

Port Hope Reeve Rene Racine, foreground, points out disaster areas in downtown Port Hope yesterday morning to Tom Wells, centre, provincial minister of intergovernmental affairs, along with Port Hope Mayor Bill Wyatt, far right.

Estimates of damage in Port Hope have been as high as $10 million.

Speaking in Port Hope yesterday, minister of intergovernmental affairs Tom Wells said that he could see no reason why Port Hope would not be granted disaster area status. If the town is declared a disaster area, any money raised, such as the proposed donation from Cobourg, would be matched by the provincial government. "There are only a few people here who have relatives in Port Hope. I think that they would do the same for us if we were in their position," said Reeve Hendry.

Cobourg asked to contribute "at least $25,000"

Cobourg's town council will be asked to contribute "at least" $25,000 to the Port Hope disaster relief fund when a request is received from the Port Hope council. Cobourg Reeve Boyd Hendry informed council last night that he would suggest a contribution of at least $25,000 toward the fund, which will help pay for the cost of the massive cleanup project.

Blood clinic this Thursday

The Red Cross blood donor clinic scheduled for Thursday, March 27, at the Lions Recreation Centre in Port Hope is still going to operate despite this past weekend's disaster.

"We realize the people of Port Hope are busy with the exhausting task of cleaning up after the flood," said Cathy Nelson, blood clinic chairman, "but we hope they will be able to find time to donate blood."

Mrs. Nelson said the need for blood of all types is very urgent right now. In fact, she received a call from Red Cross headquarters Monday asking if the clinic would go ahead because blood is needed so badly.

The clinic will be held from 1:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at the Lions Centre. Refreshments will be served and donors get to rest awhile. For some this may be a cheerful and restful break from an otherwise very bad week.

Conservancy turn fire tower money over to disaster fund

By MANDY MARTIN

It was a heated debate for nearly an hour at a special meeting of Port Hope town council Monday at 5 p.m.

In a 5-3 vote, the council members approved a resolution excluding the old firehall tower from demolition, and if possible to restore and conserve the tower, if the local branch of the Architectural Conservancy of Ontario, or some other group, would fund the project.

But at a special meeting of the conservancy held last evening, members chose to go with the demolition of the tower and turn any funds which would have gone into restoration of the building over to the town's disaster relief committee for salvaging of other heritage buildings damaged in Friday's flooding of the Ganaraska River.

Province will declare Port Hope disaster area

By CAM CHRISTIE

"I have no doubt or hesitation that the cabinet will approve the designation of Port Hope as a disaster area," Thomas Wells, Ontario minister of intergovernmental affairs, told reporters at town hall yesterday.

The minister made his announcement following a walking tour of the flood area, accompanied by Mayor Bill Wyatt and Reeve Rene Racine. During the tour Wells was introduced to several storekeepers and citizens who related recollections of Friday's flood and showed the minister examples of damage which befell the downtown business area.

After a half-hour conference behind closed doors at the town hall Wells emerged and announced there was, "...no doubt it is a disaster situation." He said he would recommend at Wednesday's session of cabinet that the area be formally designated a disaster area so that a Disaster Relief Fund could be set up immediately.

He explained that the relief fund would be controlled by a local relief committee and contributions from public, business or municipal sources would be matched on a dollar-for-dollar basis by the government.

The local committee would also be responsible for assessing claims made by the private sector for damages and the paying out of funds based on these claims.

The estimated $5-million damage to public property is not eligible to receive funds under the provincial disaster relief scheme.

A reporter asked what steps the government was prepared to take over and above the dollar-for-dollar scheme in consideration of Port Hope's smallness. The minister replied that the government would review the matter and decide whether relief should be more generous on that account. Money would, he said, be provided by the province as it became needed.

Addressing the needs of the public sector, Wells said the ministry of transportation would be instructed to assist the Port Hope works department in whatever way was needed in order to restore the roads.

The minister concluded his statement, saying a liaison officer had been appointed from the ministry of intergovernmental affairs staff to communicate Port Hope concerns to other areas of the provincial government.

Smith in town

Stuart Smith, Ontario Liberal leader, is visiting the town of Port Hope today to view Friday's flood damage. Smith was slated to arrive at the town hall at 1 p.m. with two others.

Downtown cleans up after flood

By JAMES CUTTING

Port Hope's chief building official Donald Chalmers said Monday that the demolition of the old firehall would start right away.

The easterly wall of the firehall facing the river collapsed during last Friday's flood damage.

Chalmers said that the bowling alleys are all gone in the Higgins Bowling Academy. He said he was told that they won't be opening up the bowling alley again.

Along Ontario Street, north of Walton Street, only the liquor store was open and ready for business on Monday.

The Happy Home bakery on Ontario Street is closed until at least mid-week until final mopping-up operations are completed.

Watson's drug store, which suffered a tremendous loss of stock in the basement through water damage from water that came in through the sewers, was open on Monday.

The neighboring Stripe store was closed on Monday because the gas furnace was ruined when the flood waters filled the basement. The store didn't have any stock in the basement, just displays. The staff were still waiting to get the basement cleaned out.

The Radio Shack store which didn't get any flood water on its main floor was in operation on Monday. The store didn't lose any stock from the flood water in the basement, because it was all moved upstairs in time. The oil furnace, which had gone out, had been repaired on the weekend.

Bernie's shoe store was open for business on Monday but didn't have any heat as the furnace was still out. The store suffered some damage to a stock of rubber boots and bask packs which was stored in the basement.

