GUMMERSON IN TROUBLE AGAIN

Refused Summons From Bailiff and Then Assaulted Him

Our Ex-Constable A W Gummer son, who has furnished the towwith considerable amusement i again in the limelight. A few days ago the bailiff, Mr Harry Merriefield received a Division Court is almost indispensisummons to serve on Gummerson but the Ex-Constable could not be located. Thursday, we understand, Mr Merrifield sacrificed his dinner in order to serve the summons and shortly after the noon hour he saw Gummerson going down Walton street. Mr Merrifield immediately approached him and explained his mission, but Gummerson refused to accept the summons and the bailiff hrew it at his feet. It is alleged that Gumme rson then assaulted the bailiff

MR. BLACK PLEASED MUSIC LOVERS

Sang in Three Churches and Was Greatly Appreciated

MR. NORMAN B. BLACK

The music lovers of Port Hope were given an exceptional treat or Sunday morning when Mr. N. B. Black, of Grand Forks, N. D., contributed four solos. The undertaking of four solos in three different churches within an hour is a large one, but Mr. Black realizing the many friends he had in each church endeavored to carry out their wishes and he did so nobly. He visited the Baptist and the Methodist churches concluding at St. Paul's with two solos. His work in the three church es was highly appreciated and his listeners regret that his visits to the town of his birth are not more frequent. His voice is a pure barione and the vocal organs of Mr Black must be of exquisite formation as he has resources in singing which command the study of the expert who has to hear all exponents and reject most of them. For softness and power, whisper and swell of tone Mr. Black possesses resources of exceptional value. Aside from his vocal talents he is a real good fellow and Port Hope will always be pleased to extend to him a hearty welcome. -

WENT TO COBOURG

Between for y and fifty members of Durham Lodge No. 78, I. O. O. F. went over to Cohourg and at-tended Divine service with their brethren of the sister town last Sunday evening. Service was held in the Baptist church, and Rev. Mr. Jury delivered a sound, practical sermon, taking as a basis for his remarks, the motto of the Order-"Friendship, Love and Truth." On returning to the lodge room, after the usual votes of thanks had been passed and responded to, lunch was served in the dining room to a large number.

The Noble Grand of Durham Lodge, Mr. R. Brown, took the occasion to present Bro. Arthur Milne, who has resided in Cobourg for a number of years, with a Veteran's Jewel, given to members who have been in continuous membership for twenty-five years. Bro. Milne was much pleased, and thanked the Noble Grand and members of Durham Lodge for their beautiful gift.

THOSE RUBBER BOOTS

City Father Takes Exception To Case Against Gummerson Was Guide's Article

We had a visit from one of our City Fathers, on Thursday, taking exception to our article regarding the action of the Council in purchasing the rubber boots out of town. He told us that it was only recently that a local shoe merchant purchased a large quantity of building ma-terial from an outside firm and that this same merchant took particular delight in telling the public how much he saved on the deal.

The Councillor may be quite cor-rect in his statements, but two wrongs do not make a right and we still feel it was rather bad business on the part of the Council. Some of the members raised strong objection to going outside for a policeman, (a very important office), but when it comes, as they think, to saving a few cents on some rubber boots, they rush the order to Montreal. Consistency! Consisency, &c.

John McCaffery Drowned Body Found in Water Near Cobourg.

Port Hope was startled, Sunday-to learn that John McCaffery, Wil liam street, an old and respected resident of the town, had met death in the waters of Lake Ontario, near Cobourg. Mr McCaffery left home on the 17th of March and went to Cobourg and nothing had been heard of him since. He had been seen about the streets of Cobourg on the afternoon of the St. Patrick's day but the residents of the eastern town naturally expected that he had returned to Port Hope that evening,

A number of lads, while walking along the shore about one mile east of Cobourg, Sunday afternoon. saw a body floating a few feet from the shore. Chief Ruse was notified and when the remains were brought to the shore were identified as those of John McCaffery.

The body was in an advanced state of decomposition and identification was made possible by some papers and a bank book found on his person.

The remains of the late John McCaffery, who was drowned in Lake Ontario and was found about a mile east of Cobourg on Sunday, were interred in St. Mary's cemetery here Tuesday morning.

The late Mr. McCaffery left Port Hope on the 17th March and was seen in Cobourg that day. . He had $175.00 when leaving Port Hope and during the afternoon deposited $130 of it in one of the Cobourg banks. $8.00 and a quantity of silver were found in the clothing.

North King and Caspian to be Taken Off

No Boat Service to Rochester

The North King and Caspian, it is announced, will be operated on the Bay of Quinte and Thousand Islands line out of Charlotte. It was announced during the winter that it was likely that the Caspian would be put on the St. Lawrence-Quebec route, but the plan has been changed in order to give a nightly service out of Charlotte to the bay and islands. The service will be opened, it is expected, about the middle of June.

[According to the above, Port Hope will be without boat service to Rochester. The Board of Trade and Council should get busy or this matter at once.]

Dismissed

Ex-Chief A. W. Gummerson appeared in the Police Court last Tuesday, charged with assaulting and beating Bailiff Merrifield while in the exercise of his duties. Mr. Merrifield had a Division Court summons from Toronto to serve on Gummerson but notwithstanding his numerous visits and telephone calls to the Gummerson residence he was unable to locate the defendant. ## Detroit Police Believe They Have The Man

Who Started Fire in Which Walter Libby Met His Death

The mysteries surrounding the fire in the Houghton Elevator Co.'s five-story building at 55-55 Wood-bridge street, Detroit, Mich., in which Mr. Walter Libby, eldest son of Mr. Walter Libby, Peterboro, and formerly of Port Hope, lost his life as did James Law, a fellow workman and practically every supposed incendiary fire in that city during the past year and also the murder of Patrolman Fred Holwedel are believed to be cleared up in the arrest of George A. Kelley, dis charged city fireman of 824 Lafayette Avenue, Detroit, who is said by the police to be a dangerous maniac with a homicidal tendency. The Detroit Journal says:

Anonymous letters written to the police, supposedly by Kelley, detail-ed the "confession" of the writer to having committed these crimes.

Following clues furnished them in the shape of three letters, addressed to Capt. Robert S. Palmer of the detective bureau, Detectives Grossman, Plies, Gill and Quin brought about the arrest of Kelley and also took, the man's brother, William Kelley, 32, 824 Lafayette boule-vard, and John Hanrahan, 38, no home, both of whom are held as ed by Capt. Palmer, telling of the fires which the writer claimed to have started, show the writing on them and the writing of George A. | Simpson, John White Dickie to Kelley to be indentical. The letters are scrawled in pencil on cheap wrapping paper and while fairly legible and coherent, denote the mania with which the arrested man seems afflicted. He was discharged from the fire department and has been continually brooding over it.

Insane conning is written on every feature of the man and he apparently takes delight in the man-ner in which he evades answers to the direct questions put to him by the dtectives.

