TOWN COUNCIL

Mayor Bush Recommends Improvements at the Beach

Tax Rate is 25 Mills

The regular meeting of the Council was held last Monday evening and Messrs. Strong, Smith and Perry were the absentees.

From E. E. Snider and other ratepayers asking that the portion of Bedford street between Brown and Pine streets be watered.

Mr. D. H. Chisholm wrote on behalf of the butchers, stating that he intended to apply at the earliest convenient time to quash the by-law recently passed by the Council making the sale of meat on the market free and he gave further notice that damages would be claimed by all licensed butchers of the Town caused by the passing of said bylaw.

The High School Board asked that the sum of $3,578.31 be placed in the estimates for their use.

Mr. V J Carruthers some time ago sent an account of $10.00 for specifications prepared for the painting and decorating of the interior of the Town Hall. The Council did not pass the account and Mr. Carruthers asked that the amount be paid at once. The account was referred to the Town Property Committee.

Mr. Chislett stated that he had received numerous requests to a walk down Broggin's lane. There was considerable traffic down there and the only entrance to the lace factory was from this lane. Mr. Chislett asked for an expression from the Council.

The Council agreed and the walk will be built at once. In some of the residential sections of the town the old board walk is still very much in evidence. The ratepayers in these parts will feel that they should have a little consideration rather than build walks at the front and rear of places of business.

Mayor Bush stated that he had received numerous complaints about conditions at the beach. He had endeavored to impress upon the Town Property Committee for two years the necessity of making the beach attractive, but very little had been done. The Mayor suggested certain improvements to the pavilion and also to have benches and tables placed at the beach for the convenience of the public.

Mr. Patterson promised to have the matter attended to at once.

A bylaw to amend bylaw 1106 received its several readings and was passed. This is in reference to the removal of night soil. The corporation agrees to pay the public scavenger, Albert Mountain, the sum of ten cents per month for each box, drawer or pail, dry earth or ash closet cleaned by him.

A bylaw to borrow $5,000 was passed.

A bylaw fixing the rate at twenty five mills was read three times and passed.

Mayor Bush referred to the town water supply, over which there has been much discussion. He endeavored last year to have certain changes made to protect the basins from seepage. Sewers were constructed but the council did not make the progress he desired. The Mayor suggested that the Street and Bridge Committee be requested to meet with the Water Commissioners at as early a date as possible and to ascertain what sewers and drains from streets and dwellings near water works are not properly connected with the main sewer; and also what houses adjacent to the Water Works property require to be connected.

The Mayor would like to see John and Smith streets sewer properly connected with Marsh street sewer. Christopher, of the Lakeview House, had a wooden drain through his premises and it was thought the sewage from this came very near the water basins. The Mayor also pointed out that some time ago the Water Works Board issued debentures to the amount of $15,000. $10,000 of this had been used and the Board applied for the remaining $5,000 to make improvements to the system. Since then complaints had been made about the quality of the water and as a result the whole matter will come before the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board at Toronto on Monday. The Board of Health, the Water Commissioners and the Mayor have been asked to appear.

Just before adjourning, Mr Culverwell addressed the Council regarding the annoyance caused by the continual whistling of locomotives and suggested that action be taken at once to remedy the same. A further explanation of Mr Culverwell's will be found in another column.

The Mayor stated that the Council was working on this question and had sent to Lindsay and Peterboro for copies of their bylaws. Mr Hayden gave notice that at the next meeting of the Council he would introduce a bylaw to restrict the amount of whistling by locomotives.

SAD ACCIDENT

Miss Kennedy Seized With a Fainting Spell and Fell in Cistern

The town was shocked on Sunday when it became known of the sad fatality which befell Miss Mary Kennedy.

Miss Kennedy had lived at Judge Benson's for the past fourteen years and yesterday after preparing dinner, went out to the back yard. After being absent for a rather unusual length of time, the housemaid went to look for her. The garden and surrounding premises were searched but without avail and finally Judge Benson and the neighbors were notified and they assisted in the search. The homes of relatives and houses where Miss Kennedy was accustomed to call were visited but no person could throw any light upon her disappearance. Continuing the search for more than half an hour, the party noticed the top of the cistern on Judge Benson's property was off and here the body was found. It is thought that Miss Kennedy was seized with a fainting spell, and from the position of the body, fell headlong into the cistern.

Deceased was a member of the Methodist church and very highly esteemed by a large circle of friends. Two sisters, Mrs John Douglas, and Miss Kennedy, of town, and four brothers, Joseph, of Orillia; David, of Parry Sound; and John and Robert, of Cochrane are left to mourn her loss. The funeral took place from the residence of her brother-in-law, Mr J W Douglas, Ridout street, Tuesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT

To John Bradfield, of Bewdley

John Bradfield, of Bewdley, met with a painful accident Monday morning while driving to town with his wife. The horse took fright on the C. N. R. bridge and in jumping to the side, Mr. Bradfield was thrown out and badly cut about the head and Mrs Bradfield grabbed the lines and pluckily held the horse.

WEDDING BELLS

GIBSON—HONOR.

The marriage of Mary Louise, youngest daughter of the late James F. Honor and Mrs. Honor to George Percy, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Gibson was solemnized at St John's Church on Saturday morning, July eighteenth. In the absence of Rev. James A. Elliott rector of St Johns, the ceremony was performed by the Rev. McEvoy rector of St. Marks. Owing to the recent death of the bride's father, the wedding was a very quiet one, only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom being present. The bride, who was unattended, was given away by her brother-in-law. She wore a suit of cream serge, with white satin trimmings, and hat of white satin to match. She also wore a corsage bouquet of lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern and carried a white prayer book. After the ceremony the happy couple left for Port Stanley where they will spend the summer before going to St Thomas, their future home.

ARMY WORM

In Durham and Northumberland—Pest Appears on Mr. Sam Nicholls' Farm on The Cobourg Road.

The Army worm that has been doing so much damage in several counties of Ontario, has been located in Durham by the district office of the Department of Agriculture. Several badly infested acres are being treated and farmers are asked to be on the watch lest the pest gain too strong a foothold. In appearance the Army worm is about one and a half inches long. It is brown or black in color, with three conspicuous yellowish stripes above, one down the middle and the others down either side of the back. Along the lower edge of the breathing pores is a wide yellow band flushed with red. The head is brown, marked with a network of darker brown; on each side are two blackish brown bars. The worm is nocturnal in its habits, doing most of its injury to crops during the night. It has been found possible to control an infestation of the Army worm before the caterpillars leave their breeding places by careful watching. This has been done by plowing around such breeding places a few deep furrows, and when the caterpillars collect in the furrows, they can be killed by crushing them. The boring of post holes every ten or fifteen feet will facilitate. These deep furrows are made directly across their path. The sides of the furrows farthest away from the worms should be made perpendicular if necessary by a spade, so as to render it difficult for them to climb. The post holes should be about a foot deep. The caterpillars, when they reach the furrow, will crawl along it and fall into one of the holes.

In conversation with Mr. Samuel Nicholls, Cobourg Road, the Guide learned yesterday that the army worm had reached his farm on the south side of the railway track. Mr. Nicholls with the assistance of Mr. R. S. Beckett of the Department of Agriculture, Brighton, are working hard to rid the farm of this pest and have so far been successful in confining it to a small portion of the crop.

CORRESPONDENCE.

NO WHISTLING—PURE WATER

Last night just as the Council was adjourning I brought to its notice that at the request of many citizens I wished to complain as to the horrible and vicious whistling of the railway locomotives in our town. I said that the simplest way is to pass a by-law to stop the whistling, as other cities have done, and to do this at once without any delay. A notice to introduce a by-law at the next meeting was then given.

However, this prevention of the whistling will necessitate railway gates over level crossings to prevent accidents to citizens. To get these gates it may be necessary to secure the assistance of the Railway Board of Canada at Ottawa, as the Railway Companies may be loth to place the gates at their own expense. It may be that the town will have to pay a small portion of the cost of the gates—usually it is a very small amount. It is advisable to pass the bylaw to stop the whistling at once, as from advice I have received from railway men and others it will speed up the action.

For the last two months I have endeavored to get our genial and jovial local agent to take some action in this matter but I guess the weather is too hot to move. Then again I learn that even the higher authorities are apt to delay matters considerably unless they see we are much in earnest. It seems to be the general opinion at present that we are living in a Hades—so here's to no whistling and pure water, and that quickly.

Yours earnestly
J. A. CULVERWELL

A SONG OF THE ENGLISH

We have fed our sea for a thousand years,
And she calls us, still unfed,
Though there's never a wave of all her waves
But marks our English dead.
We have strewed our best to the weed's unrest,
To the shark and the sheering gull.
If blood be the price of admiralty,
Lord God, we ha' paid it in full!
There's never a flood goes shoreward now
But lifts a keel we manned;
There's never an ebb goes seaward now
But drops our dead on the sand—
But sinks our dead on the sands forefore
From the Ducies to the Swin.
If blood be the price of admiralty,
If blood be the price of admiralty,
Lord God, we ha' paid it in full!
We must feed our sea for a thousand years,
For that is our doom and pride,
As it was when they sailed with the Golden Hind
Or the wreck that struck last tide
Or the wreck that lies on the spouting reef
Where the ghastly blue lights flare,
If blood be the price of admiralty,
If blood be the price of admiralty,
If blood be the price of admiralty,
Lord God, we ha' bought it fair!
— Rudyard Kipling.

THE NEXT FOUR YEARS

Discussions on ways and means of defeating the Whitney Government four years hence are interesting in their way, says the Toronto Star. But perhaps a question of vital importance is what is to be done during the next four years by a Government possessing an overwhelming majority and by the Legislature.

The Government has undertaken a policy of road improvement on a large scale, and it has also promised to establish a system of radical railways and a supply of electric power to farmers. These are good objects; and it will be the duty of the Legislature, without distinction of party, to encourage the promised work and hasten it forward. The Government has had no reason to complain that its Hydro-Electric policy was obstructed for party reasons, and it will meet with no opposition, but with aid and encouragement, in any other progressive undertakings.

The Government has declined to appoint a commission to inquire into the conditions of rural Ontario and to endeavor to check rural depopulation. But that refusal, if persisted in, only emphasizes the duty of the Government to strengthen its Agricultural Department and extend the usefulness of its service to farmers. In labor legislation a good beginning has been made with compensation for workmen. There are other important fields for labor legislation. Means should be taken to lessen the evils of unemployment by providing labor exchanges. Insurance against unemployment and sickness is another subject that ought to receive attention. The appointment of a Minister of Labor would stimulate interest in this work, and the Government ought to be asked to reconsider its refusal to establish such a department.

The change which has taken place in the Legislature is not to be estimated by merely counting the heads on each side. Some of the new members are men of unusual force and originality, and we hope they will add to the stock of ideas for the advancement of Ontario. In this country we perhaps pay too much attention to Governments and too little to Legislatures. A hundred and eleven men are not elected merely to vote for and against the Government. They are chosen as our best and most representative men, and we have a right to expect much from them.

ST. SWITHEN'S DAY

If it had rained Wednesday it might rain every day for the next forty days, if you believe Grandma. Of course, it might not be, but at the same time the fact that July is Saint Swithen's month must not be lost sight of and the almanacs will remind you that the 15th is St. Swithen's particular day, that means according to tradition that you should annex somebody's raincoat and have a pair of rubbers handy.

The St. Swithen belief has a simple and devout air which entitles it to respect, particularly as a Bishop is bound up in it. The good Bishop Swithen of Winchester was a very humble man and his desire was that his remains might be put away in the common burial ground of his minister in order that the rain could fall upon his grave and the wayfarer walk over it, should the wayfarer feel like doing so. He was so buried, and no keep off the grass signs were put by the lot; but in order to canonize him the rules of the monks of that period were that he should be dug up and placed in a shrine inside the church. This was entirely antagonistic to the wishes which had been repeatedly expressed by the good Bishop when he had discussed such things, but on one 15th of July sometime in the tenth century, the monks gathered for the purpose of transplanting him.

They were about to start on the job when it commenced to rain, and it rained the next day and the next, making it a continuous performance for forty days. This kind of dampened the ardor of the busy monks so they left the Bishop's bones where they were, taking the constant rain as a sign of displeasure.

ONE THOUSAND NEW TEACHERS

According to the Normal School results which appeared on Monday 1,099 students have been qualified for teaching in the Province of Ontario. Of these, 18 candidates successful in Grade A have been awarded permanent second class certificates, while 953 obtained interim second class certificates, which become permanent after successful probationary teaching. Candidates who did not succeed in making the necessary marks for second class certificates but whose marks are close enough to bring them within section 13 of the Normal school syllabus are entitled to a third class certificate valid for public school teaching for five years.

These latter candidates, of whom there are 128, will be granted second class certificates on passing the Easter or June final examination in any year during the term of their certificate.

ALGONQUIN PARK

The attractions that are found in the Algonquin Provincial (Ont.) Park, situated 200 miles north of Toronto and 175 miles west of Ottawa, should appeal to Canadians who desire to summer-out in a district where health and pleasure abound.

Algonquin Park is 2,000 feet above the sea level has the best fishing in Ontario, including small-mouthed black bass, salmon trout, lake trout, and speckled trout. The "Highland Inn" accommodates 150 people and is situated on one of the most beautiful lakes in the Park. If a more restful place is desired "Nominigan Camp," situated on Smoke Lake, 7 miles from the railway, is available, or "Camp Minnessing" on beautiful Island Lake, 10 miles from the railway.

These camps are built of cedar logs, accommodate 60 people each, and offer unrivalled attractions in the way of fishing.

Those who require rest and city comforts in the wilderness are also recommended to these camps. Get a copy of the Algonquin issued by the Grand Trunk and see the nearest Grand Trunk Agent and make your reservation for the summer, or write C. E. Harning, District Passenger Agent, Toronto, Ont.

ARE EATING AWAY THE CORN

One of the G. T. R. railway men brought the story to the town this morning that in the Haliburton district the grasshoppers are eating away the corn. Some of the fields, he stated were so bare by the insects that cattle were being allowed the crops. Rain is necessary to check the number of these destructive insects.

AUTO WENT INTO THE DITCH

While being towed from Centreton to Cobourg on Wednesday morning an automobile belonging to Mr. Wing who resides on the Burnham Farm, just east of Precious Corners, on the Rice Lake road, while coming down a hill near Baltimore, ran into a ditch. The two front wheels of the car broke off and Mr. and Mrs. Wing and four children, who were in the car, were thrown out. Mrs. Wing had her left arm broken and one of her daughters was cut about the face. Dr. Lapp was called out and set the fracture.

Used Gun on Dogs And Was Mortally Wounded

Marmora, July 15.—A distressing accident occurred in Marmora by which Bernard O'Brien lost his life. He was carrying a rifle, and upon two dogs beginning to fight, he took hold of the barrel of the gun and attempted to strike the dogs with the butt. The rifle was discharged the bullet entering his body. Medical assistance was procured, but he died in a few hours.

MORE MARRIAGES

Report for 1912, States Youngest Husband Was 15, Youngest Wife 14

Among the latest curiosities of marriage are those shown in the annual report just published of the Registrar-General for 1912, when 283,834 marriages took place.

The youngest husband, aged fifteen, married a wife of seventeen; the youngest wives, both aged fourteen, married husbands of nineteen and twenty-one.

One husband of eighty-five married a wife of twenty-five, while another husband of thirty married a wife of seventy.

There has been another increase in the marriage rate and at the same time the lowest recorded rates for births and deaths.

These and other striking facts are amplified in a prefatory letter to his report, in which he says:—

The marriage rate was 15.5 per 1,000, being 0.1 above the average in the ten years 1902-11. It is satisfactory to note that in each of the three years 1910-12 the marriage rate has shown an increase upon that in the preceding year. The provisional figures for 1913, however, do not indicate a continuance of this rise, the rate remaining at 15.5 per 1,000.

The birth-rate in 1912 was 23.8 per 1,000, and was 3.0 below the average for the preceding decennium; it was the lowest rate on record, being no less than 0.6 below that of 1911, which was the next lowest.

The provisional figures for 1913, however, indicate a rise of 0.1 per 1,000 upon the rate in 1912, this being the first year since 1908 to show an increase.

The death-rate in 1912 was 12.3 per 1,000 and was 1.9 below the average for the ten preceding years. It was the lowest rate on record, being 0.2 per 1,000 below the lowest previously recorded—that in 1910.

