I. O. O. F. DECORATION Impressive Ceremony Was Attended by Large Crowd on Sunday

The beautiful and impressive custom of decorating the graves of departed brethren was observed on Sunday afternoon last by the members of Durham Lodge, No. 78. I. O. O. F. The lodge about one hundred and thirty strong left the rooms about 3.30 o'clock and marched to the cemetery, headed by the 46th Batt. Band. A large crowd was in attendance and the cemetery although badly scorched presented a very beautiful appearance, every grassy mound being a mass of flowers At the side of the chapel a brief service was held, opening with the hymn, "A few more years shall roll" and prayer by Rev. A H Going. A short but earnest and impressive address was given by Rev. Bro. J S LaFlair, pastor of the Baptist church, which was appreciated not only by the Oddfellows but by everybody present. Bro. Sorsoliel, of Cobourg, delivered in a very able manner the Noble Grand's address, after which the decorating of the 52 graves was carried out. The three links filled with flowers were placed on each grave, and during this part of the ceremony the band played, "In the sweet bye and bye."

Returning to the square a verse of "Abide With Me" was sung, after which the beautiful service was brought to a close by the benediction by the chaplain, On account of the slight shower of rain, the ceremony was a little hurried, otherwise everything passed

To David Tope Near Newcastle; Was On His Way To Join His Wife

The remains of the late David Tope, of Hamilton, who was killed by his auto overturning near Newtonville on Saturday, were shipped to Hamilton on Sunday afternoon. Mr. Itheel Walters of this town was the first person to reach the scene after the accident. Mr. Walters was driving to Newcastle and Bowmanville on his regular weekly trip. He saw the automobile approaching and suddenly their was a great cloud of dust and the sound of a heavy smash, Mr. Walters hurried to the rescue when he found the auto completely overturned and Mr. Tope underneath. Mr. Tope was not pinned down by the car and Mr. Walters had no trouble in

One of the prominent banners across the street bore the inscription, "The town is yours paint it red." It was the largest crowd we had ever witnessed at a Firemen's tournament, brigades and bands being present from all parts of the Province. The bands were not at all stingy and there was a continual musical program which was much enjoyed.

The local fire fighters covered themselves with glory in the various events. They won first prize in the ladder race, first prize for the best appearing brigade on parade and third prize in the hose-reel race. Napanee won the first prize in the hose reel race and Trenton second. Napanee's time was 34 2-5 seconds. Hope's 35 4,5 seconds. The Band, while not taking part in the competition gave several numbers on the street and at the station and were very tavorably commented upon by all and no doubt could have carried off the prize in Class B. Lindsay is an ideal spot for the

Lindsay Warder

A meeting of the Firemen's Eastern Association was held last night in the Lindsay Town Hall at 8 o'clock. Delegates were present from all the fire brigades in this association, except Cobourg and Bowmanville, and through some misunderstanding these were not able to attend. Those present were: J. To-day they are asking only, can the British fleet play its part in protecting the island from isolation. which means, in the first instance, can it destroy the German Emperor's navy? They are concerned also as to whether the food supplies can be maintained, and to what extent pri-vate fortunes will be impaired by the inancial upheaval of the war. The military situation stands where it did last night. The mobili-zation of the naval forces has been completed, and the army is on a war footing, except for the calling out of the Territorials. The machinery for their mobilization requires only a word to be set in motion.

The request of the War Office that the English newspapers refrain from publishing army and navy movements has met with a patriotic response. The London evening papers publish news concerning almost all the arm-les of Europe, except that of Great Britain and regarding the whereabouts of the British fleet and the preparations of the British army they say nothing. There is a popular be-lief that the fleet is in the neighborhood of Flushing, in the North Sea, but the truth is known only to the members of the Government.

Sec -Treas. W H James, of Trenton, spoke along the lines of having the Eastern and Northern Association joined together into one big union, and then have these joined with the Western Association. One demonstration could be held in each division every year, and one large meeting in Toronto or Hamilton every three years.

Considerable objection was made to this by the other delegates, and the matter was allowed to stand over for another year.

