By an accident at the torch light proces on on Wednesday night, a serious com plication was imminent, but as it turned out no one was hurt and the incident was as thoroughly enjoyed by all who were witnesses to it, as any feature of the regular programme. But serious accident was only avoided by the promptness and cour-age of those in charge of the waggon containing the exploding bombs, for had the horses got away among the great crowd of spectators on Walton street, every horse standing on the street would likely have become frightened, and plunging among the people injured many. The escape was a very narrow one.

The first day of the fair was devoid of thousands who gathered at the foot of the monument of our hero signified their deep interest and concern in the event, by round after round of applause. Some good speaking ensued, and everybody was pleased with the ceremony.

At two o'clock the park was thronged by an immense crowd at 25 cents per head. The exhibition was good in many features but owing to the early date at which the show was held, entries for farm products were not as numerous, nor of as meritorious a nature, as could be wished for. However, it is hoped this will be ob-mentorious a nature, as could be wished for. However, it is hoped this will be obviated another year.

The horse races were immense, and were appreciated to the full. Good time was made, and a good field out. Never before did our magnificent driving park show off to such good advantage, and its beauty and commanding position were the admiration of all.

The decorations in honor of the Premier were varied and fitting. Port Hope was arrayed in gorgeous holiday attire, and both by decorations and enthusiasm did honor to Canada's greatest chieftain, Sir John A. Macdonald.

TUESDAY'S PROGRAMME.

The base ball tournament opened on Tuesday afternoon and attracted quite a number of sporting enthusiasts. The first game was between the Independents (Cobourg) and the Orono Clubs, of which the following is the second

THE UNVEILING CEREMONY.

The town was liberally decorated, and it was a gay scene that met the incomers. Flags were flying everywhere, bands were playing and crowds were restlessly pushing their way along the sidewalks. The centre of attraction, of course, was the market square, where the flag-draped statue raised its bronze sword. The public must now be as familiar with the statue as words can make it.

On the pedestal is this inscription:-TO COMMEMMORATE.

The devoted patriotism and heroic bravery of LINETENANT COLONEL

Commanding the and Bestalion of Volunteer Militia, who, or gellantly leading the victorious and ecisive charge at the battle of Batoche during the Rebellion in the Northwest Territories. Died of sickness contracted in the disch has duty near Fort Fitt, N. W. T., on the 4th July, 1885.

The pedestal is placed on a raised mound and is surrounded with green sod and bright colored flowers. It is on the east side of the Town Hall and the walls of the building were hung with bunting and flags, while these legends were displayed:—
"The Hero of Batoche" and "His life was given for his Country."

The square was crowded and every vautage point was occupied. Seats near the platform were arranged for the ladies, the platform were arranged for the ladies, but after the first ten minutes their only use to the ladies was to stand upon them to enable them, at the expense of the view of those behind, to see over the heads of those who had pushed in front of them.

Before the ceremony, Col. Benson marched up 250 men of the 46th—Col. Williams' own corps—and they took their places near the platform. At their head were the 57th and the 46th Battalion Bands.

Crowding around the platform were hundreds of rugged old settlers, friends of the late Col. Williams and of his father before him. They had known him in his boyhood

STR JOHN'S REPLY.

Sir John's REPLY.

Sir John was again given a welcome of the heartiest kind as he received the address from the clerk. In replying, the Chieftain said he scarcely needed to say that he heartily appreciated the cordial address which they had accorded to him. He had come to Port Hope to do honor to a good man, a good soldier, a good subject, a good citizen, and he (Sir John) was especially pleased to recognize the kindly spirit with which the municipality of Port Hope had greeted him. The corporation of Port Hope had pursued the proper course in forgetting political differences on occasions of this kind. They were united in doing this kind. They were united in doing nonor to the memory of their gallant ownsman. Of late his engagements had been such that he had not been able to visit Port Hope as often as he would have liked. He then described the beautihave liked. He then described the beauti-lul surroundings of the tidy town, and showed the great agricultural advantages of the surrounding country. He also re-minded those present of what he had done to promote the interests of Port Hope. He wished the town every prosperity. (Loud

JUDGE BENSON'S ADDRESS.

Judge Benson was received with loud cheers. He said: Ladies and gentlemen, —I am unexpectedly called upon to make a few remarks to you in place of Mr. Craig, who desires that I should represent him We are met to-day to which we have entertained for the last four years with regard to placing on this square a monument commemorative of our late detownsman, Colonel Williams.

) While we all regret and realize (Cheers.) While we all regret and realize deeply the occasion which calls us together to-day, we feel it an honor and a pleasure in fact, that the response of the country has been such that we are enabled to ask the right honorable the Premier of the Dominion to unwell to-day to the spectators present a statue which we believe will fitly recall in future generations the life of that distinguished gentleman in memory of whom it is erected. I will not refer at any length whatever to the events which gave rise to the erection of the statue. That is not my purpose. My purpose is simply now in a few brief words to introduce the proceedings, the climax of which this large gathering is now awa tag." The judge then called upon the secretary of the Williams Memorial Association to read the following address to Sir John Macdonald: following address to Sir John Macdonald:

THE MEMORIAL ADDRESS. Mr. R. H. Holland then read the address.

To the Right Hon Sir John A. Macdonald, G. C. B., B. C. L., Premier of the Dominion of Canada: B. C. L. Premier of the Dominion of Canada:

Bieut Hononania Siz,—On the 13th of August, 1835, at a meeting held in this town, a number of gentlemen, believing that so noble an example of the troset particism, as was set forth in the life and sealed by the death of the late Lieutenant-Colonel Williams, should be endearingly commemorated, and that the Dominion of Canada should thus prove

"The object of this Association was declared to be the erection of sume monument to the memory of our departed townsman, which should be national in character, and as such worthy of the Dominion, and which should be placed on a public square, in the immediate vicinity of the town hall and new post-office, in the town of Port Hope, the town which gave to the Dominion the courteous, kindly gentle-man, the gallant Christian soldier, the true-hearted, unselfab patrict, whose virtues it was proposed thus for all time to hold up for the admiration of future generations.

To-day, the Williams Memorial Association, having succeeded to the fullest extent of their fondest hopes, desire to express to you, sir, their gratitude for your cordial and gracious acceptance of their invitation to be with us to-day to unwell the status of one so deservedly esteemed by you, as was Lieut. Col. Arthur T. H. Williams.

The Williams Memorial Association desired to erect a monument that should be national, and a subscription list, upon which every province of our Dominion figures handsomady, proves their saccess, and they desire, at the close of their labors, to express in this, the most public manner, their gratitude for the hearty response which their appeal met from all ranks and classes of the inhabitants of Canada. THE PLAS FALLS.

The sculptor who modelled the statue, Mr. Hamilton McCarthy, was then introduced to the Chieftain by the President of the Memorial Association, Mr. Wm. Craig, Sr. Mr. McCarthy, after acknowledging the Premier's greetings, accompanied the Grand Old Man to the veiled statue, a few test distant and in a recomment while the Grand Old Man to the veiled statue, a few feet distant, and in a moment, while the gallant deceased Colonel's old regiment atood at arms, pulled a cord, and two enormous Unior Jacks dropped to the ground. The fine brigaded bands of the 46th Batt, and 57th Batt, played "Nearer My God to Thee." There was no cheering just at the moment; many in the assemblage felt more like speading a few moments in tears. In moment; many in the assemblage felt more like spending a few moments in tears. In fact, numbers were moved to tears, not excluding the Premier hunself, who only restrained his feelings with a great effort as the gazed for the first time upon the cold bronze, but life-like figure — a speaking and an active representation of his friend and supporter, Colonel Williams. Then the audience recovered, and cheer upon cheer rent the square. The band's pathetic music at the same time went a thrill through the entire mass assembled. After "Sweet Bye-and Bye" had been rendered in soft and re-assuring tones, Sir John, Sir Adolpke, Judge Benson and several others encircled the lasting memorial, which now becomes a landmark, and the Chieftain congratulated the sculptor more than once upon the successful results of his efforts.

THE CHIEFTAIN'S ADDRES The Premier as he advanced to the edge of the platform to address the great assertibles was received with loud cheers. He said: Mr. President, Ladies and Gentilemen: After the beautiful address which has been presented to me by the Status to the committee, I feel that my duty?

He was a soldier every inch of him; he was a patriot; his whole soul was aroused at the idea of any injury happening to Canada. His whole energies when called upon were directed to fighting the battles of his country, and he country and found what was the His whole energies when called upon were directed to fighting the battles of his country, and he sought and found what was the soldier's ambition. He sought and found a glorious occasion to show his patrictism, to show his courage, and he had a glorious life and a glorious death. (Tremendous cheers.) It is fitting that the circumstances should not be forgotten. They never will be forgotten. (Cheers.) The occasion of his gallantry at Batoche will always remain a glorious incident in the early history of Canada. Our sons and grandsons, our posterity, will read with glowing patrictism of the acts of Colonel Williams. (Cheers.) And there will be many a pilgrim—many a young Canadian will come to visit Port Hope to see the beautiful statue that has been erected to himemory. (Hear, hear and cheers.) As you all know, indeed it would be presumptanous of me to enter into the detail of all tuons of me to enter into the detail of all his services. You the people of Port Hope and of the county of Durham, you the people of Canada from other counties who may be here, thrill with pride until your hearts swell within you upon the patriotic life and the gallantry shown by Colonel Williams. (Cheers.) And it is a pleasing feature in this celebration that the honor done to the

is not at all to the political party of which he was a distinguished member. (Hear, hear.) In the presence of such great events, in the presence of such hero-ism, party politics sink into nothing. We all forget that we belong to one section, or to another section of party politics. We only remember that we are Canadians, and that as Canadians we are proud of the services, of the life and of the death of Col. Williams. (Cheers.) We all know that he had a kindly feeling for those who could had a sindly feeling for those who could not look at the public events in the same light as humself. I, the leader of one party, formed at once a high opinion of Col. Williams. I know that everybody who came in contact with him felt that they had become acquainted with a gentleman in the best sense of the word, not from a scribe of birth or a pride of ancestry, but a in the best sense of the word, not from a pride of birth or a pride of ancestry, but a gentleman, being a man of the noblest feelings, of the noblest aspirations, one who would scorn to do a mean thing. (Hear. hear.) I found from the beginning that he was a man who, if God would spare him, was in all probability destined to a great future, and the fact of his great fitness for the position which the East Riding had assigned to him was proved by signed to him was proved by

HIS EARLY POLITICAL LIFE.

