CREEPING UP THE STAIRS.

In the softly falling twilight Of a weary, weary day, With a quiet step I entered Where the children were at play;

I was brooding o'er some trouble That had met me unavare, When a little voice came ringing, " Me is creepin' up a stairs."

Ah ! it touched the tender heart-string With a breath and force divine, And such melodies awakened s words can ne'er define. As I turned to see our darling, All forgetful of my cares,

When I saw the little creature Slowly creeping up the stairs. Step by step she bravely clambered On her little hands and knees, keeping up a constant chatt ring, Like the may pies in the trees. Till at last it reached the topmost,

She delighted, stood a victor,

After ere p ng up the stairs. Fainting heart, behold an image Of man's brief and struggling life, Whose best prize must be captured With an ar est noble strife! Onward, upward, reaching ever, Bending to the weight of ares, Hoping, fearing, sti I expecting,

When o'er all her werld's affairs

We go creaping up the stairs. On the steps may be no carpet, By their side may be no rail, Hands and knees may often pain us, And the heart may almost fail; Still above there is the glory Which no sinfulne's impairs, With it rest and joy forever, After creeping up the stairs.

TOWN COUNCIL

The Regular Meeting of the Town Council was held in the Council Chamber, on Monday evening. His Worship the Mayor in the chair.

Present: Couns. Jos. Little, H. A. Ward, S. S. Smith, D. Smart, Dr. Herriman, J. W. Wallace, C. A. Hagerman, and B. D. Deer-

Minutes of last regular meeting read and on motion confirmed.

A communication was received from S. Marshall, asking for some remuneration for the care of the waterworks building, as there was no accommodation for keeping report sets out what conclusions the Comvegetables, wood, etc., during the winter and he was under expense in providing

Referred to the Committee on Fire, Water

A petition, signed by C. F. Randall, and a number of others, asking that the sidewalk on John Street be raised, as it was inconvenient in its present condition, was read and referred to the Street and Bridge Committee. The Fire, Water and Gas Committee reported with reference to the lamps petitioned for last week, that they could not recommend the placing of these lamps on account of no appropriation having been set apart for the purpose, and the expense would be considerable. On motion that the report of the Committee on Fire. Water and Gas be received and adopted, Coun Hagerman said if they had the money it would be well to expend it on these lamps. Coun. Deering said they had not got it Coun. Smart was of opinion that it would be well to have the pipes extended along

Bramley Street, so that in case the gas should freeze on Dorset Steeet, as it sometimes did, they would not be without light at the upper end, where the street was very dark. Coun. Herriman said Coun. Smart seemed to think it the duty of the Council to extend the pipes. He did not think the Council should do so, but should leave that to the gas company. It was upon this ground that the prayer of the petition presented at the last meeting, was not recommended, as it would require a hundred dol lars' worth of pipe for one of these lamps The company would not go to the expense, and the Committee did not think the Coun cil should. Coun. Ward hoped the Committee would not lose sight of the matter when the work could be done, for lamps should be put down at the places asked for in the petition. The Committee, he thought, should never heard anything about it. Coun. Deering said the Committee had on several former occasions opproached Mr Rose, and he had refused to do anything with regard to laying pipes until it suited the convenience of the Gas Company to do

Coun. Ward asked that the matter be laid over for a week in order to have an interview with the Company.

Coan. Herriman said as the Mayor was on the Gas Board, he might have an influence in making a little better arrangements with the Company But it was well known that when approached before the Company had absolutely refused to put down one foot of pipe unless the Council paid for it. He hoped the Mayor would lay the matter before the Board, so that a different state of things might be brought The Mayor said he was of opinion always that the Company should put down what pipe was required. They were now extending to the College, and one lamp could be think the Council should go into the expenditure of these other lamps if it could not be conveniently done. Coun. Herriman said it would take about one hundred dollars to put the pipes to one

Coun. Smart said as the Mayor was a member ex- flicio of the Company, he would suggest that he approach them, and see if they would not extend the pipes along Bramly Street, and put a lamp at the head of Augusta Street. The report was allowed to lie over, that the matter might be brought before the gas Moved by Coun. Herriman, seconded by Coun. Little,-That the Town Property Committee be instructed to examine into the question of a lane in the rear of Lower Town Engine House, and take such steps as they think necessary to preserve the rights of the town in respect to the said lane, and that the said committee do consult with the owners of the adjacent property to arrange joint action on the subject.

Coun. Hagerman said he had spoken to Mr. Soper, and he did not wish to do anything but what was right. All he wanted was to find out just who the lane belonged

Mr. Smart thought it was a matter that the town, Mr. Riordan, and the Kirchoffer estate should inquire into. If Mr. Soper was right the town would have no way to the Police office building except by the front, and they should secure a rear entrance even if it cost something. Coun. Wallace said as he understood it the lane belonged to the town. His Worship was of the opinion that the lane was merely put there for the convenience of the Kirchhoffer estate, and as it had never been dedicated to the town, the town had no claim to it. It would be well however to inquire into the matter.

MARKET REPORT. The Committee on Market By-law reported as follows :--

To His Worship the Mayor and the Municipal Corporation of the Town of Port Hope, GENTLEMEN,

1. Your Committee appointed to e quire as to what (if any) changes in the present Market Tariff are advisable, and upon what terms the Lessee of the market would consent to the changes suggested by your Committee, leg to report as follows: Your Committee have carefully considered the present Market Tariff with the object of ascertaining what changes in the amount of the fees as now charged could advantageously be made, and beg leave to submit the accompanying revised Schedule of Fees, which in their opinion represents and sets forth such changes in the tariff as are advisable and expedient. 2. That your Committee have submitted the proposed changes in the tar ff to the lessee of the market for his consideration, requesting him to state the na-ture of the modification (f any) of the terms of his contract which he would require in case the proposed changes should be carried into effect, and after considering the matter for three days, the lessee of the market has repres nted to your Committee that he