Partial accounts of every large fire in Detroit and the manner in which the blaze was started by him are given in the letters written to the captain of detectives shortly before Kelley's arrest. The last of these was the Fort Street Presbyterian church fire, which followed the incendiary fire of Belle Isle, which the letter writer declares he started

STRANGE WOMAN IS PICKED UP ON STREET

The police of Hamilton, who are endeavoring to learn the identity of a woman who was picked up on the streets of that city a week ago and whose identity is a mystery, have secured a probable clue to a solution of the mystery from Lakefield. A traveller named J. C. Kinsella, who stopped at Lake-field, Friday, wired the Hamilton authorities that he lost his wife in Hamilton a week ago, and thinks she is the woman confined to the hospir. The Hamilton authorities are taiting further word from Mr. Kirsella.

A regular storm period covers the 5th to the 10th, having its centre on the 7th. On and touching the 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th, there will be threatening variations in the readings of the thermometer and barometer, and there will be danger of violent storms in proportion to the extreme indications of these faithful instruments. The Moon is on the celestial equator on the 6th, in perigee on the 8th, and full on the 9th. These facts greatly increase probabilities of very active storms on and about those dates. The Mercury and Jupiter periods will also add to the fierceness of atmospheric and electrical probations at this time. Change to much cooler, followed by frost northward, may reasonably be counted on, in the wake of, and for several nights after the storms. See if a wave of abnormally cold weather does not spread from the northwest, far into the eastern and southeastern sections of the country, from about the 9th to the 11th of May.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 12th, 13th and 14th. There are no other marked causes of disturbance at this period, except, of course, the continued presence of the Jupiter influence, and the fact that all the central parts of our continent are in the focus of solar energy during the months of May and June. Without the assistance of a reliable barometer, and intelligent, careful observation at the time, there is no telling what any of these sudden, active May storms may develop into. Keep a watch on telegraphic reports generally and see if the "seismograph fiends" do not report something doing in the way of earth tremours, with the compass of this period. On Friday Samuel Fusco, fruit dealer, appeared before Police Magistrate Jackson charged with selling fermented cider.

He was represented by Mr. L. V. O'Connor. License Inspector Thornbury laid the information and had samples of the cider sent to the ations. License Dept., Toronto, for analysis, where it was found to be of sufficient strength to cause intoxication. Mr. Fusco assured the Court that he bought the beverage from a Hamilton firm as sweet cider, and had no idea whatever that it was of the quality the License Dept. declared it to be. Had he been cognizant of that fact, he would never have sold it.

The Magistrate pointed out that the law had been broken and no other course was, left open to him but to impose a fine of $100. Mr. G. H. Hopkins, K.C., conducted License Dept.

HOGS WITHOUT

TAILS COME NEXT

Meat dealers of this town will, in the near future, buy their pork minus the tail and a small piece of the backbone meat, as the Chicago packers, who control practically all the trade of the continent, have decided to sell the tail and backbone separately from the hog. Such is the word received here. It is hardly likely that consumers will buy this latest style of "cats," so it may be taken for granted that the tails will be used for canned meats.

Mr. W. McCracken, of the Gordon-Davies Company, in discussing the latest move on the part of the packers, stated that it had not taken effect here as far as he could

"At present we get everything but the squeal, but conditions are changing so rapicly that the tailless hog will no doubt become universal. A few years ago we could hardly give liver away. To-day we can hardly secure enough to meet the demand, and we get five cents a pound for it. In Toronto it is worth ten and twelve cents," said Mr. McCracken.-Lindsay Post.

Commercial messages will be accepted in a few weeks time right through to the Pacific Coast, but we did not want to open up before we could give the public a really first class service. Railway men, like workers in other spheres, are gratified when they find that their efforts to attend to the comfort of the travelling public are appreciated. Mr. E. J. The letter said:-

Seven Thought to Have Perished on Schooner Wm. Jamieson.

NO WORD SINCE TUESDAY

Coal-laden Boat From Oswego to Napanee Believed to Have Foundered In Tuesday Night's Gale-Patrol Fails to Locate Trace of "Noble" - Str. Compton Wrecks Lock at Welland.

KINGSTON, May 1 .- It is feared that the schooner William Jamieson. owned and sailed by Captain "Jack" McCullough of Napanee, foundered between Duck Island and Long gale, when en route from Oswego to to Napanee with coal, and that all aboard were lost.

Those on board the vessel were Capt. Johnston McCullough and wife, David Hearns, William Hearns and wife, and "Jack" Johnson, a young negro, all of Napanee, and a Toronto man whose name is not known. William Hearns is a nephew of Mrs. Mc-Cullough.

The Jamieson has been engaged in the coal trade for many years, and was always regarded as a first-class boat. She was laid up at Napanee all last winter, and underwent extensive

The Jamieson loaded 234 gross tons of coal at the Delaware & Hudson elevator in Oswego, and cleared Tuesday afternoon for Napanee, the coal being consigned to Charles Stevens, coal merchant of that town, but since the time of her clearing nothing is known of her, and as no trace whatever up till the present can be found of the schooner it is feared that she went down. The vessel cleared from Oswego in fine weather, but during Tuesday night it blew a hard gale. Under ordinary circumstances the schooner should have reached Napanee on Wednesday morning. Thursday morn-Ing inquiry was made at Brighton, where it was believed the vessel would go for shelter if in trouble, but the report given there was to the effect that the vessel had not been seen in that vicinity. As a result of this information the worst was feared.

The schooner Keewatin, en route from Oswego to Kingston, was in the upper gap, loaded with coal, and ran into the bay for shelter, followed by the schooner Julia B. Merrill, from Sodus for Kingston. The latter vessel became unmanageable and rammed into the Keewatin and almost sent her to the bottom. The Kee-watin reached Adolphustown, pumps being kept busy all the while. The Donnelly Wrecking Co. later towed the vessel to Collins' Bay where the cargo of coal is to be reloaded.

The tug Umbria, owned by Fallon Brothers, contractors, ran ashore near Carlton Island on her way from Cape Vincent to Kingston. The crew of four is safe.

DULUTH, Minn., May 1 .- Though long stretches of beach were patrolled from daylight yesterday, no new wreckage from the lost steamer Benjamin Noble came ashore, nor were any bodies seen. Rumor Fixes Last Week in Month as Polling Date.

WHITNEY AT PROROGATION

Prime Minister Springs a Surprise on Legislature by Entering Chamber and Taking His Seat-Report Has It That Monday, June 29th, Will Be Set For Contest - House Closes.

TORONTO, May 2. - With Sir James Whitney sitting once more in his accustomed place, the Ontario Legislature prorogued yesterday. Nothing took place beyond the usual ceremonles demanded by the occasion and the Premier, beyond shaking hands warmly with his old associates and friends who had come for the closing, took no official share in the proceedings. A touch of his old vigar was manifest in his bearing, but every care was 'aken that he should not unduly exert himself.

A rumor was current here yesterday afternoon and evening that the Government had settled upon the last week in June for a general election, but neither confirmation nor denial could be secured. One statement was made that Monday, June 29th would be the polling day. It was also sug-gested that Sir James Whitney would appear at least once upon the platform during the campaign.

Cannon roared forth as usual in the park as the Lieutenant-Governor entered the chamber and mounted the dais of the Speaker. Hon. W. J. Hanna, in his capacity of Provincial Secretary, presented the scroll, and after the vice-regal assent had been given to the bills passed during the session he pronounced the pror. ation.

