the year. Winter has gone, the sudden showers of April are past, the heat of summer has not yet come and vegetation prepares to spread with lavish hand its beauty all about us.

The origin of the name of most months is easy to trace. Not so May. It is generally agreed that it was named for Maia, the Roman goddess of spring, but there is also a theory that May is the abbreviated form of Majores and that the month was so called because it was held sacred to older men as June was dedicated to juniors or younger men.

Originally, May was the third month, but it became fifth when the Romans placed January and February at the beginning of the year. It always has had 31 days. Its special flower is the hawthorn and its gem the emerald.

Since earliest times the first of May has been marked by outdoor festivities and children have danced about a Maypole for hundreds of years.

Today many schools have May-day festivals in which gay costumes, pretty flowers and dancing complete a most colorful picture. May is marked by few important historical anniversaries, compared to other months, and few holidays.—Oshawa Times.

GENERAL MOTORS PAYS OLD WAGE

Follows Recent Strike At Oshawa Plant—Collecting 4000 Men

The General Motors of Canada has consented to continue to pay to its 4000 Oshawa employees who were engaged in a recent wage dispute the same wages as were in force before the reduction of last March until the 1929 models are introduced. After that time a new schedule will be proposed.

Such is the unanimous report of the board of conciliation and investigation recently established by the Minister of Labor. The board described the settlement as "satisfactory."

"Many of the complaints presented by the men related to either individual cases or to specific or particular acts or omissions, all of which have been remedied or as above stated are in process of being remedied by the company," states the report of the arbitration board, the chairman of which was Judge Denton of Toronto. James Simpson of Toronto represented the employees and W. E. Davy, of Oshawa the company. The employees were represented before the board by Robert W. Stuart, Robert Montgomery and H. C. Cox. The company was represented by its general manager H. A. Brown, W. H. Clark, of the standards department and W. A. Coad, factory manager.

"It is unnecessary," the report adds, "to refer in detail to those complaints inasmuch as they are already out of the way by the action or undertaking of the company. It is advisable however to refer to one matter which was the subject of general comment, that is the Cumulative Earning System, which has already been or is in process of being abolished by the company."

Concerning the revised schedule after the introduction of the 1929 models, the report states:

"When the new rates are accepted they shall continue in force (subject to such minor changes as are not of a fundamental character) as long as such models are in vogue."

"In justification of the position taken by the company in reducing the rates in March last, the company produced figures, which in the absence of any refutation we felt bound to accept. These figures show that the ratio of production in the other plants of the company is greater than in the Oshawa plant. Conditions in the Oshawa plant being equal to those in other plants we are of the opinion that this differential in efficiency can and should be reduced."

"The company agrees that in the employment, dismissal or treatment of their employees they will not discriminate between such as are members of a Labor union and such as are not."

"It is a pleasure to be able to state that the representatives of the men, as well as the representatives of the company have acted through out the inquiry with a genuine desire to bring about a settlement of all matters in dispute and establish the most cordial relationship between employer and employees," concludes the report, which is dated at Oshawa May 4.

EFFORTS RESULT IN SAVING CHILDREN

One House And Buildings Are Totally Destroyed

Fire practically destroyed a fine brick residence on East Moira Street, Belleville, early Monday. It was caused from a heated chimney. Two children of one of the tenants, Harvey Anderson, were asleep in an upstairs room and were rescued with some difficulty. Neither were burned but they suffered from semi-suffocation. The loss was in excess of $1000 with no insurance.

CHANGE PLANNED RE INCOME TAX

Farmer, Like Manufacturer, Allowed To Pay on Inventory Basis

The Department of National Revenue is making changes in income tax regulations which will place the farmer upon the same basis as the manufacturer. In the future the farmer is to be allowed to pay on an inventory basis, whereas in the past he has paid upon a cash income basis. It means that he can take an inventory of produce on hand at the beginning of a year and another at the commencement of the next, deduct any shrinkage and take it into account in computing his tax. It is mainly a concession to the Western farmer.

GOLDEN DAYS

Another day of toil and strife,
Another page so white,
Within that fateful Log of Life
That I and all must write;
Another page without a stain
To make of as I may,
That done, I shall not see again
Until the Judgment Day.

Ah, could I, could I, backward turn
The pages of that Book,
How often would I blench and burn
How often loathe to look!
What pages would be meanly scrolled;
What smeaeth as if with mud;
A few, maybe, might gleam like gold,
Some scarlet seem as blood.