Coun. Smart said as Mr. Gamble would not make an offer, he did not see that they could do anything. Coun. Ward said as far as the report was concerned there was something to consider. The Committee were appointed to inquire as to what changes were desirable in the market, and see if the lessee was willing to abide by the changes thought necessary. He stated his unwillingness to do so, and the mittee came to on the matter. Coun Smart said what the Committee proposed to do was to simplify the By-law as much as possible, and make it so that a charge of ten cents on a vehicle would cover all the contents as well. Moved by Coun. Ward, seconded by Coun. Little,-That the Report of the Committee appointed to inquire into the Market tariff, and confer with the lessee as to the proposed changes, be received. Coun. Ward said the remarks of Coun Smart would lead one to suppose that the lessee wanted to obstruct the work of the committee. Now the lessee simply said he did not see his way clear to make an offer for the fees under the new plan, as there was some talk in his presence from which he was probably led to believe that Saturday would be the only day people would be called upon to pay fees, -that during the other days of the week they could sell when and how they liked, provided only that if they came to the market, then they would have to pay fees. He said he did not see how he could form any estimate as to the worth of the fees in such a case. As far as going back to the old system, Mr. Gamble had expressed his willingness to give up the contract, and take his former position until the end of the time contracted for at $350 a year. He (Coun. Ward) thought that a very fair offer on the part of the lessee. to come down from $500 to $350, and did not show at all that he desired to obstruct the Council in making the changes in the By-law so loudly called for by the people Coun. Smith thought the Committee had rather exceeded their duties in this matter of having only one day a market day, as the resolution appointing them only referred to changes in the fees, and not in the market days. They had evidently frightened the case out of court by the action they had taken, as the lessee might well feel at a loss what to offer under the circumstances. Coun. Ward said they might have gone a little too far, and if the Council desired the By-law on the Market he had given notice of might be read a first time, and the matter referred again to the committee to further consider. Coun. Hagerman asked if it was mentioned to Mr. Gamble that the committee thought of making a change and having only one day a market day. Coun. Smart said, in speaking to Mr. Gamble about the change of fees, he believed he had mentioned this to him. Coup. Little said the Committee had kept it in mind that the market had been very satisfactory before it had been meddled with, and their endeavor was to make it as nearly like it was before at possible, they wished therefore to make only one market day, as Saturday was, actually, the only day under the old system, the fees, by consent of the council, not being collected on the other days of the week. After some further discussion the resolution was amended by adding that the matter be referred back to the committee for further consideration, and so carried. On motion, Coun. Ward's By-law was read a first time. Adjourned.

done, though 20 miles less than Weston's performance in England last spring. Two weeks afterwards, the match for the O'Leary Belt took place, in which all who achieved anything like success were amateurs, and comparatively unknown pedestrians. In this race Murphy, of Haverstraw, a town a few miles away, took the first place, and gained the belt, a small fortune, and an ovation, in which nearly all Haverstraw participated when he reached home. Murphy's score was 505 miles in the six days, but as he had several hours to spare, and was in excellent condition, he could undoubtedly have done much better had he been pushed by his trainers. The last race in the garden, which was an eighty-four hour contest, took place last week, ending on Saturday night, Fitzgerald being the winner, having walked 377 miles; and now it might be hoped that the pedestrians would give us, and themselves also, a rest, but I believe they have no intention of doing so. The next phase of sporting life which has been agitating a great many here is the Hanlan-Courtney boat race, which did not take place on Chautauqua Lake on October 16th, as Courtney's boats were rendered unfit for use, as you have, of course, heard. Notwithstanding Courtney's defeat last year, a great many here were of the opinion that he would win the race, and were willing to back their assertions and a considerable

It has been suggested that Courtney should row against time, and endeavor to beat that of Hanlan, and the idea seems to be a good one, though it would not decide which is the bettar man of the two. But enough of racing matters. Nearly all of the summer vacationists have returned to New York, and the city is preparing for its usual winter season of gaity; our numerous theatres are all now in full operation, and lovers of music and the drama ought to be satisfied with the choice presented to them. We understand that the Massey Manufacturing Company will close up the foundry here on Friday next, and bid "a long farewell" to Newcastle. Some of the employees were discharged last Saturday, and report says that the services of others will be dispensed with this week. Dodds, Clerk of the Township of Hope, was in the village on Monday and Tuesday last, taking orders for a new Post Office Directory of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham. We are glad to hear that he obtained several subscribers here for the directory, which promises to be a very complete and useful one. We are pleased to see Mr. John Gillespie in Newcastle again, looking "O. K." after his journey.

A gentleman connected with electricity was on Sunday evening thoroughly convinced of the truth of the maxim that bodies similarly electrified repel each other." He was strolling along one of the sidewalks with an attractive and youthful belle of the village, and, as she now and again favored him with one or more from her battery of sweet glances, he felt quite in his element, when a (to him) repulsive looking individual overtaking the couple, took the young lady from our hero in a very positive manner, and by the motive power of circuit into the road, where he came to a stop. After a while, however, evidently thinking that his attentions, like telegraph wires, must be "continuous throughout," and his mind running in the ringing key, he quickly followed his inamorata and her

Sometimes we get sent us for publication, gentle effusions on "spring." We like 'em, -we sit up nights thinking pleasant things about the authors, and about what nice places we would like to send 'em to. But spring, with its ephemeral beauty, its silvery moon, and zephyr breezes; is gone, and we don't get any more of these sweet reminiscences of our own youthful days, when we, too, thought ourself a "poik." It is therefore r freshing to receive poetical effusions on other subjects, and the author of the following wery graceful tribute to the teachers of the Model School, and remembrances of pleasant days now passed and gone, must accept our grateful thanks for it. We would like to be able to give him a hundre i dollars a column for such exce lent additions to our news, but as our venture is a trial one, and we are under great expense, we must accept it as it is tendered to us, free, and return the author audience. Rural Dean Allen gave a short our sincere thanks for this, and other account of the progress of the congregation, favors he may consider us worthy of.

A SHORT TALE OF EFMALE HEROISM.

In June, a pedlar and his wife presented themselves at sundown at a little farm house ting of jobs to S. Parsons and D. Gray, to at Boaie, France, and requested permission to stav over night. A small room was assigned to them, as the farmer's wife was confined to her bed. The next day was Sun-From William Campbell and ten other day and the farmer and his servants went to church. The peddlar also started to go, and there remained in the house the wife of the farmer, a new born infant, the peddlar's wife, who feigned illness, and a child six years of age. Scarcely had the people gone, when the peddlar's wife, armed with a knife, presented herself at the bed of the sick woman, and demanded her money or her life. The poor woman, sick and weak, delivered the keys, and desired the little boy to show the apartments. She rose, followed the peddlar's wife, and having beckoned the child out of the room, locked the door.

She then desired the child to run for his father, and desire him to bring assistance. The child did not loose an instant, but by a surprising fatality, met the pedlar on the The peddlar enquired of the child where he was going, and he answered he was about to seek his father, as an attempt was made to rob him. The peddlar said it was now unnecessary, as he would go and protect his mother; and they returned to the farm. They knocked at the door, but the farmer's wife not recognizing the voice of her husband, refused to open; the peddlar made vain efforts to induce her, and finally threat. ened to cut the child's throat. Furious at being unable to prevail upon her, he killed the child.