The assemblage was somewhat smaller than usual, the Government members being confined to a baker's dozen or so, who had stayed over the intervening day. The Opposition was represented by Mr. Rowell, who sat in his seat with a red rose in his lapel. Shortly to his left Allan Studholme, the Labor member, who has never neglected such an occasion, sat amid empty chairs.

A small galaxy of fashion added to the color of the sober hued chamber. Lady Gibson and the Misses Gibson sat to the immediate right of the dais, and Sir James was accom-panied by Miss Norah Whitney. The Cabinet Ministers, with the exception of Hon. I. B. Lucas, grouped them selves about the Premier.

During the session there have been 140 bills passed, of which 50 were assented to some time ago. There have been 28 night sittings, three of which have been all night, and 46 day sessions.

OUR STORY

Like every intelligent woman, force the worth of her physical exercises, at which her companions in the chamber scoffed, with the prudent warning that more work must mean more appetite. With arms still aching from the lifting of heavy bolts of cloth to and fro from the shelves, she nevertheless was at pains nightly to brush with the appointed two hundred strokes the thick masses of her hair. Even here, in the sordid desolation of the cell, the lustrous sheen witnessed the fidelity of her care So, in each detail of her, the keen observer might have found adequate reason for admiration. There was the delicacy of her hands, with fingers tapering, with nails perfectly shaped, neither too dull nor too shining. And there were, too, finally, the trimly shod feet, set rather primly on the floor, small, and arched like those of a Spanish Infanta. In truth, Mary Turner showed the possibilities at least, if not just now, the realities, of a very beautiful wo-

Naturally, in this period of grief, the girl's mind had no concern with such external merits over which once she had modestly exulted. All her present energies were set to precise recollection of the ghastly experience into which she had been thrust.

In its outline, the event had been tragically simple.

There had been thefts in the store. They had been traced eventually to a certain department, that in which Mary worked. The detective was alert. That was enough. She was charged with the theft. She protested innocence-only to be laughed at in derision by her accusers. Every thief declares innocence. Mr Gilder himself was against her. The thieving had been long continued. An example must be made. The girl was arrested.

The crowded condition of the court calendar kept her far three months in the Tombs, awaiting trial. She was quite friendless. To the world she was only a thief in duress. At last, the trial was very short. Her lawyer was merely an unfledged practitioner assigned to her defense as a formality of the court. ## CHAPTER II.

A CHEERFUL PRODIGAL.

That which was the supreme tragedy to the broken girl in the cell merely afforded rather agreeable entertainment to her former fellows of the department store. Mary Turner throughout her term of service there had been without real intimates, so that now none was ready to mourn her fate. Even the two room-mates had felt some slight offense, since they sensed the superiority of her, though vaguely. Now, they found a smug satisfaction in the fact of her disaster as emphasizing very pleasurably their own continuance in respectability.

As many a philosopher has observed, we secretly enjoy the misfortunes of others, particularly of our friends, since they are closest to us. Most persons hasten to deny this truth in its application to themselves. They do so either because from lack of clear understanding they are not quite honest themselves, from lack of clear introspection, or because, as may be more easily believed, they are not quite honest in the assertion. As a matter of fact, we do find a singular satisfaction in the troubles of others. Contemplation of such suffering renders more striking the contrasted well being of our own lot. We need the pains of others to serve as background for our joys -just as sin is essential as the background for any appreciation of virtue, even any knowledge of its this new arrival on the scene. And existence. . . . So now, on the in the patent chagrin under which day of Mary Turner's trial, there the son now labored; was to was a subtle gaiety of gossipings to be found a certain indication of charand fro through the store. As for that, Smithson, while the possessor of a dignity nourished by years of floorwalking, was not given to the holding of vigorous opinions. Yet, his comment, meager as it was, stood wholly in Mary's favor. And he spoke with a certain authority, since he had given official attention to the girl.

Smithson stopped Sarah Edwards, Mr Gilder's private secretary, as she was passing through one of the departments that morning, to ask her if the owner had yet reached his

"Oh, yes, I remember now," Smithson exclaimed. Then he added, with a trace of genuine feeling, "I the future must determine. There hope the poor girl gets off. She showed now only this one was a nice girl-quite the lady, you significant fact: that, in the know, Miss Edwards."

"Will you please let me know when Mr Gilder arrives? There are one or two little matters

I wish to discuss with him." "All right!" Sarah agreed briskly, and she hurried on toward the private office. The secretary was barely seated at her desk when the violent opening of the door startled her, and, as she looked up, a cheery voice cried out: "Hello, Dad!"

At the same moment, a young man entered, with an air of carefree assurance, his face radiant. But, as his glance went to the empty arm-chair at the desk, he halted abruptly, and his expression changed to one of disappointment.
"Not here!" he grumbled. Then, once again the smile was on his lips as his eyes fell on the secretary, who had now risen to her feet in a flutter of excitement.

"Why, Mr Dick !" Sarah gasped. "Hello, Sadie !" came the genial salutation. The young man advanced and shook hands with her warmly. "I'm home again. Where's

Beyond that, as yet, there was little to be said of him with exactness. He was a spoiled child of fortune, if you wish to say so. Certainly, he was only a drone in the world's hive. Thus far he had enjoyed the good things of life, without ever doing aught to deserve them by contributing in return save by his smiles and his genial air and happiness. In the twenty-three years of his life, every gift that money could lavish had been his. If the sum total of benefit was small, at least there remained the consoling fact that the harm was even less. Luxury had not sapped the strength of him. He had not grown vicious, as have so many of his fellows among the sons of the rich. Some instinct held him aloof from the grosser vices. His were the trifling faults that had their origin chiefly in the joy of life, which manifest occasionally in riotous extravagancies, of a sort actually to harm none, nowever absurd and useless they may be. So much one might see by a glance into the face. He was well groomed, of course; healthy, all a-tingle with vitality. And in the clear eyes, which avoided no man's gaze, nor sought any woman's unseemly, there tary's answer, with the terseness characteristic of her.

The observer would have realized at once that here was a man obviously fitted to the control of large affairs. 'THE EDITOR,
"The New York Herald.

The secretary nodded energetical-"Yes," she agreed in her brisk manner, "that's what you have given every year for the last ten years." The statement impressed Gilder pleasantly. His voice was more mellow as he made comment. His heavy face was radiant, and he smiled complacently.

"Ten thousand dollars to this one charity alone!"he exclaimed. "Well, it is pleasant to help those less for-tunate than ourselves." He paused, evidently expectant of laudatory corroboration from the secretary. But Sarah, though she could be tactful enough on occasion, did not choose to meet her employer's anticipations just now. For that matter, her intimate services permitted on her part some degree of familiarity with the august head of the establishment. Besides, she did not stand in awe of Gilder, as did the others in his service. No man is a hero to his valet, or to his secretary. Intimate association is hostile to hero-worship. So, now, Sarah spoke nonchalantly, to the indignation of the philanthropist: · "Oh, yes, sir. Specially when you make so much that you don't miss it."

Gilder's thick gray brows drew lown a frown of displeasure, while his eyes opened slightly in sheer surprise over the secretary's unexpected remark. He hesitated for only an instant before replying with an air of great dignity, in which was a distinct note of rebuke for the girl's presumption. "The profits from my store are large, I admit, Sarah. But I neither smuggle my goods, take rebates from railroads, conspire against small competitors, nor do any of the dishonest acts that disgrace other lines of business. So long as I make my profits honestly, I am honestly entitled to them, no matter how big they are."