Almost before he had acquired the habits of a member of Parliament, he was select-ed to be what is nominally called the ed to be what is nominally called the whip of the Conservative party—an office in England of high honor, which is always occupied by the secretary of the treasury. The propriety of the selection was speedily shown by his great success. He had all the qualities fit to fill that office. He had not only to be zealous, active, energetic, conciliatory, but firm at the same time, and all those whe on his own side of politics came into ontact with him acted according to his suggestions, because he was a soldier. He carried descipline into politicial life and used common sense when he was called upon to perform his duties as the whip of the Government. What He Thinks About the Proposed Irish

London, Sept. 5.—A reporter had a most interesting conversation with Gladstone, immediately before his departure for Paris, on the proposed Cathelic university. Gladstone was in high spirits and very outspoken. He feared nothing and ridiculed the idea of Balfour's tentative suggestion that the endowment of the Cathelic university would endanger the Liberal alliance with the Home Rulers. He had read and sympathized with Davist's protest to the contract of the contract

The demand of the Irish bishops for absolute control of the university endowed by the imperial funds couldn't, he thought, be tolerated for a moment by the English nonconformists, who constitute a great bulk of the Liberal party. The nonconformists would never agree to that. They would, however, rise no objections to a Home Rule scheme which allowed the Irish to endow their own uni-

A LONG SERIES OF RESOLUTIONS

PASSED AT MONTREAL

Labor M. P. Lepine, Censured for Lack

That in the opinion of this congress the interests of female workers require that female inspectors of factories and workshops should be appointed by the govnerment, and that in order that the duties of such female inspectors when appointed shall not be performed in a merely perfunctory man-ner the wishes of the various labor bodies should be consulted in making such appointner the wishes of the various infor bodies should be consulted in making such appointments.

That whenever tenders are called for by either federal or provincial governments or by any municipality for the building of any public work or the performance of any public service, workmen will be employed belonging to a trade or calling in which there is a usual and commonly recognized scale of wages, none shall be allowed to tender who have at any time during the previous twelve months paid less than the standard rate of wages in such trade or calling.

That this congress approves of the use of union labels, and hereby recommends to the subordinate bodies represented to see that such labels are on all manufactured goods which they may purchase, and in which calling labels are in use by labor.

That as the violation of any law with impunity tends to bring the government into disrepute and to make our judiciary system rediculous, this Congress demands the appointment of one or more officers in each judicial district, whose duty it would be to prosecute all parties violating or evading any law either local or federate.

This congress calls upon the Quebec Legislature to enact a law for the protection of working men in the port of Quebec and Levis, that all proprietors of floating booms be compolled to keep such booms in proper order so as to prevent accidents and that the wharves be kept in good order, and that all persons neglecting such means of prevention shall be held liable for compensation in case of accident.

That this congress petition the Provincial Governments, to pass stringent Employers' Liabilities Acts.

That in the opinion of this congress the provincial governments should take steps to establish printing offices in which all legal government printing and the publication of sehool books should be done.

That the Provincial Governments be asked to what extent the allowance now enjoyed by the sansfer and colleges to the public schools for the purpose of further promoting their efficiency and previding the pupils of such schools with books free of charge.

Mr. Carey was re-elected president, Mr. Lafontaine was elected vice-president, and Mr. Dower was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Father Phelan Says His Holtress Looks Hundred Years Old.

MONTREAL, Sept. 5.—The Labo Congress resumed its sitting this morning. These resolutions were carried:
That the Government establish offices where workingmen out of employment could go and enquire to obtain employment. That in conformity with the principle of equity the laborer should have a first lein to the extent of his wages on all his labor creates irrespective of ownership.

Pope:

"What struck me most forcibly was his very great apparent age and feeb eness. He fairly looked 100 years old if he looked a day. His face is almost inhumanly white. He looked too old and gone to impress one only as a relic might impress. I was very much struck and disappointed. I had hoped to see a stirring face and an eye full of life and fire. Leo had both once, but they are now gone. When I knelt as his feet his look was very feeble and paternal. I noticed the play of his features as he spoke, for there was not enough life in that blessed face to dazzle. The Pope has a full set of pearly white teeth, well preserved. His lips are heavy and very purple, in striking contrast to the white face. The holy father drawls very heavily when he speaks, but seems able to conduct a conversation without any fatigue.

"After about a quarter of an hour of a very one sided conversation, for the holy father talks almost without ceasing, I introduced my traveling companion, for whom I had obtained the honor, informing his holiness that he was a Protestant, but very well disposed to the church. Ho immediately reached out his hand and bade him advance. He took his hand in his and placed the other on his head and blessed him. He turned to me and asked me if he had any children, evidently intending to bless them also. When I answered in the negative he repeated his first beuediction and bade us both depart with his blossing on us and ours. I left feeling that I had spoken to the greatest man of this century, and one of the greatest man of this century, and one of the greatest man of this century, and one of the greatest man or this century, and one of the greatest man or this century, and one of the greatest man or this century, and one of the greatest man or this century, and one of the greatest man or the server.

Justice Field Thinks Terry Intended to Kill Him at Lathrop.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—In the Nagle habea corpus proceedings to-day Justice Field described the tragedy at Lathrop and expressed the opinion that if Nagle had not shot Terry he (Field) would have been dead within the next five seconds. He said the expression of Terry's face when he raised his hand to strike a second time was full of malice and murder. The Justice had no difficulty with Terry prior to rendering judgment in the Sharon case a year ago. In fact they had always been on friendly terms. Several witnesses stated that when Terry fell to the floor in the depot at Lathrop Mrs. Terry threw herself upon her husband's body and remained there a minute or two. When she arose she declared Terry was unarmed. A pirtol was produced which was found in Mrs. Terry

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Mr. Hamilton McCarthy's fine statue in bronze of the late Col. A. T. H. Williams is something more than a fine work of art, though it is that. Even the critics whose instruments of criticism consistof a two-foot rule and a pair of calipers, and who are overjoyed when they discoversomething that comes within the limited scope of their capacity, must confess that about the heroic statue which is now on view in a garden on Front street there is something that overpasses their table-book rules of measurement. It is satis-factory to know that those who understand art recognize in this figure the in-definable yet real impress of artistic feel-ing and poetry, and that according to the best judgment available, our Port Hope friends are to be congratulated on the acquirement of a work of native art which not only fitly commemorates the man who four summers ago died in the service of his country, but which will bear comparison, with similar works by European sculptors. Coming down to the mere dollars and cents level—a the mere dollars and cents level—a lamentable thing to have to do in connection with a work of art—the Port Hope people could not have done better if they had sent to Europe and paid double the money. Mr. McCarthy has produced a statue which is instinct with life and genius. Bold and daring in conception, the work is carried out with the ability and refinement of a true artistworker. There are some statues which worker. There are some statues which can only be looked at on one side. Granted that one stands just in the right place, just at the right distance, and partially closes his eyes, one may admire their excellence. The statue of Col. Williams will bear looking at from any point of view. The hero, with bare head and sword high uplifted, is leading his comrades on against the foe. On his face, half turned towards his following host, courage, duty, determination, and a calm pleasure in doing the right, are vividly expressed, while strong, vigorous action is shown in every limb and detail, down to the nervous grasp of the foragworker. There are some statues which action is shown in every limb and detail, down to the nervous grasp of the foraging cap in the left hand and the modelling of the foot that seems eagerly to spurn the ground. That is a fine art that can thus give life to the unyielding and impassive bronze.

HISTORY IN BRONZE

But the statue of Colonel Williams is more than a fine work of art. It is a monu-ment of our history. All is calm and quiet now at Batoche, and the sword has given way to the ploughshare. But the statue creates for us again the whole scene of 1885. Around the intrepid com-mander of the Midland battalion of the mander of the Midland battalion of the Canadian militia we see gathered the brave fellows who at the call of duty left their business and their homes ready to offer up their lives on the altar of their country. For three days they have been exposed to the death-dealing rifle pits of the sullen French half-breeds. Now has come the time for the gallent dash upon the enemy's earthworks which was followed by the impetuous rush into

lowed by the impetuous rush into Batoche and the capture at the bayonet's point of the half-breed stronghold. A Statue that can thus bring back for us the patriotic deeds of our countrymen is worth something to us. It reminds us that we have not all of us been always sordid and selfish and money-grabbing.

It is not therefore strange that many It is not therefore strange that many have expressed regret that this fine historic bronze is leaving Toronto. The prior claim of Port Hope is of course recognized, and the public spirit which has been shown in placing this memorial in one of the busy centres of that city does the citizens of Port Hope infinite credit. But here in Toronto we should be pleased to see more numerous examples of

to see more numerous examples of the sculptors art commemorating the history of the past. As we think of the dignity and attractiveness of some of the cities of the Old World, we cannot help feeling how much is due to these sculptured memorials in which the histor nations is written. We recognize with pleasure that we have in Canada the of nations is written. We recognize with pleasure that we have in Canada the ability and learning necessary to produce these spirit-stirring monuments. But the best recognition we can give to the art we possess is to employ it in perpetuating the history that day by day we are help-ing to make. Peace has its heroes as well as war, and from time to time, thank Heaven, there arise among us men who place honor above pelf, and who in their self-secrifice for the public good give us exself-sacrifice for the public good give us examples of the truest heroism. We shall do well for ourselves and for the rising generation if we give such men as these fitting and imperishable memorials.—Mail, August 22nd.

committee was appointed for the purpose of conferring with leading members of both parties. The result of that committee's labors, the meeting on Saturday evening was held, and turned out most satisfactorily. There has been a systematic effort on the part of our contemporary and a few renegade Conservatives to get up ill-feeling on this occasion, with the effect that they have failed as usual.

failed, as usual. We are exceedingly well pleased that the we are exceedingly well pleased that the good sense of our people has prevailed, and that the torch-light procession will be taken part in by all parties. We are confident Sir John Macdonald will be better pleased with the turn affairs have taken, and will esteem the torch-light procession a greater compliment than if it was a purely party affair; and we know it was a purely party affair; and we know we speak the sentiments of Conservatives when we say that the present arrange-ment, is far preferable than anything they could have got up single-handed. W. A. Jones, of Belleville, a brakesman on the Midland Division of the Grand Trunk Railway, was run over and instantly killed a short distance north of the Outario street bridge, shortly after 8 o'clock on Mon-street bridge, shortly after 8 o clock on Mon-day evening by the auxiliary train from Lindsay, which had been engaged in clearing the track of a run-off which occurred about three miles from here. It appears that the decessed came into Port Hope on a freight on Monday after-noon, arriving here at 6.30, and the engine being detained to take Barnum's circus to Detections' during the wight the train Peterboro' during the night, the train hands were sent back on the auxilliary as hands were sent back on the auxilliary as passengers.

On leaving the station here, the van of the auxilliary train was next to the conductor's car, and it is supposed that Jones, in an effort to pass from the auxilliary van to the conductor's car, was not aware that the former had no platform at the ends, and stepped out, falling between the cars, the entire train passing over him, literally outling his body in two just below the breast. Death must have just below the breast. Death must have been instantaneous. The body presented a most horrible sight, the entrails protrud-ing, and the clothing being saturated with blood.

Dr. Corbett was promptly on hand, but of course could render no assistance. of course could render no assistance.

Deceased was an active young man, of fine physique, and is spoken of in the highest terms by his. railway comrades. Conductor J. F. Jobbitt, of Lindsay, on whose train Jones has been one of the brakemen for over a year, was much affected, and while he could scarcely realize that his companion was dead, said the deceased was one of the best men he had ever worked with. From all we can learn, the deceased was a quiet, steady, industrious young fellow, who took a pride in doing his work well, and was always to be found at his post. He was about 24 years of age, work went, and was about 24 years of age, and unmarried. His parents are residents of Belleville, where the sad news of his death will be learned with deep sorrow, as he was highly esteemed by all who knew him.