Susan Dewhurst said she expected it would be a day or two before she re-opened her store. She said they were cleaning their rugs on Monday and moving stock back into the store. She said the gas furnace had been cleaned and put back in service. She said people have been fantastic in helping them clean up.

Mel Talbot, owner of Randall's book store was closed on Monday. He said he expected to be ready to open on Tuesday, but hadn't had his heat restored yet on Monday. Mel said he didn't know how much stock he had lost in his basement.

Burk's Variety, operated by Florence Redburn, was open for business on Monday although they still didn't have any heat yet because their gas furnace hadn't been repaired yet. She said she had no stock in the basement which was damaged by the flood.

Bob Holmes shoe store also was open for business but was still without heat on Monday until his gas furnace was repaired.

Disaster relief funds outlined for merchants

By JAMES CUTTING

More than 150 merchants and town residents who suffered heavy personal and property losses in last Friday's disastrous flood of the rain swollen Ganaraska River which ripped downtown stores and buildings apart and gouged up several town streets and bridges, were told Monday evening at a special Chamber of Commerce meeting that a disaster relief committee had been named and that members of the Rotary and Lions clubs were working together to provide financial assistance to those who had suffered losses.

Earlier in the day, Ontario Intergovernmental Affairs Minister Thomas Wells toured the flood-stricken parts of the community with Mayor William Wyatt and Reeve Gerry Houston and promised to take the town's plight before the Ontario cabinet on Wednesday, so the town can be eligible for provincial disaster relief funds.

Financial contributions towards the Port Hope Disaster Relief Fund are being channelled through the town municipal offices at Box 117, Port Hope.

Police chief Arthur O'Neill told the Rotary club that a lady already had left $10 at the police station on the weekend to help out the flood victims.

Russell Rowe, MPP (PC-Northumberland) said that funds raised locally would be matched by the province. Rowe hinted that the province's share may be improved to a two to one or three to one ratio for every dollar raised locally. Rowe saw the community having difficulty raising the $2.5 million half of the estimated $5 million dollars flood damage.

Deputy-reeve Gerry Houston cautioned the merchants that a dollar ratio for flood relief hadn't been determined yet. He said that matching grants could be as high as $3 or $4 or 90 cents on the dollar.

Houston noted that the provincial government had 13 disasters in Ontario last year to assist.

Town treasurer Neill Wakely explained that the federal government can do nothing to assist the town until the province officially declares Port Hope a disaster area.

LOCKE CLAIMS 20 YEARS EARNING WIPED OUT

A despondent councillor Cole Locke, whose wife Dorothy has operated a delicatessen shop in the heavily damaged Torville Terrace block for about a year, commented that their life savings had been wiped out.

Locke said the delicatessen shop had taken all the money they had earned over 20 years and they had been wiped out. He said they had mortgaged their home to the hilt to start the business.

Pages for posterity

Last night's Port Hope Evening Guide was sold out by 5:30 p.m. at all newsstands, and by 10 a.m. this morning, all extra office copies had been scooped up by Port Hoppers seeking extra copies to send to friends and relatives all over the world.

Today, as a special service to our readers, we are reprinting three of yesterday's special feature pages to give those who didn't manage to obtain extra copies the chance to inform others. By the way, tell them not to send roses....just money.

"The Joneses either have a plumbing problem or difficulty with their mortgage interest payments."

Locke contended that there was also a lot of other businessmen in town who were in equally tough circumstances because of the flood.

Locke said that he was lucky to have a paycheck to pay off the $35,000 loan they had used to start their business. But he pointed out that businessmen were faced with paying 17 per cent interest on borrowed money to finance the restocking of their stores.

The Lockes also disclosed later that a micro-wave oven had been stolen from the delicatessen store after the flood. They had not been allowed to salvage it because the store had been boarded up when the Torvil Terrace was declared unsafe following the flood.

GOULD APPRECIATIVE OF VOLUNTEER COMMUNITY SERVICE

Norm Gould, operator of a shoe business which suffered severe stock losses in the flood, said he was speaking on behalf of all the merchants, when he praised the terrific help he had received from the volunteers who cleaned up the stores after the flood.

"This town was bombed out on Friday night, it really was," he said emotionally. "We don't know how we could say thank you for all your help."

Dave Cutler commented that he had worked beside some of the young kids who volunteered. "We really have some terrific young kids growing up in this community," he said.

Mel Talbot, owner of Randall's Book Store, commented that this was the third disaster he had been through in his lifetime and echoed the warm praise for the volunteer support he had received from the people in the community.

Talbot asked whether the town engineers were going to make a detailed study of the buildings placarded as unsafe.

Deputy-reeve Gerry Houston explained that this was the owners' responsibility to have the buildings checked to see whether they were structurally safe. He noted that there were different structural engineering companies available who could provide an opinion.

LAWYER CLAIMS THIS AN EXTRA BURDEN ON DISASTER VICTIMS

Port Hope lawyer Gordon Kelly, who owns the building where the Chainway store was located and where his law offices were located upstairs above the store, questioned whether the town wasn't throwing another burden of cost on the already financially hurt businessmen.

He questioned what the unsafe sign meant and contended that there may be a procedure that the property owner doesn't understand.

When told by deputy-reeve Houston that the chief building official has the right to declare a building unsafe, Kelly retorted that if this right was provided in the building code, then that section of the code should be spelled out in the notice put on the buildings.

Councillor Cole Locke sympathized with Kelly's concern and questioned why the building owner should be the one who should be held responsible for having the building declared structurally safe. Locke admitted that he wasn't at the council meeting on Saturday night when the order to declare the buildings unsafe was authorized.

