Will you, dear reader, help to do it? If so, you have helped to save the home and the nation from its greatest curse. For is it not true that the saloon is the enemy of the home, the filler of the prison, the vendor of every vice, the dread of every mother, the fear of every loving father and a menance to every child? And, such being true, the enemy of the nation, can it be the will of God that the Bar shall continue to exist to do its deadly and damnable work of ruining our men and boys; of bringing sorrow and shame to our mothers, and daughters and our sisters? Surely not! Then, fellow electors, allow me to make this pro-posal to you: Let us, on the morning of June 29th, take with us the mother's and the boy's pleas, and kneeling alone in secret, or at family altar, pray: "Thy Kingdom Come, Thy will be done on earth, as it is in heaven." And then see, if we can go and vote for the con-tinuance of the Bar! If we find we cannot vote for its continuance, our manhood and enlightened conscience rising in rebellion against such inconsistency, then let us, one and all help Banish the Bar by voting for

Stirring Address

The annual Frize Day at Trinity College School was held on Friday, June 19th. The proceedings opened with a service in the School Chapel at which the Rt. Rev. the Lord Bishop of Kingston preached the sermon. His Lordship gave a stirring address on School Patriotism. After the service, the visitors from outside points were entertained in the School Dining Hall at luncheon. His Honor the Lt. Governor and Lady Gibson were present. The distribution of prizes took place in the afternoon at three o'clock. His Honor kindly presented the prize winners with their books. Chancellor Worrell of Trin-ity College was in the chair. He and French selections, "Caro Mia Ben" (Gordam) and "Mon Cceur S'ombra" (Samson and Delilah) her expressive and beautifully modulated voice being well adapted to meet the exacting demands of the music. Later on in the program she especially charmed the audience with her rendering of "The Leaves and the Wind," "The Meeting of the Water" and "Oh that we two were maying." The Lost Chord (sung by special request) and Liddle's "Abide With Me," both with organ accompaniment were specially suited to her rich and melodious voice. Altogether her selections covered a wide range of musical interpretation and proved her a great artist in the true sense of the word.

That it will be helpful, not alone to the Conservative cause and candidate in Kingston, but also to the Conservative party generally in Ontario and to the Whitney Govern-ment, goes without saying, since the affixing of the names to the nomi-nation paper is at once a silent and dignified declaration of support of the Conservative cause, as well as a forceful and needful reminder to the people of Ontario generally that, despite the somewhat loud pulpit and platform assertions, not all the godly men are on the side of Mr. Rowell, nor yet are all the Whitney supporters ungodly. The Whitney Government has a policy on temperance that does not consist merely of a catch word. It is a policy the supporters of which believe is better calculated to effectually promote the cause of practical temperance than the Rowall policy. It is a policy that has prought the cause of temperance to a higher and better position than it has ever occupied in the Province before. It is a policy that has pro-duced and will continue to produce permanent beneficial results. It does not consist of cne fantastic legislative stroke, that is not backed up by public sentiment in the various municipalities to ensure its enforce-ment, but consists of steadily nushing forward legislation along the

Out of Those In Hillcrest Mine When Explosion Occurred Yesterday Forning Only Forty Survivors Have Been Taken Out and of Those Twenty-Seven Are Injured - Colliery on Fire. week, as noted in our issue of June

> HILLCREST, Alta., June 20.-P.actically all hope has been aban-doned that any of the miners entombed in the Hillerest mine, where an explosion occurred yesterday morning will be rescued. The total loss of life is now estimated at 197 men. Forty survivors only, of whom 27 were injured, have been brought to the surface. Fifty-two bodies have been brought out, forty-two of them having already been identified. Rescue parties are doing all possible to reach those who may be still alive in the mine.