The statement of our town contemporary that the junior editor of The Times "was one of the chief actors in getting the Rising Generation, a noted club of young Conservatives, to take the lead in organizing a torch-light procession," on the evening of the unveiling of the Statue of Col. Williams, and in honor of Sir John Macdonald, is absolutely untrue.

Neither of The Times firm had anything to do in getting up the meeting in question, and, as we have said before the strong desire was expressed that the proposed torch-light procession should be devoid of political significance. The feling of the meeting was unanimously in favor of making the proposed demonstration purely a citizens' one, and a committee was appointed for the purpose committee, which after thorough revision are soon to be published in a handsome value; asother of the Fishing articles, this time describing the Pictures are endeavoring antal.—Toronto Empire, 2ed.

THE PALL PAIR.

The first exhibition given under the uspices of the Port Hope Industrial Exhibition Co., though not as great a success as regards exhibits as we would have liked to see it, was yet a very creditable one, considering the early date in the season at which it was held; and from this start we hope to see vast improvements in the future.

As compared with previous exhibitions held here, the one just over was away ahead in nearly every particular. In the first place, the management was good, which cannot be said of our fairs for many years past, when everything devolved on two or three. Not so on this occasion. The work was distributed among a number of gentlemen, who shewed the interest they took in their duties by performing them in a business-like manner.

The destruction of the buildings by fire at a time when it was too late to re-place them, was a great drawback and disappointment to the officers and directors, and though the tents procured from the militia department at Ottawa, through the efforts of our energetic member for the Commons, Mr. Ward, proved a very good substitute, several features of interest had to be omitted which would have proved attractive to many. The disadvantage of the loss of the building was felt in many respects. in the upsetting of the plans decided upon and necessitating the exclusion of valuable exhibits the owners of which did not care to expose them in a tent.

There is always difficulty experienced in putting the machinery of a new organization in operation, and this was no exception to the rule, but the experience acquired in this instance will be valuable lessons for the future.

One thing was demonstrated without a shadow of doubt,—the superiority of the town park over any other place for holding these gatherings. The large crowds in attendance amply attest this, we and believe that as experience is gained, and the confidence of the public secured the popularity of our exhibitions will in crease and lead to the ultimate success of the new company.

While many good, well-meaning people object to horse-racing, on the ground that the moral tendency is bad, it cannot be denied that these sports lead to those who are fond of a good horse (and those who are not are few) improving their stock, and thusenhancing the value of their property. Therefore, it is likely that the race track will continue to be the most attractive feature of our exhibitions.

The authorities acted wisely in excluding from the grounds the gamblers and black-legs who assembled to fleece the unwary. The prompt arrest of these fakirs will induce "sports" of that kid-ney to give Port Hope a wide berth in the future. Book-making is bad enough, but it is just sufficiently within the pale of the law not to come under the gam-bling and pool-selling act. Betting is also objectionable, but because a few indulge in these bad practices is no reason why the multitude should be deprived of seeing the best class of horses we have show their metal, endurance and speed. To the officers and directors of the Port Hope Industrial Exhibition Co, we take pleasure in extending our congratulations on the measure of success attending their first effort. It is an augury of undoubted success in the future. We trust that none of the discouraging disappointments met with on

Great praise is due to the President. Ald. Stanley Paterson, for his indefatigable exertions in looking after all the arrangements, and the pleasing manner in which he conducted Sir John A. Macdonald about the grounds, and introduced romiseuously to Grit and Tory alike. Mr. Paterson has proved himself the right man in the right place, and not a little of the success of the exhibition is due to his well-directed exertions.

THE UNVEILING OF THE STATUE.

The success attending the ceremonie in connection with the unveiling of the statue of the late Col. Williams, shews that our people when they go about any thing with an united effort to work harmoniously together for the attainment of but one object, they succeed in so well that universal praise is given them for their good taste, their foresight in overcoming all difficulties and surmounting all obstacles. In this instance all concerned performed the duties alloted to them with a zeal and earnestess that brought the various features of the ceremony to a satisfactory and successful termination.

A few schemers noted for their egotistical opinion of themselves, tried their little utmost to curtail the magnitude of the reception given to Sir John Macdonald, but they signally failed, shewing the little influence they possess and the good sense of our people. These few cared nothing for the ill-feeling they tried their best to create, and which would not have been soon or easily allayed, so long as they could have shown themselves as the leaders of any small body and attain a little cheap notoriety and an appearance of importance. To the credit of our people be it said a corporl's guard could not be secured to join in anything but according a warm-hearted reception to the grand old statesman who has been for so many years at the head of the Dominion Government, and who came here as the Premier of Canada to aid in enhancing the importance of unveiling the statue erected in memory of our noble representative in the House of Commons-our gallant citizen-soldier, whose brave and heroic action at Batoche covered him with glory, and put an abrupt termination to the rebellion in the North-West. The discontents have in this instance another rebuff at the hands of our people, who have in the past often resented their impertinent interference. The effort to raise the cry of politics was a contemptible one, and was the labor of the same clique. This cry was promptly squeiched by leading Conservatives and Reformers coming together, and arriving at such an understanding that the wire-pullers found themselves without the shred of a grievance upon which they could coerce the rank and file of any party into entertaining and malicious slanders.

The result of the unveiling statue, and the opening of the e is a credit to all taking pard, to spective of politics, and we trust that in other demonstrations in the future, where the good of the community is at stake, there may be at all times as good and harmonious a feeling.

The veteran Col. Deacon looks as hale and hearty as ever. He has been fifty years a soldier, and has seen active service in many parts of the world besides the North-West. His host of friends were glad to see him here, and wish him many hap-py years of peaceful life and prosperity in his ripe old age.

Sir John A. Macdonald's visit to the park for the purpose of opening the exhibition will long be remembered by those who accompanied him on his round of inspection The ubiquitous Times representative was there, and jotted down a few of the passing pleasantries of the grand old chieftain, who ever had a pleasant word for everybody who was introduced to him. Before the opening ceremonies commenced, Mr. Stan-ley Paterson, President, shouldered his voluminous address, and whispered to Sir John, "I'm a bit green at this sort of business, Sir John, and I hope you will help me out." which brought out the remark from Mr. Ward, "Don't believe him, Sir John, he's an old stager at it." Sir John gave Stanley a wink, and the President's address was read with as much ease and flu-ency as if it was a five-dollar bank note.

The party then took a look through the exhibits, and Mr. Jas. Parr. Warden of the Counties, a man of 250 pounds weight, was met at the door-way of one of the tents. Mr. Paterson, who weighs about 200 pounds himself introduced Mr. Parr, when a few pleasantries were exchanged, Sir John remarking to Stanley, "You will never have the same weight in the county as Mr. Parr," An old gentleman, bowed with years, an old gentleman, bowed with years, came up and shook hands with Sir John, Said he "Sir John, I am just your age." "How oid?" "64 years." "Well. I just beat you by ten," said Sir John. "Oh, then you'll live a hundred years, Sir John," to which the reply came, "Well, I'm in no harry to step down and out."

ortly after, Mr. Outram, of the file works, was introduced as "our file man." Sir John replied, "I thought you were all rank and file men about here.

The rounds of the exhibition having be traversed, the party were conducted to the top of the hill to view the horse races. Sir John at once expressed his pleasure at such a grand site for a driving park, and was evidently much taken with the view which presented itself to him. One of the party wanted Sir John to bet on a heat of a horse race just being run, when Sir John escaped being "bluffed" by bluffing the bluffer. Said he, "If I would bet, you would be the

HE HAD OUR CONFIDENCE.

We trusted his word, we trusted his honor and we were not deceived. And these two honorable gentlemen, Colonol Williams and Mr. Trow, managed all the arrangement which are necessary to carry on a parliamentary system successfully, and made them without one single difference, without one single quarrel, without one single expression of a want of confidence one of another, so that the whole machinery although we found terrangements. machinery, although we fought strenuous ly as it was our duty to do, one party against the other, went on without an clashing, which was greatly due to the qual ties of those two gentlemen. Speaking of Colonel Williams as a parliamentary man, I think that I can say that he was a great success during the short time he was in parliament, and as for his usefulness there never could be a greater Parliamentary success than that good and grand man, Col onel Williams. (Cheere.) So as a public man and as a patriot having all the quali-ties which I have already said, if providence had spared him, would have brought him onel Williams. to a high position, but it was otherwise or-dered. He died early, but he did not die prematurely for his own glory or his own honor. He'fell in the cause of his country He was a soldier beyond everything—you all know that. Look at the record of his life and you will find, whenever England, that beloved Mother Country, was supposed to be in danger, or was supposed to re quire the service of her sons, Colonel Wil-

When we were threatened with war with the United States, whether England was fighting a battle in distant Africa, whether there were storms or disturbances in Cana-da, Col. Williams was always ready to do his utmost and assume the position of a good soldier. (Cheers.) Under these circum stances you can well fancy with what pride I can speak of the honor that was conferred upon me by inviting me to unveil the statue of my revered, my loved friend, Arthur Williams. (Cheers.) I have come here with the greatest pride. In fact, at one time, a few days ago, I thought my one time, a few days ago, I thought my public duties might prevent me from doing so. It would almost have broken my heart had I been obliged to absent myself on this great occasion. Happily I have been en-abled to be present on this beautiful day with this magnificent crowd. I have had the great pride, the great pleasure of unsembly the statue, the beautiful statue, of my friend Arthur Williams. (Loud and onged cheers.)

SIR ADOLPHE CARON SPEAKS.

THE MINISTER OF MILITIA DELIVERS A STIRBING ADDRESS.

Sir Adolphe Caron, Minister of Militia, was the next to address the immense gathering. He was received with loud and cordial applause. The Minister said: Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen,—Four years ago, on a different occasion and on years ago, on a different occasion and on a painful occasion, it was my sad privilege to vis.t this town of Port Hope, and like to day, Mr. Chairman, I found a large a mbly of people. That motto was the old French Williams. motto. That motto was:

COLONEL WILLIAMS WAS A TRUE MAN.