W. Southgate, of Port Hope, wished to see a contest placed on their program which would take in the fire team run the same as they have in the Northern Association.

This was ruled out, because they have not a trophy for such a race, and, besides, many of the fire brigades in the Eastern Association do not own their own teams.

It was then moved and seconded that copies of the minutes of this meeting and the by-laws of the association be printed and sent to towns belonging to the association, and also to towns not identified with the Eastern Association. Carried.

FIRE APPARATUS DEMONSTRATION.

It was moved and seconded that the next place holding a demonstration should in get in touch with manufacturers of fire appliances and get them to give a demonstration of these goods both at the annual meeting and at the celebration, and also arrange to have a competent man deliver an address at the next convention in regard to fire fighting, etc. Carried.

OUR STORY ** **

"Well, no," Burke rejoined uneasily; "not exactly, I don't!" In the presence of this delicate and graceful femininity, he experienced a sudden, novel distaste for his usual sledge-hammer methods of attack · ininterrogation. Yet, hisdutyrequired that he should continue his questioning. He found himself in fact between the devil and the deep sea -though this particular devil appeared rather as an angel of light. Now, at this somewhat feeble remark in reply to her query, the childish face grew as hard as its curving contours would permit.

"Sir!" she cried indignantly. Her little head was thrown back in scornful reproof, and she turned a shoulder toward the official contemptuously.

"Now, now!" Burke exclaimed in remonstrance. After all, he could not be brutal with this guileless maiden. He must, however, make the situation clear to her, lest she think him a beast -- which would never do!

"You see, young lady," he went on with a gentleness of voice and manner that would have been inconceivable to Dacey and Chicago Red; "you see, the fact is that, even if you were introduced to this Mary Turner by young Mr Gilder, this same Mary Turner herself is an exconvict, and she's just been arrested for murder."

At the dread word, a startling change was wrought in the girl. She wheeled to face the Inspector, her slender body swaving a little toward him. The rather heavy brows lifted slightly in a disbelieving stare. The red lips were parted, rounded to a tremulous horror. "Murder!" she gasped; and then was silent.

"Yes," Burke went on, wholly at ease now, since he had broken the ice thus effectually "You see, it there's a mistake about you, you don't want it to go any further-not a mite further, that's sure. So, you see, now, that's one of the reasons why I must know just who you are.' Then, in his turn, Burke put the query that the girl had put to him a little while before. "You see that don't you?"

"Oh, yes, yes!" was the instant agreement. "You should have told me all about this horrid thing in the first place." Now, the girl's manner was transformed. She smiled wistfully on the Inspector, and the glance of the blue eyes was very kind, subtly alluring. Yet in this unbending, there appeared even more decisively than hitherto the fine qualities in bearing of one deli-cately nurtured. She sank down in a chair by the desk, and forthwith spoke with a simplicity that in itself was somehow peculiarly potent in its effect on the official who gave attentive ear.

"My name is Helen Travers West," she announced. Burke started a little in his seat, and regarded the speaker with a new deference as he heard that name uttered.

"Will you let me go home as soon as I've told you the teenty little I know?"

"Yes," Burke agreed promptly, with an encouraging smile. And for a good measure of reassurance, he added as one might to an alarmed child: "No one is going to burt you, young lady."

"Well, then, you see, it was this way," began the brisk explanation. "Mr Gilder was calling on me one afternoon, and he said to me then that he knew of a very charming young woman, who-

Here the speech ended abrubtly, and once again the handkerchief was brought into play as the sobbing broke forth with increased violence. Presently the girl's voice rose in a wail.

"Oh, this is dreadful-dreadful!" In the final word, the wail broke to a moan

Burke felt himself vaguely guilty as the cause of such suffering on the part of one so young, so fair, so innocent. As a culprit, he sought his best to afford a measure of soothing for this grief that had had its source in his performance of duty. "That's all right, little lady," he urged in a voice as nearly mellifluous as he could contrive with its mighty volume. "That's all right. I have to keep on telling you. Nobody's going to hurt you - not a little bit. Believe me! Why, nobody ever would want to hurt you!" But his well-meant attempt to assuage the stricken creature's woe was futile. The sobbing continued.

