

The Weekly Guide.

$2.50 A YEAR $2.00 IF PAID IN ADVANCE 50c additional to U.S.

"Vires Acquirat Eundo"

102ND YEAR

PORT HOPE, ONT. FRIDAY, MARCH 31, 1933

NUMBER THIRTEEN

Budget Taxes Sugar And Tires Sharply Raises Income Levies

New Taxation to Provide Minimum of $70,000,000 in Revenues—5 Per Cent. Tax on Interest Payments and Dividends—New Sales Tax Requirements Take Many Articles Off Exempted List—Changes are Effective Now.

The following is a summary of the taxation changes in the 1933 Federal Budget presented by Hon. R. N. Rhodes, Finance Minister, in the House at Ottawa, on Tuesday:

Two cents per pound levy on all refined sugar used in Canada. Cosmetics, from the humble but colorful lipstick to the subtle, modest powder, must bear a tax of 10 per cent.

All sales tax exemptions are wiped out except in the case of products manufactured by the Canadian blind.

Income-tax rates are completely revised—sharply upward.

Income-tax exemptions are all reduced.

Corporation income-tax raised to 12 1/2 per cent. and exemption removed.

Tobacco preparation, automobile tires, malt products for brewing, cigarette papers and tubes, newly taxed.

Stabilization fund to aid agricultural exports to British Isles, will guarantee against loss on exchange.

Government gives sympathetic view to plan to reduce rates of interest on bank deposits; will ing to join by cutting rate on postal savings deposits.

Tax on postal notes increased to three cents on each note; formerly one cent.

All cheques must bear 3-cent stamp—the $5 exemption being wiped out.

Dumping duty on pound sterling is reduced to basis of pound at $4.25; formerly $4.40.

Provisions to ensure collection income tax on bearer bond interest payments.

Tax of five per cent. on interest collected in foreign currency on Canadian bonds, when that currency is at a premium in Canada, effective April 1st, 1933.

Excise duties on distilled spirits used in medicines, extracts and perfumes raised to $2.50 proof gallon.

Excise duty of $1 per gallon on proof spirits used in fortifying native wine.

Tax of five per cent. to be collected at source on all interest or dividends paid by Canadian debtors to non-residents, effective April 1, 1933.

Few tariff changes.

DIES SUDDENLY WHILE AT WORK

William Thomas Was Employee Of Nicholson File For Over Twenty Years

William Thomas, well-known Port Hope died suddenly while at work at the Nicholson File Company's plant, Cavan Street as a result of a heart attack. On Friday Mr. Thomas appeared in his usual good health and collapsed while working in the forging room about 10.30 o'clock. Dr. H. W. Benson was summoned and he was rushed to the Port Hope Hospital in Messrs. Jex and Smith's ambulance. However, Mr. Thomas only survived for a few moments.

Deceased, who was sixty-eight years of age, was born in England, and came to Canada in 1912. Since that time, he has been a valuable employee of the Nicholson File Company. He was well-known and highly respected in the community and his many friends will be shocked to learn of his sudden demise. He attended the Port Hope United Church and for a number of years sang in the choir.

Left to mourn his passing are his wife, two daughters, Mrs. (Betty) Elliott, Toronto, Mrs. (May) Williams, Windsor, and four sons, Edward, Port Hope, James, Port Hope, William, Hamilton and Leslie of England.

30TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Friends Honor Mr. and Mrs. John Mulvey At Their Home

On the occasion of their thirtieth wedding anniversary, upwards of thirty friends staged a surprise party for Mr. and Mrs. John Mulvey at their home, Ridout street, on Monday night. On behalf of the guests, Mrs. I. Walters presented them with a handsome rose bowl.

The evening was spent in progressive euchre and dancing, music for which was supplied by the local old time orchestra. The euchre prize winners were, Ladies, 1st, Mrs. W. Hills; 2nd, Mrs. J. Mulvey; Gents 1st, P. Rowden; 2nd, A. W. George. Refreshments were served at the close of the program.

NATIVE OF HOPE TWP. PASSES IN PETERBORO

With tragic suddenness, the death occurred at Peterboro of Robert S. Goheen at his residence, 481 Aylmer Street.

For the past nineteen years, Mr. Goheen had conducted a grocery business at the corner of Aylmer and Murray Streets. It is understood that he had prepared to open for business as usual, but not feeling well he had lain down on a couch. He expired shortly afterwards.

Mr. Goheen was a native of Hope Township. Surviving him is his wife and one daughter Mildred and son Donald. Besides his mother, he also leaves three brothers: George A. Goheen and Milton Goheen of Peterboro and Wesley Goheen of Illinois, U.S.A.

The funeral was held on Monday afternoon, with services at 2.30 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, pastor of Murray Street Baptist Church. Interment at Little Lake Cemetery.

ACQUITTED AT WHITBY ASSIZES

Mr. Justice Kerwin late Thursday at Whitby directed his Assize Court jury to acquit of manslaughter Archie Hopkins, who had been accused in the death of ex-Alderman Thomas Sheridan on Jan. 28.

Sheridan was found dead, of exposure, alcoholism and a head injury—near Hopkins' home. On the stand, Dr. E. R. Frankish admitted that hairs found on a scapting—suggested as the weapon used—were only "similar" to Sheridan's hair, and that there were differences in color.

His Lordship commented on this testimony, and R. V. Sinclair, K.C., for the Crown, admitted that his case was purely circumstantial. His Lordship then instructed the jury to acquit the prisoner.

FOREST STATION AT ORONO CLOSED

Suspension Of Operations Costs 65 Their Jobs—May Mean Loss Of C.N.R.

As the result of a policy of further reduction in governmental expenditures, the Provincial Forest Station at Orono will not be operated this season, was the text of a statement issued by the Department of Forestry at Toronto; and as a consequence about sixty-five men who have been regularly engaged during the summer months will not find employment at the Orono Forest Station this year. Work at the two similar stations in Ontario, Midhurst and St. Williams, will likewise be suspended; except for duties of the permanent staff, which, in the case of Orono, is composed of only six men, exclusive of the superintendent.

Each year at the beginning of April, millions of seedlings and young trees are shipped to points throughout Ontario from Orono in the valuable two-fold work of reclaiming waste lands and re-establishing a wealth of forests within the province; and again this year plans had been completed for this tremendous annual output which reached a volume locally in 1931 exceeding 100 tons and in 1932 almost 150 tons, but following this recent order no shipments will be made this Spring.

Added to this great loss to the province will be the complete loss of work expended during the last year and a half as shipment of a large part of the 1933 crop will be impossible in a year's time, consequently the small trees must be destroyed (and subsequently replaced with smaller seedlings) prior to the next season of operation.

A further justification will be the jeopardizing of the continuance of the Orono Division of the Canadian National Railroad as revenue from shipments from the Orono Forest Station amounts to much more than all other revenues earned on the division. These costs are paid by the persons who obtain the trees but are credited to Orono C.N.R. station from which the shipments originate.

But the most serious loss, from a strictly Orono standpoint, is the removal from employment of over 60 workmen, the majority of whom live in the immediate vicinity, that will follow this departmental order. It has been customary by merchants in the village to give sufficient credit, where necessary during the winter against almost certainty of the resumption of work in the Spring; and with this means of revenue to the workman removed it is up to the municipal and civic authorities to urge the government to continue the operation of the Orono Forest Station, if only upon a part-time basis.

From a strictly economic standpoint, this course would be much preferred to the alternate procedure of granting relief, as in addition to furnishing a regular weekly income to many, it would save thousands of dollars in young trees, overcome the otherwise inevitable retrogression of land and equipment at the Station, and render a valuable service to the entire province. The outlay of cash necessary to the adoption of such a plan would be little in excess of that in granting direct relief, the provincial government in any case being responsible for forty per cent. of all relief, and the part-time system would be much preferred by former employees.

The danger of losing what little railroad service that is now given must not be overlooked. With a large portion of its revenue removed, it seems hardly likely that even a four-day schedule would be maintained on what is even now a very questionable self-supporting division. Although none two well patronized, even in the best of times, the railroad has always been considered indispensable to the prosperity of the community.

A special session of Council was called to confer with the workmen and shape some course of action that would restore a valuable service to the province, and provide much-needed employment to the bread-winners of over half a hundred families in the district.

It is not known where sprats, a fish found in British waters between November and February, go during the rest of the year.

ASK COURT ORDER TO EXHUME BODY

Insurance Co. Makes Application For Disinterment Of Former Trenton Man

Application for an order for disinterment of the body of Henry Charles Johnson, who died in Trenton, Ont., on or about August 22, 1932, was made on behalf of Loyal Protective Insurance Co., before Mr. Justice Raney in Weekly Court at Oszode Hall. (The hearing of the application was adjourned until March 30.)

Henry Charles Johnson suffered a fracture of the skull as a result of a fall in Trenton on May 28, 1932, and his widow, Edith Clare Johnson, is claiming $4,000 from the insurance company under the terms of a sickness and accident insurance policy.

Mrs. Johnson bases her claim on a clause of the policy which provides that he insurer will pay $4,000 "if the death of assured occurs while the contract is in force and within 60 days after the injuries have been received, as a result, alone and independently of all other causes, of bodily injuries causing total disability immediately following such injuries and continuously until the death of the insured."

The application of disinterment of Johnson's body is made on behalf of the insurance company which questions the allegation that the man died "as a result, alone and independently of all other causes, of bodily injuries." The motion for "the order for disinterment says that it is required for the purpose of an autopsy and is to be "subject to such conditions as to costs of the autopsy and the re-interment as may be deemed proper." The motion states that Johnson's body is buried in Evergreen Cemetery, Murray Township, Hastings County.

Gordon and Elliott, Peterboro, are solicitors for Mrs. Johnson and C. Frank Moore, Toronto, is acting for the insurance company.

PETERBORO CAR SKIDS OFF ROAD

Vehicle Driven By Louis Yeotes Ditched West Of Here—No One Injured

Turning over into the ditch on the highway at Jones' Hill west of here shortly after midnight on Sunday, Louis Yeotes and family, of Peterboro, had a miraculous escape from injury.

Two new cars, connected by a towing gear had been stopped on the highway by the driver, Herbert Wells, of Toronto. As Yeotes arrived on the scene he applied his brakes and the car went into a skid, tipping into the ditch and turning over twice. Provincial Motorcycle Constable A. E. Reilly went to the scene of the smash and investigated. No charge under the Highway Traffic Act will be laid but Yeotes may face an L.C.A. charge.

While proceeding to the accident Officer Reilly lost his flashlight and whistle: Any person finding same is asked to return the articles to Mr. Reilly or leave same at this office.

PAIR RECEIVE THREE MONTHS

On two charges each of breaking and entering, Howard Simmons and William MacDonald, Murray Township, were given three months in jail on each charge when they appeared before Magistrate J. H. Davidson at Cobourg. The sentences are to run concurrently.

MacDonald had previously pleaded guilty to the charges and had been remanded for sentence. In written statements given by the youths to Provincial Constable W. J. Carey and J. McBrien, they admitted entering the bathouses of John Porter and Henry May, Weller's Bay, near Twelve O'Clock Point. They confessed to stealing gill nets which were later found by police. Porter testified that his cottage and bathhouse had been broken into and chinaware, field glasses, fishing tackle and other articles had been stolen.

Asks Fairer Appointments United Counties Officials

Bowmanville Editor Claims that Members from Durham Should Demand more Equitable Distribution of County Jobs—All Higher Paid Positions Held by Northumberland Residents

The Bowmanville Statesman, in their current weekly issue strongly criticises the disparagement in the appointment of officials under the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham, claiming that Northumberland has been given the lion's share of better jobs. The article is as follows:—

The depression has done much to force the average citizen to take a keener interest in the affairs of municipal administration and particularly the expenditures of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham have been a major consideration. Reports of United Counties affairs have been eagerly read and in the discussions one finds some rather amazing facts.

The resignation in February of Sheriff D. J. Nesbitt of Cobourg brought to light an outstanding situation, for which we are not going to blame the Counties Council, but Durham County for quietly sitting by and watching practically everything in the way of Counties appointments get to our neighboring County of Northumberland.

Unless one ferrets out these facts, perhaps the inequality of the division of these Counties political plums would not be noticed, but we have gone thoroughly into the matter and find some very interesting yet startling facts.

First, that Northumberland has a population of 31,452 as compared with Durham's population of 25,782, or approximately 25% more. Despite this difference in population Durham County pays approximately the same amount in taxes as Northumberland. We take from this that Durham County farm lands are of more value than farm lands in Northumberland. If that is the case, and the tax payments are practically equal there appears to be no reason why the Counties appointments should not be evenly divided between the residents of the two counties. Looking over the list, however, we find that the plums have always gone to Northumberland while Durham has apparently sat back and watched our neighbors get every worthwhile appointment, while only a few of the lower paid positions came to Durham. To prove our contention we list the offices held by residents of Northumberland County as compared with 5 offices held by Durham people:

Northumberland Appointees
Counties Crown Attorney.
Clerk of the Surrogate Court
Sheriff
Deputy Sheriff
Counties Magistrate
Counties Clerk and Treasurer
Road Superintendent
County Solicitor
Three Court Stenographers
Durham Appointees
Governor of the Jail
Matron of the Jail (Daughter of Governor)

Turnkey of the Jail
Supt. House of Refuge
Matron House of Refuge (Daughter of Supt.)
From the division it is apparent that Durham has certainly not had

Although the feathers of silkies may be either white or black, they are the negroes of the fowl race.

Enjoy the Convenience of a
PULLEY CLOTHES LINE

5 1/4 in. galvanized pulleys, each.....	25c
18 gauge 7 wire, flexible galvanized continuous line, per 100 ft.....	35c
Wooden Line Guides, each.....	15c
Large Screw Hooks, each.....	5c

ALF. OUTRAM, Hardware, Phone 5
Connor Washers Sales and Service.

AGED LADY DOES OWN HOUSEWORK

Mrs. Wm. Dovey, Lindsay, Landed At Port Hope And Settled At Port Granby

Mrs. William Dovey, 18 Bond street, Lindsay, this month celebrated her ninetieth birthday, and the nonagenarian's family landed in Port Hope many years ago. She is still quite active and does her own housework.

The venerable old lady was born in England and came to Canada when a child of six with her parents. The family landed at Port Hope and settled at Port Granby where her parents were among the early pioneers and then about fifty years ago she moved to Lindsay. Well for her age, Mrs. Dovey keeps busy with reading and sewing. She displayed several quilt blocks, worked in the finest stitches and was also told that the lady liked knitting, "in fact I do anything to keep me from being idle, to help pass the hours more quickly," the lady said. "This lovable lady is well liked by the kiddies, who often drop in to visit her and do the odd job and she likes to have them come in, brighten up her work and help her to keep young with them.

Mrs. William Dovey has no near relatives, her parents died in the house where she is now living, she has no sisters, her husband passed away nearly twenty years ago and she has no children. "It must seem a long time to look back on," the writer asked, "Oh, I never think of it, I don't look backward but always forward," was the reply this wise young woman of ninety winters gave.

Mrs. Dovey is a member of the Salvation Army and her favourite reading material is the "Salvation Army War Cry." Once active in the work of the Army, she now confines her activity to sewing and knitting for the needy, and once in a while goes to church.

The perennial success of detective stories is mainly due to "suspense" after all, the very stuff of real life.

DUCK SHOOTING SEASON STANDS

Starlings Added To List Of Unprotected Birds By Fish and Game Committee

No change in the duck-shooting season will be suggested by the Fish and Game Committee of the Ontario legislature, the committee has decided. Many suggestions for a change of date had been received.

Representing the St. Ann's Shooting and Fishing club, G. T. Clarkson, of Toronto, suggested legislation to control construction of hides, to restrict the feeding of ducks.

On Lake St. Clair, his club refrains from duck shooting for a month after the season opened on Sept. 15; did not have any permanent hides and would not shoot during feeding times. "Some poor sportsmen, he said, simply "massacred" the ducks when they were feeding.

The committee took no action, the matter being left over till next year.

EXTEND CALL TO REV. D. M. SMITH

Baltimore And Bethesda Invite Rev. Mr. Smith To Become Their Minister

The people of Baltimore and Bethesda have invited Rev. D. M. Smith, of Northport, to become their minister at the beginning of the next conference year. Rev. Mr. Smith's letter of acceptance was read at a recent service. (The call will be subject to the approval of the Conference board.

And some day some of us will be calling these "the good old times."

ONTARIO DEFICIT WAS $2,060,798

Decreased Revenues With Exception Of Gasoline, Corp'n Tax And Licenses

With a deficit of $2,060,798 for the fiscal year ending October 31, 1932, Ontario's public accounts were tabled in the Legislature Thursday. Ordinary revenue was shown as $64,175,243 and ordinary expenditure $62,173,036. This indicated a surplus of $2,002,146, but special expenditure of $4,062,944 wiped out the surplus and left the deficit.

Included under special expenditures were $808,470 for unemployment relief, $567,120 for old-age pensions during 1931, and $2,330,463 in payment on exchange on United States funds.

Decreased revenues were shown in every department except three, gasoline tax, corporation tax and motor vehicles, which showed slight increases due to an increase in the tax last year.

The Ontario Liquor Control Board profits dropped $740,030, timber duties $889,000, succession duties $3,368,190. In 1931-32, succession duties amounted to $9,504,874; last year they were $6,136,624.

Assets Increased

Assets at the end of the year totalled $605,184,660, compared with the previous year's assets of $515,783,236. Liabilities, however, were $574,419,393 as compared with $520,687,560 the previous year. Excess of total assets over total liabilities declined from $31,115,735 at the end of 1930-31 to $30,765,267 at the end of the past year.

Ordinary expenditures in 1931-32 were kept below ordinary revenue by $2,002,146, while the previous year there was deficit on ordinary account of $456,991. Ordinary revenue was down $214,859, while ordinary expenditure was slashed $2,675,907.

Under current assets, it is shown the province had $15,709,648 cash in banks at the end of the year, as compared with only $3,973,554 the previous year.

More Money Advanced

Money advanced to farmers under the Agricultural Development Act rose from $38,373,380 in 1930-31 to $45,721,554 in the year under review.

Total assets shown in current and capital assets, while the total liabilities include capital and current liabilities. Under capital liabilities, the accounts show Ontario stock and debentures increased $44,910,766 to $499,986,011 on October 31, 1932.

The report of the Ontario Savings Office shows deposits dropped from $26,885,844 to $23,709,819. Proceeds of bond and treasury bill issues totalled $185,659,387 in addition to the ordinary revenue of $54,175,233.

Estimated Receipts

Ontario's estimated receipts for the year ending Oct. 31, 1933, are shown as $50,333,000 for ordinary and $7,601,000 capital account in the budget tabled in the Legislature.

From the Prime Minister's Department, the Government hopes to obtain $254,000; Legislation, $22,000; Attorney-General's Department, $5,960,000; Insurance, $173,000; Education, $9,000; Lands and Forest, $1,218,000 Ordinary and $137,000 Capital; Northern Development, $11,700 Capital; Mines, $911,000 Ordinary, $15,000 Capital; Game and Fisheries, $554,000; Public Works, $37,000 Ordinary and $5,000 Capital; Public Highways, $18,467,000 Ordinary and $4,000 Capital; Health, $34,000; Public Welfare, $1,000; Provincial Treasurer, Ordinary $21,473,000; Provincial Secretary, Ordinary $449,000; Salary and Indemnity Assessment, $678,000 ordinary. The total, excluding interest, is shown at $50,149,000 Ordinary and $172,000 Capital.

Interest is shown at $190,000, which brings the total Ordinary and Capital to $50,333,000 and $172,000 respectively.

Loans and Special Funds include Hydro Electric Power Commission, repayment of advances $3,070,000; Housing, Drainage and other Loan repayments, $997,000; Old Age Pensions and Mothers' Allowances repayments, $1,375,000; Superannuation Funds, deposits, $1,250,000; Other Special Funds, deposits $370,000; Unemployment Relief, direct, $532,000; or a total of $7,429,000.

Powerful Medicine

The healing properties in six essential oils are concentrated in every bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, forming one of the most beneficial liniments ever offered to the use of man. Many can testify as to its power in allaying pain, and many more can certify that they owe their health to its wonderful power. It is not expressed by the small picture which it sells.

TICKETS GOOD ON BOTH ROADS

Tickets Issued By C.N.R. And C.P.R. Honored On Pool Trains

Pooling of competitive passenger services wherever practicable has been agreed to in principle between Canadian National Railways, the first lines to be affected being the Montreal-Toronto and Ottawa-Toronto services, it was announced in a joint statement issued by E. W. Beatty, K. C., President of the Canadian Pacific, and S. J. Hangerford, Acting President of the Canadian National.