He has shown by every act of his public and private life those high and great qualities which brought so many together on the occasion to which I have referred. and on this occasion to-day to give the last testimony of their esteem and ad miration to one whose death we all regret. (Hear, hear.) Sir, he was a brave soldier; I have said so. The hero of Batoche, he was a patriot, the kind of a patriot that I like to see in Canada, He lived in Canada, a part and parcel of the British Empire—(Hear, hear)—and he loved the Empire as much as he loved Canada

Canadians, and for that flag of Great Britain he sacrificed his life. (Cheers.) Sir, as my esteemed and right honorable leader has said, it was his aim, when England required his services, whether in distant Africa-to use his eloquent expression—or whether it was in Canada,— to place himself at the disposal of his en and of his country, and to contri bute what he could contribute towards maintaining that Empire which he was proud of, and which he loved so well (Cheers.) Sir, when the Soudan trouble broke out Colonel Williams was one of the first who came to me as Minister of Militia and asked me to tender his services through the military secretary of His Excellency the Governor-General, to the Imperial Government. When the troubles broke out in our Northwest, he was on of the first to come to me and asked me for authority to organize and get up the Midland Battalion, which under

I regret exceedingly that it was impossible for the major-general to be here, and he has asked me to mention it to you here to-day that it was impossible for him to be present on this occasion. His official duties required his attendance elsewhere, otherwise he would have been glad to great demonstration in which we are taking

Those who have acted with him in and out of Parliament are able to appreciate his great qualities. Now, ladies and gentlemen, after the very elegant address of Sir John Macdonald, it seemed to me that it would have been proper to have at this demonstration. I have been placed upon the programme of proceedings, and I tender to the committee my heartfelt thanks for that honor. Sir John Macdonald has spoken of the colonel's services in the House of Commons and of his services to the Conservative party as a whip. For another section of the country I also acted with Colonel Williams as whip, and for my compatriots of the east I can say that Colonel Williams was as much at home with the French-Canadians as he would feel at home with the people of Ontario. (Cheers.) That was the good feeling which existed. That is the feeling for every one of us, English and French, that every one of us, English and French, that we want to keep up among the people of Canada. (Cheers.) We are all one people, whether we speak French or whether we can trace our ancestry to a different nationality. The English-speak-ing people are the majority of Canada, but we are one people and, we all live under the one flag, and we are ready to die for the defence of that dear old flag of England. (Tremendous Cheers) Whether that flag flies upon the old citadel of Quebec or whether it flies in Ontario, if threatened, you will see the people of Quebec just as ready to come up here in Ontario and as you would be to come down among us and defend it if it were attacked. (Renew-ed Cheers.) Ladies and Gentlemen, allow me to congratulate you upon the brilliant success of this demonstration. I need not say that it was not easy to get up a de-monstration without great effort. But this demonstration has come up to your most ardent expectations. Let me say to your most ardent expectations. Let me say to you that the whole of Canada has contributed to its success. The people of Quebec contributed to the statue, and the Statue was made by a Canadian artist which wakes it more reliable at its transmitted. which makes it more valuable still to the people of Canada, from the fact that such work is done by a son of Canada written in bronze the history of our Canada's soldiers. (Cheers.) This at least makes it more precious to us than if we had imported it from another country. (Loud Cheers.)

THE SCULPTOR SPEAKS.

He thanked the Premier and Sir Adolphe for the kind reference to his sur Adolphe for the Kind reference to his work. AN ADDRESS FROM THE PORT HOPE INDUS

At half-past two o'clock Sir John Macdonald formally opened the first exhibition given under the auspices of the Port Hope Industrial Exhibition Co., when he was presented with the following address, to which a suitable reply was given:—

Lifett-Cot (Williams, the president and directors of the Port Hope Industrial Exhibition Company extended to you, through Mr. H. A. A somewhat similiar association has been for many years in existence, the annual meetings of which were held in the county. It was, however, deemed advisable to select a more central place, give the resociety naw name and suart is afresh. When we old ceived your kindly consent to open our exhibition, and when we see you to-day present with us for that purpose, we regard it as a bright angury of the future prospects of our association and of snecess in the attainment of its objects. The purposes of our association, sir, are two-fold—first, the encouragement of a higher and more advanced system of cultivation and stimulating by the offering of prizes a spirit of honorable rivalry among those who follow the oldest and most independent of all pursuits; and, secondly, by the same means, to do our best to foster those manufacturing interests which you too, sir have always shown to be, I feel assured, one of the chief objects of your heart, and we hope to show you specimens of the productions of both classes equal to any that can be shown elsewhere.

When you examine the great number of exhibits here to-day, I beg of you to remember, that they are nearly all the products of our locality. Those which come from other places are of C hadian

We hope to satisfy you, sir, that no part of our Dominion responds more favorably to the patient, skilful labors of the agriculturist, than the old East Rising of Durham, and you will be forced to confess that the productions of our Binder Twine, Morocco Leather and File Factories are unexcelled in any part of the world. While we rejoice to see that the Gove

White we rejoice to see that the Government of which you, sir, have been the honored head for a per od unequalled in the history of any country is fully alive to the interests of the sprieuitural as well as of the manufacturing classes, evisenced by the establishment of experimental farms from which much good must come, you will, I am sure, permit me to express the hope that you may be able to see the way clear to extend encouragement to those local fairs of which ours is a type.

Once more, right honorable sir, let me thank you for the honor and benefit you have conferred upon as by your presence to day, and close by praying that you may yet have many happy years to live in the country in which you have so long and so successfully labored.

STANLET PATERSON,

THE PREMIER'S REPLY. Sir John Macdonald, in reply, said it was with sincere p'easure, that he scoepted the invitation to be present on this occasion, and witness evidences of the prosperity of Port Hope. In no part of the Dominion were there greater evidences of prosperity.

The crops had been satisfactory to an extent that even the most grumbling farmer could not find fault with them—and it was well-known how the farme s could grumble (Laughter.) He was glad that the Association recognized the importance of the Experimental Farms. They had proved to be a great success. In a letter he had recently received from the Lieutenant Governor of the Northwest he had learned that the Experimental Farm there was working miracles in the way of teaching the people what scientific farming was. This year, against all prognostications, the crop year, against an prognosications, the crop was above the average. There were very few failures, and, where these occurred, they could be traced to bad farming or bad seed. Some farmers of the Northwest seed. Some farmers of the Northwest allowed themselves to be carried away last year by the high prices. They sold all their wheat at $1.05 per bushel and bought frozen wheat at 50 cents a bushel for seed. The frozen reed did no: come up to the ex-pectations. It was not at all likely that such tempting price would rule again this year. Such societies as the present one did much to escourage the pursuit of agriculture. It must always be remem-bered that the basis of all industry was the

the evidences of progress on the first oppor-tunity. (Cheers.)

After a general handshaking Sir John and his perty spent some time in viewing the ex-hibits. The Premier remained on the grounds until after a couple of heats of the horse races.

THE AFTERNOON PROGRAMME.

At 2 o'clock great crowds began to congregate in the park, where the rattle and clatter of fakirs, machinery, and heaven knows what not, was making an unearthly din. The Victoria Fire Co.'s Band were located in the stand and played good music, and plenty of it, all afternoon. The spectators amused themselves by viewing the exhibitions of machinery, horses, farm products and fancy work, while the horse races were being called. At 2.30 the judges' bugle sounded, and the one-mile running race was called. unning race was called Grey Johnny was replaced in the lead by Oliver, who was showing good speed down the back stretch. At the end of the first half Oliver and Victor raced hard for first score, while Grey Johnny hard for first score, while Grey Johnny had fallen to the rear, and was now being pressed by Wild Deer. On the back stretch the leading horses maintained the same positions. Wild Deer leading Grey Johnny by a neck, away to the rear. Under the wire they passed in this order, at a great pace, making the heat in 153. It was expected that Wild Deer would make a better showing than he did, but his owner did not intend to enter him until a few days ago, and consequently did not have him in trim.

In the second heat the horses passed the stand all in a heap with Wild Deer slightly in advance, a position he had to sacrifice on the back stretch to Grey Johnny, who on the back stretch to Grey Johnny, who was doing some good work. The gray horse led at the end of the first half with Wild Deer closely in pursuit, and Oliver and Victor a little to the rear. In the second half the two visitors braced up a bit and passing Wild Deer and Grey Johnny, commenced to make a rattling pace. Oliver led at the finish with Victor close at his heels, Wild Deer just far enough behind to save being distanced and Johnson hind to save being distanced, and Johnny outside the starter's flag. THE TORCH LIGHT PROCESTION.

The streets during the evening crowded to the extreme, and the public seemed to wait down town with earnest expectancy, instead of waiting inside the park at 15 cents a head as the directors intended. The public could not see the point of paying 15 cents for permission to go into the park and carry a torch out again. For this reason it was that the procession was not larger, and those who procession was not larger, and those who-carried torches were not more mature in age. However, at 10 o'clock the proces-sion, containing about three hundred torch-bearers, headed by Mr. Joe. Hooper and his band, moved off, and proceeded to the residence of Mr. H. A. Ward, M. P., where a dinner had been tendered the Right Hon. Sir John A. Maedonald and his col-legge. Sir John entered a carriage accomlegue. Sir John entered a carriage accompanied by Sir Adolphe Caron, Mayor Pep-low and H. A. Ward, M. P. The directors of the Exhibition followed in carriages, be hind which came carter Adamson's waggon loaded with Roman candles, rockets, the fire-works, then came the torch bearers. A number of marshals on horse back attended the carriages of the distinguished gentlemen. The procession went down King street, turned west to Helm's foundry, and up Queen street past the monument. Crowds lined the streets many rows deep, and enthusiastic applause greeted Sir John as he drove along. The band was in good form, and The band was in good form, pealed out the "Royal Grenaders"

Up Queen street the procession marched amid the discharge of fireworks and the cheers of the spectators. When opposite the post office a most laughable incident occurred, which might have been the cause of much loss of life. Charlie Adamson and Levi Reynolds were in charge of the load of fire works.

When opposite the post office a spark from the candles fell into the box of fire works, and ignited some of them. Levi tried to stamp out the fire, but failing in the attempt, jumped from the waggon. Adam-son left the driver's seat and tried to stamp out the explosives which were being consumed by fire. The rockets and Roman candles in the waggon commenced to explode, the horse became frightened, and up Queen street the maddened brute ran like all possessed. The rd rapidly fell back on the approach of fiery horse with his more fiery load, and thus a series of accidents was averted. The horse brought up against a post near the corner of Walton street, where the fireworks spent themselves in all directions. The occupants of Sir John's carriage were greatly alarmed and narrowly escaped a severe shaking up. To Mr. Adamson is due great praise for his presence of mind in jumping upon his horse and controlling the terrified brute so atrolling the terrified brute so nickly. The procession soon re-formed at marched to the depot headed by the band. The train from the west was 20 minutes late, and the short delay was passed very pleasantly by humorous Mayor Peplow and H. A. Ward, M. P. Hearty and enthusiastic cheers were indulged in by the crowds of people who had gathered to take a last farewell of the Grand Old Chieftain.

THURSDAY'S PROGRAMME.

Thursday opened up dismal enough. A drizzling rain was falling, the ground was wet, and everybody was tired with the exertions of the previous day; hence there was no particular enthusiasm existent among our people. As noon approached the sky cleared, old Sol came out in all his sunny brightness, which had the effect of drying the race track at the park to some extent. At 2 o'clock Mr. Joseph Hooper took up his position in front of his band, and gallantly "led them up the hill" to the town park. Here nearly a thousand spectators had braved the threatening weather and were disporting themselves anon the elevated natural grand stand.

The exhibition prizes for roadsters were next distributed, but we could not learn the names of the winners.