Port Hope lawyer Hugh Parker expressed sympathy for Kelly's concern. "These people who have been hit the hardest have been hit with another burden," he said. "In a sense were compounding the burden. Is it not possible to share the burden?" Parker agreed however with the initial move to placard the buildings to protect the safety of people.

Deputy-reeve Houston explained that if the municipality's engineers examined the buildings, these engineering costs wouldn't be eligible for provincial assistance to cover this cost.

Parker questioned whether there couldn't be a conflict of interest if the town's engineers provided an opinion on the building. People might want an opinion from someone who is not the town's engineers, he said.

Doug Mann, president of the Chamber of Commerce, suggested that the town could get a list of structural engineers available.

Don Chalmers, the town's chief building official, explained on Tuesday that all he required to lift the unsafe placard on the building was a letter from a construction engineer certifying the building as being structurally safe and a written indication that plans would be forthcoming later to make any repairs to the building.

Chalmers noted that the Haggis bowling academy had already been checked and was declared structurally safe and the placard would be removed when 100 gallons of paint thinner stored in the basement was removed today.

Parker urged merchants to document and log the hours of work required to clean up their place and keep the bills for repairs so they could have this information available when making claims for flood disaster assistance.

Robin Long told the meeting that there was no insurance available for time lost while their business operations were closed down. This question had been raised by Sam Reisler.

In Port Hope

Businesses report progress of cleanup

Elgin Ball, owner of Gweneel Flowers on Walton Street said he expected to have the mud and flood water mopped up and cleaned out by today and tomorrow and be back in business on a limited basis on Thursday. He said that the heat has been restored to his store. He said that all his store stock of plants and cut flowers were gone. He said the flood water was between 1 to 3 feet high on the main floor of his store.

Norm Gould, owner of Goulds Shoes, said he expected to be opening up fairly shortly. He said the heat had been restored to his store and the hydro power was back on in the store.

"Things have been cleaned up and new spring stock is coming in later this week," he said. "All the flooded stock has been replaced."

Larry Wilson, speaking on behalf of the Port Hope Lions Club said that the Lions have the Lift Foundation from which to draw relief funds. He said they have also contacted their Lion's district governor who will contact the cabinet for permission to solicit funds for the flood relief across Canada.

Tony Beauchamps, president of the Port Hope Rotary Club said they have received a telegram from the Grandmere Rotary Club in Quebec offering assistance.

A. K. Sculthorpe announced that the Newfoundland Heritage Foundation have also offered assistance to the town.

FLOOD RELIEF BENEFIT ANTIQUE AUCTION SALE IN APRIL

Bob Van Buren, disclosed that an antique auction sale would be held on the Port Hope bandshell with proceeds going to the flood disaster victims on April 20 or 27. Van Buren said that Roger Bannister of Bewdley had volunteered his services to act as auctioneer.

Anyone wishing to donate anything for sale in the auction can contact him at 797-2143 or phone between 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. in Port Hope at 885-8989.

ROTARIANS SET UP RELIEF FUND DRIVE

The Port Hope Rotary club on Monday evening unanimously agreed to work on the flood relief committee.

Rotary club president Tony Beauchamps will act as chairman of the Port Hope Disaster Relief Committee while Al D'Agostino will serve as vice-chairman. Michael Perry will be secretary and Merv Lawson will act as treasurer. Ted Lacey will be chairman of the claims sub-committee.

Rotarian Will Quigley is in charge of canvassing and fundraising. Larry Hall, CHUC newscaster has agreed to act as publicity chairman and Emmett Creighton, will be chairman of special events. Harrison Milne, will be in charge of the business and industrial canvass while Bob Fair and Kay Weatherell have agreed to look after the government canvass.

Lloyd Skinner will be in charge of the town canvass committee. A volunteer to take charge of the out-of-town canvass committee is being sought.

Donations start to come in

"We've had seven or eight donations to the disaster relief fund arrive in the mail this morning," Ted Hunt, town clerk, told the Guide this morning. "There're coming from all over."

Mayor Bill Wyatt confirmed a $100 donation had arrived from a Toronto source.

The disaster relief committee, which must raise $2.5 million to raise $2.5 from the province to go toward compensation of $5 in private property damage in the flooded town, has a temporary mailing address of: The Town of Port Hope, Disaster Relief Committee, Box 117, Port Hope, Ontario.

Cobourg damage estimate at $1.5 million

By JIM HENDRY
Cobourg officials have estimated damages caused by Friday's flooding at approximately $1.5 million.

A spokesman for the town said that the figure was arrived at after consultation with representatives of the ministry of intergovernmental affairs and the town engineering office.

John Rowlands, manager of the ministry's Field Services Branch in Oshawa, advised Cobourg's emergency control group that in most situations damage to private homes caused by flooding averages $1,000 per home.

The control group put the number of water damaged homes at 400, arriving at a figure of $400,000 for damage to private property.

Only damage to essential items - carpet, wallboard, major pieces of furniture, furnaces, and appliances - are covered under the disaster relief fund administered by the ministry of intergovernmental affairs.

Not covered by the fund, and so not included in the $1,000 figure, are: non-essential items stored in basements; garages and outbuildings; lawns, driveways, gardens and patios.

The emergency control group's estimate of $1.1 million dollars for damage to municipal property was described as "a very rough, ballpark figure."

The group spokesman said that town engineer Ken Rumball was inspecting damage to bridges along the Cobourg Creek waterway today and would have a more accurate figure as soon as possible.

Repair costs for at least one section of damage done by the flood have been set.