Tickets issued by either railway will be honored on the pool trains. The complete statement follows: "The Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways have agreed in principle to pooling of competitive passenger services wherever practicable. Detailed arrangements for making the pool effective, east and west, will take some time to complete, but in order to effect immediate economies the two companies arranged for a partial pooling of passenger service between Montreal-Toronto, and the pooling of all passenger service Ottawa-Toronto; these consolidations to be effective on Sunday, April 2. An economy of well over half a million dollars per year will result from these initial developments in the pooling arrangements.

"Under the new plan effective Sunday, April 2, the fast afternoon train service between Montreal and Toronto will be consolidated. Instead of the two fast trains each way daily, there will be one afternoon pool train in each direction. The westbound pool train will leave Windsor Station daily at 3:15 p.m. and travel over Canadian Pacific tracks to Dorval, where it will cross over to the Canadian National lines for the balance of its journey to Toronto, which will be reached at 9:45 p.m. Westbound this pool train will make all its present stops and at Brockville it will connect with a pool train leaving Ottawa at 3:15 p.m.

Eastbound Train

"The eastbound afternoon pool train will leave Toronto by Canadian National Railways at 3:30 p.m., and will arrive at Bonaventure Station, Montreal, at 10 p.m. At Brockville a pool train for Ottawa will connect with this fast afternoon train, the passengers using this service arriving at the Capital City 10:10 p.m.

"The trains in this service will be designated and advertised as pool trains, and the tickets issued by either company will be honored on them.

"Between Ottawa and Toronto the Canadian National will pool its day and night trains with the Canadian Pacific. The pooled night service for the traffic of both lines will be over the tracks of the Canadian Pacific via Peterboro. The Canadian Pacific will maintain its morning service between Ottawa and Toronto and accept through tickets of both companies on these trains.

"The Toronto-Ottawa afternoon service, as already stated, will be on the pooled trains via Brockville.

"The pooling arrangement is an extension of the continued reduction in passenger service to meet the decline in passenger traffic. It is felt that the pooled services will provide ample facilities for all present requirements."

When You Feel A Cold Coming On!

Stop it at once by taking ZUTOO TABLETS. Remember that Grippe and Pneumonia begin with a common cold. These tablets stop the pain and fever immediately, and assist nature in throwing off the cold. Taken in the beginning, the cold is often stopped overnight.

Zutoo

FOR SALE EVERYWHERE 25¢ per box

Interest is shown at $190,000, which brings the total Ordinary and Capital to $50,333,000 and $172,000 respectively.

Loans and Special Funds include Hydro Electric Power Commission, repayment of advances $3,070,000; Housing, Drainage and other Loan repayments, $997,000; Old Age Pensions and Mothers' Allowances repayments, $1,375,000; Superannuation Funds, deposits, $1,250,000; Other Special Funds, deposits $370,000; Unemployment Relief, direct, $532,000; or a total of $7,429,000.

Powerful Medicine.—The healing properties in six essential oils are concentrated in every bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, forming one of the most beneficial liniments ever offered to the use of man. Many can testify as to its power in allaying pain, and many more can certify that they owe their health to its wonderful power. It is not expressed by the small picture which it sells.

Loans and Special Funds include Hydro Electric Power Commission, repayment of advances $3,070,000; Housing, Drainage and other Loan repayments, $997,000; Old Age Pensions and Mothers' Allowances repayments, $1,375,000; Superannuation Funds, deposits, $1,250,000; Other Special Funds, deposits $370,000; Unemployment Relief, direct, $532,000; or a total of $7,429,000.

Powerful Medicine.—The healing properties in six essential oils are concentrated in every bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, forming one of the most beneficial liniments ever offered to the use of man. Many can testify as to its power in allaying pain, and many more can certify that they owe their health to its wonderful power. It is not expressed by the small picture which it sells.

Powerful Medicine.—The healing properties in six essential oils are concentrated in every bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, forming one of the most beneficial liniments ever offered to the use of man. Many can testify as to its power in allaying pain, and many more can certify that they owe their health to its wonderful power. It is not expressed by the small picture which it sells.

Powerful Medicine.—The healing properties in six essential oils are concentrated in every bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, forming one of the most beneficial liniments ever offered to the use of man. Many can testify as to its power in allaying pain, and many more can certify that they owe their health to its wonderful power. It is not expressed by the small picture which it sells.

Powerful Medicine.—The healing properties in six essential oils are concentrated in every bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, forming one of the most beneficial liniments ever offered to the use of man. Many can testify as to its power in allaying pain, and many more can certify that they owe their health to its wonderful power. It is not expressed by the small picture which it sells.

Powerful Medicine.—The healing properties in six essential oils are concentrated in every bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, forming one of the most beneficial liniments ever offered to the use of man. Many can testify as to its power in allaying pain, and many more can certify that they owe their health to its wonderful power. It is not expressed by the small picture which it sells.

Powerful Medicine.—The healing properties in six essential oils are concentrated in every bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, forming one of the most beneficial liniments ever offered to the use of man. Many can testify as to its power in allaying pain, and many more can certify that they owe their health to its wonderful power. It is not expressed by the small picture which it sells.

Powerful Medicine.—The healing properties in six essential oils are concentrated in every bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, forming one of the most beneficial liniments ever offered to the use of man. Many can testify as to its power in allaying pain, and many more can certify that they owe their health to its wonderful power. It is not expressed by the small picture which it sells.

Powerful Medicine.—The healing properties in six essential oils are concentrated in every bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, forming one of the most beneficial liniments ever offered to the use of man. Many can testify as to its power in allaying pain, and many more can certify that they owe their health to its wonderful power. It is not expressed by the small picture which it sells.

BOY FIGHTS FIRE WHEN REELS FAIL

Uses Garden Hose — One Engine Stalls, Other Out Of Gas

A delay by the Whitby fire department in answering an alarm Wednesday is being investigated by the fire and light committee of the Town Council.

When the department was summoned to a small blaze at the home of Louis Rousseau, on John street, Whitby, the chemical truck stalled a block from the fire hall and firemen were unable to start the big pumper truck because the gas tank was dry.

Discovering the blaze an errand boy, Robt. Clarke, sent in the alarm, then attached a garden hose and had the blaze under control by the time firemen arrived.

Fireman Harold Boys declares the gasoline was stolen. The chemical truck stalled due to carburetor trouble, it is said.

COBOURG LADY BOWLERS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

The ladies of the Cobourg Lawn Bowling Club enjoyed a delightful banquet at the Lakeview Hotel, Cobourg, at which the annual election of officers took place, as follows:—President, Mrs. Leslie Wilson; First Vice-President, Mrs. R. Burnham; Second Vice-President, Mrs. R. Barr; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. A. McKinnon; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Cecil Wilson; Treasurer, Mrs. George Mitchell; Games Committee, Mrs. F. Greer, Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Howard and Mrs. Hugh.

Mrs. W. G. Jennings gave a very interesting history of the club, tracing its progress from its beginning, nine years ago, with nine members. It was a matter for gratification that seven of these members were present at the annual meeting. The Cobourg Ladies Club has now over forty members. Bridge was played to conclude a happy evening.

HEELS DOWN ON COSTUME MATCHING FOOTWEAR

Lower heels, more rounded toes, fitted insteps and narrow lasts mark the shoes for wear, with the new Easter ensembles featured in Paris. Dark blue, grey and beige kid and antelope to match navy, grey and beige costumes shown by many designers are the favorite materials.

Ox-blood red is shown for the woman who wants something different, while black and brown are ready for the more conservative. "Comfort and lightness are the rule," says one shoe designer.

B.C. CARIBOO GOLD FIELDS

B.C. Cariboo Gold Fields, Ltd., has been formed with a capital stock of 2,500,000 shares of no par value, to develop two properties at Barkerville. The new organization is a private company, the principals being Brig.-Gen. J. Duff Stuart, president; Dr. Victor Doimage, vice-president; C. P. Riel, managing-director, and A. C. Spiers, secretary. Officials plan to start work within the next month on tunnelling operations on the two separate ore zones. It is stated that the report of Amos Bowman showed the highest values in the Barkerville Gold Belt to have been encountered on those properties. On one of the groups three veins were uncovered by hydraulic workings on Burns Creek, the widths being reported at 15 feet, three feet and two feet. Numerous showings on the other group will also be explored. B. C. Cariboo Gold Fields, Ltd., does not contemplate public financing.

No child should be allowed to suffer an hour from worms when prompt relief can be got in a simple but strong remedy — Mother Graves' Worm Extirminator.

You can't keep a fellow in hot water and expect him to cut his coat. —Guelf Mercury.

Remove all callouses and enlargements from your stock with Douglas' Egyptian Liniment, a wonderful remedy.

Remove all callouses and enlargements from your stock with Douglas' Egyptian Liniment, a wonderful remedy.

Remove all callouses and enlargements from your stock with Douglas' Egyptian Liniment, a wonderful remedy.

Remove all callouses and enlargements from your stock with Douglas' Egyptian Liniment, a wonderful remedy.

Remove all callouses and enlargements from your stock with Douglas' Egyptian Liniment, a wonderful remedy.

Remove all callouses and enlargements from your stock with Douglas' Egyptian Liniment, a wonderful remedy.

Remove all callouses and enlargements from your stock with Douglas' Egyptian Liniment, a wonderful remedy.

Remove all callouses and enlargements from your stock with Douglas' Egyptian Liniment, a wonderful remedy.

Remove all callouses and enlargements from your stock with Douglas' Egyptian Liniment, a wonderful remedy.

'ROLLING OWN' CHEAPER WAY

Tax May Have Effect Psychologically, Tobacco Men Say

A psychological effect in discouraging the rolling of one's own cigarettes was seen at Montreal by leaders in the tobacco industry as a result of a tax on cigarette papers and tubes announced in the budget submitted in the House of Commons.

But the tax it was pointed out, was not sufficient to make it less costly to smoke manufactured cigarettes. One executive stated that three pounds of tobacco was used in the manufacture of 1,000 cigarettes. The man rolling his own would pay a tax of 40 cents for enough papers to use it or $1.60 on 1,000 cigarettes. The excise tax on manufactured cigarettes is $4 per 1,000 so the man who rolls his own would be still $2.40 to the good.

RUTH SIGNS 1933 CONTRACT FOR $52,000

The curtain has fallen on baseball's annual hold-out act, starring George Herman Ruth. The Babe has agreed to sign a one-year contract with the New York Yankees, for $52,000. Unsuccessful in his demand for $60,000 in answer to Colonel Jacob Ruppert's $50,000 offer, Ruth effected a compromise contract which saw his salary drop below its level of 1923-1926 when he received $62,500.

The actual signing of the contract will be delayed several days, but the Babe will take his place in right field in the Yankee line-up for the exhibition game with the Boston Braves on Friday. It will be Ruth's first game of the season, for although the Babe has taken his practice chores along with the others, he's refused to play in exhibitions and has spent his time fishing and golfing.

Paid $75,000 last season, Ruth balked early in the winter when he received a contract calling for $50,000, a one-third slash. He announced he would sign for $62,500 or quit baseball. His first conference with Colonel Ruppert saw the big slugger chop his figure down to $60,000. Until Wednesday Ruppert had stood solidly behind his original offer.

Ruth is 39 years old, and in his twentieth big league season. He lost his clouting honors last year to Jimmie Foxx, of the Athletics, but had a good year, and was a hero of the World Series.

Asked after the conference how he felt about the matter, Colonel Ruppert replied, "Fine. It only took us a minute to settle it. Ruth asked me to see him. When I got here I asked him what he wanted. He said $52,000, and I said 'it's settled.' That was all there was to it."

Colonel Ruppert was asked why he yielded after he had declared $50,000 was the limit.

"I accepted the compromise because the controversy had reached the childish stage. The folks in New York had begun to believe it was just a lot of ballyhoo, and all staged in advance. I did not want to string the thing out to ridiculous lengths."

Ruth said he suggested the compromise because he was tired of remaining on the sidelines.

"Yes. I made the offer," Ruth said, "because I want to get going. I want to be in first-class shape before the season opens and play in those exhibition games. I am going to work out with the team and break into the line-up against Boston on Friday. I'm telling you, it was not easy for me to stick on the sidelines with the club playing games."

You can't keep a fellow in hot water and expect him to cut his coat. —Guelf Mercury.

Remove all callouses and enlargements from your stock with Douglas' Egyptian Liniment, a wonderful remedy.

Remove all callouses and enlargements from your stock with Douglas' Egyptian Liniment, a wonderful remedy.

Remove all callouses and enlargements from your stock with Douglas' Egyptian Liniment, a wonderful remedy.

Remove all callouses and enlargements from your stock with Douglas' Egyptian Liniment, a wonderful remedy.

Remove all callouses and enlargements from your stock with Douglas' Egyptian Liniment, a wonderful remedy.

Remove all callouses and enlargements from your stock with Douglas' Egyptian Liniment, a wonderful remedy.

Remove all callouses and enlargements from your stock with Douglas' Egyptian Liniment, a wonderful remedy.

Remove all callouses and enlargements from your stock with Douglas' Egyptian Liniment, a wonderful remedy.

Remove all callouses and enlargements from your stock with Douglas' Egyptian Liniment, a wonderful remedy.

CORRESPONDENCE TO THE EDITOR

R. S. Staples Believes An Honest Dollar Of Constant Value Is Needed

The Guide does not hold itself responsible for the opinions expressed by our correspondents and invites its readers to use this column to discuss public questions and matters of general interest.

No unsigned letters or correspondence of libelous or personal nature will be considered.

Cavan, Ont., March 20th, 1933. To the Editor of The Guide,—

There has been so much discussion lately, on all aspects of monetary reform that one might well spend a few minutes to clear up some of the problems that beset us. We have heard so much about inflation and gold standards and central banks and so on that, in the fog this leaves before us, we are likely to lose sight of essential facts. Money has ever been a tricky servant. Ever since man, in the times now long past, first conceived and put into practice the axiom, "Things which are equal to the same things are equal to one another," he has been trying to evolve a form of money which conforms to this law. Money was intended to be a measure of value whereby a man could trade a beaver skin for ten pounds of tea, without the expensive and cumbersome necessity for having the skin and tea together at the same time and place. But even yet we have been unable to devise a satisfactory medium by the use of which this, seemingly simple and easy transaction can be brought about in fairness to both parties always. "So many factors creep in, willy-nilly, whether we want it or not that now we have all but lost sight of the real function of money and our understanding seems to be completely bogged down in the confusing conceptions which have been thrust upon us. Most of us are sure of only one thing, namely, in spite of the best efforts of some of our citizens, in spite of their manifestations to the contrary, in spite of the fact that we, in Canada, are in favour of 'sound' money; that our present monetary system is a failure, is fundamentally and irrevocably a failure and can never be patched up again.

Perhaps it's failure is largely due to the mistakes we ourselves have made. Too much, far too much, have we made money the end of all our endeavour, too much have we tended to place the crown for deeds well done on the head of him who possessed the lion's share of it, regardless of how or where he got his possession or control. The reason this has proved to be such a mistake lies in the fact that money is not real wealth. Wealth, as more and more people are coming to realize, consists of houses and lands and clothes and fuel. These things never change their real value to humanity, though money changes its value and that quickly. "Money is not everything," says an old saying. It would be more correct if it read, money is not anything. For money is, or should be only representative value, only a medium of exchange, only a means to change this product for that product in fairness to both, only a conveyance to get these goods from one who has too much to him who has too little. Of course, in its proper use, money is the most important thing in our lives (with emphasis on the thing).

Then, too, we have allowed the control of money through its manufacture, to get into private hands; hands which are, naturally, less zealous for popular good and public safety, than they are for creation of the dividends belonging to the financial institutions for which they work. For ought I can see, bank credit and money are the same thing as far as we are concerned. Thus, by law of supply and demand, since

DON'T GET RUN DOWN TAKE-

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN—We are repeating, for a limited time only, the offer of a British-made, 13" aluminum cooking spoon for the return of only 30 Oxo Cube Red Wrappers. OXO Limited, St. Peter Street, Montreal

LOCAL BRANCH ELECTS OFFICERS

W.C.T.U. Choose 1933 Heads,— Mrs. T. G. Hutchinson Re-elected

Attended by representatives from the various local churches, the annual meeting of the Port Hope Branch W.C.T.U. was held at the United Church here Tuesday afternoon. Due to the inclemency of the weather, the attendance was small and outside of the election of the 1933 officers, no other work was done.

Mrs. Thomas G. Hutchinson was re-elected President and other officers of the organization include, vice-president, Mrs. George V. Strong; secretary, Miss M. Ferguson, and treasurer, Mrs. D. White.

All through history men were the masters, women the inferiors. Now they are nearly equal—but men still have them licked.—Sinclair Lewis.

The Family Physician.—The good doctor is always worth his fee. But it is not always possible to get a doctor just when you want him. In such cases, common sense suggests the use of reliable home remedies, such as Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, which is wonderfully effective in easing inflammatory pains and healing cuts, scratches, bruises and sprains. The presence of this remedy in the family medicine chest saves many a fee.

Simple Remedy For Bad Stomach Gives Swift Relief

No Need of Strong Medicines or Diet. Safe and Simple Recipe Keeps Stomach in Fine Condition

To be unselfish in everything especially in love and friendship was my highest pleasure, my maxim, my discipline.—Goethe.

In all infantile complaints that are the result of the deprivations of worms in the stomach and intestines Miller's Worm Powders will be found a neffective remedy. They attack the cause of these troubles, and by expelling the worms from the organs insure an orderly working of the system, without which the child cannot maintain its strength or thrive. These powders mean health and improvement.

MA BROWNE HAS DONE THINGS UP RIGHT

she has been a very busy woman in her kitchen ever since something told her you people would want her own special kind of Pickles. Ma Browne knows they are good and is sure you will agree with her. Stuffed Silver Rings — Stuffed Cherry Rings and Pimento Rings 40c bottle. These are clever salad decorations. Silver Glouc Onions and Sweet Gherkins 30c bottle. Mustard Pickles—Pimento Relish—Piccalilli Relish 23c bottle.

Our Ace Blend Tea is all the high quality name implies lb 35c

A Further Supply Tuesday of those GREAT BIG PRUNES 5 lbs for 25c

We Deliver The Goods. F. H. BROWN We Deliver The Goods

Angel Cakes fresh Tuesday.....25c Nature's Best Pitted Cherries 5 tins.....25c Bridge Candy lb.....24c Big Juicy Seedless Grapfruit 5 for 25c

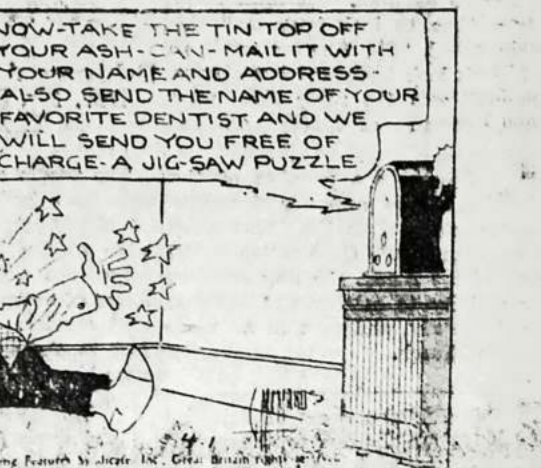

We Deliver The Goods. F. H. BROWN We Deliver The Goods

We Deliver The Goods. F. H. BROWN We Deliver The Goods

We Deliver The Goods. F. H. BROWN We Deliver The Goods

We Deliver The Goods. F. H. BROWN We Deliver The Goods

BRINGING UP FATHER

By Geo. McCamus

HEARD ON THE STREET

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 22

Winter has departed and Spring has come!

Isn't that great, we won't have to figure out which cheques have to be stamped, for from now on the excise tax is collected on cheques of all sizes.

The girls won't be able to lay it on so thick now that the Government has levied a tax on cosmetics. Among other things Mr. Bennett is bound to clear up the complexion.

One sad feature of the Government's big surprise, is that we will hardly be able to afford sugar to sweeten our bitter cup.

The motorist is taxed by his gasoline tax for the distance he covers. Our corner friend asks if there isn't some way that the pedestrian's steps could be measured so he too could contribute.

Perhaps somebody will be sent around to show us how to raise more money to pay more taxes.