Infantile mortality was 95 per 1,000 births, being 30 per 1,000 below the average for the preceding decennium. It was the lowest rate on record, being 10 per 1,000 births below the lowest rate previously recorded that for the year 1910.

Cancer caused a higher death-rate both among males and females than in any preceding year, but the rate from tuberculosis as a whole was the lowest on record.

The mortality from diseases affecting the lungs was very low.

Lower mortality from phthisis has been experienced in 1910 only (the death-rate being then merely two per million lower, and from bronchitis and pneumonia jointly in 1910 and 1911 only.

Man Who Escaped From Peterboro Jail Identified

Coroners Jury at Toronto Brings in Verdict in the Case of the Death of George Clark

Toronto, July 16.—"George Clark came to his death by being run over by a G. T. R. freight train at Swansea on July 6." This was the verdict brought in last night at the inquest presided over by Coroner Hopkins in a case which caused some discussion as to the identification.

George Clark, alias Coates, escaped from Peterboro jail on July 4th; two days afterward a man tried to board a G. T. R. freight train at Swansea and was run over, both of his legs being cut off below the knees, while he sustained other injuries about the head and body. The man lived for some hours after the accident, and gave the name of Coates. He did not give any explanation as to how he came to be on the train. A letter was found upon him which connected him with Scranton, Pa., U. S. A. Several witnesses who viewed the body, including the doctor, testified that the man who was run over was identical with the photographs of the man who escaped from Peterboro jail.

The chief point in dispute was as to the height. The Peterboro police gave the escaped prisoner's height as 5 feet 9 inches while Dr. Singer, who measured the body, said it was only 5 feet 6 inches. It was thought however, that the discrepancy was due to shrinkage after death and the mutilated state of the body, the doctor said he had no doubt that the deceased was the same man as the one photographed at the jail in Peterboro.

DRUMMERS PAID FOR THEIR FUN

Lindsay Post.

Two travellers from Toronto appeared in police court this morning having gotten decidedly gay last night in their efforts to while away the weary midnight hours. Magistrate Jackson, in surprise, stated that it was the first time in his memory that any commercial traveller had appeared before him. Wednesday night was hot and sultry and the two in question, after looking too well upon the wine while it was red, decided that since they were away from home and mother in an unknown place they might as well paint the town red. To be perfectly devilish they started down Kent street raising a disturbance in a moderate manner and then took such a fancy to the street, they started collecting souvenirs by way of removing letters from the names on certain merchant's windows. The windows of Philip Fusco, fruiter, R. L. Morgan, druggist, J. Houzer, clothier, and F. McCloy, appealed particularly to their fancy, and a letter was taken from each. They were interrupted in their literary pursuits by Night Constable Wood, who with an assistant put them in the cooler at 2 a. m. to spend the rest of the night.

This morning they contributed liberally to the police treasury. A fine of two dollars was imposed in each of the four cases of removing letters and costs brought the total to $16.75 for each of two men. The court said it was not so much the damage that had been done, but the foolish destructiveness of the act. Needless to say both looked decidedly uncomfortable during the trial and made a hasty retreat afterward.

NEEDLE LEAVES BODY AFTER 36 YEARS

Selinsgrove, Pa., July 15.—To undergo the experience of having a needle travelling through her body for 36 years, and have it make its reappearance from her shoulder today and be removed without pain, was the remarkable fortune of Mrs. Lester E. Dreese, of Selinsgrove.

When Mrs. Dreese was six years old and just learning to sew, she accidentally swallowed the needle. Physicians were unable to locate it and as Mrs. Dreese suffered no inconvenience at the time, no further attempts were made to remove it.

For the last several months Mrs. Dreese has had strange pains in her shoulder. She imagined it was rheumatism; but it changed to an itching sensation last night, and when Mrs. Dreese arose this morning, her night-dress caught on the point of the needle, protruding from her shoulder. Her husband removed the needle with little effort, and the "rheumatism" has since departed.

KILLED AT A BARN RAISING

Richard Samuel Johns, of Cartwright, lost his life at Howard Glen's barn raising near Nestleton Station, on Friday, July 10th. The whole frame had been raised, and the last pair of rafters was being put on. Mr. Johns was standing on the barn floor—most of the men having left the building. One of the rafters slipped past a stay latch, and the end fell and struck Mr. Johns on the back of the head, breaking his neck.

Deceased was 47 years of age, and leaves a wife and two children to mourn his untimely death. His funeral held last Sunday was very largely attended.

The Warning To Roblin.

When a great city like Winnipeg—largely English—turns against Premier Roblin and sends four out of its members to the Legislature to oppose him, it is high time for him to ask himself whether or for how long it pays to truckle to the French and foreign elements in his Province. More such truckling and another election will see him out of power.—Kingston Daily Standard, Conservative. The Standard tells some wholesome truths once in a while and this is one that is timely.

NEAL VS PORT HOPE

Chief Justice Kelly Decides Against the Town

The Ontario Weekly Notes.

Appeal by the Corporation of the Town of Port Hope from an award of two of three arbitrators appointed to fix the amount of money to be paid by the appellants as compensation for injury to the lands of E. B. Neal and Eliza Jane Neal by the closing of Hope street, in the town of Port Hope. The two arbitrators awarded the respondents $300.

Grayson Smith and D. H. Chisholm, for the appellants. W. F. Kerr and Seth S. Smith for the respondents.

KELLY, J.:—Part of the respondents' property fronts on Hope street, part on Alfred street, which runs into Hope street, and part on Walnut street, which runs into Alfred street. These are the properties in respect of which the two arbitrators awarded damages. Lots 8, 9, and 10 fronting on the west side of Ontario street, also owned by the respondents, these arbitrators find, were not damaged by the closing of Hope street. The other arbitrator disagreed with the conclusion of his co-arbiters, and made a separate finding that no compensation should be made and no damages paid by the corporation to the owners.

By-law number 1038, passed by the municipal council on the 26th June, 1911, provided for the closing of that portion of Hope street lying fifty feet on each side of the centre line of the Canadian Northern Ontario Railway, as located across that street. Hope street runs in a northerly and southerly direction, the part of it so provided to be closed being south of the respondents' property, and the main or central part of the town being still further to the south. Another means of access from the respondents' property to the centre of the town was provided by the opening of Helen street from Hope street to Ontario street, a short distance to the north of the part of Hope street so closed. The corporation on the 10th May, 1910, entered into an agreement with the Canadian Northern Ontario Railway Company, by which they agreed, amongst other things, to close Hope street permanently at the point and to the extent above indicated.

The present proceedings were instituted on the 24th June, 1912, by the appointment by the owners of His Honour Judge Huycko as their arbitrator, under the provision of the Municipal Act of 1903. I have no evidence of the date of the appointment of the town's arbitrator; but the third arbitrator, His Honour Judge Harding, was appointed by order of the Senior County Court Judge of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham on the 8th October, 1913. The award of these two arbitrators was made on the 24th January, 1914, and the finding of the other arbitrator on the 12th February, 1914.

Substantially, the grounds of appeal are, that the two arbitrators did not take into consideration in making their award any advantage which the owners derived from the building and construction of the Canadian Northern Ontario Railway "and the other work for the purpose and in connection with which the land in question was alleged to be injuriously affected;" that these arbitrators refused to take into consideration the provisions of sec. 325 of the Municipal Act of 1913 (3 & 4 Geo. V. ch. 43); that, upon the evidence, it was manifest that the owners suffered no damage by the closing of Hope street; and that the evidence showed that the owners were not injured to any greater extent or in any different manner than the general public in the vicinity of their property.

The Municipal Act of 1913 came into force on the 1st July, 1913. The by-law which provided for the closing of Hope street was passed and these arbitration proceedings were instituted not only before the Act came into force, but before it was passed. The appellants contend that they are entitled to invoke the Act of 1913, and to rely on sec. 325 thereof.

Without going into what would be the effect of the application of that section to these proceedings and to the award of these two arbitrators, I think the proceedings are properly under the former Act. To hold otherwise would be opposed to the fundamental rule of English law that no statute shall be construed so as to have a retrospective operation unless such a construction appears very clearly in the terms of the Act, or arises by necessary and distinct implication. A statute is not to be construed so as to have greater retrospective operation than its language renders necessary. The advantage which the appellants contend, enured to the owners' property is not anything arising from the mere closing of the street, but from the advent of the railway and the changes incident thereto. But the "contemplated work," the advantage of which is to be considered by the arbitrators, is the work of the corporation alone; Re Brown and Town of Owen Sound (1907), 14 O. L. R. 627; and not other advantages to accrue to the property by reason of whatever changes or improvements the railway company did or made, or which result from the advent of the railway to that locality.

I have read all of the lengthy evidence taken before the arbitrators, and on it the two arbitrators whose award is now appealed against were, in my opinion, quite correct in coming to the conclusion they reached. From a perusal of the evidence a fair conclusion is that the respondents' property was injuriously affected. The arbitrators had the added advantage of having the witnesses before them.

The gist of the objection to the award on the part of the other arbitrator is, that the two arbitrators refused to take into consideration any advantage which the owners might have derived from the construction of the railway, which, he stated his opinion to be, "was the work for the purpose of or in connection with which the land was injuriously affected." That, as I have said, does not, in my opinion, enter into the merits of the case.

In Re Brown and Town of Owen Sound, supra, the closing of the road which injuriously affected the property of the owner was part of a scheme for granting facilities to a lumber company, and the owner was held entitled to compensation without any diminution because the erection of the company's mill enhanced the value of his lands. It is seldom that any two cases, in their facts and circumstances, so nearly resemble each other as the Owen Sound case and the present case.

The question which the arbitrators had to consider was, whether there was a diminution in the value of the respondents' lands consequent upon the closing of Hope street. Evidence was practically directed to that very fact—evidence which established that the owners suffered in their property, not as part of the public, but in a special way because of their ownership of these lands. Mr. Magill, who for several years held the position of assessor for the appellants, and was engaged by them to prepare their case in these proceedings, and gave evidence on their behalf, puts it in this way:—"Q. You do consider the closing of Hope street was a distinct disadvantage to the people on it? A. No—if no benefit.

"Q. The closing of Hope street itself, distinct? A. Without any countervailing elements.

"Q. I am eliminating countervailing elements. A. I can't separate them. I have to associate them together. If that street was closed, there was no railway and the canning factory down here; certainly it would be a damage."

As touching upon the loss to the particular owner, as distinguished from the injury to the public, the statement of Lord Penzance in Metropolitan Board of Works v. McCarthy (1874), L. R. 7 H. L. 243, is in point: "The question then is, whether, when a highway is obstructed, the owners of those lands which are situated in a sufficient degree of proximity to it to be depreciated in value by the loss of that access along the highway which they previously enjoyed suffered special damage 'more than' and 'beyond' the rest of the public. It surely cannot be doubted but that they do."

The same question was considered in Re Taylor and Village of Belle River (1910), 1 O. W. N. 608, 15 O. W. R. 723, where Sir William Mulock, C.J., held that the owner suffered damage by the closing of a highway which, owing to the proximity of her property to it, enhanced the value of that property, and the closing of the highway depreciated the value. This case was cited with approval in the judgment of the Appellate Division in O'Neil v. Harper (1913), O.L.R. 635.

My conclusion is that the two arbitrators were justified by the evidence in making their award, and in that view the appeal should be dismissed with costs.

Popular Vote Went Liberal

The popular vote in Manitoba elections as compiled by The Free Press for 45 constituencies, one missing out of 46, is as follows: Opposition candidates, 66,882; Roblin candidates, 64,271; third candidates, 7,148. Total, 138,301. In 1910 the Roblin Government polled 50.77 per cent. of the total vote, Liberals 47.58 per cent., and Socialists 1.65 per cent. Relative figures for 1914 are: Roblin Government, 46.47 per cent.; Liberals, 48.36 per cent.; independents, Socialists and Labor, 5.17 per cent.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

A CRIMINAL PASTIME

On Thursday afternoon at Peterboro, two young men named O'Toole and Burgoyne were drowned in the Otonabee, while a companion swam ashore, says the Lindsay Post. It is the same old story of recklessly rocking a canoe in mid stream. In spite of the many warnings that have been issued and in spite of the many fatalities resulting from this fool practice, it is surpassing the number who wilfully court death in this manner.

In Muskoka, Ont., a farmer has been shot dead by a man who "did not know the gun was loaded," and at St. Helen's Island, Montreal, a youth has been wounded by another possessed of the same temporary affliction. Not long ago a newspaper across the border advised the rapping over the head with a club or any other available weapon of the person who points a gun at another person. The advice sounds good. The cure for the lunacy should be drastic.

New Two Dollar Note

A new Dominion two-dollar bill has been issued in commemoration of the stay of the Duke and Duchess of Connaught in Canada. It bears their portraits on either corner with the figure two in the centre and the word two on either side of it. The bill is of a light olive green.

This is the fourth issue of two dollar notes. The first bore the picture of Lord Dufferin, the second that of Lord Lansdowne and the third of King Edward when he was Prince of Wales.

OUR STORY

But Mary caught his arm pleadingly. "Don't Dick," she begged. "It's not safe."

"I'm not afraid," was the indignant answer. He would have gone on, but she clung the closer. He was reluctant to use over-much force against the one whom he cherished so fondly.

There came a diversion from the man who had made the capture, who was mightily wondering over the course of events, which was wholly unlike anything in the whole of his own rather extensive house-breaking experience.

"Who's this, anyhow?" Chicago Red demanded.

There was a primitive petulance in his drawing tones.

Dick answered with conciseness enough. "I'm her husband. Who are you?"

Mary called a soft admonition. "Don't speak, any of you," she directed. "You mustn't let him hear your voices."

Dick was exasperated by this persistent identification of herself with these criminals in his father's house.

"You're fighting me like a coward," he said hotly. His voice was bitter. The eyes that had always been warm in their glances on her were chill now. He turned a little way from her, as if in instinctive repugnance. "You are taking advantage of my love. You think that because of it I can't make a move against these men. Now, listen to me, I—"

"I won't!" Mary cried. Her words were shrill with mingled emotions. "There's nothing to talk about," she went on wildly. "There never can be between you and me."

The young man's voice came with a sonorous firmness that was new to it. In these moments, the strength of him, nourished by suffering, was putting forth its flower. His manner was masterful.

"There can be and there will be," he contradicted. He raised his voice a little, speaking into the shadows where was the group of silent men.

"You men back there!" he cried. "If I give you my word to let every one of you go free and pledge myself—never to recognize one of you again, you will make Mary here listen to me? That's all I ask. I want a few minutes to state my case. Give me that. Whether I win or lose, you men go free, and I'll forget everything that has happened here to-night." There came a muffled guffaw of laughter from the big chest of Chicago Red at this extraordinarily ingenuous proposal, while Dacey chuckled more quietly.

Dick made a gesture of impatience at this open derision.

"Tell them I can be trusted," he made Mary curtly.

It was Garson who answered. "I know that you can be trusted," he said, "because I know you lo—" He checked himself with a shiver, and out of the darkness his face showed white.

"You must listen," Dick went on, facing again toward the girl, who was trembling before him, her eyes by turns searching his expression or downcast in unfamiliar confusion, which she herself could hardly understand.

"Your safety depends on me," the young man warned. "Suppose I should call for help?"

Garson stepped forward threateningly.

"You would only call ease," he said very gently, yet most grimly. His hand went to the noiseless weapon in his coat-pocket.

But the young man's answer revealed the fact that he, too, was determined to the utmost, that he understood perfectly the situation.

"Once would be quite enough," he said simply.

Garson nodded in acceptance of the defeat. It may be, too, that in some subtle fashion he admired this youth suddenly grown resolute, competent to control a dangerous event. There was even the possibility that some instinct of tenderness toward Mary herself made him desire that this opportunity should be given for wiping out the effects of misfortune which fate hitherto had brought into her life.

"You win," Garson said with a half-laugh. He turned to the other men and spoke a command.

"You get over by the hall door, Red. And keep your ears open every second. Give us the office if you hear anything. If we're rushed, and have to make a quick get-away, see that Mary has the first chance. Get that, all of you?"

As Chicago Red took up his appointed station, Garson turned to Dick.

"Make it quick, remember."

He touched the other two and moved back to the wall by the fireplace, as far as possible from the husband and wife by the couch.

Dick spoke at once, with a hesitancy that betrayed the depth of his emotion.

"Don't you care for me at all?" he asked wistfully.