The colliery, which is on the Crow's Nest branch of the C. P. R., between Frank, Alta., and Fernie, B. C., is reported to be on fire, smoke issuing from the pit mouth in dense black clouds and preventing rescue work

The scene at the pit mouth begfars all description. Hundreds of tear-stained and anxious-faced wo-men and children wero there waiting some news of their loved ones, who had so recently left them. Two hundred and thirty-seven men entered the mine yesterday morning, but so far only forty have been brought out alive, most of whom were unconscious, but were revived by pulmotors.

The scenes around the mine tell a terrible tale of the havoc wrought and the fearful force of the explosion. So great was the violence of the explosion that a fair-sized concrete building located about ten yards from the mouth of the pit had the roof blown clean off. Men, horses, timber, ralls, and wagons are jum-bled in a chaotic mass, and the path is so strewn at every step with the debris that only those men who were fortunate enough to have been working near the pit mouth have any chance of being brought out alive. In fact old-time miners declare their belief that after such an explosion no man now unrecovered from the innermost working of the pit can possibly emerge alive.

Special relief trains are rushing to the scene, carrying doctors and medical supplies for the injured, and extra gangs are being organized to work their way into the depths of the earth in the hope that in the heart of the mine, which has been so badly wrecked, there may be found some few alive among the tollers who went to work yesterday morning to their doom with such awful suddenness a few minutes later.

The efforts of James Keir Hardie, the Socialist Indepen-dent member of Parliament, and George Lansbury, an "ex-member, with the Premier, helped the militant suffragette leader to bring him to his knees.

The victory is a distinct one, be-cause Sylvia Pankhurst was arrested about a week ago for attempting to had a procession of east end women to West ainster to demand the audience which Mr. Asquith has now promised.

THE PORT HOPF. WEEKLY GUIDE, FRIDAY,

She got up slowly, and stood si lent, while Aggie regarded her curiously. Even to the insensitive observer, there was something strange in the atmosphere. . . . A moment later the bridegroom entered.

He was still clean-cut and wholesome. Some sons of wealthy fathers are not, after four years experience of the white lights of town. And the lines of his face were firmer, better in every way. It seemed, indeed, that here was some one of a resolute character, not to be wasted on the trivial and gross things. In an in-stant, he had gone to her, had caught her in his arms with, "Hello, dear!" smothered in the kiss he implanted on her lips. Mary strove vainly to free herself. "Don't, ch, don't!" she gasped. Dick Gilder released his wite from his arms and smiled the beatific smile of t's newly-wed. "Why not?" he demanded, with a smile, a smile calm, triumphant, masterful.

"Agnes!" . . . It was the sole pretext to which Mary could turn for a momentary relief.

The bridegroom faced about and perceived Agnes, who stood closely watching the meeting between husband and wife. He made an excellent bow of the sort that one learns only abroad, and spoke quiet.

ly. "I beg your pardon, Miss Lynch, but"-a smile of perfect happiness shone on his face-"you could hardly expect me to see any one but Mary under the circumstances. Could you?"

Aggie strove to rise to this emergency, and again took on her best manner, speaking rather coldly. "Under what circumstances?" she inquired.

The young man exclaimed joyously. "Why, we were married this morning." Aggie accepted the news with fitting excitement. "Goodness gracious! How perfectly lovely!" The bridegroom regarded her with a face that was luminous of delight.

"You bet, it's lovely!" he declared with entire conviction. .He turned to Mary, his face glowing with satisfaction.

answer. "Just one!" Dick pleaded.

"No," the bride replied, and there was determination in the monosyllable.

It was evident that Dick perceiv ed the futility of argument.

"For a married woman you cer-ried to the door, he expressed again his admiration for the name. "Mrs Gilder! Doesn't that sound im-mense?" And with that the was gone.

There was silence in the drawingoom until the two women heard the closing of the outer door of the apartment. Then, at last, Aggie relieved her pent-up emotions in a huge sigh that was near a groan.