After committing this useless crime, he tried to got into the house to save his own wife, as the farmer might return. Failing he mounted the roof and descended the chimney. The farmer's wife, almost fainting, now saw nothing to deliver her from certain death. The wretch was almost down the chimney, and collecting all her strength. she, by sudden inspiration, drew the straw bed to the hearth and quickly set fire to it Moved by Mr. Thompson, seconded by Mr. Beatty.—That orders be drawn on the being able to ascend, soon fell in the fire The smoke enveloped the assassin, who, not Treasurer, in favor of Samuel Parsons, for half suffocated. The courageous wife lost $42, for jobs on side line between Lots 26, her presence of mind; but, in his blinded STRONG'S GAS ECONOMIZER state, struck him several blows on the head with the poker, which put him beyond the chance of immediately recovering his senses.

Exhausted with fatigue and mental agony she fell senseless and remained so till the farmer and his servants returned from church. The dead body of the child, at the gate, was the first horrible spectacle that forced open the doors, and after having recovered to life the farmers's wife, they ever to justice. The peddlar recovered, and due their crimes.

The Girl He Left Behind Him.

In the extract from Archibaid Forbes' letter mention was made of "Young James, of the Scots Greys, who, at the battle of Ulundi, was blazed at point blank by two men. The two turned on him. They missed. He ran the right hand man through. The man on the left dropped his musket and inflicted an assegai wound on James' bosom. The latter, extricating his sword, brought it round to the left with a swift swing and all but severed his antagonist's head.' Referring to this in cident the Whitehall Review says: "Do you remember a young British officer who, the very day before he sailed for the Cape to seactive service for the first time, was engaged to the beautiful daughter of our great English artist, Millais. Then read Mr. Forbes' sketch of the battle of Ulundi in Monday's Daily News, and thank me for telling you that the hero who killed these two Zulus was Miss Millais' betrothed. It is a story which a novelist might have invented at the risk of being snubbed on the score of improbability. Bu the romance of truth is more startling than fiction. The same idea has been put in morepigrammatic phrase, but the illustration of it has never been more briefly or effectively so orth than it is in Forbes' sample despatch" ments even now on foot which cannot fail to arrest the thoughtful attention of the observant. Western Canada has a magnificant domain which promises to be the seat of future empire, and there is a stir and hopeful expectancy in that country just now which is very significant. The vast and fertile region called Manitoba, lying above Lake Winnipeg and the Red River of the North and stretching away to the Rocky Mountains along the Saskatchewan and its two branches, is almost equal in extent and quite in fertility to the United States. We talk of the late migration to Minnesota and the fertile wheat-growing country stretching westward along the Northern Pacific Road as being somewhat marvellous, and so it is; but there is now in progress, from Canada and our Western States, a migration to British Manitoba no less marvellous, and which is unquestionably destined to a very marked increase. Here is a country scarcely known before 1873, and yet now we find established there a firm government, a city (Winnipeg) of already 8,000 souls; railroads and steamers in busy activity, and an accesson of about 400 inhabitants per day.

CURIOUS CASE. - A singular suit was recently brought in St. John City Court. A party who had in his possession a Bank of New Brunswick five dollar note placed it in one of his boots. Having got his feet wet the note was damaged, and he could not pass it off. He then presented it at the bank counter, but payment was refused. He next appealed to the President, who laid the matter before the Directors, who decided not to redeem it. The holder sued the bank in the city gave judgement in favor of the holder.

TESTIMONIALS.

Office of THE PORT HOPE TIMES, PORT HOPE, Nov. 30, 1878.

G. T. Strong, Esq.

DEAR SIR,-We have been using your Coal Gas Economizer in the TIMES office for some time past, and find it fully answers the purpose for which it was intended. The following is the result of three tests made by my foreman, one with ordinary Coal Gas. and the other two with the Economizer :-

First, with ten burners, one hundred feet of ordinary coal gas was consumed in 2 hours and 45 minutes. The Economizer was then put on, 18 burners lighted, and in five hours and thirty minutes it was found that less than a hundred feet had been consumed. The third test was made on the 26th inst.; with 21 burners lighted, it took three hours and 30 minutes to consume 50 feet of gas, as near as could be calculated. Previously Philadelphia Press: There are move- our pipes were so small that we could not keep more than eight or ten burners going at

DEAR SIR,-In answer to yours concerning your Economizer, I can say, that my gas bill from the 1st of January to the 1st of April, 1878, was $113 00. and from the 20th Jan. to 22nd March, 1879, it was but $25, including carbon oil, which when deducted from the former corresponding number of nights, I find a saving of 84 cents per day.

DEAR SIR, -I have much pleasure in testifying to the efficiency of your Gas Economizer. I have used it in the Post Office here for the last six months, and find that I obtain as good a light with one-third or one-half of the gas formerly used.

PORT HOPE, Sept. 12, 1879. Geo. Strong, Esq.

DEAR SIR,-In answer to yours in reference to your Gas Economizer, I find that it is cheaper than coal oil. I find that my coal oil light cost me twenty five cents a month per light, and my gas cost me twenty cents a light per month, showing that gas with your Economizer to be twenty per cent. cheaper than coal oil. The gas and coal oil was burnt the same time, and the same number of hours, and after using it since January, it works as well now as when I first got it. Yours, &c.

WONDERFUL TROTTING .- It is rumored that John Murphy drove Rarus a mile on Mr. Robert Bonner's track, near Tarrytown, on Saturday, in 2.111; that each of the first three quarters were trotted in 33 seconds, and that the last quarter was trotted in 321 seconds; after which Mr. Alley Bonner drove Edwin Forrest a mile in exactly the same time. The two horses are to be driven as a team shortly.