Motorists travelling on district highways with 1932 markers will not only be asked to purchase new plates but will be hailed before the Magistrate. Robert Chalk, local issuer, reports that a number of plates have been sold within the past few days.

Under the auspices of the Senior Branch of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Mark's Anglican Church, the annual tea was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. C. Bennett, John Street. Despite the inclemency of the weather, the event was well patronized.

J. H. Walker, Blooms Grove Ave., representative elder of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Port Hope, attended a meeting of the Presbytery at Peterboro Tuesday. He was elected a delegate from the Presbytery to attend the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church at Peterboro in June.

To-day the trappers have commenced to snare the fur-bearing animals at Rice Lake. The muskrats and mink are said to be plentiful this spring and their fur in excellent shape because of the open winter.

The Cobourg drama and music club was organized and the following officers elected: President, S. C. Stevens; First Vice-President, Dr. F. P. Lloyd; Second Vice-President, Mrs. G. L. Burwash; Secretary-Treasurer, Allan C. H. Field. The club will divide its activities into two channels, the drama and choral work, and it is expected will put on a concert in aid of relief in April. The membership of each group is expected to be fifty or more. W. S. Corrigan is Chairman of the Drama Club, and Dr. Lloyd of the Music Club, with Frank Parkinson, Musical Director of the latter.

Not So Dead
Two rival commercial travellers were journeying to the same village to solicit trade from its only merchant. The village was off the main line, being reached from a junction about half a mile distant. The only conveyance to the village for travellers' sample trunks was a hand-propelled cart. On arrival at the junction one of the travellers hustled out and hired the cart ahead of his rival. Unable to obtain any other means of conveying his samples the other traveller in desperation prevailed upon the local undertaker who lived nearby to convey his trunks to the village in a hearse. On the way they passed the push cart and its attendants. On arrival at the merchant's store the first traveller was surprised to meet his friend leaving the store with the information that the order had been secured.

"How did you get here ahead of me?" asked the disgruntled salesman.

"Oh!" said the other "I passed you in a hearse on the road in. I was inside with my samples."

"You were, eh!" was the reply in a disgusted tone, "Well I'll be d—d, and I lifted my hat, too!"

THURSDAY, MARCH 23.

Have you got your skipping-rope?

It must be Spring, for the little lassies are out with their ropes, skipping gaily about the town.

Now the Government has brought down the Budget it looks as if we would have to budget to meet it.

Many times people have claimed the earth would come to an end or that civilization would crack up and bust but here we are, most of us getting enough to eat so we might as well just face things as they come, not borrowing trouble and no doubt we'll look back a hundred years hence and laugh at ourselves for worrying over the little troubles of this day compared with the magnitude of the difficulties of 2033 to be faced.

Congratulations are in order for Thomas Westlick, who is to-day celebrating his eighty-second birthday in the best of health and spirits. Here's wishing him strength and health to enjoy many more birthdays.

D. Y. Buttar of Hamilton Township, celebrated his 92nd birthday Monday. Mr. Buttar is remarkably smart for his years and attended church last Sunday. He is a progressive agriculturist.

Breaking into the C.P.R. station at Ivanhoe, north of Belleville thieves escaped with fourteen stamped money orders, ready for issuing. The discovery of the theft was made when the assistant station agent, F. C. Baylis, formerly of Port Hope, was about to use the money order book and found it missing. He had not used the book since last Friday.

Hon. Vincent Massey, Liberal Party organizer, will be the chief speaker at a county rally at Windsor Friday night. E. J. Young, M.P., Weyburn, Sask., will also speak.

Fie For Shame!
Sweet Young Thing—"My boy friend has cold feet."

Found Auntie—"Shame on you, young lady. In my day we didn't find out those things until we were married."

FRIDAY, MARCH 24.

What a glorious day!

You could fairly see the sprouts being pushed into the air at noon to-day as the sun gives renewed life to the earth.

The Cobourg public school teachers are co-operating with the committee in the work of relief there. Last year the school teachers voluntarily gave two and a half per cent. of the salary to the relief fund. This year they will make a five per cent. cut in their salaries, and hand this over to the relief fund, it is stated.

Jules Audy of Montreal, six-day bike champion, escaped serious injury early yesterday when his car went out of control on the slippery pavement west of Belleville and turned over into the ditch and then landed on four wheels in the centre of the road again. The car, badly damaged, was towed to a garage. Audy was journeying to Toronto when the accident happened.

Robbers forced a refrigerator padlock at the Madoc Creamery during the night and took seventy pounds of scrap butter, not yet moulded, to prints. Gasoline was stolen from a service station.

A Capitol Idea
"I'm thinking of starting a picture theatre," said the lonely father.
"Well, there's good money in that business."
"It isn't the money I'm after. But I would like to see my wife and children once in a while."

PEENEY MILLS TO MANAGE NATIONALS

W. J. "Peeney" Mills, veteran catcher of the Belleville Nationals Baseball Club in the C.O.B.L. for some 13 consecutive years, was appointed manager of the Nationals for the coming baseball season of 1933 by President Chas. Meagher after the executive had held their weekly meeting at Belleville.

AGRICULTURE DID IT

The increased exports of Canadian agricultural products served in a great way to supplant Germany, Denmark, France, New Zealand, British India, the Irish Free State, the Netherlands, and Belgium, and establish Canada in the fourth place among the nations of the world supplying the British market last year. In twelve months Canada jumped from the twelfth position to fourth on the list.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Frank L. Curtis wish to thank friends and neighbours in Belleville and friends and neighbours in Port Hope and Toronto for the kindly sympathy extended to them in their bereavement and for their beautiful floral tributes.

GROUP MEETING AT PORT HOPE

Conference Held Here Thursday Followed By Banquet And Lecture

At the Port Hope United Church Thursday afternoon, a conference for pastors and ministers of official boards was held. On Wednesday, a meeting was held at Warkworth and the fellowship meetings were sponsored by the Cobourg Presbytery of the United Church of Canada with the aim to share helpful experiences in the promotion of missionary interest.

The group meeting here was made up of the following pastoral charges, Cobourg, Port Hope, Canton, Welcome; Gore's Landing, Cambridge, Millbrook, Newtonville, Fraserville, Baltimore and Grafton.

Following the conference a banquet was served by the Gleamers Society when upwards of sixty persons sat down. The program was opened by Rev. Duncan McTavish, pastor of the church and the speakers included Rev. Frank Langford, D.D., Toronto, and Rev. F. G. McTavish, of Seymour charge, and chairman of the Presbytery's Missionary and Maintenance Fund Committee. The former told of the work that was being done in the mission fields and presented a challenge to the young people for this branch of the church's great work.

In the evening, Dr. A. E. Best, of Chengtu, West China, gave an illustrated address on medical missions, which proved interesting and instructive.

NEWTONVILLE MAN, JOHN PIPER DIES

Well Known In This District—Buried At Orono To-day

Word was received of the death at the home of his son in Toronto of John Piper well known for many years in this district, when he farmed at Newtonville until the death of his wife four years ago.

He was born at Rice Lake and farmed during the greater part of his life at Kendal and Newtonville, in Clarke Township. He was a member of Newtonville United Church. One son, John W. Piper, Northcote avenue, Toronto, and six grandchildren survive.

The funeral was held to Orono Cemetery Wednesday afternoon.

WELCOME

W.M.S. Meeting Held At Home Of Mrs. E. H. Martyn

The regular meeting of the Welcome W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. E. H. Martyn on Thursday, with a goodly number of W.M.S. members and several C.G.I.T. girls present.

The business for the day included plans for the Easter meeting and it was finally moved and seconded, that the executive be a committee to make arrangements for the entertainment to be given some time during Easter week.

It was moved and seconded that proceeds from the play which was given some time ago be set aside as an expense fund.

It was decided to discontinue the leaflets on the study book.

Mrs. E. J. Symons, 3rd vice president, was in charge of the program. The devotional leaflet—"The Woman of no Importance" was read by Mrs. A. E. Lewis.

A duet, sung by Mrs. Leslie and Mrs. Bosnell, was much enjoyed by all.

The chapter of the study book—"The Study of Presbyterials in the West" was dealt with by Mrs. Symons with the assistance of Mrs. Bosnell, Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. Bamsey.

Mrs. W. E. Lewis led in prayer. Hymn 168 was sung and the meeting closed by all repeating in unison the Mizpah Benediction.

Much sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Little in the death of their beloved granddaughter, Joan. Congratulations are in order to Mrs. W. H. Symons and to Mr. Crossley, Sr., each of whom celebrated a birthday this month.

The Welcome Y.P.L. are planning to hold a crokinole party in the church basement on Friday evening, March 31st.

When market news makes the front page it is generally because good times are going or coming.—St. Catharines Standard.

C.P.R. TRAINMAN HAS LEG BROKEN

Gordon McIvor, Toronto, Suffers Accident At Local C.P.R. Depot Yesterday

Gordon McIvor, aged 50, C.P.R. trainman, suffered a broken leg in an accident while alighting from a moving train at the local depot late yesterday. He was removed to Port Hope Hospital in Jex & Smith's Ambulance where he is still confined.

According to information received McIvor was attempting to leave the train which jolted and threw him to the ground. The leg bone was broken between the knee and thigh.

MUSIC OF DANCE STUDIED BY CLUB

Dance Rhythms Reflect Spirit Of Period To Which It Belongs

The Evolution of Dance Rhythms was the interesting subject presented at the meeting of the Music Study Club, on Monday evening at the home of Miss V. Maybee, Baldwin St.

A study of the development of dance rhythms showed them to be closely related to the development of dance rhythms showed them to be closely related to the development of man down through the centuries. When allowed to come into existence naturally, the dance is a free expression of human feeling on a certain level, and consequently reflects accurately, the spirit of the time which created it. This was the idea stressed in the presentation of the subject.

The outstanding characteristics of the many phases of man's development were outlined and illustrations of dance rhythms were given to show how characteristic they were, of the period to which they belong.

The first of these was a group of old dance rhythms typical of the 15th, 16th and 17th centuries. The Allemande, Courante, Sarabande, Gigue, Mazurka, Tarantella and the Gavotte. These were all played by Mrs. D. L. Somerville. The last was played as a duet with Miss Jean Dickinson.

Two other dance rhythms of that period were illustrated by Mr. M. Lawson, on the violin. These were the Bourree and the Pasy. The minuet was described as being truly characteristic of the 18th century and Beethoven's "Minuet in G" was played by Miss Ruth Allison.

The waltz rhythms, which led to a new school of music in the 19th century was given as the dance which reflected the sentimentalism of that period. Miss Frances Johnson played two popular examples of that rhythm—"The Merry Widow" and "The Pink Lady".

The last stage of development was the so-called 'modern' period with its characteristic syncopated rhythm—jazz. Miss Jessie Hawkins gave a brief explanation of syncopation and showed different ways in which it was used.

Illustrations of the rhythms of this period were given by Mr. J. A. Winfield who played "On 'The Mall'", "The Girl in the Little Green Hat", "The Old Grey Bonnet" and "The Skaters".

Some vocal solos related to the subject of the dance were an interesting part of the program. "The Floral Dance" was sung by Mr. Chas. Stephenson. Miss G. Burnham sang a group of songs, the first of which was "The Second Minuet", and "The Kerry Dances" was sung by Miss Marie Cancilla.

The accompanists for the evening were Mrs. W. C. Williamson, Miss Frances Johnson and Miss Jean Dickinson.

The committee in charge of the program was Miss K. Daley, Mrs. Darch, Miss V. Maybee, Mrs. C. W. Connop and Mrs. N. N. Brimston.

The next meeting of the Music Study Club will be held on April 3rd. The subject will be "The Music of the Great German Masters."

A tourist is a person who can find out more about a town in ten minutes than the oldest residents learn in a life time.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

Persian Balm—the one toilet requisite for the dainty woman. Delightful to use. Leaves no stickiness. Swiftly absorbed by the tissues. Delicately fragrant. Imparts a velvety loveliness to the complexion. Tones up the skin. Soothes and banishes all unpleasant roughness or crusting caused by wind and other weather conditions. Makes hands soft and white. Creates an elusive, essentially feminine charm. Persian Balm is indispensable to women of refinement.

TWO SPEAKERS AT MEN'S FORUM

Men's Forum At United Church Hears S. B. Hatheway And Eric Oswald

"The Truths About Tariffs," was the title of Eric Oswald's subject in which he emphasized the necessity of returning to the masses the purchasing power lost under a system of protection. He quoted the following recent opinions of prominent Canadians on the question of Tariffs. Sir John Aird told the annual meeting of the Bank of Commerce that "some bold stroke of international action is required to permit of economic progress." He added: "I suggest an early reduction of 10 per cent in every tariff in all countries."

Sir Robert Borden, formerly Conservative premier of Canada was quite outspoken in his annual address as President of the Crown Life. He said: "While a crying need of nations suffering from depression transcending all experience is for the interchange of products and for removal of restrictions that impede it, many governments seem obsessed with a determination to divide the world into trade-tight compartments. To do so is to stop the circulation of prosperity's life-blood and eventually to destroy its vitality."

Mr. Thomas Bradshaw of the North American Life, formerly Finance Commissioner of Toronto said: "It is evident a modification in general tariff systems and restrictions to trade is necessary to prosperity."

Sir Herbert H.G., addressing the Annual meeting of the Royal Bank declared that "The world has permitted itself to drift into a state of economic warfare more destructive than the Great War." He proceeded—"Each country is engaged in a campaign of attrition. If the fatality of this were recognized, an armistice could be declared, but before there can be sufficient good-will to establish satisfactory terms of peace, the necessity of material concessions must be recognized by all the combatants."

Mr. S. J. Moore, President of the Bank of Nova Scotia, said at the annual meeting of that institution that the nations were in "a state of economic siege."

J. A. McLeod, General Manager of the same Bank said:—"No measure is more pressing needed at the present time, than a sweeping reciprocal reduction in the tariffs of all the principal trading countries. In this matter the world is waiting for bold leadership."

Mr. Oswald argued that in a protected country the masses had to pay an excessive price for their wants; he referred to the prices paid for automobiles in Canada which showed an enormous loss in purchasing power among car users amounting to probably millions of dollars. He maintained that if Canadians were permitted to buy in the cheaper market the saving thus effected would constitute a demand for other things and therefore a demand for labor and services. He said "If it were not for Protection Canada would be producing more things which the natural resources of the country permit of being produced to better advantage than those commodities produced under the artificial stimulant of protection. These commodities produced under naturally advantageous conditions would enable Canada to sell more to foreign countries on more equitable terms."

Mr. Oswald explained that the principle involved is brought out in the old saying, "Don't make at home if you can buy cheaper."

Following the open discussion in which a great many present took part, the President, Mr. S. B. Hatheway expressed his opinion on several matters that he had been considering as a result of the previous discussions at the Forum. Mr. Hatheway said:

"On several occasions I have expressed the opinion that the full benefit from the discussions that take place here could be obtained only when we, as individuals took the gist sorted out what in our opinion was the chaff, and stored the sound grain in the granary of our mind."

"What definite convictions have we as a result of all we have heard on Capitalism? Can we take a sheet of paper and set down any statement for or against Industrialism, or are we denying ourselves the privilege of thinking for ourselves and go on blindly and accept as facts and truths what the party newspapers serve up to us day by day."

"People of more or less prominence and seeking notoriety are saying 'Capitalism has had its day and is responsible for the unequal distribution of wealth,' or, our Industrialism has made the laborer but a cog in the machinery and a part least considered.

"My own opinion is that no system (for want of a better word) like individuals is all bad. For like the common saying there is bad in the best of us, and good in the worst of us, so are there desirable and undesirable features in our various systems."

"Immediately, any honest effort based on or resulting from human needs is a worthy and desirable effort of human endeavour. Human needs plus human endeavour created Capitalism and Capitalism fundamentally is 'prospectiveness,' and prospectiveness is nothing more than storing up in times of plenty against the day of want. Surely a most desirable trait of human character. And it is a fundamental principle in what we call 'Nature.'"

"The means by which we put into effect the storing up method brings about Industrialism. And Capitalism, through industrialism creates enterprise, initiative, a desire to possess property and from a broad human point of view creates character. Why then cry 'down with Capitalism, because it creates the capitalist,' or why denounce Industrialism because it is debasing human bodies to the level of iron wheels."

"I believe a man, after all the years of enlightenment, instruction and teaching in the requirements of human needs, should have no restrictions whatever in expressing himself within the limits of moral law. If there is a demand for services let them be supplied under the economic law of supply and demand. Personally I see a need for apples. I devote my efforts toward producing a crop, but upon the distinct understanding that my product is being offered to the public, world markets, at a price that will leave something for me above all the costs that go into the production and distribution. If this is not accomplished then either I am not a properly qualified person to conduct the business or the business is not adapted to the conditions, under which it is being operated. Artificial stimulants must be maintained to prove effective and artificial stimulants in the way of tariffs and preferences in industry will not remain effective in times of stress and low purchasing power periods. This country is strewn with the remains and shambles of a theoretical industrialism that was designed and promoted with the assurance of a fictitious revenue from tariffs. They have gone the way they deserve to go."

From Socialism I learn much I learn and believe in State ownership of natural resources. I believe in State operation of Public Utilities.

"I hold the state responsible for the full and unrestricted interchange of commodities—trade. For trade is the life blood of the nation, making available the necessities of life to all classes of people. Trade is the one great essential in the maintenance of our transportation system, yet with it all, we have the Prime Minister of this country quoting:—

"Mr. Bennett outlined the shrinkage of markets around the seven seas and the trend of European lands to restrict their trading within national boundaries," saying in this connection "Primarily the shrinkage arose out of the fact that difficult conditions loomed up in every part of the trading world, and every country tried to sustain its own life with its own effort, because it had not the wherewithal to go abroad and buy. That is the fundamental reason, for example, why the price paid for wheat in European countries is two and three times what it could be bought for in Canada. Rather than go abroad and buy, they find it momentarily desirable, by bonus or subsidy, to create within their boundaries the necessities. There you have the genesis of that 'national trading, sustained by tariffs or otherwise, [making] international trading difficult. It amounts to prohibition."

"I hold that any politician or statesman, irrefragably of party, publicly acknowledging these conditions is acknowledging his allegiance to a perverted industrialism rather than his moral support to his country's interest. From Communism, I learn and admire one great and outstanding principle of life—Self-sacrifice."

"The Communist party in Russia numbers about two million. Under the Communist system the individual denies himself and is denied the privilege of self-expression. His life and interests are for the State. Now this Communist party makes the laws, controls industry, dictates as to what the masses shall eat, wear and how they shall live. They hold the power of death. And on the basis of self-sacrifice intelligently directed. A potential force of 180 since there is an estimated population of 162 millions."

"My point in this respect is that the spirit of self-sacrifice, intelligently directed, plus an honest effort

LOCAL SOCIETY VISITS OSHAWA

United Church Group Are Guests Of St. Andrew's Young People In Motor City

The Young People's Society of the Port Hope United Church made a fraternal visit with St. Andrew's Oshawa on Monday night and provided the program.

Stephen Saywell, 1st vice-president, in the absence of president Lang presided and called upon Rev. Andrew Robb, minister of the church to welcome the visitors after which he asked Miss Elsie Mason to take charge of the programme.

The lesson from Matthew 21:28 to 32, was read by L. Shepherd, after which George Lewis gave a splendid comment on the passage, "The Parable of Two Sons" pointing out that God wants honest service and is no respecter of persons who promises much but do nothing. He concluded with suggesting that the young people be honest with themselves and wipe out the reproach of promising without performing.

Miss Elsie Blow's solo, "Let Him In," was most beautiful. Bev. Hancock led in prayer and following the hymn, "O God of Bethel," Miss Netta Brownlee gave the recitation "Faith of Our Fathers," which fitted in beautifully with that lovely hymn.

A hearty encore was given Misses Ethel Kerman and Helen White for their piano duet which delighted everyone.

The quartette composed of Misses Elsie Blow, M. Bye, H. McCullough and Aida Nicol gave a charming number, "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes."

The games under Ray O'Hara created a friendly spirit and lots of fun while the refreshments made a full man (guess who); then after a merry sing-song the visitors embarked on the voyage home arriving here delighted that in spite of the inclement weather they had gone to Oshawa sixty strong.