Later on,: Garson, learning from the maid that Dick Gilder had left, returned, just as Mary wasglancing over the release, with which General Hastings was to be compensated, along with the return of his letters, for his payment of ten thousand dollars to Miss Agnes Lynch. "Hello, Joe," Mary said gracious-ly as the forger entered. Then she spoke crisply to Agnes. "And now you must get ready. You-are to be at Harris's effice with this cocument at four o'clock, and remember that you are to let the lawyer manage that was the nearest the little adventuress ever came to making a Bibli-

Garson regarded Mary quizzically. "It's lucky for her that she met you," he said. "She's got no more brains than a gnat." "And brains are mighty useful things, even in our business," Mary by the appearance of English Eddie himself, a tall, handsome man in the early thirties, who paused just within the doorway, and delivered to Mary a bow that was the perfec-tion of elegance. Mary made no effort to restrain the smile caused? by the costume of Mr Griggs. Yet, there was no violation of the canons of good taste, except in the aggregate. From spats to hat, from walking coat to gloves, everything was perfect of its kind. Only,there was an over-elaboration, so that the ensemble was flamboyant. And the man's manners precisely harmonized with his clothes, whereby the whole effect was emphasized and rendered bizarre. Garson took ene amazed ook, and then rocked with laughter.

Griggs regarded his former 2050ciate repreachfully for a moment, then grinned in frank sympathy. "Really, Mr Griggs, you quite overcome me," Mary seed half-er olo-

"I think it's rather meat, myself." He had some reputation in the underworld for his manner of dressing, English Eddie wasted no time in getting to the point. "Now, look here," he said, rapid-"I've got the greatest game in the world. . . . Two years ago, a set of Cethic tapestries, worth three hundred thousand dollars and a set of Fragecard panels, worth nearly as much more, were plucked from a chateau in .France and smuggled into this country." "I have never heard of that," Mary said with some interest.

THE FIRST APPLICATION

Oshawa Vindicator.

Chief Hind is telling a good story this week of the first application for the vacant Police Magistracy. James Bruce alias Bryan of Toronto has been working for Alex Cameron for about a month. Some wags, discerning in the stranger a trend toward the legalities wrote him a letter. In it they told him of the vacant position, and informed him that as a starter it was worth $2000 a year, but that his superior legal abilities would soon boost that salary up. They told him also to meet the patronage committee at the Queen's Hotel, Oshawa, and he would be further informed as to how to land the job. - He called. The committee sent him to Chief Hind. This is the sequel. The Chief has had the man's description for a month as one wanted by the authorities in Toronto. When he came into the Police office he limped. Coincidence number one. He went by the name of "Squeaky James," and his conversation was squeaky. Coincidence number two. The Chief arrested him as the man wanttook him back to Toronto on Tuesday afternoon to answer to a charge from the time she lay down she was ed, this alternoon," the Inspector of desertion of his wife and two children and their non-support.

Prisoners Plant Forests

Australian Convicts Reforest 500 Acres

· According to a recent report of the Forestry Department of New South Wales, good conduct convicts at the state prison, instead of breaking stone, are now engaged in the more useful and healthful work of replanting with trees the waste lands of the state. At one prison alone 25,000 trees, mostly American ash and pines were planted in 1913, and so successful have these plantations been that this work will be considerably extended in the present year.

A similar idea has been worked out successfully by the city of San Diego in California, which possesses 7,000 acres of bare rolling sand land at a distance of ten miles from the city. A train ed forester was engaged to make this land profit-yielding and under his direction the city's unemployed have been given work plant- ing, the death of one of the oldest ing this area with trees suitable to and most highly respected residents the nature of the country. portunity. Quebec and the Dominion government has also passed legislation to encourage tree planting, and the Dominion Forestry Branch in the last fiscal year distributed nearly 4,000,000 trees from the nurseries at Indian Head for woodlot planting in western Canada.

The growing of forest trees on waste land can in most cases be made a profitable undertaking, besides providing labor to a considerable number of men. yet no extensive reforestation has as yet been done in eastern Canada.