Goldsmith Maid.—Recently, Charley Cochrane, who was for many years her groom, arrived from California, and wishing to see the grand old trotting mare and colt, called on Mr. Smith, her owner. to obtain his permission to visit Fashion Stud Farm in New Jersey. Mr. Smith accompanied him to the farm, and on arriving there remarked: "Charley, the Maid is very jealous of her colt, and is very cross, and will permit no one to approach it." Cochrane arranged that Goldsmith Maid should hear his voice before she saw him, and although they had not seen each other for two years, a loud whinny presently assured the visitors that the mare had recognized the man's Cochrane next showed himself. when a touching scene occurred. The old queen of the turf, who for months would not allow any one to approach her making use of both heels and teeth if it was attempted, rushed with a bound to her old friend, forgetting even her colt and rubbed her head upon his shoulder, her nose in his face, played with his whiskers, and showed by her every action that her heart was full of joy to see him. Directly the colt came up to them, and the mare was delighted when Charley placed his hand upon the little fellow. When Cochrane left the place the mare followed him to the gate, whinnying for him even after he had passed out of her annual dinner of the Bakewell Farmers' Club on Thursday, the Duke of Rutland quoted, on the authority of Mr. Vernon Smith, that in five years Canada would be forwarding to this country a hundred million bushels of wheat additional. When Mr. John Bright came to know the capabilities of Canada, he thought it would be a wiser, a more generous, and a more English policy to endeavor to unite Canada more strongly to us by giving her differential duty with respect to America-that was so say, putting a 5s. duty upon wheat coming from America, and 1s .- or, if Mr. Bright liked, nothing at all-on Canadian wheat. (Cheers.) Was it a sound principle to admit foreign goods free of all duty when foreign nations put a very heavy duty on English goods? It so, he must be allowed to say that he did not consider it a sound principle. The Mayor of Sheffield, who was no bloated aristocrat, but a manufacturer, had the other day in a speech at Sheffield, to working men, supported the imposition of such a duty, and he wished to see such opinions published far and wide. Those who agree with him and Mr. Ward should see that if the industry of this country was to be saved that every candidate at the coming election should be asked whether he would support the in dustry of this country or that of foreign

A VALUABLE HINT. - The majority of burglaries in private houses throughout the country is really shocking, and the cause seems to be a dark spot in the minds of those who suffer from such rotberies. Pedlars of small-wares should not be allowed to enter private dwellings at all, for this reason:- The majority of them carry stuff which they do not wish to sell, only enter private dwellings at all, for the purpose of seeing how they are constructed in order to accomplish an act of theft at night. Of course, it is impossible to tell how a burglar knows so well where valuables would likely be kept without being forewarned, but it seems clear that the above illustration is founded on fact, and it wants more than mere supposition to prove that the majority of burglaries are not committed without the burglar having some knowledge of the place beforehand; and what other way a stranger would have of gaining information than the above, it is not | Wall-st., N. Y.

easy to calculate. Our readers would do right not to allow a pedlar of any desscription whatever, unless he is well known, to enter their premises. The stores are the cheapest place in the end to buy from. The regular established business is the proper establishment to patronize. We have no confidence whatever in street pedlars of any description, the most of them are nothing more nor less than a band of robbers.

NOT THAT KIND OF A CRADLE. -That was a sharp retort made by a lady teacher of a country school to one of the school commissioners a short time ago. The commissioner had been elected in the interests of reform, and his perpetual hobby was the reduction of teachers' salaries. The lady remonstrating against further reduction said, to enforce her argument, that she could not live on less, as they were idle so long during vacation in summer time. "You should do as my brother-in-law does," said the commissioner. "He teaches school, and during vacation earns his living by cradling." "We would cradle too," was the arch reply, "but it is necessary first to get husbands." There was no further talk of reduction on that occasion.

Description of the Improvement. The point of advantage in this binding is simply that in the opening and closing of the book there is no friction, which is the destructive element of all ordinary binding. By the patent method the leaves of the books are fastened by wire pins, inserted near the back margin, the ends of the pins being turned down and lying parallel with the margin, clamping the leaves A back of thin metal is pressed on the book, with flanges overlapping the ends of the pins, which prevents the leaves from tearing from the pins, as is the case with wire, sowing or tape work.

By a peculiar curve in the pins, perfect flexibility is secured in the opening of the volume, the whole forming a practical and substantial binding, absolutely indestructible by wear and tear.

CIRCULATION 1,925. Port Hope, Thursday, Oct. 30, 1879.

THE DAILY TIMES.

Reluctantly, we commence the publication of a daily edition of THE TIMES, first, because in our estimation there is not a fair field in Port Hope for such a paper; second, because the patronage a word to the charity dispensers. must necessarily be so limited that, with- | Many and many a time they have out incurring heavy loss, a GOOD PAPER cannot be produced here; and third, because the extra labor on even a small daily, if properly attended to, is very great, and as we have always had all the work on our own shoulders we cared about doing-being kept busy at times twelve and sixteen hours a day-we have never had a hankering after more. However, self-preservation prompts us to take the step, and we launch our little sheet to-day with a good deal of misgiving, conscious that it is full of imperfections-wanting in several particulars that a great many people, who know nothing | done, a great deal of fraud would be about it, will see in an instant how to rectify. It is many years since we have had anything to do with a daily news paper, but we can remember many hardships we passed through during the eight years in which we thus labored. True they were not without their triumphs and little pleasantries, but years running in the grooves of weekly newspaper work, which is much lighter, less costly, and more pleasant, has made us hesitate before undertaking the responsibilities of a daily journal.

We have heard muttered threatenings for sometime of an additional paper in Port Hope, and we are told it will soon see the light. Let it come! None (except, perhaps, the parties who are supplying the money for the purchase of the plant) will be sicker of the business in the course of six months, than its promoters, or we are much mistaken. The chief object of the new paper, it is stated openly, is to "clean out" our contemporary, the Guide, which will be found a difficult task, for there is probably nothing harder to kill than an old newspaper. We understand, there is no intention or desire to eject THE TIMES-we believe we are welcome to remain and pick up a precarious existence, while the owners of the new enterprise daily cart their immense receipts in gold and silver (no coppers taken) to swell their fat bank accountbut as we do not wish to allow the prestige of the TIMES to suffer by being a slow coach weekly, while our contemporaries both issue dailies, we have concluded to take the "leap in the dark" with them, and have a daily also. Our preference still is with the weekly, because we know it to be most profitable, and least arduous to manage.

From the outset it must be clear to every one-one of the three papers must go down! We do not at all fear the re sult, though sincerely regretting for all concerned in the business that one paper too many should be issued in the town. Some years ago, a third paper was start-d in Port Hope, and, after dragging out a half-starved existence for eleven menths, was withdrawn, the owner having sunk a considerable sum of money. That estab. ishment had a new and very superior plant, the paper was neatly printed, carefully edited, but the people of the town considered two offices quite sufficient to do the business, and the result was they would not paironize the third. We helieve now the sympathies of the public will go in the same direction, for the amount of printing and advertising done then was in excess of what is to be done now. Cobourg has three papers-and the consequence is that neither one of them is as good as it would be if the extra competitor was not in existence. The same may be said of Peterboro', though the journals of that town are a great cre dit to it, but then it must be remembered they have a larger country to draw business from in every direction, with little or no competition in outlying villages. Lindsay, too, had three papers some years ago, but for lack of support one 'passed over the river." All three, it will be observed, are county towns, which brings a great deal of work to the printers, and if three papers could not be made to pay in either of them, we think we are right in saying that three will be found one too many in Port Hope. As far as the dailies are concerned, in our opinion, neither of them will last very long. As we have said before, there is no field for them, and as they must prove unprofitable, they are not likely to be continued for amusement. For ourselves, we may say we intend to run both our daily and weekly as long as we can afford to do so creditab'y. When we fait to do that, we shall seriously consider the advisability of going to peddling books, or into the cobbling business.