Of course Oliver led from the start to finish, but it was a most amusing sight to see Victor's jockey pulling his horse in order to let Chandos take second money. Victor wanted to run but his jockey held him, and consequently the race was not so exciting as it otherwise would have been. It seems a pity that such deliberate put up jobs as that between Chandos and Victor, joos as that between Chandos and victor, could not be summarily treated by the judges. Gray Johnny held fourth place almost from the score. Oliver won the mile and a half dash in 2 53.

A MUSICAL COMPETITION.

A musical competition took place on Thursday night in the warerooms of Mr. R. B. Williamson. The prize was a handsom music holder valued at $15. The competition was open to girls under 15 years of age. Miss Popsy Shepherd, and Miss McLean were the only young ladies who ventured into the competition, and their work was a credit to themselves and their instructors. The judge on the occa-sion was Prof. Lea, of Cobourg, and his decision was arrived at only after mature consideration of the relative merits of the players. Miss Shepherd secured 28 points and Miss McLean 22. Both young ladies exhibited marvellous musical ability, and doubtless have a bright future before them in the musical world.

During the evening the spectators were treated to some splendid selections by Miss Climie and Miss Glover, of Bowman-ville, and Miss Sanders and Mr. E. H. S. Farquharson of Port Hope. The musical contest was by no means an insignificant portion of the programme of the fair, and Mr. Williamson is to be congratulated on the success which attended his competi

One of those pleasing events which happen as a general rule but once in a life time, and which serve to make most people's lives happy, while some are not quite so fortunate, was solemnized in the Queen's Hotel on was solemuized in the Queen's Hotel on Monday sitemoon at 5 o'clock, the contracting parties being Mr. Charles W. Clendennan, medical student of West Toronto Junction, and Miss Eigen T. Johnston, a very popular and estimable young lady resident of this town. The mony was performed by Rev. Jas. Clear, an old family of the bride's family. The bride was attended by Miss Stringeour, and little Ruby Adams, who carried a basket of flowers which she presented to the brile after the ceremony. The groom was an jorted by Mr. C. Sheppard, of Toronto, and Mr. Stanhope Dingwall carrying a she sherd's crook which was also presented to the bride. After the ceremony was over an adjournment was made to the presented to the bride. After the occurring was over an adjournment was made to the Queen's dining hall where about twenty one sat down to an elaborately prepared dejourner.

The tables were artistically arranged, and were a credit to the catering ability of mine host Adams of the Queens. It is customary to say that the bride "looked lovely," but it would be hard for Mrs. Clendennan to look otherwise; she did look lovely and no mistake about it.

The wedding dress was a perfection of the to Miss Dundas, under whose supervision it was made. It consisted of dove colored henrietta cloth trimmed with panels of cream silk, hand embroidered with steel beads, the jacket being of what is known as Z mave

The wedding presents were very profuse and well chosen, among them being gifts from Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Adams, Mrs. D. Clendennan, Toronto; Mrs. James Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. R. Dingwall, and many others too namerous to mention. The groom's present to the bride was a very handsome chain and locket set in pearls.

The ceremony was conducted in Mrs. Adams' swite of rooms and was very quiet, no invitations having been issued to any one outside of the family. The happy couple left on the line boat on Monday night to spend their honeymoon at Quebec. We join their numerous friends in the most kindly wishes for their future happiness-

A STONY LAKE correspondent of the Norwood Register writes:—The most deplorable of all things is the disappearance of John Newell who left Stony Lake this spring with Neverli who left Stony I we this string with a drive of logs for the Messrs. Fowlds, of Hastings, and he hasn't turned up yet nor has any tidings of him been received. We are not aware whether the logs have disappeared also or not. Perhaps Messrs. Fowles could decide that question, for it is likely they could keep an eve or them if they could they could keep an eye on them if they could not on Newell. His poor wife and family are deploring his loss.

THE habitues of the Laclede hotel, St. THE habituse of the Laciede hotel, St. Louis, have a lively recollection of the visit which John L. Sullivan paid to that hostely some four years ago. He was there for several days, and during his stay was the observed of all observers. A number of gentlemen did their best to induce him to give an exhibition of his wonderful strength. This he declined to do, but at length yielded to their solicitations and performed a fea which none who witnessed can ever forget. Stepping to the bar, which is of hard maho-gany, he laid a silver dollar on the counter. He then raised his right hand and brought his fist down upon the coin with tremendous force. Upon raising his hand it was seen that the coin was stamped deep into the bar and could with difficulty be extracted. Every letter and line of the device was re-produced in the hard wood, and remained Every letter and line of the device was re-produced in the hard wood, and remsined plainly legible for two years, in spite of the frequent ecrubbings to which it was subjected.

A Sudden Beath at Camtiton-Funeral of Father Leanon

Hamilton, Sept. 4.—The death of F. B. Kelly in a boarding house in Hughson-street north, at an early hour on Monday morning, p esents features which make it of unusual interest. Mr. Kelly was a middle-aged English gentleman, affable and well liked, who came to Camada a number of years ago and settled at Ancaster in a comfortable residence called "Fairview." He lived there several years. One way and another Mr. Kelly lost what money he had—heg had been very well-to-do—and domestic differences arose which resulted in the sale of the Ancaster property and the practical, if not formal, separation of husband and wife. For some time past Mrs. Kelly has been at orimbay Park and a fortnight since he came to Hamilton, taking up his quarters at the house of Mrs. Windesmersmer, 205 Hughson-street north, a few doors from Barton-street. Mr. Kelly has been it or the hest of health in the serious of the health of the summer of a formight since he came to Hamilton, taking up his quarters at the house of Mrs. Windesmersmer, 265 Hughson-street north, a lew doors from Barton-street. Mr. Kelly has not been in the best of health since being there, shough nothing serious appeared to be the master with him. On Sunday night he refined about 10 o'clock, that was the lest he was seen alive. At 4 o'clock on Monday afternoon the fandlady became alarmed and cutsred his room. He was cold in death. The indications were that he had been dead for some time. The remains were interred yesterday afternoon. Dr. Ms. kelcan gave a certificate of death from apoplexy, but the story is going the rounds that Kally confinited suicide.

The remains of the late Rev. Father James Lencon of Galt, formerly assistant priest at St. Mary's and St. Patrick's churches of this city, and of Dundas, arrived hat night and were conveyed to St. Mary's Cathedral, where the funeral services took plac: this morning in the presence of a large assemblage.

Eishop Dowling returned last night from

Frank Cavanagh, the runaway lad who fell into the hands of the police here about ten days a.o., was this morning sentenced by the Police Magistrate to three years in Penetanguishene reformatory.

George Aikin, a young man employed by J. M. Lottridge, disappeared from his house, corner of Bay and Sheaffe-streets, on Sunday, and has not since been seen. He is 25 years old, five feet five inches in height, weighs 150 pounds, wears a small light mustache and is of fair complexion.

A meeting of the veterans in and around Hamilton has been called for next Saturday evening at the Gore Coffee Tavern. Steps will be taken to form an association here similar to the one in Toronto.

Tononyo, Sapt. 6.—Henry Parry, carposter,

She had a family of small children, and her hussome degree to their support. The story goes the Hospital about a month ago suffering

While confessing the face than she had made a false step she stously denied shat anyone accopt herself was to biame in the matter, alleging that whatever had been denne was done by herself. Acting-detective Watson, under ordegs from Inspector Stark, however, was detailed to work up the case, with the result that the woman's alleged paramour was arrested last night as above stated as the one who pérformed the operation. Parry, who is a leading light in chirch outles over the Don, was hadly shaken up by his arrest, but refused to speak about the case.

Masuwhile Mrs. Elliott's condition is pre-

Meanwhile Mrs. Elliott's condition is precarrous, and she may die at any moment. At an early hour this morning she was still alive, and although the hospital authorities could hold out no hopes of her recovery it was believed that there might be a slight chance, a very slight one, of her ultimate recovery.

Hebrew circles in Queen-street west have been sacried for the past week over the allegad elopement of pretty Mrs. Lean Cohen, wife of Mr. Jacob Cohen, doing business on that thoroughfare, with Louis Levi, a seller of flash jewelry at fall fairs and country gatherings. The couple were traced to Detroit, and yesterday Mr. Cohen proceeded to the Plankinton House in that city and found his wife, whom he took back to his boom and Toronto.

A WITNESS SENT TO JAIL,

BECAUSE HIS ANSWERS WERE NOT SATISFACTORY.

Another Chapter in the Haldimand Cor Concle d.

CAYUGA. Sept. 4.—When the court opened at 9.30 this norming, the auditorium was fairly well: led with interested listeners to the proceedings in the contested election case. Counsel for the appellant called Philip Sevenpiper, brother of the last witness, in continuation of the charge that Charles Sevenpiper had been offered $10 by Ralph Homsberger and William Mowat to spoil his vote. Witness testified to the effect that he knew Ralph Homsberger, Mowat and Miller. He recollected the conversation he had heard between his brother and Ralph Homsberger, and corroborated his brother's statement as to what took place between them.

Mr. Aylesworth cross-examined the witness and clicited the opinion that the conversation that took place between Honsberger and his brother occurred while they were on the floor of the barn, and not while Charles was throwing down fodder, as stated in his evidence. Witness said his brother told him that Homsberger had offered him $10 to spoil his vote. Hi told his brother told him that Homsberger had offered him $10 to spoil his vote. He told his brother told him that Homsberger had offered him $10 to spoil his vote. His told his brother charles to vote either one wayor the other and to have nothing to do with the money. With the exception of the conversation episode there was no difference between witness' evidence; and that of his brother's.

Ralph Honsberger, sworn, was examined by counsel for appellant. Witness was twenty years old; had Reform sympathies and attended many meetings; witness stated that Robert Miller and Elliet Overholt were prominent Reform politicisms in his locality, Rainham Center; didn't know whether John Miller took an active interest or not, but knew that Wm. Mowat did; remember Mowat calling at his father's place last January. He came to buy timber and also to talk about the election; he asked witness how Charles Sevenpiper was and witness said he wanted $10; Mowat said the next time Sevenpiper and Philip, who resided at a distance, but had voted in the former ele did dot go to show he attended any committee meetings.

Timothy Wardell was next sworn. He proved so unsatisfactory in the manner in which he answered questions and insisted upon making rambling statements that the Judga committed him to jail until to-morrow morning. On account of this it was found hecessary to abandon charges No. 69 and 5 for the present.

Danaon charges to the present.

Charge No. 82 was then gone into. It alleges that Jamen Haslett and others, agent of respondent, gave Henry Brydges 85 to mable him to absent himself from the polling place. After some ovidence had been taken James Haslett was called and denied that he had offered Brydges 85.

London, Sept. 3.—It may not be generally known, but it is a fact, that every person who is sentenced to a long period of penal sorvitude has his case bro ght up for reconsideration by the Home Secretary at the expiration of ten years. Assuming that Mrs. Maybrick should not be released before then, her case will be brought before then the experiment of the Home Secretary ten years hence. It is only in very extreme cases that penal servitude is continued more than twelve, or, at most, fifteen years. Mr. Wm. Roupell, sentenced to imprisonment for life, was released at the expiration of fourteen years. There are other well known cases which might also be cited, notably that of Jessie McLaughlad, who was convicted of murder at Clasgow in 1862. In the case the death penalty was commuted to penal servitude for life, and after being kept in prison a number of years the woman was ultimately released.