The secretary, being quite content with the havoc she had wrought in her employer's complacency over his charitableness, nodded, and contented herself with a demure assent to his outburst. "Yes, sir," she agreed very meek-

Gilder stared at her for a few seconds, somewhat indignantly. Then, he bethought himself of a subtle form of rebuke by emphasizing his generosity.

"Have the cashier send my usual five hundred to the Charities Organization Society," he ordered. With this new evidence of his generous virtue, the frown passed from his brows If, for a fleeting moment, doubt had assailed him under the about." spur of the secretary's words, that doubt had now vanished under his habitual conviction as to his sterling worth to the world at large.

It was therefore, with his accustomed blandness of manner that he presently acknowledged the greetng of George Demarest, the chief of the legal staff that looked after the firm's affairs. He was aware without being told that the lawyer had called to acquaint him with the issue in the trial of Mary Turner.

"Well, Demarest?" he inquired,

The management wishes again to draw attention on the part of its employees to the fact that honesty is always the best policy. . . Got that?"

Yes, sir." The secretary's voice was mechanical, without any trace of feeling. She was not minded to disturb her employer a second time this morning by injudicious com-

"Take it to Smithson," Gilder continued, "and tell him that I wish him to attend to its being posted according to my directions at once.' Agein, the girl made her formal response in the affirmative, then left the room.

Gilder brought forth a box of cigars from a drawer in the desk, opened it and thrust it toward the waiting lawyer, who, however, shook his head in refusal, and continued to move about the room rather restlessly. Demarest paid no attention to the other's invitation to a seat, but the courtesy was perfunctory on Gilder's part, and he hardly perceived the perturbation of his caller, for he was occupied in selecting and lighting a cigar with the care of a connoisseur. Finally, he spoke again, and now there was an infinite contentment in the rich voice.

"Three years- three years! That ought to be a warning to the rest of the girls." He looked toward Demarest for acquiescence.

The lawyer's brows were knit as he faced the proprietor of the store. "Funny thing, this case!" he ejaculated. "In some features, one of the most unusual I have seen since I have been practicing the law."

The smug contentment abode still on Gilder's face as he puffed in leisurely ease on his cigar and uttered a trite condolence.

"Very sad!-quite so! Very sad case, I call it." Demarest went on speaking, with a show of feeling: "Most unusual case, in my estimation. You see, the girl keeps on declaring her innocence. That, of course, is common enough in a way. But here, it's different. The point is, somehow, she makes her protestations more convincing than they

seems to me."

Gilder smiled tolerantly. "They didn't ring very true to the ury, it would seem," he retorted. And his voice was tart as he added: "Nor to the judge, since he deemed it his duty to give her three years."

"Some persons are not very sensitive to impressions in such cases, I admit," Demarest returned, coolly. If he meant any subtlety of allusion pierce the armor of complacency.
"The stolen goods were found in Naturally, she says some one else must have put of exact reasoning, that is quite within the measure of possibility. Bobcaygeon Independent That sort of thing has been done countless times."

Gilder sniffed indignantly. "And for what reason?" he de manded. "It's too absurd to think

"In similar cases," the lawyer answered, "those actually guilty o the thefts have thus sought to throw suspicion on the innocent in order to avoid it on themselves when the pursuit got too hot on their trail. Sometimes, too, such evidence has been manufactured merely to satisfy a spite against the one unjusting accused."

"It's too absurd to think about. Gilder repeated, impatiently. "To judge and the jury found no faul with the evidence."

Demarest realized that this advo cacy in behalf of the girl was hard! fitting on the part of legal repres to have robbed, so he abruptly

"She says that her record of five years in your employ ought to count something in her favor." "Judge Lawlor gave her three, Gilder, however, was not disposed to be sympathetic as to a matter so flagrantly opposed to his interests. "A court of justice has decreed her guilty," he asserted once again, in his ponderous manner. His emphasis indicated that there the affair end-Demarest smiled cynically as he strode to and fro.

"Nowadays," he shot out, we don't call them courts of justice: we call them courts of law.' Gilder yielded only a rather dubious smile over the quip. This much he felt that he could afford, since those same courts served his personal purposes well indeed. "Anyway," he delared, becoming genial again, "it's out of our hands. There's nothing we can do now."

"Why, as to that," the lawyer replied, with a hint of hesitation, "I am not so sure. You see, the fact of the matter is that, though I helped to prosecute the case, I am not a little bit proud of the verdict."

Gilder raised his eyebrows in unfeigned astonishment. Even yet,he was quite without appreciation of the attorney's feeling in reference to the conduct of the case.

"Why?" he questioned sharply.

C. P. R's New Service Between Toronto and Ottawa

An important chapter has been added to railway history in this country by the train service which was inaugurated on Thursday between Quebec and Toronto over the new C.N.R. line. This notable ups are killed in this way by flies. development, however, is but one of a series which it is expected will open up a new era between Toronto and the lakefront towns and to Ottawa and Montreal. The Canadian Pacific has finished its lakefront line from Agincourt (11 miles out of Union Station) to Glen Tay (7 miles this side of Perth), and will be giving a new and better service between Toronto and Ottawa via Whitby, Cobourg and Belleville.

Railway facility and convenience has always brought in its wake material prosperity, and it is confidentially anticipated that when the new conditions once get right under way the country traversed will appreciably benefit. What is believed to have the possibilities of exceedingly successful orchards lies between Whitby and Napanee, and the considerable farming and gardening interests are bound to receive a decided fillip.

SUMMER RESORTS HELPED.

As the towns embraced in this tract of country are ideal summer resorts, the advent of improved transportation, it can readily be conceived, is a factor of considerable value in this connection. Taking a broad view of this latest development, one does not need to be too sanguine to assert that the places which will be served have a much brighter future than before. Business people and others who have perforce to be often away advantage. The development referred to raises the possibility of the Grand Trunk making arrangements with the Canadian Northern for a direct Toronto-Ottawa service via the Grand Trunk to Trenton and then over the Canadian North-

Inquiry regarding the lakefront traffic failed to elicit anything of a complete nature as to what the regular arrangements will be. For the present, so far as the Canadian Northern are concerned, trains will be run between Toronto and Napanee, leaving the Oueen City at 0.30 and 4.50 respectively, and trains will arrive in Toronto at 11 o'clock in the morning and 9.15 at night. Messrs. Wm. Lech and Sons, Peterboro, have purchased over 7,000 muskrat pelts during the past week, paying from 37 to 40 cents each for them. About two thousand were secured from the Georgian Bay district, but the remaining 5,000 were trapped around Peterborough and adjoining counties. From the Indian River, Rice Lake and down the Otonabee, also from around Chemong Lake came the bulk of the pelts. While the catch is a little lighter than usual, the pelts are of a superior quality. The trappers have until May 10th to dispose of their catch, but trapping ceased on May 1st.

MILLBROOK'S NEW HOTEL IS OPENED

Millbrook Reporter

The long expected and anxiously awaited event was consummated last week when the "Waverley Inn" opened its doors to the public as a handsomely fitted-up, capacious and homey lodging place for the general public.