The success we have met with at the start with our daily may be seen in the number of "live" advertisements appearing in our columns. Our arrangements are not yet quite complete, but we hope to c ntinue to improve daily, until our little sheet becomes one that every citizen having the well being of the town at heart may feel proud

ABOUT CHARITY.

The winter is coming on apace, and the citizens of Port Hope should do some serious thinking on the modes of dispensing charity before they will be largely called upon for aid. It is a fact that cannot be disputed that lazy persons often get the lion's share of the charity which should go to support the honest and industrious, but unfortunate mortals, who are amongst us. These same people, too,—the lazy ones-will seldom work for any wages that may offer, and excuse their idleness by representing that they have been accustomed to get higher wages than are offered, and they'll be blessed if they will work for a mere points out the absurdity of any party be-

dollar a day or idleness. They should We are at ALL TIMES prepared to NEGOTIATE | take the poor job in the meantime, and keep their eyes open for better and more paying opportunities for the future. If they are really desirous to earn a livelihood this is the course they will pursue, and they will be surprised how soon they will come to be known as deserving and industrious persons; and those who need their help will rapidly discover a man's value, and, if possible, give him full pay for his services. We are satisfied that a great many dollars may be earned, that a great many jobs may be secured, and a great many wants supplied if men were willing to work for such wages as are going. Then keep a look out for something better, and by pursuing this course of conduct, with thrift and of Mr. H. Burk, for West Durham, or rather economy in their spendings, will place them in much better circumstances than if they Micawber-like wait for a fortune to turn up. But, been victimized. Beggars—that is ultimatum, I do not think that this County professional ones—are not unknown to use fraud to secure money and help without working. So it behoves in the place of Mr. Henry Burk, rethe public to be on its guard, in order that only the really deserving may be aided in their distress. A good preventative measure for givers would be to visit the homes of those of whom they are the patrons, and satisfy themselves as to the necessity for charity. If this were constantly prevented, and the deserving ones only would be benefitted by the gifts of their more fortunate fellow men and women. We say, therefore, in conclusion, that it behoves all societies and churches to be vigilant respecting their charities in order that they may be in possession of means when a really deserving case is reported for their consideration.

OUR ADVERTISERS.

That THE TIMES possesses many good, 'solid" friends among the business men of Port Hope, can be seen by the array of advertisements in THE DAILY Times. When we set out to see them personally we had no idea of meeting with such general success. Years ago, when working up our weekly, we were always courteously received and listened to. That was in the days when advertising was at a discount in Port Hope, because the papers had never made any special effort to secure a circulation. As soon as we were in a position to prove we had an extensive circle of readers, we found it quite easy to procure all the advertisements we could well find room for, without infringing upon the space allotted to reading matter. Since that time, the lion's share of town business has found its way into our office, and our facilities were increased, work continued to be better done, until now we can compete in price and workmanship with the best offices in the Province. That we are able to do this we can thank our businessmen for the liberal patronage bestowed upon us, and we feel a remely grateful at the cordial manner in which our new venture has been received. Few dai ies, even in larger places, have had a better beginning, and we trust by careful attention to the editorial course of the paper, and by constantly watching that no hing appears in its advertising or reading columns that can possibly offend the sense of propriety of the most fastidious, we hope to merit a continuance of this large patronage. L cal interests will always form the most prominent feature of THE TIMES. Lengthy editorials on thread-bare politi cal subjects we will leave to others, and while the political course of THE TIMES will be unchanged, yet it will ever be our aim to avoid objectional personalities. The efforts of a country paper, whether weekly or daily, should be directed towards the building up of its town's enterprises-tocarefully watching and pointing out opportunities for improvements, or the advancement of its business interests. That is the view we have always taken, and the success of our paper leads us to infer that our views are largely shared by the people of this county. To our people we would say buy from those who advertise. Carefully look over ur advertising clumns, and if you require goods in the lines represented, purchase from those who invite you to deal with them, for they are generally the most enterprising, the keenest in buying, and consequently able to sell their goods at lower prices than those who shut thems lves up in their store, depending on the sign over their door to attract custom. Those who advertise extensively can sell at the lowest price, because they are able to turn their goods over more frequently-they are thus saved an accumulation of dead stock. which eventually becomes a source of loss, for no one will buy such goods nowa-days; and as they are determined to keep their custom, goods are received, sold, and worn out, before the people who do not advertise have made mare than a d zen prople aware they have such a line of goods. By all means buy from advertisers-and be sure you will get a better and newer class of goods at a lower price than you can get from others at a high price. We would respectfully urge upon our customers the necessity of making frequent changes in the reading matter of their advertisements. Just as it does not pay to have a slovenly accumulation of sweepings in the front of a sto e exposed to the gaze of every one, so it is a mistake to allow an advertisement-and particularly in a daily paper-to run for months unchanged. We would like our advertisers to reap the benefit of their additional outlay, and for that reason would urge them to make frequent changes.

WEST DURHAM.

In West Durham, on both sides of poliitics, are numbers of gentlemen who are horoughly well able to represent the Riding creditably in the Parliament of the Dominion. Therefore, it was extremely natural that a "Reformer" should send the letter given below for publication in the Mail (because it would be impossible for the Globe to publish it), and demonstrate on paper the feeling of prominent "Reformers" in the Riding. He carefully, and to our mind, successfully pittance. Men should not insist on a ling driven by the leading organ of that | true, or only a libel on the great.

party. Of course, like the writer, we have no great objection to Mr. Blake. Indeed, it may possibly be the best thing which could happen to the Conservative party, inasmuch as the "Great Tribune of the People" could, and undoubted would, give some assistance to the Government in some departments of Governmental work. That is, if Mr. Blake is not simply to go to Parliament as a henchman and tool of the Toronto dictator, although from the Globe's change of base, we would surmise that to be the case. But, as "Home Rule" says, it would be infinitely better to elect a man from amongst themselves, and one who is intimately acquainted with all the wants of this section. The letter is well worth reading and follows:-

SIR, -I observe an editorial in the Globe of the 22nd, in reference to the resignation as to Hon. Edward Blake being a candidate for West Durham. The Globe says:-"Let us by all means have a candidate against Mr.