BLACKFLIES BITE DUCKLINGS

A high percentage of the mortality among ducklings through disease is caused by the bite of the most abundant species of Blackfly in Canada, Simulium venustum Say, which transmits a parasite, Leucocytozoon apatis to both domestic and wild ducklings. The disease is apparently harmless to adult ducks. This species of blackfly is invariably the culprit when fishermen and campers are tormented by swarms of the pests. Referring to the wide distribution of this fly, Mr. C. R. Twinn, Entomological Branch, Dominion Department of Agriculture, says, "My own observations in the Ottawa district and elsewhere and a study of the specimens in the National Museum and of specimens from correspondents in various parts of Eastern Canada support this statement. It is not surprising, therefore, to learn that the disease caused by Leucocytozoon Anatis is transmitted by this species of blackfly which is common in the Dominion. Dr. C. H. Weaver, Animal Pathologist of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, informed me that the disease is prevalent during the fly season, particularly in the northern districts and that there is a tremendous amount of it among domestic ducks. He expressed the opinion that the short crops of wild duck complained of by hunters and sportsmen are probably caused by this disease, which apparently occurs in cycles."

CHINA WANTS LIVE STOCK

The Chinese notwithstanding the troublous times in the North, for some time past have shown great interest in Canadian agricultural produce, live stock and manufactures. This is due mostly to personal contact with Canadian traders. Writing to the Dominion Department of Agriculture, the fieldman for British Columbia of the Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association, who has just returned from a visit to China, remarks: "Whilst talking to some of our prospective Chinese buyers, they asked 'I could send them some pamphlets that would be helpful to them in reference to the care, management, and feeding of dairy cows, swine, poultry, etc. There is undoubtedly a great and growing demand for live stock in China and anything we can do for them may help to bring the trade to Canada, and we need it.'" to permit the individual to utilize his abilities in the greatest degree; plus the removal of artificial restrictions to trade added to a controlled currency system under a National Central Bank of rediscount in which this Canada can be restored in any measure of prosperity."

HEARD ON THE STREET

SATURDAY, MARCH 25.

Do you suppose we'll clean up for Sunday?

A clean sweep would not only improve the appearance of our streets but would stop the clouds of dust from impairing our health and dirtying up our windows.

Soon we'll be able to rake up the debris and burn the accumulation of the past few months, after which green plants and weeds will spring up to make us forget the cares of the past.

We still think the boulevards would be much better if the public would use the pavement. Help to make Port Hope beautiful by caring for other peoples' lawns as well as your own and give the grass an even chance.

With Spring apparently in the offing Rice Lake is still locked with ice that in some places is fourteen inches thick. In many places however, the ice has thawed considerably and is dangerous to motor travel.

The baseball season is soon to be with us but as yet no meeting has been called by the local club for the purpose of organization. An early start is always a help and those in charge should look into the matter in the very near future.

The fishermen are making their hauls but storms which destroyed their nets have taken a lot of the season's profit. Here's hoping Mr. Welch gets some good catches to make up for his losses.

Only nine months; Start now and you may be all ready to celebrate Christmas Day.

Archibald Cochrane, K.C., of Cobourg has been elected President of the Cobourg Chamber of Commerce at the annual meeting this week, succeeding S. C. Stevens, who has retired.

One of the cast in "The Sign of the Cross," which was shown at the Capitol Theatre here last week is Lucille House, daughter of Mrs. C. C. House of Harwood, formerly Miss Candace Drope of Harwood. Lucille played the part of a Sister of Charity and it marked her first appearance in motion pictures.

There is every reason to believe that the Rotary Club will stage a big affair next month some time which will be something different and provide one of the liveliest night's entertainment of the season.

Brought to Cobourg hospital for X-ray, Alex Dunbar, district farmer, returned to his home. Mr. Dunbar received a bad fall when his team suddenly bolted as he was climbing on the wagon.

Poor Papa
Little Mary, aged five, came running up to her mother, crying, "Oh, mother! You'd better come quick and get daddy!"
"Why, dearie?"
"Well, papa and Mr. Smith are down in the cellar and I heard Mr. Smith tell papa to give him another shot."

MONDAY MARCH 27.

"The Robin" has been seen in several parts of the town Sunday and to-day.

The sprouts are coming out of Mother Earth and here's hoping they don't get nipped.

There was a feeling of Spring as the dust flew from the busy street sweepers who have made a marked improvement in the appearance of the streets of our fair town.

Farmers in Central Ontario district have tapped their sugar maples but the opinion is that the season will be short and that no great amount of maple syrup will be produced.

Nearly $1,000 was saved by the early buying of sugar by the Oshawa Welfare Board before the new federal tax on sugar was announced. Anticipating the tax, the board purchased 24 tons as well as 3,500 pounds of tea.

Rev. G. M. Simmons preached his farewell sermon in the Cobourg Baptist Church Sunday before leaving with Mrs. Simmons and family for Port Burford where he has accepted an invitation to the pastorate of the Baptist Church. Mr. Simmons came to Cobourg from Northern Ontario a few years ago, and has been engaged in many avenues of service besides that of his pastorate.

Acting on information that a man bearing resemblance to the Finn wanted for the murder of Fred McLaren, Cavan Township farm hand, Provincial Constable W. J. Carey, of Cobourg, made a thorough search of a woods in Cavan. He located the man who was mistaken for the Finn, finding that his presence in the woods had resulted in neighboring farmers believing he was the wanted man.

L. G. Bennett, who has seven head stabled at the Dufferin has made arrangements to locate at Belleville after moving from the west-end oval, to complete his spring training. He will, however, remain there until after the race meeting to be held next month. His stable consists of Philco 2.15, Walter Stone 2.06, Margaret Brewer 2.07 1/2, Guy Etawah 2.15 eligible to the 2.30 class, St. Charles 2.07 1/2, Richard Hall, a green prospect and Calumet Edmond, a two-year-old trotter. One of the most improved horses during the winter is the pacing gelding, Walter Stone, who went into winter quarters in anything but good shape. At present the gelding looks exceptionally well, having put on considerable flesh and is now feeling like a colt.

A remarkable thing was noticed by a Toronto visitor yesterday. On leaving here under murky skies a motorist arrived in the Queen City to discover all was sunshine, and returning home he ran back into the storm area at Bowmanville. Toronto seems to get all the breaks!

It won't be long now until we hear the clang of horse shoes in various parts of the town as keen eyes and steady hands pile 'em up on the stake.

Augustus Hogan came up in Cobourg Court on a charge of false pretences and was remanded until Saturday, when he appeared before Magistrate Davidson. It is alleged that Hogan traded a car with A. W. Skinner, received for it $100 in cash and another car. The defendant represented to Mr. Skinner, it is stated that there was no lien on the car and it developed later there was a $300 mortgage against it. Hogan is a married man, and of late has resided in Cobourg.

Well Received

"You received a tremendous ovation; they're still clapping. What did you say?"

"I told them I would not go on with my playing until they quieted down."

TUESDAY MARCH 28.

The members of St. Paul's Young People's Society enjoyed a paper chase Monday night and then returned to the church where light refreshments were served.

Following an accident on the Provincial Highway west of here early Monday morning when a car driven by L. Yeates, Peterboro, skidded into the ditch, a charge of having no driver's license has been laid against the driver.

With thick, heavy smoke choking the dormitories and corridors when fire broke out in the College Street Y.M.C.A., Toronto, Saturday at noon, Fred Winfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Winfield, Brown Street, donned the respirator in the building and fought his way through the living quarters to see if any of the older members or sick were overcome.

J. J. Oulahan, of Cobourg, reports the sale to Alex Bruce of a farm property situated in Hamilton Township and owned by Joseph Martin. Mr. Bruce will take immediate possession of the property.

William Patterson of Kingston has completed the purchase of fifty head of cattle from Prince Edward County farmers. They will be used to supply the needs of Portsmouth Penitentiary.

The expression "Our Newspaper," is familiar. We hear it from folk on all manner of occasions and by all manner of people. "Our newspaper told about it." "Our newspaper would like to publish it," and the greatest light comes over the face of a "pilgrim and a stranger" when he comes across the old home paper in some distant place. A great many town residents would miss the local paper almost as much as they would the absence of a dear relation. The commercial idea of the town would almost be paralyzed without this medium of conveying the home and store news. I have visited a town or two where they had lost their paper, writes an expert in business. "Each of those towns seemed like a cemetery." After all is said and done, and experts have studied long and hard on those things pertaining to advertising, it is the consensus of opinion that the home newspaper is the best advertising medium in the world.

Six members of the B.Y.P.U. discussed the topic at the regular meeting of the organization here last night and included Misses Pauline Brown, Ola Fox, Carrie Bennett, Janet Bailey, Hiram Lyall and Rev. T. E. Meldrum. A vocal solo by Miss Beryl Thompson rounded out the program. To-night, the Mission Band, under the auspices of the Women's Mission Circle, will present a Missionary Pageant at Cobourg.

Mr. Outram has returned from British Columbia, having got his salmon, but Alf. will have to explain why he didn't get his goat.

Last Thursday evening about forty of Mrs. W. Sherry's friends gave her a surprise birthday party, presenting her with a number of lovely presents. Her home on Bramley Street was filled with laughter and fun as everyone had an enjoyable evening at cards and games.

Final Act

The aviation instructor, having delivered a lecture on parachute work, concluded:
"And if it doesn't open—well, gentlemen, that's what is known as 'jumping to a conclusion.'"

NEWCASTLE WILL BANQUET WARDEN

Warden W. F. Rickard Will Be Honored By Friends In West Durham

Newcastle will publicly honor its Reeve and the Warden of these united counties, W. F. Rickard, by a banquet in the community hall on Tuesday evening, March 28th. Arrangements are now nearly complete for the banquet, program and dance.

The banquet will begin at 7 o'clock sharp. Ex-Reeve Dr. J. A. Butler will be chairman and toastmaster. Thos. Holgate, ex-mayor of Bowmanville, will conduct the community singing, with Mrs. C. A. Cowan at the piano. St. Paul's Male Quartette of Bowmanville will contribute two numbers. Speakers representing the Counties Council, Newcastle Council, the Board of Education, Community Hall Managing Committee, Memorial Library Board, and other organizations will appear on the toast list. It is expected that many of the Counties Councilors from municipalities in Durham and Northumberland will be present. Carlos Tamblin's Orchestra, The Canadiennes, of Oromo, will provide the music for the dancing which will begin at 10 o'clock.

Although Wife At Wheel, Belleville Man Must Pay

If a man allows his wife to drive his car, and she is an incompetent driver, he must assume responsibility for any damage she may cause, ruled Mr. Justice Errol McDougall in Superior Court at Montreal when he awarded Max Silvensky $261 on behalf of a minor son, and made an award of $896.50 to Sonetta Silvensky. Awards were made as a result of injuries suffered in a motor accident while Silvensky his son and his sister were guests of I. E. Shapiro, Belleville. Mrs. Shapiro was at the wheel of her husband's car. Damages were assessed against the husband.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Harry Keefer Sherbourne street, under went an operation at the Toronto General Hospital Tuesday and is doing as well as can be expected.

Mrs. A. Robertson, King street, has returned home after an enjoyable winter spent in Toronto.

Miss Grace Chislett, Brown street, underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Port Hope Hospital on Sunday morning and is doing as well as can be expected.

Mr. J. W. Bradley of Newcastle was in town Thursday shaking hands with his many friends. He came down to see his old friend, Dr. Aldrich, who is still quite ill in the local hospital. With Mr. Bradley, we join in wishing a speedy recovery for Dr. Aldrich.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Wilby and baby Joan also Mr. Ross Wilby and Miss Lois Slack all of Kingston spent the week-end with Mrs. Wilby, Victoria Lane.

ON FLANDERS FIELDS

The twenty-six packets of seed of Canadian wild flowers sent last year by the Experimental Farms Branch, Dominion Department of Agriculture, to the War Graves Committee have been planted in Flanders and in the other battlefields in France and Europe.

HIGH SCHOOL SALARIES CUT TEN PER CENT.

Special Meeting Of Board Dealt With Question Tuesday Night

Commencing September 1st, 1933, salaries of the teachers of the Port Hope High School as well as the janitor's pay, will be slashed ten per cent, according to a decision reached by the Port Hope High School Board at a special session on Tuesday night. The meeting was presided over by W. J. B. Davison and members present included Trustees H. W. Mitchell, F. R. O'Neill, A. E. Fulford, Warren Dunbar and J. G. Jackson, with W. F. McMahon an absentee.

At the outset of the meeting, the Chairman explained that the special meeting was called for the purpose of considering salaries and estimates. He explained that the trustees were confronted with the same matter last year and the estimates were twice returned by the council. A voluntary cut had been made last year of ten per cent of salaries over $2,000, and five per cent under $2,000. He pointed out that in view of the distressing times, the matter would be given full consideration.

Newspaper clippings were introduced telling of reductions in teachers' pay in various sections of the province and members of the Finance Committee of the local Board explained that they had been endeavoring to get in touch with other officials in the county to see what had been done.

The matter was discussed from every angle and finally came to a head when a resolution was unanimously passed to the effect that the board proceed to regulate all salaries in connection with the High School. Discussion then centred regarding the method of reduction, whether to use a sliding scale, that is by cutting those receiving a larger salary more than the lesser members of the staff or by a percentage all-round reduction.

Another motion was introduced, which was passed unanimously, whereby all salaries be reduced ten per cent, starting from September 1st, 1933. Dr. J. F. Thompson, secretary-treasurer of the Board was requested to prepare the new contracts for the 1933-1934 term, returnable by May 1st.

The present salaries affected by the new ruling include Dr. J. F. Thompson, principal, $2,970; Miss M. Tuer, $1,890; Miss E. Foy, $1,890; Miss K. Staples, $1,890; Miss P. Farrar, $1,890; Mrs. H. M. Ryan, $1,805; C. E. Eastman, $2,115; Miss C. MacLaren, $2,070; H. J. Dignan, $1,980; Miss A. Malcolmson, $1,805 and F. Johnston, janitor, $1,100.

The matter of 1933 estimates was left over until the next meeting.

PLEADS GUILTY TO TWO CHARGES

Entered Newcastle Tourist Home And Decamped Without Paying

Harry Foy, former Bowmanville youth, who was remanded in jail at Cobourg a week ago, appeared before Magistrate R. M. Cotton at Bowmanville to answer two charges, one of them dating back to 1929.

Foy pleaded guilty to a charge of theft of $4 from Mrs. Purdy at Newcastle. Foy went to the Purdy home, which is a tourist home, and requested the use of the bathroom, announcing that he would be staying to lunch. While in the upstairs of the house he entered Mrs. Purdy's room and stole $4. Later he had lunch and walked off without paying for it. Mrs. Purdy got in touch with Constable Garrod, of Newcastle, who arrested the man and brought him to Bowmanville, where Provincial Constable W. E. Smith laid a charge, after searching the man and finding $2 in his pocket and $2 in his boot.

While in the cells in Bowmanville, Chief Sidney Venton saw the man and recognized him as a man wanted for obtaining board by false pretenses at Nestleton, in May, 1929.

The Nestleton parties identified the man in court, and he also pleaded guilty to this charge. Magistrate Cotton sentenced him to nine months determinate and three months indeterminate at the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph and three months on the second charge to run concurrently.

Young men ought to get up with the sun, writes a writer. Instead they stay up with the daughter.—St. Catharines Standard.

CHARGE WELCOME YOUTH HELD UP COBOURG CAFE

Jack Armstrong Appeared In Cobourg Court To-Day — Remanded For One Week

Jack Armstrong, sixteen-year-old Welcome youth appeared in Cobourg Police Court Monday morning charged with holding up the New York Cafe in Cobourg on the night of March 16 at the point of a rifle and making a get-away with eleven dollars. He was not asked to plead and was remanded for one week pending further investigation.

Armstrong was arrested by Provincial Constable W. J. Carey who had been investigating since the hold-up took place. An overcoat left in a car alleged to have been used by the accused, is stated to have been the clue that eventually resulted in the arrest.

CANTON

Weekly Happening From Northern Village — Spring Ushered In

Spring made its official entrance on Tuesday, its advent heralded by crows, horned larks, robins and pussy willows.

The audience, children and adults alike found the "World Friends" last Friday evening both entertaining and instructive. Rev. A. S. Doggett presided.

The U.C. choir is preparing a Cantata entitled "The Thorn Crowned King", which will be presented in the Church on Good Friday. Further particulars later.

Personals

On Wednesday of last week Mr. and Mrs. B. Tripp and family, with the exception of Fred, who is remaining in the employ of Mr. A. P. Pollard, moved from the "Leslie farm" where they have resided for about two years, to Vernonville, where Mr. Tripp has purchased a small property as his state of health will not permit him to continue farming.

Brief as has been their residence in our community the whole family has by courtesy, kindness and hearty co-operation in church and social activities won many friends who greatly regret their going, hope the young people especially may often return and wish them all many years of happiness in their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Peters entertained a number of friends last Saturday evening.

Mrs. Mills has gone to Cincinnati, called thither by the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. Wagner.

Mr. James Graham has purchased the farm formerly owned by the late Mr. Stewart Dean.

Miss Margaret Pollard has accepted the position of teacher of the public school at Highland Grove, a village not far from Bancroft. Her duties will commence on Monday, April 3. Miss Pollard's many friends wish her every success in this new field.

Miss Helen Wager, Toronto, was guest at Braeside over the week-end.

Mr. J. Barrie, Newtonville, visited his cousins, Barrie Bros., last week. Sunday, guests at Beechwood, the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Thomson, were Mrs. Thomson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Jackson, Mr. Thomson's mother and sister, Mrs. D. C. Thomson and Miss Ruth, also Mr. Norman Cook, all of Orillia.

Mrs. A. S. Doggett was guest of her friend, Mrs. John Jackson, Port Hope, over the week-end. Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. George Watkins on the arrival of a fine boy a few days ago.

FULL MEASURE BINDER TWINE

From the results of inspections of binder twine by the Seed Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture it is evident that manufacturers are not seeking to take advantage of the tolerance of 5 per cent allowed by the Inspection and Sale Act in the length per pound guaranteed. Of 381 samples tested last year, 236 exceeded the length per pound guaranteed, and only 5 were short of the 5 per cent limit of tolerance.

WORD OF THANKS

Mrs. William Thomas and family sincerely thank all those who made our load lighter to bear in our recent bereavement, particularly the employees of the Nicholson File Company, the Ladies Aid of the United Church, the United Church Choir, L.O.O.M., Dr. H. W. Bensen and Miss E. M. Elliott, hospital superintendent.

BOARD REQUESTS FUND STATEMENT

Local Relief Board Desires To Ascertain What Percentage Town Is Paying

With the object of ascertaining what share the corporation of the Town of Port Hope is spending for relief work, considerable discussion took place at a meeting of the relief board at its regular weekly meeting at the Town Hall here Friday afternoon. The matter came to a head following the introduction of a resolution last week sponsored by Rev. K. H. Palmer and Rev. T. E. Meldrum, requesting that a complete financial statement be given of all monies received and what accounts had been paid for fuel, food, etc., since January, 1933, and also the amount of grants that had been received from the Provincial Government.

Due to the fact that Mayor Walter J. Crowhurst, chairman of the Board was out of town, the matter was deferred until the next meeting and Arthur Mark, town clerk and treasurer, will be asked to present a statement regarding the amounts of the various grants that have been received. The Benevolent Society is acting as a relief board and in this way is securing a two thirds grant based on the board's expenditure of 60 per cent for food and 40 per cent for fuel and clothing.

At last week's meeting, one of the members inquired if certain donations had been received from the United Church Men's Forum as one of the officials of the latter organization claimed they had been turned over. The Secretary, A. J. Chesher, read in the minutes that the member had said the said donations had not been handed in and strong exception was taken. After much heated discussion, the minutes were amended.

Ruffled tempers were subdued and the meeting proceeded to deal with the applications of 74 citizens for relief. W. C. Williamson, treasurer of the Benevolent Society submitted a statement of receipts and expenditures up until the first of the year, when the organization was chartered as a relief organization. Expenditures were $790.23 and receipts of $631.99 together with a bank balance of $248.73 left a balance of $90.49.

Due to the absence of the chairman the first vice-president, Mrs. F. Philip, presided, and those present included, Mrs. J. F. Thompson, Mrs. M. S. Hawkins, A. J. Chesher, Rev. K. H. Palmer, Rev. T. E. Meldrum, J. G. Jackson and F. W. Galbraith.

DIVISION COURT

Short Session Held With Only One Case On Docket And It Is Adjourned

Only one case was listed on the docket at the March sittings of Division Court which was held at the Town Hall here Wednesday with County Judge L. V. O'Connor of Cobourg presiding. As a result, the attention of the court was occupied for only a few minutes.

Willis Boughen, Port Hope, claimed $50.00 from George Christie, Port Hope, and this action was set aside until the next court. In the statement of claim, the above amount is entered for damages to raspberry bushes from a fire which is alleged to have originated on the defendant's property and spread to Boughen's land.