Since the advent of local option, the comfort and capacity of modern hotel necessities have not been sufficient to hold the business that rightly belongs to a town of the standing and requirements of Millbrook, and a few months ago Mr. J. C. Kells purchased the John Gillott & Son block and thoroughly remodelled and refitted it and furnished it as palatial as a city caravansary, and has turned it over to Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Dunsford, under whose management the pub lic are assured of every comfort and consideration.

FOSSAL BALM Goes Right to the Spot

If you have a cold in the head-if your nasal passages are inflamed, stuffed up, smarting—or if you suffer from chronic nasal catarrh—you can get quick relief by using Fossal Balm.

This is an antiseptic, healing salve put up in a collapsible tube so formed as to make it remarkably easy to use. When the elongated cap is removed it uncovers the nozzle-shaped end of the tube, about half an inch long. This is inserted in the nose and the tube squeezed gently, depositing a little of the Balm well up in the nasal passages.

A little rubbing of the nose, and the indrawn breath, distribute the Fossal Balm throughout the passages, where it comes directly into contact with the inflamed membranes and the germs of disease. The latter it kills—the former it soothes and heals. The smarting irritation disappears - the nostrils are cleared, making breathing easy-and the catarrhal conditions, if they exist, are corrected.

Brockville Times.

The death of whole litters of fox ranches is now reported, and has caused a decided alarm in fox-breeding circles in Canada. The loss is estimated at $300,000. The incident goes far to confirm the oft-expressed opinion of the Brockville Times that black fox breeding was a hazardous gamble owing to the impossibility of breeding animals of this sort in captivity with permanent success. Trying to get expensive pelts in this easy fashion has but two results: either they cannot be bred in numbers large enough to make big profits, or else they will be bred in such great quantities that the price will city, which is situated near Avonica, be cut down. ## NINETEEN MISSING

Thirteen Out of Thirty-Two Crew of Steamer Saved.

MYSTERY SHIP IDENTIFIED

Freighter Reported In Flames on the High Seas Was Columbian Out of Antwerp-S. S. Franconia Picks Up One Boatful of Survivors But Long Search Fails to Find the Other Boat.

BOSTON, May 6.—The mystery surrounding the identity of the steamer which has been on fire in the westbound transatlantic steamer lane south of Sable Island, for 48 hours, was solved last night when wireless messages from the Cunard liner Franconia, told of the burning of the freighter Columbian, from Antwerp, and the rescue of 13 members of her crew from a small boat. The death of Chief Steward Matthews, whose body the survivors had in charge, and the disappearance of a second boat, in which were 19 men, including the first and second officers, were also re ported.

Whether the number of missing was represented by those said to be in the second boat, was still uncertain last night. Estimates by officials of the Leyland and Phoenix lines, placed the number of the crew at between 45 and 50. The messages from the Franconia told of only 33 men, represented by the occupants of the two boats. It was thought possible that there was a third boat, commanded by Captain McDonald of the Colum-

The survivors were so exhausted by their experience that they could tell little of what had happened, and steamship officials expressed the opinion that the omission in the wireless messages of mention of the captain, migh: be laid to this fact. After rescuing the occupants of the first boat, the Franconia searched until night fall for the rest of the crew, but without result. Then Captain Miller of the Cunarder sent word ashore that he had given up the search and would proceed for Boston with the survivors and his 1,733 passengers. He said he expected to arrive at Boston Lightship at midnight

Search for the missing men of the Columbian had not been given up. however. Before turning for his destination, Captain Miller had notified the steamers Manhattan and Haverford, both eastbound, of the missing boats, and they sent word that they had changed their courses and were heading toward the burning steamer. Survivors On Franconia.

ON BOARD STEAMER FRANCO-NIA, via Sable Island, N.S., May 6 .-Those on board the Franconia are: James Drehan, wireless operator; Antone Elas, carpenter; Ivar Iverson. boatswain's mate; Ungus Prinze, Jens Jensen, A. Abelnik, quartermaster; Gustav Schriborm, donkeyman; Thos. Conner, Juri Lei and Arthur Brantik. able seamen: Antony Cordones and Bennett Rother, firemen, and Frank Wedskind, messroom steward.

The Columbian caught fire Sunday night, when about 300 miles south of Cape Race. A series of violent explosions followed almost immediately. Captain McDonald gave orders to the wireless operator, James Dreban, to send out calls for assistance, but one of the explosions put the wireless apoff the Columbian from communication with nearby ocean liners which might have gone to the rescue.

With the vessel belching flames and torn by the explosions, it soon beto Vigilance Association brought came evident that the crew could do this question before the Acting nothing to control the fire, and the order to abandon ship was given.

MUST CUI RATES.

Hydro Commission Insists On Obedience From Toronto.

TORONTO, May 6 .- Hydro-electric rate reduction in Toronto has won out. After a controversy extending since last November, an order was issued yesterday by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission for a reduction of rates to consumers of all classes approximating 10 per cent., to take effect June 1 next.

While the officials of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission were entirely non-committal on the events connected with the final passing of the order, it is generally understood that the situation arising out of the refusal of the Toronto Hydro-Electric Commissioners to carry out the recommendations contained in the letter of Hon. Adam Beck of Nov. 19 last, engendered much bitterness. For some time the matter was in statu quo, and then about six weeks since a conference was arranged between the Hydro-Electric Power Commission and representatives of the local commission to go into the question. That conference was anything but harmonious, and on its conclusion the local Hydro-Electric Commission undertook to submit data to back up their contention against a reduction of rates. This statement was received about ten days go and there was another meeting of the commission. which was characterized by more fireworks.

DUKE OPENS TOUR.

Series of Western Ontario Visits Begins In Windsor.

WINDSOR, May 6.—For the first time since 1860 Windsor entertained royalty yesterday in the person of H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught, Governor-General of Canada, and his daughter, the Princess Patricia. The welcome of the city was a whole hearted one. The weather, which in the early morning hours was threatening, broke towards noon, and the sun shone out bright and warm. It was an ideal afternoon, and the streets of the city were thronged by a gaily dressed crowd, in which Canadians and Americans fraternized democratically.

The formal proceedings were opened by Mayor Clay, who read a brief address of welcome on behalf of the municipalities of Windsor, Walkerville, Sandwich, Ford City, and Ojib-

Following the civic address, Hon. J. O. Reaume, Commissioner of Pub-lic Works for Ontario, read an illuminated address in French, expressing the welcome, the thanks and appreciation of the French-Canadian peo-

The Morning Post's comment is that it is a cleverly drafted electioneering document, while The Daily Telegraph charges the Chancellor with setting before the nation a system providing new and numerous benefits for one part of the community entirely at the expense of the other, and remarks that if anything will produce a population of greedy and irresponsible, spongers instead of an industrious working class, it will be statesmanship of this sort.

WHITE MEN MASSACRED.

Rising of Natives In Portuguese Congo Territory Causes Alarm.

ANTWERP, Belgium, May 6 .-Confirmation of a reported native revolt in the Portuguese Congo and the killing of twenty white men, including some Protestant and Catholic missionaries, was received here yesterday. Many other missionaries are said to have fled from the affected districts, according to a despatch from Boma, Belgian Congo.