The girl's answer was uttered with nervous eagerness which revealed her own stress of fear.

"No, no, no!" she exclaimed, rebelliously.

Now, however, the young man had regained some measure of reassurance.

"I know you do, Mary," he asserted, confidently; "a little, anyway. Why, Mary," he went on reproachfully, "can't you see that you're throwing away everything that makes life worth while? Don't you see that?"

There was no word from the girl. Her breast was moving convulsively. She held her face steadfastly averted from the face of her husband.

"Why don't you answer me?" he insisted.

Mary's reply came with all the coldness she could command.

"That was not in the bargain," Mary said, indifferently.

The man's voice grew tenderly winning, persuasive with the longing of a lover, persuasive with the pity of the righteous for the sinner.

"Mary, Mary!" he cried. "You've got to change. Don't be so hard. Give the woman in you a chance."

The girl's form became rigid as she fought for self-control. The plea touched to the bottom of her heart, but she could not, would not yield. Her words rushed forth with a bitterness that was the cover of her distress.

"I am what I am," she said sharply. "I can't change. Keep your promise, now, and let's get out of this."

Her assertion was disregarded as to the inability to change.

"You can change," Dick went on impetuously. "Mary, haven't you ever wanted the things that other women have, shelter, and care, and the big things of life, the things worth while? They're all ready for you, now, Mary. . . . And what about me?" Reproach leaped in his tone. "After all, you're married to me. Now it's up to you to give me my chance to make good. I've never amounted to much. I shall, now, if you will have it so, Mary; if you'll help me. I will come out all right, I know that—so do you, Mary. Only, you must help me."

"I help you!" The exclamation came from the girl in a note of incredulous astonishment.

"Yes," Dick said, simply. "I need you and you need me. Come away with me."

"No, no!" was the broken refusal. There was a great griet clutching at the soul of this woman who had brought vengeance to its full flower. She was gasping. "No, no! I married you, not because I loved you, but to repay your father the wrong he had done me. I wouldn't let myself even think of you, and then—I realized that I had spoiled your life."

"No, not spoiled it, Mary! Blessed it! We must prove that yet."

"Yes, spoiled it," the wife went on passionately. "If I had understood, if I could have dreamed that I could ever care— Oh, Dick, I would never have married you for anything in the world."

"But now you do realize," the young man said quietly. "The thing is done. If we made a mistake, it is for us to bring happiness out of that error."

"Oh, can't you see?" came the stricken lament. "I'm a jail-bird!"

"But you love me—you do love me, I know!" The young man spoke with joyous certainty, for some inflection of her voice had told the truth to his heart. Nothing else mattered. "But now, to come back to this hole we're in here. Don't you understand, at last, that you can't beat the law? If you're caught here to-night, where would you get off—caught here with a gang of burglars? Tell me, dear, why did you do it? Why didn't you go to Chicago as you planned?"

"What?" There was a new quality in Mary's voice. A sudden throbbing shock masked in the surface indifference of intonation.

Dick repeated his question, unobserved of its first effect.

"Why didn't you go to Chicago as you had planned?"

"Planned? With whom?" The interrogation came with an abrupt force that cried of new suspicions.

"Why with Burke?" The young man tried to be patient over her denial in this time of crisis.

"Who told you that I had arranged any such thing?" Mary asked. Now the tenseness of her manner got the husband's attention, and he replied with a sudden gravity, "Burke himself did."

"When?" Mary was standing rigid now, and the rare color flamed in her cheeks. Her eyes were blazing.

"Less than an hour ago," he had caught the contagion of her mood and vague alarm swept him.

"Where?" came the next question, still with that vital insistence.

"In this room."

"Burke was here?" Mary's voice was suddenly cold, very dangerous.

"What was he doing here?"

"Talking to my father."

The seemingly simple answer appeared the last straw to the girl's burden of frenzied suspicion. Her voice cut fiercely into the quiet of the room, imperious, savage.

"Joe, turn on that light! I want to see the face of every man in this room."

Something fatally significant in her voice set Garson a-leap to the switch, and, in the same second, the blaze of the chandelier flamed brilliantly over all. The others stood motionless, blinking in the sudden radiance—all save Griggs, who moved stealthily in that same moment, a little nearer the door into the passage, which was nearest to him.

But Mary's next words came wholly as a surprise, seemingly totally irrelevant to this instant of crisis. Yet they rang a-throb with an hysterical anxiety.

"Dick," she said, "what are those tapestries worth?" With the question, she pointed toward the draperies that shrouded the great octagonal window.

The young man was plainly astonished, disconcerted as well by the obtuseness of a sordid detail into the tragedy of time.

"Why in the world—?" he began, impatiently.

Mary stamped her foot angrily in protest against the delay.

"Tell me—quick!" she commanded. The authority in her voice and manner was not to be gainsaid.

Dick yielded sullenly.

"Oh, two or three hundred dollars, I suppose," he answered.

"Why?"

"Never mind that!" Mary exclaimed violently. And now the girl's voice came stinging like a whiplash. In Garson's face, too, was growing fury, for in an instant of illumination he had guessed something of the truth. Mary's next question confirmed his raging suspicion.

"How long have you had them, Dick?"

By now, the young man himself sensed the fact that something mysteriously baneful lay behind the frantic questioning on this seemingly trivial theme.

"Ever since I can remember," he replied, promptly.

Mary's voice came then with an intonation that brought enlightenment not only to Garson's shrewd perceptions, but also to the heavier intelligences of Dacey and of Chicago Red.

"And they're not famous masterpieces which your father bought recently, from some dealer who smuggled them into this country?" So simple were the words of her inquiry, but under them beat something evil, deadly.

The young man laughed contemptuously.

"I should say not!" he declared indignantly, for he resented the implication against his father's honesty.

"It's a trick! Burke's done it!" Mary's words came with accusing vehemence.

There was another single step made by Griggs toward the door into the passage.

Mary's eye caught the movement, and her lips soundlessly formed the name:

"Griggs!"

The man strove to carry off the situation, though he knew well that he stood in mortal peril. He came a little toward the girl who had accused him of treachery. He was very dapper in his evening clothes, with his rather handsome, well-groomed face set in lines of innocence.

"He's lying to you!" he cried forcibly, with a scornful gesture toward Dick. "I tell you, those tapestries are worth a million gold."

Mary's answer was virulent in its sudden burst of hate. For once, the music of her voice was lost in a discordant cry of detestation.

"You stool-pigeon! You did this for Burke!"

Griggs sought still to maintain his air of innocence, and he strove well, since he knew that he fought for his life against those whom he had outraged. As he spoke again, his eyes were tremulous with sincerity—perhaps that tremulousness was born chiefly of fear, yet to the ear his words came stoutly enough for truth:

"I swear I didn't! I swear it!"

Mary regarded the protesting man with abhorrence. The perjurer wretched shrank before the loathing in her eyes.

"You came to me yesterday," she said, with more of a restraint in her voice now, but still with inexorable rancor. "You came to me to explain this plan. And you came from him—from Burke!"

"I swear I was on the level. I was tipped off to the story by a pal," Griggs declared, but at last the assurance was gone out of his voice.

He felt the hostility of those about him.

Garson broke in ferociously.

"It's a frame-up!" he said. His tones came in a deadened roar of wrath.

On the instant, aware that further subterfuge could be of no avail, Griggs swaggered defiance.

"And what if it is true?" he drawled, with a resumption of his aristocratic manner, while his eyes swept the group balefully. He plucked the police whistle from his waistcoat pocket, and raised it to his lips.

He moved too slowly. In the same moment of his action, Garson pulled the pistol from his pocket, had pressed the trigger. There came no spurt of flame. There was no sound—save perhaps a faint clicking noise. But the man with the whistle at his lips suddenly ceased movement, stood absolutely still for the space of a breath. Then, he trembled horribly, and in the next instant crashed to the floor, where he lay rigid, dead.

"Damn you—I've got you!" Garson sneered through clenched teeth. His eyes were like balls of fire. There was a frightful grin of triumph twisting his mouth in this minute of punishment.

In the first second of the tragedy, Dick had not understood. Indeed, he was still dazed by the suddenness of it all. But the falling of Griggs before the levelled weapon of the other man, there to lie in that ghastly immobility, made him to understand. He leaped toward Garson—would have wrenched the pistol from the other's grasp. In the struggle, it fell to the floor.

Before either could pick it up, there came an interruption. Even in the stress of this scene, Chicago Red had never relaxed his professional caution. A slight noise had caught his ear, he had stooped, listening. Now, he straightened, and called his warning.

"Somebody's opening the front door!"

Garson forgot his weapon in this new alarm. He sprang to the octagonal window, even as Dick took possession of the pistol.

"The street's empty! We must jump for it!" His hate was forgotten now in an emotion still deeper, and he turned to Mary. His face was all gentleness again, where just before it had been evil incarnate, aflame with the lust to destroy.

"Come on, Mary," he cried.

Already Chicago Red had snapped off the lights of the chandelier, had sprung to the window, thrown open a panel of it, and had vanished into the night, with Dacey at his heels. As Garson would have called to the girl again in mad anxiety for haste, he was interrupted by Dick:

"She couldn't make it, Garson," he declared coolly and resolutely. "You go. It'll be all right, you know. I'll take care of her!"

"If she's caught—?" There was an indescribable menace in the forger's half-uttered threat.

"She won't be." The quality of sincerity in Dick's voice was more convincing than any view might have been.

"If she is, I'll get you, that's all," Garson said gravely, as one stating a simple fact that could not be disputed.

Then he glanced down at the body of the man whom he had done to death.

"And you can tell Burke!" he said viciously to the dead. "You damned squealer!" There was a supremely malevolent content in his sneer.

CHAPTER XIX.

WITHIN THE TOLLS.

The going of Garson left the room deathly still. Dick stared for a moment at the space of window left uncovered by the draperies now, since the man had hurried past them, without pausing to draw them after him. Then, presently, the young man turned again to Mary, and took her hand in his. The shock of the event had somehow steadied him, since it had drawn his thoughts from that other more engrossing mood of concern over the crisis in his own life. After all, what mattered the death of this crook? his fancy ran. The one thing of real worth in all the world was the life that remained to be lived between him and her. . . . Then, violently, the selfishness of his mood was made plain to him. For the hand he held was shaking like some slender stalked lily in the clutch of the sirocco. Even as he first perceived the fact, he saw the girl stagger. His arm swept about her in a virile protecting embrace—just in time, or she would have fallen.

A whisper came from her quivering lips. Her face was close to his, else he could not have caught the uncertain murmuring. That face now was become ghastly pale. The violet eyes were widened and dull. The muscles of her face twitched. She rested supinely against him, as if bereft of any strength of body or of soul. Yet, in the intensity of her utterance, the feeble whisper struck like a shriek of horror.

"I—I—never saw anyone killed before!"

The simple, grisly truth of the words—words that he might have spoken as well—stirred the man to depths of his being. He shuddered, as he turned to avoid seeing the thing that lay so very near, mercifully merged within the shadows beyond the gentle radiance from the single lamp. With a pang of infinite pity for the woman in his arms, he apprehended in some degree the torture this event must have inflicted on her. Frightful to him, it must, in truth, be vastly worse to her. There was her womanly sensitiveness to enhance the innate hideousness of the thing that had been done here before her eyes. There was, too, the fact that the murderer himself had been the man to whom she owed her life. Yes, for him, Dick realized with poignant sympathy, the happening that night was terrible indeed; for her, as he guessed now at last, the torture must be something easily to overwhelm all her strength. His touch on her grew tender beyond the ordinary tenderness of love, made gentler by a great underlying compassion for her misery.

Dick drew Mary toward the couch, then let her sink down in a huddled attitude of despair.

"I never saw a man—killed before!" she said again. There was a note of half-hysterical, almost childish complaint in her voice. She moved her head a little, as if to look into the shadows where it lay, then checked herself violently, and looked up at her husband with the pathetic simplicity of terror.

"You know, Dick," she repeated dully, "I never saw a man killed before."

Before he could utter the soothing words that rose to his lips, Dick was interrupted by a slight sound at the door. Instantly, he was all alert to meet the exigencies of the situation. He stood by the couch, bending forward a little, as if in a posture of intimate fondness. Then, with a new thought, he got out his cigarette-case and lighted a cigarette, after which he resumed his former leaning over the woman as would the ardent lover. He heard the cease again presently, now so near that he made sure of being overheard, so at once he spoke with a forced cheerfulness in his inflection.

"I tell you, Mary," he declared, "everything's going to be all right for you and me. It was only you to come here to me like this."

The girl made no response. She lived still in the nightmare of murder—that nightmare wherein she had seen Griggs fall dead to the floor.

Dick, in nervous apprehension as to the issue, sought to bring her to realization of the new ease that had come upon them.

"Talk to me," he commanded, very softly. "They'll be here in a minute. When they come in, pretend you just came here in order to meet me. Try, Mary. You must, dearest!" Then, again, his voice rose to loudness, as he continued.

"Why, I've been trying all day to see you. And, now, we are here together, just as I was beginning to get really discouraged. . . . I know my father will eventually—"

He was interrupted by the swift swinging open of the hallway door. Burke stood just within the library, a revolver pointed menacingly.

"Hands up!—all of you!" The Inspector's voice fairly roared the command.

The belligerent expression of his face vanished abruptly, as his eyes fell on Dick standing by the couch and Mary reclining there in limp helplessness. His surprise would have been ludicrous but for the seriousness of the situation to all concerned. Burke's glance roved the room sharply, and he was quickly convinced that these two were in fact the only present spoil of his careful plotting. His face set grimly, for the disappointment of the minute surged fiercely within. He started to speak, his eyes lowering as he regarded the two before him.

But Dick forestalled him. He spoke in a voice coldly repellent.

"What are you doing in this house at this time of night?" he demanded. His manner was one of stern disapproval. "I recognize you, Inspector Burke. But you must understand that there are limits even to what you can do. It seems to me, sir, that you exceed your authority by such an intrusion as this."

Burke, however, was not a whit dismayed by the rebuke and the air of rather contemptuous disdain with which it was uttered. He waved his revolver toward Mary, merely as a gesture of inquisitiveness, without any threat.

"What's she doing here?" he asked. There was wrath in his rough voice, for he could not avoid the surmise that his shrewdly concocted scheme to entrap this woman had somehow been set awry. "What's she doing here, I say?" he repeated heavily. His keen eyes were darting once more about the room, questing some clue to this disturbing mystery, so hateful to his pride.

Dick's manner became that of a devoted husband offended by impertinent obtrusion.

"You forget yourself, Inspector," he said, icily. "This is my wife. She has the right to be with me—her husband!"

The Inspector grinned sardonically. He was moved no more effectively by Mary's almost hysterical effort to respond to her husband's leading.

"Why shouldn't I be here? Why? Why? I—"

Burke broke in on the girl's pitiful histrionics ruthlessly.

He was not in the least deceived. He was aware that something untoward, as he deemed it, had occurred. It seemed to him, in fact, that his finical mechanisms for the undoing of Mary Turner were in a fair way to be thwarted. But he would not give up the cause without a struggle. Again, he addressed himself to Dick, disregarding completely the aloof manner of the young man.

"Where's your father?" he questioned roughly.

"In bed, naturally," was the answer. "I ask you again: What are you doing here at this time of the night?"

Burke shook his shoulders ponderously in a movement of impatience over this prolonging of the farce.

"Oh, call your father," he directed disgustedly.

Dick demonstrated with an excellent show of dignity.

"It's late," he objected. "I'd rather not disturb him, if you don't mind. Really the idea is absurd, you know." Suddenly, he smiled very winningly, and spoke with a good assumption of ingenuousness.

"Inspector," he said briskly, "I see, I'll have to tell the truth. It's this: I've persuaded my wife to go away with me. She's going to give all that other sort of thing up. Yes, we're going away together." There was genuine triumph in his voice now. "So, you see, we've got to talk it over. Now, then, Inspector, if you'll come back in the morning—"

The official grinned sardonically. He could not in the least guess just what had in very deed happened, but he was far too clever a man to be bamboozled by Dick's maunderings.

"Oh, that's it!" he exclaimed, with obvious incredulity.

"Of course," Dick replied bravely, though he knew that the Inspector disbelieved his pretenses. Still, for his own part, he was inclined as yet to be angry rather than alarmed by this failure to impress the officer.