For Lowest Rates and Good INSURANCE
Phone 122. Wm. McIlwraith

Advertising Special!
50c PREP
For a limited time only—
15c.
WATSON'S
Drug Store.

H. A. WARD, K. C.
Solicitor, etc.
Office—Stairway immediately west of Selrite Store

GORDON & ELLIOTT
Barristers, Solicitors
PETERBOROUGH
Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., Alex Elliott.
Telephone Nos. 3300 and 3801
Toronto Office, 410 Saturday Night Building.

DR. JAMES HARRINGTON
Veterinary Surgeon
227 KING ST. WEST, COBOURG
Specializing in Surgical Work, Contagious Abortion and Sterility
Kennels for domestic pets in sickness or to board.
PHONE 596, COBOURG

BUSINESS ANNOUNCEMENT
FORMULAS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION. Write Midland Laboratory, 308 Burns street, Winnipeg, Man.

FOR SALE
REGISTERED BANNER OATS No. 3 and velvet barley. ROBERT ARMSTRONG, Ida, Phone 522 ring 5-1. 27-1td1'w.

EXCHANGE FOR FARM
HOUSE IN TOWN, CLEAR OF encumbrance, on good residential street, large garden. Apply Box 47671, GIDE OFFICE. 27-1td1'w.

FOR SALE
VELVET BARLEY, G.S. NO. 1, Smooth-awned variety. Good yielding, good malting barley. No weed seeds. 60 cents per bushel. Terms, cash. W. H. GOHEEN, Lot 33, Con. 5, Hamilton Township. 30-1td1'w.

PIANO TUNING
J. A. WINFIELD
Regulating, Repairing
Worn Parts Replaced
Brown St. Port Hope

DR. WATSON'S
TONIC STOUT MATERIALS
3 1/2 gallons of the most nourishing and healthful beverage in the world—from one 75c package. Easily made at home. Sold by—
M. P. Wickett, Grocer, Port Hope

A. W. George & Son
FUNERAL SERVICE EXCLUSIVELY
PHONES — 44 and 171

Laura Secord Agency
Wampole's
Magnolax
Replaces forceful laxatives.
It effectively softens and lubricates without discomfort or gripping.

PLUMMER'S
Drug Store
United Cigar Agency

Flour and Feed, Lumber
Lath and Shingles
Brantford Roofing
Hardwood Flooring
Gyproc and Hardwall
Plaster
J. MARSHALL
Phone 76 Ontario Street

JEX & SMITH
Funeral Directors
COURTESY, KINDNESS, SERVICE
OFFICE PHONE 138
NIGHT PHONES 226-441

MONTREAL CHURCH FIRE INJURES 15

$500,000 Damage — Worshipers Plunge From Balcony Rails—Two Arrested

Pandemonium succeeded prayers in St. Jacques Roman Catholic Church in Montreal Sunday when a $500,000 fire—presumably the work of an incendiary—swept the edifice during mass, causing injury to 15 persons. Two arrests followed.

Worshippers leaped from the gallery in terror, dashed to the doors and crowded stairways as flames enveloped the St. Catharine and St. Denis Street building in the fourth recent church fire in Quebec Province.

Previously under guard following reported threats to set it afire, the ruined church was still smoking Sunday night when police arrested a husband and wife in connection with the blaze. The woman, according to the police, is the same one who last Friday warned the church authorities that her husband might try to burn the building.

Guards were quietly watching the interior of the edifice at the very moment when, during 10 o'clock mass, flames burst out in the top gallery and spread fear—and in some cases panic—among the worshippers who filled the pews on the main floor and lower gallery.

The voices of clergy and ushers rose at once above the rising tumult of the frightened parishioners, urging courage and coolness in place of the panic which threatened to jam the

PORT HOPER IS AMONG WINNERS

J. W. Jamieson, Port Hope, Wins Prize In Hockey Goal Contest

According to an announcement just made, J. W. Jamieson, P.O. Box 397, Port Hope, is a winner in the 9th weekly hockey contest sponsored by Turret cigarettes. It is for the week ending March 18th and the contestants were obliged to estimate the number of goals scored by each team in the N.H.L.

Mr. Jamieson came in for third prize of $25.00 but unfortunately for him, there were three splits and as a result, he gets but $8.34.

According to the official scores, 51 goals were scored and resulted as follows, Boston, 4; Canadiens, 4; Toronto, 6; Chicago, 2; Rangers 12; Maroons, 7; Detroit, 4; Americans 3; Ottawa, 9.

THE WORD OF GOD

AN OLD MAN'S TESTIMONY: I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith. Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness.—2 Timothy 4: 7.

doorways and cause a holocaust. Three of four women hurled themselves from the lower gallery—the upper one was unoccupied—and crashed to the floor among the jostling crowd below.

TO THE RATEPAYERS OF PORT HOPE

The Council has by resolution extended the time for payment of 1932 taxes without penalty to April 1st., 1933, in order to afford ratepayers the fullest possible time for payment.

After April 1st., 1933, the Collector, with the full approval of the Council, intends to take every legal step to compel the payment of arrears.

In cases where sufficient chattels are upon the lands assessed, the Collector will distrain, and in other cases appropriate remedies will be sought and enforced.

The Collector particularly requests the co-operation of all those holding mortgages of lands, and in all cases where a Mortgagee does not notify the Collector to make distress for taxes owing, the Collector will assume that there is not sufficient chattels to justify a distress or that the Mortgagee does not desire a distress to be made.

DATED at: PORT HOPE, MARCH TENTH, 1933.
A. J. OESHER, Collector.
J. A. R. ELLIOTT, Chairman Finance Committee.

Canada's Gold Will See Her Through.

CONSOLIDATED GOLD SYNDICATE

Capital $35,000,000 3500 Units of $10.00 Par Value
Offering of 1000 Units

A nominal amount invested now in Consolidated Gold Syndicate Units should prove valuable as indicated by the developments in SWAYZE AND PORTER TOWNSHIPS, where our various groups of claims are located.

Consolidated Gold Syndicate
Phone Elgin 2562. 609 Federal Bldg., Toronto, Ontario

For Best Tire Values in Town

see the new Goodrich Safety Silvertown with the Golden Ply 3 times safer from blowouts. Safety at no extra cost.

Let us put Goodrich Safety Silvertown's on your car today.

ENRIGHT & CLEAVE

SHELL GARAGE SERVICE STATION
24 HOUR SERVICE TELEPHONE 630

NEW LOW PRICES ON Buckeye Brooders

CHICK SUPPLIES.

GEO. T. HANCOCK & SON

JOBLESS TO WORK IN B.C.

1,000 Unemployed May Be Sent To British Columbia Mine Land

Placing of 1,000 unemployed men from Alberta in the goldfields of British Columbia is under consideration as a means of aiding jobless who will be cut off relief lists April 30.

During conferences at Calgary over the week-end, A. A. MacKenzie, Chairman of the Alberta Relief Commission, disclosed the plan for the jobless trek to goldfields. Details of the plan are being worked out in conjunction with Ottawa authorities.

MOOSE GATHER TO MAKE PLANS FOR CONVENTION

Important Conference Held In Port Hope Over The Week-End

With over sixty officials of the Moose Order in attendance here over the week-end, an important conclave was held at the Queen's Hotel when preliminary plans were formulated for the holding of the monster Moose convention here on August 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th. Members of the Order were present from all parts of Ontario, including Windsor on the west, Ottawa on the east and Cochrane on the north.

On Saturday night, the Grand Lodge Committee met and business pertaining to Grand Lodge work was discussed. During the sessions here, the Fellowship Degree was conferred on a class of candidates and a committee, representing the local Moose Lodge met the district brethren to arrange plans for the monster third annual convention here. The local committee included Robert Hoskings, Dictator; E. Franks, Past Dictator, and Harold Smith, secretary. Norman Heyd, Toronto, Past Supreme Dictator and director of organization for Canada was among the distinguished visitors present.

Tentative plans were drawn up for the convention here next August and another executive meeting will be held here in April. The first day of the convention will be taken up with registration and on the second day, there will be the official opening and general meetings. On Sunday there will be church parades and in the afternoon, there will be drill work. On the concluding day, there will be a monster parade of all lodges, followed by a community picnic. It is estimated that the convention will attract 2,000 or more people to this town.

TICKET HOLDER IS IN HOSPITAL

George Clarke, Peterboro, Holds Lucky Ticket In Irish Sweepstakes

George Clarke, 331 Sherbrooke street, Peterboro, who is suffering from a nervous ailment in St. Joseph's hospital, will share in the $1,986,731 prize-money in the Irish Sweepstakes. His ticket, "Put and Taks" was one of the small list of Canadians drawn in Dublin. He had ZL78046 on Coolincolagh.

"It will be a blessing, coming at this time, whatever the prize is," Mrs. Clarke said. She had been notified shortly before but had not yet informed her husband of his good fortune.

"He will have to have the news broken to him in such a manner as to not excite him," she went on, because he has been suffering from a nervous disorder for some time, being away from work two months and in the hospital one month. I will tell him to-day."

Mrs. Clarke felt that such tidings would improve her husband's health. He is employed in the shipping department of the Auburn Mill. They have a young son.

Thirty-two horses are listed to start in the Grand National Steeplechase on Friday in Liverpool, with first prizes of about $123,000 all the way down to consolations of $410 for horses drawn which do not start. Mr. Clarke is sure of some return on his ticket, and has a chance on more than a thousand prizes in the big split.

The more money you have the easier it is for you to practice economy.—Detroit News.

Almost everything in Europe stirs one to think of the past, just as almost everything in America stirs one to think of the future.

PRESBYTERY IN SESSION TUESDAY

Rev. Dr. Palmer, Port Hope, Named As Convener Of One Of The Committees

A striking contrast was presented at the meeting of the Presbytery of Peterboro held in St. Paul's Church Peterboro, Tuesday when it was shown in statistics presented by Rev. Gordon Duncan, clerk, that while there had been decreases in givings, there were increases in membership, both in those joining on confession of faith as well as by certificate, from other churches. The total increase for the whole Presbytery was 147. Givings declined from $81,136 in 1931 to $63,339 for 1932. The total givings to missions decreased however by the small amount of $412 for the whole Presbytery.

Rev. W. J. Todd, Bowmanville, presided over a small attendance due to the unfavorable weather. Approval was given to the reception of Rev. M. G. Garabedian, B.A., B.D., and Rev. Thomas Murphy, B.A. both asking to be received back from the United Church of Canada. Rev. Dr. James Wilson of Toronto was nominated for Moderator of the General Assembly and Rev. A. C. Reeves of Norwood for Moderator of the Synod of Toronto and Kingston. Those elected as commissioners to the General Assembly were Rev. Dr. Barr and Rev. A. C. Reeves, ministers and James Dutton and J. W. Walker of Port Hope, elders.

Reports on Home Mission by Rev. H. R. Williams of Millbrook; Sunday Schools and Young People's Societies by C. G. Graham; the Budget by James Dutton and Statistics by Rev. Gordon Duncan, Warkworth, were presented; in all cases showing renewed interest in the work. Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr reported for Evangelism, mentioning the advantages of Presbyterial visitation as conducted last fall throughout the Presbytery.

Rev. C. G. Graham, Colborne, presented a request to be relieved from the heavy work entailed by carrying on a four-point charge, consisting of Colborne, Grafton, Lakeport, and Brighton. After discussion it was decided to detach Brighton and make it a part of the Warkworth charge to be supplied by Rev. Gordon Duncan.

Conveners of standing committees of Presbytery were appointed as follows: Home Missions, Rev. H. R. Williams, Millbrook; Foreign Missions, Rev. W. H. V. Walker, Janetville; SS. and Y.P.S., Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, Peterboro; General Interests, Rev. W. H. Todd, Bowmanville; Budget, Rev. J. C. Robinson, Campbellford; Pensions, Rev. Dr. K. H. Palmer, Port Hope; Examination of Students and Recruits for the Ministry, Rev. Dr. Barr; Statistics, Rev. Gordon Duncan.

After making provisional arrangements for the induction of Rev. S. M. Scott at Cobourg, the meeting adjourned, to meet in Warkworth in June after the General Assembly, arrangements for which were informally announced by James Dutton, who asked for co-operation towards making this assembly outstanding in its influence over the whole district.

MIDLAND LOAN & SAVINGS CO.

Midland Loan & Savings Co., Port Hope, Ont., was originally incorporated in Ontario under the Building Societies Act in 1872, says the Financial Post in this week's issue. The company has shown marked stability in earnings, although there was some drop in net profits in 1932. Mortgage loans are entirely on properties in Ontario. In 1932, the company celebrated its 60 years of business by paying a bonus of 1 per cent.

Officers—S. R. Caldwell, pres.; F. Rosevear, vice-pres.; W. J. Helm, mgr.

Directors—The above and A. M. Westington, W. H. Symons.

Earnings Record
Year	Paid-up Capital	Net Profits	Div. Rate Earned
1928	360,000	57,338	8 1/2
1929	360,000	60,440	8 1/2
1930	360,000	60,632	10 1/2
1931	360,000	60,647	10 1/2
1932	360,000	55,321	10 1/2

Reserve Funds
Year	Total Assets	Reserve Funds	Liab. to Public
1928	2,856,324	450,000	1,989,132
1929	3,020,094	465,000	2,128,458
1930	3,166,156	480,000	2,250,790
1931	3,293,485	480,000	2,395,457
1932	3,341,148	480,000	2,454,672

Canada has one of the finest entomological services in the world, and in size is second only to the United States.

GETS 7 DAYS FOR DRIVING WHILE DRUNK

J. P. Sherin, Port Hope, Pleaded Guilty To Two Charges In Local Court

Charged with being intoxicated while in charge of a motor vehicle on March 22nd, J. P. Sherin, local stock and bond salesman, pleaded guilty in Port Hope Police court this morning before Magistrate W. A. F. Campbell and was given the minimum sentence of seven days in the counties jail at Cobourg. As the accused has been in custody since being arraigned in court last week here, this time was deducted from the sentence. The costs of the action must be paid by next Wednesday or an addition term of thirty days will be imposed.

Sherin, who was not represented in court by counsel, pleaded guilty to a count of being in possession of liquor in other than his own private residence and this action was adjourned for sentence until next Monday.

David Ostron, Toronto, saw the accused get out of his car on Mill street, and testified that under ordinary conditions, the accused appeared to be intoxicated. He had followed him on the Provincial highway east of here and his car kept swerving from side to side. On arrival in Port Hope, he had taken Sherin home and the latter was later arrested by Chief Constable Murphy.

ANNUAL DINNER DURHAM REG'T

Hon. Vincent Massey Gives Interesting Address On Sino-Japanese Situation

The officers of the Durham Regiment held their annual dinner at Craigieburn Inn on Saturday evening with about thirty-five in attendance. Brigadier W. B. Anderson, C.M.G., D.S.O., Officer Commanding Military District No. 3, was present for the occasion. The Hon. Vincent Massey, Honorary Colonel of the regiment, was the speaker of the evening and gave an interesting address on the league of nations and the Sino-Japanese situation. Among the guests for the evening were Col. R. J. Gill, officer commanding the 9th Brigade, Major W. F. McMahon, of the 9th Brigade, Col. A. V. Yates, officer commanding the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, Major Fritz, second in command of the Northumberland Regiment and Capt. Armstrong of the Frontenac Regiment.

THE MARKET

Poultry And Eggs
Dealers are quoting country shipments for ungraded eggs, delivered, cases returned:
Eggs—
Over 4 to 5 lbs. ea. 19	13 00
Fresh extras	14 to 00
do firsts	12 to 00
do seconds	10 to 00
Spring Chickens—
	Dressed
"A" grade—	Alive Sel. M.F.
Over 5 to 6 lbs. ea. 11	15 17
Over 4 to 5 lbs. ea. 9	12 15
Under 40 lbs. each 7	11 13
Over 5 lbs. each 12	14 00
Fatted Hens—
Over 3 to 4 lbs. ea. 9	12 00
Young Turkeys—
Over 8 lbs. each 12	17 00
Other weights ..	15 00
Young Geese	00 9 00
Old Roosters—
Over 5 lbs. each 5	8 00
White ducklings,
Over 5 lbs. each 10	12 00
Over 4 to 5 lbs. ea. 07	09 00
Colored Ducklings, 2c less.
Domestic Rabbits—
Over 4 lbs.	05 00 00
do carcasses	00 10 00
QUOTATIONS TO RETAIL TRADE
Eggs—
Fresh extras, in cartons ..	19 to 00
do extras, loose	17 to 00
do firsts, loose	16 to 00
do seconds	14 to 15
DRESSED MEATS
Wholesale dealers are quoting the following prices to the trade for dressed meats:
Beef, forequarters, cwt.	$6.00 to $8.00
do, hindquarters	10.00 to 13.00
Carcasses, choice	10.00 to 11.00
do medium	9.00 to 10.00
Calves, choice veal	11.00 to 12.00
do medium	9.00 to 10.00
Heavy hogs, cwt	4.50 to 5.00
Lighthogs	8.00 to 8.50
Abattoir hogs	8.00 to 9.50
Lambs	13.00 to 15.00
Mutton	3.00 to 6.00

NEWCASTLE PLAY GIVEN AT CANTON

Comedy-Drama Is Splendidly Presented In Community Hall

Zion A.B.C. brought a fine group of players from Newcastle to Canton Community Hall on Friday evening to present the three act comedy drama, "Nancy Anna Brown's Folks" to a good sized audience. The story is a good one with plenty of scope for acting and the Newcastle group certainly deserve credit for their capable presentation. Each player put his and her best part into the role without overdoing as is sometimes the case with amateur players. Unfortunately they were handicapped by the sudden serious illness of Miss Rosa Cowan, but the director, Mrs. Percy Hare, fitted into this part so well that the play went off without a hitch.

CAST
Pa Brown—Charlie Glenney.
Ma Brown—Doreen Pollard.
Rosalind Raylor—Winnifred Rickard.

Willie Dean—Raye Deline.
Barry Ramond—John Ashton.
Inez Clinton—Helen Lycett.
Pete—Garnet Rickard.
Dave—Charlie Gilkes.
Nick Miles—Howard Pearce.
Rod Quinton—Walter Blackburn.
Connie Stairs—Hilda Rowland.
Val Vincent—Ernest Gilbank.
Juliet Saul—Mrs. Percy Hare.
Denny Saul—Hubert Osborne.

Miss Gladys Pollard played a few piano numbers and in the first intermission, Alden Haw sang "The Road to Mandalay" and "Bells of the Sea," while Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Purdy, well known here and in Bewdley, sang "A Paradise for Two" and "Philosophy." Mrs. E. C. Fisher, organist of Newcastle United Church played the accompaniments.

Before returning home the visitors were treated to sandwiches, cake and hot tea. The audience thoroughly enjoyed the play from beginning to end and if they ever come to Port Hope don't miss the opportunity of a splendid evening's entertainment with lots of laugh which will do your heart good.

GARDEN HILL Y.P.S. VISITS ELIZABETHVILLE

The Young People of Garden Hill United Church spent a very enjoyable evening at Elizabethtown on March 16.

The meeting opened by address of welcome by Miss V. Blanchard, President of Elizabethtown Society. Garden Hill members put on the first part of program consisting of opening hymn and prayer. A double duet by Mrs. W. Hamill, and Misses Liggett, Hamill and Retallick followed.

One topic, "Manchuria" was given by A. Retallick and Rev. A. S. Doggett continued his discussions on Genesis, using "The Flood" as his theme.

Mrs. R. Morton delighted the audience with a reading.

Other musical numbers were a piano solo by Miss H. Waddell and vocal solo by Mrs. S. Terry.

One important part of program was social hour by Elizabethtown people. This consisted of contests and games, followed by a bountiful lunch. The meeting broke up with a vote of thanks tendered by Garden Hill young people to Elizabethtown members for their hospitality.

Regular Meeting

The regular meeting of Garden Hill Society was held in basement of church on March 21st. Meeting was in charge of Miss Ruby Walker, who gave a splendid paper based on Proverbs 25:8-15.

Miss Jean Varcoe recited a few verses summing up the paper.

"Nash" was discussed by Mr. Doggett. After recreation League closed with benediction.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

IN THE ESTATE OF HUMPHREY GIFFORD, DECEASED.

All persons having claims against Humphrey Gifford, late of the Township of Hope, in the County of Durham, Farmer, who died on or about the Seventh day of March, 1933, are required to send particulars of same to the undersigned on or before the 13th day of April, 1933, after which the assets of the deceased will be distributed, having regard only to the claims of which notice shall have been given.