O Record grave, God guide my hand
And make me worthy be,
Since what I write today 'shall stand
To all eternity;
Aye, teach me, Lord of Life, I pray,
As I salute the sun,
To bear myself that every day
May be a golden one.

THE GUIDE STORY

There was a pause. "Won't you tell, Mr. Pett, please do?" she asked. "Not today. Tomorrow, perhaps, when you are less tired," was the cheerful response. Though she pouted and threw bewitching glances at him and uttered faint sighs, he resolutely forbore to either look at her or speak, until he had opened The Briars garden gate for her to pass through. Then he met her glance fairly and smiled at her mutinous little face. "Even you, Miss Fenton, must not have everything your own way." Presuming on the episode of the afternoon, Firefly let Hal take her machine into the workshop and interview the man while she hunted up Mrs. West, bound her over to secrecy as to their already having met, and informed her that for her own sake, she had better not claim her bicycle. Finally she introduced the widow to Hal and succeeded in driving that estimable young man to the verge of frenzy, by half explanations and sly innuendoes about the other rider who had been fortunate enough to escape scot-free.

It was with manifest reluctance that Hal took his departure. "What has happened, Mrs. West, since you left me?" asked Firefly. "You are worried and nervous and you've been crying. I wish you'd trust me. Two heads are sometimes better than one, and though we are almost strangers, I wish you would let me be friendly and help you." "You are very kind," said the other, "but I can't explain. I have got to leave this place, and I have spent a lot of money in putting it in good order. If you ever want to hide, Miss Fenton, take my advice, and don't think you are safe in a seemingly dead-and-buried village. A large town would be better concealment. The first night I arrived I met an old friend, Doctor Forrester, and he promptly recognized me and asked inconvenient questions. That was check number one. You discovered this afternoon that I was a fraud. That was check number two. The person I am hiding from called at this house while I was out, and if he—she—they are still in the village I shall go away tonight—that's all." "What is she—he—they like?" asked Firefly quietly.

"I won't be questioned," responded Mrs. West. "You may be very kind hearted, but I don't know you, and I would rather manage my affairs alone. It sounds rude, but I am not doing this sort of thing for amusement. It is rather a serious matter to me, and I have a right to my own privacy. It is ungenerous of you to take advantage of the accident this afternoon and of my own stupidity."

Firefly waited till Mrs. West had talked herself out. "My dear Mrs. West," she said, "there's no need o put yourself into a fluster. I don't wish to pry into your private affairs as you seem to think. If there was anything I could do I merely wished to offer help. There's nothing; so it is all right. I hope you will stay on here and I hope you won't cut me dead for the future. I shall come or send for my own machine in about a week."

Firefly smiled, left her tea half finished, placed a coin on the table, and rose to leave. Mrs. West hesitated a moment, then she placed her hand on the girl's arm. "Forgive my rudeness. If you knew everything you would not wonder. Perhaps, when I feel a little more secure, I will tell you about it all. Only, if I stay, please come and see me, if—Miss Ransome does not object. She kindly called here this afternoon but I was out."

"Miss Ransome called?" "Yes. The woman who cleans for me said that she mentioned Dr. Forrester had asked her to do so. I wish he had not but no doubt he meant it kindly. He is dreadfully angry over this whole business of the Cyclists' Rest, but I can't help it."

Firefly suppressed a desire to further question this strange woman who alternately told much and concealed much, and, saying a friendly "Good-by" started for home, overtaking Hal Pett on the way—not, it must be owned, greatly to her surprise.

"Had tea?" he asked abruptly. "Yes, had tea," she answered. "What are you dawdling about here for? I hate being shadowed." "It is too late for you to walk down this lonely lane by yourself. If you had the dogs I should not have minded. I say, what a swell Miss Ransome was this afternoon. I never saw her look so jolly. What's up?"

"We've been to London shopping, that's all," answered Firefly sharply. "You men judge people by their clothes, though you don't know it." "Very likely but all the same, she looked jolly well," persisted Hal. She's coming out, too. I rather like this idea of a skating ball by torchlight. It will be something fresh down here, and good fun I should think."

"Will it?" inquired Firefly, determining not to let him guess that this was news to her.