Blake, in order, &c." Now, I think that the Globe takes a good deal upon itself when it assumes that upon its dictation Mr. Blake is to be the Reform candidate. As any one reading the article will admit, such is its signed. We, as Reformers, have been too long under his iron rule, and the party has suffered more than once by his arbitrary conduct and one-man power. We have nothing to say against Mr. Blake; quite the contrary; but after the vote taken by the Reform delegates in convention, which was almost unanimous that we, as Reformers, would choose our candidate in future from our own county or riding, I think that the Globe might have waited until a meeting of the Reform convention was held before thrusting an outsider upon us. What about Mr. Haines, who, out of 93, received 27 votes, and Mr. McNaughton, 23 votes in the Reform convention; also Messrs. W. F. Allen, J. L. Tucker, Henry Elliott, and others, who received a number of votes? Are they to be looked over and tramped over by the Great Mogul? Mr. Haines and Mr. McNaughton at the last nomination in the Reform convention gave way to Mr. Burk, whose votes in the meeting were decreasing instead of increasing. Now, I think that either one or the other of them ought to be considered before your contemporary names a candidate. I an informed that neither of them, nor in fact any one of | cart. the Executive Committee was aware that Mr. Burk intended resigning, much less that Mr. Blake was apparently already elected vide the Globe of the 22nd. I have not one word to say against Mr. Burk's resigning. He was certainly appreciated before or he would not have received the nomination of the Reform Convention and been elected twice. Nor can I say that blame can be attached to him for resigning without consulting any of his Reform friends or the Executive Committee of the Reform Convention. The first intimation his Reform friends had of his resignation was through the press, and that in the Ottawa correspondence of the Giobe, which, rumour says, was sent from the King street office to Ottawa first, to make it appear as if the hocus pocus was arranged in Ottawa. I say. no blame can be attached to Mr. Burk for resigning without consulting his friends, in view that after his last election was over and he had been both hard run and hard worked, a certain clique unknown to a majority of the Executive Committee sent two of their number to him to ask him to resign and give Mr. Blake a chance to run for this Riding. Mr. Burk immediately agreed to place his resignation into the hands of the Executive Committee, and did so, but sub sequently the Reform Committee met and refused, very properly, to accept his resignation, thereby shewing that they appreciat ed his services, and would not allow him to be made a cat's paw for Hon. Edward Blake or any outsider. I am truly sorry that Mr. Burk has seen fit to resign in the way he has, without consulting his party, as I think that the support we always gave him deserved some better return, and I only hope that he has got some equivalent more substantial than promises.

And now, I ask my fellow electors, both Reform and Conservative, to find some man in our own Riding to represent the interests of the Riding. We surely have men whose interests are here, who are capable of representing us, and a resident must certainly know and care more for the interests of his Riding, and be more intimately acquainted with its wants than any outsider,

THE CAUSE OF IT .- There was a very large market on Saturday last, and the reason of it was that the farmers were under the impression that the booxious learned that such was not yet the case, many threatened they would not pay the high fees, and the lessee only exteted a portion in many instances, as he did not wish to do anything to make our unpopular market more unpopular still.

REMOVAL OF G. T. R. EMPLOYEES .-By a recent order from head-quarters the employees in the Blacksmith and Carpenter shops here have been notified that they are required shortly to remove to Toronto, it being the intention to close the shops here. We presume there must be a good reason for this or the change would not be made, but it does seem that jest, that the only good Indian is a dead Indian. It would appear now that he wants according to his definition, to make labor or anything else. The Station is one of the poorest on the line, and totally unfit for the purpose, neither of the waiting-rooms being even half decent. The of our enterprising merchants to get up employees of the Company here are few in number, and particularly in the Mechanical department, but several of them, who have been residents for years, especially Messrs. A HURRIED DINNER.

"Oh, see here, Lizzie, I shan't be home to dinner to day; there's a lot to do at the office, and I'll not come home."

This speech came from my liege lord, Charley as he popped his head in at the front door, after he had started to his business.

"All right," said I.

The head popped out again, and I added to myself:

"Mighty glad of it. I won't have any dinner to get, and I will have a good day to work up stairs."

So I cleared away the breakfast, tidied up the rooms, and after that took myself off up stairs.

We had not been keeping house very long, and I made it a rule not to let things become soiled by using, but to keep them clean and fresh. But up stairs there were certain trunks and boxes that needed renovating; some of the summer clothing was to be packed away, and the winter wear got out and made ready for

I tied a handkerchief over my head to keep out the dust, pulled trunks and boxes out of the closet, and set to work. I was in the very midst of it when I heard it opened. It was Charley, I knew, for he had a latchkey and was accustomed to let himself in. I jumped to my feet.

"Charley, and not a sign of dinner!" I exclaimed. He said he couldn't come. What can have brought him?"

The sound of voices, as I stood listening, assured me of what Charley had brought. Visitors, and I in such a plight. face in a glow.

"I don't know, I'm sure."

"Yes, I see you did. Well, I hope you also remembered to stop at the butcher's and send in something for them to

"Well, I declare, little woman, I forgot the butcher. But I daresay you can scare up something. Only hurry, for they've only an hour or so to spare. They're off again this evening."

I knew it was of no use to say to a man, "Why didn't you send me word?" It wouldn't teach him to send it next time. So I only said:

"Well, go down and entertain them, and I'll come as soon as I can change my dress." Charley obeyed, and I hurriedly dressed not in the pleasantest mood. They were old friends of Charley's and I had looked forward to meeting them with pleasure, but I knew Mrs. Liston was quoted as the very pattern of all pattern housekeepers, never flurried or put out by anything. I knew, too, that she had means and servants at her command, while I had neither, and dreaded to receive her in such a manner, more than I could tell, many a suffering sister will readily comprehend. What with my hasty dressing, I knew my cheeks were flushed, and my hair tumbled. But it was too late to wait, so I ran down, and stood fire during the introduction as well as I could, quite conscious that instead of appearing my best I was appearing my worst, as even Charley could see. As soon as possible I excused myself, saying, by way of apology, that I was not expecting Charley, and must prepare dinner in haste.

"Pray don't put yourself to any trouble," said Mrs. Liston, politely. "It is no trouble at all." I as politely replied, feeling, as I want to the kitchen, that that small speech was at least a fib, for I was almost at my wit's end to know what to do. A happy thought struck me!