Cobourg town council last night approved an expenditure of $37,000 for road repairs and replacement of sanitary sewer pipe on James St., between College St and John St.

A large section of the road collapsed Friday afternoon, crushing the sanitary sewer.

Hogs 1,328: Base price index 100 $47.65-$47.75; closing at Toronto 47.40; live hogs 31.65
Sheep and lambs 2,376: new crop lambs $1.40-$1.60 with sales to $1.87 a pound.

LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP) - A light supply of slaughtered steers, heifers and cows traded at steady prices at the Ontario public stockyard Monday. There were too few bulls to establish prices. Slaughter calves traded on a dull demand at easier prices. There were no early sales of feeder cattle and calves. Hog prices dropped $1.05 cwt. With sales partly over, new crop lambs sold actively at higher prices. There were too few sales of other classes and sheep up to reporting time.

Slaughter cattle 583: A1-A2 steers over 1,000 lb. $75-$78 cwt.; medium 73-75; common 62-72; A1-A2 heifers all weights 71-75; medium 68-71; common 60-68; D1-D2 cows 58-59; D3 53-58; D4 50-55; D5 50-57.

Slaughter calves 552: Choice under 500 lb. $90-$100 with sales to 101.50 cwt.; good under 500 lb. 80-90; medium and common all weights 58-72; butcher calves over 500 lb. 75-85 with sales to 88.50.

Feeder cattle and calves 700: No early sales.

Mowat slams control measures

By CAM CHRISTIE
Farley Mowat gave a television interview yesterday to reporters who were in town to film Thomas Well's inspection tour. Mowat's interview was aimed to solicit donations for the disaster relief fund while promoting public awareness of the threat to historic buildings in the downtown core.

He told CBC and CITY television audiences the $10-million flood was a direct result of inadequate reforestation and control dams in the Northumberland hills. A study commissioned after severe flooding of Port Hope during the 1930s recommended these controls and Mowat says the province did not act because the price tag for the project would have been close to $10 million. The present need, he suggested, is to act on the original recommendations with increased reforestation and control dam projects.

The celebrated author warned that "jackals" would soon propose the construction of a floodway through the downtown area. Such a move would be an eyesore and functional only every 20-30 years, he warned.

The flood could be turned to the town's advantage, he added, if damaged sections are rebuilt in a more "unique" style than before. Otherwise, he said, Port Hope could lose the "whole business" while it is "down and out."

"Traitorous persons will try to take advantage of the town while it is trying to pick itself up." Mall advocates will take advantage of the situation by attracting attention to the flood-plain location of the downtown area. A plaza will then be proposed and, if built, it will force the downtown merchants out of business. Decay of Canada's best example of mid-19th century architecture will follow.

A third of Canada's population lives on flood plains, Mowat said. The town must take steps to pick itself up and the way to start, he indicated, is with a nation-wide relief campaign.

Mennonites offer aid to Port Hope

Monday morning, a representative of the Mennonite Disaster Relief Fund arrived in Port Hope from Kitchener to offer assistance and help in any way possible on behalf of his organization and community.

Cancel fashion show tonight

The fashion show scheduled for 7:30 p.m. tonight at the Port Hope Legion has been cancelled.

"The show involved so many of the downtown businesses and merchants, and there was no way they could be involved with the show, so we've decided to cancel it," Joan Fredrickson of the Port Hope Business and Professional Women's Club says.

Underlined

Scrawled on a wall on Mill Street south in Port Hope are the words "Mother Nature is a bitch." The graffiti sits just above an underline created by Friday's high water flood mark:

mini-CN tower stuck in the middle of an empty space, and there was no guarantee the next time a flood came, it wouldn't go. I couldn't see spending money on that, and so I was opposed. It might have taken extra costs to keep it up there."

The Port Hope conservancy had received a phone call over the weekend from the Newfoundland Heritage Foundation offering funds to help with the costs of preserving the old firehall, or other aspects of the town's historical and architecturally significant buildings in the downtown core.

....downtown businesses prepare to reopen

Bob said there was still water coming in the basement. He said they were still wiping up the main floor. He had no estimate yet on his total loss. He estimated he had 5 to 6 inches of water on the main floor during the flood.

The Trivia store was closed on Monday and was just waiting for the carpets to dry. They had moved their stock upstairs. They expected it would be Wednesday or Thursday before they re-opened.

The Coleman and Philp store was partially open for business but its service department was out of operation and they were not taking service calls. The basement beneath the store is all cleaned up now.

Reisler's ladies wear store was not open for business on Monday. Harriett Reisler estimated that the store lost about $15,000 in damaged stock. It was all basement stock and we couldn't get it all up in time," she said.

"I can't say enough about them." She said that heat and hydro had been restored and she was waiting for equipment to get her rugs dried.

The Pizza Store next to Gould's Store was closed until mid-week because the gas service hadn't been restored for the ovens.

She estimated that it would be the end of the week before they could re-open. She said they still needed to clean up the basement. She praised the efforts of the volunteers who helped them. "The volunteers were positively super," she said.

HOUSE OF FASHION SHARING CORNERSTONE STORE FACILITIES

Roxy Sheard, owner of the House of Fashion store on Walton Street which suffered extensive damage to the floor and lost its front windows from the impact of ice and debris during the flood, will share store facilities with the neighboring Cornerstone store. She had recently laid down a new carpet and had painted the entire store and was itching to get busy and clean it again. But the door and front windows have temporarily been boarded up.

Roxy said on Monday that Doug Dobney, of the Cornerstone, had been nice enough to let the House of Fashion use the back of his store until hers was ready.