The natives are led by a chief from San Salvador. The governor of An-gola attacked them, but was forced to retreat, and the natives continued their march toward the left bank of the Congo, burning all the stations on their way, and causing the small garrisons to flee before them.

Passengers who arrived from the Congo yesterday on board the steamer Anversville declared the situation in the Portuguese colony to be desperate, and that the revolt would be extremely difficult to suppress.

SPECULATION DISASTROUS.

Stock Trading Responsible For Dale Bank Crash Say Auditors.

MADOC, May 5 .- "Speculation on the Stock Exchange, which in the long run proved disastrous," is given by auditors as the cause of the failure of the Dale private bank here. It is said that ever since 1902 trading in stocks has been going on, sometimes unsuccessfully. Discrepancies of $201,955 between the last annual statement of the bank and the actual assets are reported by the auditors. Webb, Read, Callaghan, Hogan & Co. made public yesterday. The discre-pancies are on the following: Overdrafts, $3,231,737; current bills and loans, $58,321.28; Osler & Hammond, $384.48; debenture account $128,025.30; mortgage account, $10, 011.31; J. Western real estate investments also proved unfortunate. Fifty thousand dollars is tied up in this way and cannot be realized till prices again reach their height. No More Reimbursement.

to the Senate.

TORONTO, May 5.-Violent con-demnation of the Toronto Jail occuples the greater part of the re-port of Dr. R. W. Bruce Smith, Government Inspector of prisons, sent to the City Council and read yesterday. The report tells of a most lamentable condition of affairs, and recommends that unless a new fireproof jail be built at once, the Government withhold its grant for maintenance of prisoners. Parts of it read as follows:

"Conditions as they prevail to-day are a disgrace to any civilized community. During the past winter there have been nights when more men prisoners slept on the floor than in the cells of Toronto jail."
"There is no other jail in America where such conditions would be tolerated. Fancy 100 men under tence having to sleep every night during the past winter on the floor on mattresses."

"A modern, up-to-date fireproof fail must be built without delay, and I recommend to the Government that until these provisions are met the grant for maintenance of prisoners be

IS ANGRY WITH HUERTA.

Gen. Velasco Who Defended Torreon May Start a Revolt.

VERA CRUZ, May 5 .- The outbreak of another military revolt in Mexico, headed by Gen. Jose Refugio Velasco, who was recently driven out of Torreon by Francisco Villa, would not cause any great surprise in the Federal capital, according to conservative observers among the refugees who arrived here yesterday. Gen. Velasco is said to be grievously discontented concerning the failure of the Government in Mexico City to support him properly in the defence of Torreon, and he is declared to have stated that he would never again lead a column of troops against the rebels. The fall of Torreon and the subsequent disaster to the Federal troops are asserted by Gen. Velasco to have been entirely due to the failure of the War Department to heed his appeal for small arm ammunition at a time when he says it was perfectly feasible for it to have reached him.

THE L. LEEVE IN FRATEK

Warn Against Faith Healing.

LONDON, May 6 .- Spiritual faith and mental healing are dealt with in a report published yesterday by a committee, consisting of ten representatives of the Church of England and ten medical men, under the chairmanship of the Dean of Westminster, Dr. Ryle. The conclusions of the committee are: "The committee desire to express their belief in the efficacy of prayer. They reverently believe, however, that Divine power is exercised in confirmity with and through the operation of natural laws. Spiritual ministration should be recognized equally with medical ministration as carrying God's blessing to the sick. Health, bodily and mentally, is capable of being influenced for good by spiritual means.

"The physical results of what is called faith or spiritual healing do not prove on investigation to be different from those of mental healing or suggestion. The committee recognize that suggestion is more effectively exercised by some persons than by others, and this fact seems to explain the gifts of a special character claimed by various healers. While the religious influences do not essentially differ in operation from the non-religious appeals to the mind, yet the former may often be a most potent form of suggestion. The committee is forced to the conclusion that faith or spiritual healing is like all treatment by suggestion. It can be expected to be permanentl; effective only in cases of what are called functional disorders as distinct from organic ailments.

"Those who resort to healers therefore, are warned that they may thereby be postponing until too late to arrest organic disease. The committee desire to see increased importance attached to spiritual ministrations as a contributory means to recovery, but they strongly deprecate the independent treatment of disease by irresponsible and unqualified persons."

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

George J. Thorp was notified of his appointment as collector of customs for the port of Guelph yesterday. He succeeds the late Jeremiah Hallett.

First Steps Taken to Secure Peace in Mexico.

WAR PLANS GO FORWARD

Washington's Interest Is Divided Between Dignified Conclave at Agentine Legation and Military and Naval Preparations at the Capitol - Funston's Men Land at Vera Cruz.

WASHINGTON, April 29. - The Mexican crisis is now centreing on the issue between those who are seeking, through the good offices and intermediation of Latin-America, to find some middle ground for pacific adjustment, and those who regard a resort to arms as an inevitable conse quence of what has occurred.

Throughout the day two distinct branches of activity were manifest here—that of the envoys of Argentina, Brazil and Chile, in formulating a plan of adjustment to be submitted to the United States and the Huerta regime, and that of the military and naval forces of the United States, which continue to go forward steadily in preparation for any eventuality which may develop. The arrival of Gen. Funston and a brigade of 5.000 troops at Vera Cruz, was one of the notable military developments of the Chief interest was directed to the sessions of the South American envoys, lasting through the day and late into the evening. The meetings are held at the Argentina legation, where, seated about a long mahogany table, the three envoys deliberated much as an international court would weigh a case of supreme importance pending its decision.

At the White House President Wilson and his Cabinet advisers held a lengthy meeting, devoted chiefly, however, to the Colorado situation, although the Mexican crisis continued in the foreground. To a large extent, however, it was felt that the Mexican situation was now before those who had undertaken to exercise their good offices, and care was taken not to embarrass the efforts of the envoys by any announcements of conditions of settlement which the United States would insist upon. A spirit of optimism over the progress of the negotiations was distinctly apparent in executive quarters.

DUTY MUST STAY.

Fon. Mr. White Refuses New Bruns wick Request for Free Potatoes.

OTTAWA, April 30. - The House spent the day in committee of ways and means upon the tariff resolution presented by the Finance Minister at the close of his budget speech. Practically the entire sitting was taken up with the resolution presented Tuesday by Mr. Loggie (Northumberland, N.B.), providing that potatoes from the United States should be admitted free of duty when the governor-incouncil was satisfied that the present United States embargo upon Canadian potatoes had been removed. The debate was practically confined to Liberal members from New Brunswick and Conservative members from Ontario. Mr. Carvell (Carleton, N.B.) in support of the resolution said the effect of the Underwood law reduction to 10 per cent. had been to greatly stimulate the export of potatoes from New Brunswick. Unfortunately the embargo now excluded Canadian potatoes from the United States.

Mr. Lake (Muskoka) asked if the mbarge was justifiable. He thought it was the same old story, namely, that whenever Canadian imports commenced to come in the United States by some trick shut them out.