With it came a plaintive cry, many times repeated, softly, but very mis erably. "Oh, dear! Oh, dear!"

"Isn't there something else you can tell me about this woman? Burke inquired in desperation before the plaintive outburst. He hoped to distract her from such grief over her predicament.

The girl gave no least heed to the question.

"Oh, I'm so frightened!" she gasped.

"Tut, tut!" the Inspector chided 'Now, I tell you there's nothing at all for you to be afraid of."

"I'm afraid!" the girl asserted dismally. "I'm afaid you willput me-in the cell!" her voice sank to a murmur hardly audible as she spoke the words so fraught with shock. Then, presently, he set his dread import to one of her refined sensibilities.

"Pooh!"Burke returned, gallantly. Why, my dear young lady, nobody in the world could think of you and a cell at the same time -no, indeed!" Instantly, the gir I responded to thisbald flattery. She fairly radiated appreciation of the compliment sa she turned her eyes, dewy with tears, on the somewhat flustered Inspector.

"Oh, thank you!" she exclaimed with naive enjoyment.

The girl returned deliberately to the chair she had occupied through the interview with the Inspector, and dropped into it weakly. Her form rested there limply now, and the blue eyes stared disconsolately the accents of unimpeachable truth, at the blank wall before her. She realized that fate had decreed defeat to those of her questioner as she for her in the game. It was after a minute of silence in which the two men sat staring that at last she spoke with a savage wrath against the pit into which she had fallen after her arduous efforts.

"Ain't that the greatest luck!"

For a little interval still, Burke turned his glances from the girl to Cassidy, and again to the girl, who sat immobile with her blue eyes fixed on the wall. The police official was, in truth, totally bewildered. Here was inexplicable, mystery. Finally, he addressed the detective curtly.

"Cassidy, do you know this woman?" "Sure, I do!" came the placid inswer. He went on to explain with the direct brevity of his kind. She's little Aggie Lynch-con' woman, from Buffalo-two years for

ARRESTED FOR THEFT

At Colborne on Friday last Chief amieson arrested James Lynch, an Englishman, on a charge of theft. On July 14th, Lynch stole a suit of clothes and an overcoat from Wm. Slater, of Haldimand township, and on July 18th, a pair of shoes, silver knives and forks, four rings, a gold watch and chain, etc., from John Hare's house on Front Road East. Lynch, after his arrest, acknowledged the theft. He appeared before Police Magistrate Boggs on Tuesday, and was committed for trial. Chief Jamieson had quite a chase after him. Lynch is a small man, and the Chief weighs in the neighborhood of 250 pounds. As he was unable to climb fences as fast as Lynch, he used an automobile and after a run of about a mile caught the fugitive. The stolen property was all recovered.

"Yes," the girl admitted. Then, anew, she displayed a serious agitation over the thought of any possible publicity in this affair.

"Oh, please, don't tell any one," she begged prettily. The blue eyes were imploring, beguiling, too. The timid smile that wreathed the tiny mouth was marvelously winning. The neatly gloved little hands were held outstretched, clasped in supplication. "Surely, sir, you see now quite plainly why it must never be known by any one in all the wide, wide world that I have been brought to this perfectly dread ful place-though you have been quite nice!" Her voice dropped to note of musical prayerfulness. The words were spoken very softly and very slowly, with intonations difficult for a man to deny. "Please let me go home." She plucked a minute handkerchief from her handbag, put it to her eyes, and began to sob quietly.

The burly Inspector of Police was moved to quick sympathy. Really, when all was said and done, it was a shame that one like her should by some freak of tate have become involved in the sordid, vicious things that his profession made it obligatory on him to investigate. There was a considerable hint of paternal in his air as he made an attempt to offer consolation to the afflicted damsel.

"That's all right, little lady," he exclaimed cheerfully. "Now, don't you be worried - not a little bit. Take it from me-Miss West. Just go ahead, and tell me all you know about this Turner woman. Did you see her yesterday?"