The Cornerstone store which suffered just slight water damage to the floors, expects to be ready to re-open by Wednesday or Thursday.

Peter Elliott's general insurance office was open for business on Monday, having suffered only a wet rug during the flood. The business files had been lifted higher immediately before the flood.

The Ganaraska (Port Hope)

Credit Union Ltd. which also suffered minor water damage to rugs and floor was open for business as usual on Monday.

Tom Linton of Linton's Pet Shop estimated he lost about $1,000 worth of tropical fish when the furnace quit during the flood. He doesn't have a basement under his store and therefore didn't have any stock beneath.

RaH book store was closed on Monday, mopping up the floors and drying out the rugs. Harry Morris, operator of the store, said he hoped to have the store re-opened Tuesday. Harry said he suffered just floor damage and had got all his books moved up before the flood waters hit.

The Bric-A-Brac Shack operated by Kathryn McHolm remained closed on Monday while the staff began re-organizing displays and stock and cleaning the floors.

John Nesbitt of Nesbitt's Men's Wear said he hadn't suffered any damage to his stock and escaped water damage in the store.

Bonanza art sale Thursday

The Bonanza Art Sale is on this weekend at the Art Gallery of Cobourg!

This is the chance to acquire some work at a reasonable price. Works are donated from various sources, or on a commission basis, and funds raised go to gallery projects.

And there will also be baking in the tea room.

The sale begins Thursday 7 p.m. March 27 and will run March 28, 29 and 30.

Knights of Columbus bridge

Grace Taylor and Grace Mol were tops North-South and Yvonne Manning and Jackie Brown best East-West at duplicate bridge in the K of C hall, Cobourg, on Monday night this week.

Others in order of merit were - NS - Marlene and Jetty Thompson; Isobel and Budd Cotter; Phyllis Kelly and Fred Mol; EW - Donna Bottoms and Cheryl Barlow, Sylvia Powers and Gord Curtis, Mary Jane and Ernie Everingham.

NOTICE
RE: CLOSING OF ROAD ALLOWANCES

TAKE NOTICE that the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the Township of Hope at its meeting on Tuesday the 22nd day of April, 1980 commencing at 7:30 P.M., proposes to pass a by-law for closing and stopping that portion of the public road allowances described as follows:

- 1) Road Allowance in Concession 8, Part of Lot 15 (abutting the Wayne Wood and John Wright property) formerly County Road No. 10 and known as Plan No. 10-1 for the County of Northumberland.
- 2) Road Allowance in Concession 6 between Lots 26 and 27, more particularly described as follows:
Point of Commencement - 2,730 feet south of the survey stake located in the north-east corner of the St. John Bosco School yard, being the fence line on south side of the road allowance between Concession 6 and 7, thence running southerly for a distance of 2,185 feet;
Thence easterly 66 feet;
Thence northerly for a distance of 2,185 feet;
Thence westerly 66 feet to the place of commencement.
- 3) Road Allowance in Concession 10 Part of Lot 16, formerly County Road No. 10 and known as Parts 3, 6 and 8 on Plan 9R-1126.
- 4) Road Allowance in Concession 3 Part of Lot 25, established by the Quarter Sessions Court No. 264, October 11th, 1832 as follows:
a) Lying approximately 800 feet easterly from the north-west corner of Lot 25, commencing at a point 100 feet south of the north-west corner of the property line of the McKenzie property (such point being approximately 275 feet south of the road allowance between Concession 3 and 4) thence southerly to the mid point of Concession 3.

Smith is ready to take chance

TORONTO (CP) — Opposition Leader Stuart Smith says he's ready to take his chances with Ontario's voters because the government's throne speech "lacks initiative, leadership and policy."

Smith moved a motion of non-confidence in the legislature Monday after an hour-long speech in which he criticized government policy in health care, energy, the economy, the environment and education. The Liberal leader also chided the New Democrats for saying they won't support his motion.

He said he believes the electorate is ready to topple the 58-seat minority Progressive Conservative government and put the Liberals into power. The Liberals hold 34 seats and the NDP hold 33.

"There does come a point where people do have to stand on some principle," Smith told the handful of Tory and NDP members who stayed to hear his speech.

A vote on the non-confidence motion will be held after the legislature finishes debate on the throne speech, probably early next month.

RELIED ON FOREIGNERS

Smith said the minority government never took advantage of new markets in manufactured goods in the 1970s, relying instead on foreign investment and branch plants which left research and development in the hands of foreign-owned companies.

"We believe the '80s can be a time of unprecedented prosperity for Ontario. If there is anything we wish to accomplish in public life it is to be sure we do not waste the opportunities in the '80s the way they were squandered in the 1970s..."

Smith said while the provincial government must urge the federal government to do something about rising interest rates, Ontario must be prepared to cushion the blow interest rates have on homeowners, small businesses and farmers.

The Liberals are prepared to make public a detailed plan that would help people cope with rising interest rates and will ask the government to accept the plan, he said.

NDP Leader Michael Cassidy has said the NDP will not support a non-confidence motion over the throne speech because it was a non-aggression document, people are tired of elections and Smith lacked a substantive issue to bring to the public.

HAS OBLIGATION

Smith told the legislature his party had an obligation to give the government a chance and pointing toward the government benches, he said: "We've given you three years and we have seen nothing in the way of remedies."

He accused the government of being largely responsible for increases in the cost of living, reducing its support of education while putting the burden for it on the shoulders of property tax payers, failing to reduce Ontario's dependence on oil, failing to keep doctors in the medicare system, and failing to take a hard line against environmental polluters.