Ossters! A regular dinner was not to be thought of, but most people were very fond of oysters. I knew Charley was, and I could prepare them well. They were to be had opposite, and I was not long in getting them, either. I be hought myself of half a cake, which I luckily had. That nicely sliced, in my silver cake basket, would answer for dessert, with some apples which I bought with the oysters. Really, I should not do so badly for an impromptu occasion.

My spirits rose as I set the table, adorning it with a cluster of fresh chrysauthemums, and with what glass and silver I possessed, so that it looked very neat and pretty. That, at least, Mrs. Liston could not find any fault with, even if she were disposed to do so.

Charley had said hurry, and hurry I did. As speedily as possible I had everything ready on the table and the dessert arranged on a shelf by the open pantry window, so that I could put it on at once.

Tired, flushed, nervous, and doing my best not to look cross, I went to the parlor, where they were chatting gaily, and announced dinner. Then that awkward Charley must put his foot into it, man fashion, by saying:

"My little wife is a famous cook. I hope you have good appetites."

"Indeed I have; traveling always makes me hungry," replied Mr. Liston, rising. I made some laughing reply, and led the way to my little dinner.

"Ah, oysters!-my favorites," said Mr. Liston.

I was glad to hear that, but my heart sank when Mrs. Liston declined to take any, saying she never ate them.

"I am so sorry," I said, flushing. "But I will peach you a couple of eggs." "By no means," she said pleasantly.

"I shall do very well with one of these rolls and a cup of coffee."

I handed the cups, but I knew by the aroma which reached my nostrils, that, though tolerable, it was not nearly as good as usual, for in my haste I had made it too weak, I was specially mortified at this, as I prided myself on my good

"I won't apologize," I thought, proudly. But my pride fell the next instant, when Charley, having tasted his, made a queer face, and then tasted again.

"Why, Lizzie, what ails your coffee?"

Tears of mortification rushed to my eyes, but Liston said kindly:

"Tut, tut, there are worse things than weak coffee in this big world." Of course, as I had no girl I was obliged to remove the plates and bring on the the dessert myself. That, at least, was nice. But when I went into the pantry footsteps at the front door, and directly | I barely suppressed a scream of horror. Mrs. Dean's big gray cat had jumped into the window, and was contentedly munching my cake. With frantic haste I dashed her off and rescued what she had leftonly six thin little slices. They looked so forlorn in the large basket that I would not put them on in that way. I consigned them to a small glass dish, and without a word of apology put them upon the table; Charley came running up stairs, with his for my blood was up now, and I vowed I would apologize no more.

The apples were nice, and we finished on them as well as we could. For my sake Charley tried to appear very gay, but I saw he was deeply mortified, and I did not pity him half as much as I might. I think I was quite excusable when I said to him, after that dreadful dinner was over and our guests were

PAY YOUR DEBTS AT ONCE.

For years thousands of our farmers have been harrassed by heavy burdens of indebtedness, the interest on which alone has been a grievous annual tax upon their resources. Not a few have been forced to abandon to their creditors the farms in the improvement of which many of the best years of their lives were laboriously expended. Thousands of others are still threatened with a like disaster. Crops nearly everywhere this year are good. Owing to a very unusually wide extent of misfortune to foreign farmers, the prices for farm products here leave a fair margin of profit to those who have raised them. Farmers, therefore, will have more money this year than they have been accustomed to handle lately-probably more than they will handle for some time to come, for we can hardly expect a repetition of this year's disasters to foreign crops, and it may be our own turn to experience such a misfortune

In view, therefore, of the oppression of indebtedness in the past, and of the anxiety and sorrow it has brought upon so many homesteads throughout the country, what better use can be made of whatever money each indebted farmer can spare from the proceeds of his harvest this year, than to promptly employ it to free himself from the load that for years has been an affliction and a menace to himself and those dear to him?

Earnestly, therefore, do we urge all our friends who may be in debt to get rid of it at once. Now is the acceptable time for doing so. However urgent may be, in your opinion, the desirability of expending your money in other ways, there is none which will bring you and yours more lasting satisfaction and advantage than by using it to clear your homestead of indebtedness with its persistent tax and trouble. You can do so now, wholly or in part. Providence alone knows when you will be able to do so if this opportunity passes by unimproved .-Rural New Yorker.

HOW TYPHOID FEVER IS CAUSED.

Mr. Thomas M. Morgan, of Victoria College, in the Island of Jersey, has communicated to the Chemical News some instructive facts regarding an outbreak of typhoid fever in the female Orphan Home of Grouville. The home is situated in the country, and far removed from any sewer. There was no fever in the neighbourhood. Water for drinking was obtained from a sink in the court yard, and covered in. It had a pleasant taste, and was perfectly clear and colourness; but some of it was sent for analysis, and a remarkable quantity of it condemned as bad. Fresh cases of fever still occured and the patients acknowledged that they had used the water of the well after the danger was disclosed to them. The pump was removed, and no more of the children were attacked. It was easy to account for the impurity of the water. The well was sunk through a yellow loam, from 15 to 20 feet thick, to a waterbearing bed of coarse yellow sand or gravel. At a distance of 60 feet from the well was a cess which had long been used, and the impurities from it at last found their way through the soil into the drink | provide the staff of life for the minister.

ing water. Many public and private establishments in this country, especially in villages, have very similar typhoidpromoting arrangements.

A CHARITABLE LADY.

"Now, you, just skip out!" said a burley deck-hand in the ladies' cabin of a Fulton ferry-boat, as he caught a thinly-clad, shivering, bare-footed boy by the ear and marched him towards the door. "Get out on the deck-lively now!" The little fellow had been asking for cents, and the man had caught him at it.

"Oh. please don't," screamed the child as the deck-hand twisted his ear-"I'll go-

A fashionably-dressed woman stepped forward, and her silks rustled, and her eyes flashed fire as she said, "What has he done? Why do you treat the child so harshly?"

"He's a young beggar, mum; and rules don't allow beggars on the boat, mum."

"Let him stay in here," said she. "It's cold outside. He is barefooted, and so young, too-why, he can't be more than five or six years old!"

"He can stay here if he behaves himself. He must'nt beg-it's again the rules, mum;" and the big man let go the little one's ear and stood watching him.

"Poor little fellow," mused the lady, scanning the boy's pale, pinched face closely, "you look tired and hungry. I've a mind to give you something." "It's for rum if you give him a cent, mum;

his folks will take it all away from him before his foot's put ashore three minutes." declared the deck-hand. But the kind lady handed the child one of Uncle Sam's crisp fifty-cent promises to pay hereafter, saying, "He certainly needs shoes and something to eat."

"Mistaken charity," persisted the valiant employee. "We know 'em all-he'll get no good of the money."