Dated at Port Hope this 13th day of March, 1933.

W. F. McMAHON,
Mill street,
Port Hope, Ont.
Solicitor for John Aaron Gifford, Executor.
15-2nd St.

RUSSIAN COUNT SPOKE TO CLUB

Count Nicholas Ignatieff Gave Address On 'The Russia Of To-day'

The members of the Women's Canadian Club of Port Hope enjoyed a very interesting and informative lecture in the Library Hall Thursday evening, when Count Nicholas Ignatieff delivered an address on "The Russia of To-day."

Count Nicholas spoke of the varied and conflicting reports which are constantly given on the great social and economic experiment which is being carried on in that country. He referred to the situation as the "Russian Paradox" and proceeded to explain it as the obvious result when the Ideal and the Practical do not go hand in hand.

The failure on the human side, the speaker said was due largely to three main causes, the enmity and lack of sympathy between youth and age; the bitterness of the Russian peasant against the Soviet regime; and the resentment of the communist women against the lexness of the laws of marriage and divorce.

In dealing with the first of these Count Nicholas pointed out that the imagination of the Russian youth coupled with the national characteristic of enthusiasm and abandon have found expression in the Communist ideal. Youth is intolerant of age which it considers selfish and self centered. Age on the other hand, sees youth with its gaze fixed on a distant Utopia and often heedless of the immediate realities of life.

The problem of the Russian peasant to-day is indeed serious. The wealthier farmers numbering about two million, who had everything to lose and nothing to gain by the nationalization of the farms, have been deported to Siberia, and their lands divided. Soviet, however, has been unable to carry out its promises to the peasants. Conditions are deplorable and the peasants are now waging a war of passive resistance by refusing to work the land.

The disillusionment of the Communist woman in her complete expectation and its effects has resulted in a great feminist movement in Russia, led by the widow of Lenin. Through their efforts, promiscuous divorce is becoming less and less popular.

In summing up his lecture, Count Nicholas said that the Revolution would undoubtedly achieve for Russia what the revolution had accomplished for France and that things would eventually right themselves. The immediate future he felt was not very bright. The Communist ideal is lofty and beautiful, but it can only be realized by the whole-hearted co-operation on the part of all the Russians. It must have its foundation in the principles of true democracy—and demands a high type of leadership embracing not only a vision of that ideal, but a practical knowledge of and sympathy with the human element behind and through it all. In this, said Count Ignatieff lies the hope and salvation of Russia.

ELECTED MEMBER MEDICAL COUNCIL

Dr. William Spankie, M.P., Kingston, has been elected member of the Council of the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons for territorial division No. 6. The election was necessary by an irregularity in the last election, and the matter was carried before the County Judge at Belleville, who ordered another vote. Dr. Spankie represents the district from Brockville to Cobourg, comprising eight counties. He has been a member of the Council for one-third of a century and holds the record in respect to long service on the Ontario Board. He has been President of the Ontario Council and also President of the Dominion Medical Council.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

IN THE ESTATE OF STEWART DEAN, DECEASED.

All persons having claims against Stewart Dean, late of the Township of Hope, in the County of Durham, Farmer, who died on about the 9th day of February, 1933, are required to send particulars of same to the undersigned on or before the 25th day of April, 1933, after which the assets of the deceased will be distributed, having regard only to the claims of which notice shall have been given.

Dated at Port Hope this 25th day of March, A.D., 1933.

W. F. McMAHON,
Mill street, Port Hope, Ont.
Solicitor for Sarah Ellen Dean,
Executrix.
30-1st St.

OTHER EDITORS' OPINIONS

THE HOTEL GENOSHA

It is to be hoped that the fact that no tenders were received for the Hotel Genosha, as a result of the establishment being offered for sale, will not result in the hotel being closed. Surely there may be a possibility of preventing that unwelcome step, unwelcome not only to the hotel management, but also to the citizens of Oshawa as a whole.

The Hotel Genosha has meant much to the city. It has not only provided a worthy centre for service club and other community activities, but it has been, to some extent, a local industry, with a substantial payroll, and purchasing large quantities of supplies locally. To have it closed would mean adding to the burdens of the city.

As we understand it, the margin of profit and loss for the hotel has been very small. An adjustment of taxes alone, we have been informed, would be sufficient to take it out of the red. Under the circumstances, the Chamber of Commerce and city council should lose no time in getting together in the hope of making such adjustments or concessions as might permit the hotel to carry on. It is their duty to do so, and we hope that they will not delay in assuming their responsibility.—Oshawa Times.

FAITH IN ADVERTISING

John A. Huston, director of the well-known drug firm of E. R. Squibb and Sons, of Canada, Limited, has given expression to the faith of that firm in newspaper advertising. In spite of adverse conditions, this firm has been able to maintain its volume of sales, and credit for this is given to the advertising policy it has followed. And to show that it has faith in its policy, it is announcing an extensive newspaper campaign of advertising of its products. Mr. Huston's remarks are interesting. He says:

"We believe in advertising. We believe we came through 1932 with satisfying volume mainly because of years of continuous advertising of a quality product. We believe we will also benefit to an even greater extent this year because we are placing the largest volume of advertising in the history of our company with the newspapers of the Dominion."

This speaks for itself. Concerns which are to-day maintaining their position are, invariably, those which have sufficient faith in advertising to maintain their appropriations and continue their appeals to the buying public.—Oshawa Times.

THE PRICE OF A NEWSPAPER

A valued subscriber to The Globe has raised a point which perhaps, is in the minds of many people when he asked why the price of newspapers remains the same as before the drop in general price-levels.

Few readers realize that the small amount, asked for a copy of a daily paper bears no relation to the cost of producing it. It is merely a nominal sum, which, in the case of a paper like The Globe, does not pay for the cost of the white paper used. It is unnecessary to refer to the cost of handling, delivery and postage, or to the fact that it carries news costing thousands of dollars to collect.

The Simcoe Reformer recently illustrated the difficulties under which newspapers in general are operating by recalling weeklies which have ceased publication and others which have reduced their size. "Such instances as these," it comments, "should go far toward dispelling the impression that newspapers suffer less from the depression than the average business. As the Bowmanville Statesman remarks, this false impression may be due to the high standards being maintained by the newspapers to create that optimistic spirit so characteristic of editors. The fact is that the publishing business is among the hardest hit."

Despite the fall in prices all around, the newspaper is still the cheapest thing on the market.—Toronto Globe.

CHECKING DISHONESTY

It is unfortunately true that a portion of our citizenship cannot be trusted to do the decent or the honest thing when opportunity is offered them to make a pecuniary gain by following a line of conduct that is ethically unsound.

This trait in some of our people has cropped up in relief activities; it has been found that there are individuals who will not hesitate to take advantage of the generosity of their neighbors or to prey upon funds intended for the assistance of those really in need.

Another instance of their inherent dishonesty is revealed by a bill presented at the present session of the Legislature to check a tendency to profiteer that has come to the attention of the Forestry Department.

For years the department, as is well known, has been supplying nursery stock for reforestation, windbreak planting and forestry purposes, and generous quantities have been furnished free of charge to persons throughout the province.

Now it has been discovered that certain individuals have been selling these trees, supplied them by the Government, making a profit out of stock provided by provincial munificence.

As a result it has been found necessary to pass legislation making it an offence for those who benefit by the department's policy to sell these trees, and for each offence a fine of not less than $5 and not more than $50 is to be collected.—Peterboro Examiner.

DURHAM ASS'N ELECTS OFFICERS

Norman Wilson Heads County Live Stock Improvement Association

A very enthusiastic meeting of the Durham Live Stock Improvement Association was held in the office of the Department of Agriculture at Port Hope and thirty-one farmers were in attendance with delegates present from every township in the County.

R. W. Wade, head of the Live Stock Branch, for Ontario gave a most interesting address on the live stock situation. He also offered some excellent advice as to methods that might be followed to improve the live stock in our county.

E. A. Summers, the secretary-treasurer of the Association outlined the work that has been accomplished the past year and explained the new project that is to be carried out. It is planned to make a complete census of all the bulls, boars and rams in the county. With this information, it is expected that many farmers through the financial assistance of the Department of Agriculture will purchase approved sires. Eventually, if eight per cent or more of the bulls are pure-bred the county will come under "The Better Bull Area", whereby no one is allowed to charge service fee on a grade bull nor would it be possible to advertise or sell a grade bull except for beef purposes.

To obtain this census, lists of the farmers of every school section have been prepared and the directors in each township are taking charge of the completion of this work. They no doubt will call on some one in each section to fill in the form for that particular section. It is hoped a complete census will be completed and summarized before May 1st.

Officers Elected

The election of officers for 1933 resulted as follows:—

Past President—D. J. Gibson, Newcastle.

President—Norman Wilson, Port Hope.

Vice President—Russell Osborne, Newcastle.

Secretary Treasurer—E. A. Summers, Port Hope.

Directors

Hope—A. J. Runnalls, Arthur Moon, Wm. E. Gray.

Darlington—J. Baker, R. Stevens, G. Annis.

Manvers—Arnold Hickson, G. H. Neals, Earl Smith.

South Monaghan—Jas. Whittington, Edmund Dawson.

Cavan—S. Staples, T. W. Belch, James McCamus.

Cartwright—J. Forder, L. Byers, M. Smith.

Clarke—Charlie Glenney, Clarence Allin, Stanley Chapman.

Port Hope—Wm. Lightle

Newcastle—Harry Jose.

Bowmanville—Neil Mutton.

Millbrook—Leonard Smith.

SMALL BIDS AT BAILIFF'S SALE

Only $21.75 Of $290.00 Tax Bill Realized At Darlington Twp. Sale

Darlington farmers rallied to the aid of a fellow farmer, a pioneer of the broken front concession of Darlington Township when they attended a bailiff's sale in large numbers. Cattle and grain were sold for absurdly low prices and a total of only $21.75 was realized to meet a tax bill of $290.

Three horses were sold for $2.25, $2.50 and $2.75 each, two cows sold for $1 and $1.25, while 100 bushels of oats were sold for 7 cents a bushel.

Fifty bushels of buckwheat went for 4 cents a bushel and two pigs were sold for 75 cents each.

The taxes due were for over a period of 7 years.

The whole thing was apparently well considered among the farmers' friends and neighbors previous to the sale, and there was no heavy bidding allowed to enter into the sale.

Following the sale, it is understood, the entire stock and grain was returned to the farmer by the purchasers. R. M. Jamieson, of Bowmanville, was the bailiff.

The Man With Asthma almost longs for death to end his suffering. He sees ahead only years of endless torment with intervals of rest which are themselves fraught with never ceasing fear of renewed attacks. Let him turn to Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy and know what complete relief it can give. Let him but use it faithfully and he will find his asthma a thing of the past.

SPRING OPENING

SALE STARTS FRIDAY March 31 at 9.00 a.m.

SALE

DONT MISS THIS SALE
Hundreds of Outstanding Bargains

HOSE

59c Pair

Ladies' Full-Fashioned, Pure-Silk Hose. Service and Chiffon weight. Friday Only.

59c Pair

Two Pairs, $1.10

Coats $10.88

Beautiful selections of Ladies' Coats, fur-trimmed, others tailored. Two year guaranteed lining. Sale Price.

$10.88

Suits

Fine selection of Ladies' Swagger and Tailored Suits at outstanding values. Specially Priced from $6.98 to $16.88

Dresses $1.98

Women's and Misses' Silk Dresses, regular value to $5.00. Sale Price.

$1.98

Dresses $2.88

Women's and Misses' Silk Dresses, long sleeves, others with short puff sleeves. Sale Price.

$2.88

Caps 49c, 79c

The newest patterns in Caps for Spring. Sale Price.

49c and 79c

Dresses $4.88

Large selection of Women's and Misses' Dresses, including silk prints, jerseys and all-silk crepes. Sale Price.

$4.88

Dresses $8.88

Dresses, regularly priced to $17.00 in finest quality silks and wools. Sizes 14 to 46. Sale Price.

$8.88

Coats $6.98

Ladies' Coats, including polo and chungo cloths. Sale Price.

$6.98

Coats $8.88

These Coats in tailored and novelty styles, large variety of cloths. Sale Price.

$8.88

Hose 12 1/2c Pr

Ladies' Cotton Hose, four good shades. Sale Price.

Two Pairs for 25c

Boys Suits $5.98

Boys Two-Pant Suits in blue chevots, serges and grey tweeds. Sale Price.

$5.98

Sox 9c Pr.

Men's Heavy Wool work Sox. Sale Price.

9c

Hats $1.74

Ladies' New Spring Straw Hats. Sale Price.

$1.74

Kid Gloves $1.19

Ladies' Fine Kid Gloves; black, brown, beige and greys. Sale Price.

$1.19

Bags

A large assortment of Ladies' Handbags, specially priced from

69c to $2.98

Shoes $1.98 Pr

Ladies' Fine Shoes, including pumps, ties and straps; Black and Brown. Sale Price.

$1.98

Shoes $1.98

Men's Fine Oxfords, rubber and steel plate heels. Sale Price.

$1.98

Overalls 88c

Men's Good Wearing, Black-Red Overalls and Pants. Sale Price.

88c

Men's

Topcoats 8.98

Hats $2.88

Not a better hat at $6.00. A large variety of styles to choose from. Sale Price.

$2.88

Stockings 28c Pr

Children's Cashmere and Silk Lisle Stockings. Sale Price.

28c

Men's Hats $1.95

Men's Fine Wool Felt Hats. Sale Price.

$1.95

Shoes $2.88 Pr.

The latest in Shoes for ladies, large selection of styles. Sale Price.

$2.88

Boots $1.85 Pr.

Men's heavy grained leather Work Boots, outside counters. Sale Price.

$1.85

SUITS

$12.88

Men's and Young Men's Two-Pant Suits, in the lot sizes, Worsteds and Tweeds, in plain shades and mixtures; regular price, $18.50. Sale Price,

$12.88

IRVING S. MARGLES,

Walton Street Phone 563 Port Hope

SEA-GOING DOCTORS

The life of a sea-going physician is always interesting. A ship doctor on a great liner has a practice as varied as any general practitioner on land. In addition he must possess real surgical skill, for operations may be necessary at sea. Unless, however, they are of the emergency type the ship doctor prefers that the patient wait for the ship to dock, so that his own physician may take care of him. He has a well-stocked pharmacy to draw upon. His living-quarters are comfortable. He is respected by passengers and crew. His responsibilities, however, are not light. His task, and it may easily be a twenty-four-hour-a-day task, is to look after the physical well-being of several hundred people who are on a holiday. Many of them cast off the restraints they are familiar with at home, and suddenly find themselves in need of the skilled and kindly aid of the ship doctor, who, because he quickly acquires a keen knowledge of human nature, heals but does not scold.

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS EARNINGS

The gross revenues of the Canadian National Railways for the week ending March 21st, 1933, were $2,132,714 as compared with $2,730,438 for the corresponding period of 1932, a decrease of $597,724.

MEMBERS SAME FAMILY DIE ON SAME DAY

Two members of the same family, pioneers of Darlington Township, died in Hampton Monday, in the persons of John Colwill, aged 68 and of Mrs. John Colwill, wife of the former's cousin, who died in her 83rd year. John Colwill had been ill for some time, having failed to completely recover from an operation performed some months ago. He was removed to his home about six weeks ago and died in Hampton Village.

Mrs. Colwill died Monday afternoon in her home in Darlington Township, just south of Hampton, after a brief illness, from pneumonia. The funeral is to be held on Thursday from her home to Hampton Cemetery. The funeral of John Colwill was held to-day at the Hampton United Church, with burial in Hampton Cemetery.

The Guide Story

(Continued from last week.)

She and Martin had come out to Stoke St. Anne for one of their rare, delightful all-day picnics. Bearing provisions, they had left the dull manufacturing town where they both lived, by a train soon after breakfast and alighting at Stoke St. Anne—because the picturesque little village nesting among great elm trees held an inviting prospect of green solitude and flowery beauty—they had walked through the quaint village street and along the banks of a little stream which, meandering through lush meadows, presently lost itself in a fairy-like wood.

Just on the borders of this wood they had discovered the Gray Cottage. It was a one-storied building, built of large blocks of gray stone, over which rioted a variety of tangled creepers; it had a thatched roof and lattice-paned windows, heavily mullioned with the good gray stone. With one accord they had stopped and gazed at it entranced.

"That's where I should like to live!" said Martin; and she had answered—

"It's perfect!"

"If we only could!" Martin sighed; and she said cheerfully—

"Well, perhaps one day we shall be able to pretend we're going to."

For this was when they were still young, before her parents' had both died, before Martin's old trouble dating from the war, had made the doctors order him to give up his office work in the dreary town.

"I wonder who lives there?" said Martin. Inquiries in the village on the way home elicited the information that the cottage belonged to Lord Goodwell—to whom, indeed, most of the village belonged—and that it was occupied by an ancient relative of Lord Goodwell, a maiden lady of great age and eccentric habits.

Elvira had thought and dreamed of the cottage ever since. Even after the breaking of her engagement, even during that awful time when she was so dreadfully unhappy—even then the cottage held its place in her tortured dreams.

Leaving the station behind her, she did not now go at once to the cottage, but, inquiring in the village, was directed to, and presently approached, the house of Lord Goodwell's agent. This proved to be a modern villa standing in a new but pleasant garden. Mr. Eldred was at home, and could see her, and she was ushered into an office, where the agent sat at a large roll-top desk.

"I believe you have a cottage to sell—the Gray Cottage," said Elvira Raymond. Mr. Eldred, looking her over with a pair of small, bright, brown eyes, intimated that her information was correct.

"If the price is at all within my means I want to buy it."

"Please take a chair, Miss Raymond. I gather you have seen the cottage?"

"I have seen the outside of it."

"And you fell in love with it at first sight?"

"Yes, I suppose I did," said Elvira, disliking his manner.

"Well, you are not the first person who has done so. The old lady who has just left the cottage to go abroad fell in love with it in precisely the same way and remained in love with it—for she stayed there twenty years. I presume you saw the advertisement?"

"Yes. What is the price?"

The agent's manner changed and became business-like.

"The cottage is in excellent condition and there are about three acres of land, including a small orchard. There are a good sitting-room, kitchen, bath-room, and three small bed-rooms. And the price is five hundred pounds."

"Is that the lowest?"

The agent looked at her sharply.

"It is—and I assure you it's a bargain at that." His manner had become slightly less deferential.

"And, of course, Lord Goodwell would require references—that is to say, he always likes to know something of the people to whom he lets or sells any of his houses."

Elvira interrupted him haughtily.

"That will be all right. My father-in-law is the Rector of St. Mary's, at Dafford. He died nine months ago. Lord Goodwell knows my people; in fact, my aunt, Lady Mountraile, is a distant connection of Lady Goodwell. But I must say at once that I find the price you mention rather high. My sister and I were left rather badly off; she is very delicate, and the doctors have ordered her to leave Dafford and live in the country, in a quiet and healthy place as possible. This is my reason for as possible. That is my reason for wishing to come to Stoke St. Anne. During this speech the agent's manner had changed again and become blandly sympathetic. Rising, he said—

"I expect we can come to terms. Miss Raymond. Now I expect you would like to inspect the cottage; and he took a large key out of a drawer and prepared to lead the way.

Elvira held out her hand.

"May I go by myself, please? I should like to look round and think the matter over."

The agent looked a little surprised, but saying, "Certainly, Miss Raymond, by all means," he handed over the key and Elvira went away, feeling relieved.

Nat for worlds would she have made her first entrance to the cream-cottage in the company of this rather odious little man—when it should have been Martin, with whom she should have inaugurated the first joyous inspection. Tears came into her eyes at this thought as she stood just there.

Forcing back the tears, she crossed the bridge, went through the tangled patch of garden, where purple aubretia on either side the flagged path, and starry-eyed narcissi in the long grass bordering it, struggled against an encroaching tide of weeds, and stood in the creepsward porch. Elvira unlocked the door and went in.

An hour later she returned to the agent's house. The interior of the cottage was all and more than she had hoped for. The one sitting-room was quite a good size and its large windows looked on to the tangled garden; all the walls were distempred white, and the low ceilings were crossed by black oak beams. In the largest of the three little bed-rooms which looked out into the cherry orchard, she had stood for a minute with hands clasped, her face tense and drawn.

"This must be Janet's room! If only I can make her happy here!"

"I will buy it," she said shortly to Mr. Eldred. "How soon shall I be able to come?"