While Smith spoke in the legislature, Premier William Davis and a delegation from Massachusetts led by Gov. Edward King toured Ontario's transit development centre near Kingston.

$11 million silver robbery

LONDON (Reuter) — Police are looking for six gunmen and a bogus policeman who hijacked a truck-load of silver ingots worth £4.4 million ($11.4 million) in Britain's biggest bullion robbery.

The gang took less than a minute Monday to ambush a trailer truck, which was directed off the road with its escorting vehicle by a man posing as a policeman conducting a traffic census in London's East End.

Six men wielding sawed-off shotguns bundled the truck driver and his two-man escort into a nearby van. The victims were later dumped, bound and gagged but uninjured, in a locked garage several kilometres away.

The cab section of the truck was found Monday night 10 kilometres from the hijack spot, but the trailer, with its 321 ingots weighing 10 metric tons, is still missing.

Scotland Yard police headquarters told Interpol of the vanished silver, which was on its way to London's Tilbury Docks for shipping to East Germany.

Britain's biggest robbery took place in 1975 when $17.2 million was stolen from the Bank of America in London's exclusive Mayfair district.

The previous biggest silver bullion raid in Britain was in 1972, when ingots worth $900,000 were stolen.

Detectives said the thieves will be able to dispose of Monday's haul on the large bullion black market. With the decline in the value of paper money, precious metals have become an increasingly sought-after commodity.

Shah waits for surgery

CAIRO (CP) — Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi is running a high fever and is likely to be operated on in a few days, President Anwar Sadat said today after visiting the ousted Iranian monarch in his hospital room.

"He is preparing now for x-rays and he is still running a high fever," Sadat told reporters after his 15-minute visit. "He is in the hands of very capable doctors."

Sadat said it is likely the shah will undergo surgery in the next few days "but he is leaving the whole thing in the hands of his doctors." Medical experts say the shah's spleen may be cancerous.

An official spokesman said Egypt's decision to give sanctuary to the deposed shah was a mark of gratitude for his economic support for Egypt during the country's 1973 war with Israel.

The former monarch arrived Monday from his previous exile home in Panama.

Sadat emphasized to reporters that the former shah's stay in Egypt will be permanent. He previously spent four days in Egypt immediately after his downfall in Iran's Islamic revolution just more than a year ago.

SHOW GRATITUDE

An official spokesman said later that the shah's visit emanated from Egypt's adherence to Islamic principles and "in gratitude to the man who stood at the side of our people in their legitimate struggle to liberate their land and restore their rights."

In 1973, the shah provided Egypt with about $1 billion in loans and credits and later sent huge quantities of crude oil to offset a shortage.

TEHRAN--IN PRAYER--Iran's President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr joins thousands of Iranians at Martyr's Cemetery near Tehran for Friday prayers. Many of those who died during the revolution are buried here. Bani-Sadr delivered his New Year's message before the prayer service.

Mourning for slain archbishop

SAN SALVADOR (AP) — El Salvador's military-civilian junta ordered three days of national mourning for Archbishop Oscar Arnulfo Romero and vowed to track down the gunmen who assassinated the outspoken advocate of social reform as he celebrated mass.

The 62-year-old Roman Catholic archbishop of San Salvador, a leading critic of military repression and of all political violence, was shot in the chest Monday evening as he was raising the chalice at the altar in the chapel of the Hospital of Divine Providence, an institution he established for terminal cancer patients.

A radio station said four gunmen invaded the chapel. No group claimed responsibility for the shooting, but right-wing terrorists were suspected.

Enrique Morales Erlich, a civilian member of the junta which embarked on an economic-reform program early this month, said the killers will be "sought by authorities until they are found and punished."

BATTLING REFORM

He told a Panamanian television station in a telephone interview the government has also "taken measures to maintain order in the face of disturbances provoked by groups that will now take advantage of this to attack the regime." Terrorists of both the right and left have been fighting the junta's reform program, the leftists because they want to establish a socialist government and the rightists because they want to restore control of the country to the tiny landed oligarchy and its military allies.

As soon as radio announcements of the assassination were broadcast, thousands ran through the streets of the capital to their homes, fearing new violence. But about 1,000 persons went to the hospital where the archbishop was taken after he was shot.

A nun who said she was among about 125 people in the chapel told The Associated Press the archbishop was facing the congregation and "had just raised the chalice when we heard what sounded like an explosion, like a bomb," and Romero fell on his back.

She said she did not see the assassin or know where the shot came from.

MOVED TO HOSPITAL

The nun said the wounded man was taken to another hospital, the Policlinica Salvadorena, in the centre of the city, and she went with him.

"On the way to the hospital he said, 'May God have mercy on the assassins,'" she reported.

Doctors said Romero was struck once in the chest by a .22-calibre bullet. The official medical report said the bullet entered the left side of his chest, hit his heart and lodged in a lung.

Meanwhile, in neighboring Guatemala, police said unidentified gunmen shot and killed a prominent lawyer and his driver in an ambush in downtown Guatemala City. And in La Paz, the capital of Bolivia, thousands turned out for the funeral of a slain Roman Catholic priest who edited a left-leaning newspaper. The bullet-riddled body of Rev. Luis Espinal was found Saturday, and the government blamed the killing on "para-military terrorists."

Montreal back to work

MONTREAL (CP) — Municipal blue-collar workers returned to their jobs today after the Quebec government acted to end their 41-day strike with special legislation.

"Everything seems to be back to normal," said Rene Morency, a spokesman for the public works department.

"Difficult" for hostages

TEHRAN (CP) — The move to Egypt by the deposed shah of Iran is a moral victory for Iran but will make resolution of the U.S. hostage issue "extremely difficult," Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh said today.