Mr. Best (Dufferin) spoke from the standpoint of the Ontario farmer. urging more protection instead of Dr. Edwards (Frontenac) also spoke for the Ontario farmer. He did not believe that the New Brunswick farmer would be well advised to tear down the tariff wall. He would find there was little demand in the United States for his potatoes.

Hon. Mr. White briefly indicated that the Government would not con-sider removing the duty on potatoes. He could not see why the United States Government should remove the embargo to secure the Canadian market, if Mr. Carvell was right in his contention that the United States did not produce enough potatoes to feed

The resolution was defeated.

Duke's Attack of Pneumonia Has Fatal Termination.

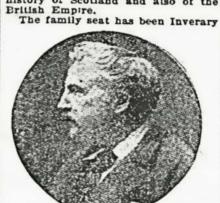

WAS MARQUIS OF LORNE

COWES, Isle of Wight, May 4 .-The Duke of Argyll, son-in-law of the late Queen Victoria, and former Governor-General of Canada, died Saturday night at East Cowes, aged 69. He had been critically ill for the past week with pneumonia.

James Douglas Sutherland Campbell, ninth Duke of Argyll, was descended from one of the oldest of Scottish families. One of his titles, Baron Campbell, came into the family in 1445, and another, Baron of Lorne, was created in 1457. He was also twenty-ninth Baron Lochow.

As head of the Clan Campbell, the Duke of Argyll was the descendant of a long line of chieftains, one of whom, Colin Campbell, Mac Caileanmhor, was knighted as far back as 1286, and whose descendants have since borne a prominent part in the history of Scotland and also of the

In 1868 he became Marquis of Lorne and entered Parliament. He was then twenty-three. He sat in the Commons for ten years, during four of which he was private secretary to his father, then Secretary of State for India in the first administration of Gladstone.

Many Canadians still remember the duke when, as Marquis of Lorne, he came to Canada in 1878 to be Governor-General of Canada. His consort was Princess Louise. Queen Victoria's daughter, and many people still have hung upon the walls of their homes pictures of the vice-regal pair. Coming after so popular a Governor-General as Lord Dufferin, it was all the more to the credit of the Marquis of Lorne that he was not in any wise overshadowed by his predecessor, but, on the contrary, distinguished himself in office and was of profit to this to his home in England. Born in Cuckfield, Sussex, England, on April 15, 1865, Rev. Charles Silvester Horne received his early education at Newport Grammar School. He subsequently studied theology at Mansfield College, Oxford, and gain-

SOLDIERS TO BE TRIED.

Eighty-Eight Colorado Militiamen Accused of Ludlow Outrage.

DENVER, Col., May 4-Prominent among the day's developments in Colorado's strike war are the preparations for the court-martialling and the arrest and trial in civil court of the eighty-six members of Company B," Colorado National Guards, who, with two officers of the state militia, were held responsible by the jury for the death of two women and eleven children in the burning tents of Ludlow, and the gathering of representatives for the special session of the Legislature, which open to-day,

That a resolution to impeach Governor Ammons will be introduced is virtually certain. Whether the House will adopt such a measure is still a question.

The report submitted Saturday night by the Military Commission, a board created by Governor Ammons himself, finding that the soldiers deliberately set fire to and looted the tents at Ludlow, where the women and children were cremated, will be urged as the strongest evidence of Ammons' alleged inability to govern the state.

When the Legislature assembles a body of 500 women will demand an audience. They are members of the Colorado Women's Peace Association. who sent a committee to Ludlaw to investigate the situation. The committee has returned with the report that not one-half of the horrors have been told.

BRITISH BUDGET TO-DAY.

Lloyd George's Estimates Will Be the Largest on Record.

LONDON, May 4 .- David Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, will introduce his sixth budget in the House of Commons tc-day. The estimates of the hational expenditure are expected to amount to about £210,-000,000 or £5,000,000 more than was spent by the country during the most expensive year of the Boer war. Just twenty years ago the annual national expenditure was £100,000,000 sterling. Increased taxation is a necessity for the Chancellor cannot count on such an increase in revenue as the trade boom brought last year. How Lloyd George plans to meet the heavy expenditure is yet an official secret, but it is generally believed that a feature of the next taxation will be a substantial increase in the super-tax on large incomes.

At present the super-tax of six pence on the pound is paid on incomes of £5,000 and upwards, but the first £3,000 is not charged.

The new budget is described in advance by Ministerial speakers as a 'popular" budget, being so held together that it is not likely that the taxes will contain any proposal tending to raise the cost of living for the wage-earners. A repeal of the remaining sugar duty in fact is predicted in some quarters, but in the best informed Liberal circles this is declared impossible under the present circumstances.

which is dated Kiev, May 1, says: "After the closing here of three private high schools for girls, 580 Jewish familes have been ordered to leave the city. Christian householders petitioned the Government in vain, to revoke the order, as the expulsion of Jews would mean the ruin of many house owners. Notable citte zens called on the local governor, Gen. Sokozkin to get his help for the Jews and the community, but they received a curt refusal."

Constitutionalist Leader Declines to Cease Hostilities Pending Mediation-U. S. Commander at Vera Cruz Sends Reinforcements to Defend Threatened Plant From Mexican Attack,

VERA CRUZ, May 4 .- After Saturday's acute alarm, when it was reported a considerable force of Mexicans had attacked the American outpost at the water plant, nine miles out, all was quiet here yesterday. Many of the American soldiers attended mass in the old cathedral in the morning, while in the afternoon great crowds attended the bull fight. The question of the food supply still occupied general attention, but it has not reached a stage which may be regarded as critical, although many products have run short. Strict orders were issued yesterday from headquarters for the American soldiers and marines in Vera Cruz and the vicinity to remain in the same positions and not to advance or to bring on an encounter with the Mexican troops. During the alarm over the flurry at the waterworks at El Tejar Sat-urday, detachments of marines and bluejackets were prepared for an immediate landing. Field guns were put into readiness for conveyance ashore, but at the last moment, when headquarters had established the fact that there was no need for assistance from the fleet, all orders were can-

A Curious Branch of the Fiery Vodka Traffic In Russia,

Since the edict of June 6, 1804, the production and sale of vodka, that flery drink in which most Russians delight have been controlled by the government. Of the 50,000 places engaged in the vodka traffic in European Russia more than one-half are conducted by the state under the direct supervision of the ministry of finance.

Most of the employees in the government vodka shops are widows and orphans of deceased officials of the state. These shops are conducted in an orderly manner, and no drinking is permitted on the premises. The fact that a charge ranging from 1 cent to 9 cents is made for the bottle in which the 'vodka is sold has given rise to a

The "broker" lends him the two kopecks to make up the desired amount, and, after the receptacle has been drained under the vigilant eye of the broker, the bottle is turned over to him. ## Where Hearing Ceases.

In England experiments have been made showing, it is said, that a vibration of sound having an amplitude of less than one twelve-millionth of a centimeter could still affect the sense of hearing. Such a vibration would be so short that it would have to be enlarged 100 times before the most powerful microscope would render it visible, supposing that it were susceptible of being seen at all. Aged persons, it is said, do not hear high notes which are audible to young people, and there is reason to believe that babies hear notes that are inaudible to their elders.

OFFER TO CARSON.

Churchill Invites Him to Submit a Federal : heme.