"You see, I didn't know—"

And even the moment of his saying, the white beam of the flashing searchlight from the Tower fell between the undrawn draperies of the octagonal window. The light startled the Inspector again, as it had done once before that same night. His gaze followed it instinctively. So within the second, he saw the still form lying there on the floor—lying where had been shadows, where now, for the passing of an instant, was brilliant radiance.

There was no mistaking that awful, motionless, crumpled posture. The Inspector knew in this single instant of view, that murder had been done here. Even as the beam of light from the tower vanished from the room, he leaped to the switch by the door, and turned on the lights of the chandelier. In the next moment, he had reached the door of the passage across the room, and his whistle sounded shrill. His voice belled reinforcement to the blast.

"Cassidy! Cassidy!"

As Dick made a step toward his wife, from whom he had withdrawn a little in his colloquy with the official, Burke voiced his command viciously:

"Stay where you are—both of you!"

Cassidy came rushing in, with the other detectives. He was plainly surprised to find the room so nearly empty, where he had expected to behold a gang of robbers.

"Why, what's it all mean, Chief?" he questioned. His peering eyes fell on Dick, standing beside Mary, and they rounded in amazement.

"They've got Griggs!" Burke answered. There was exceeding rage in his voice, as he spoke from his kneeling posture beside the body, to which he had hurried after the summons to his aides. He glowered up into the bewildered face of the detective. "I'll break you for this, Cassidy," he declared fiercely.

"Why didn't you get here on the run when you heard the shot?"

"But there wasn't any shot," the perplexed and alarmed detective expostulated. He fairly stuttered the earnestness of his self-defense. "I tell you, Chief, there hasn't been a sound."

Burke rose to his feet. His heavy face was set in its sternest mold.

"You could drive a hearse through the hole they've made in him," he rumbled. He wheeled on Mary and Dick. "So!" he shouted, "now, it's my murder! . . . Well, hand it over. Where's the gun?"

Followed a moment's pause. Then the Inspector spoke harshly to Cassidy. He still felt himself somewhat dazed by this extraordinary event, but he was able to cope with the situation. He nodded toward Dick as he gave his order: "Search him!"

Before the detective could obey the direction, Dick took the revolver from his pocket where he had bestowed it, and held it out.

And it so chanced that at this incriminating crisis for the son, the father strode hastily within the library. He had been aroused by the Inspector's shouting, and was evidently greatly perturbed. His usual dignified air was marred by a patent alarm.

"What's all this?" he exclaimed, as he halted and stared doubtfully on the scene before him.

Burke, in a moment like this, was no respecter of persons, for all his judicious attentions on other occasions to those whose influence might serve him well for benefits received.

"You can see for yourself," he said grimly to the dumbfounded magnate. Then he fixed his sinister eyes on the son. "So," he went on, with somber menace in his voice, "you did it, young man." He nodded toward the detective. "Well, Cassidy, you can take 'em both down town. . . . That's all."

The command aroused Dick to remonstrance against such indignity toward the woman whom he loved.

"Not her!" he cried, imploringly. "You don't want her, Inspector! This is all wrong!"

Now, at last, Mary interposed with a new spirit. She had regained, in some measure at least, her poise. She was speaking again with that mental clarity which was distinctive in her.

"Dick," she advised quietly, but with underlying urgency in her gently spoken words, "don't talk, please." Burke laughed harshly.

"What do you expect?" he inquired truculently. "As a matter of fact, the thing's simple enough, young man. Either you killed Griggs, or she did."

THE BAG BURST—Nothing if not ambitious the young minister of Popham determined on a plan to gain him greater popularity. "Well," John, he said to the beadle after service one Sunday morning. "I was just thinking it might greatly enhance my sermons if you would oblige by saying 'Amen now and again.'" "Right, right, I will sir. But hoo am I-tae ken whaun tae say 'Amen?'" inquired sturdy John. "I'll have a bag o' green peas beside me, John, and if you just sit under the pulpit I'll drop one when I wish you to speak," was the reply. The following Sunday all went well, until suddenly John exclaimed, hurriedly: "Amen, amen, amen, amen—" "Hush, John," the minister whispered, "the bag's burst."

OUR TOWN WATER

19 Samples Out of 30 Shows Pollution and Just When We Need a Drink

Board of Health Asks That Steps be Taken Towards Securing a Pure Supply

A meeting of the Board of Health was held in the Town Clerk's office Thursday afternoon. There were present, T. H. Ambrose, chairman, H. Fulford and Dr. Dickinson, Medical Officer of Health.

And passing from the water to the milk the tests for June showed four of the six samples below the standard. Nearly every month samples dropped below the average and nothing is done.

Two accounts were paid, one to the Times office for $13.00 and the other to T. G. Watson for $2.15. One from H. W. Mitchell was left over and Mr. Ambrose was instructed to ascertain who ordered the goods.

Chief Royce reported that he had examined this stable and found the manure properly covered.

Mr. Ambrose said he passed the terrace a couple of days ago and there was a strong smell from some stable and he thought it was from the one complained of.

Miss Jackson complained about some hens next door to her residence. Chief Royce reported that he had investigated this complaint and he found everything clean.

Mr. Ambrose stated that a request had been received from the Water Commissioners for the Medical Health Officer to furnish Mr. Gray with the report on the analysis of the water monthly.

Dr. Dickinson pointed out that on the 19th of June he wrote Mr. Gray giving him the results of the analysis for the past three months. These included thirty samples all town water and nineteen of them showed pollution.

It was moved by Mr. Fulford, seconded by Dr. Dickinson, That whereas the members of the Port Hope Board of Health have been asked by a number of ratepayers to take steps towards securing for Port Hope a sufficient supply of pure water.

The Board of Health further wishes to say that the officers of the Provincial Board of Health desire to give the Port Hope Water Commissioners any assistance they can in the matter.

This Board therefore respectfully requests the Board of Water Commissioners to take all necessary steps in accordance with the Public Health Act, to furnish a sufficient supply of pure water for the citizens of the town.

Legislative Buildings, Toronto, June 8th, 1914.

DEAR MR. WHITE:— Re Port Hope Waterworks Extension.

Since you called on me and discussed the issue of an instalment of the debentures of the town under a by-law passed some time ago, the Board has received a couple of letters relating to the proposed waterworks extensions.

The purport of the letters is that the water at present furnished to the town by the water commissioners is polluted, and that no further extensions should be made to the system until a supply of water has been obtained which is above suspicion.

I write you, as in view of these communications it seems to me that it would be difficult for the Board, even though all your proceedings in connection with the passage of the by-law were regular, to approve the by-laws without consultation with the Provincial Officer of Health, and if he should corroborate the allegations contained in the above letters, I fear the Board will be obliged to withhold its approval, and decline to exercise its curative and validating powers in respect of the by-law and debentures.

Trusting that you are all well, believe me,

Yours truly, (Sgd) D M MCINTYRE, Chairman Ontario Railway and Municipal Board.

Henry White, Esq., Barrister, &c., Port Hope, Ont.

Provincial Board of Health, Toronto, June 15th, 1914.

Sir:—In reply to yours of the 11th inst. asking if you think it advisable to have more samples of water examined and if so that sterilized bottles be sent you, I beg to say that the large number of samples examined already have pretty thoroughly determined its character and I do not know that any good purpose would be served by examining further samples for a time.

Yours truly, (Sgd) J W S McCULLOUGH, Chief Officer of Health.

Dr. Dickinson, M. O. H., Port Hope, Ont.

That a copy of this Resolution be presented to the Port Hope Board of Water Commissioners. Carried. The letter referred to above from Mr. S. S. Smith to the Railway and Municipal Board was written to that Board at the request of Mr. Culverwell and other ratepayers.

TOWN WATER ANALYSIS

The Board of Water Works Commissioners avail themselves of this opportunity of letting the public see the only analysis of the town water, received from Dr. G. A. Dickinson, the M. O. H. during the past twelve months.

We do not know where the water came from, nor the extent of the pollution, at least the Commissioners are unable to understand the analysis as given below.

Laboratory of Provincial Board of Health Report of Water Analysis Port Hope, June 19th, 1914.

Table with columns for 'No.', 'Town water', and 'Chlorine per m'. Lists 50 samples with their respective chlorine levels.

The above are the results of recent analysis of Town Water; 19 out of the thirty samples examined shows pollution.

Yours truly, GEO. A. D.

Mr. Gray Discusses the Water Situation

Mr. R. Gray, secretary of the Board of Water Commissioners, when discussing the water situation on Friday, stated that it was nonsense to discuss these improvements to the system and attach the blame, for not making the same, to the Waterworks Board.

Further, Mr. Gray referred The Guide to the minutes of the Water Works Board of June 12th, 1914, which reads as follows:— "Dr. Dickinson emphatically stated that the Water Commissioners were in no wise to blame for the present condition of the water.

They had left nothing undone of all they were asked to do. He entreated the Commissioners to take patience and Dr. Amyot and assistant were coming here to investigate and would spend a week, or more, if necessary, to find cause of trouble."

Mr. Leo White, of Toronto, spent Sunday with his father, Mr. John White, Little Hope street.

CONCERNING PORT HOPE

(By I. E. M. of The News, Toronto.) Ah yes, good sirs, a noble town, serene, and fresh, and fair. A town of roses, white and red, now blooming everywhere.

A town of trees, of humming bees. A town of rest, of slipped ease. With clean and honest air.

Ah! yes, a brave romantic town. Which loves the ancient ways, Dreams of blue coats and beaver hats, And pioneering days.

When girls, soft-eyed, in happy pride. Appeared in hoop-skirts wondrous wide. And short Victorian "stays."

Yes, by my faith an "upright" town. Precipitously steep. Where every hill is mountains-high. And dales are oceans-deep.

Where maidens, gay, at work or play. Long for one smooth and level way. But find it not—and weep!

PUBLIC REQUEST

The Board of Water Works Commissioners respectfully request all citizens to keep away entirely, for the rest of the summer months, from the Water-Works grounds at the beach.

It is the order of the Provincial Board of Health, with whose analysis of the town water, the public are now conversant. The Commissioners are anxious that in so far as in them lies, there shall be no ground for complaint, and that when the Provincial Analyst visits our town, as he has already promised to do, he will find his instructions to us carried out to the letter.

Relying upon the hearty co-operation of our citizens in this important matter. For the Board of Water Works Commissioners, THOS. B. CHALK, Chairman.

WATER ABSOLUTELY PURE

Are They Not Lucky?

The Alliston Herald says: Alliston's bonanza strike made two weeks ago while drilling for water has turned out to be genuine, and affords a supply for domestic purposes in Alliston unexcelled by any other place in the Province.

The well sunk on the north side of the river has been flowing steadily ever since water was struck, at the rate of 25,000 gallons every twenty-four hours. This was considered very good and had the well on the south side delivered as much water the members of Council would have been satisfied.

But instead of this they have a well which is flowing at a rate greater than the flow of the other three wells combined. One day last week, after the water had been steadily streaming from the outlet pipe at a height of fifteen feet from the ground for two weeks, a measurement of the output was made.

It was found that the well was delivering 4,680 gallons per hour, or 112,320 gallons per day. This would fill the stand pipe three and a half times. On Friday the pipe was lowered and the flow was allowed to drop at a height of five feet from the ground. Then the well seemed to be putting out about twice the quantity it did at the fifteen-foot level.

The one doubtful condition about this new well has passed. It was feared that since the water pressure had broken through several feet of earth, and caused the gush of water that there might be a tendency for the water to be dirty and perhaps sandy.

This, however, seems to have passed away, as the water from the fourth well is now as clear as crystal. Samples of the product from the new wells were sent to Toronto last week for analysis. The report shows the water to be absolutely pure. Not only were no harmful bacteria of any kind found, but the analyst makes a special note in his report calling attention to the absolute purity of this water.

Peterboro Police Fought Crooks

Exciting Struggle in Dark Loft—George Heron and John White Arrested.

It was only after a desperate hand to hand encounter lasting over one hour, in a dark loft, in the vicinity of the American hotel Peterboro, on Saturday night that Detectives Meagher and Newhall succeeded in arresting two strangers, George Heron and John White, on the alleged charge of robbery and assault. They had been surprised by the two detectives in the act of rifling the pockets of their victim, an aged man, whom it is suspected they enticed into the loft, after

Magistrate Resigns

County Police Magistrate Edmiston, of Peterboro, has placed his resignation in the hands of Attorney-General Foy, with a request that he be relieved of his duties at once. A. O. Langley, of Lakefield, will succeed him.

Mr. Donald Swanson and bride, of Midland, visited friends in town Monday.

which he was beaten and robbed. On Monday the men were remanded until to-day by Magistrate Dumble. Both Detectives Newhall and Meagher bear the marks of numerous bites and various minor injuries as a result of their battle in the dark, with the men who fought desperately to make their getaway.

ENTICED TO LOFT.

The man who was robbed, came to the city on Saturday with a considerable sum of money, and after enjoying a few drinks, was hunted up by the two men, who kept in touch with him the greater part of the day, finally enticing him into the loft. Both men put up one of the hardest battles reported from police circles for some time.

The presence of several trap doors in the loft also afforded considerable means of danger. When the strangers were searched, fifty dollars were found. This money the third man says, was stolen from him.

Heron and White appeared before Magistrate Dumble yesterday morning. They pleaded not guilty and after summary trial were found guilty. Judgment was reserved for one week.

John Byrne, the complainant, said he was a lumberman. He left the Cavendish Lumber Company last week with over $50 on his person. On his arrival he stayed at the American Hotel. The smaller man asked him for a couple of dollars. He gave him the money. The other asked, but he refused to give him any.

They didn't have anything to drink and all went up into the hay-loft to go to sleep. After that, in some strange manner, Byrne lost all knowledge of anything. He missed the money when he found himself with the detectives.

Detective Newhall stated that in consequence of information, Detective Meagher and he went to the American House. White went into the stable, and they followed. White seemed flustered. He asked him what he had in the stall, and he replied, "Nothing." He denied the presence of Byrne in the stable. When they were searching the first floor, they heard scuffling in the loft, and a cry. Detective Meagher then climbed into the loft and found the old man and Heron. On going to assist Meagher, he found him struggling with Heron, during which he was bitten on the thumb.

Heron claimed the money found on him was his own money. Afterwards he admitted that he was broke, as he hadn't been working, but that he was strictly honest.

LIQUOR CASES TRIED AT KINMOUNT

Big Clean-up by the Officials

Monday was a red letter day in police court circles at Kinmount, when some half dozen or more liquor cases engaged the attention of the authorities and also afforded some excitement for the villagers.

For some time past it has been known that liquor was being illegally sold not only at Kinmount but also in Galway Township, Peterboro County. Provincial License Inspector Ayearst and an assistant have been in that neighborhood for some time looking up evidence, and the result was the court proceedings on Monday.

Court was held before James Wilson, Alex Morrison and Dr White, the accused being defended by Mr G A Jordan, of Lindsay.

Mrs Simpson, proprietor of the hotel at Kinmount, was charged with keeping liquor for sale in a local option territory. A quantity of cider which tested 5 per cent alcohol was seized on the premises. The court found her guilty, but sentence was not pronounced. Her son, James, was fined $100 for selling liquor, and a similar fine was imposed on Roy Watson, formerly of Bobcaygeon, for a similar offence. Several charges were preferred against parties for being drunk in local option territory and will be disposed of later on.

Have You the Habit?

The picture of the aged couple wending their weary way over the hill to the poor house, and also of the old man being "turned down" at the employment office, are familiar to many.

Ten chances to one these unfortunate did not acquire the SAVING HABIT when young. If you don't learn to save in early life, it is unlikely you will ever be able to do so.

The old man who is "turned down" when applying for work, doubtless realizes, when too late, that a SAVINGS ACCOUNT started in youth and added to regularly and systematically, would have meant comfort and independence in his old age. The picture is typical and should carry its lesson.

Why not profit from the experience of the other fellow and open a savings account with this old reliable Institution?

MAN CRUSHED TO DEATH

Between Sections of Train in Havelock Yards—Mr. John Bellegem Fatally Injured While on His Way to Work

Peterboro, July 18.—Mr. John Bellegem, formerly of this city, met death early this morning in an accident which occurred in the C. P. R. yards at Havelock. It seems that Mr. Bellegem, who is an engineer, was on the way to his work about six o'clock this morning, and attempted to pass between two sections of a freight train standing in the yards. There was barely room enough for him to get between the cars, and just as he went to pass between, the engine shunted the first part of the train backwards. Caught between the cars, unseen by the engineer, Mr. Bellegem was almost cut in two at the waist. He was carried into the baggage room of the station and made as comfortable as possible, while Dr. Holdcroft was summoned. Medical aid, however, was in vain, and although he remained conscious to the last, he succumbed about three-quarters of an hour later.