"He's welcome to the little I gave him," she answered, and, noticing that the passengers were regarding her with interest, she added, "And I believe that every person in this cabin believes I am right, and that most of them ere willing to give the poor child a penny or two."

The passengers did agree with her, and they began dropping money into the little fellow's hat until the episode proved his gold mine. The boat touched the pier. The boy skipped on shore and across the street to Fulton Market. The reporter followed him round into Beckman street, and saw him wait at the corner; two minutes later he saw the well dressed lady approach from the other side of the market, saw the boy empty the money into her gloved palm, and passing the pair, heard her say cheerfully, "Well, Dick, I guess we'll try the Roosevelt street boat now."

GAIN AND LOSS.

It is many a step up, and but one step down. To reach a point in business where success seems assured requires many a long pull and strong pull; many ups and downs must be realized and difficulties overcome. At a certain altitude, most men grow giddy and become careless. Because they have gained eminence they become defiant, and forget that it is but one step in the wrong direction that leads to ruin. A merchant whose trade has grown larger than his neighbor's has nothing to boast of, unless he credits the people with his success, and uses with the utmost delicacy the influence he has acquired. We have never known a bigger fool than has been made out of a man whom the world had conceded to be very wise. Presuming upon the credulity of the masses, the overgrown and pompous tradesman has no respect for others. He forgets his patrons are as intelligent as himself, and know pretty nearly as well as he does the value of his wares. He plays his market cards, and is beaten by an honest deal. He sets a trap and puts his own foot into it. He fires a gun that kicks him over, and finally the biter is bit, and the fang has death in it.

The true theory of trade is simple, and if followed, will as surely lead to success and lasting wealth, as time continues. Economy must be the ground plan of every business undertaking. Extravagance the people will not pay for. What merchandize actually costs is by no means what it may cost the spendthrift to live who sells it. Private expense accounts are frequently allowed to creep into business calculations, and the sharp, selfish dealer is foolish enough to think that one price can be had as well as another, and so marks up what he ought to mark down. This merchant never takes off without advancing somewhere else. High prices and large profits become a disease with him, and he adds here a little and there a little, until his former patrons pass by on the other side. His sales diminish year by year, and the blind man sees not, until some day the scales fall from his eyes, and he discovers that he is but a mere cipher where he was once, as he imagined, the biggest Somebody in the com-

The Globe has undertaken to prove that the farmer gets less for his wheat, while the mechanic pays more for his flour, on account of the tariff. There is still one thing wanting. A year ago it asserted that one result of the tariff was to ruin the millers. Now it ought also to show that the miller paying less for wheat, and getting more for his flour, is yet making less profit than under the benign influence of the Mackenzie Government. After doing this it can devote itself to squaring the circle or demonstrating the feasibility of perpetual motion.—Vindicator.

For a time the mill itself was in no little danger, as the wind was blowing directly towards it. A large number of mill hands and other villagers were quickly upon the spot; the engines were got out as soon as possible; scores of pails were brought from the stores and, after about half an hour's hard work, the fire was got under, though pumping had to be continued for some time longer before it was entirely extinguished. The damage is estimated at about fifty dollars, several rods of the elevator having been utterly consumed or so injured that its removal will be necessary. The little engines, which cost a mere trifle, have again proved of incalculable value, as, but for them, the mill -to say nothing of other property-might have been destroyed, as the force pump therein was out of order, and could not be made to work .- Gazette.

How women can manage to sit bolt upright, and not change a position, looking neither to the right nor left during a sermon in church, passes the understanding. A man will sit on a picket-fence all the afternoon to see a ball match, but put him in a church-pew for three-quarters of an hour and he will wabble all over the seat. It can be said for the women that they do not wabble. - Almira Advertiser.

The number 37 has this strange peculiarity: Multiplied by 3 or any multiple of 3 up to 27, it gives three figures all alike. Thus, three times 37 will be 111. Twice three time (6 times) 37 will be 222; three times three times (9 times) 37 gives three threes; four times three times (12 times) 37, three fours; and so on.

MANVERS.

The October meeting of the Manvers Central Temperance Association, was held in the Lifford school house, on the evening of Friday, 24th inst. The meeting was called to order by the President, and was opened by singing that beautiful and well-known hymn, "Work for the Night is Coming;" after which the Rev. Mr. Wilson, Methodist minister, led in heartfelt prayer, that the great King of Kings might be present with us and bless the Association. The President then called for a reading from Mr. A. B. Wilson, entitled "The Gambler's Wife," which he gave in his accustomed masterly way; Rev. Mr. Wilson was then called upon to give an address on the question of Prohibition, to which he responded most cheerfully, and in a manner that did great credit to himself; he spoke for the greater part of an hour, and gave several strong and touching illustrations of the evils of the liquor traffic, and the benefits of total abstinence. This address was followed by a short recitation, "Encourage the Children," by Johnnie Hindman, who acquitted himself splendidly, as he always does. The business of the Asshirt manufacturer, in a small way of sociation was then proceeded with, and it business, has absconded, leaving creditors | was decided to have the next meeting in four weeks, namely. on Friday. Nov. 21st, when a special musical and literary entertainment is to be given, the proceeds of which will go to Lifford Public School.

CAUTION.

Sir,—As some of our jealous imitators are circulating false statements by handbill and word of mouth, and by their advertisements, hoping to gull some "innocent," we must ask for a little space to repeat a few "home truths." "The Singer Manufacturing Company, of New York," found. from twelve to eighteen years ago, that a single factory (at Elizabethport, N. J., and one of the largest in the world) could not supply the demand for "The Singer" Sewing Machine. Deciding, therefore, to erect a second one in Europe, Glasgow was chosen as a site, Scotchmen being prominent among the officers of the Company as they are to day. Since that time the two factories have interchanged shipments as one or the other would be behindhand in filling orders. Now both are so pushed to keep abreast of the enormous sales of "genuine Singer" (356.432 in 1878), that we understand a third factory is contem plated in Germany. All one great company, however. making the one original 'Singer" machine, and proving the old maxim, "honesty is the best policy," by its unprecedented and unequalled success. One or two questions and we are done. Why is the "Singer" the only machine imitated? Why is the word "Singer" made so prominent in the advertising o bogus concerns, and the actual name of the maker kept in the background? The answer is:- The word "Singer" had to be come a household name before it was worth imitating. We have muchines here in Canada 20, 26 and 28 years old, still in sewing order. All honor to a manufacturer who builds up his own trade, but all -something else—to one who steals his way into business he could never achieve alone. The only office in Port Hope where the genuine Singer can be had is in Fraser's Block, Walton Street.