TORONTO, Sept. 6 .- Mr. Justice Fergu saways been her lather's pec and a favorite of the whole household. There was consternation in the handsome family residence at Wilton-avenue and Sherbourne-street yesterday morning when it was learned that Miss Ferguson had disappeared, leaving nothing but a note saying that she would not resure and that she had run away to go on the stage. For many months past Miss Ferguson has been under the glamor of the foollights and of the green room; in short, she has been single-struck, and has frequently avowed her determination to adopt the life of an activast. This idea was strenuously opposed by her parents and friends, who at the same time always laughed at the notion when she alluded to it. Their efforts, however, were unavailing as the occurrence of yesterday has proven. No clue to her whereabouts could be found until yesterday, when it was learned that the young lady was staying with friends as Buffalo. Mr. Justice Ferguson left for the Bison City yesterday and will probably return with his wayward daughter to-day. The Vice-Chancellor was not present at Osgoode Hall yesterday when his court opened, and as it was known that he was not unwell there was a good des of speculation as to His Lordship's absence, thout this time he was in close consultation w a Chief Detective Stark concerning his daughter's nocturnal flight.

Your correspondent paid a flying visit to Port Hope on the occasion of the unveiling of the statue to the memory of late Lieut.

Col. Williams, the Hero of Batoche, and spent a very enjoyable time. The fine eulogium passed on the character of the late colonel by the aged chieftain, Sir John A. Macdonald was very affecting and showed plainly that he lost none of his old time eloquence. Praises were freely scattered on all sides for the faithfulness with which the sculptor had portrayed the features of the deceased. Our military friends are loud in their

Band enlivened the time by playing a selection of beautiful airs during the afternoon and evening. The band boys have improved since last year. We were pleased to see several Port Hope friends present. A young man evidently from some Northern city, created quite a furore a week last Sunday afternoon. His antics consisted of riding up and down one of the side lines, and then dismounting from his horse, searching the ground quite closely as if looking for something. What was it? Was it any of his performing fleas escaped from durance vile? Or was it looking for the tracks of a certain young lady. Well hardly so; anyway he said that he was looking for cattle, but that was too thin for Granby folks. Referred to Finance Committee. Mrs. Sarah Doyle writes asking for remission of taxes.

NEWTONVILLE

Something in the guise of a dude and hailing from Newcastle, struck our village one evening not long since, to the evident terror of the feminine part of the popula tion. What it really was is a mystery. Some called it a baboon or a gorilla, while others claimed it was the advance guard of Barnum's circus. The hounds could not follow its trail, so the kids pounded it out of the village with apples. It took the "tin line" but may come again; citizens, be on your guard!

A number of boats were at the disposal of the crowd and were well patronized. Our brass band enliven-ed the proceedings with some choice sel-ections rendered in fine style.

One night last week a young man came here from Newcastle to see his lady-love. He was an aristocratic looking young man, wearing a fifty cent boquet and a ten cent smile, while he proudly bestrode a 52 inch bicycle. While he was engaged inside some unprincipled persons—who had no respect for the most tender feeling of human nature—hid the bicycle. Next morning, after tramping around for an hour in search of his missing steed, it was dis-covered in a doorway. We would advise him to walk next time. Capt. Milligan and Major Hughes have

TALMAGE ON THE FINAL WEIGHING.

'ven Christians Will be Put in the Alminhor's Scales and Found Wanting as Was Eclahazzar of Babylon.

REV. T. DE WITT TALMAGE, I. D.

Daniel V. 27 vs. "Thou art weighed in the balances and art found wanbing. Babylon was the paradise of architecture, and driven out from thence the grandes buildings of modern times are only the evidence of her fall. The site having been selected for the city, two million m n were employed in the rearing of her walls and the building of her works. It was a city six miles in circumference. There was a a trench all around the city, from which the al for the building of the city had were twenty-five gates on each side city : between every two gates a tower ense springing into the skies; from gate on the one side, a street running at through to the corresponding stree e other side, so that there were fifty ts fifteen miles long. Through the city branch of the River Euphrates. This sometimes overflowed its banks, and to p it from the ruin of the city a lake was constructed into which the surplus water of the river would run during the time of freshet, and the water was kept in this artificial lake until time of drought, and then this water would stream down over the city. At either end of the bridge spanning this Euphrates there was a palace-

palace seven and a half miles around. The wife of Nebuchadnezzar had been forn and brought up in the country, and in a mountainous region, and she could not bear this flat district of Babylon; and so, to please his wife, Nebuchadnezzar built in the midst of the city a monntain 400 feet high. This mountain was built out into terraces supported on arches. On the top of these arches a layer of flat stones, on the top of that a layer of reeds and bitumen, on the top of that two layers of bricks closely centedion the top of that a heavy sh on the top of that the soil placed so deep that a Lebanon cedar had or its roots. Standing below and looking up it must have seemed as if the clouds were in or as though the sky leaned on the shoulder of a cedar. All this Nebuchadnezzar did to All this Nebuchadnezzar did to please his wife. Well she ought to have been eased. I suppose she was pleased. If that would not please her nothing would. There was in that city also the temple of Belus, with towers—one tower the eighth of a mile high, in which there was an observatory where astronomers talked to the stars. There was in that an image, just one image, which would cost what would be our fifty-two million dollars.

O what a city ! The earth never saw any thing like it, never will see anything like it. And yet I have to tell you that it is going to be destroyed. The King and his princes are at a feast. They are all insoxicated. Pour out the rich wine into the chalices. Drink to the health of the king. Drink to the glory of Babylon. Drink to the great

A thousand lords reel intoxicated. The king seated upon a chair, with vacant look. as intoxicated men will-with vacant look stared at the wall. But soon that vacant look takes on intensity, and it is an affrighted look; and all the princes begin to look and wonder what is the matter, and they look at the same point on the wall, and then there drops a darkness into the room and puts out the blaze of the golden plate, and out of the sleeve of the darkness there comes a finger -a finger of fiery terror circling around and circling around as though it would write; and then it comes up and with sharp tip of flame it inscribes on the plastering of the wall the doom of the king: "Weighed in the balances and The bang of heavy fists wanting. against the gates of the palace are followed by the breaking in of the doors. A thousand gleaming knives strike into a thousand quivering hearts. Now Death is king, and he is seated on a throne of corpses. In that hall there is a balance lifted. God swung it. On one side of the balance are put Belshazzar's opportunities, on the other side of the balance are put Belshazzar's sins. The His opportunities go up.

Weighed in the balance-found wanting There has been a great deal of cheating in our country with false weights and measures and balances, and the government, to change that state of things, appointed commission ers whose business it was to stamp weights and measures and balances, and a great deal of the wrong has been corrected. But still after all, there is no such thing as a perfect balance on earth. The chain may break, or some of the metal may be clipped, or in some way the equipose may be a little balances. A pound is not always a pound, and you may pay for one thing and get er; but in the balance which is suspended to the throne of God, a pound is a pound, and right is right and wrong is wrong, and a soul is a soul, and sternity is eternity. God has a perfect bushel and a perfect peck and a perfect gallon. We may heat ourselves and we may cheat the world, but we cannot cheat God, and in the great day of judgment it will be found out what we learned in boyhood is correct: that twenty hundred weight make a ton, and one hundred and twenty-eight feet make a cord of wood. No more, no less, and a religion which does not take hold of this life as well as the life to come is no religion at not the kind of weights and measures. I am to speak of that kind of balances which can weigh principles, weigh churches, weigh men, weigh nations, and weigh worlds.

"What!" you say, "is it possible that our world is to be weighed!" Yes. Why, you would think if God put on one side the balances suspended from the throne the Alps, and the Pyrenees and the Himalayas, and Mount Washington, and all the cities of the earth, they would crush it? No, no. The time will come when God will sit down on the white throne to see the world weighed, and on one side will be the world's opportunities, and on the other side the world's sins. Down will go the sins and away will go the opportunities, and God will say to the messengers with the torch: "Burn that world! weighed and found wanting!" So God will weigh churches. He takes a great church. That great church, according to the worldly estimate, must be weighed, He puts it on one side the balances, and the building that cost its hundreds of thousands of dollars. He puts them on one side the balance. On the other side of the scale He puts what the church ought to be. That is on one side. That side comes down, and the church, not being able to stand the test, rises in the balances. It does not make any difference about your magnificent machinery. A church is built for one thing-to save souls. If it saves a few souls, when it might save a multitude of souls, God will spew it out of His mouth. Weighed and found wanting! So God estimates nations.

But I must become more individual and more personal in my address. Some people say they do not think clergymen ought to be personal in their religious address, but ought to deal with subjects in the abstract. I did not think that way. What would you think of a hunter who should go to the Adirondacks to shoot deer in the abstract? Ah! no. He loads the gun, he puts the butt of it against the breast, he runs his eye along the barrel, he takes sure aim, and then crash go the antiers on the rocks And so, if we want to be hunters for the Lord, we must take sure aim and fire.

People say there is a day of judge coming, and you and I to-day are being canvassed, inspected, weighed. Here are the balances of the sanctuary. They are lifted, and we must all be weighed. will come and be weighed first? Here is a moralist who volunteers. He is one of the t upright men in the country. He comes. Well, my brother, get in—get into the balances now, and be weighed. But he as gets into the balances, I say: "What is that bundle you have along with you?" "Oh," he says, "that is my reputation for goodness, and kindness, and charity and generosity, and kindliness generally." "O my brother! we cannot weigh that; we are going to weigh you—you. Now, stand in the scales—you, the moralist. "Paid your debts?" "Yea," you say, "paid my debts." "Have you acted in an upright way in the community?" "Yes, yes." "Have you been kind to the poor? Are faithful in a thousand relations in life ?" "Yes." "So far, se good. But now, be-fore you get out of the scale, I want to ask you two or three questions. Have your thoughts always been right?" "No," you say, "no." Put down one mark. "Have you loved the Lord with all your heart and soul, and mind, and strength?" "No," you say. Make another mark. "Come, now, be frank, and confess that in ten thous and things you have come short-have you not?" "Yes." Make ten thousand marks Come now, get me a book large enough to make the record of that moralist's deficits My brother, stand in the scales, do not fly away from them. I put on your side the em. I put on your side t scales all the good deeds you ever did, all the kind words you ever uttered; but on the other side the scales I put this weight which God says I must put there-on the other side the scales and opposite to yours I put this weight: "By the deeds of the law shall no flesh living be justified. Weighed and found wanting.

Still the balances are suspended. Are there any others who would like to be weighed or who will be weighed? Yes: here comes a worldling. He gets into the I can very easily see what his whole life is made up of. Stocks, dividends, percentages, "buyer ten days," "buyer thirty days." Get in, my friend, get into these balances and be weighed-weighed for this life, and for the life to come. nd that the two great questions in his life are: "How cheaply can I buy shees goods?" and "How dearly can I sell them?" I find he admires heaven because it is a land of gold, and money must be "easy."