The late Mr. Bellegem was born in Peterboro and resided here until about eight years ago. He will be remembered by a great many local people who will learn of his tragic death with sorrow. He was the son of Mr. John Bellegem, of Toronto, and was 35 years of age.

He is survived by his father and mother in Toronto, one sister, Roseborough, and two brothers, Ernest and Charles. He leaves also a wife and three young children.

LINDSAY'S GREAT DAY

Is July 30—Big Firemen and Band Competition

One of the great features in connection with the Firemen's Tournament and Band Concert on July 30, in Lindsay, will be the band competition, for which valuable prizes will be offered. One of the best band conductors in Canada will officiate as judge and the events will consist of a Special Band Contest, Class "A Class "B", solo competition, clarinet solo competition, trombone and euphonium contest. Some of the best bands in the country will compete. Barrie Citizens' Band, under Bandmaster Addison, which last year carried off honors at Orillia demonstration, will be in Lindsay on July 30th. The 36th Regimental Band of Port Credit, a splendid organization (thirty strong) has also entered, together with many more crack organizations. This will undoubtedly be the greatest band competition ever held in this part of the province and is bound to attract thousands of visitors.

Then there is the great Firemen's Competition, which is attracting to Lindsay fire brigades and bands from Huntsville, Burk's Falls, Bracebridge, Orillia, Parry Sound, New Liskeard, Penetanguishene, Midland, Cobourg, Gravenhurst, Port Hope, Belleville, Trenton, Napanea, Bowmanville, Deseronto, Gananoque, etc. They will all be there resplendent in new uniforms, and with bands. And they are all determined to win some of the big prizes, so that the contests will be keen and exciting.

The Eastern Firemen's Association has a splendid list of events, consisting of Hose Reel Race, Ladder Contest, Chief Race, Firemen's Race, Tug of War and Half Mile Race.

All the Departments are out after the silverware and have been practicing for months in preparation for the great event. Nearly all the brigades are running excursions, so that Lindsay will be crowded with visitors.

AN APPRECIATION

The Territorial Headquarters Staff, on behalf of The Salvation Army in Canada, desire to express, through the Press, their deep and sincere appreciation for the numerous messages of sympathy and condolence received from comrades, friends, churches, societies, and others. Since the event of the sinking of the S. S. Empress of Ireland, such messages have been conveyed by cable, telegram and letter from all parts of the world, and especially the Dominion of Canada.

It is our desire to let it be known that, particularly the assurances of prayer, have strengthened our hearts, have encouraged our confidence, and have stimulated our faith, and, furthermore, as the realization of the extent of our loss through this appalling catastrophe becomes keener day by day, the kind words of cheer and counsel will help us in our endeavors to carry on the great work of The Salvation Army in extending the Kingdom of God upon earth.

License "Spotters" at Work

On Saturday last on the information of Chief License Inspector Ayeard, fifteen charges were laid against five license holders in Cobourg—the British, Commercial, Albion and Arlington hotels and Hooley & Son's liquor store. In all there are fifteen charges laid as the result of a visit to Cobourg of two spotters from the License department here on June 13th—circus day. The case came up on Tuesday before Police Magistrate Boggs and on the request of the defendants were remanded until August 13th. All the defendants pleaded "not guilty" and state they will fight the prosecution.

Cold Tea Sold to Detectives

A story is told of how two detectives representing the Provincial License Department were "stung" at Kinnmount on July 13th. It appears that the men have been in the north country investigating certain rumors of illicit liquor selling, and while on their rounds came across a stranger in a buggy who sold them what was thought a bottle of the "real thing" for $1.50. When the contents were tasted it was said to be cold tea. It is claimed that a number were duped by the cold tea artists.

Lightning Played Some Queer Pranks

Struck a Stoney Lake Cottage, Doing Damage in Every Part of it, But Eight Occupants Were Unhurt

Mr. B. Sheahy, tells a remarkable story of the freaks of lightning during the storm of a few days ago. The house of Mr. McQuillan, a Toronto traveller, he says, was struck by lightning, apparently every corner being affected at once. Every side of the house was cracked and one especially being splintered from top to bottom; yet, although eight people were in the residence no one was injured. Mr. McQuillan's eldest son was lucky in his escape, for the iron of his camp bed were twisted, but he felt no shock. But the most remarkable was the escape of the baby. Immediately after the storm, Mrs. McQuillan visited the cot and found that splinters from the wall had penetrated the pillow, two inches from the child's head. Expecting to find her child dead, the frightened mother picked it up and found that it was sleeping peacefully and was quite unharmed. One of the boys was stunned but quickly recovered.

AUTO RAN WILD ON LINDSAY STREETS.

Lindsay Warder.

A farmer living a few miles east of the town, whose latest acquisition is a Ford run-about, of old design, had a trying and thrilling experience this morning, when he imbibed rather freely of the bowl that cheers and then proceeded to drive his car home. How he managed to get across the river without running into the drink remains to be told. Having once crossed the bridge he turned up King street and as far as appearances went endeavored to do the Salomi glide, or the grape-vine dance. The car went every way but the right way, and after crossing the sidewalks both sides of road and striking a few poles, finally headed for the church on Carline street. The zig-zag pace was continued, but instead of turning east on Queen street; the driver cavorted westward around the corner at an angle of 90 degrees and pedestrians had to take to the trees to get out of the way. Around the block he managed to go and once more headed east on King street. His wobbly course was once more pursued and after bending the axles and the steering gear he finally landed his machine on the gangway in front of Spratt's store-house on King street. Here a passer-by managed to purloin the key from the coils and after placing it in the owner's pocket, left him stranded.

Later on the car was removed to Hall's garage for repairs, while the driver was taken to a near by house to sleep off the jag. The wonder is that some person was not killed, as the pace was the "one that kills," being a "joy ride" in the full sense of the term.

He appeared in the Police Court on Friday and was fined $50.00.

THE RESULT OF THE INQUIRY

Peterboro Review

The court room at Quebec, made historic by the inquiry into the terrible disaster which overtook the Empress of Ireland in the St. Lawrence River, on the 28th of May, was crowded to the doors to hear Lord Mersey deliver the finding of the court. It was a breathless throng, intensely interested in the words of the judge, that listened to the reading of the judgment. Here and there were to be seen widows' weeds, the evidence of mourning caused by the wreck. Lord Mersey held the interest of his audience as he read, in clear, business-like tones, the finding of the court, which concluded the last scene of this phase of the tragedy. The crier tussily called "silence," the judges filed out, and, within a few minutes the court room, so long occupied with this case, was empty and silent.

As to Lord Mersey's report, which is one of the most important that has been rendered in recent years, it names primarily the First Officer of the Storstad, Tuftenes, with the negligence which caused the catastrophe. The Empress was exonerated, but one criticism of Captain Kendall's course was made, which is as follows:

"We cannot accept this suggestion (that the Empress' steering gear was out of order), but we do think the stopping evidences unreasonableness on the part of Captain Kendall and a consciousness that his ship was possibly in too close proximity to the Storstad. We think that he would have been better advised if he had given the Storstad a wider berth, and had navigated his ship so as to pass the Storstad at a greater distance on his beam than he originally intended. We do not think, however, that this stopping which was really done for greater caution, can be said to have been an unseamanlike act, nor do we consider his failure to give the wider berth as a contributory cause of the disaster."

The report stated that the disaster was not in any way due to the St. Lawrence Channel, that the Empress sank quickly because of the flooding of her bulkheads on the starboard side, and that she was well equipped with life-saving appliances.

Evidence received makes it clear that the Empress of Ireland was damaged in the immediate vicinity of the watertight bulkhead fitted between the two boiler rooms, whilst the stem of the Storstad must have penetrated into the side of the Empress of Ireland sufficiently to destroy the water-tightness of this compartment. The immediate effect of the damage was to place compartments with a combined length of 175 feet in communication with the sea, allowing an initial inflow of water into the vessel of 263 tons per second. Under the actual conditions prevailing at the time of the collision, however, with the side of the vessel where struck, open to the sea above the main deck, and with bulkhead doors on the starboard side of that deck open, thus wholly destroying the vessel's stability and caused her to capsize and founder.

Three principal suggestions were made:

(1) That all watertight doors and portholes below the top of the watertight bulkheads be closed when in a fog.

(2) That the placing of rafts secure, and yet easily loosened, on the deck be considered.

(This, in the opinion of the Daily Mail, Montreal, is the most important and far-reaching suggestion.)

(3) That the system of picking up and dropping pilots on the St. Lawrence be changed so that incoming and outgoing ships will not have to cross each other.

The second one is important, but we do not think it is as important as the simple recommendations contained in the first suggestion, to insure the efficiency of watertight bulkheads, the object of which is to keep the boat afloat long enough to unload its passengers. An important fact in both the Empress and Titanic disasters was the rapidity with which the vessels sunk, and had they been able to keep afloat longer, more lives would have been saved. When it is remembered that the largest proportion of human freight on these immense liners has to climb some sixty or more feet to where these rafts are recommended to be placed, their efficiency as life-saving apparatus is to be much discounted. A great difficulty of saving life at sea is to get the people from the hull of the ship to the life-boats, and where ships are so large, there is such a distance to be covered that the installation of rafts or floating decks is to be much questioned.

It is to be noted that this report does not mean that the suggestions made will have to be carried out. The report merely suggests these things, and if it can be shown that the recommendations are feasible, and calculated to increase the safety of passengers at sea, the necessary legal steps will be taken to leave ships equipped as recommended.

The burden resting on First Officer Tuftenes is tremendous. He has been blamed for an error of judgment that cost over a thousand lives. No doubt he thought he could take his ship safely by the Empress. There is no moral culpability resting on him. His mistake is that of many a general who loses a battle, and which is the cause of pure accidents. To prevent the failure of the human factor by giving a greater margin of safety is the aim and keynote of the recommendations made, and it is hoped that such may be the actual result of them.

HOLD-UP MAN CAUGHT

Near Myrtle—Clever Work of County Constable

Bowmanville, July 17.—Hubert Powell, with several aliases, and giving his address as Pontypool, appeared before Police Magistrate William Hersey this morning charged with entering the shop of Henry Jakeman at Burketon last night and holding him up at the point of a revolver.

A man answering Powell's description entered Jakeman's store about 10 o'clock last night, and while masked held up three men at the point of a revolver, while he relieved the till of about $16 in silver and bills. Withdrawing from the store, he went westward into the woods, and thence along the C.P.R. tracks. Word was at once telephoned to Chief Jarvis at Bowmanville, who got a posse of men to follow the culprit, while he got into communication with the police west of Burketon.

John O'Boyle, constable at Myrtle, found Powell at 2 o'clock this morning hiding in a shed near the station, and although unarmed and without handcuffs, arrested Powell and brought him to Bowmanville this morning.

When searched by Chief Jarvis, a 32 calibre revolver loaded, and fifteen extra cartridges in his pocket, also $15.52 in bills and silver, and two black masks, being concealed in his boots. A gold watch and chain, which had evidently been stolen, were also found on him, the inside of the case having this engraving, "To Pte. J. J. Powell, 2nd Batt., R.C. Regt., from the citizens of Galt, for service to Queen and Empire 2, 1900."

The prisoner is nineteen years old, about five feet six inches tall, of dark complexion, and is wearing a blue suit and cap, with tan shoes. Magistrate Hersey remanded him for a hearing till Saturday morning. Great credit is due Chief Jarvis for his quick action in the case, and to Constable O'Boyle for his clever and brave arrest.

Ford Dealers' Records Indicate Good Business Conditions.

Ford, Ont., July—1914. So far as the experience of Ford Dealers throughout the Dominion goes business conditions are excellent, showing in most cases improvement over the same period a year ago and there is every reason to look for a steady advancement. This optimistic statement is based on facts—on sales already made and has nothing to do with attempts at prophesy.

For example, the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, has about 400 dealers in the Dominion. The fiscal year of the Company runs from October to October. At the end of June ninety-eight Ford dealers had already sold more cars than they had estimated for the whole year.

prepare in advance for the year's demands in raw material, parts and equipment. Therefore the fact that three months from the end of the season many dealers, in spite of the generous estimates they made, find that they have already sold their full quota, is pretty good evidence of a very healthy business condition in their respective territories.

DEATH TOLL OF THE WATERS

Toronto Globe.

There is need for a general agitation in Ontario to make the teaching of swimming an integral part of the public school curriculum wherever there is water convenient for the giving of lessons. The annual death toll of the waters in this Province, is heart-rending. In yesterday's Globe there were reports of ten drowning accidents in Ontario, on Saturday and Sunday, and one more which took place on Sunday appears to-day. The utter indifference of those occupying positions of authority in the face of such figures is inexplicable. Can it be that we have become as prodigal and reckless of human life as our neighbors across the border?

It may be urged that the real remedy is to warn people that water drowns, and that he who cannot swim should keep away from it. A glance at the map will show how absurd is the idea that the people of Ontario can be kept away from the water. We have over fifteen hundred miles of lake shore on the greatest inland waters in the world. We have smaller lakes and ponds innumerable and many rivers of considerable depth. We have a climate in July and August that tempts the most timid into the water. These things the people of Ontario will have, generation after generation. Unless the knowledge of how to swim becomes general the death toll of the waters will increase year by year with every increase of population.

If the Department of Education does not voluntarily cut out some of the unimportant subjects now in the public school curriculum and substitute swimming there should be a vigorous demand for the change from the Press and the members of the Legislature. The terrible lesson of the Empress disaster, when even a slight knowledge of how to keep afloat in the water would have resulted in the saving of hundreds of lives, is reiterated daily in the tales of the hot-weather drownings that give such a tragic tone to the Press of Ontario.

OBITUARY

WILLIAM CRAIG

The death occurred at Grafton, on July 15th, 1914, of William Craig, who was born in Berwickshire, Scotland, in 1836, and came to Canada with his parents, Mr and Mrs Gavin Craig in 1849. After living with his parents for some time at Redhouse farm, near Grafton, Mr Craig moved to his own home, Spring Bank farm, in Hamilton Township, where he remained until his health failed four years ago, and he retired to the village of Grafton, there purchasing the home in which he died.

In his Hamilton and Haldimand homes he merited and retained the high esteem of his many friends.

The funeral, which was private, took place from his late residence to the Union Cemetery, Port Hope.

He is survived by his widow and adopted son, Andrew, also his brother, Andrew H, of Rose Bank farm, Grafton.

FIRST PRINTER'S DEVIL

In the early days of printing this art was much of a mystery, and ignorant people thought the printer evoked the aid of the powers of evil. Adus Manutius, the famous Italian printer of the sixteenth century, went to Africa on an exploring expedition and brought back with him a very black negro boy. Negroes were a rarity then. The report immediately gained circulation that the printer had been employing the Black Art in his work and that the pickaninny was in reality an imp of Satan. He was called the "Little Black Devil." The charge became so serious that the printer was forced to exhibit the negro in public. In his announcement he said:

"Be it known to Venice that I, Adus Manutius, printer to the Holy Church and to the Doge, have this day made public exposure of the Printer's Devil. All those who think he is not flesh and blood may come and pinch him."

And that is how the term "printer's devil" had its origin.

"Made to walk on" is what the manufacturers say of Campbell's Varnish Stains for staining and Varnishing Floors, Woodwork and Furniture. Well, if they will stand being walked upon, they must be made from a varnish that is all right. Why not try a can? For sale by G.A. Outram.

THEY WANTED RECOMPENSE

Government Officials Flatly Refuse to Pay Fares Home or Indemnify the Hindus Further Than to Give Them Medicine and Food for the Return Trip—Bor Singh Wants Protection.

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 22.—Just before seven o'clock last evening the Hindus, through their shore committee, agreed to accept the terms of the Government and have agreed to allow peaceable possession of the Komagata Maru. There will be no fighting.

The Hindus made many new demands, but were finally forced to accept proposals of the officials, which were to provide them with medicines and $6,000 worth of food for their return trip. They absolutely refused to give money for their return fares and to allow anything to the local Hindu committee by way of recompense.

At seven o'clock Capt. Yamamoto started out for his ship to get steam up.