The minister spoke as thousands of Iranians surrounded the United States Embassy today chanting slogans against the deposed shah, President Jimmy Carter, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Premier Menachem Begin.

The demonstration, called by several revolutionary groups to protest Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi's flight to Egypt, began peacefully as well-organized groups marched into Ayatollah Taleghani Avenue in front of the embassy.

The minister said at a news conference that the transfer of the shah from Panama has undermined trust in the hostage negotiations and may make the new Majlis (parliament) less favorable to a settlement.

popular-vote shares in each of 39 congressional districts. Only California, with 306 delegates, has more say at the Democratic convention this summer, and its primary is more than two months away.

A poll Monday in The Daily News showed Carter the preferred candidate by a narrowed but still hefty margin. "I don't think we're going to win, but I don't think we're going to lose by 20 points, either," said Tom Southwick, spokesman for the Massachusetts senator. That was Carter's margin in the Louis Harris survey.

New York Republicans voted on a mystery ballot, which listed delegate candidates but not their nomination preferences. New York will have 123 votes at the Republican convention, 117 elected today and six others chosen by a state convention.

Reagan supporters won 34 convention seats without opposition; Thirty-four unopposed candidates were uncommitted and one was for Bush.

REAGAN LEADING

There were 38 known Reagan supporters in contested races and 35 Bush advocates. The others were uncommitted or at least weren't saying.

It was Carter against Kennedy in Connecticut, too, with 54 Democratic delegates at stake. California Gov. Jerry Brown and minor candidate Lyndon LaRouche also were on the ballot there.

Despite the New York poll and a bleak assessment by aides, Kennedy said: "I feel good about it. I think we've got this campaign moving."

Warrant issued

TORONTO (CP) — Police issued a warrant Monday for a man wanted in the killing Sunday of a mother and daughter in what was believed to be a domestic dispute. The warrant charges the man with the murder of Rosa Albanesi, 38, and her daughter, Carmella, 21. Police said a relative had been called to the home to assist Mrs. Albanesi in an argument with her daughter over her association with a boyfriend. The women were found by a second relative who was called after the shooting.

Jogger dies

TORONTO (CP) — Albert Opitz, 78, a retired miner, hit by a car while jogging Saturday, died Monday of internal injuries in a Toronto hospital. Police said he was running toward High Park, a park in the city's west end, when he was struck. Kevin Daniel Rankin, 21, of Toronto has been charged with criminal negligence causing death, failing to remain at the scene of an accident and failing to report an accident. Opitz came to Canada from Poland 56 years ago. He worked as a miner in Sudbury, Ont., for 30 years and moved to Toronto in 1976.

Kennedy says defeat today is not the end

NEW YORK (AP) — New Yorkers voted today in one of the most important U.S. presidential primaries, with Senator Edward Kennedy saying he may finally gain an upset over President Carter — but vowing that defeat would not end his challenge for the Democratic nomination.

Ronald Reagan held the Republican lead in New York even before the votes were counted as he competed there and in the Connecticut primary with former UN ambassador George Bush.

Bush campaigned hard in Connecticut, where he spent his boyhood, in an effort to cut into Reagan's command of the Republican race.

Carter and Kennedy also were matched in Connecticut, but their real battleground was New York, a primary the challenger had described as a referendum on the course of the Democratic party.

VOTES AVAILABLE

New York Democrats were assigning 282 nominating votes, apportioned on the basis of the

By 5 p.m. Friday it became apparent the Ganaraska River would more than trickle over the Walton St. bridge Water sweeps over Ontario Street at approximately 5.00 p.m. Friday. The floor of the Ganaraska Hotel is already covered.

Vehicles are still parked on Water Street as the water breaks over the bridge.

Friday's flood

Town crews carted sandbags and loads of sand along Queen Street in an attempt to hold back the river.

At 8.30 Friday night the water was surging through Chainway, the Old Firehall and Torville Terrace. Miraculously the display window at the Cornerstore held.

Seven town buildings unsafe

Wickham's General Store and Locke's Delicatessen were washed away in Friday night's storm. The rear wall of the Torville Terrace shops, including an outdoor sundeck were washed away as the river claimed a new channel bed. It is expected that the western end of the block, depicted here, will be torn down.

She had ordered a life jacket

The Sears order office on Ontario Street collapsed at 7:30 p.m. Friday night as the Ganaraska River rushed through the interior of the building buffeting walls and foundations.

By Saturday morning, the office had rented space in the Stokes building on Walton Street, former location of The Magpie. Other downtown merchants have not been so lucky. Where they will relocate, and even if they can afford to relocate, are questions yet to be decided.

Shortly after 9 p.m. Friday night, a woman looked down Ontario Street to what remained of the Sears office.

"It's my husband's birthday. I'd ordered him a birthday present last week and it was expected in by today or tomorrow. I had intended to go in Saturday morning."

The gift? A life jacket.

Wickham's General Store and Antique Shop was obliterated. From Walton Street you can look south to Lake Ontario.

Residents return to their Mill Street home Saturday morning.

UCL Bantam A champions...

Vanquish Legion, Baltimore to gain title

Eldorado Nuclears power past opponents

Well, the UCL season has come to an end for this year. Actually, it came to an end for most teams about two weeks ago. One of the Port Hope teams that won a UCL crown was Eldorado Local 13173, who captured the Bantam A championship. One reason for the delay in reporting Eldorado's victory is that two of their game sheets have not been turned in to the UCL convener on the BAA. The sports department at the Guide has been trying to contact someone who might know what the scoring statistics were for those games, but has had no luck.