Leafs Lose

Toronto's winning streak has been stopped, Coube, Baltimore left hander, did the trick with neatness and dispatch when he won a stirring mound duel from Johnny Prudhomme at Maple Leaf Stadium yesterday afternoon. The final score was 2 to 0 with the Orioles getting one run that was not earned and another that was. It was the first defeat sustained by the O'Hara clan in the last ten starts but such things have to happen.

"Murderers' Row"—composed of Clayton Sheedy, Dale Alexander and Eddie Phillips—was strangely silent when hits meant runs. In fact, Coube was so inconsiderate that he disposed of this trio in the sixth and pitched just six balls plateward.

Cobourg Has Town League

At a meeting held at Cobourg it was decided to operate a Town Baseball League with five clubs this summer. These are—The Dyeing Company, the Canadian National, Edwards & Edwards, and a joint team composed of the Bakers and the Malt Company. The season will probably start on May 12. A team to represent Cobourg in the Oshawa District Amateur Baseball League will be picked from the Town League.

SEVERE TEST

Louis Perella of Albany, N.Y., Monday paced the transcontinental derbyists through the longest day's lap since leaving Los Angeles, traversing the 66.2 miles from Gary to Mishawaka in 9.30.42.

Perella's totalled elapsed time for the 2,496.9 miles travelled thus far is 466.57.09. He is in ninth place. Maintaining his feat of slowly creeping up on the leaders, John Salo of Passaic, N.J., came in second in 10.15.35. He is in third place with an elapsed time of 439.33.08.

Monday's lap in addition to being the longest, was one of the hardest to run. It was a heavily trafficked road. Patrol officials said the 64 contestants were strung out over a stretch of 40 miles when Perella crossed the tape. This meant that several probably would not reach the control at the midnight zero hour, thus eliminating themselves from the race.

SOFTBALL

League Game Tonight

The Bankers, runners up in the 1927 softball schedule, make their initial appearance tonight when they will be at home to the Ganeraskas, in a scheduled softball game at Viaduct Park, foot of Queen Street. The Bankers will present their usual line up with possibly one or two additions while the Ganeraskas have a bolstered team and will make things interesting for all comers.

Keen interest is being manifested in the softball league this season and judging from the opening game last night, the scheduled games will be attended by capacity crowds. Monday night one of the largest crowds for the opening game attended and despite the chilly evening, practically everyone remained until the last ball was pitched.

Fans were pleased with the brand of ball dished up in the opener and last season the first few games saw cricket scores piled up. Good pitching and tight fielding kept the score down between the Sanitary and Mathews.

Johnny Rowden and Jack Henderson umpired the contest in their usual manner. The former officiated at the plate while the latter handled the paths.

The members of both teams put all they had into the game and at times excitement and over anxiousness ran high. In the fifth Wade left the first sack before the pitch crossed the plate and was called out by Umpire Henderson.

Each team had dozens of supporters from their respective factories and each good play received well merited applause. A heavy collection was received and the league has now all expenses paid.

In the seventh frame K. McMahon made a spectacular catch when he raced over to centre field and grabbed off William's heavy hit ball.

Tommy Kennedy, the diminutive shortstop player for the Mathews Conveyer, turned in a creditable performance and handled his position well. He proved a stubborn proposition for Williams to pitch to and he drew three bases on balls as well as securing a hit in four trips to the plate.

MYSTERY OF FILMS.

Head of Eastman Research Says Billions of Atoms Included.

The mysteries of a photographic image were revealed to an audience in Convocation Hall, Toronto, when Dr. C. E. K. Mees, director of the research laboratory of the Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, N.Y., speaking under the auspices of Royal Canadian Institute, told how a camera film was composed of billions of tiny particles which looked like masses of coke.

From a distance, he said, a motion picture on the screen looked as though it were quite smooth, but examination under a microscope showed minute particles of silver which, however, did not shine like ordinary metallic silver. These were derived from tiny crystals which formed the sensitive surface exposed in the camera.

"The creamy white layer on the film," Dr. Mees said, "is composed of billions of these microscopic crystals, of which there are more on a square inch than there are human beings on the surface of the globe. In the fast negative film used in the camera, there is a great range of sizes, and this enables the beautiful gradation to be obtained. In the positive film, on which the pictures are printed and which is projected in the theatre, the grains are much more nearly of one size, and this gives the life and sparkle to the pictures."

Dr. Mees stated that recently it had been found that the sensitiveness of films was not due to the grains of silver bromide only, but was in some way connected with the presence of those grains of specks of some other substance. After a long and careful study it had been discovered that these specks were produced by an accidental impurity present in the gelatine.