"Almost at once," he told her, smiling at her thinly-veiled eagerness; and they discussed the few practical details which had to be settled.

She took a card out of her bag and handed it to the agent. As she did so, an envelope fluttered to the ground, unperceived by its owner. A few minutes later she had gone and Charles Eldred looked after her with his curling, unimpaired smile.

"Haughty," he said to himself, "but not a bad-looking girl if she had more colour in her cheeks and a little more style. Age about twenty three, I should think; poor, but proud as Lucifer and a bit standoffish. Sensible, but inclined to be a bit obstinate as well."

With these not unshrewd reflections, the agent stooped and picked up the envelope which his visitor had dropped. It was addressed to "Miss Elvira Raymond," at her Dafford address and when the agent had withdrawn its contents he saw that the letter was from the aunt whom Miss Raymond had mentioned—Lady Mountraile. It was written from Mountraile Towers, Warwickshire, where as Eldred happened to know, the widowed lady lived in an immense and crumbling mansion with her daughter and son-in-law, to whom the house was rented.

After expressing the hope that her niece would be successful in her quest for a country home, Lady Mountraile wrote—

"How I wish, my dear Elvira that I could invite you and poor, dear Janet to make your home in this huge house! But of course, as you know, it cannot be. Alas, I am all but penniless, myself, and it is sad at my age to be obliged to eat the bread of charity; especially when, as in my case it is doled out by the hand of my son-in-law, whom I respect, but for whom I can feel no true affection. With regards to poor, dear Janet—"

The agent's little brown eyes glittered, and his smile curled fiercely under the black moustache. He read to the end of the letter, then carefully replaced it in the envelope, and, putting it away in a private drawer, turned the key upon it with a sharp little click.

"Oh, oh, Miss Elvira Raymond," he murmured to himself. "I don't quite see why you should give yourself those haughty little airs. Well, they say 'Pride comes before a fall.'"

The face which Mr. Eldred considered to be lacking in colour was injured, pale and weary when Elvira reached home that afternoon. "Home"

—since they had been obliged to leave the comfortable, shabby Rectory near St. Mark's Church—was an old-fashioned lodging-house on the hill which overlooked the town. It was the healthiest locality within reach, and urged by the doctor's advice, Elvira had taken three unfurnished rooms in this large old house, and had hoped that, on higher ground and surrounded by air as fresh as any that could be obtained in Dafford her sister's health would improve. This hope had not been realized, and the edict had gone forth for a complete change. "Country air," the doctor had said, "and the quietest and most sylvan spot you can find."

It seemed providential that almost immediately afterwards Elvira had seen in an advertisement that the Gray Cottage, Stoke St. Anne, was to be sold. Janet Raymond was suffering from an obscure disease of the spine, mainly of nervous origin, which manifested itself in an extreme irritability of the nerves and an intermittent lassitude and general weakness. The motor who, dying some five years before, had bequeathed her to Elvira's care, and obtained a promise of perpetual devotion, had realized the dire responsibility which, in her passionate adoration of the younger child, she was laying upon the shoulders of the elder; but even she might have hesitated could she have foreseen the unhappy choice which Elvira would be called upon to make.

She and Martin Gaymer had been engaged for three years, their mutual poverty being a bar to an earlier marriage, when Elvira's father died. There was no longer any home any more for the sickly Janet except that which Elvira should make; and as, at just that time, lung trouble which was Martin's legacy from the war began to make itself felt again and the doctors ordered him a different work and climate—the crisis was precipitated. Frank Raymond offered him a partnership in the Canadian horse-ranch; and Martin pressed Elvira to marry him at once and accompany him to that distant land.

Given Elvira's temperament, the outcome was a foregone conclusion. Martin left her in anger; but with misery at his inability to alter the irrevocability of her decision. All that was several months ago and no word had passed between them since.

It was not to be wondered at that Elvira's cheek was pale and that her step lagged as she ascended the hill to her lodgings.

"You look tired, Miss Elvira," said the old servant Eunice, meeting her on the doorstep.

"I am rather tired," nodded Elvira; "but, Eunice, I've got the little cottage."

"And what did you have to pay for it?"

Elvira told her and the old woman snorted.

"You'll have little enough left, my dearie."

"I think we shall manage."

"Oh, ay—we'll manage and it won't be Miss Janet as will go short."

Eunice was a buxom old woman, who'd owned to sixty-five. She had been nurse to both Elvira and Janet in their babyhood and loved them dearly.

Janetta Raymond sat in an invalid's chair beside the fire. A warm shawl was thrown over her shoulders, but beneath it she wore a dainty frock of sapphire-coloured silk. She had a mass of curling black hair, and eyes at almost the same shade as the lapis lazuli earrings which she always wore. And yet, in spite of her beauty, there was something lacking in her face—something which was to be found in the less striking, but far sweeter expression of the elder sister.

"I've got the cottage," said Elvira joyfully, as she entered the room, Janet turned a petulant face and said crossly—

"What ages you've been! I've been so dull and Eunice has been so tiresome."

"Well, my dear, I'm sorry, but I can't do as quickly as I could. Now, if you eat a good tea," she continued, "I'll take you out in your chair afterwards."

"Can we go and look at the shops?"

"Yes, if you like; as long as you realize that we can't buy anything."

"Will there be any shops at Stoke St. Anne?"

"No; except a village post-office, which sells sweets—and things in tins. But there'll be flowers and trees and birds and an orchard. It's a lovely place, Janet, and I think we shall all be very happy there."

"I expect I shall hate it," said the invalid.

"You will if you make up your mind to," said Elvira shortly, for she was tired and anxious. Tea was not a cheerful meal; but afterwards, when Elvira was pushing her sister's chair along the High Street, stopping to look at every window, the younger girl cheered up and became quite bright and animated. Many of their acquaintances stopped to exchange greetings. Among these was the old doctor who had known and attended them since their infancy. He was pleased with his patient's appearance and told her so.

"After a few months in the country," he said, in his jovial way, "we shall have you as strong and robust as any one."

"I don't want to go and live in the country," said Janet; but she spoke quite amiably.

"I expect you will like it when you get there," Doctor Alveston told her. "When are you going?" he asked Elvira.

"In about two weeks. Eunice is going on ahead to get everything ready."

"That will be splendid," and he offered to take them down in his car when the day came to go. Both the sisters thanked him warmly and all the way home Janet chattered quite gaily about the prospect of the drive.

CHAPTER III

It happened to be a day of mingled sun and rain when the Raymonds went down to Stoke St. Anne. As the car drew up before the little stone bridge, there was a scud of cold raindrops, and the daffodils in the long grass and unkempt borders wore a battered and unkempt look. Janet shivered as the doctor helped her from the car and her face was glum; but almost at once the sun shone again.

Eunice was waiting in the porch to receive them; and in that white-walled sitting-room a bright fire burned on the open hearth, and there were bowls of blue and pink hyacinths on the mantel-shelf and table.

"The agent-fellow brought them hyacinths," proclaimed Eunice, in answer to their exclamations; "he goes in for growin' 'em in bowls. They're sickly smelly things, I told him, but I'll put 'em in the sitting-room against my young ladies come, bein' as it's kindly meant."

Elvira laughed and Janet said—

"I think they're lovely. Who is the agent-fellow, Eunice?"

Elvira told her.

"Lord Goodwell's agent—the man through whom I bought this house."

"He said," continued Eunice impassively, "as he would call round this evening to see as you was comfortably settled. 'Thankin' you all the same, but there's no need, I told him, 'bein' as I'm here to look after my young ladies. Though kindly meant I'm sure!'"

Elvira could not help smiling, though she was a little annoyed at the agent's officiousness.

"What did he say to that?"

"He said, 'And they're much to be envied, I'm sure, and made a little sort of bow, like a foreigner and went away. Now, here's your tea all ready, my dearies, and a home-baked cake such as I know the doctor's partial to; and, he's back beaming with genial goodwill, she bustled off to the kitchen."

After tea, the old doctor said he must hurry back to his patients, and, leaving Janet excitedly exploring the cottage with Eunice in attendance, Elvira accompanied him to the gate. The old man held her hand and looked at her very tenderly.

"Be of good courage, Elvira. Things may turn out for the best," he said. She clung to him with a sudden tremor of fear.

"It's not going to be easy, doctor. I feel rather cowardly to-night."

"That's not like you, my dear."

"No; I hope it's not what Eunice would call a bad omen!"

"Come, come, Elvira, what nonsense. You've got a charming little home here, and Janet seems as delighted with it as a child with a new toy."

"Yes, she's pleased—for the moment."

"Well, I must be off. And, remember that if you want me at any time, Dafford and Stoke St. Anne are not so terribly far apart!"

"Good-bye, dear old friend—and thank you for everything a thousand times."

Elvira watched him drive away and returned to the cottage. Janet had examined it minutely and was enchanted with all she saw. When she was tired she made Eunice dress her in her blue silk frock and then seated herself in the most comfortable chair beside the sitting-room fire with a novel, while Elvira and the old servant unpacked.

Some time later, there came a discreet tap at the outer door and when Eunice opened it the spare form and twisted smile of Mr. Eldred were disclosed in the stone porch.

"Oh, it's you!" said Eunice, without enthusiasm.

"I hope the young ladies have arrived safely," began the agent.

"Yes, thank you. Miss Elvira is busy unpacking and Miss Janet's resting after the journey."

"Oh, no! Miss Janet's voice from the sitting-room, 'I'm not resting. Do ask Mr. Eldred to come in,"

Thus prompted, Eunice had no choice but to comply, and the agent found himself in the sitting-room doorway, with the lovely, pathetic eyes of Janet raised to his. It was quite obvious that the man was startled by the girl's beauty. He could only stammer and stare. Janet held out her thin, white hand.

"Do come in, Mr. Eldred. We wanted to thank you for sending those beautiful flowers."

"Flowers do make a place look more home-like," softly murmured Mr. Eldred; and he came in and sat down opposite Janet.

Pleased with his un concealed admiration, Janet exerted herself to be polite; and when, presently, Mr. Eldred ventured to hope that she was pleased with the cottage she graciously expressed her complete approbation.

"Although, of course," she said softly, "I do not really care for a country life; I prefer the liveliness of a town. But my sister—she hates all our affairs—simply loves the country, and I think this will suit her very well."

Mr. Eldred looked at her in some surprise, for he had understood that the move had been made solely for the sake of her health; but as if she read his thoughts Janet flickered her eyelids and gazed dreamily into the fire.

"Of course," she said, "Elvira says that the country air will be good for my health—if only I could get really strong and healthy and be able to take part in country pursuits like her."

The twisted smile curled beneath Mr. Eldred's moustache, but was instantly gone; when Janet turned to look at him, he was gazing at her with just the right degree of sympathy and respectful admiration. Janet changed her tone as though she thought she had played long enough upon the string of pathos and began to ask him about their neighbours and the society of the surrounding country. In a quarter of an hour she had gleaned more information from him than Elvira would have drawn forth in an acquaintance of several months' standing. She learned that Mr. Eldred was a bachelor and lived with an elder sister, who kept house for him. He was extremely fond of flowers and had a rock-garden, of which he was rather proud. The Rector of the parish was a very old man and was also a bachelor. Mr. Eldred gave him the name for being a recluse and rather dull. There were no other people of their own class in the village itself and very few in the immediate neighbourhood, except of course, the Goodwells. Most of the surrounding country belonged to Mr. Eldred's employer, Lord Goodwell. He was a middle-aged man and of a quiet and studious nature. He loved his old house at Stoke St. Anne—it was called St. Anne's Court—but his wife, on the other hand, disliked the country, and loved London, so that they were very seldom at Stoke St. Anne nowadays. They would be coming quite soon, however, in June to be exact—for the coming-of-age festivities of their twin son and daughter; and the agent told of the many doings which might be expected then—the whole village would be on feet.

Janetta listened eagerly, but sighed when she heard of the festivities and her beautiful head drooped like a flower on its stem.

"It all sounds lovely," she said, "but I shan't be allowed to go to any of it—I never am."

Before Mr. Eldred had time to murmur the commiserations which rose easily to his lips, the door opened and Elvira came in. The agent who had thought a good deal about her since their first meeting and had felt not a little resentment at what he considered her unjustifiable and haughty manner, now thought she looked tired and older than he had at first supposed her. He considered that her pale prettiness was quite eclipsed by the extraordinary beauty of her younger sister; but wishing to see more of the latter, he exerted himself to be polite and deferential to the elder and left them a little later with many protestations of goodwill and assistance.

He had gone to the cottage with his offerings of flowers partly from motives of curiosity engendered by that letter which he had ignominiously perused and partly from a genuine desire to ingratiate himself with Elvira, whose careless dislike he had instinctively fathomed. At his own home, his sister, Susan Eldred, a gaunt wisp of a woman with a tight mouth, questioned him about the newcomers.

"What are they like, Charles?"

"The elder you have seen already—when you opened the door to her the other day."

"Pretty, I thought, and lady-like but rather sad looking. What's the other one like?"

"She's a beauty."

"Really? But I thought she was a sad invalid?"

ORANGE PEKOE BLEND "SALADA" TEA

"Fresh from the Gardens"

"She's supposed to have something wrong with her," said her brother, with his secret smile; "but it doesn't seem to affect her appearance."

"Is that why you took them all those flowers this morning?" harshly inquired Susan Eldred, who lived in dread of losing her home as consequence of her brother marrying.

"My good Susan, I had never seen Janet Raymond until this evening."

"I thought that you seemed rather attracted by the other one!"

"Perhaps I was—in a way," admitted her brother reflectively; "but, then her charms are completely overshadowed by her sister's, as you will see for yourself."

"Am I to call on them, then?"

"Certainly you must call—and Miss Janet has promised to come and see my rock-garden." Laughing at his sister's face of grim foreboding, he got up and lounged out of the room.

Meanwhile, at the cottage he had just left, Mr. Eldred, in his turn, was under discussion.

"What do you think of him, Eunice?" asked Elvira doubtfully.

Eunice gave a prolonged sniff by way of answer; Janet said—

"I think he is very nice. He has invited me to go and see his garden, and promised to take me for some drives in his new car."

Elvira gave an exclamation of surprise; and Eunice said—

"You don't want to get too familiar with the likes of him, Miss Janet. I never trust a man who does not look you straight in the face and smiles on one side of his mouth."

Janetta looked into the fire with her little secret smile of satisfaction.

"I rather like his mouth," she said softly; "I think it looks clever and humorous."

They settled down very quickly at Gray Cottage and its charms fulfilled all Elvira's anticipations. For herself, she could have been as happily there as anywhere, now that Martin's going had taken all the joy out of her life.

It was up-hill work at first, trying to bring order out of chaos to the garden and Elvira was careful to ask Janet's advice on every possible occasion and to enlist her interest in the improvements as much as she could. But after the first week the weather changed, and with the end of April there were cold, stormy days when it was not possible for Janet to leave the house.

The invalid's spirits drooped; she became peevish and irritable. She sat shivering over the fire and said she hated the cottage and wished they had never left the shop windows and superior attractions of Dafford.

On one such afternoon, it was almost a relief to Elvira to see the spare figures of Mr. Eldred and his sister approaching the house-door.

"Here comes the agent," she said "And I suppose it's his sister with him."

Janetta brightened up at once. She threw off the old shawl in which she had been wrapped, patted her hair before the glass, and shook the sofa cushions into position with unusual vigour.

Eunice admitted the visitors, and Elvira was so thankful for the diversion that she greeted them with a warmth she would not ordinarily have displayed.

The rather grim Miss Eldred soon thawed a little beneath the spell of Elvira's gentle manner, and by the time that Eunice had arranged the table for tea she was giving her hostess expert advice as to the best local butcher, and the safest farm from which to buy butter and eggs.

Meanwhile, there was no lack of conversation between Charles Eldred and Janet. The man sat gazing at her as though he were bewitched. These blue eyes of hers sparkled with animation; a delicate rose colour showed in the thin cheeks; even the depressed Susan looked wonderingly at her, and blinked her little black eyes as though they were dazzled by so much beauty and grace. Judged by ordinary standards, the visit was certainly a success, and it was decided before they took their departure that the agent should bring his new car the following day and take the sisters to Woodbine Villa, in order to hear his "wireless."

Janetta was frankly delighted at the prospect and Elvira could think of no reason that she could put forward for refusing the invitation. But when she was seeing the visitors off in the little hall she embarked on a word of warning.

"I hope you won't think us rude if we only pay a short visit to-morrow," she said nervously. "My sister gets tired very easily, and we very seldom let her go far from home for any length of time."

"Of course," agreed Mr. Eldred, suavely. "We shall quite understand. You shall be driven home as soon as you think fit."

His eyes met Elvira's and flickered away from them, as he encountered her gentle, steadfast look.

CHAPTER IV

During the next few days the intimacy between Gray Cottage and Woodbine Villa did not make much progress. The sisters came as arranged, to see the rock garden and hear the wireless, but they did not remain to tea; and, indeed, the whole visit did not last longer than an hour.

Elvira looked ill-at-ease; Janet was flushed and a little hectic. When her sister said it was time to go, she looked mutinous, but at a glance from the other she got up at once without a demur.

The bad weather continued for some days, and nothing more was said about the proposed drive. Janet was kept in fairly good humour by a visit from Doctor Alveston and his wife; the old Rector also called, and proved to be a kindly, sweet-natured octogenarian, whose real goodness shone through a rather dreary exterior.

At the beginning of May, the weather cleared and at the same time a mild excitement was created in the village by the arrival at St. Anne's Court of Lord Goodwell and his family, who were to remain in residence until the coming-of-age celebrations at the beginning of June.

One afternoon, Lord Goodwell brought his daughter to call on the ladies at Gray Cottage. He made apologies for his wife, who was totally immersed in preparations for the great even, and was not much of a "caller" at the best of times. Lord Goodwell was a tall, stooping man, with a bird-like head on a very long, thin neck and the genteel dreamy face of a scholarly recluse. He spoke very kindly to Elvira, telling her that he had known and admired her father; that he knew her aunt, Lady Mountraile, who was a connection of his wife; and that he had a slight acquaintance with Sir John Raymond, who, he believed, was a relative of hers.

(To be continued.)

ATTRACTIVE TEA HELD ON FRIDAY

Mrs. F. Graham Orchard Was Given Presentation By T.C.S. Ladies Guild

Mrs. F. Graham Orchard was the guest of honor at a delightful tea, given by the Executive of the Port Hope Branch of the T.C.S. Ladies Guild and Mrs. E. Edgar, Mrs. E. E. Snider, Mrs. R. F. Forrest and Mrs. H. C. Wotherspoon. This was held on Friday afternoon at 'Dunain', the residence of Mrs. Barlow Cumberland and about forty members were present.

The President, Mrs. Edgar, with a few well chosen words, presented to Mrs. Orchard, on behalf of the Port Hope T.C.S. Ladies Guild, a brown leather travelling case and a travelling clock. Tea was then served.

The table, decorated in daffodils and violets was presided over by Mrs. Cumberland, Mrs. Snider and Mrs. Forrest and those assisting were Mrs. Wotherspoon, Mrs. Fraser, Mrs. G. James, Miss M. Petry and Miss D. Grant.

A statement from Cornell University says that while calf, beef and pig have differ in price, they are practically equal in food value.

JESUS MINISTERING TO JEWS AND GENTILES
(International Uniform Sunday School
Lesson, April 2)

GOLDEN TEXT: "Other sheep I have, which are not of this fold; they also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice; and there shall be one fold and one shepherd."—John 10:16.

LESSON PASSAGE: Mark 7:24-37.

Remember, too, 'T's always morning somewhere, and above The awakening continents from shore to shore Somewhere the birds are riting evening.

HE COULD NOT BE HID.

Conflict had arisen with the Jews about seeking to trip him in his speech. To get rest from his journey and to have quiet that he might be able to teach his disciples, Jesus went into the borders of Tyre and Sidon, thirty-five miles from Capernaum. He deliberately left his own land, and he might have seclusion, and he had tried into a house hoping for quiet. But he could not be hid. H. man need find him out. The history of the Christian era there have been many attempts to hide Jesus. Some have sought to conceal him with compliments, others with criticisms. Sometimes the church has hidden him with ritual and form; at other times has dimmed the view by controversy. But he is the inescapable Christ. He always emerges with more truth for men to know and greater service for them to render.