Hon. Martin Burrell, Minister of Agriculture in the Federal Government, was largely the director in negotiations yesterday afternoon with the Hindus.

After the return of the local Hindu committee, at 3.15 from their talk on the Komagata Maru, the seven Hindus held a private meeting in the immigration headquarters to draft a written reply to the Government. Then they decided they wanted legal advice and went uptown to see A. H. McNeill. They brought him back with them at five o'clock and submitted new written proposals.

They made new demands. Not only they ask for food and medicine immediately as a price for restoring peace on the ship and also renewed their demand for their return passage to Calcutta, but they insisted that the Government reimburse the local Hindu committee for the money spent recently in sending food to the Maru and for the charter of the vessel.

In the early evening the crowd which gathered downtown to view the waterfront was almost larger than the throng of the early morning when the Rainbow arrived. On the upper windows and even the roofs of office buildings were crowded.

The waterfront looked like regatta day with the number of small craft that were out. Uptown lawyers and business men were making telephone engagements to go out on the inlet in the afternoon. Nothing in remembrance has had such a disturbing effect on the minds, and daily duties of the citizens of Vancouver. There was all the excitement of war, mixed with fear for food and medicine. Baron Singh, one of the five who were ten days ago marooned by the other Hindus aboard the Komagata Maru, and who was off that vessel for several days, yesterday afternoon threw off a message in a bottle which reached the immigration authorities. He wanted to be rescued. He says that his compatriots yesterday threatened to throw him into irons. It is probable that the immigration authorities will attempt to get him off, for they fear for his life. On the occasion of the previous incident Baron Singh was accused by the men on the ship with being a traitor.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

It is semi-officially stated in Parliamentary circles that there will be no session this autumn, and that the House will not meet till January.

A large balloon traveling rapidly in a southwesterly direction is reported to have been seen crossing the Ottawa river near the capital yesterday.

George Banks, awaiting transportation from the Elgin County jail to the Central Prison on a three months' sentence on charges of assault, escaped from the jail at St. Thomas yesterday.

At a joint meeting of the finance committees of the Chatham City Council and the Board of Education held yesterday it was decided to spend $80,000 in additions to the schools.

Sir George Foster left Ottawa yesterday for Quebec, where he will proceed to Rimouski to meet the members of the Dominion's Royal Commission, and accompany them to Newfoundland.

Fire totally destroyed the beautiful summer home of W. H. Nichol of New York, on the north side of Howe Island, near Brockville. The loss, including contents, which were also destroyed, is placed at $100,000.

The license commissioners for South Renfrew, in session at Arnprior yesterday, refused renewal of licenses to three hotels and two liquor shops. This reduces the hotels to two and cuts off the shops altogether.

Herman McCrea, brother of the late Hon. W. McCrea, died at the home of his son-in-law, Dr. R. K. Kilbourn, Kingston, yesterday. He was a native of Granville County, and came of United Empire Loyalist stock.

Eucharistic Congress Opens To-day.

LOURDES, France, July 22.—Ten cardinals, two hundred archbishops and bishops from all parts of the world are to attend the International Eucharistic Congress to be held here this year, starting to-day and lasting until July 26. Especial importance is attached to the conference this year, not only because it is the first in France since the separation of church and state, but because it is the 25th anniversary of the foundation of the world-wide movement, the first conference having taken place in Lille in 1889.

Garden Hill Woman's Institute will meet at Mrs. Brdick's, Garden Hill, August 6th, at 2.30 p. m.

EXIT GEN. HUERTA

Mexican Congress Accepts Dictator's Resignation.

CARBAJAL IS NEW PRESIDENT

Official Abdication Is Dealt With In House and Huerta Is Expected to Hasten to Europe—Villa Sorry He Didn't Stay Until Constitutionalists Got Hands on Him—Vote Is 121 to 17.

MEXICO CITY, July 16.—Gen. Victoriano Huerta resigned from the Provisional Presidency of the Mexican republic last evening and his resignation was accepted by the Senate and Chamber of Deputies by a vote of 121 to 17.

Francisco Carbajal, Foreign Minister, was then appointed President and took the oath of office in the joint session of Deputies and Senators.

Huerta's resignation was submitted through the Department of Foreign Relations. It was read in the House and was greeted with cries of "Viva Huerta." It was then referred to the joint committees of Government after brief consideration the committees reported, accepting the resignation in the following terms: "Article 1.—We accept the resignation presented by Gen. Victoriano

GEN. VICTORIANO HUERTA.

Huerta as President of the Mexican United States.

"Article 2.—We call Licentiate Francisco Carbajal, Minister of Foreign Relations, to assume the Presidency."

A ballot was taken and the joint session approved the report. President Carbajal proceeded to the National Palace under an escort of Presidential guards, and all along the way was greeted with tumultuous cheering.

Official announcement was earlier made that, actuated by highest motives of patriotism, and complying with his supreme duty to his country, President Huerta would send in his resignation to Congress.

Villa Is Disappointed. JUAREZ, Mexico, July 16.—"I would much prefer that Huerta had remained in the Presidential chair or in Mexico City until we could get our hands on him," Gen. Villa said yesterday in Juarez, when he learned of Huerta's resignation.

"That is the only comment I care to make on the subject," he added, "I am a soldier of my country and do not care to express my opinion of the traitor's resignation."

May Go To Europe. WASHINGTON, July 16.—Rear Admiral Badger reported to the Navy Department last night that reports reaching Vera Cruz say that Gen. Huerta and Gen. Blanquet would "leave Mexico City by train under escort."

There was no mention of their destination, but officials here think the retired dictator will go to Puerto Mexico to board a foreign man-of-war for Europe. Admiral Badger also announced that the British cruisers Heron and Bristol sailed from Vera Cruz to Puerto Mexico at six o'clock last night. Earlier in the day the Dutch cruiser Kortenaar, whose commander went to Mexico City a few days ago, started for the same port.

Thaw To Get His Money. PITTSBURG, July 16.—After six months of legal battle, Harry Thaw, in a decision handed down by Judge James W. Over in orphans' court yesterday, is awarded the income from his father's estate which has been denied him by the trustees since he was adjudged insane for the slaying of Stanford White. By the decision Thaw gets $360,775. Judge Over says Thaw is legally entitled to the money, despite the fact that alienists declare Thaw is suffering from an exaggerated sense of self, which would make it unwise to commit any large sums of money into his personal charge.

Lassen Peak In Eruption. REEDING, Cal., July 16.—Black smoke belched a mile high from the crater on Lassen Peak yesterday and then drifted southward before the wind in a banner ten miles long. The amount of falling ashes was small compared with the great eruption of June 14, although the volume of the cloud was fully as great and the duration of the disturbance longer. The first violence of the outbreak began to dwindle after two hours, though the mountain still belched smoke. This is the eighteenth eruption since May 30.

"HADES" OR "HELL"?

Section of Anglican Synod Will Urge Use of Former in Prayer Book.

TORONTO, July 14.—"Hades" will take the place of the word "hell" in the Church of England Prayer Book in Canada if the progressives succeed at the General Synod of the Anglican Church.

The General Synod has been summoned by Archbishop Matheson to convene at Vancouver on Sept. 9, and Ontario will be represented by an influential delegation of clergy and laity. Prayer Book revision will be one of the chief matters for consideration.

C. B. St. George is one of the most outspoken advocates of a scholarly, modern revision. In reference to the elimination of the traditional word, Mr. St. George says: "It would be better to have the word 'hades' in the creeds instead of 'hell.'"

The progressives also want the prayer for forgiveness of sins, which follows the absolution, omitted as being illegitimate at such a point in the service. As it stands now, Mr. St. George says, "the whole thing is nonsense."

The progressives further desire the Canadian Prayer Book brought up to date with the American version, by substituting the word "what" for "which" in reference to the Deity. Exception is also taken to the repetition of the Lord's Prayer at the morning service.

It would not be necessary for the General Synod to receive the assent of the Archbishop of Canterbury to any such changes to make them valid, as the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada had full power to revise the Prayer Book, but the changes passed in the lower house must be ratified by the upper house, composed of the metropolitan of Canada and the other bishops.

ORANGEMEN CELEBRATE.

St. Thomas and Perth Are Scenes of L. O. L. Demonstrations.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., July 14.—That "Abolish the bar" was not the issue in the recent Ontario elections and that the Liberal party lost defeat because it was feared that if they were returned to power bilingualism would be introduced into the schools of the province, was the contention of Mayor of Hocken of Toronto in addressing a big Orange demonstration here yesterday. He also ascribed the increased Liberal vote in Manitoba to the belief on the part of the electors that if the Roblin Government were returned separate schools would be forced upon the province.

Big Day at Perth. PERTH, July 14.—Fully ten thousand people came to Perth from eastern Ontario yesterday to celebrate the 24th anniversary of the crossing of the Boyne. It was the largest demonstration of Orangemen seen here in many years, and the procession was over a mile and a half long.

HEARST WIPED OUT

New Ontario Town Is Completely Devastated by Fire.

HUNDREDS ARE HOMELESS

Railway Centre Is Easy Prey For Bush Fires and Residents Are Compelled to Flee For Their Lives—Many Spent the Night Huddled on the Railway Tracks Near the Town.

COCHRANE, July 17.—Their homes, even their town, destroyed by fire, three hundred refugees from Hearst, 134 miles west of Cochrane, on the N. T. Railway, reached here yesterday afternoon in their flight for food and safety. It is the old story of a pioneer hamlet of wooden buildings caught in the swath of a forest fire and speedily reduced to ashes because of its combustible nature and lack of fire-fighting apparatus.

The residents have been fighting bush fires for the past two or three days, with the very scanty appliances at hand. Fanned by a strong wind, the flames gradually ate their way towards the town Wednesday, and about two o'clock the night became hopeless, and the inhabitants fled for their lives to the nearest place of safety, which was the tracks. Here they found refuge, and no one was hurt. About four or five hundred people have been rendered homeless, and most of them are quite destitute.

On the relief train which arrived here yesterday afternoon from Hearst there were from two to three hundred homeless people, and they are being taken care of. They all tell stories of a two or three days' and nights' fight with fire, nothing but a bucket brigade being available. Several times they thought that the fire had been conquered, but each time it sprang up again, and the weary fight was resumed. Wednesday the wind almost blew a cyclone, and men who had been through the Porcupine fire began to make for the tracks, fearing for their lives. At three o'clock it got beyond all control, and everyone took refuge on the Transcontinental Railway tracks. Mr. M. J. O'Brien, of the firm of O'Brien, McDougall & O'Gorman, who have their construction headquarters at Hearst, took all the homeless people to his camps at Pit 7, where they were all fed, and the women and children housed.

They passed the night and the next day till the train arrived in the middle of smoke and flame and torrid heat.

About a month ago a bush fire invaded the town and destroyed nineteen houses. Wednesday it finished its work. All the houses were of wood, with the exception of the roundhouse and station of the Transcontinental, which are both saved.

The only other buildings saved are Jamieson's meat store and Heyworth's store.

MUST TAKE RESPONSIBILITY.

C. N. R. Will Have to Take Care of Its Temporary Loans.

OTTAWA, July 17.—In a statement issued by the Minister of Finance yesterday, the Canadian Northern trust deed executed Wednesday is briefly explained. By the mortgage the company is empowered to float bonds, guaranteed by the Government to the extent of forty-five million dollars. In return for this the Government receives thirty-three millions of the common stock of the company, which is deposited in the treasury in trust for the people, and which, added to the seven millions given last year, makes forty millions of common stock.

The statement declares that Mackenzie & Mann shall be responsible for the temporary loans of the company, amounting to some twenty millions. It is also provided that the company shall increase its capital stock without the consent of the governor-in-council. In addition the time and price of the bonds shall be offered are to be approved by the Minister of Finance.

AVIATORS DESTROY FORT.

Moroccan Stronghold Had Been Considered Inaccessible.

PARIS, July 17.—How two military aeroplanes destroyed with bombs the inaccessible mountain stronghold of the Rita tribesmen in the Ta-o region of Morocco is described in cepatches which have just been received here. The attacking parties carried four bombs each. They speedily discovered the hiding place and dropped the bombs with such precision that the camp was destroyed, many tribesmen being killed. The aviators then made maps showing the position of the fastness, which enabled Gen. Gouraud to round up the natives who had escaped death by the bombs.

Vice-Regal Western Tour.

OTTAWA, July 17.—His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught will leave Ottawa on his western trip on July 23, accompanied by the duchess, and Princess Patricia. Icebergs Off Belle Isle.

MONTREAL, Que., July 17.—The temperature here yesterday was 85 degrees, with humidity of eight degrees, while the Belle Isle signal station reports heavy open ice everywhere and ten bergs in sight.

To Run Laborite Again.

ST. CATHERINES, July 17.—The District Trades and Labor Council, notwithstanding the defeat of their candidate for the Legislature in the riding of St. Catharines, voted favorably to placing a labor candidate in Lincoln for the Commons. It is expected that this time a candidate with Conservative leanings will be chosen.

REFUGEES AT COAST.

Senora Huerta and Party Are on Board British Cruiser.

PIERTO MEXICO, July 17.—Senora Huerta and her two sons, Jorge and Victor, and their wives and her two unmarried daughters and Senora Blar, yet, wife of the former War Minister, and other distinguished refugees, arrived here by special train from the Mexican capital yesterday morning. The women of the party boarded the British cruiser Bristol shortly before noon, and should there be the least indication of a disturbance something which now appears remote—the men of the party will be quartered either on the Bristol or the German cruiser Dresden.

The railway yards were filled with soldiers, the pick of the army selected by Gen. Huerta months ago, when the train arrived. Preceding the special was a military train with troops, and a second military train guarded the special from the rear. Gen. Camarena is in command of the forces, which number 400, and include a detachment of the crack 29th regiment.

AMENDMENTS IMPOSSIBLE.

Government Must Restore Amending Bill Says O'Connor.

LONDON, July 17.—Dealing with the amendments to the amending bill by the House of Lords in Reynolds' Newspaper this week, T. P. O'Connor says that there remains only one course for the Government to follow. The amending bill is to be put back to its original shape so far as the area of Ulster is concerned. Each county is to have its full right by its majority either to exclude itself or to the Irish Parliament are to be restored those inalienable rights of every self-governing country of the appointment of its judiciary and the control of its policy.

"But I would close no doors if the Orange leaders will substitute for these impossible demands other claims which are reasonable and fair to both sides," he says. "Then they will be considered, for there is as passionate and honest desire among Irish Nationalists to settle this question peacefully as there is in any body of politicians to-day."

William Redmond stated at Tottenham last night that the demand for the total exclusion of Ulster had never been seriously made. The demand for Ulster's total exclusion was made because the Lords knew that it could not be accepted and because they were out, not for peace, but for war. The original Home Rule bill, which will be introduced in a few weeks, provides ample safeguarding for the people of every part of Ireland.

BELFAST BOYCOTTED.

Ulster Merchants Get First Taste of Nationalist Displeasure.

LONDON, July 17.—A manifesto signed by two magistrates, county councillors, and the principal Nationalist traders of Carrick-on-Shannon, has been issued, in which it is stated that the merchants and traders of this important commercial centre have unanimously decided to sever all connections with Belfast merchants if Ulster persists in her attitude of opposition to the Home Rule bill.

The decision has caused much discussion among trading circles in the west, as a big trade is transacted with Belfast, both in banking and commercially.

Carrick-on-Shannon is the capital of Leitrim, in which country every parish has its company of volunteers. This ultimatum to Ulster is being taken up in nearly every town in Leitrim and Roscommon, and commercial travelers from the north are already finding it difficult at present to secure orders.

Falls From Roof.

TORONTO, July 17.—While engaged in shingling a house at 275 Waverley road, Robert Clark, of 14 Dixon avenue, lost his balance and met instant death by falling 30 feet to the ground. He was 50 years of age, and leaves a wife and one child. It is thought that he had been affected by the extreme heat, or had lost his balance while in a precarious position on the roof of the house. A broken neck was the cause of death. The body was taken to the morgue, preparatory to an inquest being held.

Canada-West Indies Trade.

OTTAWA, July 20.—As a result of the Canada-West Indies trade agreement, the importation of Canadian foodstuffs into Trinidad increased from $750,000 in 1912 to $1,135,290 in 1913, while foodstuffs imported from the United States fell from $1,600,000 to $1,415,000.