So, we'll just have to give you what we have. Eldorado defeated Legion Branch 30, 5 points to 3, in the preliminary round of the Bantam A championship. We've already reported games one and two, which Eldorado won and tied. Game three, which the Legion won to force a fourth game, is one of those games for which we do not have the scoresheet. Suffice it to say that the whole Legion team played a great game, as they pulled out a 5-2 win.

Game four of the series was quite a bit closer than the final score would seem to indicate, as Eldorado prevailed 5-2. Neither team scored until the second minute of the second period when the Locals' Steve Shortt beat Steve Saman on a play that was arranged by Mike Powiada and Mike Evans. That proved to be the only goal of the first two periods.

Eldorado got things rolling in the final frame, striking for 2 goals in the first 3 minutes of the period to put the game out of reach. Mark Chaput and Kelly Ritza fired the unassisted markers. The Legion tried valiantly to get back into the game, as Joe Harvey finally solved the goalkeeping exploits of Tom DeLong midway through the third period. But less than a minute later Ritza made it 4-1 on a play that was arranged by Evans.

Shortt combined with Powiada and Bob Cain to make it 5-1 with less than a minute to play. Twenty-seven seconds later Chris Birks converted a Darrell Donnelly pass to round out the game's scoring.

So Eldorado advanced to the Bantam A finals against Baltimore. Game one of the final series was played in Baltimore, with the Nuclears edging their hosts, 5-3. Unfortunately, this is another game for which the sports department has not received any summary.

The second and last game of the series was played in Port Hope with Eldorado walking away from their opponents, 7-1. Mike Powiada, Mike Trotter and Dan Durocher led the explosion with two goals and one assist apiece. Mike Evans fired their other goal and also added two assists. Baltimore's Bernie Paziuk ruined DeLong's shutout bid midway through the second period.

Congratulations to the Eldorado Local 13173 Nuclears on a fine season.

16-team Pee wee House League Tourney...

Huffman's reassert themselves, capture Haldimand tourney

Huffman Bros. have won the Haldimand minor hockey Association Pee wee tournament for house league teams. The tournament was held this past Saturday and Sunday in Grafton. While all those Port Hope Pee wee teams competed in the sixteen-team event, Huffman's edged the Grafton Legion, 3-2 in the final, to walk off with the top prize.

In the opening round of the tournament, Cobourg Police defeated Colborne, 4-1; Huffman's thumped Baltimore, 6-3; Cobourg Credit Union beat Brighton, 7-3; Cobourg St. Mike's edged TGrenton Forchuk, 6-5; Port Hope's S & R Body Shop were edged by Grafton Legion, 1-0; Port Hope's Richard's Printing edged Trenton Valley Lodge, 4-3; Trenton Estates nipped Trenton Scalletta, 4-3. Cobourg Legion advanced to the second round with a bye when Warkworth could not make it through the high waters of the counties on Saturday.

In Huffman's opening game victory, Bruce Giroux and Scott Smith proved to be too hot to handle, as they both fired a hat-trick to lead their team to their 6-3 decision.

S & R Body Shop, finalists in the UCL pee wee A championships this year, ran into a hot goaltender and succumbed to Grafton. Steve Duncan picked up the shutout, with Terry Hilborn scoring the only goal of the game.

Pete Strybosch fired a pair of goals to lead Richards, the B winners of the UCL Pee wee division, in their victory over Trenton. John McGown and Scott Graham also fired singles for Richards.

In the consolation section of the tournament, Brighton downed Colborne, 3-2; Baltimore received a bye when Warkworth did not arrive; Trenton Forchuk nipped S & R Body Shop, 3-2; Valley Lodge doubled Scalletta, 4-2.

The Body Shop boys loss dropped them out of the tournament. Stefan Markowski and Clayton McCann scored the only S & R goals.

In the consolation semi-finals: Brighton shutout Baltimore, 4-0 and Trenton Valley Lodge clipped Forchuk, 3-2. Brighton downed Valley Lodge, 4-1 in the final to win the consolation championship.

The grand championship's quarter-finals saw Grafton down St. Mike's, 7-0, and Credit Union thumped Cobourg Police, 6-1. Richard's Printing succumbed to Trenton Estates, 4-1. Pete Strybosch fired the only Port Hope goal of the game.

Huffman Bros. continued their winning ways by hammering Cobourg Legion, 7-3. Once again Bruce Giroux had fun, as he collected 4 goals and an assist to pace his club to their victory. Scott Smith added a goal and 2 assists with Greg Boddison and Scott Wakely adding singles. Pete Flemming added 2 assists.

In the semi-finals, Grafton defeated Trenton Estates, 3-2, and Huffmans edged Cobourg Credit Union, 6-5. In Huffmans third win of the tourney, Greg Boddison clicked for a hat trick, Chris Cornish and Scott Smith both added a goal and 2 assists, while Bruce Giroux rounded out the scoring with a goal and an assist.

In the championship final, which pitted the host Grafton team against Huffmans, the Port Hope boys came up with a great team effort to nip their opponents, 3-2. Scott Smith, Greg Boddison and Bruce Giroux all fired a goal and an assist to pace the winners' attack. Grafton's Earl Hare led his team with a goal and an assist, but he also took 3 of his team's 5 penalties.

Cheer Walter Smith would like to thank and to congratulate the boys for a very successful season. Huffmans finished atop the UCL Pee wee division in the regular season, won that league's A division championship and now have conquered the best house league teams from Cobourg and Trenton as well. Congratulations, fellows.