AT PETAWAWA

Petawawa Military Camp, June 17 .. - Predictions that the strict enforcement of the Minister of Militia's liquor regulations would keep down the attendance at the training camps are hardly fulfilled. At least eight thousand men are under canvas now, and units are arriving at full strength. The scheme of mobilization was carried out in a manner that was both surprising and highly satisfac-tory to the officers. The time schedule was lived up to as has never been the case before. The cavalry division was complete within forty minutes of the time scheduled. The infantry was to arrive by ten, and only one train was later than midnight. In no case were any of the trains late through any fault of the soldiers. The present depression through out the country is generally believed here to be the cause of so many attending camp. Work is scarce and many welcomed the chance to come this year on failing to find employment.

THE PORT HOPE WEEKLY GUIDE,

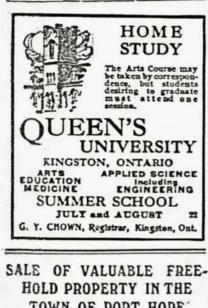

Check those Colds in the Head with FOSSAL BALM

As you know, "catching a cold" simply means allowing the germs of a cold to catch you.

Usually these germs, which abound wherever people congregate, gain their first foothold in the mucous membrane lining the nasal passages. Here they multiply if unchecked, and quickly set up an inflammation. Then follows that smarting, burning, stuffed up, "headachy" feeling-that cold in the head that is so depressing and so likely to develop into something more serious.

Possal Balm goes right to the spot, kills the germs and checks the cold. Possal Balm is an antiseptic, healing ointment, put up in a collapsible tube with a long, nozzle-shaped opening. This little nozzle, inserted in the nostril, carries the Fossal Balm well up into the passage, where it quickly spreads over the inflamed membrane, destroys the germs that are causing the trouble, soothes the irritation, clears the passages, and gives grateful and lasting relief.

Get a 50c tube of Possal Balm from your Druggist or write for it direct to us. National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Montreal. 4

It was been in poor health for the past few the Prime Minister's first public utmonths. Yesterday he took a turn for the worse, and, owing to his ad-vanced age, his physicians held out terance since his recent illness, and his only appearance in the present provincial campaign. It was not a political gathering. It was not a political gathering. It was, as Sir Adam Beck said, "a tribute to the man who has given the best of his life, yea, almost his life, for the people of Ontario."

Sir Adam Beck and Hon. I. B. Lucas made vigorous addresses. Sir James at the opening of his address was greeted with long and insistent applause. "I have just come here to-night to say that my health and strength be-ing practically restored," he said, "I am ready and desirous of continuing the work in which I and my col-leagues have been associated for the past ten years.

"Mr. Rowell is prepared to gamble for power on the condition of my health or ill-health," he declared. "He has said that the Conservatives never expected the Premier to recover."

"We have fulfilled every one of our pledges," said the Premier turning to the campaign issues. "We have carried out and performed all that we promised to do."

He referred to the university grant which he said had been increased four times, the agriculture grant swelled from $400,000 to a million.

"We have doubled the revenue, but we have not wronged anybody. We have not taken anything wronzfully but we have taken toll of the blessings which a kind Providence has laid on this country." The compensation act was unexcelled by any in the world, he continued. The hydro success was not a matter of hope, but of fact. In time, under Sir Adam Beck, power would be taken to the very doors of the peo-ple on the farm. So with the radials, which would gridiron the province.

Running quickly down the list of pledges fulfilled he came to the "gi-gantic scheme by which this maligned Government proposes to make 50,000 miles of good roads in Ontario." What did the province think of that?

he asked. The Premier then dealt with the liquor question, and gave the number of license reductions during the present regime, the Government amendments and their effect on the traffic.

He was vigorous in his denunciation of the participation in the fight of clergymen in the pulpits. "We have kept our faith and I presume now, for the fourth or fifth time, as we have promised that this question will never be let out of our sight, but from time to time, as opportunities arise, we will be careful to seize them and develop them as above partisanship in this contest. The Government has dissolved and called for an election, but we have made the issue."