The West Indies is now looking to importations of British Columbia lumber as soon as the Panama Canal is opened. They require annually about $2,250,000 worth of lumber.

Week-End Again Takes Heavy Toll of Lives.

HEROIC YOUTH GOES DOWN

S. P. S. Student Tries to Swim Out to Upset Canoe — Two Unknown Young Men Are Drowned at Port Stanley and Two Boys at Niagara Falls — List Also Includes Two Fishermen.

OAKVILLE, July 20.—Two drowning accidents occurred here yesterday. The first occurred at 12 o'clock noon, when Charles Grinham went bathing in the harbor between the piers. He never came up after taking his first plunge. The body was recovered in a few moments, and physicians worked for more than an hour in their endeavor at resuscitation, but failed. Deceased was an Englishman, an employe in the shipping department of the Marlett & Armstrong Co.'s tannery, married about a year, and highly respected as an exemplary young man. He was 26 years of age.

The second casualty occurred opposite Lakeside Park, the victim being W. N. Allen, a member of the Toronto to Hamilton good road surveying staff, whose relatives reside at Nelson, B. C. J. L. Armour was out on the lake about 200 yards in a canoe, accompanied by his little son and daughter. A gust of wind struck the small sail in the bow of the canoe and tipped it over. Mr. Armour got out of the canoe with one other hand and the canoe with the other and kept afloat. Allen, seeing their predicament, threw off his coat and vest and started to swim out to their assistance. Two boats hurried to them also, and Allen, seeing the boats were making good headway, turned to come back. Suddenly, when about 60 feet from shore, he called for assistance, and eyewitnesses saw him go down for the third time.

Two Lost In Lake Erie. PORT STANLEY, July 20.—Yesterday afternoon two young men hired a canoe at Samuel James' boat-house. They proceeded to the lake, which was rather rough for canoeing. When they reached the end of the east breakwater the canoe was seen to upset and both young men disappeared. Other boats proceeded to the scene and picked up the canoe, but the young men had found a watery grave. Grappling was started, but up to a late hour last night neither body had been found. They appeared to have been strangers here, and so far their names and addresses cannot be ascertained. They sank in about thirty feet of water.

Two Boys Go Down.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., July 20.—David Hicks, aged 15, and Antonio Earto, an Italian, aged 14, were drowned in the Niagara river at Queenston yesterday afternoon. The boys were in bathing when Barto got beyond his depth. Hicks swam to his rescue, but sank before he reached his companion. Both bodies were recovered. This is the fourth accident at the same spot. McLeod's Pond, near the quarries. Hicks came here from England.

Arthur Charbonneau Drowned.

OTTAWA, July 20.—Arthur Charbonneau, aged 40, a blacksmith of this city, was drowned Saturday night in the Ottawa river. A plank jutting from a wharf on which he was fishing broke, precipitating him into the river. His companions were unable to rescue him.

Drowned In Shallow Water.

BRANTFORD, July 20.—Alonso B. Jones, foreman of the wood-working department at the Massey-Harris plant here, met his death by drowning Saturday afternoon at the upper pond, Oakland, having fallen off a log into three feet of water while fishing there.

It is thought that he had a stroke or an attack of heart failure, as he was a good swimmer, and needed only to have stood up to be safe from drowning.

Drowning at Montreal.

MONTREAL, July 20.—David Reid, a young Scotchman, in Canada only a short time, was drowned in the Lachine Canal Friday while bathing, with companions.

Deceased, who was employed as a clerk in the C.P.R. general offices, was 21 years old.

ICE-BREAKER IS BACK.

Steamer Kit Couldn't Get Nearer Than 120 Miles From Wrangell.

NOME, Alaska, July 20.—The ice-breaking steamer Kit arrived here on Saturday from a cruise in the Arctic. The captain reported that he tried for fourteen days to break through the ice field to reach Wrangell Island and take of the men of the Stefansson exploring expedition who have been marooned here since the old whaler Karluk was crushed in the ice last winter. The Kit was unable to approach nearer than 120 miles to Wrangell Island, and finally abandoned the attempt.

All information received here is that the ice in the Arctic this year is worse than ever known before, and for this reason the revenue cutter Bear, which is to take Capt. Robert Bartlett, master of the Karluk, to Wrangell Island to take off the refugees, has delayed sailing until more favorable conditions prevail.

Man In Grey Started It.

Chicago Police Seek to Stop Vice-District Street Battles.

CHICAGO, July 20.—Search for the mysterious "Man in Gray," accused of firing the first shot in the revolver battle in the Chicago vice district on Thursday night, in which one detective was killed and three others wounded, was prosecuted by the police department Saturday. That the battle was started by a lot of levee hangers-on, in an effort to kill some of the detectives of the morals squad, who had been raiding resorts, is thought to be apparent from the evidence given in the inquest over Stanley J. Birns, the slain plainclothesman.

Political and police affiliations in the vice district problem, were in process of being settled Saturday in an endeavor to place the responsibility. That the fatal effect will rouse public opinion to force the effectual stamping out of the whole segregated district was the prediction made yesterday by many police officials.

Woman Fatally Hurt.

BOTHWELL, July 20.—Mrs. John Humphreys, 75 years old, was fatally injured Saturday when, while assisting a number of women members of the congregation in cleaning the local Baptist Church, she fell from a table on which she was standing to wash a window, across the back of a pew. Two ribs were broken, and she was badly injured internally, as well as being rendered unconscious.

POLICE DRIVEN OFF

Vancouver Force Meets Defeat in Attack on Hindus.

TWENTY PERSONS WOUNDED

Furious Bombardment With Coal, Iron Bars, Machinery Parts and Other Missiles Forces Tug Sea Lion to Retreat—Effort Was First Made to Subdue the Orientals With Hoses.

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 20.—A large body of Vancouver police and a contingent of special immigration constables, numbering nearly 200 men, descended early yesterday morning in the tug Sea Lion upon the Komagata Maru, and after grappling her and playing a hose on the infuriated Hindus, were beaten back by showers of coal and other missiles. Many of the attacked were injured, some seriously.

Such was the result of an unsuccessful attempt in the midnight hours to rid the harbor of the Japanese steamer and her unwelcome passengers, whose application for entry into British Columbia has been refused by the Court of Appeals.

A day or two ago the Canadian Government decided, as an act of mercy, to provision the Komagata Maru for her voyage back to the Orient at a cost of $6,000. Plans were carefully matured by Malcolm Reid, superintendent of the Immigration Department here; H. H. Stevens, M.P., and W. H. R. Lader, with the result that at 1.15 in the morning everything was in readiness.

A large quantity of provisions were on the tug, together with 125 city policemen, under Chief McLennan, and upwards of 50 special constables under Captain Warden. The scene as the Sea Lion pulled away from the Canadian Pacific Railway Pier "A" was full of confidence and even hilarity. The policemen had recovered the special men rifles. The Sea Lion slowly steamed out to the Japanese steamer, which lies only a quarter of a mile off shore, opposite the immigration headquarters. Upon arriving within hailing distance of the vessel it was seen that every inch of space along the rail and on the deck and bridge was occupied by a Hindu, armed with a club or other weapon, while in the bow of the steamer a solid mass were congregated.

Back and forth and along the Hindu a hose was played, with as first, astonishing results. Beaten back by the seething water they retreated in every direction and for the moment it seemed as though the civic forces had commenced a victorious action.

Only for a moment, however, the next moment a most startling change occurred. Rallying, a number of Hindus faced the stream and dashed in a shower of missiles upon the attacking party. This was followed by a tremendous storm of lumps of coal, which in a couple of minutes had completely upset the order which had reigned aboard the Sea Lion. The crowded mass of men upon the deck of the tug were absolutely at the mercy of the Hindus, and the latter were now the attacking party. For a few minutes the air seemed full of coal, pieces of wood, fire bricks and pieces of iron from what is believed the wreckage of the engine room.

Quite a number of men fell, stretched out by blows on the head and in the crowding to that side of the tug farthest away from the Japanese steamer, McArthur, was forced overboard.

Chief of Police McLennan was badly bruised. Inspector Scott was knocked unconscious from a blow from a brick. Police Constable McCall had two ribs broken and Captain Robertson of the Sea Lion was cut over the eye by flying glass.

Eventually the grappling iron attached to the Maru's rails having been unloosed by some police constable, the Sea Lion, with her injured and angry crew, slowly moved away from the vessel's side and made her way back to dock.

Sunday afternoon passed peacefully, although many Hindus in a party near the dock were beaten by white men before help arrived. Chief of Police McLennan is watching the situation closely for fear of riots on shore. H. H. Stevens, M.P., said in the afternoon that measures had been taken to effectively bring the Hindus into subjection.

Mass For Murdered Pair.

Memorial Service at Montreal Celebrated by Archbishop Bruchesi.

MONTREAL, July 20.—A solemn memorial mass for the late Archduke Franz Ferdinand of Austria and his wife was celebrated by Archbishop Bruchesi in St. James Cathedral yesterday morning.

A large catafalque, representing the bier of the royal dead, and draped with gold and black, was placed before the altar. On the bier, surrounded by lighted candles, lay the Austrian colors.

Next to the bier, in military uniform, knelt the official representatives of Austria, the consul, Mr. Hermann von Hann, accompanied by Prince Hohenzollern, who is connected with the embassy.

Kneeling next to Austria's representatives were Hon. Louis Codrès, Secretary of State, and Hon. J. C. Doherty, Minister of Justice, who came specially from Ottawa to represent the Canadian Government at the service. They afterwards exchanged greetings with the consul.

Concrete Adopted as Road Standard

WAYNE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, WHERE nearly one hundred miles of Concrete Roads have been built in the past six years, during which time nearly every method of road construction has been tested, now comes out flat-footed and adopts concrete as the road standard.

The story is best told in the following paragraph which has been taken from the latest report of the Board of County Road Commissioners of Wayne County, Michigan.

"With the completion of Plymouth Road, we have abandoned every other form of construction and have adopted concrete as our standard. We feel that our experience of the past six years warrants us in arriving at this determination, based on its general satisfactoryness and its annual cost as compared with other forms of construction. In addition to the economy in hauling, the pleasure in driving and touring, and the increase in land valuation, the concrete roads of Wayne County have been the means of bringing tens of thousands of dollars to this locality."

Concrete roads will benefit any locality proportionately as they have benefited Wayne County, Michigan.

The fullest detailed information about concrete roads will be sent to anyone interested, without cost or obligation. Address:

LEADERS TO CONFER

King Calls For Discussion of Ulster Difficulties.

SUCCESS IS LOOKED FOR

His Majesty Has Delayed His Proposed Trip to Portsmouth and the Meeting Will Probably Take Place To-morrow in London—All Have Accepted the Invitation It Is Reported.

LONDON, July 20.—The King has called a conference of the leaders of all the parties to seek a solution of the Irish problem.

This is the announcement which Premier Asquith is expected to make to-day when the bill amending the Home Rule bill comes up again for consideration in the House of Commons.

The Prime Minister's speech on this occasion, indicating how the Government proposes to deal with the Lords' amendments to the amending bill, is awaited with the deepest anxiety, and it is probable that the House will immediately adjourn the debate on the amending bill indefinitely to allow the negotiations for a settlement to proceed outside of Parliament.

Premier Asquith has been with the King at Portsmouth during the week end, and the King's anxiety to get the difficulty settled resulted in the calling of the conference. It is said that the various leaders invited have accepted the invitation and that the conference will meet at an early date, probably on to-morrow in London. The King will receive the delegates, but will not himself preside over the conference, which, it is confidently thought, under such exalted auspices, will prove successful.

At the same time, the Ministers are placing great reliance in the persuasive powers of Chancellor Lloyd George, who has been temporarily shunted from his financial duties to assist the Prime Minister in finding a solution for the Irish difficulty.

Chancellor Lloyd George's practical business is to smooth the path between Nationalists and Liberals. It is understood that the Government is willing to go a considerable way in the direction of meeting the Carsonite demands, but is hampered by the unyielding attitude of the Nationalists.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer has had several conferences with John Redmond, the Nationalist leader, in an endeavor to find points of common agreement. Mr. Redmond has called a conference of his party for the purpose of hearing from Joseph Devlin, member of Parliament for Belfast, who has returned from an important mission in the north of Ireland, and this conference may have an important bearing on the negotiations.

For the moment, Tyrone is the crux of the situation on which neither the Nationalists nor the Carsonites are willing to yield.

All the morning papers make much of the delayed departure of the King for Portsmouth on Saturday, but further than announcing that it was due to the Irish crisis not one of them gives a clue as to the actual matter connected with the situation which was of so urgent character as to delay His Majesty's visit.

All reports agree that despite the efforts of the past week in the direction of peace no settlement has been come to although there is some talk of a compromise being "in sight."

Premier Asquith's present difficulty is that four members of the Cabinet, two of whom are particularly aggressive, have at the last moment flunked the situation and are prepared to go in the teeth of the Nationalists, says Reynolds's newspaper, which is usually well informed on the inner Ministerial condition.

"Happily," adds the paper, "a majority of the party support Mr. Asquith in his refusal to betray the Nationalist cause, and there is left some hope that the Ministerial party will not be shattered, despite the threatened revolt of a section of the Cabinet. It is possible that the debate to-day will be adjourned after Mr. Asquith's statement."

ESCAPE BAULKED.

Prisoner's Suit of Civilian Clothes Found in Coal Bin.

KINGSTON, July 20.—A stoker at the penitentiary, while shoveling coal, found a suit of civilian's clothes tucked away in a small wooden box, and hidden among coal, thereby showing up a plan one of the convicts had to make his escape. The suit belonged to parolee prisoner J. Cardinal who was brought to the penitentiary last week.

An investigation is now being made to ascertain why the clothing was not destroyed in the furnace, as is the custom. One or more convicts have made their escape at opportune times by changing their striped suits for civilians' suits, and Cardinal had seven more years to serve and would be given a new suit on leaving. Orders were given for his suit to be put in the furnace, but evidently one of the guards neglected his work. It is the duty of the guards to stand by and see that the clothing is destroyed.

Verdict Is Delayed.

FATHER POINT, July 20.—The verdict in the inquest into the loss of the Empress of Ireland was not given here Saturday by the coroner, Dr. Pinard. It was expected that when the case was re-opened a formal verdict would be rendered, but it was postponed again.

The Lord Strathcona and the Marie Josephine are at the scene of the wreck to-day. The weather is fine and it is likely that they will return with several bodies to-night.

STORM ON EAST COAST.

Six Vessels Are Reported Ashore Off Maritime Provinces.

HALIFAX, N.S., July 20.—Two steamers and two schooners were wrecked during the past 24 hours as the result of the heavy storm that swept over the coast. Fortunately there was no loss of life, all the crews reaching shore in safety, but some of them had a trying experience, as thick fog had prevailed.

The vessels were the Norwegian steamer Ragna, 1,052 tons, from Chester, Pa., to St. Ann's, C.B., which ran ashore at Ballena, C.B., and the Cuban steamer Cienfuegos, 1,139 tons, which struck at Scatarie, C.B., bound for Mobile, Ala., with a cargo of pine for Montreal.

The schooner Harold C. Beecher (American) also struck on Scatarie. She sailed from New York for Sydney, N.S.

The four-masted American schooner Clarence Venner struck off Cape Sable, N.S. She was bound from New York for Halifax with 1,200 tons of hard coal.

All the vessels are in bad positions, and the prospects of floating them are slight.

The coast was swept by a gale of wind and heavy squalls. There was also thunder, lightning and rain.

King Malcolm on Beach.

YARMOUTH, N.S., July 20.—The Italian bark King Malcolm, Captain Mortola, bound from Portland, Me., to Richibucto, N.B., in ballast, is probably a total loss at Short Beach, about seven miles from Yarmouth. She left Portland about noon on Friday and struck at six o'clock on Saturday morning.

Jennie A. Pickles a Wreck.

ST. JOHN, N.B., July 20.—The three-masted schooner Jennie A. Pickles, Captain Richards, owned by W. W. Pickles & Co. of Annapolis Royal, N.S., went ashore in a thick fog at Chance Harbor in the Bay of Fundy, and it is feared will be a total wreck. The crew is safe ashore. The schooner was on her way here from Bermuda with 550 puncheons of molasses.

SIROCCO CAPTURED?

Denver Police Think They Have W. G. Martin's Slayer.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Information reached the police Saturday night that Michael Sirrocco, who has been sought by the authorities since last August in connection with the murder of William Grive Martin, a Toronto milliner, had been arrested in Denver, Col. Martin was strangled to death in a rooming house on the west side and money and jewelry were taken from him.