"Oh, yes! I've only seen her two or three times," came the ready response. The voice charged to supplication, and again the clasped hands were extended beseechingly. "Oh, please, Commissioner Won't you let me go home?"

The use of a title higher than his own flattered the Inspector, and he was moved to graciousness. Besides, it was obvious that his police net in this instance had enmeshed only the most harmless of doves He smiled encouragingly.

"Well, now, little lady," he said, almost tenderly, "if I let you go now, will you promise to let me know if you are able to think of anything else about this Turner woman?

"I will-indeed, I will!" came the fervent assurance. There was something almost-quite provocative in the flash of gratitude that shone forth from the blue eyes of the girl in that moment of her superlative relief. It moved Burke to a desire for rehabilitation in her estimation. "Now, you see," he went on in his heavy voice, yet very kindly, and with a sort of massive playfulness in his manner, "no one has hurt you-not even a little bit, after all. Now, you run right home to your mother.' The girl did not need to be told

The speech aroused the stolid detective to a new interest.

"Helen Travers West?"he repeated, inquiringly.

"Oh, that's the name she told me, the Inspector explained, somewhat shamefacedly before this question from his inferior. Then he chuckled, for he had sense of humor sufficient to triumph even over his own discomfiture in this encounter. "And she had me winging, too!" he confessed. "Yes I admit it." ## MUSTY ASSESSMENT LAW

A friend of the Whig has sent it the Houston Plan of Taxation, as enforced in the city of Houston, Texas, and a careful perusal of it shows how worthy it is of consideration. The foundation of the plan is the Somers system of equalizing values. Under it the value of one foot of land, fronting on a street and running back roo feet, is determined; and it becomes the basis for the valuation of all the land in the block.

The buildings and improvements, including machinery, are assessed at twenty-five per cent. of their value. Public Franchise are assessed at a price which represents the value of that portion of the streets which is used by them. All cash deposits in the banks and all personal property are exempted.

And yet in one year (1912) the assessment showed an increase of $33,000,000 and the rate was reduced from $3 per $100 to $1 50. The general result of the plan of assessing and taxing is approved by eighty-eight per cent. of the taxpayers.

The great advantage to the munifreedom which it has to alter or amend its constitution or charter. In Canada the municipality is help. In Canada the municipality is helpless. It cannot do what the provincial government does not permit, and the Whitney administration is opposed to all tax reforms. Sooner or later this obstruction to municipal progress will cease. ## Ford Car Prices Drop.

The Ford Motor Co. astonished the world last year with the announcement that employees would share in Ford profits. Today, August 1st, the Ford Co. are out with a still more astounding bit of news which is that all retail buyers of Ford cars from August 1, 1914, to August 1, 1915, are to share in the Ford millions. # Failed to Appear

Belleville, July 27 .- A Jewish wedding was to have been celebrated in this city yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, but the prospective bridegroom did not appear. Mr. David Phillips, a well-known merchant, had arranged for a big celebration on the occasion of the wedding of his daughter, Sarah, to a young Toronto Jew. All the Jewish residents were invited, and scores of Christians received invitations. Over two hundred met in the Academy at 4 o'clock for the ceremony, but Fred Demees of Toronto, the young man in the case, did not arrive. A message had been received that he had left Toronto by automobile early in the morning, and his arrival had been expected at 3 o'clock. From 4 until 6 o'clock the guests waited anxiously then Mr. Phillips announ ced that the expected bridegroom had not put in an oppearance, and invited the guests to sit down to dinner. So the wedding feast was given, and a merry time was spent by the guests, who afterwards danced until 11 o'clock. Demees has not yet shown up. Mr. Phillips father of the disappointed girl, went to Toronto this afternoon.