A GREEK WOMAN'S REQUEST

The disciples had the customary attitude of Jews towards Gentiles. They were superior and exclusive. Doubtless they thought that it was impertinent for this Syrian woman to come with her request to Jesus. What claim had a Greek woman upon a Jewish teacher? But Jesus did not think of her as a Greek. He saw her only as a mother concerned for the life of her child. He regarded her as a woman, not as a Greek. He healed the daughter of the Greek woman and gave speech and hearing to a Gentile man in Decapolis. The Gentiles were to be his inheritance. Jesus said, "Other sheep I have, which are not of this fold: they also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice; and there shall be one fold, and one shepherd." To Paul must be given credit for taking practical steps to fulfill this ideal of a world wide religion, but the origin of the universality of the Gospel lay in the inclusive love of Christ to men and woman and children of every race.

QUESTIONS FOR DISCUSSION

1. What are Canada's racial problems?
2. How may they best be solved?
3. What religious faith made Jesus and Paul burst the bonds of Jewish nationalism?
4. How have missions lessened race prejudices?
5. Do Canadians wish immigration to resume?

HEALING A RACE FEUD, 27-30

These words need to be read with imagination and sympathetic understanding. On the surface the words appear hard and the attitude less than gentle, but the words in the Greek convey a different impression, and we must think of Jesus as speaking them with a playful smile upon his lips. It was the custom of the Jews to speak of the Gentiles as "dogs," and Jesus used this term in talking the faith of the Greek woman. His words were probably intended as much for his disciples as for the woman. He said it was not fitting to take the children's bread, and to cast it to the dogs. The woman readily met his playful humor, her mother wit sharpened by her mother love, and replied, "Yes, Lord: yet the dogs ('net dogs' or 'house dogs') under the table eat of the children's crumbs." There was no withstanding such good temper and ready repartee. Jesus told her to go her way, as her daughter was cured. On the surface this is just a household conversation, a seemingly trivial incident, but at the heart of it is the solution of our race prejudices and national feuds. Christians must cease speaking about submerged races. The submerged races have it in them to emerge. Our Christian task is to help every race to realize its highest possibilities.

INTEREST SHOWN IN CARIBOO AREA

Old Placer Gold Camp Hums With Activity In Lode Mining

More than $1,000,000 will probably be spent in the Cariboo district of British Columbia this summer in development of lode gold properties, says the financial Post.

Newmont Mining Corporation, through its subsidiary, Cariboo Consolidated Gold Mines, Ltd., will probably spend between $250,000 and $300,000 in the Barkerville area. The Howe Sound Company's subsidiary, Britannia Mining & Smelting Company, will probably spend about the same. In addition, there are the Granby Consolidated and the United States Mining & Smelting Company, both of which concerns plan heavy outlays. And then, of course, there is Cariboo Gold Quartz, pioneer of them all, whose tunneling at Cow Mountain started the present interest in Cariboo lode mining.

Interest centres Cariboo Quartz. There are several indications that Cariboo Gold Quartz will play a role similar to Premier in Portland Canal district and Pioneer in the Bridge River country in inducing the investment of capital in adjacent enterprises. While Pioneer continues to show remarkable results and new ore bodies have been opened up recently, the Cariboo at present holds the centre of the stage as a result of the extensive staking that has been going on and the interesting prospect of converting an area that for seventy years has been famous as a placer field into a lode mining camp.

The news of developments on Cow Mountain by Cariboo Gold Quartz last year, spread throughout the mining circles of the west, the geological theories of the Cariboo have been revamped to a considerable extent. While Dr. W. L. Uglow and several other mineralogists supported the idea that while the hard, wide "A" veins of the Cariboo had been thoroughly prospected and found to be barren, the chief hope lay in development of the narrower and submerged "B" veins. Now the "B" or cross fissure veins are stimulating interest in old Cariboo, which in the past was regarded exclusively as a placer proposition.

JESUS AND PAUL

The great missionary apostle, Paul is known as the Apostle to the Gentiles. He it was who helped the Christian faith to burst the bonds of Judaism and spread throughout the Roman Empire. Paul had many arguments about it with his Jewish compatriots, but he was resolute in his conviction that the Gospel was for all. In Christ there could be neither Jew nor Greek, Barbarian, Scythian, bond or free. This was no new discovery on the part of Paul. Jesus taught this and acted in the light of his teaching. He journeyed through Samaria, and taught the Samaritans. He made a Samaritan the hero of one of his most beautiful parables. He welcomed the Greeks who came to see him. He healed the daughter of the Greek woman and gave speech and hearing to a Gentile man in Decapolis. The Gentiles were to be his inheritance. Jesus said, "Other sheep I have, which are not of this fold: they also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice; and there shall be one fold, and one shepherd." To Paul must be given credit for taking practical steps to fulfill this ideal of a world wide religion, but the origin of the universality of the Gospel lay in the inclusive love of Christ to men and woman and children of every race.

QUESTIONS FOR DISCUSSION

1. What are Canada's racial problems?
2. How may they best be solved?
3. What religious faith made Jesus and Paul burst the bonds of Jewish nationalism?
4. How have missions lessened race prejudices?
5. Do Canadians wish immigration to resume?

OBITUARY

JOSEPH E. ROSEBOROUGH
Joseph Edward Roseborough is dead at the home of his son in Hepworth, after an illness of one month. He was in his eighty-third year. Born in Smith Township, Peterboro County, Mr. Roseborough lived the greater part of his life there before going to Hepworth in 1925, when his wife, formerly Miss Elizabeth Manning, died. He is survived by his only child, Charles Gilbert Roseborough of Hepworth, and one sister, Miss Mary Roseborough, Port Hope.

TRAFFIC COURT

Charged with driving without a mirror, Morris Applebaum, 6 Kensington Ave., Toronto, paid $3.00 and costs in traffic court here to Magistrate W. A. F. Campbell.

INTEREST SHOWN
IN CARIBOO AREA

Old Placer Gold Camp Hums With Activity In Lode Mining

More than $1,000,000 will probably be spent in the Cariboo district of British Columbia this summer in development of lode gold properties, says the financial Post.

Newmont Mining Corporation, through its subsidiary, Cariboo Consolidated Gold Mines, Ltd., will probably spend between $250,000 and $300,000 in the Barkerville area. The Howe Sound Company's subsidiary, Britannia Mining & Smelting Company, will probably spend about the same. In addition, there are the Granby Consolidated and the United States Mining & Smelting Company, both of which concerns plan heavy outlays. And then, of course, there is Cariboo Gold Quartz, pioneer of them all, whose tunneling at Cow Mountain started the present interest in Cariboo lode mining.

Interest centres Cariboo Quartz. There are several indications that Cariboo Gold Quartz will play a role similar to Premier in Portland Canal district and Pioneer in the Bridge River country in inducing the investment of capital in adjacent enterprises. While Pioneer continues to show remarkable results and new ore bodies have been opened up recently, the Cariboo at present holds the centre of the stage as a result of the extensive staking that has been going on and the interesting prospect of converting an area that for seventy years has been famous as a placer field into a lode mining camp.

The news of developments on Cow Mountain by Cariboo Gold Quartz last year, spread throughout the mining circles of the west, the geological theories of the Cariboo have been revamped to a considerable extent. While Dr. W. L. Uglow and several other mineralogists supported the idea that while the hard, wide "A" veins of the Cariboo had been thoroughly prospected and found to be barren, the chief hope lay in development of the narrower and submerged "B" veins. Now the "B" or cross fissure veins are stimulating interest in old Cariboo, which in the past was regarded exclusively as a placer proposition.

JESUS AND PAUL

The great missionary apostle, Paul is known as the Apostle to the Gentiles. He it was who helped the Christian faith to burst the bonds of Judaism and spread throughout the Roman Empire. Paul had many arguments about it with his Jewish compatriots, but he was resolute in his conviction that the Gospel was for all. In Christ there could be neither Jew nor Greek, Barbarian, Scythian, bond or free. This was no new discovery on the part of Paul. Jesus taught this and acted in the light of his teaching. He journeyed through Samaria, and taught the Samaritans. He made a Samaritan the hero of one of his most beautiful parables. He welcomed the Greeks who came to see him. He healed the daughter of the Greek woman and gave speech and hearing to a Gentile man in Decapolis. The Gentiles were to be his inheritance. Jesus said, "Other sheep I have, which are not of this fold: they also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice; and there shall be one fold, and one shepherd." To Paul must be given credit for taking practical steps to fulfill this ideal of a world wide religion, but the origin of the universality of the Gospel lay in the inclusive love of Christ to men and woman and children of every race.

QUESTIONS FOR DISCUSSION

1. What are Canada's racial problems?
2. How may they best be solved?
3. What religious faith made Jesus and Paul burst the bonds of Jewish nationalism?
4. How have missions lessened race prejudices?
5. Do Canadians wish immigration to resume?

OBITUARY

JOSEPH E. ROSEBOROUGH
Joseph Edward Roseborough is dead at the home of his son in Hepworth, after an illness of one month. He was in his eighty-third year. Born in Smith Township, Peterboro County, Mr. Roseborough lived the greater part of his life there before going to Hepworth in 1925, when his wife, formerly Miss Elizabeth Manning, died. He is survived by his only child, Charles Gilbert Roseborough of Hepworth, and one sister, Miss Mary Roseborough, Port Hope.

TRAFFIC COURT

Charged with driving without a mirror, Morris Applebaum, 6 Kensington Ave., Toronto, paid $3.00 and costs in traffic court here to Magistrate W. A. F. Campbell.

CORRESPONDENCE TO THE EDITOR

Days Of Grace Are Given Rate-payers Who Should Now Meet Obligations

The Guide does not hold itself responsible for the opinions expressed by our correspondents and invites its readers to use this column to discuss public questions and matters of general interest.

No unsigned letters or correspondence of libelous or personal nature will be considered.

To the Editor of The Guide,
Dear Sir:—

The Council in their wisdom have given us an extra three and a half months to pay our 1932 taxes, without the imposition of the 5% penalty. Will the Tax Payers by paying up their arrears show their appreciation of this clemency? Undoubtedly some have already done so and others are trying to do so, and I sincerely hope that the result of the move will be such as will redound to the credit of our Town.

But to come to the point—what I would like to suggest to those who are interested in the good of the Town is, that in the next three days of grace, everyone who has the good of the Town at heart—and that means every property owner—should give the matter special consideration and do whatever possible to reduce the amount of unpaid taxes.

It is of paramount importance at this time, that Port Hope should be in a better position in regard to its unpaid taxes than the majority of other similar municipalities, and from what I am told this should not be hard to do.

There are a number — those who have the means might lend their unfortunate fellow citizens, who cannot otherwise raise the necessary money sufficient to pay up the arrears, and of course take a Mortgage on the property to secure themselves.

There are other ways, but—well anyway—there's the general idea, work it out.

RATEPAYER.

Port Hope, March 28th. 1933.

HAMILTON TWP. YOUTH
INVENTS A CHARGER

Harold Boundy, Hamilton Township youth has solved his main difficulty in radio reception, namely keeping the battery charged. Procuring a generator from a small car, he mounted it on a pole connecting it with a windmill. Even the smallest breeze rotates the generator and the radio battery is always fully charged.

AUCTION SALE

Mr. Jas. Croft, Lot 5, Con. 5, Township of Hope, 1/2 mile east of Quay's Crossing, will sell by auction all his farm stock, implements, etc., on Thursday, March 30th, at one o'clock. See posters—J. H. WILSON, Auctioneer.

Mr. Charles Moyle will sell by auction at his residence, Ontario street, all his household effects and new implements on Saturday, April 8th at one o'clock sharp.—J. H. WILSON, Auctioneer.

BORN

COUPLAND—In Colborne, on Monday, March 13th, 1933, to Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Coupland (nee Marjorie McMurray) a daughter.

COUPLAND—On Monday, March 13th, 1933, Barbara Constance, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Coupland.

GOHEEN—At Port Hope, on Monday, March 27th, 1933, Margaret Matilda Goheen, in her 84th year. Intended at Union Cemetery.

THOMAS—At Port Hope Hospital, on Friday, March 24th, 1933, William Thomas beloved husband of Clara Kingerley, in his 68th year.

McMURTRY—At Perrytown, Ont., on Sunday, March 26th, 1933, Samuel Francis McMurry, in his 83rd year.

IN MEMORIAM

BRYAN—In cherished memory of a true husband and father, Joseph A. Bryan, who departed this life March 23, 1931.

"O for the touch of a Vanished hand And the sound of a voice that is still."

Sadly missed by wife and family.

GREENAWAY—In loving memory of my dear father, William L., who passed away March 31st, 1932.

In my heart your memory lingers, Always tender, fond and true; There is not a day, dear Father, That I do not think of you!

HAZEL.

WEDDING BELLS

BARNARD—CHISLETT
The wedding was solemnized by the Rev. J. E. J. Millyard, at the parsonage of George street United Church Peterboro, on March 22nd of Ray John Barnard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barnard of Bailieboro and a member of the staff of D. Bellegem & Sons, Funeral Directors and formerly of Messrs J. & Smith, Port Hope, and Miss Doris Jean Chislett of Port Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnard are residing in Peterboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Alf Outram, Bedford street, have returned home after a five weeks trip to Vancouver. They report that they had a most enjoyable trip and met many Port Hoppers while in the West.

G. M. BOSNELL
Toronto Optometrist
IN

PORT HOPE EVERY WEDNESDAY
Hours 9.00 a.m. to 9.00 p.m.
Port Hope Office over Flood's Store.
Toronto Office 2143 Danforth Ave.
Kindly phone for Appointment
MRS. E. B. REAVES, 625J or on Wednesday Office phone 248.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

MARCH 23, 1913

MR. JOHN M. BOND
Chief of Police of the town of Port Hope, who resigned his position on March 24th., 1913.

MARCH 24, 1913

Easter Personals
March 23rd, 1913, was Easter Monday.
Mrs. W. G. Brown and Miss Laura Brown were in Lindsay attending the Kenney-McMahon nuptials.
The funeral took place to the Union Cemetery of William Jackson, aged 89 years.
Two freight trains met on the main line at Bowmanville and twelve cars were wrecked.
Mr. Vincent Roach sold his fish business to Mr. W. Murray.
Mr. H. Elliott bought a load of steers from I. Metcalf for 7 1-2c lb making a total of $2,263.00.
Mrs. M. A. Winters, daughter of the late W. Cook, died in Orillia and remains were interred at Bethel Cemetery.

MARCH 27, 1913

Easterly winds with rain and snow. Mr. R. Rankin and family removed to Toronto.
Mr. George Williams, Smith Street, celebrated his 84th birthday.
Mr. James Clark purchased the variety store from Mr. Trompou.
The death occurred very suddenly on March 27th, 1913, of Mrs. Robert Carscadden at Wesleyville.
The funeral took place of Miss Martha M. Little, daughter of the late Thomas Little.
The death took place at Cobocook of John Dayman, aged 82 years. Interment took place at Welcome cemetery.
John and James Walford and Miss Charlotte Walford and Miss Clara Thompson left for Gainsboro, Saskatchewan.
The choir of St. Paul's church was entertained by Mrs. Thomas Long. Mrs. A. H. Long was presented with a beautiful cut glass salad dish.

MARCH 28, 1913

Mr. R. J. Beatty, of Toronto, visited Mr. James Beatty, Elizabethville over Easter.
The death took place in Port Hope on March 28th, 1913 of Washington L. McNall, in his 83rd year.
The marriage took place by Rev. T. D. McCullough, Port Hope, of Percy Harold Nixon, of Mataville Alberta Glyde, both of Port Hope.

AUCTION SALE OF FURNITURE

All the household effects at the home of the late Mrs. Fred Rowson in the village of Bewdley will be sold by auction on Thursday, April 6th, at one o'clock sharp.
Oak dining-room extension table and chairs, oak china cabinet, settee, 1 davenport, parlor rugs, 1 brass bed, spring and mattress, dresser and stand, 2 oak bedroom suites (complete), 1 Simmon's bed-spring and mattress, chest of drawers, kitchen cabinet, kitchen range (new), kitchen table and chairs, coal oil stove, toilet sets, quilts, pillows and blankets, linoleum, rockers, pictures, mirrors, pile of wood, lawn mower, glass cupboard, turning lathe, carpenter and garden tools, lamps, fruit, dishes and many other articles too numerous to mention. Terms of sale, cash.—J. H. WILSON, Auctioneer.

A total of 6,681,000 pounds of maple sugar and 1,142,900 gallons of maple syrup was produced in Quebec last season.

SPECIALS :

for this week and extra good value. Don't miss getting your share All new goods.

LADIES' FABRIC GLOVES
Assorted fawn and modc shades. Sizes 6, 7, 7 1/2, 8. The new pull-on style. Extra good value. Per pair..... 26c

MADRAS CURTAINING
36 inches wide, 5 excellent patterns. Yard..... 19c

SHEETING
Unbleached, 78 inches wide. Heavy close weave. Per yard..... 29c
Make a note of the width

TURKISH TOWELLING
Fancy fast colored stripes on natural ground. Easy to launder.
16 inches wide. Per yard..... 15c
16 inches wide. Heavy quality. Yard..... 20c
16 inches wide. Heavier still. Yard..... 22c
18 inches wide. Extra heavy. Yard..... 28c
Bleached and 20 inches wide. Yard..... 25c

FULFORD BROS.
Cash and One Price—Phone 40.

HEADQUARTERS FOR GOOD VALUES

AK LEAF BRAND, 1/2's... 15c
Sockeye Salmon, 1's... 29c

RED ROCK BRAND 4 Tins
Pumpkin, No. 2 tin Choice 25c

CHOICE QUALITY FRESH
Pastry Flour, 24 lb. Bag 39c

FALCON BRAND, 26 oz.
Tomato Catsup, 2 bot's 25c

PEAS, CORN Large 9c
Tomatoes, Sp'l Tins 9c

Sugar, 10 lb 69
When purchased with at least 50c worth of other groceries

Strawberry Jam, 4 lb tin 45
Pears, No. 2 squat tin, 2 for 21
British Crown Tea, 1 lb pkg. 28
Rasp. or Straw Jam, 40 oz. jar ... 29
xHandy Ammonia, 2 for 11
Pea Soup, large tins 10
Ready Cut Macaroni, 2 lb 11

Rowntrees Cocoa, 1/2 lb 19
"Fluffo" Shortening, 2 lb 19
Pork & Beans, No. 2 squat, 2 for 13
Golden Bantam Corn, 2 tins, 25
Pure Lard, 1 lb Carton 10
Palmolive Soap, 4 cakes 25
Lily Chicken Hattie, 2 tins 27
Gold Spray Cheese, 2-1/2 lb pkgs 23

Keynote Bread Flour, 98 lb 2.05
Robin Hood Bread Flour, 98 lb 2.45

MEAT MEAL $2.29
100 lb
SHELL MAKER 90
100 lb

The ROYAL BROODER STOVE
Best Value on the market 17.95
No. 6—1000 size
100 lb Ch Starter free with each stove

X Delivered with Order. R. S. BROWN Highest Prices for Eggs.

JUST ARRIVED
Spring Shipment of Baby Carriages and Strollers
In the latest design and finish
SEE OUR WINDOW
JEX & SMITH
Home Furnishers Funeral Directors

LIBERALS MEET AT BOWMANVILLE

Durham Ass'n With S. B. Hatheway, Port Hope, in Chair, Discusses Organization

West Durham Liberals filled the council chambers of the Town Hall at Bowmanville Friday when one of the monthly meetings of the Central Ontario Liberal Association was held there. From each of the several speakers came the urge to prepare for an election that they believe would come this fall.

J. J. Duffus, president of the association, Peterboro, was in the chair, and expressed a thought that the Federal House might call for an election this year also. He stated that Mackenzie King had requested every riding to select their Federal candidates in the immediate future so as to be prepared for what might happen.

Hon. Nelson Parliament, Liberal organizer, in his address, stated that many radicals were going the length and breadth of the country telling what was the trouble, but few of them had any constructive program to offer. He thought that given the opportunity, the Liberal Party could solve the problems of the day, and provide production that would benefit the worker and not the capitalist. Prosperity followed the Liberal victory of 1921, he added, and it would follow a Liberal victory at this time. He sympathized with Premier Bennett, who, he stated, had failed to keep his election promises, not

THE WORD OF GOD

WAY OF LIFE: He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to walk justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?—Micah 6: 8.

Valuator—Real Estate—Insurance
William McIlwraith
Baldwin St.
PORT HOPE
Farm and Town Properties For Sale.
P.O. Box 383. Phone 122.

Lots of Pep

Give the kiddies Pep Bran Flakes for breakfast and the results will show when they get to school.

They will be more alert and learn the lessons much easier and faster.

JOHN CURTIS & SON
"We Sell The Best."