The police have held that Martin's assailants did not mean to kill him, but choked him to death with a towel made into a gag. Harry Schaeffer, who was arrested soon after the murder, accused of being one of the robbers, was convicted in March of murder in the second degree.

Denies His Guilt.

DENVER, Colo., July 20.—Accused of complicity in the murder of William G. Martin, beater to death by two men in a New York lodging house on the night of Aug. 18, 1912, William Sullivan, 23, is a prisoner in the city jail. His real name is said to be Michael Sirrocco.

He denied any knowledge of the crime, but the detectives declare they are positive of his identity.

Sullivan, as he insists on calling himself, came to Denver seven months ago. A pretty, young woman with whom he was associated, disappeared after he was put in jail.

PEST IS SPREADING.

Army Worm Makes Its Appearance in Oxford and Waterloo.

WOODSTOCK, July 20.—The local agricultural bureau received word yesterday that army worms have broken out on the farms near Thamesford as well as on two farms in East Zorra Township. On one farm in Blenheim Township fires are being kindled in an effort to ward off the pests. Thousands of dollars' damage has been done already to farms throughout the district. One farmer has been spraying his crops with a mixture of oil and water and reports the treatment effective.

Appears at O. A. C.

GUELPH, Ont., July 20.—The army worm made its appearance in this vicinity Saturday and strange to say, the only place it has so far been noticed is in a field of corn at the Ontario Agricultural College.

Also Found at Galt.

GALT, July 20.—It was discovered that the army worm which has been doing so much damage in Oxford and Brant Counties had invaded Waterloo County, both in the south and north section Saturday. It is supposed that the pest migrated here from Oxford County.

Death of Luther Donnelly.

KINGSTON, July 20.—The death occurred at the General Hospital on Saturday night of Luther Donnelly, aged 29, brother of Capt. John Donnelly, of the Donnelly Wrecking Co., after four months' illness from acute Bright's disease. He was unmarried and was a son of the late Capt. John Donnelly, Garden Island, and was for several years engaged in sailing the great lakes and in wrecking work with his brother. Three brothers, Capt. John and Foster, Kingston; Sandford, Toronto, and one sister, Mrs. M. McCormick, Kingston, survive.

Pleads Not Guilty.

MONTREAL, July 20.—John Rice, engineer and repairer of old furniture, accused of writing letters threatening to murder Sam Holman, general manager of the Dorval and King Edward Jockey Clubs, and of making an attempt to fire the Dorval race track, grand stand and houses on the property, was arraigned in court Saturday. He pleaded not guilty and was remanded until July 22.

New Haven Magnates Criminally Negligent Says Report.

C. S. MELLEEN IS CENSURED

Millions Were Used Like Stage Money in Gigantic Manipulations of Men Who Sought to Control the Destinies of New England Through Combine Which Was "Imperial In Scope."

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The story of the "reckless and profligate" financial operations of the New Haven Railroad, one of the most remarkable chapters in the history of the American railroad and American finance was revealed in part yesterday by the Interstate Commerce Commission in a report to the Senate of its investigation of that road. It told of millions used like stage money, of corporations as pawns in a monster game with all New England's transportation as a prize, which led the New Haven in the ten years just passed, from the height of prosperity to the point where a dividend has been passed, where a dissolution suit is threatening, and where criminal indictments of many of the directors who figured in its deals are at least a possibility.

Hampered by unwilling witnesses, by burned books, and by all the mazes which lawyers invented to cover the trail, the commission estimated that in the progress toward a monopolization of New England transportation the New Haven stockholders have lost between $65,000,000 and $90,000,000 but little of which they may recover. In return, the report said they have on their hands properties which pay no dividends, which eat into the earnings of the parent road, and which will be a burden on its capacity for many years to come.

The report deals with the management of the New Haven under former President Charles S. Mellen, and of the present directing head, Chairman Howard Elliott and Walker D. Hines, special counsel, says they have cooperated with the commission and rendered it substantial assistance throughout this investigation.

The combination reared by the hands of Mr. Mellen, and approved by the late J. Pierpont Morgan and William Rockefeller, the commission finds to be clearly in violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, and a monopoly in practical control of the transportation of five states.

The commission's report is unusual in the manner in which the directors of the New Haven are scored for their deeds. It speaks of criminal maladministration and negligence, asserts with positiveness that the directors knew they were perfecting an illegal combination, and says that the dream of a transportation monopoly was unsound and mischievous. The New Haven, the commission says, employed dummy directors, manipulated accounts, used questionable methods in increasing its own stock, paid the dividends of subsidiaries to make a showing and used many other devices to deceive the stockholders and the public. It dipped into politics, was a factor in "invisible government," made large campaign contributions to the two dominant political parties, bought officials and tried to distort public opinion. All this it did, the commission says, "to carry out a scheme of private transportation monopoly imperial in its scope."

HUERTA REPAIRS ROAD.

Mexican Dictator Probably Thinks He Will Have To Use It.

VERA CRUZ, July 14.—Four hundred laborers, acting under orders from the Mexican Dictator, Huerta, started work yesterday on a road to repair the gap in the Mexican Railway, connecting Vera Cruz with the capital, and the rushing of the work is believed here to indicate a possibility that the first train to pass over the repaired road may be the special conveying Gen. Huerta and his family to the coast.

Quantities of rails and ties have been hauled to the break, a little over six miles from the city of Vera Cruz, and the two miles stretch which has been without rails since April 21 will be restored to working order within two days at the most.

Passengers who arrived from the capital yesterday reported an extraordinary session of the Senate there on Saturday, but said no announcement had been made as to the matters discussed behind locked doors. They said, however, the session was followed by a conference between several Senators and Francisco Carbajal, the new Minister of Foreign Affairs.

WILL SAIL NO MORE.

Captain Kendall Will Have a Post Ashore, Says Report.

MONTREAL, July 14.—Captain Kendall, who commanded the Empress of Ireland, is not likely to go to sea again, though he was exonerated by the Dominion Wreck Commission in its finding on the disaster last Saturday. It is understood here that the C. P. R. authorities have given him several months' leave of absence, and that at the conclusion of it he will accept a shore position either in Canada or in England in the service of the company.

St John Police Officer Dead.

ST. JOHN, N.B., July 14.—Special Policeman Frank E. O'Leary, who was shot Sunday night by John Braman, 17 years old, while he was arresting him as a burglary suspect, died in the hospital early yesterday morning. He had been gaining apparently, but a change for the worse came late on Saturday. Braman will now face a murder charge.

CAPITAL IS SUFFICIENT.

C. P. R. Has No Need For Funds Just Now Says Shaughnessy.

MONTREAL, July 16.—In order to set at rest rumors of any issue of new stock and other disquieting stories about Canadian Pacific Railway affairs, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy yesterday issued the following statement:

"After the payment of all fixed charges and dividends, the company entered upon the new fiscal year, July 1, with $36,000,000 in cash and $4,000,000 in equipment securities after having spent upwards of $20,000,000 on railway and steamship construction, for which four per cent. consolidated debenture stocks have been authorized, but not offered on the market.

The end has nearly been reached with all the important works of construction and improvement that were in progress, and only a comparatively small portion of the money in hand will be required for their completion.

"No new works of any magnitude are contemplated at present, and therefore no necessity exists for the further issue of capital stock.

"It is not unlikely, however, that the directors will, at the meeting in October, recommend to the shareholders the authorized ordinary share capital be made to conform to the amount for which the company has legal warrant, so as to provide for the future capital requirements, as and when they arise."

MINISTER ATTACKED.

Secretary For Scotland Narrowly Escapes Violence of Militants.

LONDON, July 16.—Two militant suffragettes yesterday made a violent attack on the Rt. Hon. Thomas McKinnon Wood, Secretary of State for Scotland, as he was leaving his residence. The women were both armed with heavy horsewhips, with which they struck Mr. Wood several times across the shoulders. They were both arrested.

Only for the timely intervention of his stalwart butler, it is very probable that the Secretary would have been soundly thrashed. He was just leaving his residence when a woman rushed up, horsewhip in hand, exclaiming: "You Scottish pig, if you don't stop the forcible feeding of women we shall smash you!"

The militant lashed him across the chest, but before she could deliver a second cut the butler, who was standing on the steps, seized her and threw her sprawling to the ground, leaving him free to tackle the second woman, who was shouting: "Let me get at the Scottish pig."

She made a rush with her whip at the Secretary for Scotland and was still struggling in the butler's grip when the police arrived and bundled both women to the police station. They were later sentenced to fourteen days in jail.

EDITORS MAKE TROUBLE.

Franco-German Strain Caused by a Journalistic Squabble.

PARIS, July 16.—An acrimonious controversy which is going on between Paul and Guy Cassagnac, editors of Autorite and L. Fuchs, correspondent of The Berlin Lokal Anzeiger, and Carl Lahm, correspondent of The Leipzig Tageblatt, appears likely to cause diplomatic tension between France and Germany.

Guy Cassagnac recently challenged Fuchs to a duel, which the seconds decided need not take place because Fuchs had nothing to do personally with an article, which was the original cause of the controversy, approving a sentence of one year imprisonment imposed by the Leipzig courts on the Alsatian cartoonist, Hansl.

Paul Cassagnac challenged Lahm because he did not leave the country for 48 hours, as had been demanded by Autorite.

It is understood that the German Embassy in Paris is prepared to uphold what it conceives to be the rights of German correspondents.

CIVIC FATHERS CLASH.

Mayor Martin Wants Work Held Over Until He Returns.

MONTREAL, July 16.—Yesterday Mayor Mederic Martin wired the assistant city clerk, Rene Bauset, from Toronto not to lay any official document before Acting Mayor Blumenthal.

Ald. Blumenthal was wrathful when shown the telegram and instructed the clerk that he was the mayor and declared that if officials did not fulfil their duties and lay all documents before him he would suspend them.

Trouble is looked for when Mayor Martin finds that not only has the acting mayor signed many documents but in addition has sworn in 17 new recruits to the fire department, which the mayor considers his own especial privilege.

Told To Stay Away From Mass.

MONTREAL, July 16.—Umbrage has been taken by many French-Canadian Roman Catholics because the French vice-consul to Canada, Dr. R. L. Raymond, received instructions from his Government not to attend mass in Notre Dame Church in connection with the celebration of the fall of the Bastille.

The vice-consul himself says that his Government is anxious to preserve the strictest neutrality in regard to all religious demonstrations.

CLEVELAND, O., July 16.—Summer drinks will have a natural sparkle and will be without the foamy effect produced by the use of soap bark, as a result of an agreement signed by Cleveland bottlers, City Chemist White announced yesterday. The agreement is the result of a campaign waged by White for months.

BAND CONCERT.—The open air band concerts are very popular, as is shown each week by the large crowd which congregates at the Town Square. Last Thursday evening the band rendered a very fine program, much to the enjoyment of all. If the Police would spend a little time at the Square during the concerts and stop the tag game with the children, it would be a great improvement.

DIVERSIFIED APOSTLE OF MIXED FARMING SAYS, HOGS NOT OSTRICHES

Plowing Hog Pasture, Australian Sunset, and Holman James.

The most diversified apostle of mixed farming now is touring the United States, Holman James of Saskatchewan, Canada, and of London, but late of Nairobi, Africa, and previously of Australia, and dictum is "hogs and lots of them" from experience in all those countries with cattle, ostriches, rhinos and horses.

Mr. James' agricultural life on Australian ranches was interrupted while at the head of a regiment of Australian horses he fought the Boers. Then he established the British government horse breeding farm in the Transvaal. Next he diversified in Central Africa as owner of 300 square miles, contending with lions, rhinoceros, and elephants which carelessly trampled his fields. Later, England. Finally 5,000-acre ranch at Leslie, on the Canadian Northern Railway. What to grow for profit, wheat and more wheat?

Hogs. His first grain crop was forty bushels of wheat, ninety of oats, but his big tractors plowed that his porkers might reap. He runs his African estates and Canadian ranch by wire, but on a bet made in London, also is doing a vaudeville act as "Fred Lindsay", with the thirty-foot stock whip which he used in Australia.

HOPE COUNCIL

The Municipal Council of the Township of Hope met in the Clerk's Office, Port Hope, on Saturday, July 18th, 1914, at 2.30 p.m.

From the Clerk of the Peace stating that the Statutes of Ontario for 1914 had been received by him for distribution to those entitled to them in Hope Township.

From the C.N.O.R. making enquiry as to Council's intention in opening the road in Con. 1 at an early date stating in their opinion that a level crossing would be all that is required at this place.

On motion the first two communications were filed and the other tabled.

Mr Wilson reported that the car of cedar ordered from Sam Clark had not been delivered at Garden Hill, as agreed upon and some of it was required at once for needed repairs.

The Reeve explained that it would soon be supplied.

Mr Edwards said Clarke wants a committee appointed to meet theirs

Also the gravel in many places put on by the C.P.Ry. Co. is too coarse and the stone requires to be broken. Some more gravel is wanted at McHolm's overhead bridge and a quantity more at Subway on Lake Shore Road. The Clerk to notify the Ry. Co. of these requirements; also to remind them that the approaches to some of the bridges are not nearly as good as they found them and to request them to have snow boards placed on the overhead bridges as per agreement.

W. A. Walker one of a deputation appointed to represent the Agricultural Society asked for a liberal grant from Hope to help them carry on their Fair successfully. The Council had been good to them in the past and he hoped they would be increasingly good this year.

G. T. R. MIXED LEFT THE TRACK

The Cannon Ball Express from Port Hope met with a mishap near Omeme on Monday afternoon. The train left the track just south of the bridge over Pigeon River, and had the mishap occurred two or three rods farther on, a most serious accident would have been the result. As it was, five cars left the track. One, containing a gasoline tank rolled into the river together with a box car. One car was loaded with cream, and when the accident happened two streams poured from the car to the ground.

Fortunately none of the passenger were injured nor were the coaches at all injured.

The Lindsay auxiliary was despatched to the scene, and placed the coaches on the track first. Every thing else was cleaned up by evening.

BASS FRY FOR ADJACENT LAKES

During the past week forty thousand bass fingerlings were placed in the waters of the back lakes. They were brought from Brantford via special car to Cobayogon and then taken by steamer Naiaid to their destination. Ten thousand were placed at Gannon's Narrows, fifteen thousand in Stoney Lake and fifteen thousand in Clear Lake. Only two weeks ago twenty-five thousand were deposited in Sturgeon Lake, and a similar amount in Pigeon Lake.

DECORATION DAY.—Durham Lodge No. 78, I.O.O.F., will hold their annual decoration ceremony over the graves of their deceased brethren at the Union Cemetery, on Sunday, Aug. 2nd, leaving the lodge room about 3.30 p. m.

A BROAD HINT—"Have you a match?" asked the chronic bore, who had dropped into the busy man's office for a chat. "My cigar has gone out." It seems to have the advantage of you," remarked the busy man. "How's that?" queried the chronic bore. "It knows what it ought to do," replied the busy man.

THE FRUIT CROP.—The Fruit Commissioners Branch of the Department of Agriculture report the prospects for this year for counties north of Lake Ontario not as good as expected. The crop will run about as good as last year, or about 25 per cent. less than in 1912. The fruit is well distributed and all trees are bearing.

NOT LIKELY TO BE POPULAR.—An innovation in the shape of a "Take-it-back-day" has been introduced by the little town of Carmen, Oklahoma. We'd like to see the faces on the men as they take back the umbrellas they borrowed, and the ladies, as they take back any nasty remarks made against members of their own sex.

TO TEACH AGRICULTURE.—Ontario Department of Education is aiming to have agriculture taught in public schools. From August 3rd to 7th a rural teachers conference will be held in the Agricultural College, Guelph. Two delegate teachers from each Association in the province will attend. They will report to their teachers' conventions in the fall setting forth the whole scheme of agricultural instruction as proposed for the rural schools of Ontario by the Department of Education.

OUR BEACH.—The water at the beach Thursday registered at 70 degrees and the bathers were numerous. What a beautiful spot could be made of the west beach for a very little expense. As it is now, there is not a single bench or chair. If you wish to enjoy the breezes, you are obliged to sit in the sand. His Worship Mayor Bush impressed upon the Town Property Committee early in the year the necessity of making improvements at the beach but as yet, nothing has been done.