MR. FRANK TERRACE, ADDRESSING THE Good Roads Convention at Tacoma, Washington, gave the following enthusiastic testimony in favor of good roads :

"I am a cabbage grower. I haul my produce to the sauerkraut factory at South Seattle. Before the road over which I travel was built, I had to get up at 4 o'clock in the morning to start on my journey. The limit of the load I could haul with a team of 1800 pound horses was 2500 pounds, and after visiting the factory I would arrive back at my home late in the evening. But look at the difference now that a permanent hard surface has been laid down. I start on my trip about 8 o'clock and need only a team weighing 1400 pounds to haul a load of 5000 pounds of cabbage, which is double my previous capacity. And, best of all, I find on my return to the house early in the afternoon, that I have finished the day's work without the horses having turned a hair."

Concrete Roads Mean Road Economy

They prevent your road taxes being spent in patching up roads that never will be good roads.

They are the cheapest kind of roads at the end of ten, fifteen or twenty years because they practically eliminate the cost of upkeep. They enable you to haul bigger loads with less effort and less wear and tear on horses and vehicles. They increase land values, better conditions generally, and decrease the cost of living.

Write for, free, Good Roads literature, and learn how good roads will benefit you.

SERVIANS HOLD PASS.

Progress of Austrians Towards Nish Is Slow.

LONDON, Aug. 1 .- An Exchange Telegraph Co.'s despatch from Nish, Servia, via Saloniki, says that up till Friday night the Austrian invaders at Semendria had not succeeded in forcing the pass held by the Servian troops, whose possession would give them access to the Morava river val-ley, and thus open up a direct road to Nich to Nish.

They Will Not Be Permitted to Leave Canada If a General War Breaks Out-Cabinet Meeting Will Be Held In Ottawa To-day to Discuss Developments and Make Plans to Aid Britain.

OTTAWA. Aug. 1 .- While waiting for the final word regarding the appalli- ; war in Europe, which now seems past prevention, the feeling in the capital is very tense.

The Prime Minister returned this morning and Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes is expected to-day. A Cabi-net meeting has been called and the latest developments will there be discussed and any steps that should be taken by Canada in the way of action or preparation. If Canada is called on to send men to aid the Imperial forces, the only trouble will be in getting properly qualified officers and sufficient equipment for the men who would be ready to go. It is believed from the numer-ous offers that have come in that fully 100,000 men could be sent over. At present, however, it is said, that barely more than 20,000 could be offered or equipped satisfactorily. There are plenty of rifles and ammunition, but not enough of other equipment.

C. K. Robinson Held To Blame For

Death of Miss Yorke. TAMWORTH, Ont., July 31-That Blanche Lillian Yorke came to her death on the night of July 8 as the result of an illegal operation performed by Dr. C. K. Robinson, is the sub-stance of the verdict returned by the coroner's jury at the close of the inquest yesterday. According to the evidence, the callousness exhibited evidence, the callousness exhibited by Robinson after the death of the girl was remarkable. For eight days he slept and ate in the house with tho remains, at the same time ques-tioning the girl's friends and rela-tives as to her whereabouts, and even assisting in the searches for her, so as to divert suspicion from himself. According to Dingman Floyd's evidence Dr. Robinson told him that he had not operated on Blanche Yorke, "because it would take too long to do it." He was treating her for stomach trouble. Mrs. Thompson, who occasionally did washing for Dr. Robinson, swore that one Thursday evening the doctor brought her two blood-soaked sheets, one flannel and the other cotton. The sheets were wet and heavy, as if an attempt had been made to wash them. High Constable Van Koughnet,-who accompanied Detective Miller in his investigations, said Robinson told them when they questioned him that Miss Yorke had been in his office only twenty minutes. Later on he admitted that she had been "on the slab for an hour and a half," He described their search of the house and declared there was nothing suspicious to be found there at that time. The ashes had been removed from the furnace, but no buttons or burned clothing were in it. When asked by the crown attorney

SHOWING CONFIDENCE.

It Has a Strong Influence In Making Business and Good Times.

Preachments about the value of optimism are a trifle bromidic, so instead of hurrahing for optimism I have a few instances of the influence that comes from putting a good face steadily toward bad fortune, and contrariwise the bad effect of mourning because business is not better.