I find from talking with him that religion and the Sabbath are an interruption, a vulgar interruption, and he hopes on the way to church to drum up a new customer. All the week he has been weighing fruits, weighing meats, weighing ice, weighing coals, weighing confections, weighing worldly and perishable commodities, not realiz ing the fact that he himself has been weighed. On your side the balances, O worldling! I will give you full advantage. I put on your side all the banking houses, all the storehouses, all the cargoes, all the insurance companies, all the factories, all the silver, all the gold, all the money vault, all the safi deposits-all on your side. But it does not add one ounce, for at the very moment we are congratulating you on your fine house and upon your princely income, God and the angels are writing in regard to your soul: "Weighed and found wanting."

But I must go faster and speak of the final scrutiny. The fact is, my friends, we are moving on amidst astounding realities. These pulses which now are drumming the march of life, may, after a while, call a halt. We walk on a hair-strung bridge chasms. All around us are dangers lurking ready to spring on us from ambush. We lie down at night, not knowing whether we shall rise in the morning. We start out for our occupations without knowing whether we shall come back. Crowns being burnish ed for thy brow or bolts forged for thy prison. Angels of light ready to shout at thy deliverance, or fiends of darkness stretching out akeleton hands to pull thee down into ruin consummate. Suddenly the judgment will be here. The angel with one foot on the sea, and the other foot on the land, will swear by him that liveth forever and ever that time shall be no longer "Behold he cometh with clouds, and every sye shall see Him." Hark to the jarring of the mountains. Why, that is the setting down of the scales, the balances. And then there is a fisch as from a doud, built is the glitter of the shining lances, and they are hoisted, and all nations are to be weighed all. But, my friends, that is not the style of balances lam to speak of to day, that is ances. They may have weighed themselves and prosounced a flattering decision. The world may have weighed them and pronounce ed them morel. Now they are being weighed in God's balances—the balances that can make no mistakes. All the property gone, all th titles of distinction gone, and all the worldly success gone; there is a soul, absolutely nothing but a soul, an immortal soul, a nev r-dying soul, a soul stripped of all worldly advantages, a soul-on one side the scales. On the other side the balances are wasted Sabbaths, disregarded sermons, ten thousand opportunities of mercy and par-don that were cast aside. They are on the other side the scales, and there God stands, and in the presence of men and devils, cherubim and archangel, he announces while groaning earthquake, and crackling conflag-ration and judgment trumpel, and everlasting storm repeat it: "Weighed in the balance and found wanting.

O follower of Christ! you get into the balances. The bell of the judgment is ringing. You must get into the balances. You get in on this side. On the other side the balances we will place all the opportunities of good which you did not improve, all the attainments in piety which you might have had, but which you refused to take. We place them all on the other side. They go down, and your soul rises in the scale You ca not weigh against all those imper-

Well, then, we must give you the advan tage and on your side the scales we will place all the good deeds you have ever done, and all the kind words you have ever utter-ed. Too light yet! Well, we must put on your side all the consecration of your life, all the holiness of your life, all the prayers of your life, all the faith of your Christian life. Too light yet! Conie, mighty men of the past and get in on that side the scale Come Payson, and Doddridge, and Baxter. get in on that side the scales and make them come down, that this righteous one may be saved. They come and get in the scales. Too light yet! Come, the martyrs—the Latimers, the Wickliffes, the men who suffered at the stake for Christ. Get in on this side the Christian's balances, and see if you cannot help him weight it aright. They come and get in. Too light ! Come, angel of God on high. Let not the righteous perish with the wicked. They get in on side the balances. Too light yet!

But says the Christian: "Am I to be allowed to get off so easily?" Yes. If some. one should come and put on the other side the scales all your imperfections, all your inconsistencies of life, they would not budge the scales. Go free! There is no condemns tion to them them that are in Christ Jesus. Chains broken, prison houses opened, pardoned. Go free! Weighed in the balances, and nothing, nothing wanted.

Oh! what a glor ous hope. Will you acwhat you lack, Christ the atonement for all your sins. Who will accept him? Will not this whole audience say : "I am insufficient, I am a sinner, I am lost by reason of my transgressions but Christ has paid it all. My Lord, and my God, my life, my parden, my heaven. Lord Jesus, I hall thee." Oh! if you could only understand the worth of that sacrifice which I have represented to you under a figure—if you could under-stand the worth of that sacrifice, this whole audience would this moment accept Christ and be saved.

We go away off, or back into history, to get some illustration by which we may set forth what Christ has done for us. We need not go far. I saw a vehicle behind a runshorse dashing through the street, a mother and hor twochildren in the carriage. The horse dashed along as though to hurl them to death, and a mounted policeman with a shout clearing the way, and the horse at full run, attempted to seize those runaway horses and to save a calamity, when his own horse fell and rolled over him. He was picked up half dead. Why were our ly hurt, and hurt for others. But I tell you to-day of how Christ, th: Son of God, on the blood-red horse of sacrifice came to our rescue and rode down the sky, and rode unto death for our rescue. Are not your hearts touched? That was a sacrifice for you and me. Oh Thou who didst ride on the red horse of sacrifice! come this hour, and ride through this assemblage on the white norse of victory.

Exciting Fishing Experience

During the recent trip of the fishing schooner Mattie and Lena, while engaged in the capture of a swordfish, one of the men, Elisha Clark, was out in the small boa after a fish that had been ironed and was supposed to be nearly dead. Clark obtain ed the keg which is attached to the line leading to the fish and began to haul in, when the fish showed fight. Clark is an experienced fisherman, and at once began the usual tactics to avoid the fish. The fish however, was thoroughly infuriated and appeared to be seeking revenge. At last, with a desperate effort, he sent his sword crashing through the bottom of the boat in close proximity to where Clark was standing. About three feet of it was forced through, and the weapon is kept by Mr Clark as a trophy.—Providence Journal.

Cayuga Again the Scene of a Judicial Battle-The Proceedings to Unseat Mr.

Catter Commenced.

CATUGA, Sept. 3.—Once again have the factions of Montague and Colter assembled in judicial battle array, and bid fair, by the stubborn hostility displayed on this and previous occasions, to form a date in the political history of Canada rivaling the medieval feud which existed between the Montagues and Capulets. During the cbb and flow in the tide of battle, twice has the doughty doctor been elected and unseated: and flow in the tide of battle, twice has the doughty doctor been elected and unseated; his opponent at the fin 1 innings played securing sufficient runs, by fair means or foul, to enable him to represent Haidimand at the last session of parliament. This anomalous state of affairs seems to indicate that this coy constituency is either partial to the one whose favors are most liberally distributed, or else in the distracting condition of the maiden who exclaimed: "How happy could I be with either, were t'other dear charmer away!" However that may be, the Conservative party in Haldimand is intermined to sift the whole business to the bottom, and for that purpose the present proceedings are instituted. This modest little country town is all agog with excitement, the champions of Dr. Montague being out in strong force to watch the course of events.

Court opened at 10 a.m. sharp, with His Court opened at 10 a.m. sharp, with His Honour Judge Falconbridge on the bench; registrar for the judge, H. J. Wickham. The legal talent consists of Dalton McCarthy, Q.C., assisted by C. G. Snider, counsel for the appellant; while A. B. Aylesworth and A. K. Goodman upheld the cause of C. W. Colter, respondent.

The first witness called was Wm. Parker, ex-secretary of the Reform association and at present registrar of the county of Haldimand, who was examined by Dalton McCarthy, Q.C., and questioned regarding the

He testified that Mr. Colter had Asked regarding the destruction of the minutes of the meetings at which he officiated as secretary, he said the reason was because preceding officials had "disguised the proceedings of previous meetings," and he was determined to follow the same laudable course by destroying those under his control—some forty pages. Witness did not now take The chobe, counsel facetiously remarking that quite a number of Reformers were at present tr veling the same road. He gave evidence regarding visits made by him to meetings at different subdivisions throughout the county previous to last election in the interest of the association—all a "labor of love," no compensation being received therefor, witness modestly disclaiming that he had earned the registrarshipsof the county by such action.

Charges No. 69 and 5 were then taken up. These charges were to the effect that John Rowe, Chas. Hansberger and others offered Charles Sevenpiper $10 or its equivalent as an inducement for refraining from voting against Mr. Colter. Charles Seven-piper was then called and testified that be-fore the election he was told to call upon John Rowe, a merchant at Dunville. Afterwards Sevenpiper chang-ed his mind and informed Rowe that he would not accept the offer, whereupon Rowe offered him $10 if he would keep away

Rowe offered him $10 if he would keep away from the polling place. Seveniper said he also declined this offer.

Some further evidence was taken relative to Mr. R. Honsberger endeavoring to induce witness to vote for Colter and to write to a brother of his in the United States to remain away on election day. NEWS OF LD WORLD. THE RESULT OF THE LONDON STRIKE STILL IN DOUBT.

Burns and His Leader—The Antwerp Sorror -Famine Stricken Peasants in Alabanta

-Chicago's Bomb Thrower in London.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.-The Tribune's Lon New York, Sept. 8.—The Tribune's London special says: The companies believe that they can yet break down the laborers' patience. They assert that there are not more than four or five thousand strikers; that the number of the employed varies from five to number of the employed varies from five to sixteen thousand, and that the newspaper reports set down the number now employed at 3000. Every day adds to these and cargoes are discharging at an increas-ing ratio. Many of the riverside wharves have come to terms with the men, and the pressure all round is diminish-ing. There is no doubt whatever that if the pickets and intimidators were removed the docks would find plenty of labor. Mr. Burns has lost much public sympathy since his speech, in which he assailed the dock directors personally, and since his personal inter-vention stopped 3000 men from entering the river wharves, after they had accepted new terms, on the trivial ground that the agreement had been signed by middlemen and not by the directors. For the present the dock directors are more concerned about the attitude of the shipowners than of the labor-

The companies will not yield to their "bete noire," Mr. Burns, nor is Mr. Burns popular with the leaders of the trades-unionists. Otherwith the leaders of the trades-unionists. Other-wise his cause would have received a more generous support in that quarter. The Trades-Union Cougress now sitting at Dundee has been the scene of a standup fight between the been the scene of a standup fight between the Socialists and the moderates on the policy of the committee of the sections. Only eleven of the former were present; nevertheless, the Congress voted sympathy with the dockers, and sent round the hat. But the whole of the delegates did not raise over £10 for Mr. Burns' fund. Some of the unions contributed, though none very liberally, and they have not made the dockers' case their own. The most sub-stantial help came from Australia. There has been some sympathy, but no money, from Canada and the United States, while Aus-tralia sent the promised £7000. Autralia, however, is the happy hunting-ground of the however, is the happy hunting-ground of the workingman. Every trade there is well organized. There are only eight hours in a working day, and the commoness laborers, even road-menders, are paid six shillings, while artizans get from twelve to fourteen shillings. Unionism is federated into a solid, compact machine, and the help was sent to England, not only for sympathy, but to secure higher wages at home, and thereby prevent emigration of the labor class to Australia.