This impurity, he said, was derived from the plants eaten by the animals from whose skins the gelatine was made.

SWIM IN GIANT SOUP BOWLS.

Lecturer Describes Customs at Religious Feasts in Tibet.

Soup bowls nine feet deep and nine feet in circumference are kept in Tibet for religious feasts when pilgrims arrive. The bowls are built on such a large scale that the oldest Lama can dive into the soup and swim about to pervade the pilgrims' fare with his virtue. Sir Bertram Windle told a large audience in Toronto recently.

Another interesting feature of the practices of the Lamas is the fact that the head-dress of antelopes horns worn by certain Lamas at their sacred dances at this time, is identical with the head-dress of the medicine men of ten to twelve thousand years ago, as depicted in the drawings found in caves in France, as well as being similar to that of North American Indian medicine men.

Speaking of the Huns as the scourge of Europe, Sir Bertram claimed that the whole trouble was attributable to a daughter of Theodoricus, Emperor of the Eastern Roman Empire. This daughter "was a slightly young person," who fell in love with the Lord Chamberlain. When he was conveniently put out of the way and she was shut up in prison, she sent a letter to Attila, chief of the Huns, to say that he was the only man she had ever loved, and he must rescue her.

Attila, who was being paid not to attack the empire, demanded the young woman, and upon being refused, overran not only the Eastern Empire, but most of Europe, until stopped at the Marne, and only incidentally married the emperor's daughter on the night he died.

ANIMALS' SIXTH SENSE.

Enables Them to Divine a Little of the Future.

In addition to the five senses human beings enjoy, it seems that animals and birds have one that enables them to divine a little of the future and what it holds for them.

The saying "Rats will leave a sinking ship," indicates a strange foreknowledge on the part of these creatures.

Fish, birds, and animals are invariably true weather prophets. Seabirds know in some curious way when a storm is approaching. Though the weather is fine and the sky gives no warning of a coming storm, they are moved by some common impulse to make their way inland. Wild geese will also fly from the approach of a thunderstorm.

Ants will desert their nests, taking their babies and eggs with them, twenty-four hours before the outbreak of a forest fire.

Rabbits will leave burrows made in low-lying ground long before a flood occurs. They have some weird premonition which forces them to seek higher ground before the danger is upon them.

QUILL WRITING-PENS.

Have Been In Use Since the Fifth Century.

Quills are supposed to have been used for writing-pens in the fifth century, though the conjecture rests mainly on an anecdote of Theodorice, King of the Ostrogoths, who, being so illiterate that he could not write even the initials of his own name, was provided with a plate of gold in which the letters were cut, and, this being placed on the paper when his signature was required, he traced the letters with a quill.

The date of the earliest certain account of the modern writing-pen is 636. The next notice occurs in the latter part of the same century, in a Latin sonnet to a pen by Aldhelm, a Saxon author. Steel pens were first made by Wile, in England, in 1803.

Crab of Great Strength. A land crab that lives in the South Sea Islands has claws strong enough to break open coconuts.

PROTECT FOREST FROM FIRE LOSS

Campaign Throughout the Country Is Effective

Forestry and farming have been closely connected in the development of Canada. Many of the settlers depending on the timber or pulpwood for part of their revenue. Lumber companies provide a good market for hay grain and potatoes in the newer districts. It is to the interest of the farmer to protect his own wooded areas and to take precautions against the outbreak of fire in forests near him. For seven months, beginning with the disappearance of the snow, the fire hazard has to be met by individuals and by government supervision. Warnings are given against careless handling of camp fires and the burning of brush on clearings.

This campaign in fire protection has already reduced fire losses in all the provinces. Special attention is being given to the "save the forest" policy and an effort is made to impress everybody with his or her responsibility in the matter. Around 90 per cent of the fires are caused by human agency and it is quite safe to assume that practically all the fires due to the human element are directly traceable to outright carelessness. Once this is realized, it will be readily understood, fire prevention is largely a matter of education.

Towers are manned, commanding views of large tracts of country; canoe routes and bush trails are patrolled by men versed in all the lore of bush craft, and who can read, from the signs left by the trail side, the manner of men that have passed that way. By canoe, by horse, by foot, by motor cycle and by railroad speeder, these fire rangers travel the great solitudes watching for tell-tale smoke and when fire is discovered making the most heroic efforts to halt its progress.