"How's trade?" I asked a stationer. "Tradel" he exclaimed. "Tradel There isn't any. Things are rotten." Now if I had had any intention of buying anything from him, which I had not, that depressing statement would have gone a long way to keep me from buying. "How's things?" I asked the boss of a men's furnishing store a few hours later. "Little quiet, just now," he smiled; "but I can't complain. We have run ahead of last year and prospects are good." I felt like buying a new hat because the cheeriness of his reply made me feel that money was coming to me.

"How's trade?" I asked a tobacco-nist. "Good," he replied implatically. "Little slow today, but trade is mighty. good with me, coming right along," and I bought a cigar.

Confidence is the influence that makes good times because it quickens trade: But if all business men were to croak about bad business, would not that influence make us all very careful about doing anything? We would all want to sit tight and wait. The way to get good times is to face the world hopefully and go to work. The croaker is a trade killer .- Inland Stationer.

At one time this place depended almost entirely upon nature for its appearance. Bucolic colors were predommant, and there was a simplicity about it very pleasing and restful to the eye. Of late years, however, the city paint-ers and decorators have come in and with their colors have given it a smart, artificial appearance, which for many old fashioned people has largely curtailed its charm. Girlville, indeed, now has a reputation for cheap display which no other place can hope to rival. Girlville at one time was governed almost entirely by an eminently respectable body called elders, but it has long since scornfully discarded their help and governs itself, or, at least, claims the right to do so. Its principal industries are ragtime, fiction, silk stockings, velvet slippers and red paint. There is also a large spoon factory on the edge of the town. An appeal to the legislature to have terfield was refused on the ground that Chatterville and Girlville are already synonymous.

The inhabitants of Girlville are extremely restless and fickle. Not satisfied with the place, they are constantly attempting to leave it and, after leaving, to get back again .- Thomas L. Masson in Life.

Macaroni as a Food.

The rank which macaroni holds as a food is shown by the following comparison: As an energy producer it outranks lean steak, for it contains 1,650 calories of energy to the pound, while the steak has but 950. While macaroni costs from 10 to 15 cents a pound and contains only 7 to 10 per cent of moisture which is wasted, the lean steak contains 70 to 75 per cent of waste meisture. ## CANOPIES ON THEIR HEADS.

People of Korea Wear the Largest Hats In the World.

What would you think of a hat that was so large it would safely shelter your father, mother, sisters and yourself under it should a sudden rainstorm come up? The men of Korea like these enormous hats and would not feel properly dressed without them. These hats look like great flower pots set on a round table six feet across The crowns are nine feet in height and three inches wide, much like a chimney on a one story house. How do you suppose these large, round head coverings are kept on? Under the brim is a small, closely fitting cap, held on by a padded string which ties under the ears. The material of these bats is bamboo, so finely split that it is like thread, and lastly they are varnished to keep out the sun and rain and the wind. You know that the Korean people always wear cotton clothing, so these big hats protect them far more than our hats possibly could. In the rainy season cones of oiled paper are attached to the big bamboe head coverings in the shape of funnels, so, I suppose, that the rain pours off of them just as water does off a duck's back. A Korean keeps his hat on when we should take it off. Soldiers wear black or brown felt hats decorated with red borse hair or peacock feathers, and hanging from the sides, over the ears and around their necks are oval balls of porcelain, amber and a queer kind of gum.-Sunbeam.

JAPAN WITH BRITAIN.

Official Statement of Her Affiliation Issued In Tokio.

TOKIO, Aug. 5. - The Japanese proclamation, setting forth that, if the war extended to the Far East, Japan might be forced to join with her ally, Great Britain, was issued after an extraordinary session of the Cabinet, and was generally interpreted as preparing the people of Japan for the action of the Japanese navy as soon as Great Britains declarat'on has been announced. The German fielt is very active around Kialchaucuau, a Russian cattle station. It is reported that Kiaichau may possibly be occupied by the Japanese in the event of the defeat of the German squadron in the Far East, thus clearing the Pacific Ocean for the war essels of Russia, France and Great Britain, and permitting them to pro eed t. Europe undisturbed if they desire. Extraordinary excitement prevails in Tokio. The public waits anxiously for the issue of extra newspapers, but incoming news is now suffering considerable delay and is meagre.