Concluding his address, Mr. Row-ell declared: "I say to the man who believes that the bar is a curse, and yet who, for the sake of party, votes to retain the bar, that he must carry in his conscience to his dying day his share of responsibility for every home blighted, every life blasted, every child ruined by the continued existence of the open bar. "You cannot dodge the issue. The liquor traffic is lined up on one side, with all the resources it can com-mand. Organized Christianity is lined up on the other. You must ge to the polls and vote for one or the other. Now is your chance. Will you be patriots and Christians, and rise up and smite the traffic? If so, the 29th of June will mark the death signal of every open bar in the Pro-vince of Ontario?"

Bainbridge of 165 Shanley street at five o'clock yesterday afternoon. According to the information in the hands of the police the unfortunate child, along with another, lighted some bay in a stable. The child was unable to climb back

Mrs. Taylor saw the flames almost immediately and rushed to the stable to rescue her child, but her efforts were in vain.

They have a legal right, but no moral right to take them into the pulpit and denounce as bad citizens and worse than those who do not agree with them. Sir James discussed the question of bilingualism and assailed Mr. Rowell's position. Not a word had he said of bilingualism, as he was reported. Afraid likely to burn his fingers. In New Liskeard, however, he had said he would like to see his French-Canadian friends gain an education in their own language as well as in English. Sir James then restated the Government's attitude in Rule 17. The Premier's final word was a ersonal one to the people of Ontario. "Before I conclude, I would like to express my gratitude for the kindness shown me during my illness. This kindness was shown by both Conservatives and Liberals alike. Coming back as I did, by God's mercy, from the shadow of the valley, I am more impressed than ever with what I owe to the people of this province. They have given me confidence in full measure, heaped up, pressed down, shaken together and running over. As long as my health holds good I will be at their disposal. With a heart full to overflowing, may God bless you every one." Sir James took his seat amid a storm of applause. "This is not a political meeting in the ordinary sense," said Hon. I. B.

Lucas. "It is a reception to the Prime Minister. The thousands which throng the streets have come to welcome him out of respect for the work he has done for Ontario."

Sir Adam Beck dealt chiefly with the development of Hydro-Electric power. He said the previous Government had handed over the water power rights of the province to a group of exploiters and promoters, and not fo. the good of the people, and added that the public would have been a helpless community if the Whitney the recent proposed "Circular of Instruction." The reply says, in part:-"The proposed circular departs from the principles laid down by unanimous resolution of the Legislature adopted in March, 1911, which declared that "the English language shall be the language of instruction and of all communications with the pupils in the Public and Separate schools of the province, except where, in the opinion of the Department of Education, it is impracticable, by reason of pupils not understanding English."

"The circular, on the contrary. proposes that in schools where all or nearly all the pupils are of French origin. French shall be the language of communication and instruction in all the forms. It further proposes that French-speaking pupils in all schools shall be placed in separate classes from the English-speaking pupils, so as to form a separate section of the school. This would set up a Pellctier stated yesterday that he ex-pected a satisfactory arrangement vince on a racial basis, an organization not permitted under the school law, and one, moreover, in opposition to the declared policy of the Legislature."

HE DYED THE PEARL.

And Now Paris Dealers Are After the Expert's Scalp.

PARIS, June 20. - A commotion was caused among the pearl merchants in Paris to-day over a black pearl, the original commercial value of which was $1,500. This pearl has been manipulated by an expert known as a pearl-dyer, and when he finished with it it looked like one worth about $30,000. It was then offered for sale through the ordinary channels, with the intimation that owing to pressing need of ready moner, the owner would accept $6,000 for it. A charge was then laid against the owner and pearl-dyer by the president of the Paris Syndical Chamber of Dealers in Precious Stones.

This is now being considered by the judge. When the pearl-dyer was told of the charge he said he had improved the pearl by a special secret process invented by himself. He laugh-" ed at the idea of being charged. "Doc- urday, an' of these two were unactored pearls," he exclaimed. "Why, on the Paris market there are more than $100,000,000 worth of doctored pearls."