The coal merchants have recouped their advance to the coal wharf laborers by promptly raising the price to the consumer by a shilling a ton. Building and woodyard laborers are a ton. Building and woodward laborers are also receiving concessions. The whole move-ment has been among the lower-paid class of workmen, and speaking generally, the em-ployers conceded all round, excepting in the case of the East End slop tailors. These are mostly Poles, Germans and Jews, whose grievances were recently inquired into by a Sweating Committee, but unfortunately they have to deal with Pole, German and Jew middlemen, whose hearts are more case hard. middlemen, whose hearts are more case hard-ened than those of the English employers. The processions of these poor tailors are a far more melancholy spectacle than the noisy bands, flaunting banners and importunate collectors, with big cash-boxes, of the dock-hands.

The Dock Companies' Offer Refused.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—Burns and Fillett, after consulting with the Strike Committee, announced that they could not guarantee that the men would resume work on Monday. They explained that before giving a final reply they would have to consult with the sectional committees of the strikers. mittees of the strikers.

The Strike Committee has issued a mani-the Strike Committee has issued a manifesto stating that the strikers will not accept the dock companies' terms, namely, an increase of wages from Jan. 1, 1890, on condition that the men return to work Monday next. The situation is therefore unchanged.

A Compromise Hoped For.

London, Sept. 8.—The Lord Mayor of London, Bishop Temple and Cardinal Manning have written a joint letter in which they recount the negotiations conducted by them with the dock companies with a view to the settlement of the strike. They express surprise at the strikers' repudition of the terms. repudiation of the terms agreed to by the dock companies and declare their opinion that if the men continue the strike they will forfest the sympathy hitherto accorded them.

The strikers held another large meeting in Hyde Park to-day. The proceedings were orderly. Mr. Burns in a speech declared it was a mistake to suppose that he had agreed to the proposal of the arbitrators. He invited the strikers to declare whather the strikers the strikers the strikers to declare whather the strikers to declare whether or not they would accept the proposal. A loud shout of "No" went up from the crowd. Mr. Burns continuing said the strike committee were prepared to hold out for three weeks more, but he believed the directors of the dock companies would concede the strikers' terms before another week had

Mr. Tillet visited the Lord Mayor this evening, and proposed new terms, to com-mence in October. The Lord Mayor demurred but promised to use his best endeavor to persuade the dock directors to agree to th terms. It is probable a compromise will soon be arranged on the casts of increased wages beginning in November.

Burns and His Leader.
LONDON, Sept. 8.—Mr. John Burns, the workingman whose name has become prominent in connection with the strike, is a someent in connection with the strike, is a somewhat remarkable personage. He is self-educated, and his neatly furnished house in Battersea has a large library of books, chiefly on political economy and works of reference. He has been a lifelong teetotaler and non-smoker and his chief hobbies are books and Socialism. It is not many years since he was prosecuted by Sir Charles Russell for street riots, and more recently he was imprisoned for six months for resisting the police in Trafalgarsquare. Notwithstanding his present prestige, he cannot be called a leader of men. In his street rioting he only followed that wild person, Mr. Hyndman; in Trafalgarsquare he was under the leadership of Mr. that wild person, Mr. Hyndman; in Trafalgarsquare he was under the leadership of Mr.
Cuningham Grahame; and now, in the East End riots, his leader and instigator is Mr.
Champion, an ex-artillery officer and a wellknown Socialist. Mr. Champion is a remarkable personage, of magical persuasive influence over every one he approaches.
He hates the Gladstonian party, for which quality he has received a large private support from the Liberal-Unionists toward his newspaper. The Labor Elector.
This is one of the smartest organs in London, This is one of the smartest organs in London, and one of the bitterest against the trades-unionists. It is a remarkable feature of the present strike that Mr. Burns' most useful ally is Mr. John Lafove, the Tory wharfinger.

Berlin, Sept. 8.—The approach of the opening of the final session of the Reichstar is causing all particelto ask what form of policythe government is likely to take on which to go before the country. The semi-official press affords no special indication. Prince Bismarck is obviously awaiting the results of the French elections. If the present government is so materially weakened as to make Boulangerism an important factor of the French policy we are certain to hear the war drum beat as in 1887, and there will be renewed appeals to the patriotic to support further military burdens, even if Carnot be secured in power.

Prince Bismarck appears to be preparing to give prominence to social reforms, bills deal-ing with strikes and measures aiming to protectshe poorer classes against undue interest on loans. Legislation generally in favor of the working classes will play a leading part in the coming session of both the Reichstag and the Landtag as a preliminary to forming a plank in the election platform. Meanwhile the military expansion involves a demand in the Reichstag for a credit of 60,000,000 marks, Including expenditures involved in the forma-tion of two new army corps by dividing the corps now designated as the fifteenth. The measure is to organize rather than to increase the army. Still it implies a substantial numerical addition to the cavalry and artillery. The temper of the Foreign Office towards RUSSIA is growing worse. The rumor of the visit of the Czarewitch to Paris is not credited unless he goes in the strictest incognito. The Czar's treatment of Emperor William continues to embitter the relations between the two countries. The semi-official press is permitted or instructed to speak with notable frankness and severity. The Cologne Gazette declares that the first line of danger is not Paris but St. Petersburg. The Hamburg Correspondence, in an undoubtedly inspired article, says: "Germany must accept the fact of the permanent hostility of the Czar. Persistence in the Russian policy is more dangerous to the peace of Europe than French chauvinism. The Chancellor, being convinced of the Czar's lasting enmity, will cease his delicate and cautious treatment of Russia and henceforth frankly treat St. Petersburg as he treats Paria." The paper approves an entente with England and disapproves the idea of giving free scope to Russia outside of Europe.

Taffy for the Tars. Berlin, Sept. 7.—The crews of the German men-of-war Adler and Eber, withch were wrecked in the Samoa nurricane in March last, have arrived at Kiel, Prince Henry, in an address, told them they had nobly performed their duty in Samoa, showing themselves brave s-ma of the Fatherland. He welcomed them in the name of the Emperor, who, he said, loved every truly brave man as his own son. The Prince afterward gave a dinner in honor of the men.

Famine Stricken Peasants. LONDON, Sept. 8.—The famine-stricken peasantry of Albania are raiding villages in search of food. Thus far they have refrained from any further violence than has been neces-sary to render their victims as destitute as themselves, but it is feared that their desperathemselves, but it is feared that their despera-tion will soon lead them to acts beside which pillage would be praiseworthy. A similar condition of affairs exists in some parts of Montenegro, Prince Nicholas, with a view of allaying the sufferings of his people, recently proposed to borrow 2,000,000° florins from German and Austrian bankers as a relief fund. The hankers declined to great the lowers The bankers declined to grant the loan; so Niebolas turned to Russia for assistance, and a fund is being raised there for the starving subjects of the Czar's "best friend in Eur-

The utwost secrecy has been observed with regard to Schnaubelt's presence here, but recently his identity was discovered and his patron changed his quarters. It is now learned that Schnaubelt has fied the city, fearing he would be arrested and extradited to Chicago. It is thought that he has gone to Copenhagen.

New York, Sept. 7.—One of the most dis-astrous free that have ever struck Williams-burgh occurred this afternoon in the mam-moth sugar plant of Dick, Meyer & Co. The moth sugar plant of Dick, Meyer & Co. TORONTO, Sept. 2.—A Mr. Wellington, the expert employed by the Board of Trade, has submitted a report on the Esplanade question. He favors a viaduct for the railroads from York street to the East End and a public park on the water front.

Chief Justice Sir Thomas Galt delivered judgment Saturday in the now celebrated case of the Town of Cobourg against Victoria University, an action brought to prevent the university from uniting with the University of Toronto. Some time ago the court granted an injunction restraining the defendants, the Victoria University and the received and the second sec sity and its senate, who are co-plaintiffs, from taking any steps towards federation with Toronto. Subsequent to this injunction being granted the Senate of Victoria met in Toronto and passed a resolution in favor of federation. They then made the motion upon which judgment is now delivered, asking the court to dismiss the action and to dissolve the injunction as against them, declaring that their resolution showed that their interests were identical with the defendant university and they should no longer be held as co-plaintiffs. sity and its senate, who are co-plaintiffs, from His Lordship refused to grant either of their requests, holding that the resolution having been passed in Toronto instead of Cobourg is illegal and ineffective and that the injunction must be continued.

AC, P. R. Brakeman Killed.

PETERBORO, Sept. 7.—Another fatal railway accident occurred on the line of the C. P. R. about four miles east of Peterboro early this morning. Conductor Peck's special freight train left the Peterboro station at 3.30 a.m. eastward bound. When about four miles out the van and one car broke loose from the train. It is supposed that the engineer on the breaking of the bell rope whistled down brakes and Thomas Everest, who was in the van, ran out to perform his duty. In the darkness he did not notice that duty. In the daraness he did not notice that the train had broken and rushed on to his death. He fell off the end of the car between the rails and the brake beams catching his clothes; he was dragged about 160 feet. He was taken to the hospital, where he lingered in agony till 11.30 o'clock. The young man lived in Toronto.

publishes a letter here aunouncing that he will be a candidate for the nomination to Congress on the Demecratic ticket in Boston at the next election. He says:
I have stways supported the party and bave always voted for it. I am sound as far I have atways supported the party and have always voted for it. I am sound as far as my political record is concerned and I feel I descree the support of the party on that score. Then I have personal friends and general admirers enough in Boston to elect me anyhow. Any man who doubts my popularity with the American people has only got to travel about with me to get rid of that notion. Some may criticize my occupation in life. They don't know what they are talking about. My business is, and always has been ever since I came before the public, to encourage physical culture. Many a young man to-day is bigger and stronger because my example has set him to work. Then, besides, with my matches and exhibitions I have entertained hundrods of thousands all over the country. Also I have furnished through the newspapers interesting reading to millions. People have got to feel grateful to those who entertain them.

As for my methods of carrying on business and my dealings with other men, who can criticize them? If I make a promise I keep it. I have always looked after my friends and no one can accuse me of not acting fairly by him. A Sunday-school teacher cant say more than But what I feel to be more important than all can accuse me of not acting fairly by him. A Sunday-school teacher can't say more than that.

But what I feel to be more important than all else is the work which I have done to keep up the reputation of America among other nationa. The best men from everywhere have tried to beat me but failed, and since I first began I have kept the pugiliat championship of the world in this country. There isn't a self-respecting American, no matter what tom-fool ideas he may have about boxing in general, who does not feel patriotle pride at the thought that a native born American, a countryman of his, can lick any man on the face of the earth. It is human nature and this feeling of patriotism applies especially to Boston, where I was born and where I shall appear as a candidate.

As to my fitness for the place I can prove that in few words: A man is elected to Congress to look out for the interests of those who sent him there; that will be my motto, and living up to it will be my business. I know what is wanted by my friends and the citizens of Boston generally and fill try to getit. In my travels about this country and Europe I have had as much experience in public speaking as most people I'll have no trouble about getting a hearing in Congress or in making people yay attention to what I say.

The reason for this presumably was the high