LONDON, April 29. - Much interest has been created by a new offer to Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader, made by Winston Spencer Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, in the c-ul e of a speech in the House of Commons last night. The Minister invited Sir Edward Carson to make an attempt to compromise the Home Rule question on the federal basis.

Mr. Churchill is reported to have spoken entirely for himself and without the authority of the Cabinet. Many of the Liberals are indignant at him for taking the course he did, contending that it will only be inter- ! part of the Government. John Rednew in Mr. Churchill's offer, but that men and reach an honerable settlement of the question.

The view of the Unionist leaders here is that Mr. Churchiill's offer must have been debated in a Cabinet Council held earlier in the day. They believe it entirely changes the situation and improves the prospect of an greement being reached. Andrew Bonar Law, the Opposition leader in the House of Commons, is said to be ready to renew negotiations with Pre-mier Asquith if the Government will take the initiative.

These troops, which will go ou; without their horses, will arrive probably some time to-day.

The proclamation enjoins "good citizens of the United States against aiding, countenancing, sheltering or taking part in such unlawful proceedings.'

BYE-ELECTIONS LOOM UP.

Liberal and Unionist Seats Opened Up by Deaths.

LONDON, April 29. - The death yesterday of W. E. Harvey, the miners' representative from Northeast Derbyshire, creates a vacancy in the Parliamentary representation of Northeast Derbyshire. The late member's majority was 1.750 over Dr. Court, local Unionist, who has several times contested the seat. The byeelection will be rather piquant. Harvey joined the labor party, but supported Barnet Kenyon, in the neighboring Ilkeston division, who is now classed as a Liberal. Both sides in Grimsby are unpre-pared for an election through the death of Sir George Doughty. Berkeley Sheffield is spoken of as the Unionist candidate. Witness after witness told the coroner that the state militia delib-erately fired the tents where it was known the women and children had taken refuge from the bullets of the machine guns.

Mrs. Pearl Jolly, leader of the woen in the Ludlow colony, described dramatically the attack upon the colony and its terrible results. On the witness-stand she was calm, showing not the least trace of excitement. Her story was well connected throughout.

A former stenographer for the military commission which investigated the murders at the beginning of the strike seven months ago testified that he had heard one of the state army officers direct that the tents be burned.

Major Holbrook did not formally demand that the strikers surrender their arms yesterday. William Dia-mond, head of the Trinidad Union of the United Mine Works, ho vever, informed the major that the arms would not be surrendered.

C.N.R. Agents Want Liberals to Put Up a "Shamfight"

Guarantees to Mackenzie-Mann Railroad Are the Sole Topic of Discussion In Corridors of Parliament -Sir Wilfrid Laurier Points Out Difference In Resolutions-Seeks Information.

OTTAWA, May 2 .- Parliamentary

Interest is still concentrated upon Mackenzie, Mann and Lash and their throb with discussion and debate. There is no longer any doubt that the proposal to mulct the country's credit for another forty-five millions will meet with determined and bitter opposition. There will be a real fight. Many of the lobbyists are "back again." This time they are concentrating on the Liberals. They want a shamfight-if fight there is to be. And they want Mr. R. B. Bennett silenced, or his threatened speech censored before its delivery.

The general concern regarding developments was manifested by the crowded galleries which, following a rumor that "the deal" would be before the House this afternoon, greetthe assembling of Parliament. When the resolutions were read, however. Premier Borden allowed them to stand over.

The Canadian Northern legislation was twice mentioned in the House yesterday afternoon. First, Mr. Claude Macdonnell (South Toronto) rose to a question of privilege. He said his name had been mertioned with other Conservative members as being opposed to the Canadian Northern deal. The charge, he said, was entirely without foundation, and he desired to say that he would heartily support the proposals of the Govern-

Wilfrid Laurier complained that the resolution as now upon the order paper did not correspond with the resolutions printed in the votes and proceedings. In the latter it was represented that certain railway lines, together with their rolling stock and equipment, were pledged to the Gov-ernment, but these were not included in the list printed in the order paper.

Mr. Borden said in reply that the resolutions first printed were not entirely accurate and he had directed the Solicitor-General to amend the same. He intended, of course, that the formal notice amending the mo-tion should be given, and that course would now be followed.

Sir Wilfrid then asked that certain information be supplied the House before there was any debate on the resolution. He desired to have copies of certain trust agreements mentioned in the contract between the Government and the Canadian Northern and also copies of standing agreements between the railway company and its contractors. Mr. Borden said that all the pos-sible information would be furnished without delay. No date was agreed upon as to when the debate should begin, but it is a fair surmise from what occurred in the House yesterday afternoon that the resolutions will not be taken up for several days. Indeed the amendd recolutions will have to again at pear in the votes and proceedings be fore they can be transferred to the order paper.

At the opening of the House yes terday afternoon Hon. W. T. White, Minister of Finance, said that the newspapers had misinterpreted his announcement respecting the future readjustment of the iron and steel duties. He had not intended to foreshadow any tariff revision but merely to say that when the duties upon structural iron and steel were increased by order-in-council a year or two hence some consequental changes in other tariff items would necessarily follow.

He further stated that the tariff resolutions reported from the ways and means committee Thursday night embodied all the tariff changes to be made at this session. A bill to amend the Customs Tariff Act of 1907 founded upon those resolutions was then latroduced and read a first time.

The House entered into committee of supply on the I. C. R. estimates, and a number of items were passed. Judge Mackenzie (Lib., N. Cape Breton and Victoria) complained at the great congestion of freight at the Strait of Canso. He said that Sir John Macdonald had built a monument to himself in Cape Breton by bridging the Grand Narrows, and he hoped that Dr. Reid, as acting Minister of Railways, would create a similar monument to himself by the c' struction of a bridge at Canso.

his brother. "Up to the discovery of the papers we received no assistance from Mr. Moyes," said Chairman McIntyre in closing the inquiry, "nor from any other official except Mr. McEwen. THE WORST MAY COME YET .--Now, after three years, the people of all sections of Canada realize now sadly they have been duped by the flag-flappers' cry of 'let well enough alone." Unfortunately, it has not been growing worse from year to year, and, although the Minister of Finance, in announcing his big interest budget, with favors for the plutocrats and nothing for the plain people, was seemingly optimistic, there are men of weight and standing in the country who fear that the worst is yet to come. -Halifax Chronicle.

They were immediately seized by the ushers and ejected, screaming and fighting their captors.

If the car had not been noticed, and left in its position on the main line at might have been a serious matter in the event of a train running into it .-Uxbridge Journal.

This was There were selections on the consubmitted to the citizens in the form of a by-law, which was carried by a large majority. This is a beneficial reform which ought to be adopted by the whole country. The daylight-saving plan would hurt nobody, and would be a boon to nearly all of the

When the police court was opened on Monday morning a bright-eyed, refined-looking woman of probably twenty, named Winnifred MacRiven, was called upon to answer to a charge of disorderly con-duct in Patterson street, at midnight on Saturday. When picked up by the police she was screaming and making the neighbourhood ring with her words, which were not the choicest. Winnifred, who comes from Midland, to which town she was sent a short time ago, will not be back for six months, a sentence of that duration to the Mercer Reformatory having to be fulfilled in meantime.