GRAIN SEEDING PROGRESS MADE

Work on Prairies Is Well Ahead of 1927 Season

Reports from the different sections of Western Canada's grain growing territory indicates that 1928 seeding operations have progressed so rapidly during the past ten days that work generally is anywhere from five days to two weeks ahead of the 1927 season.

Working from early morning until late at night, many farmers have completed wheat seeding and a good start has already been made with coarse grains. Manitoba and Southern Alberta are considerably in advance of other areas and in these districts wheat is now above the ground. Central and northern parts of Alberta report acceleration of the work, while Saskatchewan shows a spread of 10 to 75 per cent of wheat seeded, according to condition of the land.

Strong winds over the week end and yesterday have resulted in some soil-dripping in Southern Manitoba and rain is now urgently needed. Elsewhere on the prairies ideal weather prevails.

HEARD ON THE STREET

Are you going to the play?

"Go Slow, Mary" sounds interesting and those who have seen it in other places say it is a real good "two bit" show. The Young People's Society are putting the play on through the courtesy of Wesleyville players in the local United Church Sunday School Hall.

Another contest at the United Church Y.P.S. meetings is expected to create additional interest. Monday night Harold Hancock's aggregation, the "Blues" aggravated Allen Oke's "Reds," by giving them the blues, scoring 16 to 12 on the first night. Miss Mary Bebee, first vice-president, occupied the chair. Miss Agnes Brackenbridge and Miss Elsie Staples read and explained the lesson. The topic "Success" was ably and effectively handled by Mrs. Mason.

A class of seventy-five candidates received the sacred rite of Confirmation in St. George's Anglican church at Oshawa Sunday night. Right Rev. James F. Sweeney, Lord Bishop of Toronto, officiated. The edifice was packed to the doors, many being unable to gain admission. Bishop Sweeney also conducted Confirmation services in St. John's Anglican church, Bowmaville, Sunday morning, with a class of thirty candidates.

M. S. Campbell, Chief Conciliation Officer of the Dominion Department of Labor, is still at work in his effort to bring about a settlement in the plumbers' strike which has continued since April 2 at Kingston. He returned to Ottawa and had another conference with the Building Trades Council.

As will be seen in another column the merchants of the town and members of the Board of Trade are holding a joint meeting in the council chamber this evening. It is rumored that a question of real importance to residents and tourists alike will be considered. If you are a member of either of these organizations be on hand tonight. Let us keep Port Hope in line with other towns and cities in this district.

J. Y. Kellough of the local Department of Agriculture reports to the Department in part as follows: "Farmers are already preparing to carry out work in Durham county where more interest in looking after fruit trees is reported."

Sixteen men have been engaged during the last week or ten days planting trees on "the Mountain" at Trenton where 25,000 trees have been set out. Pine, willow and poplar have been planted and now roads and paths are to be laid out. A special feature of the work is that near Dufferin School special plots of each variety of tree are laid out for observation. On a farm three miles north of Omeme 150,000 trees are being set out for reforestation. The Council of Victoria County purchased this land last year. The trees consist of red, white and Scotch pine, and came from the Government farm at Orono. Reeve L. A. Smithson of Omeme is looking after the work and a large gang of men are engaged.

Magistrate Browne yesterday sentenced Samuel Clarke of Cobourg to seven days' imprisonment for being intoxicated while riding a motorcycle.

Missing since April 9 last, and believed dead, Thomas Harty arrived at Kingston Monday, unaware that he was reported missing. He had left the city in search of work and had visited Toronto, Cornwall and Ottawa.

Garfield Hawkins announces that work has started on the Peterboro-Lindsay provincial highway between Omeme and Fowlers Corners. The Dufferin Construction Co., of Toronto, recently placed a large gang of men at work on this stretch, which to be exact starts at Henderson's Corners east of Omeme and goes with in a mile of Fowler's Corners. The work is all being done by truck and not a horse can be noticed.

The Ontario Historical Society has accepted the invitation of the Town of Cobourg to hold its annual meeting there on June 19 and 20 Cobourg Town Council accordingly passed a resolution saying it would welcome the convention and do all in its power to make the meeting there a pleasant one.

On Saturday, May 5, C. W. Duckworth, Angus, Ont., for the Ontario Department of Forestry, with Bobcaygeon men, finished planting more than 8000 trees which were raised at
